For the Evening

The order how the rest of holy Scripture (beside the Psalter) is appointed to be read.

The olde Testament

The olde Testament is appointed for the first lessons at Morning and Evening prayer, and shall be read through every yeare once, except certayne Bookes and Chapters, which bee least edifying, and might best be spared, & therefore are left vntread.

*The newe

The newe Testament is appointed for the second Lessons, at Morning and Evening prayer, and shall be read orderly every yeare thise, beside the Epistles and Gospels: except the Apocalips, out of the which, there bee vnto certayne Lessons appointed vpon diuers feastes.

Lessons.

And to know what Lessons shall be read every day, and the day of the moneth in the kalender following, and there ye shall perceyue the Bookes and Chapters that shall be read for the Lessons both at Morning and Evening prayer.

Proper Psalmes.

And here is to be noted, that whensoever there be any proper Psalmes or Lessons appointed for any feast, moueable, or vnmoueable: then the Psalmes and Lessons appointed in the kalender, shall be omitted for that tyme.

We must note also, that the Collect, Epistle, and Gospel, appointed for the Sunday, shall serue all the weeke after, except there fall some feast that hath his proper.

The leape yeare.

This is also to be noted, concerning the leape yeres, that the xxv. day of February, which in leape yeres is counted for two dayes, shall in those two dayes auiter neyther Psalm nor Lesson, but the same Psalmes and Lessons which be sayde at the first day, shall serue also for the seconde day.

Also, wheresoener the beginning of any Lesson, Epistle, or Gospel, is not expessed, there ye must begin at the beginning of the Chapter.

he Order where Morning and Evening prayer, shall be vsed and saide.

The Morning and Evening prayer shall bee vsed in the accustomed place of the Church, Chappell, or Chauncell, except it shall be otherwise determined by the Ordinarie of the place, and the Chauncels shall remaine as they haue done in times past.

And here is to be noted, that the Minister at the time of the Communion and at all other times in his ministration, shall vse such ornaments in the Church as were in vse by authoritie of Parliament in the seconde yeare of the reigne of king Edwards the first.

The order of Morning prayer daylie through the whole yeare.

At the beginning both of Morning prayer, and likewise of Evening prayer, the Minister shall reade with a lowde voyce some one of these sentences of the scriptures, And then he shall say that which is written after the saide sentence.

Thwhat tyme soeuer a sinner Doth Exe. 18. repent him of his sinne from the bottome of his hart: I will put all his wickednes out of my remem= brance (sayth the Lorde.)

I doe know mine owne wickednes, and my sinne Psal. 51.

Turne thy face away from our sinnes (O Lorde) and blot out all our offences.

A sorrowfull spirit is a sacrifice to God, despise not (O Lorde,) hum= ble and contrite hartes. Psal. 51.

Kent your hartes, and not your garments, and turne to the Lord your Joel. 3.
God, bicause he is gentle and mercifull, he is pacient, and of much mercy, and such a one as is softe for your afflictions.

To thee, O Lorde, belongeth mercie and forgiveness, for wee haue Dani. 9. gone away from thee, and haue not harkened to thy voyce, whereby we might walke in thy lawes, which thou hast appointed for vs.

Correct vs, O Lorde, and yet in thy iudgement, not in thy furie, least Iere. 2. we should be consumed and brought to nothing.

Amende your lynes, for the kingdome of God is at hande.

I wil go to my father, and say vnto hym: father I haue sinned against Math. 4. heaven and against thee, I am no more worthy to be called thy sonne. Luc. 14.

Enter not into iudgement with thy seruantes, O Lorde, for no fleshe Psal. 143. is righteous in thy sight.

If we say that we haue no sinne, we deceiue our selues, and the truth 1. John. 1. is not in vs.

Dearely beloued brethren, the Scripture moueth vs in sundry places, to acknowledge and confesse our man-yfolde finnes and wickednes, and that we should not dissemble nor cloke them before the face of almighty God our heauenly father, but con-fesse them with an humble, lowly, penitent, and obedient heart, to the intent that we may obtaine forgiveness of the same, by his infinite goodnes and mercie. And although we ought at all times, humbly to knowledge our finnes before God, yet ought we most chiefly so to do, when we assemble and meete together, to render thanks for the great benefits that we haue receiued at his hands; to set forth his most worthy praise, to here his most holy worde, and to aske those things which be requisite and necessarie, as well for the body as the soule. wherefore I pray and beseech you as many as be here present, to accompanie mee with a pure hart and humble voyce, vnto the throne of the heauenly grace, saying after mee.

A generall confession to be saide of the whole congregation after the minister kneeling.

Almighty and most mercifull father, we haue erred and strayed from thy wayes like lost sheepe. We haue followed to much the deuises and desires of our owne harts, we haue offended against thy holy lawes. We haue left vndone those things which we ought to haue done, and we haue done those things which wee ought not to haue done, & there is no health in vs, but thou O Lord haue mercy vpon vs miserable offenders. Spare thou them O God, which confesse their faults. Restore thou them that be penitent, according to thy promises declared to mankinde, in Christ Iesu our Lord. And graunt, O most mercifull father, for his sake, that we may hereafter liue a godly righteous and sober life, to the glory of thy holy name. Amen.

The absolution to be pronounced by the minister alone.

Almighty God the father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which desireth not the death of a sinner, but rather that he maye turne from his wickednesse and liue, and hath giuen power and commaundement to his ministers, to declare and pronounce to his people bring penitent, the absolution and remission of their finnes, he pardoneth and absolveth all them that truly repent, and vnfeignedly beleue his holy Gospell. wherefore we beseech him to graunt vs true repentance, and his holy spirit, that those things may please him which we doe at this present, & that the rest of our life hereafter may be pure and holy, so that at the last we may come to his eternall ioy, thozow Iesus Christ our Lord.

The people shall answer.

Amen.

Then shall the minister begin the Lords prayer with a lowde voyce.

Our father which art in Heauen, halowed be thy name: Thy kingdome come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heauen. Giue vs this day our daylie bread. And forgive vs oure trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against vs. And leade vs not into temptation, But deliuer vs from euil. Amen.

Then

Morning prayer.

Then likewise he shall say.
O Lord open thou our lippes.

Answer.

And our mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

Psalm.

O God make speede to saue vs.

Answer.

O Lord make hast to helpe vs.

Psalm.

Glorie be to the father, and to the sonne, and to the holy Ghost.
As it was in the beginning, is now, and euer shall be: world without ende. Amen.

Praise ye the Lord.

Then shall he sayde or song this psalme following.

O Come let vs sing vnto the Lord, let vs hartily reioyce in the strength of our saluation.

Let vs come befoze his presence with thanksgiving; and shewe our selues glad in him with psalms.

For the Lord is a great God, and a great king aboue all Gods.

In his handes are all the corners of the earth, and the strength of the hilles is his also.

The sea is his, and he made it: and his handes prepared the drie lande.

Come let vs worship, and fall downe, and kneele befoze the Lord our maker.

For he is the Lord our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheepe of his handes.

To day if ye will heare his voyce, harden not your harts, as in the prouocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness.

When your fathers tempted me, proued mee, and saue my workes.

Fortie yeares long was I greeued with this generation, & saide, it is a people that doe erre in their harts, for they haue not knowen my waies.

Vnto whome I sware in my wrath, that they shoulde not enter into my rest.

Glorie be to the father. &c. As it was in the beginning. &c.

Then shall follow certaine psalmes in order, as they be appointed in a Table, made for that purpose, except there be proper psalmes appointed for that day.
And at the ende of euery psalme, throughout the yeare, and likewise at the ende of Benedicamus, Benedicite, Magnificate, and Nunc dimittis, shall be repeated.

Glorie be to the father. &c.

As it was in the beginning. &c.

Then shall be read two Lessons with a lowde voyce, that the people may heare. The first of the olde Testament, the second of the new, lyke as they be appointed by the Kalender, except there be proper Lessons assigned for that day, the Minister that readeth the Lesson standing, and turning him so, that he may best be heard of all such as be present. And befoze euery Lesson, the Minister shall say thus. The first, seconde, thirde, or fourth Chapter of Genesis, or Exodus, Mathew, Mark, or other like, as is appointed in the Kalen-der. And in the ende of euery Chapter, he shall say.

Here endeth such a Chapter, of such a Booke.

And (to the ende the people maye the better heare) in such places where they doe sing, there shall the Lessons be song in a plaine tune, after the manner of distinct reading, and likewise the Epistle and Gospell.

After the first Lesson shall followe Te deum Laudamus, in English the daylie chorowse the whole yeare.

We praise thee, O God: we knowledg thee to be the Lorde.
 All the earth doth worship thee: the father everlasting.
 To thee all Angels crie alowde: the heauens and all the powers therein.
 To thee Cherubin and Seraphin, continually doe crie, Holys, Holys, Holys, Lorde God of Sabaoth.
 Heauen and earth are full of thy maiestie of thy glorie.
 The glorious companie of the apostles praise thee.
 The goodly fellowship of the prophets praise thee.
 The noble armie of martirs praise thee.
 The holy Church throughout all the worlde doth knowledg thee.
 The father of an infinite maiestie.
 Thy honorabie, true, and onely sonne.
 Also the holy Ghost the comforter.
 Thou art the King of glorie, O Christ.
 Thou art the everlasting sonne of the father. when thou tookest vpon thee to deliuer man, thou diddest not abhorre the virgins wombe.
 when thou hadst ouercome the sharpenesse of death: thou diddest open the kingdome of heauen to all beleeuers.
 Thou sittest on the right hand of God: in the glorie of the father. we beleue that thou shalt come to be our iudge. we therfore pray thee helpe thy seruants, whome thou hast redeemed with thy precious blood.
 Make them to be numbred with thy saintes in glory everlasting.
 O Lorde saue thy people, and blesse thine heritage.
 Gouverne them: and lift them vp for ever.
 Day by day, we magnifie thee.
 And we worship thy name euer worlde without ende.
 Glorifye, O Lorde to keepe vs this day without sinne.
 O Lorde haue mercie vpon vs: haue mercie vpon vs.
 O Lorde let thy mercie lighten vpon vs: as our trust is in thee.
 O Lorde in thee haue I trusted: let me neuer be confounded.

Or else this Canticle.

Benedicite omnia opera

All ye workes of the Lord: blesse ye the Lorde, praise ye him and magnifie him for ever.
 O ye Angels of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise ye him, and magnifie him for ever.
 O ye Heauens blesse ye the Lord: praise him and magnifie him for ever.
 O ye waters aboue the firmament, blesse ye the Lord: praise him and magnifie him for ever.

All ye powers of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye Sunne and Moone, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnify him for euer.

O ye starres of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye showers and dew, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye windes of God, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye fire and heate, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye winter and Sommer, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye dewes and frostes, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye frost and colde, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye yse and snow, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye nightes and dayes, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye light and darknesse blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye lightnings and clouds, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O let the earth blesse the Lord: yea, let it prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye mountaines and hils, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O all ye greene thinges vpon the earth, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye welis, blesse ye the Lord: praise him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye seas and flouds, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye whales and all that moue in the waters, blesse ye the Lord: praise him and magnifie him for euer.

O all ye foules of the aire, blesse ye the Lord: prayse hym and magnifie him for euer.

O all beastes and cattell, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye children of men, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O let Israell blesse the lord: praise him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye priestes of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye seruants of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye spirites and soules of the righteous, blesse ye the Lord: praise him and magnifie him for euer.

O ye holy and humble men of hart, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him and

and magnifie him for ever.

O Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, blesse ye the Lord : praise him and magnifie him for ever.

Glorie be to the father, and to the sonne : and to the holy ghost.

As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be : world without ende. Amen.

And after the second lesson shall be used and sayde Benedictus dominus deus in english as foloweth.

Blessed be the Lord God of Israel : for he hath visited and redeemed his people.

And hath raysed by a mightie saluation for vs : in the house of his seruant Dauid.

As he spake by the mouth of his holy prophets, which haue bene sence the worlde began.

That we should be saued from our enemies, and from the handes of all that hate vs.

To performe the mercy promised to our fathers, and to remember hys holy couenaunt.

To performe the othe which he sware to our forefather Abraham : that he woulde giue vs.

That we being deliuered out of the handes of our enemies, might serue him without feare.

In holinesse and righteousness befoze him : all the daies of our life.

And thou child shalt be called the Prophet of the highest : for thou shalt go befoze the face of the Lord to prepare his wayes.

To giue knowledge of saluation vnto his people : for the remission of their sinnes.

Through the tender mercy of our God : wherby the day spring from an high hath visited vs.

To giue light to them that sit in darkenesse, and in the shadow of death and to guide our feete into the way of peace.

Glorie be to the father, and to the sonne, and to the holy ghost.

As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be world without ende. Amen.

O of the C. Psalme Iubilate.

O Be ioyfull in the Lord all ye landes, serue the Lord with gladnesse : and come befoze his presence with a song.

Be sure that the Lord he is God : it is he that hath made vs and not we our selues, we are his people, and the sheepe of his pasture.

Go your wayes into his gates with thanks giuing, and into hys courtes with praise : be thankfull vnto him, and speake good of his name.

For the Lord is gracious, his mercy is euermore lasting : and his truth endureth from generation to generation.

As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be world without ende. Amen.

Then shall he sayde the Creede by the Minister and the people standing.

I beleue in God the Father almightie, maker of heauen & earth.
And in Iesus Christ his onely sonne our Lord, which was con-ceiued by the holy ghost, borne of the virgin Mary. Suffered vnder Ponce Pilate, was crucified, dead and buried, he descended into hell. The third day he rose again from the dead. He ascended into heauen, and sitteth on the right hande of God the father almightie.
From thence shal he come to iudge the quick and the dead. I beleue in the holy ghost. The holy Catholike Church. The communion of saints. The forgiuenesse of sinnes. The resurrection of the body, and the lyfe cuerlasting. Amen.

And after that, these prayers following, as well at Evening prayer as at Morning prayer, all deuoutly kneeling, the minister first pronouncing with a lowd voyce.

The Lorde be with you.

Answer.

And with thy spirite.

The Minister.

Let vs pray.

Lorde haue mercie vpon vs.

Christ haue mercie vpon vs.

Lorde haue mercie vpon vs.

Then the Minister, Clarke, and people, shall saye the Lordes prayer in english, with a lowde voyce.

Our father which art in heauen. &c.

The Minister standing by shall say.

O Lorde shew thy mercie vpon vs.

And graunt vs thy saluation.

Priest.

O LORDE saue the Queene.

And mercifully heare vs when we call vpon thee.

Priest.

Indue thy Ministers with righteousness.

Answer.

And make thy chosen people ioyfull.

Priest.

O LORDE saue thy people.

Answer.

And blesse thine inheriaunce.

Priest.

Give peace in our time O Lorde.

Answer.

Because there is none other that fighteth for vs but onely thou O God.

Priest.

O GOD make cleane our hartes within vs.

And take not thine holy spirite from vs.

A. tis.

Euening prayer.

Then shall follow three Collectes. The first of the day which shall be the same that is appointed at the Communion. The second for peace. The thirde for grace to lyue well. And the two last Collectes shall neuer alter but daylie be sayde at moorning prayer, throughout all the yeare as followeth.

The seconde Collect for peace.

O God which art the author of peace & loue of concord, in knowledge of whoun standeth our eternal life, whose seruice is perfitte freedom: defend vs thy humble seruants in all assaults of our enimyes, that we surely trusting in thy defence, may not feare the power of any aduersaries, thorow the might of Iesu Christ our Lord. Amen.

The thirde Collect for grace.

O Lord our heavenly Father, Almighty and euerlasting G O D, which hast safely brought vs to the beginning of thys day. Defend vs in the same with thy mightye power, and graunt that this day we fall into no sinne, neyther runne into anye kinde of daunger, but that all our doings may be ordered by thy gouernance to do alwayes that is righteous in thy sight: Through Iesus Christ our Lorde. Amen.

An Order for Euening prayer throughout the yeare.

The Priest shall say.

Our father. &c.

Then likewise he shall say.

O Lord open thou our lips.

And our mouth shall shewe forth thy praise.

Priest.

Answer.

O Lord make hast to helpe vs.

Priest.

Glorie be to the Father and to the Sonne, and to the holy Ghost.

As it was in the beginning, is now, and euer shall be, woylde without ende. Amen.

Praise ye the Lorde.

Then Psalmes in order as they bee appointed in the Table for Psalmes, excepte there be proper Psalmes appointed for that daye. Then a Lesson of the olde Testament, as is appointed likewise in the Kalender, except there be proper Lessons appointed for that day. After that magnificate in englyshe, as followeth.

My soule doth magnifie the Lorde.

And my spirite hath reioysed in God my saviour.

For he hath regarded the lowliness of his handmaiden.

For beholde from henceforth, all generations shall call me blessed.

For he that is mightie hath magnified me, and holy is his name.

And his mercie is on them that feare him : throughout all generations.

He hath shewed strength with his arme, he hath scattered the proud in the imaginations of their hartes.

He hath put downe the mightie from their seate, and hath exalted the humble and mecke.

He hath filled the hungrie with good things, and the riche he hath sent emptie away.

He remembzng his mercie hath holpen his seruaunt Israel, as hee promised to our forefathers, Abraham and his seede for euer.

Glorie be to the father, and to the sonne, and to the holy ghost.

¶ Of the xcviij. Psalm. Cantate domino canticum nouum, quia mirabilia fecit.

O Sing vnto the Lord a newe song, for hee hath done maruellous things.

With his owne right hand, and with his holy arme hath hee gotten himselfe the victorie.

The Lord declareth his saluation, his righteousness he openlie shewed in the sight of the heathen.

He hath remembred his mercy and truth towards the house of Israel, and all the endes of the world haue seene the saluation of our God.

Show your selues ioyfull vnto the Lord, all ye landes, sing, reioyce and giue thanks.

Praise the Lord vpon the harpe, sing to the harpe with a Psalm of thankesgiuing.

With Trumpets also and shawmes, show your selues ioyfull before the Lord the king.

Let the sea make a noyse, and all that therein is, the round world, and they that dwell therein.

Let the clouds clap their handes, and let the hilles be ioyfull together before the Lord : for he is come to iudge the earth.

With righteousness shall he iudge the world : & the people with equitie.

Glorie be to the father, and to the sonne, and to the holy ghost.

¶ When a Lesson of the newe Testament. And after that Nunc dimittis in Englishe as followeth.

Lorde nowe lettest thou thy seruaunt depart in peace, according to thy worde.

For mine eyes haue seene thy saluation.

which thou hast prepared before the face of all people.

To be a light to lighten the Gentiles : and to bee the glorie of thy people Israel.

Glorie be to the father, and to the sonne, and to the holy ghost.

As it was in the beginning is nowe, and euer shall be worlde without ende. Amen.

Euening prayer.

O this Psalme. Deus misereatur nostri, In English.

God be mercifull vnto vs and blesse vs : and shew vs the light of his countenance, and be mercifull vnto vs.
That thy way maye be knowne vpon earth, thy sauing health among all nations.

Let the people praise thee O God, yea, let all the people prayse thee.

Let the nations reioyce and bee glad, for thou shalt iudge the folke righteously, and gouerne the nations vpon earth.

Let the people praise thee O God, let all the people praise thee.

Then shall the earth bring forth hir increase, and God, euen our owne God shall giue vs his blessing.

God shall blesse vs, and all the endes of the worlde shall feare him.

Glorie be to the father, and to the sonne, and to the holy ghost.

Then shall followe the Creede, with other prayers as is before appointed at Morning prayer after Benedicte, and with three Collects. First of the day, the second of peace. The thirde for aide against all perilles, as hereafter followeth, which two last Collects shall be daylie sayde at Euening prayer without alteration.

O God from whome all holpe desires, all good counsailes, and all iust workes doe proceede, giue vnto thy seruants that peace which the worlde cannot giue, that both oure hartes maye be set to obey thy commaundements, and also that by thee, we being defended from the feare of our enemies, may passe our time in rest and quietnesse, through the merites of Iesus Christ our sauour. Amen.

The thirde Collect for ayde against all perilles.

Lighten our darkenesse we beseech thee, O Lorde, and by thy great mercy defend vs from all perils and daungers of this night, for the loue of thy onely sonne our sauour Iesus Christ. Amen.

In the feastes of Christmas, the Epiphany, saint Mathie, Easter, the Ascension, Pentecost, saint Iohn Baptist, saint James, saint Bartholomewe, saint Mathew, saint Symon and Jude, saint Andrew, and Trinitie Sundaye, shal be song or saide immediately after Benedicte, this confession of our christen sayth.

Wholoener will be saved: before all things it is necessarie that he holde the Catholike sayth.

which sayth except euerie man doe keepe pure and vndefiled: without doubt he shall perishe eternally.

And the Catholike sayth is this, that we worship one God in Trinitie, and Trinitie in vnitie.

Neither confounding the persons, nor deuiding the substance.

For there is one person of the father, another of the sonne, and another of the holy ghost.

But the Godhead of the father, and of the sonne, and of the holy ghost, is all one, the glorie equall, the maiestie coeternall.

Such

Euening prayer.

Suche as the Father is, such is the Sonne, and such is the holy Ghost.

The Father vncreate, the Sonne vncreate, and the holy Ghost vncreate.

The Father incomprehensible, the Sonne incomprehensible, and the holy Ghost incomprehensible.

The Father eternal, the Sonne eternal, and the holy Ghost eternall. And yet they are not three eternalles, but one eternall.

As also there be not three incomprehensibles, nor three vncreated but one vncreated, and one in comprehensible.

So likewise the Father is almightie, the Sonne almightie, and the holy Ghost almightie.

And yet they are not three almighties, but one almightie.

So the Father is God, the sonne is God, and the holy Ghost is God.

And yet are they not three Gods, but one God.

So likewise the father is Lord, the son Lord, & the holy ghost is Lord.

And yet not three Lordes: but one Lord.

For like as we be compelled by christian veritie, yea to acknowledge euery Person by him selfe to be God and Lord.

So are we forbidden by the Catholike religion, to say there be three Gods, or three Lordes.

The Father is made of none, neither created nor begotten.

The sonne is of the father alone, not made, nor created but begotten.

The holy Ghost is of the Father, and of the sonne, neyther made, nor created, nor begotten, but proceeding.

So there is one Father, not three Fathers, one Son, not three sons, one holy ghost, not three holy Ghosts.

And in this Trinitie none is afore or after other, none is greater nor lesse than another.

But the whole three persons be coeternall together, and coequall.

So that in all things, as is a foresayde, the vnitie in Trinitie, and the Trinitie in vnitie, is to be worshipped.

He therefore that will be saued, must thus thinke of the Trinitie.

Furthermore, it is necessarie to euermlasting saluation, that he also beleue rightly in the incarnation of our Lord Iesus Christ.

For the right faith is, that we beleue and confesse that our lord Iesus Christ the sonne of God, is God and man.

God of the substance of the father, begotten before the worldes, and man of the substance of his mother, bozne in the worlde.

Perfite God and perfite manne, of a resonable soule, and humayne flesh subsisting.

Equall to the father as touching his godhead, and inferiour to the father touching his manhoode.

Who although he be God and man, yet he is not two, but one Christ.

One, not by conuersion of the Godhead into flesh, but by taking of the manhoode into God.

One altogether, not by confusion of substance, but by vnitie of person.

For as the resonable soule and fleshe is one man, so God and man is one Christ.

Who suffered for our Saluation, descended into hell, rose agayne the thirde day from the dead.

And he will come againe to iudge the liue and the dead, and his kingdome shall last for euer.

The Letanie.

He ascended into heaven. he sitteth on the right hand of the father, God almighty, from whence he shall come to iudge the quicke. and the dead.

At whose comming all men shall rise againe with their bodies: and shall giue account for their owne workes.

And they that haue done good, shall go into lyfe euerlasting: and they that haue done euill into euerlasting fire.

This is the Catholike sayth, which except a man beleue saythfully, he can not be saued.

As it was in the beginning, is now, and euer shall be, worlde without ende. Amen.

Thus endeth the order of Morning and Evening prayer thozow the whole yeare.

Here followeth the Letany to be bled vpon Sundayes, Wednesdayes, and Frydayes, and at other tymes, when it shall be commaunded by the Ordinary.

GOD the Father of heauen haue mercy vpon vs miserable sinners.

O God the father of heauen, haue mercy vpon vs miserable sinners.

O God the sonne, redeemer of the worlde, haue mercy vpon vs miserable sinners.

O God the sonne redeemer of the worlde, haue mercy vpon vs miserable sinners.

O God the holy ghost proceeding from the father & the sonne, haue mercy vpon vs miserable sinners.

O God the holy ghost proceeding from the father and the sonne, haue mercy vpon vs miserable sinners.

O holy, blessed, and glorious Trinitie, three persons and one god, haue mercy vpon vs miserable sinners.

O holy, blessed, and glorious Trinitie, three persons and one god, haue mercy vpon vs miserable sinners.

Remember not Lord our offences, nor the offences of our forefathers, neither take thou vengeance of our sinnes spare vs good Lord, spare thy people whom thou hast redeemed with thy most precious blood, and be not angry with vs for euer.

Spare vs good Lord.

From all euill and mischief, from sinne, from the craftes and assaults of the deuill, from thy wrath, and from euerlasting damnation.

From all blindness of hart, from pride, vainglory, & hypocrisy, fro enuy hatred and malice, & all vncharitableness.

Fro fornication & all other deadly sinne, and from all the deceits of the worlde, the flesh, and the deuill.

From lightnings & tempestes, from plague, pestilence, and famine, from battaile & murther, & from sodaine death.

From

The Litanie.

From all sedition and priuie conspiracie, from all false doctrine and heresie, frō hardnes of hart, & contempt of thy word and commaundement.

By the misterie of thy holy incarnation, by thy holpe natiuitie and circumcision, by thy baptism fasting and temptation.

By thine agony and bloudie sweate, by thy crosse and passion, and by thy precious death and buriall, by thy glorious resurrection and ascension, and by the comming of the holy Ghost.

In all time of our tribulation, in all time of our wealth, in the houre of death, and in the day of iudgement.

we sinners doe beseeche thee to heare vs, O Lorde God, and that it maye please thee to rule and gouerne thy holpe Church vniuersally in the right way.

we beseech thee to heare vs good Lord.

That it may please thee to keepe and strengthen in the true worshiping of thee, in righteousness and holynes of lyfe, thy seruauent Elizabeth our most gracious Queene and gouernour.

We beseech thee to heare vs good Lorde.

That it may please thee to rule hir hart in thy faith, feare and loue, and that she may euermore haue assiaunce in thee, and euer seeke thy honor and glorie.

That it may please thee to be hir defender and keeper, giuing hir the victorie ouer all hir enemies.

That it maye please thee to illuminate all Bishops, Pastours and Ministers of the Church, with true knowledg and vnderstanding of thy worde, and that both by their preaching and lyuing they maye set it forth and shew it accordingly.

That it may please thee to endue the Lordes of the counsell, and all the Nobilitie with grace wisdom and vnderstanding.

We beseech thee to heare vs good Lorde.

That it maye please thee to blesse and keepe the Magistrates, giuing them grace to execute iustice, and to maintaine truth.

erred and are deceived.

We beseech thee to heare vs good Lorde.

That it may please thee to strengthen such as doe stand, and comfort and helpe the weake harted, and to raise vp them that fall, and finally to beate downe Sathan vnder our feete.

That it may please thee to succour, helpe, and comforte all that be in daunger, necessitie and tribulation.

That it may please thee to preserve all that trauaile by lande, or by water, all women labouring of childre, all sicke persons and pong children and to shew thy pittie vpon all prisoners and captiues.

That it may please thee to defende, and prouide for the fatherlesse children and widowes, and all that be desolate and oppressed.

That it may please thee to haue mercie vpon all men.

We beseech thee to heare vs good Lorde.

That it may please thee to forgive oure enemies persecutours and slaunderers and to turne their hartes.

That it may please thee to giue and preserve to our vse the kindly frutes of the earth, so that in due time we may enjoy them.

That it may please thee to giue to vs true repentance; to forgive vs all our sinnes, negligences, and ignorances, to endue vs with the grace of thy holy spirit, to amende our lyues according to thy holy worde.

We beseech thee to heare vs good Lorde.

Sonne of God we beseech thee to heare vs.

Sonne of God we beseech thee to heare vs.

O Lambe of God that takest away the sinnes of the worlde.

Grant vs thy peace.

O Lambe of God that takest away the sinnes of the worlde.

Grant mercie vpon vs.

O Christ heare vs.

Lorde haue mercie vpon vs.

Lorde haue mercie vpon vs.

Lorde haue mercie vpon vs.

Lorde haue mercie vpon vs.

Our father which art in heaue.

And leade vs not into temptation.

But deliver vs from euill.

The vertue.

O Lorde deale not with vs after our sinnes.

The answer.

Neither reward vs after our iniquities.

O Lorde mercifull Father that despisest not the sighing of a contrite hart, nor the desire of such as be sorrowfull: mercifully assist our prayers, that we make before thee in all our troubles and aduersities, whensoever they oppress vs, and graciously heare vs, that those enils,

euils, which the craft and subtiltie of the Deuill oz man worketh against vs; be brought to naught, and by the prouidence of thy goodnesse, they may be dispersed, that we thy seruants, being hurt by no persecution, may euermore giue thanks vnto thee, in thy holy Church, thowowe Iesus Christ our Lorde.

O Lorde, arise, help vs, and deliuer vs, for thy names sake.

O God, we haue heard with our eares, & our fathers haue declared vnto vs, & noble works & thou didst in their daies, & in the old time before them.

O Lorde, arise helpe vs, and deliuer vs for thine honour.

Glorie be to the Father, and to the sonne, and to the holy ghost.

As it hath bene from the beginning, is now, and euer shall be, worlde without ende. Amen.

From our enemies defende vs, O Christ.

Graciously looks vpon our afflictions.

Pittifully beholde the sorowes of our hart.

Mercifully forgive the sinnes of thy people,

Fauourably with mercie heare our prayers.

O sonne of David, haue mercie vpon vs.

Both now and euer vouchsafe to heare vs, O Christ.

Graciously heare vs, O Christ.

Graciously heare vs, O Lord Christ.

The Versicle.

O Lorde let thy mercy be shewed vpon vs.

The Answer. As we do put our trust in thee.

Let vs pray.

We humbly beseech thee O father, mercifullpe to looke vpon our infirmities, and for the glozy of thy names sake, turne from vs al those euils that we most righteously haue deserued. And grafit that in all our troubles we may put oure whole trust and confidence in thy mercie, and euermore serue thee in holynes and purenes of liuing to thy honour and glorie, through our onely mediatur and advocate Iesus Christ our Lorde. Amen.

After the end of the Collect in the Letanie, which beginneth with these words:
We humbly beseech thee O Father, &c. shall follow this psalme to be saide of the Minister, with the answer of the people.

Lorde, thou art become gracious vnto thy lande, thou hast turned away the afflictions of thy seruants.

2 Thou hast taken awaye all thy displeasure, and turned thy selfe from thy wrathfull indignation.

3 For if (thou Lorde) hadst not helped vs, it had not failed, but our soules had bene put to silence.

4 But when we saide, our feete haue slipped, thy mercie, O Lord, hath helped vs vp.

5 In the multitude of the sorowes that we had in our hartes, thy comforts haue refreshed our soules.

6 Our soules wayted still vpon the Lorde, oure soules hanged vpon his helpe, our hope was alwayes in him.

7 In the Lordes worde did we reioyce, in Gods worde did we comforte our selues.

For

8 For the Lord saide: call vpon me in the time of trouble: and I will heare thee, and thou shalt praise mee.

9 So when we were poore, needie, sickly, and in heauines, the Lord cared for vs, he was our help, and our Saviour according to his worde.

10 In our aduersitie and distresse he hath lift vp our heades, and saued vs from vtter destruction.

11 He hath deliuered our soules from death, he hath fed vs in the time of dearth, he hath saued vs from the noysome pestilence.

12 Therefore will we offer in his holy temple: the oblation of thanksgiving with great gladnes, we will sing and speake praises vnto the Lord our Saviour.

13 We will giue thanks vnto the Lord, for he is gracious, and his mercie endureth for euer.

14 The Lord is full of compassion and mercie, long suffering, plentiful in goodnes and pittie.

15 His mercie is greater then the heaucns, and his gracious goodnes reacheth vnto the cloudes.

16 Like as a father pitieth his owne children: euen so is the Lord mercifull vnto them that feare him.

17 Therefore will we praise thee, and thy mercies (O God) vnto thee will we sing, O thou holy one of Israel.

18 We will sing a new song vnto thee, O God, we will praise the Lord with psalmes of thanksgiving.

19 O sing praises, sing praises vnto our God, sing praises, sing praises vnto our King.

20 For God is the king of the earth, sing praises with vnderstanding.

21 We will magnifie thee O God oure king, we will praise thy name for euer and euer.

22 Euery daye will we giue thanks vnto thee, and praise thy name for euer and euer.

23 Our mouth shall speake the prayes of the Lord, and let all flesh giue thanks vnto his holy name for euer and euer.

24 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer, and blessed be the name of his maiestie worlde without ende. Amen. Amen.

A prayer for the Queenes Maiestie.

O Lord oure heauenly Father, highe and mightie King of Kings, Lord of Lords, the onely ruler of Princes, which doest from thy throne beholde all the dwellers vpon earth, most hartly wee beseeche thee with thy fauour to behold our most gracious soueraigne Lady Queene Elizabeth and so replenishe hir with the grace of thy holy spirit that she may alway incline to thy will, and walke in thy way: Indue hir plentifully with heauenly giftes. Graunt hir in health and wealth long to liue: strength hir that she may vanquish and overcome al hir enemies. And finally, after this lyfe, she may attaine everlasting ioye and felicitie, thorow Iesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

A mightie and euermore God, which onely workest great marvelles, sende downe vpon our Bishops and Curates, and all congregations committed to their charge, the healthfull spiritte of thy grace, and that they may truly please thee. Pour vpon them the continuall dewe of thy blessing. Graunt this, O Lord, for the honour of our advocate and mediator Iesus Christ. Amen.

The Collectes.

A Prayer of Chrysostome.

Almighty God, which hast given vs grace at this time with one accord, to make our common supplications vnto thee, and doest promise that when two or thre be gathered together in thy name, thou wilt graunt their requestes, fulfill nowe O Lorde, the desires and petitions of thy seruants as may be most expedient for them, graunting vs in this worlde knowledge of thy truth, and in the worlde to come, lyfe everlasting. Amen.

2. Corinth. 13.

The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the fellowship of the holy ghost be with vs all enermore. Amen.

For raine if the time require.

O God heavenly father, which by thy sonne Iesus Christ, hath promised to all them that seeke thy kingdome, and the righteousnesse thereof, all things necessarie to their bodily sustinaunce. Sende vs we beseech thee in this our necessity, such inoderate raine and showers, that we may receiue the fruits of the earth to our comforte, and to thy honour, thozow Iesus Christ our Lorde. Amen.

For faire weather.

O Lorde GOD, which for the sinne of man diddest once drowne all the worlde, except eight persons, and afterward of thy great mercie diddest promise neuer to destroy it so againe, wee humbly beseech thee, that although wee for oure iniquities haue worthily deserued this plague of raine and waters, yet vpon oure true repentaunce, thou wilt sende vs such seasonable weather, whereby we maye receiue the fruites of the earth in due season, and learne both by thy punishment to amend our lyues, and for thy clemencie to giue thee praise and glorie, thozowe Iesus Christ our Lorde. Amen.

In the time of dearth and famine.

O God heavenly Father, whose gift it is, that the raine doth fall, the earth is fruitful, beastes increase, and fishes doe multiplie: Beholde, we beseeche thee, the afflictions of thy people, and graunt that the scarcitie and dearth (which we do now most iustly suffer for our iniquitie) maye thozowe thy goodnesse be mercifully turned into cheapnesse and plentie, for the loue of Iesu Christ oure Lorde, to whome with thee and the holy ghost, be praise for ever. Amen.

In the time of warre.

O Almighty GOD, King of Kings, and gouernour of all thinges, whose power no creature is able to resist, to whome it belongeth iustly to punish sinners: and to be mercifull vnto them that truly repent. Haue and deliuer vs (we humbly beseeche thee, from the handes of oure enemies, abate their pride, asswage their malice, and confounde their deuises, that wee being armed with thy defence maye be preserved enermore from all perilles to glorifie thee, which art the onely giuer of all victorie, thozowe the merites of thy onely sonne Iesus Christ our Lorde. Amen.

A Almighty God, which hast given vs grace at thys time with one accord, to make our common supplications vnto thee, and doest promise that when two or three bee gathered in thy name, thou wilt graunt their requestes: fulfill now O Lorde, the desires and petitions of thy seruauntes, as may be most expedient for them, granting vs in this woorld knowledge of the truth, and in the woorld to come, life euerlasting. Amen.

The first Sunday in Aduent.

At the Communion.

The Collect.

A Almighty God, giue vs grace that we maye cast away the woorkes of darknesse, and put vppon vs the armour of light, nowe in the time of this mortall lyfe (in the which thy Sonne Iesus Christ, came to visite vs in great humility) that in the last day when he shal come againe in his glorious Maiestie, to iudge both the quick and the dead, we may rise to the lyfe immortall, thozow him, who lyueth and raigneth with thee and the holy ghost, now and euer. Amen.

The second Sunday.

At the Communion.

The Collect.

Blessed Lorde, which hast caused all holye Scriptures to be written for oure learning, graunt vs that we maye in such wise heare them, read, make, and learne, and inwardly digest them, that by patience and comfort of thy holy worde, we maye embrace, and euer holde fast the blessed hope of euerlasting lyfe, which thou hast given vs in our Sauour Iesu Christ. Amen.

The thirde Sunday.

The first day of Lent.

At the Communion.

The Collect.

Almightie and euermlasting God, which hatest nothing that thou hast made, and doest forgive the sinnes of all them that be penitent. Create and make in vs newe and contrite hartes, that we sorrowfully lamenting our sinnes, and knowledging our wretchednesse, maye obtayne of thee, the God of all mercie, perfite remission and forgiveness, thow we Iesus Christ.

The first Sunday in Lent.

At the Communion.

The Collect.

O Lord, which for our sake, diddest fast .xl. dayes, and fortye nightes, giue vs grace to vse such abstinence, that oure fleshe being subdued to the spirit, we maye euer obey thy Godly motions, in righteousness and true holynes, to thy honor and glorie: which liuest & reignest. &c.

At the Communion.

The Collect.

Almightie God, which doest see that we haue no power of our selues, to helpe our selues: keepe thou vs both outwardly in oure bodies, and inwardly in our soules, that we maye be defended from all aduersities, which maye happen to the body, and from all euill thoughts, which may assault and hurt the soule: thow we Iesus Christ. &c.

The third Sunday.

At the Communion.

These Anthemes shall be song or saide.

Christ rising againe from the deade nows dyeth not, death from hence forth hath no power vpon him: for in that he dyed, he dyed but once to put away sinne, but in that he lyueth, he lyueth vnto God. And so lykewise account your selues deade vnto sinne, but lyuing vnto God in Christ Iesus our Lorde.

Christ is risen againe, the first frutes of them that sleepe: for seeing that by man came death, by man also cometh the resurrection of the dead: for as by Adam all men die, so by Christ all men shall be restored to lyfe.

At the Communion.

The Collect.

Almightie God, which thowowe thy onely begotten sonne Iesus Christ, hast overcome death, and opened vs the gate of euermlasting lyfe, we humbly beseeche thee, that as by thy speciall grace procuring vs, thou doest put in our mindes good desires, so by thy continuall help, we may bring the same to good effect, thow Iesus Christ our lord, who lyueth and reigneth with thee and the holy ghost, now & euerm. The Collect.

A Almighty God, which hast builded the congregation vpon the foundation of the Apostles, and Prophets, Iesu Christ hymselfe being the head corner stone: Graunt vs so to be ioyned together in the vnitie of spirit by their doctrine, that we may be made an holy temple acceptable to thee, through Iesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

All Saints.

At the Communion.

The Collect.

A Almighty God, whiche hast knytte together thy elect in one Communion, and felowshippe in the mysticall bodye of thy sonne Christ our Lord, graunt vs grace so to follow the holy Saints in all vertues and godly lyuing, that we may come to those vnspokeable ioyes which thou hast prepared for all them that vnfaignedly loue thee, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

A Almighty God, whose kingdome is euerlastinge and powre infinite: haue mercy vpon the whole congregation, and so rule the heart of thy cholen seruaunt Elizabeth our Queene and gouernour, (that shee knowing whole Minister shee is) may aboue all thinges, seeke thy honour and glory, and that wee hir subiects (duelye considering whole authoritie she hath) maye saythfully serue, honoure, and humbly obey hir in thee, and for thee, according to thy blessed worde and ordinaunce: Through Iesus Christ our Lord, who with thee and the holy ghost, liueth and raigneth euer one God, world without ende. Amen.

A Almighty and euerlastinge God, we be taught by thy holy word that the heartes of Kings are in thy rule and gouernaunce, and that thou doest dispose & turne them as seemeth best to thy godlye wisdom: we humbly beseech thee, so to dispose and gouerne the hart of Elizabeth thy seruaunt our Queene and gouernour: that in all hir thoughtes, wordes and woorkes, shee may euer seeke thy honour and glory: and study to preserue thy people committed to hir charge, in wealth peace & godlines grant this O merciful father, for thy dere sons sake, Iesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

A generall confession to be made before we receiue the holy Communion.

A Almighty God, father of our Lord Iesus Christ, maker of all things and iudge of all men, we knowlege and bewaile our manyfold sinnes and wickednesse, which wee from time to tyme moste greuously haue committed by thought, word, and dede, against thy diuine maiestie, prouoking most iustly thy wrath and indignation againste vs: we doe earnestly repent, and be hartily sorry for these our misdoinges, the remembraunce of theym is greuous vnto vs, the burthen of them is intollerable: Haue mercy vpon vs, haue mercy vpon vs moste mercifull father, o: thy sonne our Lord Iesus Christes sake, forgive vs all that that is past, and graunt that we may euer hereafter serue and please thee in newenesse of lyfe, to the honour and gloze of thy name, throughte Iesus Christ our Lorde.

A prayer to be sayde before the receyuing of the holy Communion.

We doe not presume to come to this thy table, O mercifull Lorde, trusting in our owne righteousnesse, but in thy manifold & great mercies, we be not worthy so much as to gather by the cruimes vnder thy table, but thou art the same lord, whose property is alwayes to haue mercy: graunt vs therfore gracious Lorde, so to eate the flesh of thy deare son Iesus Christ, & to drinke his blood, that our sinfull bodies may be made cleane by his bode, and our soules washed throught his most precious blood. Amen.

A thankes giuing vnto God, after the receyuing of the holy Communion.

Almighty and euerlasting god, we most heartily thanke thee, for that thou hast vouchsaied to fede vs, which haue duely receiued these holy mysteries, with the spirituall foode of the most precious body and blood of thy sonne our sauour Iesus Christ, and doest assure vs thereby, of thy fauour & goodnes toward vs, and that we be very members incorporated in thy mysticall body, which is the blessed company of all faythfull people, and bee also heyyes throught hope of thy euerlasting kingdome, by the merites of the most precious death, and passion of thy deare sonne, we nowe most humbly beseech thee, O heauenlye father so to assist vs wpth grace, that we may continue in that holy fellowship, and doe all suche good woorkes, as thou hast prepared for vs to walke in: throught Iesus Christ our Lorde, to whom wpth thee, and the holy ghost, be all honour and gloze, worlde without ende. Amen.

The peace of God, which passeth all vnderstanding, keepe your hartes and myndes in the knowledge and loue of God, and of his sonne Iesus Christ our Lorde: and the blessing of God the Father, the Sonne, and the holpe Ghost bee among you, and remayne wpth you alwayes. Amen.

A Collectes to be sayde after the Offertozy, when there is no Communion.

Assist vs mercifull, O Lorde, in these our supplications and prayers, and dispose the waye of thy seruantes, toward the attaynement, of euerlastinge saluation, that among all the chaunces and chaunces of this mortall lyfe, they may euer be defended by thy most gracious and ready helpe, throught Christ our Lorde. Amen.

O Almighty Lorde, and euerlasting God, vouchsafe wee beseech thee, to direct, sanctifie and gouerne, both our hartes and bodies, in the wayes of thy lawes, and in the woorkes of thy comaundements, that throught thy most mightie protection, both here and euer, we maye bee preserved in body and soule, throught our Lorde and sauour: Iesus Christ. Amen.

Graunt we beseech thee almighty God, that the wordes which we haue heard this daye with our outwarde eares, maye thorow thy grace be so grafted inwardly in our hartes, that they may bring forth in vs, the fruit of good lyuing, to the honour and praise of thy name, thorow Iesus Christ our Lorde. Amen.

Reuent vs, O Lorde, in all our doings, with thy most gracious fauour, and further vs with thy continuall helpe, that in all our workes begon and ended in thee, we may glorifie thy holy name, and finally, by thy mercie obtaine euerlasting lyfe: thorow Iesus Christ our Lorde. Amen.

Almighty God, the fountaine of all wisdom, which knowest oure necessities before we aske, and our ignorance in asking, we beseech thee to haue compassion vpon oure infirmities: and those things, which for our unworthynesse we dare not, and for our blindness we can not aske, vouchsafe to giue vs for the worthynesse of thy Sonne Iesus Christ our Lorde. Amen.

Almighty God, which hast promised to heare the petitions of them that aske in thy sonnes name, we beseech thee mercifully to encline thine eares to vs, that haue made now prayers and supplications vnto thee, and graunt that those things which we haue faithfully asked according to thy holy will, may effectually be obtained, to the reliefe of our necessitie, and to the setting forth of thy glorie, thorow Iesus Christ our Lorde. Amen.

The .iii. Chapter.

Adam knewe Ena his wife. who conceauinge, did beare Cain, sayinge: I haue gotten a man of the Lord. And thre pcedinge forth, brought forth his brother Habel: and Habel was a keeper of sheepe, but Cain was a tiller of the ground. And in pcedesse of dayes it came to passe that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an oblation vnto the Lord. Habel also brought of the firstlinges of his sheepe, and of the fat therof. And the Lord had respect vnto Habel, and to his oblation. But vnto Cain and to his offering he had no respect. For the whiche cause Cain was exceeding wroth, and his countenance abated. And the Lord sayde vnto Cain: Why art thou wroth, and why is thy countenance abated? If thou do well shall there not be a promotion: And if thou doest not well, lieth not thy sinne in the doores? Vnto thee also pertaineth the lust thereof, & thou shalt haue dominion ouer it. And Cain spake vnto Habel his brother,

Gen. 10. a When they were in the fildes, Cain rose vp against Habel his brother, and slew him. And the Lord sayde vnto Cain: Where is Habel thy brother? Cain. I knowe not: Am I my brothers keeper? And he sayde: What hast thou done? The voyce of thy brothers blood cryeth vnto me out of the ground: and now art thou cursed from the earth, whiche hath opened her mouth, to receaue thy brothers bloude fro thy hand. If thou till the ground, she shall not pcedede to yeld vnto thee her strength. Fugitive, and a vabound shalt thou be in the earth. And

Gen. 15. c Cain sayde vnto the Lord: My iniurie is more then that it may be forgiven. Beholde, thou hast cast me out this daye from the bigger face of the earth, and from thy face shall I be hid: Fugitive also, and a vabound shall I be in the earth. And it shall come to passe: every one that findeth me, shall slaye me. And the Lord sayd vnto him: (it shall not be so) yea, but whosoever slayeth Cain, it shall be auenged seven fold. And the Lord set a marke vpon Cain, least anye man findinge him, should kill him. And Cain went out from the presence of the Lord, and dwelt in the lande of Nod eastwarde from Eden. Cain also knewe his wife whiche conceived and bare Henoche: and buildinge a Citie, he called the name of the same Citie after the name of his sonne Henoche. Vnto the same Henoche was borne Irad, Irad begat Methusael, and Methusael begat Methusael. Methusael begat Lamech. And Lamech tooke vnto him selfe two wives: The name of the one was Ada, and the name of the other was Zilla. And Ada begate Iabel, whiche was the father of such as dwell in the tentes, and of such as haue cattel. His brothers name was Chuball, which was the father of such as handle harpe and organ. And Zilla also begate Chubalcain, whiche wrought commonlye euerye crafte of bras and yron. The sister of Chubalcain, was Raena. And Lamech sayde vnto his wives, Ada & Zilla. Heare my voyce ye wives of Lamech, hearken vnto my spech: I haue slayn a man to & woundinge of my selfe, and a yong man to mine owne punishment. If Cain shall be auenged seven fold, truly Lamech seventy times and seven times. I knowe his wife agayne, and she bare a son and called his name Seth: For God (sayde she) hath appoynted me another seide in stead of Habel, whom Cain slew. And vnto the same Seth also, there was borne a sonne: and hee called his name Enos. Then began they to make inuocation in the name of the Lord.

This is the booke of the generations of Adam. In the day that god created man: in the likeness of God made he him. Male & female, noth • walked with God: and he was created he them, and blessed them: and called they name Adam, in the day of they creation. And Adam lyued an hundred and thirtie yeares, and begat a son in his owne likenes, after his ymage, and called his name Seth. All the dayes of Adam (after he had begotten • Seth) were eyght hundred yeares: and he begat sons and daughters. And all the dayes that Adam liued, were nyne hundred and thirtie yeares, and he dyed. Seth lyued an hundred and fyue yeares, & begat Enos: And Seth lyued (after he begat Enos) eight hundred and seue peres, and begat sonnes and daughters.

And all the dayes of Seth, were nine hundred and twelue yeares: And he dyed. Enos liued ninety peres, and begat Kenan: and Enos liued (after he begat Kenan) eight hundred and fiftene peres, and begat sonnes & daughters. And all the dayes of Enos were nine hundred and fyue yeares: And he dyed. Kenan lyued seuentie peres, and begat Mahelael: And Kenan lyued (after he begat Mahelael) eyght hundred and forty yeares, and begat sonnes and daughters. And all the dayes of Kenan were nine hundred yeares and ten yeares, and he dyed.

Mahelael lyued sixty yeares, and fyue yeares, and begat Jared: And againe Mahelael lyued (after he begat Jared) eyght hundred and thirtie peres, and begat sonnes and daughters. And all the dayes of Mahelael were eyght hundred, nintie and fyue yeares: and he dyed. Jared lyued an hundred and sixty and two yeares, and he begatte Henoch: And Jared lyued (after he begat Henoch) eight hundred yeares, & begat sonnes and daughters. And all the dayes of Jared were nine hundred and sixty, and two yeares: And he died.

Henoch liued sixty and fyue peres, and begat Methuselah. And Henoch walked with God after he begatte Methuselah, thre hundred yeares, & begat sonnes and daughters. And all the dayes of Henoch were thre hundred sixty and fyue yeares, And henoch • walked with God: and he was nomore sene, for God toke him away. Methuselah also lyued an hundred yeares, eyghty and seuen yeares, and begat Lamech: And agayne Methuselah lyued (after he begat Lamech,) seuen hundred yeares, and eyghty, & two yeares, and begat sonnes & daughters. And all the dayes of Methuselah were nine hundred yeares, and sixty, and nine peres: And he dyed. Lamech lyued an hundred yeares, and eyghtie and two yeares and begat a sonne, and called his name Noah, saying: Chys same shall comfot vs as concerninge our woike and sorowe of ours woike and sorowe of our handes: from of the earth which God cursed. And Lamech lyued after he begat Noah (fue hundred yeares and ninety & fyue peres, and begat sonnes and daughters. And all the dayes of Lamech were seuen hundred yeares, and seuentie, and seuen peres: And he dyed. Noah was fue hundred yeare olde. And Noah begat Sem, Ham, and Japheth.

And it came to passe, that man began to be multiplied in the upper face of the earthe, and there were daughters bozne vnto the. The sonnes of God also sawe the daughters of men that they wer faire, and they toke the wyues from among all that they had choslen. And the Lord sayd: my spirite shall not alwaye strue in man, because he is fleshe: And hys dayes shalbe • an hundred and twenty yeares. But there were giants in the earth in those dayes: and after that the sonnes of God, came vnto the daughters of men, and they had genynged vnto them, the same becam mighty men of the woylde, and men of renowne. But God sawe that the malice of man was great in the earth, and all the ymagination of the thoughtes of hys heart was onely euill and that contynualle. And it repented the Lord that he hadde made man in the earth: and he was touched with sorowe in his heart. And the Lord sayd: I will (from the upper face of the erth) destroy man, whom I haue created, both man, cattell, worme, and foule of the ayre: for it repenteth me & I haue made them. But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord. These are the generations of Noah. Noah was iust and perfect in his generations, and walked with God. Noah begat thre sonnes: Sem, Ham, and Japheth. The earth also was corrupt before God, and the same earth was fylled with crueltie. And God looked vpon the earth, and behold it was corrupt: for all fleshe had corrupted his way vpon earth. And God sayd vnto Noah, The end of all fleshe is come before me: for the erth is fylled with crueltie, from before the face of them. And beholde I will destroy them, with the erth. Make thee an Arke of pine trees: habitations shalt thou make in the Arke, and shalt pitch it within and withoute with pitch. And of this fashion shalt thou make it. The lengthe of the Arke shalbe thre hundred cubites: the bredth of it fifty cubites, and the height of it, thirty cubites: a window shalt thou make in the Arke, & in a cubite shalt thou finish it aboue: but the doore of the Arke shalt thou set in the syde thereof: with thre lottes one aboue another, shalt thou make it. And beholde, I, euen I do bring a flood of waters vpon the earth, that I may destroy all fleshe (wherein is the breath of life) vnder heauen. And euery thing that is in the earth, shal dye. with thee also will I make my covenant: and thou shalt come into the arke, thou and thy sonnes, and thy wife, and thy sonnes wives with thee. And euery liuing thinge, and of all fleshe, a payre of euery one, shalt thou bring into the Arke, to kepe them alīue with thee. They shalbe male and female. Of fethered foules also after their kinde, and of all cattell after their kinde, of euery worme of the earth after his kinde: two of euery one shall come vnto thee, that thou mayest kepe them alīue. And take thou with thee of all meate that is eaten, & thou shalt lay it up with thee, that it may be meate for thee and them. Noah therefore did according to all that God commaunded him, euen so did he.

And the Lord said vnto Noah: come thou and all thy house in to the Arke: for thee haue I sene righteous before me in this generation. Of euery cleane beast thou shalt take with thee seuen & seuen: the male, and his female: But of vncleane cattell two, the male and his female. Of foules also of the ayre, seuen and seuen, the male and female: to kepe sede alīue vpon the face of all the whole earth. For after seuen daies yet to come I will rayne vpon the earth fortye dayes and fortye nightes. And all substance that I haue made, will I destroy from the vpper face of the earth. Noah therefore did according vnto all that God commaunded him. And Noah was six hundred yeres olde, when the flood of waters was vpon the earth. And Noah came (and his sons, and his wife, and his sonnes wives with him) vnto the Arke, because of the waters of the flood. Of cleane cattell, and of vncleane cattell, & of flying foules, and of euery such as crepeth vpon the earth, there came two and two vnto Noah into the arke: the male and the female, as God had commaunded Noah. It fortunēd also after seuen dayes, and the waters of the flood were vpon the earth. In the six hundred yere of Noes life, in the seconde moneth, the seuententh day of the moneth: In the same day were all the fountains of the great depe broken vppe, and the windowes of heauen were opened. And the rayne was vpon the earth fortye dayes, and fortye nightes.

In the selfe same daye, entred Noah, Sem, Ham, and Japheth, the sonnes of Noah, and Noahs wife, & the thre wives of his sonnes, with them into the Arke. They and euery beast after his kinde, and all cattell after their kinde, yea and euery worme that crepeth vpon the earth after his kinde, and euery birde after his kinde: and euery flying and fethered soule, And they came vnto Noah into the Arke, two and two, of all fleshe wherein is the breath of life. And they entring in came male and female of all fleshe, as God had commaunded him. And god shut him in rounde aboute. And the flood came sozte dapes vppon the earth, and the waters were encreased, and bare vp the Arke, which was lift above the earth. The waters also preuayled, and were increased exceedingly vpon the earth, and so the Arke went on the vpper face of the waters. And the waters preuayled exceedingly vpon the earth: and all the hie hills that are vnder the whole heauen were couered. Fiftene cubits vppward did the waters preuayle, so that the mountaynes were couered. And all fleshe dyed that moued vpon the earth, in soule, in cattell, in beest, and in euery woyme that creepeth vpon the earth: yea, and euery man also whatsoeuer was (in whose nostrils the breath of life did breathe) all these in the daye died: And euery thing was destroyed that remayned, and what was in the vpper part of the ground (both man and cattell, and woyme, and foule of the aire) they were euery destroyed from off the earth. And Noah onely remayned a hie, and they that were with him in the Arke. But the waters preuayled vpon the earth, an hundred and fiftie dapes.

The. viij. Chapter.

AND God remembred Noah, and euery beest, & all the catell that was with him in the Arke. And God made a wind to passe vpon the earth, and the waters ceased. The fountaynes also of the deepe, and the windowes of heauen were stopped: and the rayne from heauen was restrained. And the waters fro the earth were returned, going and comminge againe. And after the ende of the hundred and fiftie dapes, the waters were abated. And in the seuenth moneth in the seuenth day of the moneth, the Arke rested vpon the mountaynes of Armenia. And the waters truly were going and decreacing vntill the tenth moneth: For in the tenth moneth, and in the firste dape of the same moneth, were the toppes of the mountaynes sene. And after the ende of the fortieth dape, it hapned that Noah opened the windowes of the Arke which he had made. And he sent forth a rauen, whiche went out going forth and returninge agayne, vntill the waters were dried vpon the earth. And agayne he sent forth a doue from him, that he might see if the waters were abated from the vpper face of the ground. And the doue founde no rest for the sole of her foote: and she returned vnto him agayne into the Arke: For the waters were in the vpper face of the whole earth. And he when he had put forth his hande, tooke her & pulled her to him into the Arke. And he abode yet other seuen dapes, and proceeding further, he sent forth the doue out of the Arke. And the doue came to him in the Euen tyde: and so, in her mouth was an Oliue leafe that she had pluckt: wherby Noah did knowe, that the waters were abated vpon the earth. And he abode yet other seuen dapes, and sent forth the doue which proceeded not to return vnto him anye moze. And it came to passe in the sixe hundred and one yere in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the waters were dried vpper from the earth. And Noah remoued the coveringe of the Arke, and looked: and beholde, the vpper face of the ground was dried vpper. And in the second moneth, in the seuen and twenty dapes of the moneth, was the earth dried. And God spake vnto Noah, saying: Go forth of the Arke: thou and thy wife, thy sons, and thy sonnes wiues with thee. And bringe forth with thee, euery beest that is with thee: of all flesh (both soule and catell, and euery woyme that creepeth vpon the earth) that they may geendye in the earth, and bringe forth fruite, and increase vpon earth. And so Noah came forth and his sonnes, his wife, and his sonnes wiues, with him.

The ix. Chapter.

Gen. 7.1. and 8.1. AND God. blessed Noah and his sonnes, and sayde vnto the: Brynge ye forth fruite, and multiplie, and replenishe the earthe.
The feare of you and the drede of you shalbe vpon every beast of the earthe, and vpon every soule of the ayre, in all such as the earth bringeth forth, and in all the fishes of the sea. Into your hand are they deliuered. Every thing that moueth it selfe, and that liueth, shalbe meat for you: Euen as the grene herbe, haue I geuen you all thinges.
Leui. 7.1. and 17.1. But. fleshe in the life thereof, and in the blood therof, shall ye not eate. Eis your bloude of your liues will I require. From the hande of every beast will I require it, and from the hande of man: From the hande of mans brother will I require the life of man.
Mat. 29.1. 3p. 13. Who so. sheddeth mans blood, by man shall his bloud be shed: For in the ymage of God did God make man.
26 But bringe you forth fruite, and multiplie: Gender ye in the earth, and increase therein. God spake also vnto Noah and to his sonnes with him, sayinge: Beholde, I set bp my. couenant with you, and with your seede after you, and with every living creature that is with you: both in soule and in cattell, and in every beast of the earthe whiche is with you, of al that go oute of the Arke, accordinge vnto every liuing thing of the earth. But my couenant with I make with you, that from hence forth every flesh be not rooted out with the water of the floud, neyther shall there be a floud to destroy the earth any moze. And God sayde: This is the token of the couenant which I geue betwene me and you, and every liuing creature that is with you into perpetuall generations.

I haue set my bowe in the cloude, and it shalbe for a token betwene me and the earth. And it shall come to passe that when I bring a cloude vpon the earth, the bowe also shalbe sene in the same cloude. And I will thinke vpon my couenant whiche is betwene me and you, and every liuing creature in all fleshe: and it shall no moze come to passe, that. waters make a floud to de-stroye all fleshe. But the bowe shalbe in the same cloude, and I wil loke vpon it, that I may thinke vpon the euerlasting couenant betwene God and every liuing creature in all fleshe that is vpon earth. And God sayde vnto Noah: This is the token of the coue-nante which I haue made betwene me and all fleshe that is vpon earth.
The sonnes of Noah going forth of the Arke, were Sem, Ham, and Japheth. And Ham truly is the father of Chanaan. These are the three sons of Noah, & of them was the whole earth ouerspread. Noah also began to be an husbande man, and planted a vyne-yarde. And he drynking of the wyne was drunken, and vncouered with in his tent. And Ham the father of Canaan seeinge the nakednesse of his father, tolde his two brethren without.
And Sem and Japheth, they two, sakinge a garmente, layde it vpon their shoulders: and comming backewarde, couered the naked priuities of their father: namely, their faces beinge turned away, lest they shoulde see their fathers priuities. And Noah awooke from his wyne, and knewe what his yonger sonne had done vnto him. And he sayde: Cursed be Canaan, a seruant of seruantes shal he be vnto his bye-chym. He sayd moreover: Blessed be the Loyde God of Sem, and Canaan shal be his seruant. God shall enlarge Japheth, and he shall dwell in the ten-tes of Sem, and Canaan shal be their seruant. Noah liued after the floude three hundred and fiftie yeres. And at the dayes of Noah were nyne hundred and fiftie yeres, and he dyed.

The .x. Chapter.

These are the generations of the sonnes of Noah, Sem, Ham, and Japheth: And vnto theym were chyldren bozne after the floude.
The chyldren of Japheth: Gomer, and Magog, and Madis, and Iauan, and Chuball, Meserch, and Theras.
The chyldren of Gomer: Assenath, & Riptah, and Chogarma. The chyldre of Iauan, Elisa, & Charis, Kitchim, and Dodanin. Of these were the of the Gentiles deuided in their landes, euerye man after his tongue, and after his kinned in their nations. The chyldren of Ham, Cusch and Mizrym and Phur and Canaan. And the children of Cusch: Seba and Henilah and Sabitha, and Rahma, & Sapthecha.
The chyldren of Rahma: Scheba and Dedan. Cusch also begat Nimrod.
The same beganne to be myghtye in the earth. For he was a myghty hunter befoze the Loyde. Wherefoze it is sayde: Euen as Nimrod the myghtye hunter befoze the Loyde. The beginning of his kingdome was. Babel, and Errech, and Accad, and Calne, in the land of Sinhar. Out of that land came Assur, and builded Ninue, and the stretes of the Citie, and Chalah: Kelle also betwene Ninue and Ca-lah, and it is a great Citie. Mizraim begat Ludim, and Enamim, and Lehabim, and Sephtuhim, Pathusim, also and Cassuhim, out of whom came Philistim and Caphozim. Chanaan begat Sidon his first bozne sonne, and Heth, and Jebusi, & Emori, and Girgisi, Hahiti also, and Haarkhi, & Hasi-ti, and Haaruadi, and Hazmari, and Hahemathi. And afterward were the kinreds of Cananites spread abode.

The bozder of the Cananites was from Sidon, as thou comest to Gerer vntill Hazan, and as thou goest vnto Sodoma and Gomorre, and Adams and Jebosim, euen vnto the sea. These are the chyldren of Ham in their kin-reds, in their tongues, countreys and their nations. Vnto Sem also the father of all the chyldren of Eber (and sider brother of Japheth) there were chyldre bozne. The chyldren of Sem: Elam and Assur, Arphachlad & Lud, and Aran. The chyldren of Aran: Uz and Hul, Gether & Mas. Arphachlad begat Selah, and Selah begat Eber. Vnto Eber also were bozne two sons: The name of the one was Pe-leg, for in his dayes was the earth de-uided. And his brothers name was Jaketan. Jaketan begate Amodad, and Saleph, Hazermaneth and Je-tah, and Hodozan and Alal & Dickla, Oball also and Abimaell, and Scheba, and Ophir, & Hantila, and Jobab.
These were the chyldre of Jaketan.
And their dwelling was from Mesa, as thou goest vnto Sephar a mounte of the east. These are the chyldren of Sem after their kinreds and tonges in their landes and nations. And so these are the kinreds of the chyldren of Noah, after their generations in their peoples, and of these wer the nations deuided in the earth, after the flud.

The .xi. Chapter.

At the whole earth was of one language and like spech. And it happened when they went forth fro the east, they found a playne in the lande of Sinhar, and there they abode. And they sayd euery one to his neighbour: Come, let vs prepare brycke, and burne them in the fyre. And they had bryck for stone, and lime had they in steade of mozt: And they sayde: Go to, let vs builde vs a Citie and a tower, whose toppes may reache vnto heauen: and lette vs make vs a name, lest happely we be scaterd abode into the vpper face of the whole earthe.

But the Lord came downe, to see the citie and towne which the childen of men builded: And the Lord saide: Beholde, the people is one, and they haue all one language, and this they begin to do, neyther will it be restrayned fro them, what soeuer they haue pimagined to do. Come on, let vs go downe, and confounde their language, that euery one perceaue not his neyghbors speche. And so the Lord scatered the from that place into the vpper face of all the earth. And they left off to build the citie. And therefore is the name of it called, • Babel, because the Lord did there confounde the language of all the earth. And from thence did the Lord scater them abrode vpon the face of all the earth. These are the generations of Sem: Sem was an hundred yere olde, and begat Arphachsad two yeres after the flood. And Sem liued (after he begat Arphachsad) siue hundred yeres, and begat sonnes & daughters. Arphachsad liued. xxxv. yeres, and begat Selah. And Arphachsad liued (after he begat Selah) foure hundred and thre yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters. Selah liued thirtie yeres, and begate Eber. And Selah liued (after he begate Eber) foure hundred and thre yeres, and begat sonnes and daughters. Eber liued foure and thirtie yeres, and begat Peleg: And Eber liued) after hee begat Peleg) foure hundred and thirtie yeres, and begat sons and daughters. Peleg liued thirtie yeres and begate Reu. And Peleg liued (after he begat Reu) two hundred & nine yeres, and begat sonnes and daughters. Reu liued two and thirtie yeres, and begat Serug: And Reu liued (after he begate Serug) two hundred and seven yeres, and begate sons and daughters. Serug liued thirtie yeres, and begat Nahor: And Serug liued (after he begat Nahor) two hundred yere, and begat sons and daughters. And Nahor liued nine and twentie yeres, and begat Terah: And Nahor liued (after he begat Terah) an hundred and ninete yeres, and begat sons and daughters.

Terah. Terah liued seuentie yeres, and begate Abraham, Nahor, and Haran. These are the generations of • Terah: Terah begat Abraham, Nahor, and Haran. Haran begat Lot. And Haran dyed in the presence of Terah his father, in the lande of his natiuitie, euen in Ur of the Caldres. Abrahā and Nahor tooke them wiues: The name of Abrahams wife was Sarai, & the name of Nahors wife was Milca, & daughter of Haran the father of Milca, and the father of Isca. But Sarai was barren, and had no childe. And Terah take Abraham • his sonne, and Lot the sonne of Haran, his sonnes sonne, and Sarai his daughter in law, his sonne Abrahams wife: and they departed together from Ur of the Caldres, that they might go into the lande of Chanaan and they came vnto Haran, and dwelt there: And the dayes of Terah were two hundred and siue yeres, and Terah dyed in Haran.

And the Lord sayde vnto Abraham: Get thee out of thy country, and out of thy nation, and from thy fathers house vnto a lande that I will shewe thee. And I will make of thee a greate people, and will • blesse thee, and make thy name great, that thou mayest be euen a blessing. I will also blesse them that blesse thee, and curse them that curse thee: and in thee shall all kindreds of the earth be blessed. And so Abraham departed euen as the Lord spake vnto him, and Lot went with him. And Abraham was seuentie and siue yeres old, when he departed out of Harā. And Abraham toke Sarai his wife, and Lot his brothers sonne, and all their • substance that they had in possession, and the soules that they had begotten in Haran: And they departed, that they might come into the lande of Chanaan: And into the land of Chanaan they came. Abraham passed through the land vnto the place of Sichem, and vnto the playne of Moeth: And the Cananite was then in the lande, And the Lord appering vnto uinge thence vnto a mountayne that went forth going and departinge to-warde the southe. But there was a dearth in that lande, and therfoze went Abham downe into Egypte, that he might sogourne there, for there was a soze dearth in the lande. And it happened when he was come nere to enter into Egypte, he sayde vnto Sarai his wyfe: Behold, I knowe that thou art a fayre woman to loke vpon: therfoze shall it come to passe, that when the Egyptians se thee, they shall say: She is his wyfe. And they shall kill me, but they shal saue thee alyue. Saye (I pray the) that . thou art my sister, that D I may fare well for thy sake: and that sion. And so it happened, when Abham was come into Egypte, the Egyptians behelde the woman, for she was very fayre. The princes also of Pharao sawe her and commended her be-foze Pharao, and the woman was taken into Pharaos house. And he trulye entreated Abham wel for her sake, and he had shepe and oxen, and he asses men seruantes, and mayd seruantes, she asses, and camels. And the Lord snoze Pharao and hys house wyth great plages, because of Sarai Abhams wyfe. And Pharao calling Abham, sayde: Why haste thou done this vnto me? Why dydest thou not tel me, that she was thy wyfe? Now therfoze be-holde, there is thy wyfe, take her, and go thy waye: And Pharao gaue the men commaundements concer-ninge him: and they con-nayed hym forth, and his wyfe, & all that he had.

A And so Abham gaue hym by out of Egypt, he and his wyfe, and all that he had, and Lot with him, towarde the south: And Abham was very ryche, in cattell, in siluer and gold. And he went fourth on his tourney fro the south toward Bethel, vnto the place wher his tent had bene at the beginning, betwene Bethel and Hay: Euen vnto the place of the . altar which he had made there at the first: and ther Abham called on the name of the Lord.
Lot also which went with Abham, had shepe, cattell & tentes, & the land was not able to receiue the that they might dwell together: for the substance of their riches was great, and they could not dwell together. And there fell a strife betwene the herdmen of Abhams cattell, and the herdmen of Lots cattell.
Wherouer the . Cananites and the Phereisites dwelled at that time in the land. Then sayd Abham vnto Lot: Let ther be no strife (I pray thee) betwene thee & me, and . betwene my herdmen & thyne, for we be brethren. I am not all the whole lande before thee: Departe I pray thee fro me. If thou wilt take the left hande, I will go to the right: or if thou depart to the right hand, I will go to the lefte. And so Lot lyfting vp his eyes, beheld all the coun-terey of Iordan, which was a plenteous countrey of water every where, befoze the Lord destroyed Sodome & Gomorra: euen as the garde of the Lord, like the land of Egypt as thou comest vnto Zoar. Then Lot chose all the plain countrey of Iordan, and toke his tourney from the east: And so departed the one brother from the other. Abham dwelled in the land of Canaan: & Lot abode in the Cities of the playne, and tented vntill Sodome. But . the men of Sodome were wicked and exceeding spynners befoze the Lord. And the Lord sayde vnto Abham, after that Lot was departed from him: Lift vp thyne eyes now, and loke from the place wher thou art northward, southward, eastward, and westward, for althe lande whiche thou seest wyll I geue vnto thee and to thy sede for euer.

And Abraham taking downe his tent, came and dwelled in the okegrove of Mamre, namely in Ebyon, and builded there an altar vnto the Lord.

Ch. xlii. Chapter.

AD it chanced in the dayes of Amraphaell king of Sinhar, Arioch king of Ellazar, Kedorlaomor king of Elam, & Chydeai king of the nations, & they made warre with Vera, king of Sodome, & with Birsa king of Gomorra, and with Sineab king of Adama, & with Semeabar king of Jobaim, and with the king of Bela: The same is Zoar. All these were ioynd together in the vale of Siddym, where the salt sea is. For twelue yeare were they subiecte to Kedorlaomor, and in the thirtene yeare rebelled: But in the fourteene yeare came Kedorlaomor, and the kinges that were with him, & smote the Gpauantes of Maroth Barnaim, and the Sufims in Ham, and the Emims in the plaine of Kiriathim, & the Horims in mount Seir, vnto the playne of Phara, whiche bordeth vpon the wilderness. And they returninge, came to Cu Mispar, which is Cadeg and smote all the country of the Amalethites, and also the Amozites that dwelt in Hazezon Hamar. And ther wente out the kinges of Sodome, and the king of Gomorra; and the kinge of Adama, and the kinge of Jobaim, and the king of Bela which is Zoar. And they stroke battell with them in the vale of Siddym, that is to saye: with Kedorlaomor, the king of Elam, and with Chydeai king of Nations, and with Amraphaell king of Sinhar, and with Arioch kinge of Ellazar: foure kinges agaynst fyue. And the vale of Siddym was ful of stime pittes. And the kinge of Sodome & Gomorra fled, and fell there: And they that remayned, fled to the mountaynes. And they taking all the goods of Sodome and Gomorra, and all their viayles, went their way. And they carried away Lot also, Abrahams brothers sonne, and his goodes, (for he dwelled at Sodome) and departed. And there came one that had escaped, and tolde Abraham the Hebrew whiche dwelled in the okegrove of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Elcholl, and brother of Aner, whiche were confederate with Abraham. When Abraham heard that his brother was taken, he harnessed his freshe yonge men, bozne in his owne house, thre hundred and eightene, and folowed on them vntill Dan: And he was set in aray vpon them by night, he and his seruants, and smote them and pursued them vnto Hoba (which lyeth on the left hande of Damascus) and recovered all the goodes, and also brought agayne his brother Lot, and his goodes, the women also, and the people. After that he returned agayne from the manslaughter of Kedorlaomor, and of the kinges that were with him, came the king of Sodome forth to mete him in the playne vale, whiche is the kinges dale. And Melchisedech king of Salem brought forth bread and wine: For he was the priest of the most highest God, and blessed him, saying: Blessed be Abraham vnto the high God, possessor of heauen and earth. And blessed be the hye God whiche hath deliuered thine enemies into thy hande. And Abraham gaue him tithes of all. And the kinge of Sodome sayde vnto Abraham: Geue me the soules, and take the goodes to thy selfe. And Abraham answered the king of Sodome: I haue lift vp my hande vnto the Lord the hye God, possessor of heauen and earth, that I will not take of all that is thine, so muche as a threde of shoulacher, lest thou shouldest saye: I haue made Abraham ryche: Hane onelye that whiche the yonge men haue eaten, and the partes of the men whiche wente with me, Aner, Elcholl, and Mamre whiche shall take their partes, Chc. x. Chapter.

After these things were done, the word of the Lord came vnto Abram in a vision, saying: Feare not Abram, I am thy helpe, & thy reward shalbe exceeding great. And Abram sayde: Lord God what wilt thou geue me when I go childlesse, and the childe of the stewardship of my house, is this Eliezer of Damasco? And Abram sayde: See, to me thou hast geue no seede: lo, a lad bozne in my house is my heire. And beholde, the word of the Lord came vnto him saying: He shal not be thine heire, but one that shall come out of thine owne body shalbe thine heire. And he brought him out and sayde: loke vp vnto heauen, and tell the .starres, if thou be able to number them. And he sayd vnto him: .Euen so shall thy seede be. And Abram .belueueth the Lord, and that counted he to him for righteousness. And agayne he sayde vnto him: I am the Lord that brought thee out of Ur of the Caldees, to geue thee this land, and that thou mightest possesse it. And he sayde: Lord God, wherby shall I knowe that I shal possesse it? He answered vnto him: Take an heifer of thre yere olde, and a she goat of thre yere olde, and a thre yere olde ram, a turtle doue also and a yonge pigeon. He toke therefore all these vnto him, and deuided them in the middes, and layde euery pece, one against another. But the foules deuided he not.

C And when the birdes fell on the carcases, Abram droue them away. And when the sunne was downe, there fel a slumber vpon Abram. And lo, a dark and great feare fell vpon him. And he sayde vnto Abram: knowe this of a surety, that thy .seede shalbe a strange ger in a land that pertaineth not vnto them. And shal serue them, and they shall entreate them euill. .iiii. hundred yeres. But the nation whom they shall serue, will I iudge. And afterwarde shall they come out with greete substaunce. And thou shalt go vnto thy fathers in peace, and shalt be buried in a good olde age. But in the fourth generation they shall come hither agayne, for the wickednes of the Amorites is not yet full. And it came to passe that when the Sunne wente downe, there was a darke cloude: beholde there was a smokinge fornace, and a sprebrande goinge betwene the sayde peeces. In that same daye the Lord made a coneuant with Abram saying: vnto thy .seede haue I geuen this lande, from the riuier of Egypte, euen vnto the great riuier the riuier of Euphrates, the Kenites, the Kenizites and the Cadmonites, the Hethtites, and the Sherezites, and the Gaiants, the Amorites also, and the Cananites, the Gergesites, and the Jebusites.

Sarai Abrahams wife bare him no children. But shee had an handmayde an Egyptian, Hagar by name. And Saraisaide vnto Abram: Beholde, the Lord hath restryed me, that I can not beare. I praye thee go in vnto my mayde, peradventure I maye be edified by her. And Abram obeyed the voyce of Sarai. And Sarai Abrahams wife tooke Hagar her mayde the Egyptian (after Abram hadde dwelled .x. yere in the lande of Canaan) and gaue her to her husband Abram to be his wife. Whiche when he went in vnto Hagar, she conceived. And when she sawe that she had conceived, her maiestie was despised in her eyes. And Sarai sayde vnto Abram: Thou dost me wrong: I haue geuen my mayde into thy bosome. Whiche seeinge that shee hath conceived, I am despised in her eyes, the Lord iudge betwene thee & me. But Abram sayde to Sarai: beholde, thy mayde is in thy hande, do with her as it pleaseth thee. And when Sarai sawed foule with her, she fled from the face of her. And the Angell of the Lord founde her beside a fountayne of water in the wilderness: euen by the well that is in the waye to Sur. And he sayde: Hagar Sarais mayde,

C And agayne, the Tungeill of the Lord sayd vnto her: In encreasinge I will encrease thy seede, and it shall not bee numbyed for multitude. And the Lordes Tungeill said vnto he: see, thou art with childe and shalt beare a sonne, and shalt call his name Ismaell: because the Lord hath heard thy tribulation. He also will be a wilde man, and his hande will be agaynst euery man, & euery mans hand agaynst him. And he shall dwel in the presence of all his brethren. And she called the name of the Lord that spake vnto her: thou God I lokest on me, for she sayde: Haue I not seene here the backe partes of him that seeth me? C The. xviij. Chapter.

A Braham was nynty yere olde and nine. C The Lord appeared to Abraham and sayde vnto him: I am the almighty God, walke before me and be thou perfecte. And I will make my bonde betweene me and thee, and will multiplie thee exceedingly. And Abraham fell on his face. And God talked with him sayinge: Beholde, I am, and my testament is with thee, and thou shalt be a father of many nations. Neether shall thy name anye moze be called Abraham, but thy name shall be Abraham: for a father of many nations haue I made thee. I will make thee to grow exceedingly, and will make nations of thee: yea and kings shall spring out of thee. I And I will make my bonde betweene me and thee, and thou shalt call his name Ismael. And I will make my bonde with him, for an everlastinge bonde, and with his seede after him. And as concerninge Ismaell also, swene me and thee, and thy seede after thee, in their generations, by an everlastinge testament: that I may be God vnto thee, and to thy seede after thee. And I will geue vnto thee and to thy seede after thee, the land wher in thou arte a stranger: Euen all the lande of Canaan, for an everlastinge possession, and will be their God.

And God sayde agayne vnto Abraham: See thou also kepe my testament therfore, both thou and thy seede after thee in their generations. This is my testament which ye shall keepe betwene me and you, and thy seede after thee. Every manchild among youn shall be circumcised. Ye shall circumcise the fleshe of your foreskin, and it shall be a token of the bonde betwene me and you. And every manchild of. viij. dayes. olde shall be circumcised among you, and suche as be in your generations, and bozne at home, and he that is bought with money of any stranger whiche is not of thy seede. He that is bozne in thy house, and he also that is bought with money, must needs be circumcised. And my testament shall be in your fleshe for an everlastinge bonde. And the vncircumcised manchild, in whose fleshe the foreskinne is not circumcised, that soule shall perishe from his people: because he hath broken my testament. And God said vnto Abraham: Sarai thy wife shalt thou not call Sarai, but Sara shall her name be. And I will blesse her and haue greved thee a sonne of her, & will blesse her people also, yea and kings of people shall spring of her. But Abraham fell vpon his face and laughed, and sayde in his heart: shall a child be bozne vnto him that is an hundred yere olde? And shall Sara that is ninety yere olde beare? And Abraham sayde vnto God. O that Ismael might liue in thy sight. Vnto whom God sayd: Sara thy wife shall beare thee a sonne in dede, and thou shalt call his name Isahac. And I will make my bonde with him, for an everlastinge bonde, and with his seede after him. And as concerninge Ismaell also, also, I haue heard thee, for I haue blessed him, and will make him to encrease, and will multiplie him exceedingly. Twelue princes shall he beget, and I will make a greates nation of him. But my bonde will I make with Isahac which Sara shall beare vnto thee: euen this time twelue month. And he leste of talkinge with him, and departed by from Abraham. Abraham toke Ismaell his sonne and all suche as were bozne in his house, and all that was bought with money, as many as were men children, which were amonge the men of Abrahams house, and circumcised þe fleshe of their foreskinne, euen in that same daye as God had saide vnto him. Abraham also him selfe was ninetie yere olde and nine when the fleshe of his foreskinne was circumcised. Ismaell his sonne was. xiii. yeres olde when he was circumcised in the fleshe of his foreskinne. The selfe same daye was Abraham circumcised and Ismaell his sonne. And all the men of his house, bozne in his house, or boughte with money (of straungers) were circumcised with him.

AND the Lord appeared vnto him in the playne of Mamre, as he sate in his tente doore in the heate of the daye. And he liſte vp his eyes and looked: and lo, thre men stode by him. And when he sawe them he ran to mete them from the tent doore, and fell to the graund, and saide: Lord (I beseeche thee) if I haue founde fauour in thy sight, go not (I pray thee) from thy seruante. Let a litle water be set, to washe your fete, and refreſhe your selues vnder the tree. And I will set a moſel of bread, to comfort your heartes: withall. And then shall ye go your wayes, for euen therefore are ye come to your seruant. And they saide: We euen as thou haſte saide. And Abraham went apace into his tent vnto Sara, and saide: make ready at once three yekes of fyne meate, because it is,

and make cakes. And Abraham running vnto his beaſtes, sette a calfe tender and good, and gaue it vnto a yonge man, and he haſted to make it ready at once. And he toke butter & milke, and the calf which he had prepared, and set it before them: and stode him selfe by the vnder the tre. When they did eate. And they sayde vnto him: where is Sara thy wife? he answered: behold, she is in the tent. And he said: In returning, I wil come againe vnto thee according to the time of lyfe. And lo, Sara thy wife shall haue a sonne. That heard Sara, in the tent doore which was behind him. Abraham & Sara were both olde & well stricken in age, & it ceased to be with Sara, after the maner as it is with women. Therefore Sara laughed within her selfe, sayinge: Nowe am I waxed olde, shall I geue my selfe to lust, and my Lord olde also? And god said vnto Abraham: wherefore did Sara laugh, sayinge: shall I of a suretie beare a child which am olde? Is anye thinge wonderfull to God? Accordinge to the tyme appointed will I retorne vnto thee, euen according to the time of lyfe, and Sara shall haue a sonne. Then Sara denyed it, sayinge: I laughed not, for she was aſſayed. And he saide: It is not so but thou laughedst. And the men standing by from thence, looked towarde Sodom. And Abraham went with them to bringe them on the waye. And the Lord sayd: Shall I hide from Abraham the thing which I do, seying that Abraham shall be a great and mighty people, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him? I knowe this also, that he will commaund his children and his household after him, that they kepe the way of the Lord, and do after right and conscience, that the Lord may bringe vpon Abraham that he hath spoken vnto him. And the Lord said: The cry of Sodom & Gomorra is great, and their synne is exceedinge greuous. I wil go downe nowe, and see whether they haue done altogether according to that crye which is come vnto me: or not, that I maye knowe.

And the men departed thence, & went to Sodom worde. But Abraham stode yet before the Lord, and Abraham drew nere and saide: Wilt thou also destroye the righteous with the wicked? Peradventure there be .i. righteous within the citie, wilt thou destroye and not spare the place for the sake of fifty righteous, that are therein? That be farre from thee, that thou shouldest do after this saying, and say the righteous with the wicked, and that the righteous shoulde be as the wicked, that be farre from thee. Shall not the iudge of all the worlde doo according to righte? And the Lord said: Yf I fynde in Sodom, fifty righteous within the citie, I will spare all the place for their sakes. And Abraham answering, sayd: Behold, I haue taken vpon me to speake vnto the Lord, which am but duste and ashes, peradventure there shall lacke fyue of fifty righteous: wilt thou destroye all the citie, for lacke of fyue. And he sayd: yf I fynde there forty and fyue, I will not destroye them. And he proceeded to speake vnto him agayne, and said: peradventure there shalbe fortye founde there. He answered, I will not do it for fortyes sake. He saide vnto him agayne: O let not my Lord be angrie that I speake: peradventure ther shal thirtie be founde there. And he sayde: I will do nothing yf I fynde thirtie there. He saide agayne: O see I haue taken vpon me to speake now also vnto my Lord: peradventure there shalbe twentieth founde there. He answered: I will not destroye them for twentieth sake. And he said: O let not my Lord be angrie, and I will speake yet but this once: Peradventure there shal ten be founde there. He answered: I will not destroye them for tens sake. And the Lord went his way as sone as he had left communing with Abraham. And Abraham also turned vnto his place.

And there came two angels to Sodom at euen. And Lot sat at the gate of Sodom. And Lot seeing them, rose vp so mete them:

and he bowed himselfe to the ground with his face. And he said: my Lords, turne in I pray you into your seruantes house, and tarpe all night, & washe your fete, and ye shall rise by careiye to go on your wayes. Which said: nay, but we will byde in the streetes all night. And he in maner diden compell them violentlye. And they returninge in vnto him, entred into his house, and he made them a feast, & dyd bake swete bread, and they did eate. And before they went to rest, the men of the citie (euen the men of Sodom) compassed the house rounde aboute, both old and yong, all the people from all quarters. And they callinge vnto Lot, sayd vnto him: where are the men which cam into thee this night: byng them vnto vs, and we will knowe them. And Lot went out at the doze vnto them, and shut the doze after him and saide: nay for Gods sake brethren do not so wickedly. Beholde I haue two daughters which haue knowen no man, them will I byng out now vnto you: and do with them as it seemeth good in your eyes. Onely vnto these men doo nothinge: for therefore came they in vnder the shadowe of my rose. And they sayd: stande backe. And they saye: He came in as one to soioyne and will be nowe a iudger: we will surely deale worse with thee, then with them. And they pleased soze vpon the man, euen Lot: and came to breake by the doze, but the men put forth their hand, and pulled Lot into the house to them, and shut to the doze. And the men that were at the doze of the house, wer smote with blindness, both small and great: so that they saynted and coulde not finde the doze. And the men saide vnto Lot: Yf thou haue yet here any son in lawe, or sonnes, or daughters, or what soeuer thou haste in the citie, byng it out of this place: for we must destroye this place, because the crye of them is great: before the face of God, for the Lord hath sente vs to destroye it. And Lot went out and spake vnto his sonnes in lawe whiche married his daughters, saying: stand vp, get get you out of this place, for the Lord will overthrow this citie. But he seemed as though he had mocked, vnto his sonnes in lawe. And when the morninge arose, the angels caused Lot to speede him, saying: Stand vp, take thy wife and thy two daughters at hand, lest thou perishe in the sin of the citie. And as he prolonged the time the men caught both him, his wife, & his two daughters by the hands, the Lord beinge mercifull vnto him: and they brought him forth, and set him without the citie. It fortuned when they had brought them out, he saide: Saue thy life, and loke not behind thee, neyther tary thou in this plaine countrey. Saue thy selfe in the mountayne, least thou perishe. And Lot sayde vnto them: Oh naye Lord, beholde thy seruant hath found grace in thy sight, and thou hast magnified thy mercy which thou hast shewed vnto me, in saving my lyfe. Beholde, I can not be saued in the mountaine, lest some misfortune fall vpon me, and I dye: Behold, here is a citie by to flee vnto, euen ponder little one: Oh let me be saued there: is it not a little one, and my soule shall liue? And he said to him: See I haue receyued thy requeste as concerning this thing, that I wil not overthrow this citie for thee, whiche thou hast spoken. Haste thee, and be saued there: for I can do nothing till thou be come thither. And therefore the name of the citie is called Zoar. And the Sunne was now risen vpon the earth, when Lot was entred into Zoar. Then the Lord rayned vpon Sodome & Gomorah, with brimstone & fire from the Lord out of heauen, and overthrowe those cities, and all the region, and all that dwelled in the cities, and that grewe vpon the earth. But Lots wife looked behinde her, and was turned into a pillar of salte. Abraham rising by earlye, gotte him to the place where he stoode before the presence of God, and lookinge towarde Sodome and Gomorah, and toward all the lande of that contrey, he looked: and beholde, the smoke of the countrey arose as the smoke of a fornaice. And it hapned that when God destroyed the cities of that region, he thought vpon Abraham, and sent Lot out from the midst of the overthrowing, when he overthrowe the cities wher Lot dwelled. And Lot departed out of Zoar, and dwelled in the mountaines with his two daughters, for he feared to tary in Zoar, but dwelled in a cave, he & his ii. daughters. And the elder said vnto yonger: Our father is olde, and there is not a man in the earth to come in vnto vs, after the maner of the worlde. Come, we will make our father dronke with wyne, and lye with him, that we maye saue seede of our father. And so they made their father dronken with wine that night. And y elder daughter went & lay with her father: and he perceiued it not, neither when she laye downe, neither when she rose vp. And on the morow it hapned that the elder said vnto the yonger: Behold, yesternight laye I with my father. Let vs make him dronke with wine this night also, and go thou & lye with him, that we maye rayse vp seede of our father. And they made their father dronke with wine that night also. And the yonger arose & lay with him. And he perceiued it not: neither when she laye downe, neither when she rose vp. Thus were both the daughters of Lot with childe by their father. And the elder bare a sonne, & called his name Moab: The same is the father of the Moabites vnto this day. And the yonger bare a sonne also, & called his name Ben Ammi. The same is the father of the children of Ammon vnto this day.

The xx. Chapter.

And Abraham departed thence toward the southe countrey, & dwelled betwene Cades and Sur, and sojourned in Gerar. And Abraham said of Sara his wife: she is my sister. And Abimelech kinge of Gerar sent and fet Sara away. But god came to Abimelech in a dreame in the night, & said to him: He, thou shalt dye for the womans sake which thou hast taken away, for she is a mans wife.

But Abimelech had not yet come npe her, & he said: Lord wilt thou sea righteous people? sayde not he vnto me: she is my sister? yea, & said not she her selfe: he is my brother? With a pure heart & innocent handes haue I done this. And God sayde vnto him by a dreamer: I wot it well that thou didst it in the purenesse of thy heart. I kept thee also that thou shouldest not sinne against me: and therfore suffered I thee not to touche her. Now therfore deli-uer the man his wife againe, for he is a prophete: And he shall praye for thee, that thou maist liue: But & if thou de-liuer her not againe, be sure that thou shalt dye the death: both thou, & all that thou hast. Therfore Abimelech rising by betimes in the morning, called all his seruantes, and told all these sayings in their eares, & the men were soze afraide. And Abimelech called Abraham, and saide vnto him: What hast thou done vnto vs, & what haue I offended thee, that thou hast brought on me and on my kingdome so great a syn? Thou hast done dedes vnto me that ought not to be done. And Abimelech said vnto Abraham: What sa-west thou that thou hast doone this thing? Abraham answered. For I said: surely the feare of God is not in this place, and they shall slea me for my wifes sake: yet in verpe dede she is my sister, for she is the daughter of my father, though she be not the daughter of my mother: & she became my wife. And after God caused me to wander out of my fathers house, I said vnto her: This kindnes shalte thou shew vnto me in al places where we come, that thou say of me: he is my brother. Then toke Abimelech shepe and oxen, men seruantes and women seruantes, and gaue them vnto Abraham, & deliuered him Sara his wife againe. And Abimelech said: beholde my land lieth before thee, dwell where it pleaseth thee best. But vnto Sara he said: Se, I haue geuen thy brother a thousand peces of silver: beholde, it shalbe a couering of thyne eyes, vnto all that are with thee, and thus withal was she repayed. And so Abraham prayed vnto God, & God healed Abimelech and his wife, and his maydens & they bare children. For the Lord had closed to al the mattices of the house of Abimelech, because of Abrahams wife.

The .xxi. Chapter.

The Lord visited Sara, as he had sayd, and did vnto her: ac-cordinge as he had promised.

For Sara was with childe, and bare Abraham a sonne in his olde age, euen the same season whiche the Lord had appoynted him. And Abraham called his sonnes name that was bozne vnto him, whiche Sara bare him, Isha-c: and Abraham circumcised Ishaac his son when he was .viii. daies olde: as God commaunded him. And Abraham was an hundred yere olde, when his son Ishaac was bozne vnto him.
But Sara said: God hath made me a laughing stocke: so that all that heare, will laugh at me. She said also: who would haue saide vnto Abraham, that Sara shoulde haue geuen childre fucker? for I haue bozne him a sonne in his old age. The childe grew, & was weaned, and Abraham made a great feast the same day. Ishaac was weaned. Sara sawe also the son of Hagar, the Egyptians (whiche she had bozne vnto Abraham) to be a mocker, wherefore she saide vnto Abraham: Put away this bondmaide and her sonne: for the sonne of this bondwoman shal not be heire with my sonne Ishaac: and this saying was very greuous in Abrahams syghte, because of his son.
And God saide vnto Abraham: let it not be greuous in thy sighte, because of the lad, and of thy bondmaide: all that Sara hath saide vnto thee, heare her voyce, for in Ishaac shall thy sede be called. Moreover, of the sonne of the bondwoman will I make a nation: because he is thy sede. And so Abraham rose by early in the morning and toke bread, and a bottell of water, and gaue it vnto Hagar, putting it on her shoulders with the lad also, & sent her away: who departing, wandered by and downe in the wilderness of Beer.

Beer Seba. And the water was spēt in the bottell, and she caste the lad vnder a bush, and went and late on the other side a greate weye, as it were a bowshote of: for she saide: I will not see the death of the child. And she sitting downe on the other side, liste by her voyce, and wept. And God hearde the voyce of the childe, and the angell of God called Hagar out of heauen, & said vnto her: What ayleth thee Hagar? Feare not, for God hath heard thy voyce of the child where he lyeth. Arise, and liste by the lad, & take him in thy hande, for I will make of him a greate people. And God opened her eyes: and she sawe a well of water, and she went & filled the bottell with water, and gaue the boy drinke. And God was with the lad, & he grew, & dwelt in the wilderness, and became an archer: and he dwelt in the wilderness of Pharan. And his mother got him a wife out of the land of Egypt. And it chanced the same season that Abimelech and Phicol his chiefe captaine spake vnto Abraham, sayinge: • God is with thee in al that thou doest: and now therfore sweare vnto me euē here by God, that thou wilt not hurte me nor my children, nor my childrens children: But that thou shalt deale with me and the countrey where thou hast bene a stranger, according vnto the kindenesse that I haue shewed thee. And Abraham sayde: I will sweare. And Abraham rebuked Abimelech for a well of water, whiche Abimelechs seruants had violently taken away. And Abimelech saide: I wote not who hath doone this thing: also thou toldest me not: neyther hearde I of it, but this day. And Abraham toke shepe and oxen, and gaue theym vnto Abimelech. And they made bothe of them a bonde together. And Abraham set. viij. ewe lambes by theym selues. And Abimelech sayde vnto Abraham: What meane these. viij. ewe lambes which thou hast set by theym selues? He answered: For these. viij. lambes shalt thou take of my hande, that they maye be a witnesse vnto me, that I

haue digged this well. Wherfoze the place is called Beer Seba, because there they sware both of them. Thus made they a bonde together at Beer Seba. And Abimelech and Phicol his chiefe captaine rose vp, and turned again vnto the land of the Philistines. And Abraham planted a woodde in Beer Seba, and called there on the name of the Lord, the euerlasting god, and so gouerned in the Philistines land a long season.

The .xxij. Chapter.

After these sayinges it hapned that God did • prone Abrahā, & sayde vnto him: Abrahā? Whiche answered: here am I. And he sayde: Take thy onely sonne Isahac, whom thou louest, and gette thee vnto the lande Mozia, and sacrifice him there for a sacrifice vpon one of the mountains which I will shew thee. Then Abraham rose by earlie in the morninge, and saddled his asse, and toke two of his yonge men with him, and Isahac his sonne: and clone wood for the sacrifice, and rose vp, and got him to the place whiche God had appointed him. The thirde day Abraham lift by his eyes, and sawe the place a farr off, and said vnto his yong men: Bide here with the asse, I and the lad will goo yonder, and worshippe, and come agayne vnto you. And Abraham tooke the wood of the sacrifice, & layd it vpon Isahac his sonne: but he him self toke fire in his hande, and a knife. And they wēt both of them together. Then spake Isahac vnto Abraham his father, & said: My father? And he answered: Here am I my son. He sayde: Se here is fire and wood, but where is the shepe for sacrifice? Abraham answered: My sonne, god will prouide him a shepe for sacrifice. And so they went both together. And when they came vnto the place whiche God had shewed him, Abraham made an altare there, and dyssed the wood, and bound Isahac his son, and laide him on the altare, aboue vpon the wood, and Abraham stretching forth his hand, tooke the knife to haue killed his son,

And it chanced after these thinges, that one told Abrahā, saying: Behold, Milcha, she hath also borne children vnto thy brother Nachor: Hus his eldest son, and Bus his brother, and Kemuel, the father of the Syrians, & Chesed, and Halso, and Dithas, and Jedlah, and Bethuel. Sara was an hundred & xxvij. yere old (so long liued she) & Sara dyed in Egypt at Arba: The same is Hebzon in the lande of Canaan. And Abrahā came to mourne Sara, and to wepe for her. And Abrahā stode vp from the sight of his coarſe, and talked with the ſonnes of Heth, ſaying: I am a ſtraunger and a ſoſeyner among you: Geue me a poſſeſſion to bury in with you, that I may burie my coarſe out of my ſight. And the childzen of Heth aunſwered Abrahā, ſaying vnto him. Heare vs Lorde, thou art a Prince of God among vs. In the chiefſt of our ſepulchres burie thy dead. None of vs alſo ſhal forbid thee his ſepulchre, but thou mayſt bury thy dead therein: Abrahā ſtoode vp, & bowed him ſelfe befoze the people of the lande, of the childzen of Heth. For Ephron dwelled among the childzen of Heth. And Ephron & Hethite aunſwered Abrahā in a audience of the childze of Heth, & of all that went in at the gates of his citie, ſaying: Not ſo my Lorde, heare me: The ſielde geue I thee, & the cane that therein is, geue I thee alſo: and euen in the preſence of the ſonnes of my people geue I it thee: bury thy dead. And Abrahā bowed him ſelfe befoze the people of the land, and ſpake vnto Ephron in the audience of the people of the countrey, ſaying: I pray thee heare me, if it pleaſe thee: I will geue thee ſiluer ſoz the ſielde, take it, and I will bury my dead ther. Ephron aunſwered Abrahā, ſaying vnto him: My Lorde hearken vnto me: This land is worth iiii. hundred ſicles of ſiluer: what is that betwixt thee and me: bury therefoze the dead. the trees that were in the felds, and that were in all the borders rounde aboute, was made sure vnto Abraham for a possession, in the sight of the children of Heth, before al that went in at the gates of the citie. After this dyd Abraham bury Sara his wife in the double caue of the felds, that lyeth before Mamre: The same is Hebron in the land of Chanaan. And so both the feld and the caue that is therein, was made vnto Abraham a sure possession to bury in, of the sonnes of Heth.

Abraham was olde and stricken in dayes, and the Lord had blessed hym in all thynges. And Abraham saide vnto his eldest seruant of his house, whiche had the rule ouer all that he had: But thy had vnder my thigh, and I wil make thee sweare by the Lord God of heauen, and God of the earth, that thou shalt not take a wife vnto my sonne of the daughters of Canaan, among which I dwel. But thou shalt go vnto my cuntry & to my natine land, & take a wife vnto my sonne Isaac. But the seruant said vnto him: peradventure the woman will not agree to come wpyth me vnto this lande: shall I bring thy sonne agayne vnto the lande whych he thou camest out of? To whom Abraham answered: Beware that thou bypunge not my sonne thither againe. The Lord god of heauen which toke me from my fathers house, and from the lande where I was bozne, and which spake vnto me, and that I sware vnto me, saying: Vnto thy seede wil I geue this lande, he shall sende his angell before thee: and thou shalt take a wyfe vnto my sonne from thence. Neuerthelesse if the woman will not agree to folowe thee, then shalt thou be without daunger of this my othe. Only bying not my sonne thither againe. And the seruant put his hande vnder the thigh of Abraham his master, and sware to him as concerninge that matter, And the seruante tooke tenne Camels of the Camelles of his maister, and departed: and had of all maner of goodes of his maister with him, and went to Mesopotamia, vnto the citie of Nahor. And made his camels to lye down without the citie by a welles side of water, at euen: about the tyme that women come oute to drawe water: And he sayde: Lord god of my maister Abraham, sende me good speede this day, and shewe mercy vnto my maister Abraham. So I stand here by the well of water, & the daughters of the men of this citie come out to drawe water: Nowe the damsel to whom I shall saye, Stoupe downe thy pitcher I praye thee, that I may drinke. If she saye Drinke, and I wil geue thy camels drinke also: the same is she that thou hast ordayned for thy seruant Isaac: yea and therby shal I knowe that thou haste shewed mercye on my maister. And it came to passe yea he had lest speaking. Behold, Rebecca came oute, the daughter of Bethuell, son to Milca, the wife of Nahor Abrahams brother, & her pitcher vpon her shoulder. The damsell was very fayre to loke vpon, & yet a mayde and vnknewen of man. And she went downe to the well, and fylled her pitcher, and came vp. And the seruant runnyng vnto her, said: Let me suppe a litle water of thy pitcher, and she said: Drinke my Lord. And she hastid and let downe her pitcher vpon her arme, and gaue him drinke. And when she had geuen him drinke, she sayd: I will drawe water for thy camels also, vntill they haue dronke, inough. And she powred oute her pitcher into the trough hastily, and ran againe vnto the well to fet water, and drew for all his camels. And the man wondred at her: But heid his peace, to wete whether the Lord had made his tourneye prosperous or not. And it fortuned as the Camelles had lest drinke, the man toke a golden earynge of halfe a sicke weyght, and two bracelettes for her handes, of .x. sickes weyghte of golde, and sayd: whose daughter arte thou? tell mee I praye thee, is there to come in thy fathers house for to lodge in? She answered him: I am the daughter of Bethwell the sonne of Milca, whiche she bare vnto Nahor, and said moreover vnto him: we haue litter and prouander ynough, and also to come to lodge in. And the man bowed hym selfe, and worshipped the Lord God and sayde: blessed be the Lord God of my maister Abraham, which ceaseth not to deale mercifully and truly with my maister, and hath brought me the waye to my maisters brothers house. And the damsell ran and tolde them of her mothers house these thinges. And Rebecca hadde a brother called Laban. And he ran out vnto the man, euen to the well: for as sone as he had seene the earringes and the bracelettes in his sisters handes (and hearde the wordes of Rebecca his sister, saying: thus sayeth the man vnto me) he went oute vnto the man. And so, hee rode with the camels by the well syde. And hee sayde: come in thou blessed of the Lord: wherefore standest thou withoute? I haue dressed the house, and made roome for the camels. And then the man came into the house, and he vnbroidled the camels and (Laban) broughte litter and prouander for the camels, and water to walsh his fete, and the mennes fete that were with hym, and sette meate before him to eate. But hee sayde, I will not eate vntill I haue said mine arande. And he sayd, saie on. And hee sayde: I am Abrahams seruaunt, and God hath blessed my maister oute of measure, that he is become great, and hath geuen him shepe, and Oxen, sylvener and golde, menne Seruautes, and mayde Seruautes, cammells, and asses. And Sara my maisters wyfe beare hym a sonne, when shee was olde, and vnto him hath hee geuen all that hee hath. And my maister made me sweare, sayinge, thou shalt not take a wyfe to my sonne amonge the daughters of the Canaanites, in whose lande I dwell. But thou shalt goe vnto my fathers house, and to my kindred, and take a wyfe vnto my sonne. And I sayde vnto my maister: peradventure the wyfe wyll not followe mee? And hee answered mee: The Lord befoze whom I walke, will sende his angell with thee, and prosper thy iourney, and thou shalt take a wyfe for my sonne, of my kindred, and of my fathers house. Then shalt thou bee guiltlesse of my curse, when thou comest vnto my kindred. And if they geue the not one, thou shalt bee guiltlesse of my curse.

And so I came this daye vnto the well, and sayde: O Lord, the God of my maister Abraham, if it be so now that thou makest my iourney whiche I goe, prosperous: beholde, I stande by this well of water, and when a byrgin cometh forth to drawe water, I saie to her: geue mee (I pray thee) a little water of thy pitcher to drynke; and she say to me, drynke thou, & I will also draw for thy Cammels: that same is the wyfe whom the Lord hath prepared for my maisters sonne. And before I hadde made an ende of speaking in mine heart: beholde, Rebecca came forth, and her pitcher on her shoulder, and she went downe vnto the well, and drew water. And I sayd vnto her: geue me drinke I pray thee. And hee made haste, and tooke downe her pitcher from of her, and sayde: drinke and I wil geue thy camels drinke also. And I dranke, and she gaue the Cammells drynke also. And I asked her, saying, whose daughter art thou? She answered: the daughter of Bethwell Nahors sonne. Whom Milca bare vnto him. And I putte the earringe vpon her face, and the bracelettes vpon her handes. And I bowed my selfe, and worshipped the Lord, and blessed the Lord God of my maister Abraham, which hadde broughte me the right waye, to take my maisters brothers daughter vnto his sonne. Nowe also if ye will deale mercifullye and truely wyth my Maister, tell me: and if not, tell mee also, that I maye tourne mee to the right hande, or to the left. Then answered Laban and Bethwell sayinge:

This sayinge is proceededeuen oute of the Loorde, we cannot therefore saye vnto thee, eyther good or bad, beholde, Rebecca is before thee, take her and go, that she maye be thy masters sonnes wife, euen as G. D. hath sayde: And when Abrahams seruauant heard their woozdes, he woozshipped the Loorde flat vppon the earth. And the seruauant tooke sooth isewelles of siluer, and isewelles of golde, and raymente, and gaue them to Rebecca. And vnto her brother, and to her mother, he gaue giftes: and they did eate and drinke, bothe hee and the menne that were with him, and taried all nighte. And when they rose vbye in the morninge, hee sayde: lette me depart vnto my master. Her brother and her mother answered: lette the damsell abide with vs a while, and it bee but euen .x. days, and then shal she go.

Ghe sayde vnto them: hinder me not, beholde, the Loorde hath prospered my iourney. Sende me awaye therfore that I maye go vnto my master. And they sayde: wee will call the damsell, and enquire at her mouth. And they called sooth Rebecca, and sayde vnto her: wilte thou go with this manne? And shee answered: I will go. So they lette Rebecca their sister goe, and her nurse, and Abrahams seruauant, and his menne. And they blessed Rebecca, and sayde vnto her: thou arte our sister, growe into thousande thousandes, and thy seede possesse the gate of theyr enemyes. And Rebecca arose, and her damself, and set them by vppon the camels, and went their waye after the manne. And the seruauant tooke Rebecca, and wente his waye. And Isahac was comminge from the waye of the well of the liuings and seeinge me: so he dwelte in the South countrey, and Isahac was gone out to pray in the feild at the enētyde. And he liſte vbye his eyes and sawe the camels comminge. And Rebecca liſte vbye her eyes: and when shee sawe Isahac, shee lighted of the camell, and sayde vnto the seruauant: what manne is this that commeth walkinge agaynſt vs in the fieldes? And the seruauant sayd: It is my meysſter. Therefore she tooke her cloake and put it about her: and the seruauant told Isahac all thinges that he hadde done. And Isahac broughte her into his mother Saras tent, and toke Rebecca, and she became his wife, and he loued her, and so Isahac receaued comfort after his mother.

The .xii. Chapter.

Abraham proceedede further, and tooke him a wife called Ketura: whiche bare him Simram, and Iecklan, and Medan, and Midian, and Iesback, and Shuah. Iecklan begatte Seba, and Dedan. And the sonnes of Dedan were Isurim, Ketulim, and Lemnim. And the sonnes of Midian: Ephra, and Epher, Hanoah, and Abdia, and Elda. All these were the children of Ketura. And Abraham gaue all his goodes vnto Isahac. But vnto the sonnes of the concubines which Abraham had, he gaue giftes, and sent them awaye from Isahac his sonne, (while he yet liued) eastward vnto the land of Kedres. And these are the dayes of the yeres of Abrahams liſe which he liued, an hundred and .lxxv. yere: and then he fell sicke and dyed, in a lustye age, (when he had liued ynough) and was put vnto his people. And his sonnes Isaac and Ismaell buried him in the double caue, in the field of Ephron, sonne of Joar the Hethite, beside the platne of Hamre. Which field Abraham bought of the sons of Heth, where Abraham was buried, and Sarah his wife. It fortunēd after the death of Abraham, that God blessed Isahac his sonne, and Isahac dwelled by the well of the liuing, and seeinge me.

These are the generations of Ismaell Abrahams sonne, whiche Hagar, the Egyptian, Saras handmayde, bare vnto Abraham. And these are the names of the sonnes of Ismaell in their names, accordinge to their kinredes. The eldest sonne of Ismaell: Nebaioth, and Cedar, and

And these are the yeares of the life of Ismaell, an hundred & xxxvii. yeare, and he fell sicke, and dyed, and was laid vnto his people. And they dwelled from Heuilah vnto Sur, that is by the border of Egypt, as thou goest toward the Assirians. And he dyed in the presence of all his brethren. And these are the generations of Isahac. Abrahams sonne: Abrahams begate Isahac. And Isahac was. xl. yere olde when he tooke Rebecca to wife, the daughter of Bethuell, the Sirian of Mesopotamia, and sister to Laban the Sirian. And Isahac made intercession vnto the Lord for his wife because she was barene: and the Lord was intreated of him, and Rebecca his wife conceived, and the children strove together within her. Therefore she said: if it shuld go so to passe what helpeth it that I am with childer? wherfore she went to aske the Lord. And the Lord said vnto her: There are two maner of people in thy wombe, and two nations shalbe deuised oute of thy bowels, and the one nation shal be mightier then the other, and the elder shalbe seruant vnto the ponger. Therefore when her time was come to be deliuered: Behold, there were two twinnes in her wombe. And he that came out first was red, and he was all ouer as it were a rough garment: and they called his name Esau. And after him, came his brother onte, and his hand holding Esau by the heele; and his name was called Jacob. And Isahac was fortie yere olde when they wer bozne. And the boyes grew, and Esau became a cunninge hunter, and a tiller of the earthe. But Jacob was a perfect man, and dwelled in the tentes. Isahac loved Esau, because he did eate of his venison, but Rebecca loved Jacob. Jacob sod potage, and Esau came from the fildes, and was saynt: and Esau sayd to Jacob: feede me I pray thee with that red potage, for I am sayntie. And therfore was his name called. Esau. And Jacob said: Sell me this day. thy birthright. Esau sayd: Lo, I am at the poynte to dye, and what profite shall this birthright do me? Jacob answered: I sweere to me then this day. And he swore to him, and solde his birthright vnto Jacob. Then Jacob gave Esau bread and portage of rise. And he did eate & drinke, and rose vp, and went his way, and Esau regarded not his birthright.

The. xvi. Chapter.

And there came a dearth in the lande, passing the firste dearth that was in the days of Abraham. And Isahac went vnto Abimelech king of the Philistins, vnto Gerar. And the Lord appeared vnto him, and sayd: Go not downe into Egypt, but abide in the lande whiche I shall shew vnto thee: for in this lande, and I will bee with thee, and will blesse thee, for vnto thee, and vnto thy seede, I wil geue all these countreys. And I will performe the othe which I sware vnto Abraham thy father: and will multiplye thy seede as the starres of heauen: and will geue vnto thy seede all these countreys. And in thy seede shall all the nations of the earth be blessed, because that Abraham harkened vnto my voyce, and kepte mine ordinaunces, my commaundementes, my statutes and my lawes. And Isaac dwelled in Gerar. And the men of the place asked him of his wife, and he sayde: She is my sister: so; he feared to saye: She is thy wife, lest the men of the place should haue killed him because of Rebecca which was beautifull to the eye. And it happened, after he had ben ther long time, Abimelech king of the Philistins, looked out at a window, and sawe Isaac sportinge with Rebecca, his wife. And Abimelech called Isaac, and sayd: She is of a surtie thy wife, and why saydest thou: She is my sister.

ster: To whom Isaac answered: I thought that I might peradventure haue died for her sake. Abimelech said whyp hast thou done this vnto vs: one of the people myght lyghtly haue lien by thy wife, and so shuldest thou haue brought sinne vpon vs. And so Abimelech charged all his people, saying: he that toucheth this man or his wife shall dye the deathe. Isaac sowed in that land and founde in that same yere an hundred bushels: and the Lord blessed him, and the man waxed mightye, and went forth and grew, till he was exceeding grear, for he had possession of sheepe, of oxen, and a myghtye householde, and therefore the Philistians had enuy at him, for the Philistians stopped and fylled vpp with earth all the welles which his fathers seruantes dygged in hys father Abrahams tyme. And Abimelech sayd vnto Isaac: get thee from vs, for thou art mightier then we a great deale. Therefore Isaac departed thence, and abode in the valley of Gerar, and dwelt there. And Isaac returning, digged againe the welles of water whiche they digged in the dayes of Abraham hys father, whiche the Philistians had stopped after the deathe of Abraham, and gaue them the same names whiche his father gaue them. Isaacs seruantes digged in the valley, and found a well of liuing water. And the herdmen of Gerar did strine with Isaacs herdmenne, sayinge: the water is oures. Then called he the well. Esek, because they strone with hym. And they digged another well, and strone for that also. And he called the name of it. Sitena. And then he departed thence, and digged an other weile, for the whiche they strone not: therefore called he it. Rehoboth, saying: The Lord hath now made vs roome, that we may encrease vpon the earth. And he wente by thence, to Beer Seba. And the Lord appeared vnto hym the same night, and sayd: I am the god of Abraham thy father: feare not, for I am with thee, & wil blesse thee, & wil vnye thy sede for my seruante Abrahams sake.

And he builded an altare there, and called vpon the name of the Lord, and pitched his tent. And there Isaacs seruantes digged a well. Then came Abimelech to him from Gerar: and Ahushath his frende, and Phicol his chief captain. And Isaac sayd vnto them: wherfore come ye to me, seing ye hate me, and haue put me away from you? whiche answered: In seeringe, we sawe that the Lord was with thee, and we said: Let there be nowe an othe betwixt vs, euen betwixt vs and thee, and lette vs make a bonde with thee, that thou shouldest doo vs no hurte, as we haue not touched thee, and as we haue doone vnto thee nothing but good, and sent thee away in peace: for thou art nowe the blessed of the Lord. And he made them a feast, and they did eate and drinke. And they rose by betimes in the morning, and sware one to another: and Isaac sent them away. And they departed from him in peace. And that same daye it hapned, that Isaacs seruantes came and tolde him of a well, whiche they had digged: and sayd vnto him: we haue founde water. And he called it. Seba. And the name of the cite is called. Beer Seba vnto this day. Esau was. xl. yere olde, and he toke a wife called Iudith, the daughter of Beryan Hethite, and Basmath the daughter of Eionan Hethite also, which were disobedient vnto Isaac and Rebecca.

And it came to passe, that when Isaac waxed olde, and his eyes were dimme (so that he coulde not see) he called Esau his eldest sonne, and sayde vnto him: My sonne, and he sayde vnto him: Here am I. And he sayde: Beholde I am nowe olde, and knowe not the daye of my death: and nowe therefore take thy weapons, thy quiter and thy bowe, and gette thee to the fieldes, that thou mayst take me som venison, and make me meate suche as I loue, and bring it me, that I maye eate, and that my sonle maye blesse thee, before that I dye.

dye. But Rebecca hearde when Isaac spake to Esau his son. And Esau went into the fildre, to catche venison and to bringe it. And Rebecca sayde vnto Jacob her son, saying: Beholde, I haue herd thy father talking with Esau thy brother, and saying: Bring me venison, and make me meate, that I maye eate and blesse thee before the Lord, afoze my death. Nowe therfore my son, heare my voyce in that which I commaund thee: get thee to the flocke and bring me thence two good kiddes that I may make meate of theym for thy father, such as he loneth. And thou shalt bringe it to thy father, that hee may eate, and that he blesse thee before his death. Then sayde Jacob to Rebecca his mother: Beholde, Esau my brother is a rough manne, and I am smothe. My father shal peradventure fele me, and I shall seeme vnto him as though I went about to begile him, and so shall he bring a curse vpon me, and not a blessing: and his mother said vnto him: Vpon me be thy curse my sonne, onely heare my voyce, & go and fetch me them. And Jacob went and fer them, and brought them to his mother. And his mother made meat such as shee knewe that his father loued. And Rebecca fet goodlye rayment of her eldest sonne Esau, whiche was in the house with her, and put them vpon Jacob her yonger sonne, and she put skynnes of goates vpon his handes, and vpon the smoothe of his neck. And she put the meate & bread which she had prepared, in the hande of her sonne Jacob. When he came to his father, he sayd: My father? And he answered: here am I, who arte thou my sonne? And Jacob sayde vnto his father: I am Esau thy eldest sonne, I haue doone accordyng as thou baddest me: Up and sit, and eate of my venison, that thy soule may blesse me. And Isaac sayd vnto his sonne: Howe cometh it, that thou hast found it so quickely my sonne? Hee answered: The Lord thy God brought it to my hand. Then said Isaac vnto Jacob: Come nere, and lette me fele thee my sonne, whether thou be my sonne Esau or not. Then went Jacob to Isaac his father, and he felte and sayde: The voyce is Jacobs voyce, but the handes are the handes of Esau. And he knewe him not, because his handes were rough as his brother Esaus handes, and so he blessed him. And he asked him: Art thou my sonne Esau? and he said: That I am. Then sayde he: Bring me, and lette me eate of my sonnes venison, that my soule maye blesse thee. And he brought him, and he eate: and he brought him wyne also, and he drank. And his father Isaac sayde vnto him: Come nere, and kisse me my sonne. And he went vnto him, and kissed him. And he smelled the savour of his raiment, and blessed him and sayde: See, the smell of my sonne, is as the smell of a fildre, whiche the Lord hath blessed. And he gave thee of the dewe of heauen, and of the fertilitye of the earth, and plenty of coyne and wyne. People be thy seruantes, and nations bowe vnto thee. We Lord ouer thy brethren, and thy mothers children flowe vnto thee. Cursed be hee that curseth thee, and blessed be he that blesseth thee. It hapned, that as soone as Isaac had made an ende of blessing, and Jacob was scarce gone out of the presence of Isaac his father, then came Esau his brother from his hunting, and had made also meate, and brought it vnto his father, & sayde vnto his father: Lette my father arise, and eate of his sonnes venison, that thy soule may blesse me. Then his father Isaac sayde vnto him: Who art thou? He answered: I am thy eldest sonne Esau. And Isaac was greatly astonied out of measure, and sayde: whiche is he, and where is he then, that hath hunted venison, and hath brought it me? I haue eaten of al, before thou camest, and haue blessed him and he shall bee blessed. When Esau hearde the wordes of his father, he cryed out greatly and bitterly, about measure, and sayde vnto his father: Blesse me also my father. Who answered: Thy brother came with sub-little, and hath taken awaye thy blessing. And he sayde agayne: He maye well be called Jacob, for he hath vndermined me now twice: for he hath taken awaye my birthright, and see now hath he taken awaye my blessing also. And he saide: Haste thou kept neuer a blessing for me? Isahac answered, and sayde vnto Esau: behold, I haue made him thy lord, and all his mothers children haue I made his seruants. Moreover with coyne and wine haue I satisfied him, what can I doo vnto thee now my sonne? And Esau saide vnto his father: haste thou but that one blessing my father? Bless me also my father: so lifted vp Esau his voyce, and wepte. Then Isahac his father answered, and saide vnto him: Beholde, thy dwellinge place shalbe the fatnesse of the earth, and of the dewe of heauen from above. And with thy sweard shalt thou lue, and shalt be thy brothers seruant. And it will come to passe, that when thou shalt get the mastery, thou shalt loose his yoke from of thy necke. And Esau hated Jacob, because of the blessing that his father blessed him withall. And Esau sayde in his heart: The dayes of my fathers sorowe are at hande, and I will sleepe my brother Jacob. And these wordes of Esau her eldest sonne was tolde to Rebecca. And she sente and called Jacob her yongest sonne, and said vnto him: Beholde thy brother Esau threatneth to kill thee: Nowe therefore my son, heare my voyce: make thee ready, and flee to Laban my brother at Haran, and tary with him a while, vntill thy brothers fearnesse be swaged, and vntill thy brothers wrath turne awaye from thee, and he forgette the thynges whiche thou hast doone to him, then will I sende and fet thee awaye from thence. Why shoulde I be desolate of you both in one daye? And Rebecca spake to Isahac, I am wery of my life, for feare of the daughters of Beth: If Jacob take a wife of the daughters of Beth, suche one as these are, of the daughters of the lande, what good shall my life doo me?

Chapter.

AND so Isahac called Jacob; and blessed him, and charged him, and sayde vnto him: See thou take not a wife of the daughters of Canaan, but arise, and gette thee to Mesopotamia, to the house of Bethuell thy mothers father: & there take thee a wife of the daughters of Laban thy mothers brother. And god almighty blesse thee, and make thee to encrease, and multiplie thee, that thou mayst be a number of people, and geue thee the blessing of Abraham: to thee and to thy seede with thee, that thou mayest possesse the land (wherin thou art a stranger) whiche God gaue vnto Abraham. Thus Isahac sent forth Jacob. And he wente to Mesopotamia vnto Laban, sonne of Bethuell, the Syrian, and brother to Rebecca, Jacob and Esaus mother.

When Esau sawe that Isahac had blessed Jacob, and sente him to Mesopotamia, to set him a wife thence: and that as he blessed him, he gaue him a charge saying: Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Chanaan, and that Jacob had obeyed his father and mother, and was gone to Mesopotamia: and Esau seying also that the daughters of Chanaan pleased not his father Isahac: then went he vnto Ismaell, and tooke vnto the wyues whiche he hadde Mahala the daughter of Ismaell Abrahams son, the sister of Habaioth to be his wife. Jacob departed from Beer Seba, to come vnto Haran, and came vnto a place by chaunce, and taried there all night, because the sunne was downe. And tooke a stone of the place, and put it vnder his heade, and layde him downe in the same place to sleepe. And he dreamed: and behold, there stood a ladder bypon the earthe, and the toppe of it reached vp to heauen. And see, the angelles of God wente

AND so Isaac called Jacob; and blessed him, and charged him, and sayde vnto him: See thou take not a wife of the daughters of Canaan, but arise, and gette thee to Mesopotamia, to the house of Bethuel thy mothers father: & there take thee a wife of the daughters of Laban thy mothers brother. And god almighty blesse thee, and make thee to encrease, and multiplie thee, that thou mayst be a number of people, and geue thee the blessing of Abraham: to thee and to thy seede with thee, that thou mayst possesse the land (wher in thou art a stranger) whiche God gaue vnto Abraham. Thus Isaac sent forth Jacob. And he wente to Mesopotamia vnto Laban, sonne of Bethuel, the Syrian, and brother to Rebecca, Jacob and Esaus mother.

When Esau sawe that Isaac had blessed Jacob, and sente him to Mesopotamia, to fet him a wife thence; and that as he blessed him, he gaue him a charge saying: Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan, and that Jacob had obeyed his father and mother, and was gone to Mesopotamia: and Esau saying also that the daughters of Canaan pleased not his father Isaac: then went he vnto Ismaell, and rooke vnto the wyues whiche he hadde Mahala the daughter of Ismaell Abrahams son, the sister of Nabaioth to be his wife. Jacob departed from Beer Seba, to come vnto Haran, and came vnto a place by chauner, and taried there all night, because the sunne was downe. And rooke a stone of the place, and put it vnder his head, and layde him downe in the same place to sleepe. And he dreamed: and beholde, there stood a ladder vpon the earthe, and the toppe of it reached vnto heauen. And see, the angelles of God wente by and doſtwe bypon it, yea and God ſtoode bypon it, and ſaide: I am the God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Iſaac: the land which thou ſleepeſt bypon, will I geue thee and thy ſeede. And thy ſeede ſhalbe as the duſt of the earth, and thou ſhalt ſpreade abrode to the weſt, and to the eaſt, to the north, and to the South. And though thee, and in thy ſeede ſhall all the kinreddeſ of the earth be bleſſed. And ſee I am with thee, and will be thy keeper in all places whither thou goeſt, and will bringe thee agayne into this lande, neither will I leaue thee vntill I haue made good all that I haue promiſed thee. When Jacob was awaked out of his ſleepe, he ſaide: ſurely the Lord is in this place, and I was not aware. And hee was aſtreyde, and ſayde: how fearefull is this place: it is none other but euen in the houſe of God and the gate of heauen. And Jacob ſtoode vp early in the morning, and toke the ſtone that he had laide vnder his head, and pitched it bype an ende, and poured oyle in the top of it, and he called the name of the place. Bethell, but the name of the citie was called Luz befoze time. And Jacob doſtwe a boſwe, ſaying: if God will be with me, and will kepe me in this tourney whiche I go, and will geue me bread to eate, and clothes to putte on, ſo that I come agayne vnto my fathers houſe in ſafetie, then ſhall the Lord be my God: and this ſtone which I haue ſet by an ende, ſhalbe Goddes houſe, and of all that thou ſhalt geue me, will I geue the tenth vnto thee.

Then Jacob liſt by his ſete, and came into the eaſt countrey. And as he looked about, beholde, there was a well in the field, and thre ſtockes of ſheepe laye there by (ſoz at that well were the ſtockes watered) and there was a greete ſtone bypon the wellles mounthe, and thither were all the ſtockes brought, and they rolled the ſtone from the wellles mounthe and watered the ſheepe, and put the ſtone agayne bypon the wellles mounthe vnto his place. And Jacob ſaid vnto them: brethren whence be ye? and they ſaid: of Haran are we. And he ſaide vnto them: knowe ye Laban the ſonne of Nahor? They ſayde, we knowe him. And he ſaide vnto them: is he in good health, and they ſayde: he is in good health, and beholde, his daughter Racheil commeth with the ſheepe. And he ſayde ſo, it is yet but hie daye, neither is it time that the cattell ſhoulde be gathered together: water ye the ſheepe, and go and ſet them. And they ſayde, we maye not vntill all the flockes be brought together, and till they role the ſtone from the wellles mounthe, and ſo we water our ſheepe. Whyle he yet talked with them, Racheil came with her fathers ſheepe, ſoz ſhe kepte them. And as ſoone as Jacob ſawe Racheil the daughter of Laban his mothers brother, and the ſheepe of Laban his mothers brother, hee wente and rolled the ſtone from the wellles mounthe, and watered the ſtcke of Laban his mothers brother. And Jacob kyſſed Racheil, and liſte by his boyce, and weapte: and Jacob tolde Racheil, that he was her fathers brother and Rebeccas ſonne. Therefore ranne ſhe, and tolde her father. And it happened when Laban hearde tell of Jacob his ſyſters ſonne, he ranne to mete him, and embraced him, and kiſſed him: and broughte him to his houſe. And he tolde Laban al the matter. To whom Laban ſaide: wel, thou arte my bone and my fleſhe. And he abode with him the ſpace of a month. And Laban ſaide vnto Jacob, though thou be my brother, thoudeſt thou therfoze ſerue me ſoz nought? tell me what ſhall thy wages be? Laban hadde two daughters, the eldeſt called Lea, and the yongest Racheil. Lea was tenger eyed, but Racheil was beawtifulfull, and well fauoured. And Jacob loved Racheil, and ſayd: I will ſerue thee .vii. yeares ſoz Racheil thy yongest daughter. Laban aunſwered: it is better that I geue her vnto thee, then then to another man: bide with me.

 sayde he vnto Laban. Wherefore haste

The .xxx. Chapter.

¶ When shee sawe that she bare Jacob noo children, shee envied her sister, and sayde vnto Jacob: Geue me children, or els I am but deade. And Jacob was wroth with Rahell, saying: Am I in Gods steade, whiche kepeth from thee the fruite of thy wombe? Then she sayde: here is my mayde Bilha, go in vnto her, and shee shall beare vpon my lap, that I maye be encreased by her. And she gaue him Bilha her handmayde to wife. And Jacob wente in vnto her: and Bilha conceived and bare Jacob a sonne.
 Then sayde Rahell. God hath geuen sentence on my spde, and hath also hearde my voyce and hath geuen me a sonne. Therfore called she him Da.
 And Bilha Rahels mayde conceiued agayne, and bare Jacob an other sonne, And Rahell sayde: with godly wrestlinges haue I wrestled with my sister, and haue gotten the vpper hand. And she called his name Reuthali. When Lea sawe that she hadde leste hearinge, shee tooke Zilpha her mayde, and gaue her Jacob to wife.
 And Zilpha Leas mayde bare Jacob a sonne. Then sayde Lea: Good lucke: and called his name Gad. And Zilpha Leas mayde bare Jacob an other sonne. Then sayde Lea: happye am I, for the daughters will call me blessed: and called his name Isser.

And Ruben went out in the dayes of the wheat harvest, and found mandragozas in the fieldes, and brought them vnto his mother Lea. Then sayde Rahel to Lea: geue me thy sons mandragozas. To whom Lea answered: Is it not ynough that thou hast taken away my husbnde, but wouldest take away my sonnes mandragozas also?
 Then said Rahel: well, let him sleepe with thee this night, for thy sonnes mandragozas. And Jacob came from the fieldes at euen, and Lea went out to mete him, and said: come into me, for I have bought thee with my sonnes mandragoras. And he slept with her that night. And God heard Lea, that shee conceaued and bare vnto Jacob the fifth sonne. Then sayd Lea: God hath geuen me a rewarde, because I gaue my maiden to my husband, & he called him Isachar. And Lea conceaued yet againe, & bare Jacob & sixth son. And Lea sayde: God hath endued me wth a good dowry. Nowe will my husbande dwell with me, because I haue bozned him. vi. sons: & called his name

And god remembered Rahel, he hearde her, & made her fruitful: so that she conceaued and bare a son, and said: God hath taken away my rebuke. And she called his name Ioseph, saying: The Lord geue mee yet another sonne. And alsoone as Rahel hadde bozned Ioseph, Jacob said to Laban: send me away: I may go vnto mine owne place and countrie geue me my wiues and my children, for whō I haue serued thee, & let mee go: for thou knowest what seruice I haue done the. (for I suppose that the Lord hath blessed me for thy sake) appoint what thy rewarde shall be, and I will geue it thee. But he sayde vnto him, thou knowest what seruice I haue doone thee, & in what taking thy cattel haue bene vnder me: for it was but little that thou haddest before I came, and now it is increased into a multitude: & the lord hath blessed thee for my sake. But now when shall I make provision for mine own house also? And he sayde: what shal I then geue thee? And Jacob answered: thou shalt geue me nothinge at all, yf thou wilt doo this one thinge for me, and then will I turne agayne and feede thy sheepe, and keepe thim. I will go about all the shepe this day & separate frō them all the shepe that are spotted and of diuers colours, and all blacke sheepe among the lambes: and the partie, and the spotted among the kiddes: and the same shalbe my rewarde. So shall my righteousnesse answer for me to morowe, and shall come for my rewarde before thy face: and euerye one that is not speckled and partie amonge the goates, and blacke amonge the sheepe, the same shall be theft with me. And Laban sayde: For so, woulde God it might be according to thy sayings. Therfore he take out the same day the hee goates that were partie and of diuers colour, and all the hee goates that were spotted and partie coloured, and all that had white in theym, and all the blacke amonge the sheepe, and put the in & keeping of his sons, & fed three dayes iourney betwixt himselfe and Jacob. And so Jacob kepte the rest of Labans shepe. Jacob tooke rod-des of greene poplar, of Hasell, and of the chestnut trees, and piled white strakes in them, and made the white appeare in the rod-des. But they that were whole remayned greene: and thus was it made a variable colour. And put the rod-des which he had piled, euen before the sheepe, in the gutters and watering troughes, when the sheepe came to drinke: that they shoulde conceane when they came to drinke. And the sheepe conceaued before the rod-des, and broughte forth lambes straked, spotted, and partie. And Jacob parted the lambes, and turned the face of the sheepe towarde spotted things, and toward all maner blacke, that was among the sheepe of Laban: namelye puttinge his owne flockes by the self, and not with putting them with Labans sheepe. And it fortuned that in euerye ramminge time of the stronger shepe, Jacob layed the rod-des before the eyes of the shepe in the gutters: namelye, that he might make them conceane before the rod-des. But when the sheepe were feble, he put them not in. And so the feebler were Labans, and the stronger Jacobs. And the man encreased exceedingly, and had a great floche, mayde seruantes, and manne seruantes, camels, and asses.

B he hearde the wordes of Labans sonnes, saying: Jacob hath taken away all that was our fathers, and of our fathers goodes hath he gotten all this honour. And Jacob behelde the countenance of Laban, and beholde it was not as yesterdays, and ere yesterdays. And the Lord saide vnto Jacob: Cume agayne into the lande of thy fathers, and to thy kinsred and I will be with thee. Therefore Jacob sente and called Rachel and Lea to the field vnto his flocke, and saide vnto them. I see your fathers countenance that it is not towarde me as yesterdays, and yere yesterdays. But the God of my father hath bene with me. And ye knowe howe that I haue serued your father with al my might: But your father hath deceaued me, and chaunged my wages tenne times: but God suffered him not to hurt me. When he saide, the spotted shalbe thy wages, then all the shepe bare spotted.

And when he saide: the straked shalbe thy reward, then bare all the shepe straked. Thus hath God taken away your fathers shepe, and geue them me. But in ramminge time it happened, that I lysted bype myne eyes, and sawe in a dreame: and beholde the rammes leaped vpon the shepe that were straked, spotted and partie. And the angell spake vnto me in a dreame, saying: Jacob. And I answered: here am I. And he said: Lift vp now thine eyes, and see all the rams leaping vpon the shepe that are straked, spotted, and partie. For I haue sene al that Laban doeth vnto thee. I am the God of

Gen. 21b Bethel, where thou annointedst the stone, and wher thou bowedst a bowe vnto me. Now therfore arise, and get thee out of this countrey and returne vnto the land where thou wast borne.

Then answered Rachel and Lea, and said vnto him: haue we a portion and inheritaunce in our fathers house? Doth not he count vs euens as strangers, for he hath solde vs, and euens eaten vp our money. But all the riches which god hath taken from our father, that is ours and our childrens. And now what soener God hath said vnto thee, that doo. Then Jacob rose vp, and set his sonnes and wiues vpon camels, & caried away all his flockes, and all his substance which he had procured, his riches and possessions which he had gotten in Mesopotamia, for to go to Laban his father vnto the lande of Canaan. But Laban was gone to there his shepe, and Rachel had stolen her fathers images. And Jacob stole away the heart of Laban & Syrian, in that he tolde him not that he fled. So fled he and all that he had, & made him selfe ready, and passed ouer the riuier, & set his face streight toward the mount Gilead. Upon the thurd day after was it tolde Laban that Jacob fled. Then he tooke his brethren with him, and folowed after him. vii. dayes iourney, and ouertoke him at the mounte Gilead. And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dreame by night, and sayde vnto him: Take heede that thou speake not to Jacob oughte saue good. And Laban ouertoke Jacob: and Jacob had pitched his tent in the mounte. And Laban with his brethren pitched their tent also vpon the mount Gilead. And Laban sayde to Jacob: Why hast thou this done to steale away my hart, and cary away my daughters, as though they had bene taken captiue with the sword? Wherefore wentest thou away secretly vnto me, and diddest not tell me, that I might haue brought thee on the waye with mirth, singing, timbrell and harpe, and hast not suffered me to kisse my children, and my daughters? Thou wast a foole now to dooit, for I am able to doo you euill. But the God of your father spake vnto me yesterdays, saying: Take heede that thou speake not to Jacob oughte saue good. And now though thou wentest thy way, because thou longest after thy fathers house, yet wherefore haste thou stolne my goddes? Jacob answered, and sayde to Laban: Because I was afrayde, and thought thou wouldest haue taken away thy daughters from me.

But (whereas thou layest theft to my charge) with whom sooner thou syndest thy Goddes, let him dye here before our brethren. Seke that thine is by me, and take it to thee. But Jacob wist not that Rachel had stolen them. Then went Laban into Jacobs tent, and into Leas tente, and into the two maydens tentes, but founde them not. Then went he out of Leas tente, and entred into Rahels tent. And Rachel had taken the ymages, and put them in the Camels strawe, and sat downe vpon them. And Laban searched al the tent, but found them not. Then saide she to her father: My Lord, be not angry that I can not rise vp before thee, for the custome of women is come vpon me. So searched he, but founde not those Idolles. And Jacob was wrothe, and chyd with Laban. Jacob also answered and saide to him: What haue I trespassed, or what haue I offended, that thou folowedst so after me? Thou hast searched all my stuffe, and what haste thou founde of all thy household stuffe? put it here before thy brethren and mine, that they may iudge betwixt vs both. Beholde, this .xx. yeare haue I bene with thee, thy shepe and thy goates haue not ben barreyne, and the rammes of thy flocke haue I not eaten. What sooner was toyme of beastes, I brought it not vnto thee, but made it good my selfe: Of my hand diddest thou require it, euen as it that was stolne by day or night. By daye the heate consumed me, and the froste by nighte, and my sleepe departed from mine eyes. Thus haue I bene .xx. yeare in thy house, and serued thee .xiii. yeres for thy ii. daughters, and .vi. yeres for thy shepe, and thou hast chaunged my rewarde .x. tymes. And excepte the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the feare of Isaac had ben with me: surely thou haddest sent me away now all empye. But God behelde my tribulation, and the labour of my handes, and rebuked thee yester day. Laban answered and saide vnto Jacob: These daughters are my daughters, and these children are my children, and these shepe are my shepe, & all that thou seest is mine. And what can I doo this daye vnto these my daughters, or vnto their children which they haue borne? Howe therefore come on, and let vs make a bonde, I & thou, which maye be a witnesse betweene thee and me. Then toke Jacob a stone, and set it by an ende, and Jacob saide vnto his brethren: Gather stones. And they tooke stones, and made an heape, and they did eate there vpon the heape. And Laban called it Jegar Sabama: but Jacob called it Gilead (ether of them according to the proprietye of his owne language.) Then said Laban: This heape is witnesse betwene thee and me this day: therefore it is called Gilead, (that is a heape of witnesse) and Mizpah. For he sayde: The Lord loke betwene me and thee, when wee are departed one from an other: If thou shalt bere my daughters, or shall take other wives besydes my daughters. There is no man with vs: behold God be witness betwixt thee & me. And Laban said mozeouer to Jacob: behold this heape and this marke which I haue sette here betwixt me and thee: This heape be witnesse, and also this marke, that I will not come ouer this heape to thee, and thou shalt not come ouer this heape, and this marke vnto me, to do any harme. The God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of their fathers be iudge betwixt vs. And Jacob sware by the feare of his father Isaac. Then Jacob did sacrifice vpon the mount, and called his brethren to eate bread. And they did eate bread, and taried all nighte in the hill. And earlye in the morninge Laban rose vp, and kyssed his children, and his daughters, and blessed them: and Laban departing, went vnto his place agayne.

But Jacob wente forth on his iourneys. And the angelles of God came, and met him. And when Jacob sawe them, he sayde double of the same place. Mahanaim (that is an armie.) And Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother, vnto the lande of Seir, and the felde of Edom. And he commaunded them, saying: Thus shall ye speake to my Lord Esau: thy seruauunt Jacob saith thus: I haue sojourned and bene a stranger with Laban vnto this time and haue open asses, and sheepe, men seruantes, and women seruantes, and haue sente to thewel it my Lord, that I maye finde grace in thy sight. And the messengers came agayne to Jacob, saying: we came vnto thy brother Esau, & he cometh agaynst thee, & hath foure hundred men with him. But Jacob was greatly afrayde, and wiste not whiche waye to turne him selfe, and deuised the people that was with him, and the shepe, and oxen, and camels, into .ii. companies, and sayde: If Esau come to the one parte and smite it, the other shall saue in selfe. And Jacob sayde agayne: O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac: I praye thee, whiche saydest vnto me: returne vnto thy countrey and to thy kindred, and I will doo all wel with thee, I am not worthy of the least of all the mercies & truth which thou haste shewed vnto thy seruauunt. For with my staffe came I ouer this Jordan, and now haue I gotten two dyoues. Deliuere me from the handes of my brother Esau: for I feare him, least he will come and smite the mother with the children. Then saydest: I will surely do thee good, and make thy seede as the sand of the sea, which can not be numbred for multitude. And he taried there that same night, and tooke of that which came to hand, & presente for Esau his brother: two hundred she goates, and .xx. he goates, two hundred sheepe, and .xx. rammes: thirtie milch camels, with their coltes .xl. kyne, and .x. bulles .xx. she asses, and tenne soles, and deliuered them into the handes of his seruantes, euerie dyone by them selues, and sayde vnto his seruantes: go sooth before me, and putte a space betwixte dyone and dyone. And he commaunded the foremost, saying: Esau my brother meete thee, & aske thee saying: whose art thou and whither goest thou; and whose art these that go before thee: thou shalt say, they be thy seruauunt Jacobs, and it is a present sent vnto my lord Esau: and behold he him selfe cometh after vs: And so commaunded he the seconde, and the third, and all that folowed the dyoues, saying of this maner: see that you speake vnto Esau when ye meete him, and saye moreover: thy seruauunt Jacob also cometh after vs: for he sayde: I will please his wrath with the presente that goeth before me, and afterwarde I will see him my selfe, yf peraduenture he will receiue me to grace. So went the present before him, and he taried all that nighte in the companye, and rose by the same night, and tooke his two wiues, and his twoo maidens, and his eleuen sonnes, and wente ouer the flood Jacob, and he toke them and sent them ouer the river, and sente ouer that he had, and taried behinde him selfe alone. And ther was a man with him vnto the breakinge of the dape. And when he sawe that he coulde not preuaile agaynst him, he smote him vnder the thie, and the senowe of Jacobs thie shank, as he was laded with him. And he saide: lette me go, for the dape breaketh. whiche answered: I will not let thee go, except thou bleesse me. And he sayde vnto him: what is thy name? And he answered: Jacob. He sayde: thou shalt be called Jacob nomore, but: Israel. For as a prince haste thou was laded with God, and with man, and haste preuailed. And Jacob asked him sayinge: tell me thy name. And he sayde: wherefore doest thou so aske after my name? and he blessed him there. And Jacob called the name of the place: Pheniel, for I haue sene God face to face, and my lyfe is preserued. And as he wente ouer Pheniel, the sunne rose vpon him, and he halted vpon his thye. And therefore is it fell on the grounde, six times vntill he came vnto his brother. Esau came to mete him and embraced him, and fel on his necke and kissed him, and they wepte. And he kiste vp his eyes, and sawe the women, and the children, and sayde: whence haste thou these? (And do they belong vnto thee?) And he answered: they are the children whiche God hath geuen thy seruante. Then came the maydens fourth, and their childre, and did their obeyssaunce. Lea also with her children came, and did their obeyssaunce. And last of all came Joseph and Rahell, & did their obeyssaunce. And he sayde: what is all the doore whiche I met? He answered: that I may finde grace in the sight of my Lorde. And Esau sayde: I haue prouough my brother, kepe that thou hast vnto thy selfe. To whom Jacob answered: oh nay, but if I haue founde grace in thy sight, receaue my present of my hande: for I haue seene thy face as though I had sene the face of god: and thou hast had a good wil toward me.

Oh take my blessinge that is brought thee, for God hath had mercy on me. (Geeuinge me all thinges,) and I haue prouough. And so he compelled him, and he tooke it. And he spake of their iourney, and go, I will go before thee. Jacob answered: my Lord thou knowest, that the children are tender, and the fowes and kyne with yonge vnder mine hande, whiche if men shoulde ouerdayne but euen one daye, all the sheepe will dye. Oh let my Lorde go before his seruante, and I will dyne saye and softly, accordinge as the cattell that goeth before me, and the children be able to endure: vntill I come to my Lorde vnto Heir. And Esau sayd: let me yet leaue some of my folk with thee. And he answered: what needeth it? (This one thinge onely haue I neede of:) Let me finde grace in the sight of my Lorde. So Esau went his waye agayne that same day vnto Heir. And Jacob toke his iourney towarde Succoth, and builde him an house and made bootheres for his cattell. And therefore is it, that the name of the place is called Succoth. And Jacob came to Salcm a cite of Sicheim, whiche is in the lande of Canaan, after that he was come from Mesopotamia, and pitched before the cite, and boughte a parcell of grounde (where he pitched his tent) of the children of Hemor, Sicheims father, for an hundred peces of money. And he made there an altar, and called vpon the mightye God of Israel.

And he told that damsell and spake kindly vnto her, and Sicheim spake vnto his father Hemor, saying: get me thys mayden vnto my wife. And Jacob heard that he had defiled Dinah his daughter, his sonnes beinge with their cattell in the field, and he helde his peace, vntill they were come. Gen. 34.

unto Jacob; to comen with him. And when the sonnes of Jacob comming out of the fildes hearde it, it grieved them: and they were not a litle wroth, because he had wroughte follepe in Israell, in that he hadde iyen with Jacobs daughter, whiche thinge ought not to be don. And Hemor communed with them, saying: the soule of my son Sicheim longeth for youre daughter: geue her him to wife, and make marriages with vs, and geue your daughters vnto vs, and take our daughters vnto you: and ye shall dwell with vs, and the lande shalbe before you, dwell and do your busyness, and haue your possessions therein. And Sicheim sayd vnto her father, and her brethren, let me find grace in your eyes, and whatsoever ye appointe mee, that will I geue. Aske freely of me both the dowry and giftes, and I wil geue according as ye saye vnto me, so that ye geue me the damsell to wife. But the sonnes of Jacob answered to Sicheim and Hemor his father, talking amonge them selues deceitfully, because he had defiled Dina their sister, and they said vnto them: we can not do this thinge that we shoulde geue our sister to one that is vncircumcised, for that were a shame vnto vs. But in this wil we consent vnto you: If ye wil be as we be, and al the men children among you be circumcised, then will we geue our daughters to you, & take your daughters to vs: and will dwell with you, and be one people. But and if ye will not harken vnto vs to be circumcised, then will we take our daughter, and go our wayes. Theyr woordes pleased Hemor and Sicheim his sonne. And the younge man deferred not for to doo the thinge, because he had a lust to Jacobs daughter: he was also most set by of all that were in his fathers house. Then Hemor and Sicheim his sonne wente vnto the gate of their cite, and communed with the men of their cite, sayinge: these men are sayned to warde vs, and dwell in the lande, and do their occupation therein, and in the lande is roume ynough for them: we will take their daughters to wiues, and geue them our daughters. Only herein will they consent vnto vs for to dwell with vs, and to be one people: yf all the men children that are amonge vs be circumcised as they are. Shall not their goodes and their substance and all their cattell be oures, onely, yf we consente vnto them? For they will dwell with vs. And vnto Hemor and Sicheim his sonne harkened all that wente out of the gate of his cite. And all the men children were circumcised whatsoever wente out at the gates of his cite. And it happened the thirde daye (when it was paynfull to them) two of the sonnes of Jacob. Shimeon and Leuy, Dinas brethren, tooke eether of them his swerde, and went into the cite holdely, and slew all that was male, and slew also Hemor and Sicheim his soane with the edge of the swerde, and tooke Dina out of Sichems house and went their way. And the sonnes of Jacob comminge bypon the dead, spoyled the cite, because they had defiled their sister, and toke their shepe, oxen, and their asses, and whatsoever was in the cite, and also in the fildes. And all their goodes, and all their children, and their wiues tooke they captiue, and made haucke of all that was in the house. But Jacob saide to Shimeon and Leui: ye haue troubled me, and made me stinke before the inhabitoures of the lande, before the Cananite & the Hethite: And I beinge fewe in number, they shal gather them selues together agaynst me and slaye me, and so shall I and my house be destroyed. And they answered: shuld they deale with our sister as with an whore.

And God said vnto Jacob: arise and get thee vp to Bethel & dwell there. And make there an altier vnto God that appeared vnto thee, when thou fleddest from the face

face of Esau thy brother. Then saide Jacob vnto his household and to all that were with him: put aswape the strange goddes that are among you, and be cleane, and chaunge your garments, for we will arise and goo by to Bethell: and I will make an altar ther vnto God, which heard me in the day of my tribulation, and was with me in the waye which I wente. And they came vnto Jacob al the strange goddes which they had in their hand, and all their earringes which were in their eares, and Jacob hid them vnder an oke which was by Sichem. And when they departed, the feare of God fell vpon the cities & wer round about them. And they didde not folowe after the sons of Jacob. So came Jacob to Iuss which is in the lande of Canaan, the same is Bethel, he and al the people that was with him. And he builded there an altar, and called the place: The god of Bethel: because that God appered vnto him ther, whē he fledd fro the face of his brother. But Deboia Rebeccas noyle, died: & was buried beneth Bethel vnder an Oke, and the name of it was called the oke of lamentation. And God appeared vnto Jacob agayne after he came out of Mesopotamia, and blessed him, and God sayd vnto him: thy name is Jacob, not standing I shall be no more called Jacob, but Israell shall be thy name. And he called his name Israell. And God sayde vnto him: I am God almighty, growe & multiply, people, & a multitude of people shall spring of thee: yea, and kings shall come out of thy loynes. And the lande which I gaue Abraham & Isaac, will I geue vnto thee, and vnto thy sede after thee: will I geue that land also. And so god departed vppre from him in the place where he had talked with him. And Jacob sette by a marke in the place wher he talked with him: & a marke of stone, and powred a drinke offering thereon, and powred also oyle thereon, and Jacob called the name of the place of God. wher God spake vnto him. Bethel. And they departed from Bethel, and when he was but a field byeddy from Ephrath, Rahel beganne to trauell: and in travelinge shee was in perill: and it happened as she was in payns of her labour, the midwife sayde vnto her: feare not, for this sonne is thynne also. Then as her soule was departing, that she must dye, she called his name. Ben Onp: (The son of my sorrowe.) But his father called him Ben Iamin. (The son of the right hand.) And thus dyed Rahel and was buried in the waye to Ephrath, whiche is Bethlehem. And Jacob set by a stone vpon her graue, whiche is called Rahels graue stone vnto this daye. And Israell wente thence, and pitched by his tent beyonde the towne of Eder. And it chaunced as Israell dwelte in the lande, that Ruben wente and laye with Bilha his fathers concubine: and it came to Israels eare. The sonnes of Jacob were. xii. in number. The sonnes of Lea, Ruben Jacob eldest son, and Simeon, Leui, Juda, Issachar, and Zabulon. The sonnes of Rahel: Joseph and Ben Iamin. The sonnes of Bilha Rahels maide: Dan and Naphtali. The sonnes of Silpha Leas maide, Gad and Isser. These are the sons of Jacob which were borne him in Mesopotamia. And so Jacob came vnto Isaac his father to Hamre, vnto Ephrath Arba, whiche is in Hebron: where Abraham and Isaac sojourned as straungers. And the dayes of Isaac were an hundred and lxxx. yeaues: and Isaac fell sicke and dyed, and was put vnto his people, being old and full of dayes. And his sonnes Esau and Jacob buried him.

The .xxxvij. Chapter.

Jacob dwelt in the land where in his father was a stranger, even in the lande of Canaan. These are the generations of Jacob: when Joseph was .xvii. yere olde, he kept shepe with his brethren: and the ladde was with the sonnes of Bilha, and with the sonnes of Zilpha his fathers wiues. And he brought vnto their father an euill sayinge of them. But Israel loued Joseph more then all his children, because he begate him in his olde age: and he made him a coate of many colours. And when his brethren sawe that their father loned him more then all his brethren, they hated him, and coulde not speak peaceably vnto him. Moreover when Joseph had dreamed a dreame, he told it to his brethren, which hated him yet the more. And he sayde vnto them: heare I praye you this dreame whiche I haue dreamed: Beholde we were bindinge sheues in the fildes: and loo, my shefe arose, and stood vp right, and poures round about, and made obeyssaunce to my shefe. To whom his brethren sayde: Shalt thou be oure kinge in dede? or shalt thou in dede haue dominion ouer vs? And they hated him yet the more, because of his dreames and of his wordes. And he dreamed yet another dreame and tolde it his brethren, saying: behold I haue had one dreame more: me thoght the sunne & the moone and .xii. starres made obeyssaunce to me. And when he hadde tolde it vnto his father and his brethren, his father rebuked him, and sayde vnto him: What is this dreame whiche thou haste dreamed? Shall I and thy mother, and thy brethren come to fall on the grounde before thee? And his brethren hated him, but his father noted the saying. His brethren also wente to keepe their fathers sheepe in Sichem, and Israel sayd vnto Joseph: do not thy brethren keepe in Sichem? come, and I will sende thee to theym. He answered: herr am I. And he sayde vnto him: goo and see whether it be well with thy brethren and the sheepe, and bring me woorde agayne. And so he sente him out of the vale of Hebron, and he wente to Sichem. And a certayne man founde him, and beholde he was wandringe oute of his waye in the fildes, and the man asked him: what seekst thou? He answered: I seeke my brethren, tell me I praye thee where they keepe shepe. And the man sayde, they are departed hence, for I heard them saye: lette vs go vnto Dothan. Thus went Joseph after his brethren, and founde them in Dothan, And when they sawe him afar off before he came at them, they toke counsell agaynst him, for to slay him. For one sayde to another: Beholde this dreamer commeth: come now therfore and lette vs slay him, and caste him into some pitte, and we will say, a wicked beast hath deuoured him, and wee shall see what will come of his dreames. When Ruben heard that, he rid him oute of their handes, and sayde: we will not kill him. And Ruben sayde moreover vnto them: shede not his bloude, but caste him into this pitte that is in the wilderness, and laye no hande vpon him. (Thus he sayde.) Namelye, that he mighte rid him oute of their handes, and deliuer him.

him to his father agayne And it happened that when Joseph was come vnto his brethren, they stripte him oute of his coate, his partye coloured coate that was vpon him, and they tooke him and caste him into an emptye pitte: wherein was no water. And they late them downe to eate breade: And as they list by their eyes and looked about, there came a companye of Ismaelites from Gilead, and their cammelles laden with spicerie, baulme, and mirre, and were goinge downe to carpe it into Egypte. Then as the Adianites, marchante men passed by, they dydwe and lift Ioseph oute of the pitte, and solde him vnto the Ismaelites for .xx. peces of siluer. And they broughte him into Egypte. And when Ruben came agayne vnto the pit and founde not Ioseph there, he rent his clothes and wente agayne vnto his brethren, sayinge: the ladde is not yonder, and whither shall I go? And they toke Iosephs coate and killed a goate, and dipped the coate in the blood: And they sente that partye coloured coate: and broughte it vnto their father, and sayde: This haue we founde: see whether it be thy sonnes coate or no. Fortuned at that time that Iudas wet downe from his brethren and gate him to a man called Hira of Odollam: and there he sawe the daughter of a man called. Sna, a Cananite. And he tooke her, and went in to her. And she conceaued and bare a sonne, and called his name Er. And she conceaued agayne, and bare a sonne and called him Onan. And shee conceaued agayne, and bare yet a sonne, whom she called Sela: and he was at Chesib when she bare him. And Iudas gaue Er his eldest sonne, a wife, whose name was Chamar. And Er Iudas eldest sonne was wicked in the sight of the Lorde, and the Lorde slewe him. And Iudas sayde vnto Onan: go into thy brothers wife, and marie her, that thou mayest stirre by sede vnto thy brother. And when Onan perceued that the seede should not be his, therfore when he wente into his brothers wife, he spilled it on the grounde, and gaue not seede vnto his brother. And the thinge whiche he did displeased the Lorde: wherfore he slewe him also. Then sayde Iudas to Chamar his daughter in lawe: re-mayne a widow at thy fathers house, till Sela my sonne bee growne: for he sayde: Lest peradventure he dye also, as his brethren did. And Chamar went and dwelt in her fathers house. And in proesse of time, the daughter of Sna Iudas wife dyed.

Then Iudas when he had left mourning, went vnto his shepe shेरers to Chinnath, he and his frende Hira of Odollam. And one told Chamar, saying: beholde, thy father in lawe goeth by to Chinnath, to. Here his shepe. And she put her widowes garments of from her, and couered her with a cloke, and disguised her selfe: and sare her downe in a common place which is by the hye wayes syde to Chinnath, for because shee sawe that Sela was growne, and she was not geuen vnto him to wife. When Iuda sawe her, he thought it had bene an whoze, because she had covered her face. And he turned to her vnto the waye, and said: come I pray thee, let me lie with thee, for hee knewe not that it was his daughter in lawe. And she answered: what wilt thou geue me for to ly with me? Then saide he: I wil send thee a kid from the flock. She sayde: Then geue me a pledge till thou sende it. He saide, what pledge shall I geue thee? She answered: thy signet, thy brace-let, and thy staffe that is in thy hande. And he gaue it her, and lay by her, and she was with childe by him. And she gat her by, and went and put her manrell from her, and put on her widows rayment. And Iudas sent the kid by his frende of Odolam, for to receaue his pledge agayne from the wines hande: But he founde her not. Then asked he the men of the same place saying: where is the whoze that sat openly by the waye side? They answered: there was no whoze here. He came therefore to Iuda agayne, and sayde vnto him: I cannot finde her, and also the men of the place sayd, that there was no whoze there. And Iuda sayde: let her take it to her, least we be shamed. Beholde I sente the kid, and thou haste not founde her. And it came to passe that after. iiii. monethes, one told Iuda, saying: Thamar thy daughter in lawe hath played the whoze, and with playng the whoze is become great with childe. And Iuda sayde: bring her forth, that she may be bzent. And when they brought her forth, she sent to her father in lawe, saying: by the man vnto whom these thinges perdayne, am I with childe: And said also: looke whose are this scale, bracelet, and this staffe. And Iuda knewe them and sayde, shee hath bene moze righteous then I, because I gaue her not to Sela my sonne. And he laye with her no moze. It fortunied when time was come that she should be deliuered, behold there was two twins in her wombe. And it fortunied that when she trauipled, the one put out his hand, and the midwife tooke and bounde a red thiede about it, saying: this is come out first. And it chaunced, that he plucked his hande backe agayne, and beholde his brother came out. And she sayde: wherefoze haste thou rent a rent vpon thee? and called his name Pharez: Afterwarde came out his brother that had the red thiede aboute his hande, and his name was called Zarah.

cause thou art his wife. Howe then can I do this greate wickednes, and sin against God? And after this manner spake she to Joseph daye by daye: but he harkened not vnto her, to slepe nere her, or to be in her company. And it fortuned on a certayne convenient day, that Joseph entred into the house to do his busines: and there was none of the housholde by, in the house.

And she caught him by the garmente, saying: come slepe with me. And he leste his garment in her hand and fled and got him oute. And it chanced when she saw that he had leste his garment in her hande, and was fled out. (And she not regarded) she called vnto the men of her house, and told them, sayinge: See, he hath broughte in an Hebrew vnto vs to do vs shame: for he came into me, for to haue slept with me: and I began to crye with a loude voyce. And when he heard that I lift vp my voyce and cried, he leste his garment with me, and fled away, and got him out. And she laid by his garment by her: vntill her Lord came home.

And she tolde him with these wordes sayinge: This Hebrewes seruante whiche thou haste broughte vnto vs, came into me to doo me shame, but as soone as I lifte vp my voyce & cryed, he leste his garmente with me, and fled oute. when his master (bringe to light of credence) heard these wordes of his wife, which she tolde him, saying: after this manner did thy seruante to me, he waxed wroth. And the master tooke Joseph and put him in prison euen into the place where the kinges prisoners laye bounde, and there continued he in prison. But the Lord was with Joseph, and shewed him mercye, and gotte him fauoure in the sight of the Lord of the prison. And the keeper of the prison committed to Josephs hande all the prisoners that were in the prison house. And whatsoeuer was done there, that did he. And the keeper of the prison looked vnto nothing that was vnder his handes, seing that the Lord was with him. For whatsoeuer he did, the Lord made it to prosper.

And it chaunced after this, that the butler of the king of Egypt, and his baker had offended their Lord the King of Egypt. And Pharaos was angry agaynst his two officers: agaynst the chiefe butler, and the chiefe baker: and put them in ward, in his chiefe stewarden house: euen in the prison & place where Joseph was bounde. And the chiefe steward gaue Joseph a charge with them, and he serued them. And they continued a season in ward. And they dreamed eyther of them in one night: both the butler and the baker of the kinge of Egypt, which were bounde in the prison house, eyther of them his dreame: & eche mans dreame of a sundry interpretation. When Joseph came in vnto them in the morning, and looked vpon them: beholde, they were sad. And he asked Pharaos officers that wer with him in his masters warde, sayinge: Wherefore looke ye so sadly to day? They answered him: we haue dreamed a dreame, and haue no manne to declare it. And Joseph sayde vnto them: Do not interpretinges belonge to God? yet tell me. And the chiefe butler tolde his dreame to Joseph, and sayd vnto him: In my dreame me thought, ther stode a vine before me, and in the vine were thre branches, and it was as though it budded, and her blossomes shot forth: and the grapes thereof waxed ripe. And I had Pharaos cup in my hande, and tooke of the grapes, and wronge them into Pharaos cup, and deliuered Pharaos cup in his hande. And Joseph sayde vnto him: this is the interpretation of it. The thre branches are thre dayes: for within thre dayes shall Pharaos lifte vp thine head, and restore thee vnto thine office agayne: and thou shalt deliuer Pharaos cuppe into his hande, after the olde maner, wherein thou wast wonte to geue him drinke. But if thou thinke on me with them, when thou art in good case, shewe mercy (I praye thee) vnto me: and make mention of me, to Pharaos, and bring me out of this house. For I was stolen out of the land of the Hebrewes, and here also haue I done nothing at al, wherfore they should haue put me into this dongeon. When the chiefe baker sawe that the interpretation was good, he sayde vnto Joseph: me thought also in my dreame, that I had thye wicker baskettes on my head. And in the vppermost basket, there was of all manner bakemeates, for Pharaos. And the birdes did eate them out of the basket that was vpon my head. And Joseph answered and sayde: this is the interpretation therof. The thye baskettes are thye dayes, for this day thye dayes shall Pharaos take thy heade from thee, and shall hang thee on a tree, and the birdes shall eate the flesh from thee. And it came to passe the thirde day which was Pharaos birth daye that he made a feast vnto all his seruantes. And he lifted vp the head of the chiefe butler, and of the chiefe baker amonge his seruantes. And he restored the chife butler vnto his butlership agayne: whiche also reached the cup into Pharaos hande: but he hanged the chiefe baker: euen as Joseph had interpreted vnto them. Neyther did the chiefe butler remeber Joseph, but forgot him.

AND it is fortunèd after twoo yeares that Pharaos dreamed and beholde, he stood by a riuers side, and there came out of the riuier seven goodlye kyne and fat fleshed, and fedde in a meadowe: and seuen other kyne came vppon them out of the riuier, euill fauoured, and leane fleshed, and stode by the other kyne vppon the brynke of the riuier. And the euill fauoured and leane fleshed kyne did eate by the well fauoured and fatte kyne: and Pharaos awoke. And he slept againe, and dreamed the seconde time. And behold, seuen eares of corne grewe vppon one halke, ranke and goodlye: and agayne seuen thynne eares blasted with the east winde, sprange vp after them: the seuen thynne eares deuoured the seuen ranke and full eares: and Pharaos awoke: and see, it was a dreame. And when the morning came, his spire was troubled. And he sente and called for all the Southsayers of Egypt, and all the wise menne thereof, and Pharaos tolde them his dreame: but ther was none of them that could interpretate it vnto Pharaos. Then spake the chiefe butler vnto Pharaos, saying: I do remember my faults this daye. Pharaos being angrye with his seruantes, put in warde, in the chiefe stewardes house, both me, & the chiefe baker. And we dreamed both of vs in one night, and eche mannes dreame of sundry interpretation. And ther was with vs a songe manne, an Hebrew bozne, seruant vnto the chiefe Steward: to whom when we told them he declared our dreames to vs accordig to epyther of our dreames. And as he declared them vnto vs, euen so it came to passe. For he restored me to mine office agayne, and hanged him. Pharaos sent therefore, and called Joseph: and they brought him hastily out of prison. And he shaued himselfe, and changed his rayment, and came into Pharaos. And Pharaos sayde vnto Joseph: I haue seene a dreame, and no man can interpretate it, and I haue heard saye of thee, that as soone as thou hearest a dreame, thou canst interpretate it. Joseph answered Pharaos, saying: Not I, but God shall geue Pharaos an answer of peace. And Pharaos said vnto Joseph: In my dreame me thought I stode by a riuers side, and ther came out of the riuier seven fat fleshed, and well fauored kyne, and fed in the meadowe. And then seuen other kyne came vppon after them, pooze and beerye euill fauored, and leane fleshed: suche as I neuer sawe in all this lande of Egypt, they were so euill fauoured. And the seuen leane and euill fauoured kyne did eate by the first seuen fatte kyne. And when they

they had eaten them by, a man coulde not perceiue that they had eaten them but they were still as euill famozed as they were at the beginning: and I awoke. And I sawe agayne in my dreame, and behold seven eares sprang out of one stalk, ful and saype: and seven other eares againe withered thin and blasted with the east wind, sprang by after them: and the thin eares deuoured the seven good eares. And I haue tolde it vnto the sothesayers, but there was no man that coulde tell what it meaneth. And Joseph answered Pharaos: both Pharaos dreames are one, and G O D hath shewed Pharaos what he is about to doo. The seven good kine, are seven yeres: and the seven good eares, are seven good yeres also, and it is but one dreame. Likewise, the seven thinne and euill famozed kyne that came out after them are seven yeres: and the seven emptie and blasted eares, shalbe seven yeres of hunger. This which I haue saide vnto Pharaos is it that God is about to do: and sheweth it vnto Pharaos. Behold there come seven yere of great plenteousnes throughe oute all the lande of Egypte.

And agayne there shall aryse after them, seven yeres of hunger. And also the plenteousnesse shalbe forgotten in the lande of Egypte, And the hunger shall consume the lande: neyther shall the plenteousnes be knowen in the lande, by reason of that hunger that shal come after, for it shalbe exceeding great. And as concerning that the dreame was doubled vnto Pharaos the second time, beholde the thing is certapnely prepared of G O D, and G O D wyll shortlye brynge it to passe. Nowe therfore, let Pharaos, prouyde for a manne of vnderstandinge and wysedome, and sette him ouer the lande of Egypte. And lette Pharaos doo this also, that he make officers ouer the lande, and take vpp the fyfthe parte of the lande, of Egypte, in the seven plenteous yeres, and let them gather all the foode of these good yeres that come, and lay

by tozue vnder the hande of Pharaos, that there may be foode in the Cities, and there let them kepe it: that there maye be sounde in store in the lande, agaynst the seven yeares of hunger, whiche shall come in the lande of Egypte: that the lande perishe not thowse hunger. And the saying pleased Pharaos and all his seruantes. Then sayd Pharaos vnto his seruantes: where shall we fynde such a man as this is, in whome is the spirite of G O D? And Pharaos sayde vnto Joseph: for as muche as G O D hath shewed thee all this, there is no man of vnderstandinge or of wysedome like vnto thee. Thou therfore shalt be ouer my house, and accordinge to thy worde, shall all my people be ruled, onely in the kinges seate wyll I be aboue thee. And Pharaos sayde agayne vnto Joseph: beholde, I haue set thee ouer the lande of Egypte. And he toke of his ringe from his hande, and put it vpon Josephes hande, and araped him in clothe of raynes, and put a goldenne chayne aboute his necke, and sette him vppon the best charette that he hadde, saue one. And they cryed befoze him: bowe the knee: And Pharaos made him ruler ouer all the land of Egypt. And Pharaos sayde vnto Joseph: I am Pharaos, withoute thee shall no man lyfe by his hande or foote in all the lande of Egypte. And hee called Josephes name Zaphnath Paena. And he gaue him to wife Asnath the daughter of Putiphar, priest of On. Then wente Joseph abroade in the lande of Egypte. And he was thirtie yere olde when he stode befoze Pharaos Kinge of Egypte. And Joseph departing from the presence of Pharaos, went throughe out all the lande of Egypte. And in the seven plenteous yeres they made sheues, and gathered by all the foode of the seven plenteous yeres, whiche were in the lande of Egypte, and layed vpp the same in the Cities. The foode of the fieldes that grewe rounde aboute euery Citye, layde he vpp in the same.

And when the lande of Egypte also beganne to hunger, the people cried to Pharaos for breade. And Pharaos sayde vnto all the Egyptians, go vnto Joseph, and what he sayeth to you, that doo. And the dearth was throughtoute all the lande. And Joseph opened all that was in the Cities, and solde vnto the Egyptians: for the hunger waxed sore in the lande of Egypte. And all countreys came to Egypte to Joseph for to bye cozne: because that the hunger was so sore in all landes.

Acts. 7, b And Jacob seeinge that there was cozne in Egypte, sayde vnto his sons: why gaze ye one vpon another? And he sayde: Behold, I haue heard that there is cozne in Egypte. Get you downe thither and bye vs cozne from thence, that we maye liue and not dye. So went Josephs ten brethren downe to bye cozne of the Egyptians. But Ben Jamin Josephs brother would not. Jacob sende with his other brethren, for he said: lest some misfortune happen him. And the sonnes of Israel came to bye cozne among other that came: for there was dearth in the lande of Canaan. And Joseph was gouernoure in the lande, and solde to all the people of the land. And his brethren came, and fell flat on the grounde befoze him. When Joseph sawe his brethren, he knewe them: and made him self straunge vnto them and spake roughly vnto them saying: whence come ye? They answered: out of the lande of Canaan to bye vitayle. And Joseph knewe his brethren, but they knewe not him. And Joseph remembred his dreames whiche he dreamed of them, and said vnto them: ye are spyes, and to see wher the land is weake, is your comming. And they sayde vnto him: naye my Lord, but to bye vitayle, thy seruantes are come. We are all one mannes sonnes, and meane truly, and thy seruantes are no spyes. And he sayde vnto them agayne: naye, but euen to see wher the land is weake, is your comming. And they sayde: we thy seruantes are. xii. brethren, the sons of one man in the lande of Canaan. And beholde the yongest is this daye with our father, and one, no man woteth wher he is. And Joseph sayde vnto them that is it that I spake vnto you, saying: ye are spyes. Whereby ye shalbe proued. By the life of Pharaos, ye shall not go hence, excepte youre yongest brother come hither. Sende oute one of you whiche maye sette youre brother, and ye shalbe kept in prison, that your wordes may be proued, whether there be anye trueth in you: or elles by the life of Pharaos, ye are but spyes. And he put them in ward the dapes. And Joseph sayde vnto them the thirde daye: This doo and liue, for I feare God. If ye meane no hurte, lette one of youre brethren be bounde in the house of youre prison, and go ye and bringe the necessarie fooode vnto your households: but bringe your yongest brother vnto mee: that your wordes maye bee tryed, and that ye dye not. And they did so. And one sayd to another: we haue verely sinned agaynst our brother, in that we sawe the anguish of his soul wher he besought vs, and

And this did he vnto them: And they laded their asses with the coyne and departed thence. And as one of them opened his sacke, for to geue his assen fodder in the inne, he spied his money: for it was in his sakes mouth.

And he sayd vnto his brethren: my money is restozed me againe: for lo, it is euen in my sacke. And their hert sayled them: and they were astonished, and sayde one to another: why hath God dealt thus with vs? And they came vnto Jacob their father, vnto the lande of Canaan, and tolde him all that had happened them, saying: The man eue the lord of the lande spake roughly to vs, and toke vs for spies of the countrey. And we sayd vnto him: we meane truely and are no spies. We be twelue brethren, and sonnes of our father: one is away, and the yongest is this daye with our father in the land of Chanaan. And the lord of the countrey saide agayne vnto vs: hereby shall I knowe if ye meane truely, leaue one of your brethren here with me, and take foode necessarie for your housholdes, and get you away, and bring your yongest brother vnto me, that I maye knowe that ye are no spies: but meane truely. So will I deliuer you your brother, and ye shall occupy in the land. And it fortuneth as they emptied theyr sakes behold, euery mans bundle of money, was in his sack. And when both they money they were afrayde. And Jacob their father said vnto them. We haue ye robbed of my children: Joseph is away, and Simeon is away, and ye take Ben Iamin away. All these thinges are agaynst me. Ruben sayde vnto his father: Slea my two sonnes if I bring him not to thee againe. Despyner him to my hande, and I will bringe him to thee agayne. And he sayde: my sonne shall not go downe with you. For his brother is dead and he is left alone. If some misfortune happen vnto him by the waye which ye go, ye shall bringe my graye heade with ioseph vnto the graue.

And the dearth was greates in the lande. And it fortuneth when they had eaten by the coyne whiche they broughte out of the lande of Egypt, their father sayd vnto them: go agayne and bye vs a litle foode. Iuda answered him, and sayd: the man did testifie vnto vs, saying: loke that ye see not my face except your brother be with you.

If thou wilt sende our brother with vs, we will go downe, and by the foode: But if thou wilt not send him, we will not go downe: for the man sayde vnto vs: loke that ye see not my face, except your brother be with you. And

Israel sayde: wherefore delte ye so cruelly with me, as to tell the mannes that ye had yet a brother? They answered: The man asked vs straghtly of our kynred, saying: is your father yet aliue? haue ye not yet another brother? and we tolde him according to these wordes. Coude we knowe that he would say: bring your brother downe with you. Then sayd Iuda vnto Israel his father: Sende the lad with me, that we maye ryse and go, and that we may liue and not dye: both we, and thou, and also our children. bye except we had made this taryng: by this, we had bene there twise, and come agayne. And their father Israel sayde vnto them: If it must nedes be so now: then do thus. Take of the best frutes of the lande in youre beselles, and bringe the man a present, a curtelle of basolme, and a curtelle of honey, spices, and mirre, nuttes, and almondes. And take double money in your hande: and the money that was brought agayne in your saches, take it agayne with you, least peradventure it was some oversighte. Take also your brother with you, and arise, and go againe to the man: & God almighty geue you mercede in the sight of the man, that he maye deliuer you youre other brother, and this Ben Jamin: And I shalbe robbed of my childe, as I haue bene. Thus toke they the presente, and twise so muche moze money in their hand, with Ben Jamin, and rose vp, went downe to Egypte, and stood before Joseph. When Joseph sawe Ben Jamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house: bringe these men home, and slay and make redy, for these men shall dyne with me at none. And the man did as Joseph bad: and brought them vnto Josephes house. When the men were brought into Josephs house, they were afrayde, & said because of the money that came in our saches mouthes, at the firste time, are we brought in, that he maye picke a quarrell with vs, and to lape something to oure charge, and to bringe vs in bondage, and our asses also. Therefore cam they to the man that was the ruler ouer Josephes house, and communed with him at the doze of the house, and sayde: Oh Sir, we came downe hither at the first tyme to bye foode: and as we came to an Inne, it happened that we opened our saches: and behold, euerie mannes money was in his sache with full weyghre: and we haue brought it agayne in our hand, and other money haue we broughte also in our handes, to bye foode: but we cannot tell who put our money in our saches. And he sayde: peace be vn-

to you, feare not: youre God and the God of youre father, hath given you that treasure in youre saches, I had youre money. And he brought Simeon oute to them, and the man ledde them in into Josephs house, and gaue them water to washe their feete, and gaue them allas psonder: And they made ready their present agaynst Joseph came at noone, for they heard saye that they should eate bread there. When Joseph came home, they broughte the present into the house to him whiche was in their handes, and fell flatte on the ground before him. And he welcomed them curtiously, sayinge: is youre father that olde manne which ye tolde me of, in good health? and is he yet alive? they answered: thy seruant our father is in good health, and is yet alive. And they bowed downe their heades and made obeysaunce. And he liftinge by his eyes, behelde his brother Benjamin, his mothers sonne, and sayde: is this youre yonger brother of whom ye sayde vnto me? And he sayde: God be merciful vnto thee my sonne. And Joseph made hast (for his heart did melt vpon his beoether) and sought wher to wepe, and entred into his chamber, and wepte there. And he washed his face, and came out, and refraigned him selfe, and sayde: set bread on the table. And they prepared for him by himselfe and for them, by the selues, & for the Egyptians which did eate with him, by them selues: because the Egyptians may not eate bread with the Hebrewes, for that is an abhominacion vnto the Egyptians. And they satte before him: the eldest accordinge vnto the age, and the yongest accordinge vnto his youth: and the men menyned amonge them selues. And they broughte rewarde vnto them from before him: but Ben Jamins parte was spye times so muche as any of theys. And they drynking were drunke with him.

AND he commaunded the ruler of his house saying: fill mens sackes with foode, as much as they can carpe, and put every mans money in his sacke mouth; and put my syluer cup in the sacke mouth of the pongest, and his cozne money also. And he did accordyng to the word that Joseph had sayd. And in the morning assone as it was light, the men were let go, they and their asses. And when they were out of the cite, and not yet farr away, Joseph sayd vnto the ruler of his house: by and solowe after the men, and when thou dost overtake them, thou shalt say vnto the: wherefoze haue ye rewarded euill for good: is not that the cup in the which my Lord drinke, and for the which he prophesyeth: ye haue euill done that ye haue done.

AND when he oertoke them, he said the same wordes vnto them. And they answered him: wherfoze sayth my Lord suche wordes: God forbed that thy seruantes should do so: beholde, the money which we founde in our sackes mouthes, we broughte agayne to thee out of the lande of Canaan: howe then should we steale out of thy Lordes house eether siluer or golde: with whomsoever of thy seruantes it be founde, let him dye, and we also will be my Lordes bondmen. And he sayde: nowe also let it be accordyng vnto your wordes, and with whom it is found, shalbe my seruant and ye shalbe harmelesse.

CONCE euery manne tooke downe his sacke to the grounde, and euery man opened his sacke. And he searched, and begonne at the eldest, and leste at the yongest: And the cuppe was found in Ben Jamins sacke. Then they rente their clothes, and laded euerie manne his asse, and wente awayne vnto the cite. And Juda and his brethren came to Josephs house, for he was yet there: and they fell before him on the grounde. And Joseph sayde vnto them: what haue ye this whiche ye haue done? wote ye not that such a man as I can prophesy: Then saide Juda: what shall we saye vnto my Lord: what shall we speake, or what excuse can we make? God hath founde out the wickednes of thy seruantes. Beholde both we and he with whom the cup is found, are my Lordes seruantes. And he answered: God forbed that I should do soo, but the man with whom the cuppe is found, he shalbe my seruant. And go ye in peace vnto your father. Then Juda wente vnto him, and sayde: Oh my Lord, let thy seruant speake a worde in my Lordes eares, and be not wroth with thy seruant, for thou art curen as Pharao. My Lord asked his seruant saying: haue ye a father or a brother? And we answered my Lord: we haue a father that is olde, and a younge lad whiche he begat in his age, and the brother of the sayde lad is deade, and he is all that is leste of that mother: and his father loueth him. And thou saydest vnto thy seruantes: bringe him vnto me, that I maye set myne eye vpon him: And we answered my Lord, that the ladde could not goo from his father, for yf he should leaue his father he were but deade. Then saidst thou vnto thy seruantes: excepte your pongest brother come with you, I loke that ye see my face no moze. And when we came vnto thy seruant our father, we shewed him what my lord hadde sayde: And our father sayde vnto vs: goo agayne, and bye vs a little foode. And we answered: we can not go downe: neuertheless yf our yongest brother goo with vs, then will we go downe, for we maye not see the mans face, except our yongest brother be with vs. And thy seruant our father sayde vnto vs: ye knowe that my wyfe bare me twofonnes. And the one went out from mee, and I sayde: of a suretie he is to me in peces, and I slowe him not for he was yet there: and the sell be to me. If some mysfortune happen vnto him, ye shall byinge my grave head in sozowe vnto the grave. Howe therfore, when I come to thy seruants my father, and the lad be not with vs (seing that his life hangeth by the laddes life) then shal it come to passe, that as soone as he seeth that the lad is not come, he will dye. So shall we thy seruantes bringe the grave head of thy seruant our father with sozowe vnto the grave. For I thy seruant became suertie for the lad because my father, and sayde: • if I bring him not vnto thee again, I will beare the blame vnto my father all my life long. Howe therfore let me thy seruante bide here for the lad, and be my Lordes bondeman: and let the lad go by with his brethren. For howe can I go by to my father, if the lad be not with me: vntlesse I woulde see the wretchednesse that shall come on my father.

Howeouer he kissed all his brethren and wepte vpon them. And after that, his brethren talked with him: and the tydings came vnto Pharaos house, so that they sayde: Iosephes brethren are come, and it pleased Pha-

Pharao spake vnto Ioseph: saye vn-

And Israell sayde vnto Joseph: Howe am I content to dye, in so muche as I haue seene thee, and because thou arte yet aliue. And Joseph sayde vnto his brethren, and vnto his fathers house: I will goe by, and shewe Pharao, and tell him: My brethren and my fathers house whiche were in the lande of Canaan are come vnto me, and they are sheepeherdes (for they were menne of cattell) and they haue brought their shepe & their oxen, and all that they haue. And if it chaunce that Pharao call you, and aske you, what your occupation is, ye shal answer, thy seruantes haue bene men occupied about cattell, from our childehoode vnto this time wee and oure fathers, that wee maye dwell in the lande of Golan. For euerye sheepe keeper is abomination vnto the Egyptians.

The. xliiij. Chapter.

Iosephe came therefore and tolde Pharao, and sayde: my father and my brethrenne, their sheepe and theyr oxen, and all that they haue, are come oute of the land of Canaan: and beholde, they are in the lande of Golan. And Joseph toke of the himmost of his brethrenne: euen five menne, and presented theym vnto Pharao. And Pharao sayde vnto his brethren: what is your occupation? And they answered Pharao: sheepeherdes are thy seruants, both wee and also oure fathers. They sayde mozeouer vnto Pharao: for to sojourne in the lande are wee come, for thy seruantes haue not pasture for theyr shepe, so soze is the famishment in the lande of Canaan. Howe therefore let thy seruantes dwell in the lande of Golan. And Pharao sayde vnto Joseph: thy father and thy brethren are come vnto thee. The lande of Egypte is before thee: In the best place of the lande make both thy father and thy brethren dwell, euen in the lande of Golan let them dwell: Whoeuer, yf thou knowe any man of activitie among them, make them rulers ouer my cattel. And Joseph brought in Jacob his father, and set him before Pharao. And Jacob blessed Pharao. And Pharao sayde vnto Jacob: howe old art thou? And Jacob sayd vnto Pharao: the dayes of my pilgrimage are an hundredth and thirtie yeres. Fewe and euill haue the dayes of my life bene, and haue not attained vnto the yeres of the life of my fathers, in the dayes of their pilgrimages. And Jacob blessed Pharao, and wente oute from him. And Joseph prepared dwellinges for his father, and his brethrenne, and gaue theym possessions in the lande of Egypte, in the beste of the lande: euen in the lande of Ramesses, as Pharao hadde commanded. And Joseph made promission for his father, his brethrenne, and all his fathers household with breade, euen as ponge childeynne are fed. There was no breade in all the lande, for the dearthe was exceedinge soze: so that the lande of Egypte, and the lande of Canaan, were famished by the reason of the greate dearthe. And Joseph broughte together all the money that was found in the land of Egypt and of Canaan, for the corn which they bought: and he layd by the money in Pharaos house. Whil money failed in the lande of Egypt and of Canaan, all the Egyptians came vnto Joseph and sayde: geue vs bread, wherefoze sufferest thou vs to dye befoze thee when our money is spent? Then sayde Joseph: byng your cattell, and I will geue you for your cattell, yf yee bee without money. And they brought theyr cattell vnto Joseph: And Joseph gaue theym breade for horses and sheepe, and oxen, and asses, and fedde them with breade for their cattell that yere. But when that yere was ended, they came vnto him the nexte yere, and sayde vnto him, wee will not hyde it from my Lorde howe that our money is spent, my Lorde also hadde oure cattell and beastes, neyther is there oughte lesse in the syght of my Lorde, but euen our bodies and our landes. Wherefoze lettest thou vs dye befoze thine eyes, and the land to go to nought? Bye vs and our landes for bread, and both we and our landes will be bound to Pharaos. Only geue vs sede, that we may lyue and not dye, and that the lande goe not to waste. And so Joseph bought all the lande of Egypt for Pharaos. For the Egyptians solde euery manne his land because the detty was foze vpon the, so the land became Pharaos. And he appointed the people vnto 7 cities, fro one syde of Egypt vnto the other: only the land of the Priestes bought he not. For the Priestes had an ordinance of Pharaos, that they shoulde eate that whiche was appoynted vnto them: which Pharaos hadde geuen them, wherefoze they solde not their landes. Then Joseph sayde vnto the folke: Beholde, I haue bought you this daye, and your lande for Pharaos. Take there bread, and seede, and sowe land. And of the encrease, ye shall geue the fyfte part vnto Pharaos, and sower partes shall be your owne, for the seede of the field and for you, and them of your householdes, and for youre chyldren to eate. And they answered: Thou hast saued our liues.

Lette vs fynde grace in the syght of my Lorde, and wee will be Pharaos seruantes. And Joseph made it a lawe ouer the lande of Egypt vnto this day: that Pharaos shoulde haue the fyfte part, except the land of the Priestes onely, which was not Pharaos. And Israel dwelt in Egypt: euen in the countrey of Gosan. And they had their possessions therin, and grew and multiplied exceedingly. Whereouer Jacob liued in the land of Egypt. xlii. yeres, so 7 the whole age of Jacob was an hundred and. xlii. yere. When the tyme dyce we nye, that Israel muste dye, he sent for his sonne Joseph, and sayde vnto him: If I haue founde grace in thy sight, Oh put thy hande vnder my thigh, and deale mercifully and truly with me, that thou bury mee not in Egypt, but I will lye with my fathers, and thou shalt carrye me out of Egypt, and burye me in their buriell. And he answered: I will do as thou haste sayde. And he sayde: sweare vnto me, and he swore vnto him. And Israel worshipped toward the beds head.

After these deedes it happened, that a messenger sayd vnto Joseph: thy father is sicke. And he toke with him his two sonnes, Manasses and Ephraim. Then was it laide vnto Jacob: beholde thy sonne Joseph cometh vnto thee. And Israel toke his strength vnto him, and latte vpon the bed, and Jacob sayde vnto Joseph: O D D almighty appeared vnto me at Aus in the land of Canaan, and blessed me, and said vnto me: behold, I will make thee grow, and wil multiply thee, and wil make a great number of people of thee: and wil geue this lande vnto thy seide after thee, vnto an everlastinge possession. And nowe thy two sonnes Manasses and Ephraim, whiche were borne vnto thee in the lande of Egypt, befoze I came to thee into Egypt, are myne: euen as Ruben and Simeon are myne. And Joseph toke them awaye fro his lappe, and worshipped on the ground before him. Then toke Joseph them both: Ephraim with his right hande to ward Israels left hand, and Manasses with his left hand to ward Israels right hande, and broughte theym vnto him. And Israel stretched out his right hand, and layde it vpon Ephraims head, whiche was the yonger, and his left hand vpon Manasses head, guiding his handes wisely, for Manasses was the elder. And he blessed Joseph and sayde: God before whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac did walke, God which hath fed me al my lyfe long vnto this day, and the angell which hath deliuered me from all euill, blesse the laddes: and let my name be named in them, and the name of my fathers Abraham, and Isaac, and that they maye growe into a multitude in the middes of the earth. When Joseph sawe that his father layde his right hand vpon the head of Ephraim, it displeased him. And he lifted vppe his fathers hande, to haue remoued it from Ephraims head vnto Manasses heade. And Joseph sayd vnto his father: Not so my father, for this is the eldest. Put thy right hand vpon his head. And his father would not but sayd: I knowe it wel my son,

These are the names of the children of Israel, which came to Egypt with Jacob, every man came with his household: Ruben, Simeon, Leui, & Iuda, Issachar, Zabulon, & Benjamin, Dan, Nephtali, Gad & Aser. increased, and multiplied, and waxed exceeding mightie: and the lande was full of them. But there rose vp a new king in Egypt, which knew not Joseph. And he said vnto his folke: Behold, the people of the children of Israel, are greater and mightier then we. Come on, lette vs plague wylfully with them, lest they multiply, and lest it happen that (yf there chaunce any warre) they ioyne them selues vnto our enemies, and fyght agaynst vs, and so get them out of the land. Therefore dyd they set taskmasters ouer them, to keepe them vnder with burdens. And they buyt vnto Pharaos, treasure cities, Whiron, and Ramesses. But the more they vexed them, the more they multiplied & grew, so that they abhorred the children of Israel. And the Egyptians held the children of Israel in bondage without mercye. Therefore was their lyfe bitter vnto them in that cruell bondage, in clay and bricke, and al maner of worke in the fieldes. For all their bondage which they serued them, was full of tyrannye. And the kinge of Egypte saide vnto the midwives of the Hebrewes women, of whiche, the ones name was Serphoja, and the other Phua, when ye do the office of a midwife to the women of the Hebrewes, and see in the birth tyme that it is a boye, ye shall kille it. But yf it be a daughter, it shall liue. Notwithstanding, the midwives feared God, and did not as the kinge of Egypte commanded them: but saued the men children. And the kinge of Egypte called for the midwives, and said vnto them: Why haue ye done on this manner, and haue saued the men children. And the midwives answered Pharaos, that the Hebrewes women are not as the women of Egypte: for they are sturdy women, and are deliuered ere the midwives come at them. And God therfore delte well with the midwives. And the people multiplied and waxed very mightie. And it fortuned because the midwives feared God, he made them houses. And Pharaos charged all his people, saying: All the men children that are bozne cast into the river, & saue the mayd children aliae.

And there went a man of the house of Levi, & toke a daughter of Levi. And the wife conceived and bare a sonne. And when she sawe that it was a proper childe, she hid him thre moneths: And when she coulde no longer hide him, shee toke a baskette of bulrushes and daubed it with aspe and pitch, and layed the childe therein, and put it in the flagges by the riuers brinke. And his sister stood a farre off to wete what would come of it. And the daughter of Pharaos came downe to washe her selfe in the ryuer, and her maidens walked along by the riuers side. And when she sawe the baskett among the flagges, she sente her mayde to fetch it. And when she hadde opened it, she sawe it was a childe: and behold, the babe wept. And she had compassion on it, and saide, it is one of the Hebrewes children. Then saide his sister vnto Pharaos daughter: That I go and cal vnto thee a nurse of the Hebrewes women, to nurse the childe. Pharaos daughter answered her: Go, and the maid ran and called the childe mother. To whome Pharaos daughter saide: Take this childe a waye, and nurse it for me, I will rewarde thee. And the woman toke the childe, and nursed it vp. The childe grew, and she brought it vnto Pharaos daughter, and it was made her son, and she called the name of it, Moses because (saide she) I tooke him out of the water. And it happened in those daies, when Moses was waxed great, that he went out vnto his brethren, & looked on their burdens, and spied an Egyptian smyting an Hebrew, which was one of his brethren. And he looked round aboute, and when he sawe no man by, he slew the Egyptian, and hyd him in the sande. And when he was gon out another day beheld two Hebrewes

And their complaynt came vnto God from the bondage: and God hearde their mone. And God remembred his promise with Abraham, Isahac, and Jacob. And I will get this people fauour in the sighte of the Egyptians: so that when ye goo, ye shall not go empty: but a wife shall beow of her neyghbour, and of her that sojourneth in her house, as well as of siluer and of golde, and rayment. And ye shall put them on youre sonnes and daughters, and shall robbe the Egyptians.

The. liij. Chapter.

Moyses answered and sayde: See, they will not beleue mee, nor hearken vnto my voyce, but will saye: The Lord hath not appeared vnto thee. And the Lord sayde vnto him: What is that whiche is in thine hande: he answered: a Rodde. And he sayde: Cast it on the grounde, and he caste it on the grounde, and it became a Serpente: and Moyses fledde from the sighte of it. And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses: Putte sooth thine hande, and take it by the tayle, and therefore he put sooth his hande and caughte it, and it became a rodde in his hande. For this thing (sayth he) shall they beleue thee, that the Lord God of theyr fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath appeared vnto thee. And the Lord sayde farther moze vnto him: Thruste thine hande into thy bosome: and he thruste his hande into his bosome: and when he tooke it out agayne, beholde, his hande was leprouous euen as snowe. And he said: Put thine hande into thy bosome agayne. And he put his hande into his bosome agayne, and plucked it out of his bosome: and beholde, it was torne agayne as his other fleshe. Therfore if they will not beleue thee, neyther heare the voyce of the first token, yet will they beleue for the voyce of the seconde token. But and if they will not beleue the two signes, neyther hearken vnto thy voyce, thou shalt take of the water of the riner, and powre it vppon the drye lande: And the water, whiche thou takest oute of the Riner, shall tourne vnto Bloude, vppon the drye lande. Servant: but I am nowe monthed, and nowe tonged. And the Lord sayd vnto him: whoe hath made mannes mouth, or who hath made the dumbe or the deafe, the seeing or the blinde: haue not I the Lord? Therefore. I will bee with thy mouth, and teache thee what thou shalt saye. He sayde: Oh my Lord, sende I praye thee by the hande of him whome thou wilt sende. And the Lord was angry with Moses, and sayde: doo not I knowe Aaron thy brother the Leuite, that he can speake? For loe, he commeth forth to mee: and when he seeth thee, he will be glad in his hearte. Therefore thou shalt speake vnto him, and put these wordes in his mouth, and I will be with thy mouth, and with his mouth, and will teache you what ye ought to doo. And he shall bee thy spokesman vnto the people: he also shall be to thee in steede of a mouth, and thou shalt bee to him in steede of God, and thou shalt take this rodde in thy hande, wherewith thou shalt do miracles. Therefore Moses went and returned to Jethro his father in lawe agayne, and sayde vnto him: I will go now, and turne agayne vnto my brethren which are in Egypt, and see whether they bee yet aliv. And Jethro sayd to Moses: go in peace. And the Lord saide vnto Moses in Midian: go and retourne agayne into Egypt: for they are deade which went aboute to kill thee. And Moses toke his wife, and his two sonnes, and put them on an asse, and wente agayne to Egypt, and Moses tooke the rod of God in his hande. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: when thou arte entred and come into Egypt agayne see that thou do all these wonders before Pharaos which I haue putte in thy hande: but I will holde a his hearte, and he shall not let the people go. And thou shalt say vnto Pharaos: thus sayeth the Lord: Israel is mine eldest sonne, and I haue sayde vnto thee: that thou shouldest let my sonne go, that he may serue me. And thou wouldest not lette him go: beholde, I will • see thine eldest sonne. And is chaunced by the waye in the inne, that the Lord met him, and wold haue killed him. And Zephoza tooke a stone, and cut away the foreskin of her son: and set at his feet, and sayde: a bluddy husband art thou vnto me: for he let him go. And shee sayde a bluddy husband, because of the circumcision. The Lord sayd the Lord vnto Aaron: go meeete Moses in the wilderness. And he went and met him in the mount of God, and kissed him. And Moses told Aaron all the wordes of the Lord which had sent him, and all the tokens whiche he had charged him withall. So went Moses and Aaron, and gathered all the elders of the children of Israel. And Aaron tolde all the wordes whiche the Lord had spoken vnto Moses, and did the miracles in the sight of the people, and the people beleued. And when they herd that the Lord had visited the children of Israel, and had looked vpon their tribulation, they bowed theyr head, and worshipped.

Exo. 10. c

Moses and Aaron went in afterward, and tolde Pharaos, thus sayth the Lord God of Israel: let my people go, that they may keepe holy day vnto me in the wilderness. And Pharaos sayd: who is the Lord, that I should heare his voyce, and let Israel go? I knowe not the Lord, neither wil I let Israel go. And they sayd: the God of the Hebrewes hath met with vs: and therefore will we go thre days tourney into the desert, and sacrifice vnto the Lord our God: lest there happen vnto vs, eyther pestilence or swerde. Then sayde the king of Egypt vnto the: wherfore do ye (Moses and Aaron) let the people fro their worke? get you vnto your laboz. And Pharaos sayde furthermore: beholde, there is much people nowe in the land, and ye make them leaue their worke. And Pharaos commaunded the same daye vnto the Taskemay: men which were amonge the people, and vnto the officers, sayinge: ye shall gene the people noo moze strawe, to make bricke withal, (as ye did in time passed,) let them goe and gather them strawe theym selues, and the number of bricke whiche they were wont to make in tyme passed, laye vnto theyr charges also: and minishe nothinge thereof. For they be ydle, and therfore crye, sayinge: we will go and doo sacrifice vnto our G O D. They must haue moze woorkes layed vpon them, that they maye labour therein, and not regard haine woordes. Then went the taskemasters of the people and the officers oute: and tolde the people.

¶ Thus sayeth Pharaos: I will gene you no moze strawe, go your selues and gather you strawe where ye can finde it, yet shall none of your labour be minished. And soo were the people scattered abroade throughout all the lande of Egypte for to gather stubble in freede of strawe. And the taskemasters haded theym forwarde, sayinge: fulfill your worke daye by daye, euen as if yee had strawe. And the officers of the childrenne of Israel whiche Pharaos tolde masters hadde set ouer them, were beaten. And they sayd vnto them: wherfore haue ye not fulfilled your taske in makinge bricke, both yesterdaie and to daye, as well as in times paste? The officers also of the childrenne of Israel came and complained vnto Pharaos, sayinge: wherfore dealest thou thus with thy seruantes? there is no strawe geuen vnto the seruantes, and they sayd vnto vs to make bricke. And the Egyptians are beaten, and thy people is foule threatened. He sayde, yole are yee, yole, and therfore ye saye: we will go and doo sacrifice vnto the Lorde. Go therfore now, and worke, and they shall no strawe be geuen you, and yet shall yee deliuer the whole tale of bricke. And the officers of the childrenne of Israel didde with heuines looke on them, that sayde, yee shall minishe nothinge of your dayly makinge of bricke. And they mette Moyses and Aaron, which hadde in their waye as they came out from Pharaos, and sayde vnto theim: The Lorde loke vpon you, and iudge you, which hath made the sauours of vs thinke in the eyes of Pharaos, and in the eyes of his seruantes, and haue putte a swerde in their hande to slea vs. Moyses retourned vnto the Lorde, and sayde: Lorde, wherfore hast thou deake cruellie with this people, and wherfore hast thou sent me. For since I came to Pharaos to speake in thy name, hee hath sared soule with this folke, and yet thou haste not deliuered thy people at all. Then the Lorde sayde vnto Moyses. Howe shalte thou see what I will doo vnto Pharaos, for in a mightye hande shall he let them goe and in a mightye hande shall he driue them out of his lande. Exod. 14

Moreover. I made an appointement with theym, to geue them the lande of Canaan: the lande of their pilgrimage, wherin they were straungers. And I haue also hearde the groninge of the childrenne of Israel, whome the Egyptians keepe in bondage, and haue remembred my covenante. wherfore saye vnto the childrenne of Israel. I am the Lorde. Exo. 8. a.

Then wente Moyles and Aaron in vnto Pharaos, and bidde euen as the Lorde hadde commaunded. And Aaron caste forth his Rodde befoze Pharaos, and befoze his seruantes, and it turned to a Serpent. Then Pharaos called for the wise men, and enchaunters: and those wise men of Egypte bidde in lyke maner with their sojcerpe. For they caste downe euery manne his rodde, and they turned to serpentes: but Arons rodde did eate vp their rodde: and Pharaos heart was hardened, so that he hearkened not vnto theym, euen as the Lorde had sayde. The Lorde also sayd vnto Moles: Pharaos heart is hardened, he refuseth to lette the people go: Gette thee vnto Pharaos in the morning. Lo, he will come vnto the water, and thou shalt stand vpon the riuers brink against he come and the Rodde whiche turned to a Serpente, shalt thou take in thine hande: and thou shalt say vnto him: The Lord GOD of the Hebrewes hath sent me vnto thee, saying: Let my people go, that they maye serue me in the wildernes: And beholde, hitherto thou wouldest not heare. Thus sayth the Lorde: In this thou shalt knowe that I am the Lorde. Beholde, I will smite (with the staffe that is in mine hande) the water that is in the riuier, and it shall turne to blood. And the fishe that is in the riuier shall dye, and the riuier stinke: and it shall greue the Egyptians to drinke of the water of the riuier. And the Lorde spake vnto Moles, say vnto Aaron: Take thy staffe and stretche oute thine hande ouer the waters of Egypte, ouer their streames, ouer their riuers and ponde, and all pooles of water, which they haue, that they maye be bloudd: and that there maye be bloude throughte oute all the lande of Egypte: bothe in vessels of wood, and also of stone. And Moyles and Aaron bidde euen as the Lorde commaunded. And he lift vp the staffe, & smote the waters that were in the riuier in the sight of Pharaos, and in the sighte of his seruantes, and all the water that was in the riuier, turned into blood. And the fishe that was in the riuier dyed, and the riuier stanke: and the Egyptians coulde not drinke of the waters of the Riuier. And there was bloudd throughout all the lande of Egypte. And the enchaunters of Egypte did likewise with their sojceries, & he hardened Pharaos heart: neyther didde he harken vnto theym, as the Lorde had sayde. And Pharaos turned him selfe, and wente awayne into his house, and sette not his hearte therre vnto. And the Egyptians digged rounde aboute the riuier for water to drinke, for they coulde not drinke of the water of the riuier. And it continued a weeke after that the Lorde had smitten the riuier.

The. viij. Chapter.

The Lorde spake vnto Moyles: Go vnto Pharaos, and tell him, thus sayth the Lord. Lette my people go, that they maye serue me. If thou wilt not lette them go: Beholde, I will smite all thy border with frogges: And the riuier shall scraule with frogges, whiche shall goe vp, and come into thy house, and into thy priue chamber where thou sleepest, and vpon thy bedde, and into the house of thy seruantes, and vpon thy people, and into thine ouens, and vpon thy meates. And the frogges shall come vpon thee, and on thy people, and vpon all thy seruantes. And the LORD spake vnto Moles: Saye vnto Aaron: Stretche forth thine hande, with thy rod ouer the streames, ouer the Riuers, and ouer their ponde, that thou mayst bring by frogges vpon the lande of Egypt. And Aaron stretched his hande ouer the waters of Egypt, and the frogges came by, and couered the land of Egypt. And the sojcerers did likewise with their sojcerie, and brought frogges by vpon the lande of Egypt. Then Pharaos called for Moyles and Aaron, and sayde:

And so the frogges shall departe from thee, and from thy houses, from thy seruants, and from thy people, and shall remain in the riuer onely. Moses and Aron went out from Pharaao, and Moses cryed vnto the Lord vpon the appointment of frogges, which he had made vnto Pharaao. And the Lord did according to the saying of Moses. And the frogges dyed oute of the houses, oute of the courtis and fieldes. And they gathered them together vpon heapes, and the lande stanke of them. But when Pharaao sawe that he had rest geuen him, he hardened his hearte, and hearkened not vnto them, as the Lord had sayde. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: saye vnto Aaron : Stretche oute thy Rodde, and smite the duffe of the lande, that

For Aaron stretched oute his hande, and with his rod he smote the duffe of the earth, whiche tourned to lyece in manne and beaste, so that all the duffe of the lande tourned to lyece, throughout all the lande of Egypte. And the enchaunters assayed likewise with their enchauntementes to bring forth lyece: but they could not. And the lice were both vpon manne and beastes. The ix. Chapter.

The Lord sayde vnto Moses Go in vnto Pharaos, and thou shalte tell him: Thus sayeth the Lord God of the Hebrewes: • lette my people go, that they may serue me.
If thou wilt not lette them go, and wilt holde theim still. Beholde, the hande of the Lord is vpon thy stocke, whiche is in the fild: for vpon hoses, asses, camelles, oxen, and sheepe, there shalbe a mighty great mureyn.
And the Lord shall doo wonderfully betweene the beastes of Israell, and the beastes of Egypt: so that there shall nothinge dye of all that pertaineth to the children of Israell. And the Lord appointed a time, saying: To morrowe the Lord shall finishe this worde in the land. And the Lord did it on the morrow, and all the cattell of Egypt dyed: but of the cattell of the children of Israell died not one. And Pharaos sente, and beholde, there was not one of the cattell of the Israelites dead. And the heart of Pharaos was hardened that he woulde not lette the people go. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses and Aaron: Take poure hands full of ashes out of the soynace, and Moses shall spynkle it vpon the ayre, in the sight of Pharaos, and it shall turne to dust in all the lande of Egypt: that there maye be swellinge sores with blaines bothe on man and beast throughout all the lande of Egypt. And they toke out ashes oute of the soynace, and stode before Pharaos, and Moses spynkled it vpon the ayre: And there wer sores with blaynes both in men, and in beastes: and the soyneters could not stande before Moses, because of the blaynes, for there were botches vpon the enchanters, and vpon all the Egyptians. And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaos and he hearkened not vnto them, • as the Lord had said vnto Moses. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: Rise vp earlie in the morning, and stande before Pharaos, and thou shalt tell him: Thus sayeth the Lord God of the Hebrewes: • Lette my people goe, that they may serue me: or els I will at this time sende all my plagues vpon thine heart, and vpon thy seruantes and on thy people, that thou mayest knowe, that there is none like me in all the earth. For nowe I wil stretch out my hand, that I may smite thee, & thy people with pestilence: and thou shalt perish from the earth. And in very deede • for this cause haue I kepte thee, for to shew the my power, & that they might declare my name throughout all the world. Yet thou exaltest thy selfe against my people, that thou wilt not let them go: Beholde, to morrowe this time will I sende downe a mighty great haille: euen such a one as was not in Egypt, since it was grofded, vnto this time. Sende therefore nowe, and gather thy beastes, and all that thou hast in the fild. For vpon all the men and the beastes which are founde in the fild, and not broughte home, shal the haille fall, and they shall die. And as many as feared the word of the Lord among the seruantes of Pharaos, made their seruants, & they balds flee into the houses: but he that regarded not the worde of the Lord, left his seruantes and his beastes in the fild. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: Stretche forth thine hande vnto heauen, that there maye be haille in all the lande of Egypt: vpon man, and vpon beastes, and vpon all the herbes in the fild, throughout all the land of Egypt. And Moses stretched oute his Rodde vnto heauen: and the Lord thundred and hayled and the fyre ranne alonge vpon the the lande of Egypt, that there was hayle ſmote all the herbes of the field, and brake all the trees of the field, onely in the land of Gozan, where the children of Iſraell were, was no hail. And Pharaos ſent and called for Moſes and Aaron, and ſayde vnto them: I haue now ſinned: the Lord is righteous: and I and my people are vngodly. Praye ye vnto the Lord, for it is much that there ſhould be thunder of God, and hayle. I will lette you go, and ye ſhall tarpe no longer. Moſes ſayde vnto him: As ſoone as I am out of the citie, I will ſpreade abroad my hands vnto the Lord, and the thunder ſhall ceaſe, neyther ſhall there bee anye more hayle: that thou mayeſt knowe howe that the earth is the Lords. But I knowe that thou and thy ſeruauntes, yet feare not the face of the Lord God. And ſo the flaxe and the barley were ſmitten: for the barley was ſhot vp, and the flaxe was brouled: but the wheate and the Rye were not ſmitten: for they were late ſown. And Moſes went out of the citie from Pharaos, and ſprede abroad his hands vnto the Lord, and the thunder and hayle ceaſed, neyther rained it vpon the earth. And when Pharaos ſaw that the rayne and the hayle, and thunder were ceaſed, he ſinned again: and hardened his heart, he and his ſeruauntes. And the hert of Pharaos was hardened: neyther woulde he lette the children of Iſraell goe, as the Lord had ſayde, by the hand of Moſes.

And the Lord ſayde vnto Moſes: goe vnto Pharaos: for I haue hardened his hert, and the heart of his ſeruauntes, that I might put theſe my ſignes amongeſt them: and that thou tell in the audience of thy ſonne, and of thy ſonnes ſonne, what thinges I haue done in Egypt, and the miracles which I haue doone amonge them: that ye may knowe howe that I am the Lord. And ſo Moſes and Aaron came vnto Pharaos, and ſayde vnto him: Thus ſayth the Lord God of the Hebrewes: How long ſhall it be, or thou wilt ſubmit thy ſelfe vnto me? Lette my people go, that they maye ſerue me, or elles (if thou doo reſiſt) and wilt not let my people go, behold to morrowe will I bring greſhoppers into thy coaſtes, and they ſhall couer the face of the earth, that it can not be ſene, and they ſhall eate the reſidue which remaineth vnto you: and is eſcaped from the hayle: and they ſhall eate euery grene tree that beareth you fruite in the field: and they ſhall fill thy houſes, and all thy ſeruauntes houſes, and the houſes of all the Egyptians, after ſuch a maner as neyther thy fathers, nor thy fathers fathers haue ſene, ſince the time that they were vpon the earth vnto this daye. And he turned him ſelfe aboute, and wente out from Pharaos. And Pharaos ſeruauntes ſayd vnto him: How long ſhall he be a ſlander vnto vs? Let the men goe, that they maye ſerue the Lord theyy: God: knoweſt thou not, that Egypt is deſtroyed? And Moſes and Aaron were broughte agayne vnto Pharaos, and he ſayde vnto them: Go and ſerue the Lord your God. Who are they that ſhall go? And Moſes answered: We will go with our yong and with our olde: yea and with our ſonnes, and with our daughters, and with our ſheepe and with our oxen maſke we goe. For we muſt holde a feaſt vnto the Lord. And he ſayd vnto them: Lette it be ſo. The Lord be with you. When I lette you go, and your children, take herde, for ye haue ſome miſchiefe in hande.

Praye not ſoo: but goo they that are men, and ſerue the Lord: for that was poure deſyre. And they thruſte them out of Pharaos preſence. And the Lord ſaid vnto Moſes: Stretch out thine hande ouer the lande of Egypte for greſhoppers, that they maye come vpon the lande of Egypte, and eate ate all the herbes of the lande, and all that the hayle left behinde. And Moyses stretched forth his rodde ouer the land of Egypt, and the Lord brought an eastwinde vpon the lande all that daye, and all that night. And in the morning the eastwinde brought the greeshoppers, & the greeshoppers went by ouer all the lande of Egypt, and remayned in all quarters of Egypte very greuouslye. Before them were there no such greeshoppers, neyther after them shalbe, for they couered al the face of the earth, so that the lande was darke. And they did eat all the herbes of the lande, and all the fruites of the trees, and whatsoeuer the hayle had left: there was no grene thinges left in the trees and herbes of the field throughe all the lande of Egypte.

¶ Therefore Pharaos called for Moyses and Aaron in haste, and sayde: I haue synned agaynst the Lord your God and agaynst you: And nowe forgiue me my sinne only this once, and pray vnto the Lord your God, that he may take away from me this death onely. And Moyses went out from Pharaos, and prayed vnto the Lord: And the Lord turned a mightie stronge westwind, and it toke away the greeshoppers, and caste them into the red sea, so that there was not one greeshopper in all the coast of Egypt. And the Lord hardened Pharaos heart, so that he would not let the children of Israell go. And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses: stretch out thy hande vnto heauen, that there maye be vpon the lande of Egypt darkenes whiche maye be felte. And Moyses stretched forth his hand vnto heauen, and there was a thicke darkenes vpon all the lande of Egypt thre dayes longe: no man sawe another, neyther rose vppe from the place where he was by the space of thre dayes: but all the children of Israell had light where they dwelled. And Pharaos called for Moyses, and sayde: go, and serue the Lord, onely let your shepe, and your oxen abyde, and let your children go with you. And Moyses said: Thou muste giue vs also offeringes, and burnt offeringes for to sacrifice vnto the Lord our God: our cattel also shall go with vs, and there shall not one hofse be left behinde, for thereof muste we take to serue the Lord our God. Anyther do we knowe what we shall offer vnto the Lord, vntill we come thither. But the Lord hardened Pharaos heart, and he would not let them go. And Pharaos sayd vnto him: get thee fro me, and take heede to thy selfe, and see my face no moze. For when soeuer thou comest in my sighte, thou shalt dye. And Moyses saide: let it be as thou hast sayde, I will see thy face no moze.

¶ And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses: yet wil I bring one plague moze vpon Pharaos and vpon Egypt, and after that he will let you go hence. And when he letteth you go he shall bitterly driue you hence.

¶ Speake thou therfore in the eares of the people, that euery man bozowe of his neybour, and euery woman of her neybour: icwels of syluer, & icwels of golde. And the Lord shal geue the people fauoure in the sight of the Egyptians. Moreover Moyses was very great in the lande of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaos seruantes, and in the sight of the people. And Moyses saide: thus sayeth the Lord: At midnight will I go out into the middes of Egypt, and all the fyrst bozne in the lande of Egypt shall dye, euen from the fyrst bozne of Pharaos, that sitteth on his seate, vnto the fyrst bozne of the mayde seruaunt that is behind the myll, and all the fyrst genyzed of the cattell. And there shalbe a greate crye througheout all the land of Egypt, suche as there was neuer none lyke, nor shall be. But amonge the children of Israell, shall not a dogge moue his tongue, nor yet man or beaste: that ye maye knowe howe that the Lord (by a greate miracle) putteth a difference betweene the Egyptians and Israell. And these thy seruautes shall all come downe vnto me, and sal befoze me, and say: get thee out and all the people that are vnder thee, and then will I depart. And he went oute from Pharao with an angry countenance. And the Lord sayd vnto Moses: Pharao shall not heare you, that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt. And Moses and Aaron did all these wonders, (and tokens which are written) befoze Pharao. And the Lord hardened Pharaos heart, so that he would not let the children of Israel go oute of his lande.

AND the Lord spake vnto Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, saying: This moneth shall be vnto you the beginninge of monethes: and the first moneth of the yere shall it be vnto you. Speake ye vnto all the congregation of Israel saying: In the .x. daye of this moneth euery man take vnto him a lambe, according to his house of the fathers, a lambe throughout euery house. If the household be to litle for the lambe, let him take his neighbour whiche is nexte vnto his house, according to the number of the soules: euery one of you, according to his eatinge, shall make your count for a lambe. And let the lambe of yours be without blemishe, a male of a yere olde, whiche ye shall take out from among the shepe, or fro amonge the goates. And ye shall kepe him vntill the .xiiii. daye of the same moneth. And euery man of the multitude of Israel shall kill him aboute euen. And they shall take of the blood and strike it on the two side posts, and on the vpper doze post euen in the houses, where they shall eat him. And they shall eat the fleshe the same nighte roasted with fire: and with vnleuened breade, and with sowze hearbes they shall eat it. See that ye eat not thereof rawe nor sodden in water, but roast with fire: the heade, feete, and purtenaunce therof, And ye shall let nothing of it to remayne vnto the morning. That which remaineth of it vntill the morninge, shall ye burne with fire. Of this maner shall ye eat it: with your loynes girded, and your shooes on your feete, and your staves in your handes. And ye shall eat it in hast: for it is the Lords passe ouer: for I will passe thorough the lande of Egypt this same nighte, and will smite all the first borne in the land of Egypt both of man and beast, and vpon all the goodes of Egypt will I the Lord doo execution. And the bloude shall be vnto you a token in the houses wherein ye are. And when I see the bloude, I will passe ouer you, and the plague shall not be vpon you to destroye you. When I smyte the lande of Egypt. And this day shall be vnto you a remembrance: and ye shall kepe it holy vnto the Lord: euen throughout your generations shall ye kepe it holy day, that it be a custome for euer. • Seuen dayes shall ye eat vnleuened breade: and the first daye ye shall put away leuen out of your houses. For whosoever eateth leuened breade from the first day vntill the seventh daye, that soule shall be plucked oute from Israel. • The firste day shall be an holy conuocation, and the seventh day shall be an holy conuocation vnto you. There shall be no maner of worke done in the, save about that onely whiche euery man muste eat, that onely may ye do. And ye shall obserue vnleuened breade. For this same daye haue I brought your armie out of the lande of Egypt, therfore ye shall obserue this daye, and all your children after you, by a custome for euer. The first moneth and the fourteenth day of the moneth at euen, ye shall eat sweete breade, vnto the .xvi. day of the moneth at euen againe. Seuen dayes shall there be no leuened breade found in your houses. And whosoever eateth leuened breade, that soule shall be rooted oute from the multitude of Israel: whether he be a stranger or borne in the lande.

Ye shall eat nothing leuened: but in the children of Israel, that they turne and remaine before Pi hi-

For Pharaos will saye of the children of Israel: they are tangled in the land, the wilderness hath shut them in. And I will harden Pharaos heart, that he shall folowe after you: and I will get me honour vpon Pharaos and vpon all his hoste, the Egyptians also shall knowe that I am the Lord. And they did euen so. And it was tolde the Kinge of Egypt that the people fled.

And the heart of Pharaos and of his seruautes turned agaynst the people.
And they sayde: whye haue we this done, that we haue let Israel go out of our seruice: and he made ready his charettes, and tooke his people with him, and tooke sixe hundred chosen charettes, and all the charettes of Ehe folowed after the children of Iswherefore haste thou serued vs thus, for to carpe vs oute of Egypte? Did not we tell thee this in Egypte, sayinge: lette vs be in rest, that we maye serue the Egyptians? For it had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egi-ptians, then for to dye in the wilderness.

And Moyses sayde vnto the people:

• feare ye not, stande still, and beholde howe the Lord shall saue you this daye. For ye that haue sene the Egi-ptians this daye, shall see them no more for euer. The Lord shall fight for you, and ye shall holde your peace. And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses: wherefore cryest thou vnto me? speake vnto the children of Israel that they go forwarde. But lift thou vp thy rod, and stretch out thy hande ouer the sea, and deuide it a sunder: and let the children of Israel go on drye ground throughe the middell of the sea. And beholde I will harden the heart of the Egi-ptians that they maye folowe them.

And I will get me honour vpon Pharaos, and vpon all his hoste, and vpon his charettes, and vpon his knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue gotten me honour vpon Pha-

And the anngell of God which went before the hoste of Israel remoued, and began to go behinde them. And the cloude pillar that was before the face of them, began to stande behinde them, and came betweene the hoste of the Egyptians, and the hoste of Israel. It was also a darke cloude, and gaue light by night: and all the night longe the one came not at the other.
And Moyses stretched forth his hande ouer the sea: and the Lord caried awaye the sea by a verye stronge made the sea drye lande, and the waters were dryed. And the children the waters were a wal vnto them, on the Egyptians sayde: let vs flee from the face of Israel: for the Lord sighteth for them agaynst the Egyptians.

And the Lord sayde vnto Moyles: stretche out thine hande ouer the sea, that the waters may come agayne vppon the Egyptians, vpon his charets, and vpon his hoxsemen. And Moyles & stretched fourth his hande ouer the sea, and it came agayne to his course early in the morning, and the Egiptians fled agaynst it. And the Lord of the sea, and the water returned and couered the charets and the hoxsemen, and all the hoste of Pharaos that came chuldren of Israel walked vpon drie lande: throughe the middest of the sea:

hand of the Egyptians: and Israel saw the Egyptians dead vpon the sea syde. And Israel sawe that mightie power whiche the Lord shewed vppon the Egyptians: and the people

Then Moyles and the chuldren Exo. 15. b. of Israel sange this song vnto the Lord, and sayd: I will syng vnto the Lord: for he hath triumphed gloriously, the horse and him Esa. 12 a. that rode vpon him, hath he overthre-wn in the sea. The Lord is my strength and prayse, and he is become my saluation. He is my God, and I will glorifie him, my fathers god, & I will exalte him. The Lord is a man of warre. The Lord is his name.

Pharaos charettes and his host hath he caste into the sea. His chosen captaynes also are drowned in the red sea, the depe waters haue covered them, they sunke to the botome as a stone.
Thy righte hande Lord, is become glorious in power: thy righte hande Lord hath all to dashed the enemye.
And in thy great gloz thou hast overthowen them that rose vp agaynst thee: thou sentest fourth thy wrath whiche consumed them euen as stubble. Thowowe the winde of thy nostrels the water gathered together, the flowdes floode still as an heape, and the depe water congeled together in the harte of the sea. The enemye sayde: I will folowe on them, I will ouertake them, I will deuyde the spyle, I will satysfy my luste vpon them, I will drawe my sword, mine hand shall destroy them. Thou blestedst with thy winde, the sea couered them, they sunke as leade in the migh-tye waters. Who is like vnto thee O Lord among gods? Who is like thee, so glorious in holynesse, fearefull in prayse, shewing wonders? Thou stretchedst out thy righthand, the erth swallowed them. Thou in thy mercye hast carped this people whiche thou deliueredst: and hast brought them in thy strength vnto thy holy habitatio.
The nations heard and were afrayd, sozowe came vpon the Philistines.
Then the dukes of the Edomites were amased, and the mightiest of the Moabites, trembling, came vpon them: all the inhabitants of Canaan waxed faynt harted.

Let feare and drede fall vpon them in the greatnes of thine armye, let them be as still as a stone, till people passe thorowme, O Lord: while this people passe thorow which thou hast gotten.
Thou shalt bring them in, and plant them in the mountayne of thine encircuance: the place Lord which thou hast made for to dwell in: the sanctuary of the Lord, which thy handes hath prepared. The Lord shall regne euer & alway. For Pharaos hoyle wente in with his charettes and hoylemen into the sea, and the Lord brought the waters of the sea vpon the. But the children of Israel went on dry land in the midst of the sea. And Miriam a prophetesse the sister of Aaron, toke a timbrell in her hande, and all the women came out after her with timbrells and daunced. And Miriam sang before them: Sing ye vnto the Lord: for he hath triumphed gloriously: the hoyle and rider hath be ouerthrowen in the sea. And so Moses broughte Israel from the red sea, and they went out into the wilderness of Sin. And they went three dayes long in the wilderness, and founde no waters. And when they came to Mara, they could not drinke of the waters of Mara: for they were bitter: therefore the name of the place was called, Mara (that is to saye bitterness.) And the people murmured agaynst Moses, saying: what shall we drinke? And he cried vnto the Lord: and the Lord shewed him a tree, which when he had caste into the water, the waters wer made sweete. There he made them an ordey-nance and a lawe, and there he proued him, and sayde: If thou wilt harken vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his sight, and wilt geue eare vnto his commandementes, and kepe al his ordinaunces: then wil I put none of these diseases vpon thee which I brought vpon the Egyptians: for I am the Lord that healeth thee.

The .xvi. Chapter.

The children of Israel came to Elim, where were .xiiij. wells of water, and .lxx. palme trees, and they abode there by the waters.
 And they toke their iorney fro Elim: and at the whole company of the children of Israel came to the wilderness of Sin, which is betwene Elim and Sin: the .xv. daye of the .ii. moneth after they departing out of the lande of Egypt. And the whole multitude of the children of Israel murmured agaynst Moses and Aaron in the wilderness, and the children of Israel sayde vnto them: woulde to God we had dyed by the hande of the Lord in the lande of Egypt, when we sat by the fleshepottes, and when we did eate bread our belies full: for ye haue brought vs out into this wilderness, to kill this hole multitude with hunger. Then sayde the Lord vnto Moses: behold I will rayne bread from heauen to you: and the people shall go out, and gather day by day, that I may proue them whether they will walke in my lawe or no. The .vi. daye they shal prepare for the selues that which they will bring in, and let it be twice as much as they gather in dayly. And Moses and Aaron sayde vnto all the children of Israel: at euen ye shall knowe that it is the Lord, which brought you out of the land of Egypt: and in the morning ye shall se the glory of the Lord, because he hath heard youre grudginges agaynst the Lord.

 And what are we that ye haue murmured agaynst vs? And Moses said: At euen shal the Lord geue you flesh to eat, & in the morning bread ynough: for the Lord hath heard youre murmurings which ye murmur agaynst him: for what are we? your murmurings are not agaynst vs, but agaynst the Lord. And Moses spake vnto Aaron: Say vnto all the company of the children of Israel, come sooth before the Lord: for he hath heard your grudginges. And as Aaron spake vnto the whole multitude of the children of Israel, they looked towarde the wilderness: and beholde the gloire of the Lord appeared in the cloude.
 And the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying: I haue heard the murmuring of the children of Israel. Tell them therefore and saye: at euen ye shall eate fleshe, and in the morninge ye shalbe filled with bread, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord your God.

And when the dewe was fallen, behold, it laye upon the grounde in the wilderness, small, and rounde, and thin as the hoze froste on the grounde. And when the children of Israel sawe it, they sayd euery one to his neyghbour: It is Manna. For they wist not what it was. And Moyses sayde vnto them: this is the breade whiche the Lord hath geuen you to eate. This is the worde whiche the Lord hath commaunded: gather it euery man for him selfe to eate: a gomer full for a man, according to the number of you: and take euery man for them which are in his tent. And the children of Israel did euen so, and gathered some more, some lesse: and when they did mete it with a gomer vnto him that hadde gathered much, remayned nothing ouer, & vnto him that had gathered little, was there no lacke: euery man gathered sufficient for his eating. And Moyses sayde vnto them: He that no man let ought remayne of it till the morninge. And they gathered it all morninges, euery man for his eatinge. And as soone as the heate of the sunne came, it melted. And the sixte daye they gathered twice so muche breade, two gomers for one man: and all the rulers of the multitude came and tolde Moyses. He saide vnto them: this is that whiche the Lord hath sayde: to morrow is the rest of the holy Sabbath vnto the Lord: bake that which ye will bake, and sethe that ye will sethe: and that which remayneth, laye it by till the morninge. And they layde it by till the morning, as Moyses bad: and it stanke not, neither bid there any worme therein. And Moyses sayd: that eate this day: for it is the Sabbath vnto the Lord: to day ye shall not finde it in the field,

2. Cor. 8.

Sixte dayes shall ye gather it: and in the seuenth daye whiche is the Sabbath, there shalbe none. Notwithstanding, there went out some of the people in the seuenth daye for to gather, and they founde none. And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses: howe long refuse ye to kepe my commaundmentes and my lawes? He, the Lord hath geuen you a Sabbath, therefore he graunteth you the sixt day breade, for two dayes. Wile therefore euery manne at home, and let no man go oute of his place, the seuenth day. And the people rested the seuenth day. And a house of Israel called it Manna. And it was like vnto Coriander seede, white: and the taste of it was like vnto wayters made with honey. And Moyses sayd: this is that whiche the Lord commaundeth, fill a gomer of it, whiche may be kept for youre children after you, that they may se the bread wherewith I haue fed you in wilderness, when I brought you out of the lande of Egypt. And Moyses spake vnto Aaron: take a cruſe, and put a gomer full of Manna therein, and laye it by before the Lord, to be kept for your children after you. As the Lord commaunded Moyses, so Aaron layed it by before the testimony to be kept. And the children of Israel did eate Manna fourtie yeare, vntill they came vnto a lande inhabited. And so they did eate Manna, euen vntill they came vnto the borders of the land of Canaan. A gomer is the tenth part of an Ephah.

AND all the compaigne of the children of Israel throught out their armies, wente from the wilderness of Sin, after the commaundement of the Lord, and pitched in Raphidim: where was no water for the people to drinke. And the people chide with Moyses, & saide: geue vs water to drinke. Moyses sayd vnto the why childre ye with me? wherefore do ye tempte the Lord? Here the people thyrded for water, and the people murmured agaynst Moyses, and said: Ex. 20. • Wherefore hast thou thus brought vs out of Egypt: to kill vs, and our children and catel, with thirst. And Moyses cryed vnto the Lord, saying: what shal I do vnto this people: they be almost ready to stone me. And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses: go before the people, and take with thee of the elders of Israel, and thy rod wherewith thou smotest the riuer, take in thyne hande, and go. Beholde, I stande before thee beside a rocke that is in Horeb: thou shalt smite the rocke, & there shal come water out therof, that the people may drinke. • And Moyses did euen so before the eyes of the elders of Israel. And he called the name of the place Deut. 98. • Massa and Meriba, because of the chydying of the children of Israel, and because they tempted the Lord, saying is the Lord among vs or not? Then came Amalech & fought with Israel in Raphidim. And Moyses said vnto Iosua: chole vs out men, & go fight with Amalech: and to morowe I will stand on the top of the hill, and the rod of God shalbe in my hand. Iosua did as Moyses bad him, and fought with Amalech. And Moyses, and Aaron, & Hur went vp to the toppes of the hill. Ex. 20. And it happened that when Moyses helde vp his hande, Israel hadde the better: And when he lette his hande downe, Amalech had the better. But Moyses handes were heuie, and therefore they take a stone and put it vnder him, and he sat downe thereon. And Aaron and Hur stayed vp by his handes, the one on the one syde, and the other on the other side. And his handes remayned stedie vntill the goyng downe of the sunne. And Iosua discomfeted Amalech and his people, with the edge of the sword. And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses: write this for a remembraunce in a booke, and committe it vnto the eares of Iosua: for I will bitterly put out the remembrance of Amalech from vnder heauen. And Moyses made an antler and called the name of it. The Lord is he that wrought miracles for me. For he sayd: the hand is on the seat of God, the Lord will haue war with Amalech, from generation to generation.

The. xliii. Chapter.

Jethro the priest of Madian, Moyses father in law, heard of all that God had done for Moyses, and for Israel his people: and that the Lord had brought Israel out of Egypt. • Therefore he took Zethora Moyses wife, (After he had sent her backe) and her two sonnes: of which the one was called Gerson, for he sayde: I haue bene an aliant in a strange lande. The name of the other was Eliezer: for the God of my father (sayde he) was mine helpe, and deliuered me from the sword of Pharaoh. And Zethro Moyses father in law came with his two sonnes, and his wife vnto Moyses into the wilderness, where he abode by the mount of God. And he sayde vnto Moyses: I thy father in lawe Zethro, am come to thee, and thy wife also, and her two sonnes with her. And Moyses went out to mete his father in lawe and did obeysaunce, and kysed him, and cache asked other of his health: & they came into the tente. And Moyses tolde his father in lawe, all that the Lord had done vnto Pharaoh, and to the Egyptians for Israels sake, and all the traouaile that had happened them by the waye, and howe the Lord deliuered them. And Zethro reioysed ouer all the goodnesse which the Lord had done to Israel, and because he had deliuered the out of the land of the Egyptians. And Zethro said: blessed be the Lord which hath deliuered you out of the hand of Egyptians, & out of the hand of Pharaoh, which hath also deliuered his people fro the captiuitie of the Egyptians. Nowe I knowe that the Lord is greater then all goddes: for in the thinge whereby they dealt cruelly with them, are they themselves perished. And Zethro Moyses father in law offered burnt offerings, & sacrifices vnto God. And Aaron and all the elders of Israel came to reioyce with Moyses father in lawe before.

before God. And it chanced on the morrow, that Moses sat to iudge the people, and the people stood about Moses from morninge vnto euen. And when Moses father in lawe sawe all that he did vnto the people, he sayde: What is this that thou doest vnto the people? why sittest thou thy self alone and all the people stand about thee from morninge vnto euen? And Moses sayd vnto his father in lawe: Because the people come vnto me to seke counsell of God: Whenne they haue a matter, they come vnto me, & I iudge betwene euerie man and his neighbor, and shewe them the ordinaunces of God, and his lawes. And Moses father in lawe sayd vnto him: It is not well that thou doest. Thou both wearyest thy selfe, and this people that is with thee: for this thinge is of more weyght, then thou arte able to per-forme thy selfe alone: heare now therfore my voyce, and I will geue thee counsell, and God shall be with thee. We thou vnto the people to godward, that thou mayst bring the causes vnto God, and thou shalt teache them ordinaunces and lawes, and shewe them the way, wherin they must walk, and the wordes that they must do. Moreover, thou shalt seke out among all the people, men of activitie, and such as feare God: true men, hating couetousnesse: and make them heads over the people, captaynes over thousandes, over hundredes, over fiftie, and over tenne: and let them iudge the people at all seasons.

 And euerie great matter that happeneth, let them bring vnto thee, but let them iudge all small causes them selves: and so shal it be easier for thy self, and they shal beare with thee. If thou shalt do this thing, (and God charge thee withall) thou shalt be able to endure, and yet the people shal come to their place in peace. And so Moses obeyed the voyce of his father in lawe, and did all that he had sayde: and chose activie men out of all Israel, and made them as heads over the people: namely by captaynes over thousandes, over hundredes, over fiftie, and over tenne,

And they iudged the people at all seasons, but brought the hard causes vnto Moses: and iudged all small matters them selves. And Moses let his father in lawe depart, and he went in to his owne lande.

In the thirde moneth, when the children of Israel were gone out of the land of Egypt the same day cam they into the wilderness of Sinai: For they were departed from Raphidim, and were come to the deserte of Sinai, and had pitched their tentes in the wilderness: And there Israel abode before the mount. But Moses went by vnto God, and the Lord called him out of the mountayne, sayinge: Thus shalt thou say vnto the house of Jacob, and tell the children of Israel: Ye haue seene what I did vnto the Egyptians, and tooke you vp vpon Eagles wings, and haue broughte you vnto my selfe. Nowe therefore, if ye will heare my voyce in deede, and kepe my appointment, ye shal be mine owne abode all nations: for all the earth is mine. Ye shall be vnto me also a kingdome of priests, and an holy people: and these are the wordes, which thou shalt saye vnto the children of Israel. Moses came and called for the Elders of the people, and layde before their faces, all these wordes which the Lord commaunded him. And the people answered all together, and sayde: All that the Lord hath sayd: we will doe. And Moses broughte the wordes of the people vnto the Lord. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: Lo, I am come to thee in a thicke cloud, that people may heare me talking with thee, & beleue thee for ever. Moses shewed the wordes of the people vnto the Lord. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: Go vnto the people, and sanctifie them to daye, and to morrow, and let them walke in their clothes: and be ready against the thirde daye. For the thirde daye the Lord will come come downe in the sighte of all the people, vpon mounte Synay. And thou shalt set markes rounde aboute the people, and say: beware that ye go not vp into the mounte, or touche the border of it. Whosoever toucheth the mounte, shall surely dye: There shall not an hande touche it: Els he shall be stoned or shot through: whether it be beast or manne, it shall not liue: When the trumpe bloweth longe, then may they come vpp into the mountayne: And Moyses wente downe from the mounte vnto the people, and sanctified them, and they washed their clothes. And he sayde vnto the people: be ready agaynst the thirde daye, and come not at poure wyues. And the thirde daye in the morninge there was thunder, and lighteninge, and a thicke cloude vpon the mount, and the voyce of the trumpe exceeding loude: so that all the people that was in the hoste, was asrayde. And Moyses broughte the people out of the tentes, to mete with God, and they stood vnder the hill. And mount Synay was altogether on a smoke: because the Lord descended downe vpon it in fire. And the smoke thereof ascended vp, as the smoke of a heele, and all the mount was exceeding fearefull. And when the voice of the trumpe blew, & waxed lowder and lowder: Moyses spake & God answered him by a voice and the Lord came downe vpon mount Synay, euen in the top of the hill: and when the Lord called Moyses vp into the top of the hill, Moyses went vp. And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses. Go downe charge the people, that they preace not vp to see the Lord, and soo manye of them perishe. And let the priestes also which come to the Lord, sanctifie themselves, least the Lord destroye them. And Moyses sayd vnto the Lord: the people cannot come vp into the mount Synay, for thou chargedst vs saying: sette markes aboute the hill, and sanctifie it. And the Lord sayd vnto him: away, and get thee downe, and thou shalt come vp, thou and Aaron with thee. But let not the priestes and the people presume for to come vpp vnto the Lord, least he destroy them. And so Moyses went downe vnto the people and tolde them.

And God spake all these wordes, and sayd: I am the Lord thy God which haue broughte thee out of the lande of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt haue none other Goddes in my sight. Thou shalt make thee no graven ymage, nether any similitude that is in heauen aboue, eyther in the earth beneath, or in the waters vnder the earth. Thou shalt not worship them: neither serue theym: for I the Lord thy God am a zelouse God, and visite the sin of the fathers vpon the children vnto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me, and shewe mercye vnto thousandes, in them that loue me, and kepe my commaundementes. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vayne, for the Lord will not holde him guiltlesse that taketh his name in vayne. Remember the Sabbath day that thou sanctifie it. Sixe dayes shalt thou labour, and do all that thou hast to doo, but the seventh daye is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God, in it thou shalt do no manner of worke, thou and thy sonne, and thy daughter, thy man seruante and thy maide seruante, thy cattel, and the stranger that is within thy gates. For in sixe dayes the Lord made heauen and earth, the sea, and all that in them is: and rested the seventh daye, wherefore the Lord blessed the seventh day and hallowed it. Honour thy father and thy mother, that thy dayes may be longe in the lande, whiche the Lord thy God geueth thee.

- Thou shalt not kill.
- Thou shalt not breake wedlocke.
- Thou shalt not steale.
- Thou shalt not beare false witness: agaynst thy neyghbour.

Thou shalt not couete thy neyghbours house, neyther shalt thou couete thy neyghbours wife, or his man seruant, or his maide, or his oxe, or his asse.

And the xx. Chapter.
These are the lawes which thou shalt set before them. If thou bye a seruante that is an Hebrew, sixe yeares he shall serue: and in the seuenth he shall go oute free, payinge nothinge. If he came alone, he shall go out alone. And if he came married, his wyfe shall go out with him. And if his master haue geuen him a wyfe, and she haue borne him sonnes or daughters: then the wyfe and her children shalbe her masters, & he shall goo out alone. And if the seruante say: I loue my master, my wyfe, & my children, I will not go oute free, his master shall bring him vnto the Iudges, and set him to the doze, or the doze poste, and his master shall boze his eare throught with an awle: and he shalbe his seruant for ever. And if a man sell his daughter to be a seruant, she shall not goo oute as the men seruants doo. Yf she also please not her master, and he geue her to no man to wife, then shall he let her go free: to sell her vnto a strange nation shall he haue no power, seeing he despised her. If he haue promised her vnto his son to wife he shal deale with her, as men do with their daughters. And yf he take him another wyfe, yet her foode, her raymente, and due tyte of mariage, shall he not minishe. And if he do not these thre vnto her, then shall she go oute free, and paye no money. • He that smyteth a man that he dye, shalbe slaine for it. If a man laye not awaye, but God deliuer him into his hande, then I will poynte thee a place whither he shall flee. If a man come presumptuously vpon his neyghbour to slea him with gyle, thou shalt take him from mine altar that he dye. He that smyteth his father or his mother, let him be slayne for it. • He that stealeth a man and selleth him, (if it be proued vpon him) shall be slayne for it. • And he that curseth his father or mother, shalbe put to death for it. If men strue together, and one smite another with a stone, or with his fist, and he dye not but lyeth in bed: if he rise agayne and walke withoute vpon his lasse, then shall he that smote him, go quite, saue only he shal bere his charges for lesing his time, and shal pay for his healing. And if a man smite his seruant or his mayd with a rod, & they dye vnder his hande, it shalbe auenged in deede. And yf they continue a daye or two, it shal not be auenged, for they ar his money. Yf men strue and hurt a womā with child, so that her fruit depart fro her, and yet no misfortune folowe: the shal he be merced according as the womā hus bande will laye to his charge, and he shall pay as the dayes men appoint him. • And if any misfortune folowe, then shall he paye life for life, • eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hande for hande, foot foote for foote, burning for burning, wounde for wound, stripe for stripe. And if a man smite his servant or his mayd in the eye, & it perish, he shall let them go free for the eyes sake: Also if he smite out his servant or his maydens tooth, he shall let them go out free for the toothes sake. If an oxe goze a man or a woman that they dye, then the oxe shall be stoned, & his flesh shall not be eaten: but the owner of the oxe shall go quite. If the oxe were wont to push in time past, and it hath bene told his master: and he hath not kepte him, but that he hath killed a man or a woman: then the oxe shall be stoned, and his owner shall dye also. If the beast set to him a summe of money, then he shall give for the deliverance of his life, whatsover is put vnto him. And whether he hath gozed a sonne, or hurte a daughter, he shall be served after the same maner. But if he be a servant or a mayd that the oxe hath gozed, then he shall give vnto their master .xxx. sicles of silver, & the oxe shall be stoned. If a man open a well or dig a pit, and couer it not, and an oxe or an asse fall therein, the owner of the pit shall make it good, and give money vnto their master: and the dead beast shall be his. If one mans oxe hurt anothers that he dye: then they shall sell the live oxe, and deuide the money: and the dead oxe also they shall deuide. Or if it be knowne that the oxe hath bled to pushe in times past, & his master hath not kept him, he shall pay oxe for oxe, and the dead shall be his owne.

If a man steale an oxe or sheepe, and kill it or sell it, he shall restore foure oxen for an oxe, - and foure sheepe for a sheepe. If a theefe be founde bytakinge by and be smitten that hee dye, there shall no bloude be shed for him, but if the same be by when he is found, then there shall be bloudshed for him. & theefe shall make restitution: If he haue not wherewith, he shall be sold for his thefte. If the thefte be founde in his hande alive, (wher ther it be oxe, asse, or sheepe) he shall restore double. If a man do hurt field or byneparde, and putte in his beaste to feede in another mans field: of the bras of his owne field, and of the beaste of his owne byneparde, shall he make restitution. If fyre breake oute and catch in the thornes, and the stacks of corne or the standing corne, or field be consumed therewith, he that kindled the fyre shall make restitution. If a man deliuer his neighbour money or stuffe to keepe, and it be stolen oute of his house: If the theefe be founde, let him paye double. And if the theefe be not founde, then the Goodman of the house shall be brought vnto the iudges (And shall sweare.) whether he haue put his hand vnto his neighbours good. And in all maner of trespass, whether it be for oxen, asse, sheepe, rayment or any maner of lost thinge which another chalengereth to be his, the cause of both parties shall come before the iudges: And whom the iudges condemne let him pay double vnto his neighbour. If a man deliuer vnto his neighbour to keepe, asse, oxe, sheepe, or whatsover beaste it be, and it dye or be hurte, or taken awaye (and no man see it:) then shall an othe of the Lord be betwene them, that he hath not put his hands vnto his neighbours good, and the owner of it shall take the othe, and the other shall not make it good. And if it be stolen from him, then he shall make restitution vnto the owner thereof. If it be tozned with wilde beastes, then let him bringe recorde of the tearing, and he shall not make it good. And if a man borrowe ought of his neighbour, and it be hurte or is dye, and the owner thereof be not by, he shall make it good. But if the owner thereof be by, he shall not make it good: namely, if it be an hyed thinge, and came for his hye. If a man entice a maide that is not betrothed, & lye with her, he shall endote her, and take her to his wife. And if her father refuse to geue her vnto him, he shall paye money accordinge to the dowrye of Virginnes. Thou shalt not suffer a witch to liue. 13e. 23e. lesse or vnfruitfull in the lande: the number of thy dayes will I fulfill.

I will sende my fear before thee: and will trouble all the people whither thou shalt goe. And I will make all thyne enemies turne their backs vnto thee, and I will sende hoznates before thee, whiche shall dresse out the Heuites, the Cananites, and the He-thites before thee. Nevertheless I will not caste them oute in one yere, least the land grow vnto wilderness, and the beasts of the fieide multiply agaynst thee. By little and little I will dresse them out before thee vntill thou be increased, and inherite the lande, and I will make thy coastes from the red sea vnto the sea of Philistines, and from the deserte vnto the riuer. For I will deliuer the inha-biters of the lande into thyne hande, and thou shalt dresse them out before thee. Thou shalt make none appointment with them nor with their gods.
Neither let them dwell in the lande, least they make thee sinne agaynst me: for if thou serue theyr gods, it shall be thy decaye.

And he sayde vnto Moses: come vp vnto the Lord: thou & Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and the lxx. elders of Israel, and ye shall worship a far of. And Moses himselfe alone shall go vnto the Lord, but they shall not come nye, neither shall the people go vp with him. And Moses came, and tolde the people. all the wordes of the Lord, & al the lawe.
And all the people answered with one voyce, and sayde: all the wordes whiche the Lord hath sayde, will we do. And Moses wrote all the wordes of the Lord, and rose vp early, and set up an aultare vnder the hill, and xiiij. stones accordinge to the .xiiij. tribes of Israel: and sente younge men of the children of Israel, whiche broughte burnte offerings, and offered peace offeringes of oxen vnto the Lord.
And Moses tooke halfe of the bloud, and put it in basens, and the other halfe he sprinkled on the aultare.
And he toke the booke of the appoyntmente, and red it in the audience of the people. And they sayde: All that the Lord hath sayde, we will do, and be obedient. And Moses toke the bloud and sprinckled it on the people, and sayde: beholde, this is the bloud of the appoyntmente whiche the Lord hath made with you vppon all the wordes. Then wente Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, & the lxx. elders of Israel vp, and saw the God of Israel, and there was vnder his feete, as it were a worke of a Saphir stone, and as it were the heauen wher it is cleare and vpon the nobles of the children of Israel, he sette not his hande. And they sawe God, and did eate and drinke. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: come vp to me into the hill, and be there, and I will geue thee tables of stone, and a lawe, & commaundements, which I haue written, that thou mayest teach them. And Moses rose vp and his minister Jehosua, and Moses went vp into the hill of God.

and sayd vnto the elders: tarrye here vntill we come agayn vnto you. Beholde, here is Aaron, and Hur with you: If any man haue any matters to do, let him come to them. And Moses went vp into the mount, and a cloude covered the hill, and the glorie of the Lord abode vpon mount Sinay, and the cloude covered it. vi. dayes. And the seventh day he called vnto Moyses out of the cloude. And the fashion of the glorie of the Lord was lyke consuming fire on the toppe of the hill in the sight of the chyldren of Israel. And Moyses went into the cloude, and got him vp into the mountayne. And Moyses was in the mounte. xl. dayes, and. xl. nightes.

The. xxi. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel that they bring me an heane offering: of euery man that getteth it willinglye with his hearte, ye shall take it. • This is the heueoffering which ye shall take of them, golde, and siluer, and brasse: yelowe silke, purple, scarlette, whyte silke, and goates heare, rams skynnes that are red, and the skynnes of Caruas, and Sethim wood, oyle for light, spices for annointinge oyle, and for sweete cense, Onyx stones, and stones to be set in the Ephod, and in the byest lap. And let them make me a sanctuary (that I may dwell among them.) And accordyng to al that I shew thee both after the fashion of the habitacion, and after the fashion of al the ornaments thereof, euen so shall ye make it. And they shall make an Ark of Sethim wood, two cubites and an halfe longe, a cubite and a halfe broad, and a cubite and an halfe hye. And thou shalt ouerlape it with pure golde: within and without shalt thou ouerlay it, and shalt make one hye vpon it, a crowne of golde rounde about it. And thou shalt caste foure ringes of golde for it, and put them in the foure corners thereof: two ringes shalbe in the one side of it, and two in the other. And thou shalt make barres of Sethim wood, & coner them with golde: and put the barres in the ringes along by the sides of the arke, to bere it with all. And the barres shall be in the ringes of the arke, and shall not be taken awaye from it. And thou shalt put in the arke, the witnesse whiche I shall geue thee. And thou shalt make a mercyseate of pure golde, two cubits and an halfe longe, and a cubite and a halfe broad. And thou shalt make two Cherubins of golde: Euen of a whole worke shalt thou make them in the two endes of the mercyseate: and the one Cherub shalt thou make on the one ende: and the other on the other ende. Euen of the same mercyseate shall ye make Cherubins in the two endes thereof. And the Cherubins shall stretch their wings aboue ouer an hye, couering the mercyseate with their winges, and their faces shall loke one to another: euen to the mercyseate wards, that the faces of the Cherubins be. And thou shalt putte the mercyseate aboue vpon the arke, and in the arke thou shalt put the witnesse whiche I will geue thee. And from thence I will testifie vnto thee, & will common with thee from vpon a mercyseate: from betwene the two Cherubins whiche are vppon the arke of witnesse, of all thing whiche I will geue thee in commandement vnto the chyldren of Israel. • Thou shalt also make a table of Sethim wood of two cubits long, and one cubite broad, and a cubite and an halfe hye. And thou shalt coner it with pure gold, & make thereto a crowne of golde, rounde aboute. And make vnto that an hoope of foure fingers broad, rounde about. And make for it foure ringes of gold, and put the ringes in the corners that are on the foure seete thereof: euen ouer agaynst the hoope shall the ringes be, to put in barres, to beare the table withall. And thou shalt make the barres of Sethim wood, and ouerlay them with golde, that the table maye be borne with them. And thou shalt make his dishes, and spones, flatpeeces, and pottes, to poyse out withall: euen even of fine gold shalt thou make the. And thou shalt set upon the table, the bread before me alwaye. And thou shalt make a candlestick of pure gold, even of a whole worke shal the candlestick be made, with his shaft, braunches, bolles, knoppes, and floures proceeding therout: Sixe braunches also shal procede out of the sides of it: thre braunches of the candlestick out of the one side, & thre out of the other. The Cuppes lyke vnto Almondes, with knops and floures in one braunch, and thre cuppes like almondes in the other braunch, with knoppes and floures. And even so throughtout the sixe braunches that procede out of the candlestick: and in the candlestick set four cuppes like vnto almondes, with their knops and floures: and ther shalbe a knop vnder every two braunches (in thre roundes) of the sixe that procede out of the candlestick: And the knoppes and the braunches shalbe of it. And it shal be one worke, even of pure golde. And thou shalt make the seven lamps of it, and the seven lamps therof, shalt thou put an hie thereon, to geue light vnto the other side that is ouer, agaynst it. The tongs and snuffers therof, shalbe of pure golde. Of an hundred pound waight of fine gold shalt thou make it with all the apparel. Looke therfore that thou make them after the fashion that was shewed in the mount.

The Tabernacle shalt thou make with ten curtaynes of whyte twyned silke, purple, and scarlet. And in them shalt thou make pictures of bordered worke. The length of one curtayne shalbe eyght & twenty cubites, and the breadth of one curtayne foure cubites, and every one of the curtayns shal haue one mesure. v. curtaynes shalbe coupled together: one to another. And thou shalt make losopes of yelowe silke, along by the edge of the one curtayne whiche is in the selvedge of the coupling curtaine. And likewise shalt thou make in the edge of the vntmost curtain that is to be coupled therewith on the other side. Fifty losopes shalt thou make in thone curtaine, and fifty losopes shalte thou make in the edges of the curtayn that is to be coupled therewith on the other side, that the losopes maye take holde one of another. And thou shalt make fyftie buttons of gold, and couple the curtaynes together with the buttons, and it shalbe one habitation. And thou shalt make .xj. curtaynes of goates heare, to be a couering vpon the tabernacle. The lengthe of a curtayne shalbe thirtie cubites, and the breadth fower, and they shalbe all .xj. of one measure. And thou shalt couple fine curtaynes by them selues, and the sixe by them selues, and shalte double the sixt in the forefront of the tabernacle. And thou shalt make fyftie losopes in the edge of the vntmost curtayne on the one side: even in the edge of the coupling curtayne, and fifty losopes in the edge of the other curtayne: that must be toynd vnto it. And thou shalt make fifty buttons of brasse, and put them on the losopes, and couple the couering together, that it maye be one. And the remnaunte that resteth in the curtaynes of the couering: even the halfe curtayne that resteth, shalbe left on the backesides of the habitation, that a cubite on the one syde, and a cubite on the other side, may remain in the lengthe of the curtaynes of the couering, and that it may remayne of eyther syde of the habitation, to couer it withall. And vpon the tabernacle thou shalt make a couering of Rams skynnes, dyed red: and yet a couering aboue all of taxus skynnes. And thou shalt make bozdes for the habitation of Sethim wood, to stande vpright: ten cubites long shal every bozde be, and a cubite and an halfe brode. Two fete shal there be in one bozd, and they shalbe separte one from another.

And thus shalte thou make for all the bozders of the tabernacle. And thou shalt make .xx. bozdes for the habitation on the Southsyde, and thou shalt make .xj. sockettes of silver vnder the twentie bozdes, two sockettes vnder one bozde, for his two feete, and two sockettes vnder an other bozde for his two feete. In like maner in the north side of the habitation there shall be .xx. bozdes, and .xl. sockettes of siluer, two sockettes vnder one boozde, and two sockettes vnder an other boozde. And in the west end of the habitation, shalt thou make sixe bozdes, and two boz-des shalt thou make in the corners of the habitation in the meetyng together of the two sides. And they shal-be coupled together beneth, and lykewise aboue to a ryng. And thus shall it be for the two bozdes that are in the corners. And they shalbe eyght booz-des hauinge sockettes of syluer, euen fyfeteene sockettes: that there may be two sockettes vnder one boozde, and two sockettes vnder another boozde.

 And thou shalt make barres of Sethim wood, fise for the bozdes of the tabernacle in one syde, and fise barres for the bozdes of the tabernacle in the other side, and fise barres for the boz-des of the tabernacle in the west end.
 And the myddle barre shall goe a-longe throughe the myddes of the bozdes, from the one ende vnto the other. And thou shalt couer the booz-des with golde, and make theyr ryngges of golde, to put the bars throughe, and thou shalt couer the barres with golde also. And thou shalt reare by the habitation according to the fasshon thereof, as it was shewed thee in the mount. And thou shalt make a bayle of pealowe silke, of purple scarlette, and whyte twined silke of bro-ded woork with ppyctures shalt thou make it. And hange it vpon foure pylers of Sethim wood cou-uered with golde. Whose heades shall bee of golde, standyng vpon foure sockettes of syluer. And thou shalt hange vpe the bayle with ringes, that thou mayest hynge in (within the bayle) the arke of wytnesse.
 And the bayle shall vnto pou, denyde the helpe from the molke holp. And thou shalt put the mercye seate vpon the arke of wytnesse in the holpelle place. And thou shalt putte the table without the baile: and the candlestick ouer agaynst the table, on the south-side of the habitation. And put the table on the northside. And thou shalt make an hanginge for the doze of the tabernacle of pealowe sylke, purple, scarlet, & whyte twined silke, wrought with needle woork. And thou shalt make for hanginge, fyue pylers of Sethim wood, and couer them with golde, and theyr knoppes shall be of golde, and thou shalt caste fyue sockets of brasle for them.

And thou shalt make an alter of Sethim wood, fyue cubits long, and fyue cubites bryde.
 For it shalbe foursquare, and thre cu-bites hie. And thou shalt make it hones in the foure corners of it: the hones shalbe of it selfe, and thou shalt couer it with brasle, and make his ashe pannes, thowls, basens, fleshehookes, fyue pannes, and all the apparell therof for the same, of brasle. And thou shalt make vnto it a greddierne also (like a net) of brasle. And vpon that net shalt thou make foure brasen ringes in the foure corners thereof: and thou shalt put it vnder the compasse of the alter beneth, that the nette maye be in the myddes of the alter. And thou shalt make two barres for the alter of
 brasle, and let them be put in ringes alonge by the fydes of the alter to beare it withall. And make the alter holow with bozdes: euen as it was shewed thee in the mount, so shal they make it. And thou shalt make the court of the habitation, that ther maye be in the south side hanginges of whyte twined silke, of an hundred cubites long, for one side, and twenty pylers therof, with their twenty sockettes of brasle: but the knoppes of the pillers and their whopes shalbe syluer.
 In likewise on the northsyde, there shalbe hanginges of an hundred cu-bites long, and twenty pylers with their twenty sockettes of brasle, and the knoppes and the whopes of syluer.
 And the breadth of the court which is eastwarde shall haue fiftie cubites: hangings of fiftene cubites in the one side: and their pillars with theyr thre sockettes: and likewise on the other side shalbe hangings of fiftene cubites, with theyr thre pillars and sockettes. And in the gate of the Court shalbe a bayle of twentie cubites of yeralowe silke, purple, and scarlet, and white twined silke, wrought with needle worke: and foure pillars with their foure sockettes. All the pillars rounde about the court, shalbe whorped with siluer, and their knops shalbe of siluer, and their sockettes of brasse. The length of the court shalbe an hundred cubites, and the breadth fiftie, and the height five. And the hangings shall bee of white twined silke, and their sockettes of brasse. All the vessels of the habitation in all maner seruice, and the pinnes thereof: yea and all the pinnes also of the Court shall bee of brasse. And thou shalt commaund the children of Israel, that they geue the pure oyle Olive beaten for the light, to put it alway into the Lampes. In the Tabernacle of witness without the bayle which is before the witness shall Aaron and his sonnes dwell it, bothe eueninge and morninge before the Lord: and it shalbe a Statute for ever vnto the generations of the children of Israel.

And take thou vnto thee Aaron thy brother, and his sonnes with him, from amonge the children of Israel, that they maye minister vnto me: Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar, Aarons sonnes. And thou shalt make holy rayment for Aaron thy brother, that they maye bee vnto glorie and beautie. And thou shalt speake vnto all that are wise hearted, and whom sooner I haue filled with the Spirit of wisdom: that they make Aarons rayment to consecrate him with that hee maye minister vnto mee. These are the garments which they shall make, a Brellap, Ephod, a Cunicle, a Stroyte coate, a Myter, and a Girdle. These holy garments shall they make for Aaron thy brother and his sonnes, that they maye minister vnto me. And let them take golde, yeralowe silke, purple, scarlette, and white twined silke: They shall make the Ephod of golde, yeralowe silke, purple, scarlette, and white twined silke, with broyded woork. The twosides shall come together, and be closed vp in two edges therof. And the girdle of the Ephod shall bee of the same workmanship and of the same stuffe, euen of golde, yeralow silke, purple, scarlet, and white twined silke. And thou shalt take two Onix stones and graue in theym the names of the children of Israel: sixe names of them in the one stone, and the other sixe in the other stone: according to the order of their birth. After the woork of a stone grauer, and of him that graue signettes shalt thou graue the two stones with the names of the children of Israel: and shalt make theym to be sette in golde. And thou shalt put the two stones vpon the two shoulders of the Ephod, that they maye be stones of remembrance vnto the childrenne of Israel. And Aaron shall beare their names before the Lord vpon his two shoulders for a remembrance. And thou shalt make hokes of gold, and two cheynes of fyne golde, linke woork and wethed: and fasten the wethed cheynes to the hokes. And thou shalt make the brestlap of iudgement with broyded woork, euen after the woork of the Ephod shalt thou make it: namely of gold, yeralowe silke, purple, scarlet, & white twined silk, shalt thou make it. Forwelsquare it shalbe and double, an hand bredth long, and an hand breadth brode. And thou shalt fill it with foure rows of stones. In the first row shalbe a Sardios, a Topas, & a Smaragde in the second row, a Rubie, a Saphir & a diamond: in the thirde Agozios, an Ichat, & a Matiss: in the fourth, a Curcas, Onix, & a Jaspis. And they shalbe set in golde in their inclosures.

And the stones shalbe grauen as signet-D nettes be grauen, with the names of the childre of Israel, euen with twelue names, euery one with his name accordyng to the twelue tribes.
 And thou shalt make vpon the brestlappe, two fastenynge cheynes of pure golde and wytchen woork. And thou shalt make likewise vpon the brestlap two ringes of golde: and put them on the edges of the brestlap, and put two wytchen cheynes of golde in the two ringes which are in the edges of the brestlap. And the other two endes of the two cheynes, thou shalt fasten in two close hokes, and put them vpon the shoulders of the Ephod, on the foreside of it. And thou shalt yet make two ringes of golde, which thou maiest put in the two edges of the brestlappe, euen in the borders thereof, to-warde the inside of the Ephod, oueragaynst it. And yet two other ringes of gold thou shalt make, and put them on the two sides of the Ephod, beneth ouer agaynst the brestlap, alowe wher the sides are toynd together vpon the brodered girdle of the Ephod. And they shall binde the brestlappe by his ringes vnto the ringes of the Ephod with a lace of pealowe silke, that it may lye close aboute the brodered girdle of the Ephod: and that the brest-E lappe bee not loosed from the Ephod.
 And Aaron shall beare the names of the childre of Israel in the brestlap of iudgement vpon his hearte, when he goeth into the holie place for a re-membraunce before the Lord alwaye.
 And thou shalt put in the brestlap of iudgement. Urim and Thumin: and they shall be euen vpon Aarons heart, when he goeth in before the Lord: and Aaron shall beare the iudgemente of the childre of Israel vpon his heart before the Lord alwaye. And thou shalt make the tunicke vnto the Ephod altogether of pealowe silke. And there shall be an hole for the head in the middes of it, hauinge a bonde of women woork rounde aboute the collar of it, (as it were the collar of a parlet) that it rent not, And beneath vpon the hem, thou shalt make poungranates of pealowe silke, and of purple, and scarlette rounde aboute the hem, and belles of golde betwene them rounde aboute: and let there bee euer, a golden bell, and a poungranate, a golden bell and a pomgranate, rounde about by-vpon the hem of the tunicle. And Aaron shall haue it vpon him, when he ministrereth: and the sounde shall be heard when he goeth into the holy place before the Lord, and when he cometh out, he shall not dye. And thou shalt make a plate of pure golde, and graine thereon, as signets are grauen: The holynesse of the Lord: and put it on a pealowe silke lace to be vpon the myster, euen vpon the fore front of it. And it shall be vpon Aarons forehead: that Aaron may beare the signe of the holy thinges which the childre of Israel hallowe in all their holie giftes.

 And it shall be alwayes vpon his forehead, for the reconciling of them before the Lord. And thou shalt make a linnen coate, and thou shalt make a miter of linnen, and a girdle of neede woork. And thou shalt make for Aarons sonnes also cotes, girdles and bo-nets, glorious and beswift: and thou shalt put them vpon Aaron thy brother, and on his sonnes with him: and shalt annoynt them, and fill their handes, and sanctifie them, that they may minister vnto me. And thou shalt make the linnen breeches to couer their priuities: from the loynes vnto the thies shall they reche. And they shall be vpon Aaron and his sonnes, when they come into the tabernacle of witnes, or when they come vnto the autare to minister in holynesse, that they beate no sinne, and so dye. And it shall be a lawe for euer vnto Aaron and his seede after him.

The xxiiij. Chapter.

This thing also shalt thou doo vnto them, when thou halswest them to bee my priests: Thou shalt take a calfe, euen a pong ore, and two rammes that ar without blemish, and vnto the hynde and calves of

kes of sweete breade, tempered with oyle, and wafers of sweete breade anoynted with oyle (of wheaten flour shalt thou make the) and put the in the maund, and bying them in the maund with the calfe and the two rammes. And bying Aaron and his sons vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witnesse, and washe them with water, and take the garmentes, and put vpon Aaron: the troyte cote, the tunicie of the Ephod, and the Ephod, and the byestlap: and girde them to him with the bordered girdle which is in the Ephod. And put the mytre vpon his heade: and put the holy crown vpon the mitre. Then shalt thou take the annoynsing oyle, and powze it vpon his head, and annoynt him. And bying his sonnes, and put albes vpon theym, and girde them with girdles, aswell Aaron as his sonnes. And putte the miters on theym, and the Priestes office shalbe theirs for a perpetuall lawe. And thou shalt fill the handes of Aaron and of his sonnes: and bying the calfe before the tabernacle of witnesse. And Aaron and his sonnes shall put their handes vpon the heade of the calf, & thou shalt kill him before the Lord, by the dooze of the tabernacle of witnesse. And take of the bloude of the calfe and put it vpon the boynes of the aultar with thy finger: and powze all the bloude beside the bothome of the aultare: and take al the fatte that couered the inwarde, and the kail that is on the liuer, and the two kidneys and the fat that is vpon them: and burne them vpon the aultar. But the flesch of the calfe, and his skin, and his dung shalt thou burne with fire, without the hoſte. It is a sinoffering. Thou shalt also take one ram, and Aaron and his sonnes shall put their handes vpon the head of the ram, and when thou haſte slaine the ram, thou shalt take his bloude, and sprinkle it round about vpon the aultare, and cutte the ram in peeces, and washe the inwarde of him, and his legges, and put them vnto the peeces and vnto his heade, and then burne

the whole ram vpon the aultar for a burnt offering vnto the Lord, and for a sweete sauoure and a sacrifice vnto the Lord. And take the other ramme, and Aaron and his sonnes shall putte their handes vpon his heade. Then shalt thou kill him, and take of his bloude, and put it vpon the tip of the righte eare of Aaron, and of his sonnes, and vpon the thumbe of their right handes, and vpon the great toe of theyr right foote, and sprinkle the bloude vpon the aultare round about. And thou shalt take of the bloude that is vpon the aultar, and of the annoynsing oyle, and sprinkle it vpon Aaron and his vestimentes, and vpon his sonnes, and vpon theyr garmentes with him. And he shalbe halowed and his clothes, and his sonnes, and their clothes with him. And thou shalt take the fat of the ram, and his rumpe, and the fatte that couereth the inwarde, and the kail of the liuer, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is vpon them, and the right shoulder: for the ram is a full offering: and a sinnell of breade, and a cake of oyle bread and a wafer out of the basket of sweete breade that is before the Lord: and put all vpon the handes of Aaron, and on the handes of his sonnes: and waue theym for a waue offering before the Lord. And agayne, thou shalt take it from of their handes, and burne it vpon the aultare for a burnt offering, to be a sauoure of sweetenes before the Lord: for it is a sacrifice vnto the Lord. And thou shalt take the byeste of the ramme of Arons consecration, & waue it for a waue offering before the Lord: and it shalbe thy part. And thou shalt sanctifie the byeste of the waue offering: and the shoulder of the heue offering, which is waued & breued by of the ra of the conuersatio, for Aaron & his sons. And it shalbe Arons & his sons by a statute for ever, of childre of Israel: for it is an heue offering: & an heue offering of childre of Israel & of their peace offerings. Their heue offerings is the lords. And holp garmentes of Aaron shalbe his sons after him, to be anointed therein, & to fill their hands therein. And that sonne that is priest in his stead after him, shall put them on seven daies: when he cometh into the tabernacle of witness to minister in the holy place. And thou shalt take the ram of the consecration and seeth his fleshe in an holy place.

Leui. 8. g

And Aaron and his sonnes shall eat the fleshe of the ram, and the bread that is in the basket, euen by the doze of the tabernacle of witness: & they shall eat thereof, because the attonement was made therewith, to fill their hands, and to consecrate them: but a stranger shall not eat thereof, because they are holy. And of ought of the fleshe of the consecration or of the bread remayne vnto the morninge, thou shalt burne it with fyre, & it shall not be eaten, because it is holy. Therefore shalt thou do vnto Aaron and his sonnes, euen so, according to all thinges which I haue commaunded thee: seven dayes shalt thou fill their hands, and offer euery day a calfe for a sin offering, for to reconcile withal, that thou maist cleanse the altar when thou reconcilest vpon it, and thou shalt anointe it, to sanctifie it. Seven dayes thou shalt reconcile vpon the altar, and sanctifie it, and it shall be as an altar most holye.

Ex. 27. a

Currye one that toucheth the altar, lette him bee holpe. This is that which thou shalt offer vpon the altar: euen two lambes of one yeare olde, day by day continually: the one thou shalt offer in the morninge, and the other at euen. And with the one lambe a tenth deale of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oyle, and the fourth part of an hin of wine for a drinke offering. And the other lambe thou shalt offer at euen, and shalt do thereto accordinge to the meate offering and drinke offering in the morning: to be an odour of a sweete sauour and a sacrifice vnto the Lord. And let this be a continual burnt offering among your children after you before the doore of the tabernacle of witness before the Lord, where I will meete you, to speake there vnto thee. There will I meete with the children of Israel, and will be sanctified in mine honour. And I will sanctifie the tabernacle of witness and the altar. And I will sanctifie also both Aaron and his sonnes to be my priests. And I will dwell among the childrenne of Israel: and will be their God. And they shall know that I am the Lord their God that brought them out of the lande of Egypt, for to dwell amonge them: euen I the Lord their God.

C. the xxx. Chapter.

And thou shalt make an altar to burne with incense: of Setherim woodde shalt thou make it, a cubite longe and a cubite broad: euen foote square shall it bee, and two cubites hye, the hornes thereof shall procede out of it: and thou shalt ouerlay it with fine golde, bothe the rooffe and the walles round about, and his hornes also: and shalt make vnto it a crowne of golde round about, and two golden rings on either side: euen vnder the crowne: that they may be as places for the bars to brare it with all. And thou shalt make the barres of Setherim wood, and couer them with golde. And thou shalt putte it before the vable that is by the arke of witness, before the merce seat that is vpon the witness, where I will meete thee. And Aaron shall burne thereon sweete incense euery morninge, when he doleth the lampes, euen then shall hee burne it: and likewise at euen when he setteth vpe the lampes, hee shall burne incense: and this incense shall bee perpetuallie before the Lord, throughout your generations. Yee shall putte noo strange incense thereon, or burnt sacrifice, or meate offering, neyther of wine anye drinke offering thereon. And Aaron shall reconcile vpon the hornes of it, once in a yeare with the bloude of the sin offering of reconcilinge: euen once in the yeare shall hee reconcile it thorough your generations. It is most holy vnto the Lord. And the Lord spake vnto Moses, sayinge: If thou takest the summe of the childzen of Israel after their number, they shal geue euery man a reconciling of his soul vnto γ Lord, when thou tellest them, that there be no plague amonge theym, when thou tellest them. And thus much shal euery man geue, that goeth into the number: halfe a sicke, after the sicke. of the sanctuary: a sicke is twentie half pence. In halfe sicke shal be the beue offering of the Lord. All that are numbyed fro twentie yere olde and aboue shal geue an beue offering vnto the Lord. The rich shall not passe, and the poze shall not go vnder halfe a sicke. But ye shal geue an beue offering vnto the Lord, that he may haue mercye vpon your soules. And thou shalt take the reconciling money of the childzen of Israel, and shalt put it vnto the vse of the tabernacle of witnesse: that it may be a memoriall vnto the childzen of Israel before the Lord, that he may haue mercye vpon your soules. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: Thou shalt make a laver of brasse, and his foote also of brasse, to wash withall, and shalt put it betwene the tabernacle of witnesse, and the altare, and put water therein. For Aaron and his sonnes shall washe their handes and their foete therein: euen when they go into the tabernacle of witnes, or when they go vnto the altare to minister and to burne the Lodes offeringe, they shall washe them selues with water, leaue they dye. And it shalbe an ordinance vnto theym for euer, both vnto him and his seede throughout their generations. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: Take vnto thee principall spices: of the most pure mirrue hundredth sicles, of sweete cynamon halfe so much, euen two hundred and fiftie sicles: of sweete calamus two hundred and fiftie: of cassia two hundred and fiftie, after the holy sicke: and of oyle olive an hyn. And thou shalt make of the oyle an holy opynmente, euen an opynmente compoynde after the crafte of the apocarye. And thou shalt annoint the tabernacle of witnes therewith, and the arke of witnes and the table, and all his apparell, and the candlesticke, and all his apparell: and the altare of incense, and the altare of burnt sacrifice, with all his vessels, and the laver and his foote. And thou shalt sanctifie theym, that they maye be holpe: so that no man touche them, but they that bee halowed. And thou shalt annoint Aaron and his sonnes, and consecrate theym, that they may minister vnto me. And thou shalt speake vnto the childzen of Israel, sayinge: this shalbe an holy opynmente vnto me throughout your generations. Vpon mannes fleshe shal it not be powred, ne yther shall ye make any other after the making of it, for it is holy: and shalbe holy vnto you: who soeuer maketh like that, or who soeuer putteth anye of it vpon a stranger, shall perish from amonge his people. And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses: take vnto thee sweete spices, baulme, Onicha, sweete Galbanum: these spices with pure franchincence, of eche lyke muche, and make of them sweete smelling incense, after the craft of the apocarye, mingled together, pure and holpe. And beate it to powder, and put of it before the witnes in the tabernacle of witnesse, where I will meete thee. It shalbe vnto you mosse holpe. And see that ye make none after the making of that. It shalbe vnto you holpe for the Lord. Whosoever shall make like vnto that to smell thereto, shall perishe from among his people.

Exo. xxxi. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: beholde, I haue called by name Bezaleel, the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Iur of the tribe of Iuda. And I haue filled him with the spirite of God, in wisdom and vnderstanding, in knowledge and in all maner of woꝝke, to find out subtil feates, and to woꝝke in gold, siluer and brasse: and in the crafte to sette stones, and to graue in timber, and to woꝝke in all maner of woꝝkeman-shippe. And beholde I haue geuen him to his companion, Ahiaiah the son of Ahisamah of the tribe of Dan, and in the heartes of all that are wise harted, haue I put wisdome to make all that I haue commanded thee, the Tabernacle of witnesse, the Arke of witnesse, and the mercysseate that is therupon: and all the ornaments of the Tabernacle, and the table and his ornaments, and the pure candlesticke with all his apparell, and the altare of incense: and the altare of burnt offerings, and all his vessels, and the laver with his foote. The vestimentes to minister in, and the holpe garments for Aaron the priest, & the garments of his sonnes to minister in, and the annoynting oyle: and sweete cense for the sanctuarie: according to all that I haue commanded thee, shall they doo. And the Lord spake vnto Moses, sayinge: speake vnto the children of Israel, and saye: In any wise see that ye kepe my Sabbothes: for it is a signe betweene me and you, in your generations, for to know that I the Lord am he that doth sanctifie you. Kepe my Sabboth therfore: for it is holy vnto you. He that defileth it, shall be slayne. For who soeuer worketh therein, the same soule shall be rooted out from among his people. Sixe dayes shall men worke: and in the seventh day is the Sabboth of the holy rest of the Lord. Whosoever doth any worke in the Sabboth day, shall dye: wherefore let the children of Israel kepe the Sabboth, that they obserue it throughout their generations, that it be an appoyntment for ever. For it is a signe betweene me and the children of Israel for ever. For in sixe dayes the Lord made heauen and earth: and in the seventh day he rested, and was refreshed. And when the Lord had made at ende of communinge with Moses vpon the mount Sinai, he gaue him two tables of witnes, euen Tables of stone, written with the finger of God.

The xxxii. Chapter.

And when the people saw that it was longe for Moses came downe out of the mountayne they gathered them selues together vnto Aaron, and sayde vnto him: Why make vs goddes to go before vs: for of this Moses (the fellowe that brought vs out of the land of Egypt) we wote not what is become. And Aaron sayde vnto them: Plucke of the golden earringes whiche are in the eares of your wiues, your sonnes and of your daughters: & bring them vnto me. And all the people plucked off the golden earringes, whiche they had in their eares, and brought them vnto Aaron. And he receaued them of their handes, and fashioned it with a grauer, and made of it a calfe of molten metall. And they sayde: These be thy Gods, O Israel, which brought thee out of the lande of Egypt. And when Aaron saw that, he made an altar before it. And Aaron cried saying: Tomorrow is the hely day of the lord. And they rose vp in the morning, and offered burnt offerings, and brought peace offerings also. And the people sat them down to eate and drinke, and rose vp agayne to play. And the lord sayde vnto Moses: Go, get thee down: thy people which thou broughtest out of the lande of Egypt, haue marred al, they are turned at once out of the way, which I haue commanded them: for they haue made them a calfe of molten metall, and haue worshipped it, and haue offered thereto, saying: These be thy Goddes, O Israel, which haue brought thee out of the lande of Egypt. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses. I haue sene this people: and behold, it is a stiffnecked people: and now suffer me, that my wrath may waxe hote agaynst them, and consume them: and I will make of thee a mighty people. And Moses besought the Lord his God, & said: O Lord, why both thy wrath waxe hote agaynst the people, which thou hast brought out of a land of Egypt, with great power, and with a mighty hand? wherefore should the Egyptians speake and say: For a mischief did he bring them out, for to slaie them in the mountaynes, and to consume them from the earth. Turne from thy fearch wrath, and turne from this euill (denied) against the people. Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Israel thy seruauntes: to whom thou swarest by thyne owne selfe, and saydest vnto them: I will multiplie, your seede, as the star-res of heauen: and all this land that I haue spoken of, wil I geue vnto your seede, and they shal inherite it for euer.

 And the Lord refrained him self from that euill, which he said, he woulde do vnto his people. And Moses turned his backe, and went downe from the hill, and the two tables of wit-nesse were in his hande, and the same tables were written on both the lea-ues, and were the worke of God, and the writing was the writing of God grauen in the Tables. And whenne Iesua heard the noyse of the people, as they shouted, he sayd vnto Moses:
 There is a noyse of warre in the host.
 And he answered: It is not the crye of them that haue the masterye, nor of them that haue the worke: but I doo heare the noyse of them that sing. And it fortuned, as soone as he came nye vnto the host, he saw the calf, and the dauncing, and Moses wrath waxed hote, and he cast out the tables oute of his hands, and brake them beneth the hill. And he tooke the Calf which they had made, & burned it in the fire, and stampe it vnto powder, and stra-wed it in the water, and made the children of Israel drinke of it. And Moses sayde vnto Aaron: What did this people vnto thee: for thou hast brought so great sin vpon them? And Aaron answered: Let not the wrath of my Lord waxe fearch, thou knowest the people that they are: euen set on mischief: for they sayde vnto me: Make vs Gods to go before vs: for we wot not what is become of Moses, the se-iow that brought vs out of the lande of Egypte. And I sayde vnto them: Let them that haue gold plucke it off, and bring it me: and I did cast it into the fire, and therof came out this calf, Moses therfore saw that the people were naked (and that Aaron hadde made them naked vnto their shame among their enemyes) and he wente & rode in the gate of the host, and sayde: If any man pertayne vnto the Lord, let him come vnto me. And all the sons of Levi gathered themselves together and came vnto him. And he sayd vnto them: Thus saith the Lord God of Israel: But euery man his sworde by his syde, and go in and oute from gate to gate, through the host, and slea euery man his brother, and euery man his compaignon, and euery man his neyghbour. And the children of Levi did as Moses had said. And there fell the same day, about thye thousand me.

 And Moses sayde: Fill your handes vnto the Lord this day, euery man vpon his sonne, and vpon his brother, and that ther may be geuen you a blessing this day. And on the morowe it fortuned, that Moses sayde vnto the people: Ye haue sinned a great sinne.
 And now wil I go vnto the Lord: yf peradventure I may purchase an attonement for your sinne. Moses therfore went agayne vnto the Lord, and sayd: Oh this people haue sinned a greates sinne, and haue made theym gods of Gold. And now I pray thee, either forgiue them their sinne: or (if thou wilt not) wipe me out of thy booke, whiche thou haste written.
 And the Lord sayd vnto Moses: I will putte him out of my booke that hath sinned against me. And now go thou, bring the people vnto the place which I said vnto thee: behold mine angell shall go before thee. Neuerthe-later in the day, when I visite, I wil visite their sinne vpon them. And the Lord plagued the people, because they made the calfe which Aaron made.

The xxxij. Chapter.

And the Lord sayd vnto Moses: Departe and goo hence: thou and the people, whiche thou haste brought out of the lande of Egypte, vnto the lande whiche I swaie vnto Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, sayinge: Vnto thy seede will I geue it.

Exo. 23 I gene it, (and I will send an angel before thee, & will cast out the Canaanites, the Amorites, and the Hethites, the Pherezites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites) a land that floweth with milke and honey. For I will not go

Exo. 32 among you my selfe: for ye are a stiff-necked people: lest I consume thee in the way. And when the people heard this euill tidings, they sorrowed: and no man put on his best rayment. And the Lord spake vnto Moses: say vnto the childe of Israel: Ye are a stiff-necked people: I must come once suddenly vpon you, and make an ende of you. Therefore now put thy goodly rayment from thee, that I may know what to do vnto thee. And the childe

B of Israel layd their goodly rayment from them, euen by the mount of Hor. And Moses tooke the tabernacle, and pitched it without the hoste, a farre off from the hoste, and called it the tabernacle of witness.

And soo it came to passe, that every one which would pray vnto the Lord, went oute vnto the tabernacle of witness, which was without the hoste. And it fortuned, that whenne Moses went out vnto the Tabernacle, all the people rose vp, and stode euerie man at his tent doore: and looked after Moses, vntill he was gone into the tabernacle. And as sone as Moses was entred into the Tabernacle, the cloudy pillar descended, and stode at the doore of the Tabernacle, and he talked with Moses. And all the people sawe the cloudy pillar stand at the tabernacles doore: and they rose vp, and woozhipped euery man in his tente doore. And the Lord spake vnto Mo-

Exo. 33 ses: face to face, as a man speaketh vnto his frende: and he turned agayn into the hoste. And the child Josua his seruant, the sonne of Nun, departed not out of the tabernacle. And Moses sayd vnto the Lord: He, thou sayst vnto me: leade this people forth, and thou hast not shewed me, whom thou wilt sende with me. And thou haste said moreouer: I know thee by name, and thou hast also founde grace in my sight: Now therefore if I haue founde fauour in thy sight, then shewe me thy way, that I may knowe thee: and that I maye finde grace in thy sight. And consider also, that this nation is thy people. And he sayd: My presence shall go with thee, and I will geue thee rest. He said vnto him: If thy presence goe not with mee, carpe vs not hence: for howe shall it be knowne here, that I and the people haue founde fauor in thy sight, but in that thou goest with vs. If thou go with vs, shall not I & thy people haue preeminence before all the people that are vpon the face of the earth? And the Lord saide vnto Moses: I will do this also that thou hast said: for thou hast founde grace in my sight, & I know thee by name. And he said: I beseech thee shewe me thy glory. And he said: I will make all my good go before thee, and I will be called in this name of Lord before thee, and will shewe merce, to whom I will shewe mercy, & will haue compassion on whom I will haue compassion. And he said furthermore: thou mayest not see my face, for there shal no man see me, and lue. And the Lord said: behold, there is a place by me, and thou shalt stande vpon a rocke: and while my glory goeth forth, I will put thee in a cleft of the rocke, and will put my hand vpon thee, while I passe by. And I will take away my hande, and thou shalt see my backe partes: but my face shall not be seene.

And the lord said vnto Moses: Hewe two tables of stone, like vnto the first, and I will write vpon the the wordes that were in the first tables, which thou brakest. And be ready in the morning, & thou shalt come vp early vnto the mount of Sinai: and stand there with me in the top of the mount. But shal no man come vp with thee, neither let any man be sene throughout all the mount, neither let the shepe nor oxen feede before thee. And Moses beweeched the Lord

When he came downe from the mount. And Moses wist not that the skinne of his face shone in maner of an hoine while he talked with him. And Aaron and all the children of Israel looked vpon Moses: and behold the skin of his face shone, and they wer afrayd to come nye him. And whē he had called them, Aaron, and al the chiefe that were in the company came vnto him, and Moses talked with them. And afterwarde, all the children of Israel came nye, and he commaunded them al that the Lord had sayde vnto him in mount Sinai. And whē Moses had made an end of comēing with them,

• he put a coueringe vpon his face. And again, when Moses went in before the Lord, to speake with him, • he toke the couering of, until he came out. And he came out, and spake vnto the children of Israel that which he was commaunded. And the children of Israel sawe the face of Moses, that the skin of Moses face shone. And Moses put the couering vpon his face agayne, until he went in, to commun with him.

And Moses gathered all the company of the childrenne of Israel together, and said vnto them: These are the wordes which the Lord hath commaunded that ye should do them: • Sixe dayes ye shall worke, but the seventh daye shall be vnto you the holy sabboth of the Lordes rest: whosoever doeth any worke therein shall dye. Ye shall kindle no fire throughout all your habitations vpon the Sabbath daye. And Moses spake vnto al the multitude of the children of Israel, sayinge: • This is the thing which the Lord commaunded, sayinge: Take from amonge you an heave offering vnto the Lord. Who so ever is of a willing heart, lette him bringe it for the heave offering of the LORD: Namely gold, silver, and brasse, and yelow silke, purple, scarlet, white silke, goates heare, and ramme skinned red, and taxus skins

new with Bethim woodde: oyle for light, and spices for the annoyntinge oyle, and for the sweete incense: And Onix stones, and stones to be sette in the Ephod, and in the byestlap. And let all them that are wise herted among you, come and make all that the Lord hath comaunded: the habitation with the tent therof, and his couering, and his ringes, and his borders, his barres, his pillars, and his sockets: the arke and the staves thereof, with the mercysate, and the bayle that covereth it: the Table and his barres, and all his vessels: and the shew brade, the candlesticke of light and his apparell, and his lampes with the oyle for the lighte: the cense altare, and his barres, the annoyntinge oyle and the sweete cense, and the hanginge of the dooze at the entringe in of the tabernacle: the altare of burnt sacrifice with the brasse gridiron, his staves and all his vessels: the laver and his foote, and the hanginges of the court, with his pillars, and their sockettes, and the hanginge in the dooze of the court, the pinnes of the habitation, & the pins of the court with their cordes: the ministring garmentes to minister in the holpe place, and the holpe vestimentes for Aaron the Prieste, and the vestiments of his sonnes, that they may minister in. And al the company of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses. And every one cam (as many as their heartes coaged them, & as many as they spirits made them willing) & brought a present for the Lord, to the making of the Tabernacle of witnesse, and for all his vases, and for the holpe vestimentes. And they came both men & women (even as many as were willing harted) & brought bracelets, and earringes, ringes, and chaynes, which Jewelles were all of golde: and all the men brought a waueoffering of golde vnto the Lord. And every man with whom was found yelow silke, purple, scarlet, white silke, and goates heare, and redde skinned of rammes, and taxus skinned, broughte them.

All that did heare by an oblation of gold and byasse, and broughte an heue offering vnto the Lord. And all men with whom was founde Bethim wood for any maner woowke of ministration, broughte it. And all the women that were wise hearted, did spin with their handes, and broughte the spun woowke both of yealow silke, purple, skarlet, and white silke. And all the women whom their owne heart moued, span goates heere wisely. And the Lordes brought Onix stones, and stones to be set in the Ephod, and in the byestlappe, and spice, and Oyle for light, and for the annoynting oyle, and for the sweete cense. And the children of Israell brought a willing offering vnto the Lord, both men and women, as many as hadde willinge heartes to bring, for all maner of woowkes which the Lord had commaunded to be made, by the handes of Moyses. And Moyses sayde vnto the children of Israell: beholde, the Lord hath called by name Bezalell the sonne of Uri the sonne of Iur of the tribe of Iuda, and hath filled him with the spirite of God, in wisdome & vnderstanding, in knowledge, and in all maner woowke, to finde out curious woowkes whiche are made in gold, siluer and byasse. In the craft of stones, to set them: and in caruinge of wood to make any maner of subtil woowke. And he hath put in his heart that he may teache: both he and Ahaliab the sonne of Ahisamache of the tribe of Dan. Them hath he filled with wisdome of heart, to woowke all maner of graue, and subtil, and nedle woowke, in yealow silke, and purple, in scarlet and white silke, and in wening: and to do al maner of woowk and subtil feates.

And Bezalell wroughte, and Ahaliab, and all wise hearted men, to whom the Lord gaue wisdom and vnderstanding, to know howe to woowke all maner woowke for the seruice of the Sanctuary, and all that the Lord had commaunded. And Moyses called Bezalell, Ahaliab, and all the wise hearted men, and such as the Lord had genen wisdome vnto, and as many as their hearts couraged to come vnto that woowke to woowke it. And they receaued of Moyses all the present, which the children of Israell had brought for the woowke of the seruice of the Sanctuari, to make it. And beside that they broughte giftes vnto it every day in the morninge. And all the wise menne that wrought all the holy woowke, came every man from his woowke whiche they made, and spake vnto Moyses, saying: the people bring to muche, and moze then ynough, for the seruice and woowke which the Lord hath commaunded to be made. And then Moyses gaue a commandement, and they caused it to bee proclaimed throughout the hoste, saying: see that neyther man nor woman prepare any moze woowke for the present of the sanctuary: and so the people were forbidden to bring: for the stuffe they hadde, was sufficient for all the woowke, to make it, and to muche. All the wise hearted men therefore, and they that wrought for the habitation, made ten curtaines of white twined silke, yealow silke, purple, and scarlette: with pictures of brodered woowke made hee them. The length of one curtain was xxviii. cubites, and the breadth foure, and the curtaynes were all of one lise. And he coupled fise curtains by them selues, and other fise by them selues. And he made loupes of yealow silke a long by the edge of one curtain, euen in the seluedge of the couplinge curtayne. And likewise hee made on the side of the couplinge curtayne on the other syde. Fiftie loupes made hee in the one curtayne, and fiftie in the edge of the couplinge curtayne on the other side: and the loupes held one curtayne to another. And he made fiftie rings of gold, and coupled the curtayns one to another with the rings: and so it was made one dwelling place. And he made. xi. curtaynes of goates heare, to be a tente ouer the tabernacle. The length of a curtayne, had. xxx. cubites, and was. iiii. cubites broad, and they all clased of

And he coupled five curtains by them selues, and six by them selues, and he made fiftie loupes along by the bozder of the vtmost coupling curtain and fiftie in the edge of the other coupling curtaine. (That they might be ioyned together.) And he made fiftie ringes of brasle to couple the tent to-

Cgether, that it might be one. And he made a couering vpon the tent of ram skinner redde, and yet an other of tawny skins aboue that. And hee made

One boozd had two feete, wherety they were ioyned one to another. And thus made he for all the bozders of the tabernacle. And he made .xx. boozdes for the southsyde of the habitatio, and .xl. sockets of siluer, vnder the .xx. boozds, two sockettes vnder one bozde, for his two feete, and two sockettes vnder another bozde for his two fete (where the sockets of the sides end in the coznerns.) And for the other side of the dwelling, which is toward the north, he made twentie boozdes, and their fourtie sockettes of siluer, two sockettes vnder one boozde, and two sockettes vnder the other. And toward the west ende of the tabernacle. (That is to say) at that end of the tabernacle whiche enclineth toward the sea. He made sixe bozdes, & two other boozdes made he in the coznerns of the habitation, for eyther syde, & they were ioyned close beneath and aboue, with a clampe, and thus they didde to both the coznerns. And there wer. liiii. boozdes, and sixtene sockets of siluer, vnder every boozde two sockets. And he made barres of Sethim wood, fine for the bozdes of the tabernacle in the one side, and fine for the boozdes of the tabernacle in the ether side, & .v. barres for the bozdes of the habitation in the west end, (Toward the sea.) And he made the middest barre to shoote thorough the bozdes, euen from the one ende to the other, and ouerlayde the boozdes with golde, and made ringes of gold to thrust the barres through, and covered the barres with golde. And he made an hanging of pealowe silke, purple scarlet, and white twyned silke, euen with pictures made he it of broyded woocke. And made therunto fower pillers of Sethim wood, and ouerlayd them with golde. Their knoppes were also of gold, and he cast for them fower sockets of siluer. And he made an hanging for the tabernacle doore: of pealowe silke, purple, scarlet, and white twyned silke of needle woocke. And the fine pillers of it with their knoppes, and ouerlayde the knoppes of them, and the houpen with golde. Their fine sockets also were of brasle.

And Bezaleel made the arke of Sethim wood, two cubites and an half long, and a cubite and a halfe broad, and a cubite and a halfe hie, and ouerlayd it with fine golde within and without, and made a crowne of golde to it rounde about, and cast for it foure ringes of gold for the foure coznerns of it: two ringes for the one side, and two for the other, and made barres of Sethim wood, and covered them with golde, and put the barres in the ringes along by the syde of the arke to beare it withall. And he made the mercey seate. (That is to say, Goddes answering place) of pure golde: two cubites and a halfe was the length thereof, and one cubite and a halfe the breadthe: And he made two Cherubins of thicke golde vpon the two endes of the mercey seate. One Cherub on the one ende, and an other Cherub on the other ende. Euen of the mercey seate made he the Cherubines, namely in the endes thereof. And the Cherubins sprede oute their winges aboue an hie, and covered the mercey seate therewith. And their faces were one to another: euen to the mercey seate ward were the faces of the Cherubines. And he made the table of Sethim wood two cubites was the length thereof.

herof and a cubite the breadth, and a cubite and a halfe the height of it. And he overlaid it with fine golde, and made thereto a crowne of gold rounde about, and made thereto an hoope of an hande broad, rounde about, and made vpon the hoope a crowne of golde rounde about, and caste for it foure ringes of gold, and put the ringes in the foure corners, that were in the foure feete thereof. Then hard by the hoope were the ringes, into the which the barres were put, to beare the table withall. And he made the barres of Sethim wood, & couered them with golde to beare the table withall, and made the vessels (for the table) of pure golde: the dishes, spoones, flatte peece, and pottes to poure withall. And he made the candlesticke of pure golde: euen of one peece made hie the candlesticke. For his foote, his shafte, his cups, his knoppes, and his flowers were of one peece. Sixe bjaunches proceeding out of the sides therof, thre oute of the one syde, and thre oute of the other. And in one bjaunche thre cuppes made like vnto almonds with knoppes and flowers. And in another branch, thre cups made like vnto almonds with knoppes and flowers, and so throughout the sixe bjaunches, that proceeded out of the candlesticke. And vpon the candlesticke leise were foure cuppes after the fashion of almonds with knoppes and flowers: vnder euery two bjaunches a knop. And the knoppes and the bjaunches proceeded out of it, and it was all one peece of pure thicke golde. And he made his seuen lampes with the tongues and snuffers thereof, of pure gold. Then of an hundred weyght of pure golde, made he it with all the vessels thereof. And he made the cense altar of Sethim wood. The length of it was a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, for it was square, and two cubites hie, with hornes proceeding out of it. And he couered it with pure gold both the toppe and the sides thereof rounde about, and the hornes of it, and made vnto it a crowne of golde rounde about. And he made two ringes of golde for it, euen vnder the crowne thereof, in the two corners of it, and in the two sides thereof to put barres in, for to beare it withall: and made the bars of Sethim wood, and overlaid them with golde. And he made the holy anointing oyle, and the swete pure incense, after the apotaries crafte.

And he made the burnt offering altar of Sethim wood, fine cubites was the length thereof, and fine cubites the breadth: euen so square, and three cubites hie. And he made vnto it hornes in the foure corners of it, proceeding out of it, and he overlaid it with brasse. And he made all the vessels of the altare: the cauldrons, shewels, basins, fleshhookes and colepannes. All the vessels therof made he of brasse. And he made a brasen gridiron of networke vnto the altare, rounde about, alowe, beneath, vnto the mids of the altare, & caste foure ringes of brasse, for the foure endes of the gridiron, to putte barres in. And he made the barres of Sethim wood, and couered the with brasse, and put the barres into the ringes in the foure corners of the altare, to beare it withall, and made the altare holowe within the boordes. And he made the lauer of brasse, and the foote of it also of brasse in the sight of them, that did watche at the doore of the tabernacle of witness. And he made the couerte on the fourth syde, and the hanginges of the court were of wythe twyned silke, hauing an hundred cubites. The pillars were twentie, and they brasen sockettes twentie. But the knoppes of the pillars, and they hoopes were of silver. And on the fourth syde the hanginges were an hundred cubites. Their pillars were xx. and their sockettes of brasse xx. But the knoppes and the hoopes of the pillars were of silver. On the west syde, were hanginges of fiftie cubites, ten pillars, and their ten sockettes (of brasse.) But the knoppes and the hoopes of the pillars, were of silver.

And toward the east side, were hangings of .l. cubites: the hangings of the one syde of the gate, were fiftene cubites longe, with thre pillars, and thre sockets. And of the other side of the court gate, were hangings also of .xv. cubits long, with thre pillars and thre sockets. All the hangings of the court round about, wer of white twined silke: but the socket of the pillars were of brasle: and the knops and the hoops of the pillars were of siluer, & the covering of the heades was of siluer, and all the pillars of the court were houped about with siluer. And the hanging of the gate of the court was needle worke, of pelow silke, purple, scarlet & white twined silk. .xx. cubits longe, and fine in the breadth, ouer agaynst the hangings of the Court. And their pillars were sosepe, & their foure sockettes of brasle, and the knops of siluer, and the heades overlaid with siluer, and houped about with siluer, and all the pinnes of the Tabernacle and of the court rounde about were of brasle. This is the sum of the habitation of witnes, as it was counted according to the commandment of Moyses for the office of the Levites by the hande of Ithamar sonne to Aaron the priest. And Bezaleel the sonne of Uri the sonne of Hur of the tribe of Iuda, made all that the Lord commanded Moyses, and with him was Oholiab sonne of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan, a cunnigne grauer, and a woorker of needle worke in pelow silke, purple, scarlet, and white twined silke. All the golde that was occupied for al the worke of the holpe place was the golde of the waue offeringe, euen. xxxix. hundredth weyghte and seven hundredth and. xxx. sickles, according to the sickle of the Sanctuary. And the sum of siluer that came of the multitude, was. v. scope hundredth weyghte, and a thousande seven hundred and. lxxv. sickles after the sickle of the Sanctuary. For euerye manne an halfe weyghte, euen halfe a sickle after the sickle of the sanctuary, for all them that went to be numbyed from. xx. yere side and aboute, euen for. vi. hundredth thousande and thre thousande and. v. hundredth and. i. menne. And of the. v. scope hundredth weyght of siluer, were cast the sockettes of the Sanctuary, and the sockettes of the bayle, an hundred sockettes of the fine scope hundredth weyght, an hundred weyghte to euery sockette. And of the thousande seven hundredth and. lxx. sickles, he made knoppes to the pillars, and overlaid the heades, and whooped them with siluer. And the brasle of the waueofferinge was. lxx. hundredth weyght, and two thousande and. liij. hundredth sickles. And therewith he made the sockettes to the dooze of the Tabernacle of witnesse, and the brasen altare, and the brasen gredyon for it, with all the vessels of the altar, and the sockets of the court rounde about, and the sockets for the court gate, and all the pinnes of the habitation, and all the pins of the court rounde about.

The xxxix. Chapter.

And of the pelow silke, purple and scarlet, they made the vestimentes of ministration to doo seruice in the holy place, and made the holy garmentes for Aaron, as the Lord commanded Moyses. And he made the Ephod of gold, pelow silke, purple, scarlet, and white twined silk. And they did beate the golde into thin plates, and cut it into wires: to worke it in the pelow silke, purple, scarlette, and in the fine white, with broyded worke. And they made two sydes for it, to close them by by the two edges. And the broyding of the girdle that was vpon it, was of the same stuffe, and after the same worke of golde, pelow silke, purple, scarlet, and twined white silke, as the Lord commanded Moyses. And they wrought Onix stones closed in ouches of gold, and grauen as signettes are grauen with the names of the chyldren of Israell, and put them on the shoulders of the Ephod, that they should be stones for a remembrance of the chyldren of Israell, as the Lord commanded Moyses and he made the brestlap of cunning wozke, and like the wozke of the Ephod: euen of gold, yelow silke, purple, scarlet and twyned white silke.

It was .iiij. square: and they made the brestlap double, an hand breadth long and an hand breadth brode. And they filled it with .iiij. rowes of stones.
The first rowe, a Sardios, a Topas, and a Smaragdus: the seconde rowe, a Rubie, a Saphir, and a Diamond: in the thirde rowe, Agurios, an Achat, and an Amatis: in the fourth rowe, a Turcas, an Onix, and a Iaspis. And they were closed in ouches of golde in their inclosures. And the .xii. loanes were grauen as signettes with the names of the childzen of Israel: euery stone with his name, accordyng to the tribes. And they made vpon þ brestlap two fastning cheynes of wytthen wozke and pure golde. And they made two hookes of golde and two golde rings, and put the two rings in the two corners of the brestlapp.
And they put the two cheynes of gold in the two rings, in the corners of the brestlap: and the two endes of the two cheynes they fastened in þ two hokes and put them on the shoulders of the Ephod vpon the forefront of it. And they made two rings of golde, and put them on the two corners of the brestlapp vpon the edge of it whiche was on the inside by the Ephod. And they made two golden rings, and put them on the two sides of the Ephod, bereth on the foresyde of it, and oueragaynste his sciozwe, aboue vpon the breeching of the Ephod, and they strai-ned the brestlapp by his rings vnto the rings of the Ephod, with a lace of yelow silke: that it might be vpon the breeching of the Ephod, and that the brestlap should not be lonked from of the Ephod: as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And he made the tunicle vnto the Ephod of wouen wozke all together of yelow silke, and there was an hole in the middell of the tu-nicle, as the collar of a parlet, with a bande rounde about the collar, that it shoulde not rente. And in the tunicle they made hems with pomgranates, of yelow silke, purple, scarlet & white twyned silke. And they made little bells of pure golde, and put them among the pomgranates rounde about vpon the edge of the tunicle: a bel and a pomgranate, a bel and a pomgranate round about the hemmes of the tunicle to minister in, as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And they made cotes of fine white of wouen wozke for Aaron and his sonnes, and a miter of fine white, and goodly bonettes of fine white, and linnen breeches of twined white, and a girdle of twyned white, yelow silke, purple and scarlet: euen of noble wozke, as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And they made the plate for the holie crowne of fine gold, & wroze vpon it & grauen wozke the holynes of the Lord: and tyed vnto it a lace of yelow silke to fasten it an hye vpon the myter, as the Lord commaunded Moyses. Thus was all the wozk of the habitation and of the Tabernacle of witnessse finished. And the childzen of Israel did accordyng to all that the Lord had commaunded Moyses: euen so did they. And they brought the habitation vnto Moyses: the tent and all his apparell, buttons, borders, barres, pillars and sockettes, the coueringe of rams skynnes red, and the coueringe of taxus skynnes, and the hanginge boyle, the Arke of witnessse and the bars thereof, and the mercyseate, the table and all the vessels thereof, and the shewebreade: the pure candlesticks, with the lampes thereof: euen with the lampes to be prepared and all the vessels thereof, and the oyle for light: the golden antаре, and the anoyntinge oyle, and the sweete sence, and the hanginge of the Tabernacle doore, and the brasen antаре with his gridiron of brasse, his barres, and all his vessels, the lauer and his fode: the hanginges of the courte, with his pillars and sockettes: the hanginge to the courte gate, and his pynes and cordes, and all the vessel of the seruice of the habitation for the Tabernacle of witnessse:

the ministring vestimentes to serue in the holpe place, and the holpe vestimentes for Aaron the Priest, and his sonnes rayments to minister in according to all that the Lord commaunded Moyses: euen so the children of Israel made al the worke. And Moyses behelde all the worke, and see, they had done it euen as the Lord commaunded: euen so had they done, and Moyses blessed them.

AND the Lord spake vnto Moyses saying: In the firste daye of the firste moneth shalte thou sette vp the habitation and the Tabernacle of witnesse, and put therein the arke of witnesse, and couer the arke with the voyle, and bringe in the table, and apparell it according to the order thereof. And thou shalte bringe in the candlesticke, and light his lampes, and set the sensauitars of golde befoze the Arke of witnesse, and put the hangings at the doze of the habitation. And set the burnt-offeringe aulter befoze the doze of the habitation and tabernacle of witnesse, and set the laver betwene the tabernacle of witnesse and the aulter, and put water therein, & make the couer round about, and hange vp the hanginge at the court gate. And thou shalt take the annoynting oyle, and annoynt the habitation and all that is therein, and halowe it with all the vessels therof, that it may be holy. And thou shalt annoynt the aulter of burnt-offeringe and al his vessels, and sanctifie the aulter, that it maye be an aulter make holpe. And thou shalt annoynt also the laver and his fete, and sanctifie it. And thou shalt bring Aaron and his sonnes vnto the doze of the Tabernacle of witnesse, and wash them with water. And thou shalt put vpon Aaron the holy vestiments, and anoint him, and sanctifie him that he maye minister vnto me. And thou shalt bring his sonnes, and clothe them with garmentes, and annoynt them as thou diddest annoynt their father, that they maye minister vnto me. For their annointing halbe an euerlastinge priesthood vnto them throughout their generations. And Moyses did according to all that the Lord commaunded him: euen so did he. Thus was the Tabernacle reared vp the firste daye in the firste moneth in the seconde yeare. And Moyses reared vp the Tabernacle, and fastened his sockettes, and sette vp the borders thereof, & put in the barres of it, and reared vp his pillars, and spred abroade the tente ouer the habitation, and put the coueringe of the tente an hye aboue it, as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And he toke the testimonye, and put it in the Arke, and set the barres to the arke, and put the mercy-seat an hye vpon the arke, and brought the arke into the habitation, and hanged vp the voyle, and conered the arke of witnesse, as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And he put the table in the tabernacle of witnesse in the southsyde of the habitation, (but withoute the voyle) and set the breade in order befoze the Lord, euen as the Lord had commaunded Moyses. And he put the candlesticke in the tabernacle of witnesse oueragains the table towarde the southside of the habitation, and set by the lampes befoze the Lord: as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And he put the golden aulter in the tabernacle of witnesse befoze the bail and brent sweete cense thereon, as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And he hanged vp the hanginge at the doze of the habitation, and set the burnt-offeringe aulter by the entringe in of the habitation of the tabernacle of witnesse, and offered burnt-offeringes and meate-offeringes thereon, as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And he set the laver betwene the tabernacle of witnesse and the aulter, and powred water therein, to walke withall. And Moyses, Aaron and his sonnes washed theyr handes and theyr feeles thereat: when they went into the tabernacle of witnesse, and when they went to the aulter they washed them selues, as the Lord commaunded Moyses.

Am. 9c

And he reared vp the court rounde aboute the habitation and the altar, and set vp an hanginge at the court gate: and so Moyses finished the woork. And the cloude covered the tabernacle of witnesse, and the gloze of the Lord filled the habitation. And Moyses coulde not enter into the tabernacle of witnesse, because the cloude abode thereon, and the gloze of the Lord filled the habitation. (For the cloude had covered all.) And when the cloude was taken vp from the habitation, the children of Israel toke their iourneys throughtout their armies.

And when the cloude was not taken vp, they iourneyed not till it was taken vp, for the Lord was vpon the habitation by daye, and fire by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel throughtout all theyr armies.

The thirde Booke of Moyses called in the Hebrue Variab, and in the Latin Leuiticus.

The first Chapter.

And the Lord called Moyses, and spake vnto him oute of the tabernacle of witnesse saying: Speake vnto the children of Israel, and thou shalt say vnto them. If a man of you bringe a sacrifice vnto the Lord, ye shall bring your sacrifice from among these cattell, even from among the oxen and the sheepe. If his sacrifice be an burnt offering, let him offer a male of the oxen without blemishe, and bring him (of his owne volunтары will) vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witnesse before the Lord. And he shal put his hande vpon the head of the burnt sacrifice, and it shalbe accepted for him to be his attonement. And he shall kill the calfe of the done before the Lord. And the Priestes Barons sons shall bring the bloude, and sprinkle it rounde about vpon the altar, that is by the doze of the tabernacle of witnesse. And then shal he lay the burnt offering, and hewe him in peces. And the sons of Aaron the priest shal put fire vpon the altar, and put wood vpon the fire. And the Priestes Barons sonnes shal lay the partes (euen the heade and the fat) vpon the wood that is on the fire in the altare. But the inwardes and the legges thereof shal he wash in water, and the priest shal burne all on the altar, that they maye be a burnt sacrifice for a sweete odour vnto the Lord. And if his sacrifice be of the flocks (namely of sheepe or goates) let him bring a male without blemishe for a burnt offering. And let him kill it on the northside of the altar before the Lord. And the Priestes Barons sons shall sprinkle the blood rounde about vpon the altar. And it shalbe cut in peces: eue with his head and his fat, and the priest shal put the vpon the wood that lyeth vpon fire on the altar. But he shal walke the inwardes and the legges with water, and the priest shal bring al together, & burne it vpon the altar for a burnt offering of a sweete savour vnto the Lord. If the burnt offering for the sacrifice of the Lord be of the fowles, he shal bring his sacrifice of turtle doves or of the yonge pigeons. And the Priest shal bring it vnto the altare, & wyng the necke a sider of it, and burne it on the altar. But the blad therof shal runne out vpon by the side of the altar. And he shal plucke away his crophe with his fethers, & cast them beside the altar on the easie part in the place of ashes.

And he shall breake the winges of it, but plucke them not a sunder. And the Priest shall burne it vpon the altar, euen vpon the wood that is vpon the fire, that it may be a burnt sacrifice for a sweete savour vnto the Lord.

The.ii. Chapter.

The soule that will offer a meat offering vnto the Lord, the same offering shall be of fine flour, and he shall poure oyle vpon it, and put frankincense thereon, and shall bringe it vnto Barons sonnes the priestes. And he shal take therout his handfull of the flour, and of the oyle with all the frankincense, & the Priest shall burne it for a memoriall of him vpon the altar: to be an offering for a sweete savour vnto the Lord. And the remnaunte of the meateofferinge shalbe Barons, and his sons, a thinge most holy of the sacrifices of the Lord. If thou bringe also a meateofferinge that is baken in the oven, lette it be a sweete cake of fine flour mingled with oyle, or an unleavened wafer annoynted with oyle. If thy meateofferinge be baken in the frynging pan, it shalbe of sweete flour mingled with oyle. And thou shalt mince it small, and poure oyle thereon, that it may be a meateofferinge. And if thy meateofferinge be a thinge broyled vpon the gridiron, then let it be of flour mingled with oyle.

And thou shalt bringe the meateoffring (that is made of these thinges) vnto the Lord, and shalt deliuer it vnto the Priest that he maye offer it vpon the altar, and the Priest shall take of the meateoffringe a memoriall, and shall burne it vpon the altar: that it maye be a burnt offering for a sweete sauoure vnto the Lord. And that whiche is left of the meateofferinge shalbe Barons and his sonnes. It is a thinge moste holye of the offerings of the LORD. All the meateofferings which ye shal bring vnto the Lord, shalbe made without leuen. For ye shall neither burne leauen nor honye many offerings of the Lord, Notwithstanding ye shall bring the firstlings of them vnto the Lord: but they shall not come vpon the altar for a sweete savour. All the meateofferings also shalt thou season with salte: neyther shalt thou suffer the salte of the conuente of thy God to be lacking from thy meateoffering: but vpon all thine offerings thou shalt bringe salte. And if thou offer a meateoffering of the first ripe fruits vnto the Lord, thou shalt offer for a meateofferinge of thy first fruits, eares of corne dried by the fire, and corne beaten as meale. And thou shalt put oyle vpon it, and laye frankincense thereon, that it may be a meateoffring. And the priest shall burne parte of the beated corne, and part of that oyle with all the frankincense, for a remembrance. And it shal be a sacrifice vnto the Lord.

And of his sacrifice be a peace offering, and he take it from among the droves, (whether it be a male or female) hee shall bringe suche as is withoute blemishe, before the Lord: and put his hande vpon the head of his offering, and kill it at the doore of the tabernacle of witness. And Barons sons the Priestes shall sprinkle the blood vpon the altar rounde about. And he shall offer somewhat of the peaceoffering to be a sacrifice vnto the Lord: euen the fat that is aboute the inwardes, and all the fatte that is about the inwardes: and the two kidneys, and the fatte that is on them and vpon the lynes, and the abundance that is on the liver shall he take away with the kidneys. And Barons sons shall burne them on the altar vpon the burnt sacrifice whiche is vpon the wood that is on the fire to be a burnt sacrifice for a sweete sauoure vnto the Lord. If he bring a peaceofferinge vnto the Lord from of the flocke, let him offer male or female: but without blemishe. And if he offer a sheepe for his sacrifice, he shall bringe it before the Lord, and put his hande vpon his offeringes head, and kill it befoze the doze of the tabernacle of witness, and Aarons sonnes shall sprinkle the blood thereof rounde about the altar:

E And of the peaceoffring, let him bring a sacrifice vnto the lord: the fat thereof, and a rumpe altogether, which they shall take of, hard by the backe bone: and the face that couereth the inwardes, and all the fat that is vpon the inwardes, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is vpon them and vpon the loynes, and the aboundance that is vpon the lings shall be taken away with the kidneys. And the Prieste shall burne them vpon the altar, to be the foode of a sacrifice vnto the Lord. If his offering be a goat, he shall bring it befoze the Lord, and put his hande vpon the head of it, and kill it befoze the tabernacle of the couenant, and the sonnes of Aaron shall sprinkle the blood thereof vpon the altar round about. And he shall bring thereof, his offering, even a sacrifice vnto the Lord: the fatte that couereth the inwardes, and all the fatte that is vpon the inwardes, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is vpon them and vpon the loynes, and the aboundance vpon the lings shall he take away with the kidneys. And the Prieste shall burne the vpon the altar for the foode of the sacrifice: that all the fat may be a sweete savour vnto the Lord. It let it be a perpetuall statute for your generations throughout your dwellings, that ye eat neither fat nor blood.

The. 11th. Chapter.

A And the Lord spake vnto Moses sayinge: speake vnto the children of Israel, and saye: If a soule sinne through ignorance, and hath done anye of those thinges which the Lord hath forbidden in his commandementes to be doone. As if the Priest that is annointed do sinne, (accordinge to the sinnes of the people) let him bringe for his sinne which he hath sinned a ponge oxe without blemish vnto the Lord for a sinne offering. And he shall bringe the ponge oxe vnto the dooze of the tabernacle of witness befoze the Lord, and shall put his hand vpon the ponge oxe heade, and kill the ponge oxe befoze the Lord. And the Priest that is appointed shall take of the ponge oxe blood, and bring it into the tabernacle of witness, and the priest shall dippe his finger in the blood, and sprinkle thereof seven times befoze the Lord, even befoze the hanginge of the holy place. And he shall putte some of the blood befoze the Lord, vpon the hornes of the altar of sweete sence, which is in the tabernacle of witness, and shall poure all the blood of the ponge oxe vnto the bottom of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the dooze of the tabernacle of witness. And he shall take awaye all the fat of the oxe that is for sinne, the fat that couereth the inwardes, and all the fat that is aboute the inwardes, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is vpon them, and vpon the loynes and the aboundance of the liver shall he take awaye with the kidneys, as it was taken awaye in the oxe of the peaceoffring, and lette the Prieste burne them vpon the altar of burnt offering. But the skin of the ponge oxe, and all his fleshe, with his heade, and his legges, with his inwardes, and his donge, shall he beare out and carrie the ponge oxe altogether oute of the hooke vnto a cleane place, even where the ashes are pouzed out, and burne him there on wood in the fire: even by the place where the ashes are caste oute, shall he be burnt.

If the whole congregation of Israel sinne through ignorance, and the thinge be hid from their eyes, so that they haue committed anye of those thinges which the Lord hath forbidden to be done in his commandementes, and haue offended. When the sinne which they haue sinned in, is knowne, the congregation shall bringe a ponge oxe for the sinne, and bringe him befoze the Tabernacle of the witness, & the elders of the multitude shall put their handes vpon the head of the pong ore before the Lord. And the pong ore shalbe layne before the Lord. And the Priest that is appointed shall bringe of his blood into the tabernacle of witnesse, and the Priest shall dippe his finger in the blood, and sprinkle it seven times before the Lord, even before the bayle.

D And shall put of the blood vpon the hornes of the altar, which is before the Lord in the tabernacle of witnesse, and shall poure all the blood vnto the botome of the altar of burnt offering which is before the doore of the tabernacle of witnesse, and shall take at his fatte from him, and burne it vpon the altar, and shall doo with this pong ore, as he did with the pong ore for sinne: euen so shall he do with this. And the Priest shall make an attonement for them, and it shalbe forgiven them. And he shall bringe this pong ore without the holte, and burne him as he burned the first. For it is an oblation for the sinne of the congregation. When a Lord sinneth, and committeth through ignorance anye of these thinges (whiche the Lord his God hath forbidden to be done in his commandementes,) and hath offended. And if this sinne be shewed vnto him whiche he hath done, he shall bring his offering: euen an hee goate without blemishe, and laye his hande vpon the head of the hee goate, and kill it in the place wher the burnt offering is vled to be killed before the Lord. For it is a sinne offering. And let the Priest take of the blood of the offering with his finger, and put it vpon the hornes of the burnt offerings altar, and poure his blood vnto the botome of the burnt offering altar, and burne all his fatte vpon the altar, as the fat of the peace offerings. And the priest shall make an attonement for him, as concerning his sinne, and it shalbe forgiven him. If one of the common

f people of the lande sinne through ignorance, and committe anye of the thinges which the Lord hath forbidden in his commandementes to be done, and so hath trespassed: If this

sinne which he hath sinned, come to his knowledge he shall bring for his offering, a hee goate from among the flockes, withoute blemishe for his sinne which he hath sinned, and laye his hande vpon the heade of the offering, and slea it in the place of burnt offerings. And the Priest shall take of the blood thereof with his finger, and put it vpon the hornes of the burnt offering altar, and poure al the blood vnto the botome of the altar, & shall take a waie all his fat, as the fat of the peace offerings is taken a waie. And the priest shall burne it vpon the altar, that it may be a sweete savour vnto the Lord, and the priest shall make an attonement for him, and it shalbe forgiven him. And if he bring a shepe for a sinne offering, he shall bring a female without blemishe, and laye his hande vpon the heade of the offering and slea it for a sinne offering in the place where they kill the burnt offering. And the priest shall take of the blood of the offering with his finger, and put it vpon the hornes of the burnt offering altar, and shall poure the blood thereof vnto the botome of the altar: And he shall take a waie all the fatte thereof, as the fatte of the shepe of the peace offering is wont to be taken a waie. And the priest shall burne it vpon the altar, that it may be the Lords burnt sacrifice, and the Priest shall make an attonement for his sin, that he hath committed, and it shalbe forgiven him.

Yf a soule sinne and heare the voyce of swearing, and is a witnesse: whether he hath seene or knowne of it, yf he haue not vttered it, he shall beare his sinne. Either if a soule touche anye vncleane thing: whether it be a carion of an vncleane beast, or of vncleane cattell or vncleane wormes, and is not ware of it: or holde, he is vncleane and hath offended. Either if he touche any vncleanness of man (whatsoever vncleanness) clennesse it be that a man is wonte to be defyled withall) and is not ware of it, and cometh to the knowledge of it, he hath trespassed. Either if a soule swere and pronounceth with his lips to do euill or to do good (whatsoeuer it be) a man vseth to pronounce with an othe) and the thinge be hyd from hym, and cometh to the knowledge of it, and hath offended in one of these. And it shall come to passe that when he hath synned in one of these thynges, he shall confesse that he hath synned in that thinge. Therefore shal he bryng his trespass offering vnto the Lord, for his sinne which he hath synned. A female from the flocke, a lambe or a she goate, for a syn offering. And the priest shall make an attonement for him concerning his synne.

Nake, 2. 8

And if he be not able to bryng suche a sheepe, he shall bryng for his trespass which he hath synned, two turtle doves or two yonge pigeons vnto the Lord, one for a synne offering, and the other for a burnt offering. And he shall bryng them vnto the priest, whiche shall offer the synne offering firste, and wyngge the necke a sundre of it, but plucke it not cleane of. And he shall sprinkle of the bloude of the synne offering vpon the syde of the altar: and the residue of the blood shal be poyrde by the bottonne of the altar: for it is a synne offering. And he shall offer the seconde for a burnt offering as the manner is: and so shall the priest make an attonement for him (for the synne whiche he hath synned) and it shalbe forgiven him. And if he be not able to bryng two turtle doves or two yonge pigeons, then he that hath synned shall bryng for his offering: the tenth part of an Ephah of fine flour for a synne offering, but put none oyle theron, neyther put any frankincense thereto for it is a synne offering. And let the priest offer it, and the priest shall take his handfull of it, for a remembrance thereof, and burne it vpon the altar, to be a sacrifice for the Lord, it is a synne offering. And the priest shall make an attonement for him as touching his synne that he hath committed in one of these, and it shalbe forgiven him. And the remnant shall be the priests, as a meate offering. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: If a soule trespass and synne through ignorance in thinges, that are consecrated vnto the Lord, lette him bryng for his trespass vnto the Lord a ram without blemish out of the flocke, valued in money at two sicles after the sicle of the sanctuary, & it maye be for a trespass offering. And he shall make amends for the harme that he hath done in the holy thinge, & let him put the fyfth part more thereto, and gaue it vnto the priest. And the priest shall make an attonement for him with the ram that is for the trespass, and it shalbe forgiven him. If a soule synne and commit anye of these thinges which are forbidden to be done by the commandments of the Lord: and wisse it not, and hath offended, he shall beare his synne, and shall bryng a ram without blemish out of the flocke that is esteemed to be worth a trespass offering, vnto the priest. And the priest shall make an attonement for him concerning his ignorance, wher in he erred and was not ware, and it shalbe forgiven him. This is the trespass offering, which he offered vnto the Lord for that trespass.

Exo. 30. 8

Chap. vi. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: if a soule sinne and trespass against the Lord, and deny vnto his neighbour that which was taken him to kepe, or that was put into his handes, or doeth violent robbery or wronge vnto his neighbour, or if he haue founde that which was lost, and denyeth it, and sweareth falsely, vpon whatsoever thing it be that a man doth, and synneth therein: If he haue so sinned or trespassed, he shall restore agayne that he tooke violently away, or the wronge which he dyd, or that which was deliuered him to kepe, or the lost thinge whiche he found, and all that about whiche he hath sworne falsely, he shall restore it

agayne in the whole summe, and shall adde the fifth parte moze thereto, and geue it vnto him to whom it pertaineth with the same daye that he offereth for his trespassse, and let him bringe for his trespassse vnto the Lord, a Ram without blemishe oute of the flocke (that is esteemed worth a trespassse offering) vnto the priest.

B And the priest shall make an attonement for him, before the Lord, and it shall be forgiven him, whatsoeuer thinge it be, that he hath done, and trespassed therein. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: commaunde Aaron and his sonnes, saying: this is the lawe of the burnt offering.

The burnt offering shall be vpon the hearth of the altar all night vnto the morning, and the fyre shall be kindled on the altar. And the priest shall put on his linnen albe, & his linnen breeches vpon his fleshe, and take awaye the ashes vpon the whiche the fyre consumed the burnt sacrifice in the altar, and he shall put them besyde the altar, and put of his rayment, and put on other, and carry the ashes out without the hoost vnto a cleane place. The fyre vpon the altar shall burne still and neuer be put out. But the priest shall laye wood on it every day in the morning, and put the burnt sacrifice vpon it, and he shall burne thereon the fat of the peace offerings. The fyre shall euer burne vpon the altar, and neuer go oute.

This is the lawe of the meate offering: which Aarons sonnes shall bringe before the Lord, euen before the altar: and one of them shall take his handfull of the floure of the meate offering and of the oyle, and al the frankensence whiche is vpon the meate offering, & shall burne it vnto a remembrance vpon the altar for a sweete savour, euen a memoriall of it vnto the Lord. And of the rest thereof, shall Aaron and his sonnes eat: vnto the place that it be eaten in the holie place: euen in the court of the tabernacle of witness, they shall eat it. It shall not be baken with leuen. I haue geuen it vnto them for their portion of my sacrifices. It is

moste holy, as is the sin offering and trespassse offering. All the males amonge the children of Aaron shall eat of it: It shall be a statute for euer in your generations concerning the sacrifice of the Lord: lette every one that toucheth it be holy. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: this is the offering of Aaron and of his sonnes whiche they shall offer vnto the Lord in the daye when he is anointed: the tenth part of an Ephah of flour for a meate offering perpetuall: halfe in the morning, and halfe at night: In the frying panne it shall be made with oyle. And when it is fryed, thou shalt bringe it in, and the baken offerings of this oblation minced small, shalt thou offer for a sweete savour vnto the Lord. And the priest of his sonnes that is anointed in his steade, shall offer it: It is the Lordes due, for euer it shall be burnt altogether. For every meate offering that is made for the priest shall be burnt all together, and shall not be eaten. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: speake vnto Aaron, and vnto his sonnes and saye: This is the lawe of the synne offering. In the place where the burnt offering is kylled, shall the synne offering be kylled before the Lord, for it is moste holie. The Priest that offereth it, shall eat it: In the holie place shall it be eaten, euen in the court of the tabernacle of witness. No man touche the fleshe thereof, save he that is hallowed. And who so sprinkleth of the blood thereof vpon any garment, thou shalt washe it in the holie place, there as it is sprinkled vpon. But the earthen pott that it is sodden in, shall be broken. And yf it be sodden in a brasen pot, it shall be scowped, and rynsed in the water. All the males among the Priestes shall eat thereof, for it is moste holie. And nao synne offeringe, whose blood is brought into the tabernacle of witness to reconcile withall in the holie place, shall be eaten, but shall be burnt in the fire.

This is the lawe of trespassse-offeringe: it is most holy. In the place where they kill the burnt-offering, shall they kill the trespassse-offeringe also, & his blood shall be sprinkled rounde aboute vpon the altar. All the fat thereof shall they offer: the rumpe and the fatte thereof that couereth the inwards, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them and vpon the lynes: and the abundance that is on the liuer shall thou take away with the kidneys, and the priest shall burne them vpon the altar, to be a sacrifice vnto the Lord: for it is a trespassse offeringe. All the males amonge the priestes shall eate thereof in the holy place, for it is most holy. As the sinne offering is, so is the trespassse-offering, one lawe serueth for both, and it shall be the priestes that receiue it therewith. And the prieste that offereth any mans burnt-offeringe, shall haue the fatne of the burnt-offeringe whiche he hath offered. And all the meate offering that is baken in the oven, and that is dressed vpon the gredder, and in the frying pan, shall be the priestes that offereth it. And euery meate offering that is mingled with oyle, and that is bryed, shall pertaine vnto all the sonnes of Aaron, and one shall haue as muche as a nother.

This is the lawe of the peace offering, when it is offered vnto the Lord. If he offer it to geue thanks, he shall bryng vnto his thank-offeringe sweete bakes mingled with oyle, and sweete makers annoynted with oyle, and bakes mingled with oyle of fine flour-fryed. He shall bryng hys offeringe vpon bakes of leuened bread, for his peace-offeringes, to geue thanks: and of all the sacrifice he shall offer one for an heue offeringe vnto the Lord, and it shall be the priestes that sprinkle the blood of the peace-offeringes. And the fleshe of the thank-offeringe in his peace-offerings shall be eaten, the same day that it is offered. And let him lay by nothinge of it vntill the morrowe. But if he offer his sacrifice by reason of a vow, or of his owne freewill, it shall be eaten the same daye that he offereth his sacrifice.

And yf ought remaine vntill the morrowe it may be eaten: but as much of the offered fleshe as remaineth vnto the thirde day, shall be burnt with fire. And if anye of the fleshe of his peace-offeringes be eaten in the thirde day, then shall he that offereth it, obayne no fauoure, neyther shall it be reckoned vnto him, but shall be an abomination. Therefore the soule that eateth of it shall beare his sinne. And the fleshe that toucheth any vncleane thinge shall not be eaten, but burnt with fyre: and all that be cleane, shall eate the fleshe. But yf any soule eate of the fleshe of the peace-offering that pertaineth vnto the Lord, hauinge his vncleaneesse vpon him: the same soule shall perishe from amonge his people. Whoeuer the soule that doth touche anye vncleane thinge, that is of the vncleaneesse of man, or of any vncleane beaste, or any abomination that is vncleane: and then eate of the fleshe of the peace-offeringe whiche pertaineth vnto the Lord, that soule shall perishe from his people. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and say. Ye shall eate no maner fatte of oxen of shepe and of goates: neuer the later the fat of the beast that dyeth alone, and the fatte of that whiche is tozned with wilde beastes, shall be occupied in any manner of vse, but ye shall in no wise eate of it. For whoeuer eateth the fatte of the beaste of whiche men vse to bryng an offeringe vnto the Lord, that soule that eateth it shall perishe from his people.

Whoeuer, ye shall eate no maner of bloude, whether it be of foule or of beaste. Whatsoeuer soule it be that eateth anye maner of bloude, the same soule shall perishe from his people. And the Lord talked with Moyses, saying: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and say: he that bringeth his peace-offeringe vnto the Lord, lette him bryng his gifte vnto the Lord of his peace-offeringe.

let his owne handes bringe the offerings of the Lord: euen the fat with the best shall he bring: that the best maye be waied for a waue offering before the Lord. And the priest shall burne the fatte vpon the alter, and the best shalbe Arons and his sonnes. And the right shoulder shall ye geue vnto the priest, for an heue offering, of your peace offerings. The same that offereth the blood of the peace offerings and the fatte, amonge the sonnes of Aaron, shall haue the righte shoulder for his parte, for the waue offering and the heu shoulder haue I taken of the children of Israel euen of their peace offerings, and haue geuen it vnto Aaron and vnto his sonnes: by a statute for euer of the children of Israel.

This is the annoyntinge of Aaron & the annoyntinge of his sonnes in the sacrifices of the Lord, in the day whē he offered them to be priestes vnto the Lord. And these be the sacrifices whiche the Lord commaunded to be geuen them (in the daye of their annoyntinge) of the children of Israel, by a statute for euer in their generation. This is the lawe of the burnt offering and of the meat offering, and of the sacrifice for sinne and trespass, for consecration, and for the peace offering: which the Lord commaunded Moyses in the mount of Synai, when he commaunded the children of Israel to offre their sacrifices vnto the Lord in the wilderness of Synai.

The vij. Chapter.

Exo. 28. AD the Lord spake vnto Moyses saying: take Aaron and his sonnes with hym, and the vestures and the annoynting oyle, and a yonge oxe for sinne, and two rammes, and a basket with sweete breade: and gather thou all the congregation together vnto the doore of the tabernacle of witness. And Moyses did as the Lord commaunded him, and the people were gathered together vnto the doore of the tabernacle of witness.

And Moyses sayde vnto the congregation: this is the thing which the Lord commaunded to be done. And Moyses brought Aaron and his sonnes, and washed theym with water, and put vpon him the aibe, and girded him with a girdle, and put vpon him the tunicle, (of yealow spicke) and put the Ephod thereon, which he girded with the bordered gyrdell that was in the Ephod, and bounde it vnto him therewith. And he putte the bestslappe thereon and put in the bestslap, Urims & Thumim. And he put the myster vpon his head, and put vpon the myster (euen vpon the fore front of his face) the golden plate of the holy crowne, as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And Moyses toke the annoynting oyle, and annoynted the tabernacle, and all that was therein, and sanctified them, and sprinkled thereof vpon the aulter seuen tymes, and annoynted the aulter, and all his vessels, the lauer and his foote, to sanctifie them (with the oile.) And he poured of the annoynting oyle vpon Arons head, and annoynted him, to sanctifie him. And Moyses broughte Arons sonnes, and put albes vpon them and girded them with girdles, and put bonets vpon their heades: as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And he brought the yonge oxe for sinne. And Aaron and his sonnes put their handes vpon the heade of the yonge oxe that was for sin. And Moyses slewe him, and toke of the blood, which he put vpon the hornes of the alter round aboute with his finger, and purified it, and poured the blood vnto the bottom of the alter, and sanctified it, and reconpled it. And he toke all the fatte that was vpon the inwards, and the aboundance of the liuer and the two kidnepes, and their fat, and Moyses burned it vpon the aulter. But the yonge oxe and his hide, his fleshe and his dong, he burnt with fyre without the host as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And he brought the ram for the burnt offering, and Aaron and his sonnes put their handes vpon the head of the ram, whiche Moses killed, and sprinkled the bloude vpon the altar rounde aboute, and Moses cutte the ram in peeces and burnt the heade, the peeces and the fatte, and washed the inwardes and the legges in water, and Moses burnt the ram euery whit vpon the altar, for a burnt sacrifice that it mighte be a sweete sauoure, and an offering vnto the Lord, as the lord commanded Moses. And he brought the other ram, namelye the ram of consecration (of the Priestes) and Aaron and his sonnes put their han-des vpon the head of the ram: whiche Moses slewe, and tooke of the blud of it, and put it vpon the tippe of Aarons right eare, and vpon the thombe of his right hande, and vpon the great toe of his right foot. And Moses brought Aarons sonnes, and putte of the bloude (of the ram) on the tip of the right eare of them, and vpon the thombes of their right handes, and vpon the great toes of their right fete, and Moses sprinkled the bloud vpon the altar round about. And he toke the fatte and the rumpe, and all the fat that was vpon the inwardes, and the aboundance of the liuer, and the two kidneys with their fat, and the right shouider. And out of the basket of sweete breade that was before the Lorde, he toke one sweete cake of oyled bread, and one wafer, and putte them on the fat, and vpon the right shouider and put altogether vpon Aarons han-des, and vpon his sonnes handes, and waited it a waue offeringe before the Lord. And Moses toke them from off their handes, and burnt them vpon the altar, euen vpon the burnt offering altar: for it was the sacrifice of consecration, for a sweete sauoure and a sacrifice vnto the Lorde. And Moses tooke the brest & waited it for a waueoffering before the Lorde, for it was of the ram of the consecration, and it was Moses part, as the Lorde commaunded Moses. And Moses toke of the anoyntinge oyle, and of the bloude whiche was vpon the altar, and spindled it vpon Aaron and vpon his be-stimentes, vpon his sonnes and on his sonnes bestimentes with him, and sanctified Aaron, his bestures, & his sonnes, and his sonnes bestures with him. And Moses sayd vnto Aaron and his sonnes: boyle the fleshe in the doore of the tabernacle of witnes, and there eate it with the breade that is in the basket of consecration, as I commaunded, saying: Aaron and his sonnes shal eate it: and that which remayneth of the breade, shall ye burne with fire. And ye shall not departe from the doore of the tabernacle of wit-nesse seuen dayes, vntill the dayes of your consecration be at an ende. For vii. dayes shall he fill your hande as he did this day: euen so the Lord hath commaunded to doe, to reconcile you withall. Therefore shall ye abide in the doore of the tabernacle of witnesse daye and night, seuen dayes long: and keepe the waiche of the Lorde, and ye shall not dye: for so I am commaunded. And so Aaron and his sonnes did all things which the Lord commaunded by the hande of Moses.

Ch. ix. Chapter.

And it fortuneth that in the big-day, Moses called Aaron and his sonnes, and the elders of Israel: and said vnto Aaron: take thee a calfe, a yong one out of the broue, for sinne, and a ram for a burnt offeringe: both without blemishe, and bring the before the Lorde. And vnto the children of Israel thou shalt speake, sayinge: take ye an he goate for sinne, and a calfe and a lambe both two of a yere olde, without blemishe for a burnt sacrifice, and an oxe and a ram for peace-offerings, to offer before the Lord, and a meat offering mingled with oyle, for to daye the Lorde will appeare vnto you. And they brought that (whiche Moses commaunded) before the tabernacle of witnesse, and all the congregation came and stood before the Lord. And Moses saide: this is the thing which the Lorde commaunded that ye should do: and the glorie of the Lorde shall appeare vnto you.

Exo. 29.

Heb. 5. a And Moyses sayde vnto Aaron: go vnto the aultar and offer thy sacrifice for sinne, and make an attonement for thee and for the people: and thou shalt offer the offeringe of the people, to reconcile them, as the Lord commaunded. Aaron therefore wente vnto the aultar, and slew the calfe whiche he had for sinne. And the sonnes of Aaron brought the bloud vnto him, and he dypte his finger in the bloude and put it vpon the hornes of the aultare, and powred the bloud vnto the botome of the aultar. But the fat and the two kidneys and the aboundance of the liuer of the sinneofferinge, he burnt vpon the aultar as the Lord commaunded Moyses.

Leut. 4. b The fleshe and the hide he burnt with fire withoute the holte. And he slew the burnt offeringe, and Arons sonnes broughte vnto him the bloud, whiche he sprinkled rounde aboute vpon the aultare. And they brought the burnt offeringe vnto him with the peeces thereof, and the heade: and he burnt it vpon the aultar, and did washe the inwardes and the legges, and burnt them vpon the burnt offeringe on the aultar. And then he brought the peoples offeringe, takinge the goate that the people had for the sacrifice of sinne, and slew it, and offered it for sinne, as he did the first. And brought the burnt offeringe, and offered it as the maner was, and Leut. 2. a brought the meate offeringe, and filled his hande thereof, and burnt it vpon the aultar, beside the burnt sacrifice of the morninge. He slew also the oxe and the ram for the peaceoffring, that the people hadde for them selues: and Arons sonnes brought vnto him the bloud whiche he sprinkled vpon the aultar rounde about, and tooke the fat of the oxe: and of the ram, the rumpe, and the fat that couereth inwardes, and the kidneys and the aboundance of the liuer: and they put the fatte vpon the breasts, and he burnt the fat vpon the aultar: but the breasts and the right shoulders Aaron waied for a waue offeringe before the Lord, as the Lord commaunded Moyses.

And Aaron lift vp his hande ouer the people, & blessed them, and came down from offeringe of the sinneofferinge, burnt offerings and peace offerings. And Moyses and Aaron wente into the tabernacle of witnesse & came out and blessed the people, and the glorie of the Lord appered vnto all the people. And ther cam a fire out from before the Lord and consumed vpon the aultar, the burnt offering, and the fat, which when all the people sawe, they gaue thanks, and fell on their faces.

Mad. Madab and Abihu, the sonnes of Aaron toke epyther one of the hyrcens, and put fire therein, and put sence ther vpon, and offered straunge fire before the Lord, which he commaunded them not, and there went a fire out from the Lord, and consumed them, and they died before the Lord. Then Moyses sayde vnto Aaron: this is it that the Lord spake, saying: I will be sanctified in them that come nye me, and before all the people I will be glorified. And Aaron helde his peace. And Moyses called Mitsael and Elapham the sons of Ozziel the vncle of Aaron, and said vnto them: come on, carpe youre brethren from the holie place oute of the holte. And they went to them, and caried the in their albes out of the holte, as Moyses had sayde. And Moyses sayde vnto Aaron, and vnto Elisazar, and Ithamar his sonnes: vncouer ye not youre heades, neyther rente youre clothes, leaste ye dye, and leaste wrath come vpon al the people. But let your brethren the hole house of Israel beweepe the burning which the Lord hath kindled. And goe not ye oute from the doze of the tabernacle of witnesse, leaste ye dye: for the anointinge oyle of God is vpon you. And they did as Moyses sayde. And the Lord spake vnto Aaron, saying: Thou shalt not drinke wine and stronge drinke, thou and thy sons that are with thee: when ye go into the tabernacle of witnesse, leaste ye dye. Let it be a lawe for ever throughout your generation, and that ye maye (haue knoweledge to) put difference betweene holpe and vnholpe, betweene vncleane and cleane, and that ye maye teache the children of Israel, al the statutes which the lord hath spoken vnto them by the hand of Moses. And Moses saide vnto Aaron and vnto Eleazar and Ithamar his sonnes that were left: take the meateofferinge that remaineth of the sacrifices of the Lord: & eate it with out leue beside the altar: for it is most holy: ye shall eate it in the holy place, because it is thy duety and thy sonnes duety of the sacrifices of the Lord: for so I am commaunded. And the waue brest and heuershoulder shall ye eate in a cleane place: thou and thy sons and thy daughters with thee. For they be thy duety and thy sonnes duety geuen out of the peaceoffringes of the children of Israel. The heuershoulder & the wauebrest shall they bringe in with the sacrifices of the fat, to waue it before the Lord, and it shalbe thyne and thy sons with thee: by a lawe for euer as the Lord hath commaunded.

D And Moses soughte the goate that was offered for sinne, and see, it was burnt. And he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar the sonnes of Aaron which were left aliv, saying: wherefore haue ye not eaten the sinne offeringe in the holpe place, seinge it is most holy: and God hath geuen it you to beare the sinne of the congregation, to make agrement for them before the Lord: Behold the blod of it was not brought in within the holy place. Ye shoulde haue eaten it in the holy place as I commaunded. And Aaron sayde vnto Moses: beholde, this day haue I offered their sinne offeringe and they burnt offeringe before the Lord, and it is chaunced me after this manner. And if I had eaten the sacrifice to day, shoulde it haue bene accepted in the sight of the Lord: And whē Moses hearde that, he was content.

A And the Lord spake vnto Moses and Aaron, and saide vnto them: speake vnto the children of Israel, & say these are the beastes which ye shall eate, amonge all the cattell that are on the earth: whatsoeuer parteth the hoofe, and deuiderth it into two clawes, and chaweth cudde amonge the beastes, that shall ye eate. Neuerthelesse, these shall ye not eate, of them that chawe cud, and deuiderth the hooves: as is the camell, which chaweth cud, but he deuiderth not the hoofe, therefore is he vncleane vnto you, euen so the coney which chaweth cud, but deuiderth not the hoofe: he is therefore vncleane to you. And the hare though he chaweth the cud, yet because he deuiderth not the hoofe, he is therefore vncleane to you. And agayne, the swine, though he deuiderth the hoofe into two clawes, yet he chaweth not the cud. He is vncleane to you. Of their fleshe shall ye not eate, and their carcases shal ye not touche, but let them be vncleane to you. These shall ye eate of all that are in the waters: whatsoeuer hath finnes & scales in the waters, seas, and riuers, that shall ye eate. And all that haue not finnes and scales in the sea and riuers, of all that moue and lue in the waters, let them be abomination vnto you: Ye shall not eate of their fleshe, but abhorre their carcases. Let al that haue no finnes nor scales in the waters be abominable vnto you. These are they which ye shal abhorre among the foules, and that oughte not to be eaten, for they are an abomination. The Eagle, the goshauke, and the cozmozant, the vulture, and the kite, after his kinde, and all rauens after theyr kinde, the estriche, the night crowe, the cuckowe, and the Owle after his kinde, the falcon, the storcke, the grewe, the owle, the backe, the pellican, the pye, the heron, the Jay, after his kinde, the lapwing, and the swalowe. Let all foules that creepe and go vpon all foure, be an abomination vnto you. Yet these maye ye eate, of euery creeping thinge that hath winges and goo vpon foure feete, euen those that haue knees aboue vpon theyr feete, to leape withall vpon the earth, euen these.

Whiche of these of them ye maye eat. the Arbe all that crepe: whosoever doth touch them when they be deade, shall be vn-uer any of the deade carcasses of them doth fall vpon, shall be vncleane: wheken. For they are vncleane, and shall be vnto you: neuerthelater, yet the fountaines and welles and collection of waters shall be cleane still. And who so toucheth their carcasses, shall be vncleane. If the deade carcasse of any suche fall vpon any seede sowed to sow, it shall yet be cleane still: but and if any water be powred vpon the seede, and a deade carcasse fall thereon, it shall be vncleane vnto you. If any beaste of which ye maye eat, dye, and any man touche the dead carcasse thereof, he shall be vncleane vntill the euen. He that eateth of the deade carcasse of it, shall wash his clothes and be vncleane vn-and not be eaten.

Whatsoeuer goeth vpon the brest, and whatsoeuer goeth vpon foure, or that hath two fete among all creeping thin-ges, that crepe vpon the earth, of that see ye eat not, for they are abhominable. Ye shall not make your soules abominable with nothing that creepeth neyther make your selues vncleane with them: that ye shoulde be defiled thereby. For I am the Lord your God We sanctified therefore, and ye shall be holie. For I am holie: and ye shall not defile your soules with any maner of creeping thinge, that creepeth vpon the earth. For I am the Lord, that brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall be holie therefore for I am holie. This is the lawe of beastes and foules, and of euery living creature, that moueth in the waters, and of euery creature that creepeth vpon the earth, that there maye be a difference betwene the vncleane and cleane, and betwene the beast that may be eaten, and the beast that ought not to be eaten.

The xii. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses: saying, speake vnto children of Israel & saye: if a woman hath conceived, and borne a menchilde, she shall be uncleane seuen dayes: euen in like maner as when she is put a part in time of her naturall diseale. And in the eyght daye the fleshe of the childes. for skynne shall be cutte awaye. And she shall then continue in the bloude of her purifying three and thirtie dayes. She shall touch no halowed thing nor come into the sanctuary, untill the time of her purifyinge be oute. If she beare a maydechild, she shall be uncleane two weekes, as when she hath her naturall diseale. And she shall continue in the bloude of her purifying three scoze and sixe dayes.

And when the dayes of her purifyinge are out: whether it be for a sonne or for a daughter, she shall bring a labe of one yere old for a burnt offering, and a yonge pigeon or a turtill done for sinne vnto the doore of the Tabernacle of witnessse and vnto the Priest: who shall offer the ym before the Lord, and make an attonement for her, and shee shall be purged of the issue of her bloude. And this is the lawe for her that hath bozne a male or female. But and if she be not able to bring a lambe, she shall bring: two turtles or two yonge pigeons: the one for the burnt-offerings, and the other for sinne.

And the Prieste shall make an attonement for her, and shee shall be cleane.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses & Aaron saying: when there appereth a rising in any mans fleshe, eyther a scabbe, or a glisteringe white: and the plage of a leprosie, be in the skin of his fleshe, hee shall be brought vnto Aaron the Priest, or vnto one of his sonnes the Priests, and the Priest shall loke on the soze in the skin of his fleshe. And when the heare in the soze is turned vnto white, and the soze also seme to be towar, the the skin of his fleshe it wilbe a plage of leprosie, and the priestes shall looke on him, and iudge him vncleane. If there be but a white pleke in the skynne of his fleshe, and seme not to be towar then the skin, nor the heare thereof is turned vnto white, the Priest shall shut him by seuen dayes. And the Priest shall loke vpon him again the seuenth day: And if the plague seme to him to abide still, and the plague growe not in the skin, the Priest shall shut him by yet. vii. dayes mo. And the Priest shall loke on him agayne the seuenth day. Then if the plague be darker, and not growen in the skynne, the Priest shall iudge him cleane, for it is but a skirfe. And he shall wash his clothes, and be cleane. But and if the scabbe growe in the skin after that he is sene of the Priest, and iudged cleane, hee shall be sene of the Priest againe. If the Priest see that the scabbe be growen abroad in the skin, the Priest shall make him vncleane: for it is a leprosie. When the plague of the leprosie is in a manne hee shall be brought vnto the Priest, and the Priest shall see him. And if the risinge be white in the skynne, and haue made the heare white, and there be rawe fleshe in the soze, it wilbe an old leprosie in the skynne of his fleshe. And the Prieste shall make him vncleane, and shall not shut him by seeinge he is vncleane. If a leprosy breake out abroad in the skynne, and couer all the skynne, from his head to his fote, whersoeuer the Priest looketh, and the Priest looke vpon him. And if the leprosie haue couered all his fleshe, he shall iudge the plague to be cleane, because it is all turned into whitenesse, and hee shall be cleane. But and yf there be rawe fleshe on him: when he is sene, hee shall be vncleane. And the Priest shall see the rawe fleshe, and declare him to be vncleane. For the rawe fleshe is vncleane seing it is a leprosy. Or if the rawe fleshe departe agayne, and chaunge vnto white, hee shall come to the Priest, and the Priest shall see him, and behold: If the soze be chaunged vnto white (and couer the whole man) the Priest shall iudge the plague cleane and hee shall be cleane: the fleshe also in whose skin there is a bile and is healed, and in the place of the bile, there appeare a white risinge, eyther a shining white & somewhat reddishe, it shall be seene of the Priest. And if when the Priest seeth him, it appeare lower then the skinne, and the heare therof be chaunged vnto white, the Priest shall iudge him vncleane: for it is a plague of leprosy, broken out of the bile. But and if the priest loke on it, and ther be no white heares therein, and if it be not lower then the skin, but be darker, the priest shall shut him vp. vii. dayes. And yf it spread abrode in the flesh, the Priest shall make him vncleane, seing it is a plague. But and if the spot stand still, and growe not, it is the printe of an hote pyle, and therfore the Priest shall declare him to be cleane. If there be anye fleshe, in whose skinne there is a hote burning, and the fleshe that burneth haue a white spot, somewhat reddishe or white, the Priest shall looke vpon it. And if the here in that bright spot be chaunged to white, and it appeare lower then the skinne, it is a leprosie broken out of the burning. And therfore the Priest shall iudge him vncleane, seing it is the plague of leprosie. But if the priest loke on it, and there be no white heare in the bright spotte, and be no lower then the other skin, but be darker, the Priest shall shut him vp seven dayes. And the Priest shall looke on him the seventh daye: And if it be growen abrode in the skinne, the Priest shall iudge him vncleane, seing it is the plague of leprosy. And yf the spot stand still in it and growe not in the skinne, but is darke, it is a risinge of the burninge, and the Priest shall therfore declare him cleane, seing it is the print of the burning. If a man or a woman hath a soze vpon the heade or the beard, the Priest shall see it. And if it appeare lower then the skin: and there be in it a yealow heare, and thin (more then it was wonte to be) the Priest shall iudge him vncleane, seing that the same fretting is a token of leprosie vpon the head or beard. And if the priest

loke on the soze of the print, & it seme not lower then the skin, and that the heare is not blacke, the priest shall shut vp the fretting soze seven dayes. And in the seventh day the priest shall loke on the soze: and if the soze be not growen, and there be in it no yealow heare, and the soze seme not lower then the skinne, he shall be shaven: but the place of the soze shall he not shane, and the priest shall shut vp the soze seven dayes mo. And in the seventh day the priest shall loke on the soze. And if the soze be not growen in the skinne, nor seme lower then the other skin, the Priest shall cense him, and he shall wash his clothes, and be cleane. But if the soze growe in the fleshe after his censing the priest shall loke on him. And if the soze be growen in the skin, the Priest shall not seke for yealow heare, for he is vncleane. But if hee see the printe stande still, and that there is blacke heare growen by therein, the soze is healed, and he shall be cleane, and the Priest shall declare him to be cleane. If there be white sportes in the skin of the flesh of man or woman, the priest shall looke vpon it. And if the spots in the skinne of their fleshe be somewhat darke and white withall, (hee maye be sure, that it is no leprosie) it is a freckle growinge in the fleshe: therfore is he cleane. And the man (whose heade is destitute of heare, wherby he is made balde) is cleane. And he that hath his heare out in his forehead, is forehead bald and cleane. If there be in the balde head or bald forehead a white reddishe soze scab, there is leprosie sprung vp in his bald head or bald forehead. And the priest shall loke vpon him and if the risinge of the soze be white reddishe in his bald head, or bald forehead after the manner of leprosie which is in the skinne of the fleshe, then he is a leperous man & vncleane. And the priest shall make him vncleane for the plague therof is in his head. The leper in whos the plague is, shall haue his clothes rent, & his heade bare, & shall put a covering vpon his lip, & shall be called vncleane & defiled.

And as long as the disease lasteth vpon him, he shall be defiled & vncleane, he shall dwell alone, euen withoute the host shall his habitation be. ¶ The cloth that the plague of leprosy is in, whether it be linnen or swollen, whether it be in the warp or woofe of linnen, or of swollen, either in a skinne or any thing made of skin, if the disease be pale, or somewhat reddishe in the cloth of skin: whether it be in a warp or woofe, or any thing that is made of skinne, then it is a plague of leprosy, & shall be shewed vnto the priest. ¶ The priest therfore shall see the plague, and that it be seuen dayes, and loke on the plague the seuenth day, which if it be increased in the cloth (whether it be in the warp or woofe, or in a skin) or in any thing that is made of skinne, it is the leprosy of a fretting soze: it is vncleane: and that cloth shall be burnt epyther warp or woofe, whether it be swollen or linnen, or any thing that is made of skinne, wherein the plague is, for it is a fretting leprosy, it shall be burnt in the fire. ¶ If the priest see that the plague is not growen in the cloth: either in the warp or woof, or in what soeuer thing of skinne it be, the priest shall commaunde them to walsh the thing, wherein the plague is, and he shall shut it by seuen dayes mo. And the priest shall looke on the plague agayne, after it is washed. And if the plague haue not changed his colour, and is spredde no further abroad, it is vncleane. ¶ Thou shalt burne it in the fyre, for it is fret inwarde in parte, or all together. And if the priest see that the plague is darker, after that it is washed, he shall rent it out of the cloth or out of the skin, or out of the warp or out of the woofe. And if it appeare any more in the cloth (epyther in the warp, or in the woofe, or in any thing made of skins) it is a waxing plague. ¶ Thou shalt burne the plague that is in it. Moreover, the cloth, either warp, or woof, or whatsoeuer thing of skin it be whiche thou hast washed, if the plague be departed therefrom, it shall be washed once agayne: and then shall it be cleane. ¶ This is the law of the plague of leprosy in a cloth, whether it be swollen or linnen, either in the warp or woofe, or in any thing of skinnes, to make it cleane or vncleane.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: ¶ This is the law of the leper in the daye of his cleansing: ¶ He shall be brought vnto the priest, and the priest shall go out without the hoste, and loke vpon him. And if the plague of leprosy be healed in the leper, then shall the priest commaunde that he whiche is to be cleansed, bring two liuing byrdes and cleane, and eade wood, and purple cloth, & plope. And the priest shall commaunde that one of the byrdes be killed in an earthen vessel, and vpon renning water. And he shall take the liuing birde, with the Edeze wood, the purple and the plope, and shall dippe them, and the liuing birde in the blood of the slayne bird vpon the renning water, & sprinkle vpon him (that muste be cleansed of his leprosy) seuen tymes, and cleanse him, and shall lette the liuing birde goe free into the feld. And he that is cleansed, shall walsh his clothes and haue of all his heare, and walsh him selfe in water, that he maye bee cleane. And after that shall he come into the hoste, and shall tarre without his Tente seuen dayes, but in the seuenth daye, he shall shawe of all his heare, namelye, his heade, his bearde, and his browes: euen all his heare shall be shauen of. And he shall walsh his clothes, and his fleshe in water, and he shall be cleane. In the epyghte daye he shall take two lambs without blemishe, and an ewe lambe of a yere olde without blemishe, and thre tenth deales of fyne flour for a meat offering mingled with oyle, and a log of oyle. And the priest that maketh him cleane, shall bring the man, that is to be made cleane, and those thinges, before the Lord, euen before the doore of the Tabernacle of witnesse. And the priest shall take one lambe, and offer him for trespass, and the log of oyle, and waue them before the lord. And he shall sla the Lambe in the place where the synneoffring, and the burnt offering are slayne: euen in the holy place. For as the synneoffring is euen so is the trespass offering the priestes: seying it is moste holpe. And the Priest shall take of the bloude of the trespass offering, and put it vpon the tippe of the righte eare of him that is to bee clesed, and vpon the thombe of his righte hande, and vpon the great toe of his righte fote. The priest shall take of the log of oyle, and poure it into the palme of his lesse hande, and dippe his righte finger in the oyle that is in his lesse hande, and sprinkle of the oyle with his synger seuen tymes before the Lord. And of the rest of the oyle that is in his hande, shall the Priest put vpon the typpes of the righte eare of him that is for to bee clesed, and vpon the thombe of his righte hande, and vpon the great toe of his right fote, euen vpon the bloud of the trespass offering. And the remaunte of the oyle that is in the priestes hande, he shall poure vpon the heade of him that is for to be clesed: and the Priest shall make an attonement for him before the Lord. And the priest shall offer the synneoffring, and make an attonement for him that is to bee clesed, for his vncleannesse. And then shall he kill the burnt offering, and the priest shall offer the burnt offering, and the meate offering vpon the aultare, and the Priest shall make

Dan attonement for hym, and he shal be cleane. • If he be pooze, and can not get so muche, he shall take one Lambe for a trespass offering to waue it for his clesyng, and a tenth deale of fine flower myngled with oyle for a meat offering, and a logge of oyle, and two turtle bones or twoe ponge pigeons, such as he is able to get, whereof the one shall be for synne, and the other for a burnt offering. And he shall bringe theym the viii. daye for his clesyng vnto the Priest before the doore of the Tabernacle of witness before the Lord

And the Priest shall take the Lambe that is for the trespass, and the logge of Oyle, and waue theym before the Lord. And he shall kill the Lambe for the trespass, and the Priest shall take of the bloud of the trespass offering, and put it vpon the tippe of his righte eare that is to be clesed, and vpon the thombe of his right hande, and vpon the great toe of his righte fote. And the priest shall poure of the oyle into his righte hande, and the priest shall with his synger sprinkle of the oyle that is in his lesse hande, seuen tymes before the Lord. And the Priest shall put of the oyle that is in his hand vpon the tippe of the righte eare of him that is to be clesed, and vpon the thombe of his right hande, and vpon the great toe of his right fote: euen in the place where the bloud of the trespass offering was put. And the rest of the oyle that is in the priestes hande, he shall putte vpon the heade of him that is to be clesed: that he may make an attonement for him before the lord. And he shall offer one of the turtle doves, or of the ponge pigeons, such as he can get: the one for a synoffring, and the other for a burnt offering, with the meat offering. And the Priest shall make an attonement for him that is to be clesed, before the Lord. • This is the lawe of hym, in whom is the plague of Leprosy, & whose hand is not able to gette that which pertaineth to his clesyng: And the Lord spake vnto Moses and Aaron, saying: When ye be come vnto the Lande of Canaan, which I geue you in possession. And if I put the plague of Leprosy in a house of the lande of your possession, he that oweth the house shall come, and tell the Priest, saying: Ape thinge that there is as it were a Leprosy in the house. And the Priest shall commaunde them to emptye the house before the Priest goe into it to see the plague: that all that is in the house be not made vncleane, and then muste the Priest go in, to see the house. If the Priest also see, that the plague is in the walles of the house, and that there be holow strakes pale or redde, which seeme to be lower thenne the wall it selfe, the Prieste shall goo oute at the house doores, and shut vp the house seuen dayes. And the Priest shall come agayne the seuenth daye, and if he see that the plague bee increased in the walles of the house, the Priest shall commaunde them to take awaye the stones. In whiche the plague is, and let them call theym into a foule place withoute the Citie, and he shall commaunde the house to bee scraped within rounde aboute, and poyse out the duske (that they scrape of) withoute the Citie into a foule place. And they shall take other stones, and put theym in the places of those stones, and other morter, to plaster the house withall. And yf the plague come agayne, and breake out in the house, after that he hath taken awaye the stones, and scraped the walles of the house, and after that he hath plastered the house anewe, the Priest shall come and see it. And if he perceaue, that the plague hath growen further in the house, it is a frettinge leprosie in the house. It is therefore vnclene. And he shall breake downe the house. And the stones of it, and the timber thereof, and all the morter of the house shall he carpe oute of the citie vnto a foule place. Moreouer, he that goeth into the house at the while that it is shutte vp, shall be vnclene vntill the euen. He that sleepeyth in the house, shall walsh his clothes, he likewise that eateth in the house, shall walsh his clothes. And yf the Priest come and see, that the plague hath spread no further in the house, (after that it is newe plastered) the Prieste shall iudge that howse cleane, because the plague is healed. And let him take to cleanse the house withall: two byrdes, Cedar wood, purple cloth, and ysope. And he shall kill one of the birdes in an earthen vessell, and vpon running water: and take the Cedar wood, and the ysope, and the purple with the liuing birde, and dippe theym in the bloude of the slayne birde, and in the running water, and sprikle the house seuen tymes, and cleanse the house with the bloud of the birde, and with the running water, with the liuing birde, with the Cedar wood, and the ysope, and the purple cloathe. But he shall let the liuing bird flye out of the towne into the brode fieldes, and so make an attonement for the house, and it shall be cleane. This is the law that al maner plague of leprosie and breakeinge out, and of the leprosie of cloath and house: for a swelling, for a scabbe, and for a white blister. To teache when it must be made vnclene and cleane. This is the lawe of Leprosie.

Chc. xv. Chapter.

AD the Lorde spake vnto Moyses and Aaron, sayinge: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israell, and saye vnto theym: Who so ener hath a runninge issue out of his flesh, is vnclene by reason of that issue. And this shalbe the token of his vnclennesse in his issue: when he is vnclene. If his flesh runne, or if his flesh congele by the reason of his issue, then is it vncleannes. Every couche wheron he lyeth that hath the issue, is vnclene, and every thing wher on he sitteth, is vnclene: Whosoener toucheth his couche, shall walsh his clothes, and bathe him selfe in water, and be vnclene vntill the euen. And he that sitteth on any thing wheron he sat that hath the issue, shall walsh his clothes, and bathe himself in water, and be vnclene vntill the euen. He that toucheth the flesh of him that hath the issue, shall wash his clothes, and bathe him self in water, and be vnclene vnto the euen. If he also that hath the issue, spit vpon him that is cleane, he shall walsh his clothes, and bathe himself in water, & be vnclene vntill euen. And what howse harnesse soeuer he rideth vpon, that hath the issue, shall be vnclene. And who so ener toucheth any thing that was vnder him, shall be vnclene vnto the euen. And he that beareth any suche thinges, shall walsh his clothes, and bathe him selfe in water, and bee vnclane vnto the euen. And who so euer he toucheth that hath the issue, (and haue not firste washed his handes in water) shall wash his clothes, and bathe him selfe in water, and bee vnclane vnto the euen. ¶ The vessell of earth that he toucheth, which hath the issue, shalbe broken: and all vessels of wood shalbe rensed in water. When he also, that hath an issue, is cleansed of his issue, he shall number vii. dayes for his cleansing, and washe his clothes, and bathe his flesh in running water, and so shall he be cleane. And the viii. day he shall take to him two turtle doves, or two yonge pigeons, & come befoze the Lorde, vnto the doore of the Tabernacle of witnesse, and geue theym vnto the Priest. And the Priest shall offer them: the one for a sinoffring, and the other for burnt offering: and the Priest shall make an attonement for him befoze the Lorde, as concerning his issue. If any mans seede depart from him in his sleepe, he shall washe his flesh in water, and be vnclane vntill euen. And all the clothes and al the furre, wherin is such seede of sleepe, shall be washed with water, and be vnclane vntill the euen. And if he that hath suche an issue of seede, do lye with a woman, they shall both washe them selues with water, and be vnclane vntill euen. ¶ If a womans naturall course of blood do run, she shall be put aparte, vii. dayes: who soeuer toucheth her, shall be vnclane vnto the euen. And all that she lyeth vpon, in the time of her naturall disease, shall be vnclane like as euery thing also that she sitteth vpon, is vnclane. Whosoever toucheth her bed, shall washe his clothes, and bathe him selfe in water, and be vnclane, vnto the euen. And who soeuer toucheth any thing that she sat vpon, shall washe his clothes, and bathe himselfe in water, and be vnclane vnto the euen: so that whether he touche her couche, or any vessel wheron she hath sitten, he shall bee vnclane vnto the euen. And if a man lye with her, and her vn-

cleannesse come vpon him, he shall be vnclane, vii. dayes, and all the couche whereon he lyeth, shall bee vnclane. ¶ When a womannes bloude runneth long time: out of the time of her naturall course: or yf it runne beyonde her naturall course, let all the dayes of the yssue bee iudged vnclane, euen as the dayes of her naturall disease. And she shalbe vnclane. ¶ If her couches wheron she lyeth (as long as her yssue lasteth) shall be as her couche when she hath her naturall disease. And what soeuer she sitteth vpon, shall bee vnclane, as is her vnclannesse, when she is put a parte. And whosoever toucheth any of these, shalbe vnclane, and shall wash his clothes, and bathe him selfe in water, and be vnclane vnto the euen. And after that she is cleansed of her issue, he shal count her seuen days, and after that she shalbe cleane. ¶ In the viii. daye shee shall take vnto her two turtles or two yong pigeons, and bring them vnto the priest befoze the doore of the Tabernacle of witnesse. And the Priest shal offer the one for a sinoffring, and the other for a burnt offering: & make an attonement for her befoze the Lord, as concerning the issue of her vnclennesse. ¶ Therfoze shal he separate the children of Israel fro their vnclennesse, & they die not in their vnclannesse: if they defile my habitation that is among them. ¶ This is the law of him that hath a running issue, and of him whose seede runneth from him in his sleepe, and is defiled therein, and of her, that (for her naturall disease) is put a parte, and of whosoever hath a running issue, whether it be man or woman, and of him that lyeth with her, whiche is vnclane.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moses, after the deth of the two sonnes of Aaron, when they offered befoze the Lord, and died: And he sayde vnto Moses: Speake vnto Aaron thy brother, that he come not at all times into the holie place, within the baile befoze the mercyseate, which is vpon the arke, that he dye not. Leu. 18. c

Le. 8. b Will appeare in the cloude vpon the mercyseate. But with this thinge shall Aaron come to the holy place: with a bullocke for sinne, and with a ram for a burnt offering. He shall put the holpe linnen albe vpon him, and shall haue a linnen byche vpon his flesh, and shalbe girded with a linnen girdle, and put the linnen mytre vpon his head: These are holpe garmentes: therefore shall he walke his fleshe in water, when he doeth putte them on. And he shall take of the multitude of the childezen of Israel, two he goates for synne, and a ram for a burnt offering. And Aaron shall offer his bullocke for sinne, and make an attonement for him, and for his house. And he shall take the two goates, and present them before the Lord at the doore of the tabernacle of witnes. And Aaron shall cast lottes ouer the two goates: one lotte shall be for the Lord, and the other for the scapegoate. And Aaron shall bring the goate vpon which the Lordes lotte fell, and offer him for sinne. But the goate on which the lotte fel to scape, shalbe set alivie before the Lord, to reconcile with, and to let him goe (as a scape goate) free, into the wilderness. And Aaron shal bring his bullocke for synne, and reconcile for him selfe, and for his house: and shall kill his bullocke for sinne. And he shall take a censer full of burning coales out of the altar before the Lord, and shall fill his hande full of sweete cens, beate smal, and bring them with in the vayle, and put the cens vpon the fyre before the Lord, that the cloude of the cens may couer the mercyseate that is vpon the witnesse, and that he dye not. And hee shall take of the blood of the bullocke, and sprinkle it with his finger vpon the mercyseate eastward: and before the mercyseate shal be sprinkled of the blood with his finger seuen times. Then shall he kill the goate that is the peoples sinneoffering, and bringe his bloude within the vayle, and do with that bloude as he did with the bloude of the bullocke, sprinklyng it vpon the mercyseate, and before the mercyseate. And he shall reconcile the holpe place from the uncleannes of the childezen of Israel, and from their trespasses in all their sinnes. And so shall he doo for the tabernacle of witnesse that is set amonge them, euermonge their uncleannes. And lette there bee no body in the tabernacle of witnesse when he goeth to make an attonement in the holy place vntill he come out. And lette him make an attonement for hym selfe and for his household, and for all the multitude of Israel. And he shall go out vnto the altar that is before the Lord, and reconcile vpon it, and shall take of the blood of the bullocke, and of the blood of the goate, and put it vpon the hornes of the altar rounde about, and sprinkle of the bloude vpon it with his finger seuen tymes, and cleanse it, and halowe it from the uncleannes of the childezen of Israel. And when he hath made an ende of reconciling the holy place, and the tabernacle of witnes, and the altar, hee shall bringe the liue goate, and Aaron shall put both his handes vpon the head of the liue goate, and confesse ouer him all the misdoedes of the childezen of Israel, and all their trespasses, in all their sinnes, puttinge thym vpon the heade of the goate, and sende him away (by the hand of a contentent manne) into the wilderness. And the goate shall beare vpon him all their misdoedes vnto the wilderness, and he shall lette the goate goe free into the wilderness. And Aaron shall come into the tabernacle of witnesse, and put of the linnen clothes which he put on (when he went in into the holy place) and leaue thym there. And let him walke his fleshe with water in the holy place, and put on his owne rayment, and then come out, and offer his burnt offering and the burnt offering of the people, and make an attonement for him selfe, and for the people, and the fat of the sinne offering shall he burne vpon the altar. And he that carped south the goate to Azazel, shal wash his clothes, & bathe his fleshe in water, and then come into the the holste. And the bullocks which is for sinne, and the goat that is for sinne (whose bloods was broughte in, to cleanse the holy place) shall one carpe out without the holste to be burnt in the fyre with their skins, their fleshe and their dong: And he that burneth theym, shall walke his clothes, and bathe his fleshe in water, and thenne come into the host. And this shall be an ordinance for ever vnto you: that in the tenth daye of the seventh moneth ye humble your soules, and doo no woorkes at all, whether it bee one of your selues, or a stranger that sojourneth among you: for that day shall the Priests make an attonemente for you to cleanse you, and that ye may be clean from all your sinnes before the Lord. Let it be a Sabbath of rest vnto you, and ye shall humble your soules, by an ordynance for ever. And the priest that is annoynted, and whose hande was consecrated (to minister in his fathers steede) shall make the attonement, and shall put on the linnen clothes and holy vestmentes, and reconcile the holpe sanctuarie and the Tabernacle of witnesse, and shall cleanse the altare, and make an attonemente then, for the Priests, and for all the people of congregation. And this shall be an everlastinge ordynance vnto you, that he make an attonemente for the chyldren of Israel for all their sinnes once a yere: and he didde as the Lord commaunded Moyses.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: Speake vnto Aaron, and vnto his sonnes, and vnto all the chyldren of Israel, and say vnto them: This is the thing whiche the lord hath charged, saying: What man soeuer of the house of Israel killeth an ore, or lambe, or goate in the holste, or that killeth it oute of the holste, and bringeth it not vnto the doore of the tabernacle of witnesse, to offer an offering vnto the lord before the dwelling place of the lord, blood shall be imputed vnto that manne, as though he had shedde bloude, and that man shall be rooted oute from amonge his people. Wherefore, when the chyldren of Israel bring their offerings, that they offer in the wyde felde, they should bring them vnto the Lord: euen vnto the doore of the Tabernacle of witnesse to the priest, to offer theym for peaceofferings vnto the Lord.

And the priest must sprinkle the blood vpon the alter of the Lord, whiche is before the doore of the Tabernacle of witnesse, and burne the fat for a sweete sauour vnto the Lord. And let them no more offer their offerings vnto deuilles, after whom they have gone a whooring. This shall be an ordynance for ever vnto them in their generations. And thou make saye vnto them: Whatsoeuer man it be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers, which so iourne among you that offeth a burnt offeringe or sacrifice, and byngeth it not vnto the doore of the Tabernacle of witnesse to offer it vnto the Lord, that man shall perishe from amonge his people. And whatsoeuer man it be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn among you, that eateth any manner of bloude, I will set my face agaynst that soule that eateth bloude, and will destrope him from amonge his people: for the lyfe of the fleshe is in the bloude, and I haue geuen it vnto you vppon the altare, to make an attonement for your soules, for bloude shall make an attonement for the soule. And therefore I sayde vnto the chyldren of Israel: Lette no soule of you eate bloude. Nepther let any stranger that sojourneth among you, eate bloude. And whatsoeuer man it be of the chyldren of Israel, or of the strangers that sojourn amonge you, which hunteth, and catcheth any beast or fowl that may be eaten, let him powre out the bloude thereof, and carter it with earth: for the lyfe of all fleshe is in the bloud of it, therefore I sayde vnto the chylderne of Israel: ye shall eate the bloud of no manner of fleshe, for the lyfe of all fleshe, is the bloude thereof: whosoener eateth it, for she is thy mothers next kinswoman. Thou shalt not discouer the secretes of thy fathers brother: that is, thou shalt not go into his wife, whiche is thine aunte. The .xix. Chapter.

AND the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying: Speake vnto al the multitude of the children of Israel, and say vnto them: Ye shalbe holpe, for I the Lord your God am holy. Ye shall feare euery mā his father & his mother, and kepe my Sabbothes: I am the Lord your God. Ye shall not turne vnto ydoles, nor make you Gods of metall: I am the Lord your god. If ye offer a peace offering vnto the Lord, ye shall offer it that ye may be accepted. It shalbe eaten the same daye ye offer it, and on the morrowe. And if ought remaine vntill the third day, it shalbe burnt in the fire. And if it be eaten the thirde day, it is vncleane, and not accepted. He that eateth it, shal beare his sinne, because he hath defiled the halowed thing of the Lord, and that soule shall perishe from amonge his people.

When ye reape downe the ripe corne of your lande, ye shall not reape down the bruiest border of your field, neyther shalt thou gather that whiche is lesse behinde in thy harueste. Thou shalt not plucke in all thy vinegarde cleane, neyther gather in the grapes that are ouerscaped. But thou shalt leaue them for the poore and stranger.

I am the Lord your God. Ye shall not scale, neyther lye, neyther deale falsely one with an other. Ye shall not sweare by my name in bayne: neyther shalt thou defile the name of thy God. I am the Lord. Thou shalt not do thy neyghbour wrong, neyther robbe him violently, neyther shalt the workemans labour abide with thee vntill the morning. Thou shalt not curse the deaffe, neyther put a stomblinge blocke before the blinde: but shalt feare thy God. I am the Lord. Ye shall do no vnrighteousnes in iudgement. Thou shalt not fauor the poore, nor honoꝛ the mighty, but in righteousness shalt thou iudge thy neyghbour. Thou shalt not goe vp and downe as a priuie accuser among people, neither shalt thou stand against the blood of thy neyghbour: I am the Lord. Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart, but shalt in anye wise rebuke thy neyghbour: that thou beare not sinne for his sake. Thou shalt not auenge thy selfe, nor bee mindefull of wrongs agaynst the children of my people, but shalt loue thy neyghbour euen as thy selfe. I am the Lord. Ye shall kepe mine ordinances. Thou shalt not let cattel gender with a contrarpe kinde, neyther sowe thy field with mingled seede, neyther shalt thou put on any garment of linnen and wollen. Whosoener lyeth and meddeth with a woman, that is a bondmayde, neuertheless appoynted to a husband, but not redeemed, nor freedom geuen her, she shalbe scourged with a lathern whippe, and they shall not die, because she was not free. And he shall bzing for his trespass vnto the Lord, before the doore of the Tabernacle of witnesse, a ramme for a trespass offering. And the Priest shall make an attonement for him with the ramme, which is for the trespass before the Lord, concerning his sinne, whiche he hath doone, and the sinne whiche he hath done, shalbe forgiven him. When ye come to the land, and haue planted all manner of trees conuenient to be eaten of, ye shall put away the foreskin of euery one with the fruite thereof: euen .iii. yeare shall they be vncircumcised vnto you, and shall not bee eaten of. But in the fourth yeare, all the fruite of them shall be holy and commendable to the Lord. In the fift yeare shall ye eate of the fruite of them, that ye may gather in the increase of them. I am the Lord your God. Ye shall not eat hyppon blood, neyther shall ye ble witchcraftes, nor obserue times.

 • Ye shall not rounde the lockes of your heads, neyther shalt thou marre the tates of thy bearde. Ye shall not rent your flesh for any soules sake, nor print any markes vpon you: I am the lord. • Thou shalt not make thy daughter common: that thou wouldest cause her to be an whoore: least the lande also fall to whozdom, & be ful of wickednesse. Ye shall keepe my Sabborbes, and feare my Sanctuarie: I am the Lord. Ye shall not regarde them that wooke with spirites, • neyther seeke after sothsayers to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God. • • Thou shalt rise vp before the forehead, and reuerence the face of the olde man, and dread thy God. I am the Lord. If a stranger sojourn with thee in your land, ye shall not vex him. • But the stranger that dwelleth with you, shall be as one of your selues, & thou shalt love him as thy self: for ye were strangers in the lande of Egypt. I am the Lord your God. Ye shall doo no vn-righteousness in iudgement, in metyard, in weyghte or in measure. True balances, true weyghtes. A true E-pha, and a true hin, shall ye haue. I am the lord your God, which brought you out of the lande of Egypt. • Therfore shall ye obserue all my ordinaces, and all my iudgements, and doo them. I am the Lord.

After the Lord spake vnto Moses, sayinge: • This shalt thou say to the chyldren of Israel, whosoener he be of the chyldre of Israel or of the strangers that dwell in Israel, that geureth of his seede vnto • Moloch, let him be slayne: the people of the lande shall stone him. And I will set my face agaynst that man, and will destroye him from amonge his people: because he hath geuen of his seede vnto Moloch, for to despye my sanctuarie, and to pollute my holy name. And though that the people of the lande, hyde theyr eyes from the man that geureth of his seede vnto Moloch, and kill him not, I will put my face against that man, and against his kinned, and will destroye him, and all that goe a whoozinge after him, to committe whozedom with Moloch, from amonge theyr people. • If a soule tourne him selfe after suche as wooke with spirites, and after soth-sayers, to go a whoozing after them, I will put my face against that soule, and will destroye him from amonge his people. Sanctify your selues therfore • and be holy, for I am the Lord your God, kepe ye mine ordinaunces, and doo them. I am the Lord, which both sanctifie you. • Whosoener hee be, that curseth his father or his mother, lette him die: for he that curseth his father and mother, his bloude be vpon him • And the man that breaketh wedlocke with an other mannes wife: euen he that breaketh wedlock with his neihours wife: let him be slayne, both the aduoutre and the aduoutresse.

 And the man that lieth • with his fathers wife, & vncouereth his fathers secretes, lette theym both dye, theyr bloude be vpon them. • If a man lye with his daughter in lawe, let them dye both of them: they haue wrought abomination, theyr bloude bee vpon them. • If a man also lye with mans kinde, after the manner as with womankinde, they haue bothe committed an abomination: lette theym dye.
 Their bloude be vpon them. And, If a man take a wife and her mother also, it is wickednesse. They shall bee burnt with fire, both he and she, that there bee no wickednesse amonge you. And, If a man lye with a beast, let him dye, and ye shall slea the beast also. If a woman go vnto any beast, and lye downe therto: • Thou shalt kill the womā, and the beast also, let them dye, their bloude be vpon them. If a man take his sister, his fathers daughter, or his mothers daughter, and see her secretes, and we his secretes. It is a shamefull thinge. They shall perishe in the sight of theyr people, he hath vncouered his sisters secretes, he shall beare his sinne. • If a man lye with a woman hauing her naturall disca-and vncover her secretes and open her fountain, & she also open the fountayne of her bloude: they shall both perishe from amonge theyr people. • Thou shalt not vncover the secretes of thy Fathers Sister, nor of thy Mothers sister. For hee that doeth so shall vncover his nexte kin, they shall beare their misdoinge. If a man lie with his vncles wife, and vncover his vncles secretes: they shall beare their sinne, and shall dye childlesse. If a man take his brothers wife, it is an vncleane thinge, he hath vncovered his brothers secretes, they shall beare childlesse. Ye shall keepe therefore all mine ordinaunces and all my iudgements, and doo theym: that the lande whither I bring you to dwell therein speake you not oute. Ye shall not walke in the manners of this nation, which I cast out before you. For they committed all these things, • and therefore I abhorred theym. But I haue sayde vnto you: ye shall enioye their lande, and I will geue it vnto you to possesse it, euen a lande that floweth with milke and hony. I am the Lord your God, whiche haue separated you from other nations, • and therefore shall he put difference betweene cleane beastes and vncleane, betweene vncleane soules and cleane. Ye shall not despyle your soules in beastes and soules, and in all maner creeping thinges that the grounde bringeth forth, which I haue separated from you, as vncleane. Therefore shall ye be holpe vnto me, for I the Lord am holy, and haue sanctured you from other nations that ye shoulde be mine. If there be a man or woman that worketh with a spirite, that is a southsayer, let them dye. Whene shall stoane theym with stones, their bloud bee vpon them.

¶ And the Lord saide vnto Moyses: speake vnto the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron, and say vnto them: Let none be despyled vpon a soule amonge his people: but vpon his kinsfellow, that is nye vnto him: vpon his father, and his mother, vpon on his sonne & daughter, and his brother, and on his sister a mayde that is nye vnto him, whom no manne hath knowne, vpon her shall he be despyled.

But hee shall not be despyled vpon him that hath ancharitie amonge his people, to pollute him selfe for him.

Let them not make • baldnesse vpon their heade, nor shawe off the locke of their bearde, nor make any markes in their flesh.

They shall be holpe vnto their God, and not pollute the name of their God: for the sacrifices of the Lord which are as the bread of their

God they do offer: therefore they shall be holpe. Let them not take a wife that is an aduoutrisse, or polluted, nor put from her husbände, for suche a one is holpe vnto his God.

Thou shalt sanctifie him therefore, for hee offereth by the breade of thy God: he shall therefore be holpe vnto thee: for I the Lord which sanctifie you, am holpe.

If a Priestes daughter fall to playe the whoore, shee polluterh her father: therefore must she be burnt with fyre.

He that is the hye priest amonge his brethren, vpon whose heade the anoynting oyle was powred, and that consecrated his hand to put on • bestimantes, shall not vncover his heade, nor rent his clothes, • neyther go to anye deade bodie, nor make himselfe vncleane on his father or his mother, neyther shall go out of the sanctuarie, neyther pollute the holpe place of his God, for the crowne of the anoynting oyle of his God, is vpon him.

I am the Lord. • He shall take a maide vnto his wife: but a widowe, a deuorced woman, or an harlotte, shall he not marie. But shall take a mayde of his owne people to wife.

Neyther shall hee despyle his seede amonge his people: for I am the Lord which sanctifie him. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: speake vnto Aaron, and saye: whosoener of thy seede in their generations hath anye defozmitie, let him not ppeare for to offer breade vnto his God.

For whosoener hath any blemishe: shall not come neere: as if he be blinde or lame, oz that hath a brysted nose, oz that hath anye misshapen member, oz is broken footed, oz broken handed, oz haue no heare on his eye browes, oz haue a werbe oz other blemishe in his eyes, oz be mangie oz shauide, oz hath his stones broken. No man that hath a blemishe, and is of the seede of Aaron the Priest, shall come nye to offer the sacrifice of the Lord. When he hath a deformitie, let him not preece to offer the bread of his God. Lette him eate the bread of his God: euen of the most holy and of the holy: Surely let him not go in vnto the vople, nor come nye the altar, when he is deformed, that he pollute not my sanctuary, for I am the Lord that sanctifie them. And Moses told it vnto Aaron and to his sonnes, and vnto al the childzen of Israel.

The .xxii. Chapter.

Ad the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying: Speake vnto Aaron and his sonnes, that they be separated from the holy thinges of the childzen of Israel, and that they pollute not my holpe name in those thinges which they halloze vnto me: I am the Lord. Say vnto them: Who soeuer he be of all your seede amonge your generations after you, that goeth vnto the holy thinges, which the childzen of Israel halowe vnto the Lord, hauing his uncleannesse vpon him: that soule shall perishe from oute of my sight. I am the Lord. What man soeuer of the seede of Aaron is a lepre oz hath a runninge issue, he shall not eate of the holpe thinges vntill he be cleane. And who so toucheth any man that is uncleane ouer the soule of the deade, oz a man whose seede runneth from him in his sleepe, oz whosoever toucheth any womne, whereby he may be made uncleane, oz a man, of whom he maye take uncleannesse (whatsoeuer uncleannesse he hath) the same soule that hath touched anye suche, shall bee uncleane vntill euen, and shall not eate of the holpe thinges, vntill hee haue washed his fleshe with water. And when the sunne is downe he shall be cleane, and shall afterwarde eate of the holpe thinges: for as muche as it is his foode. Of a beast that dyeth alone, oz is rente with wyld beasts (whereby he may be defiled) he shall not eate. I am the Lord. Lette them kepe therfoze mine ordeinaunce, least they for the same, lade sinne vpon them, and dye for it, yf they defile it. I the Lord sanctifie them. There shall no stranger eate of the holy thing neyther a guest of the Priest, neither shall an hyred seruaunt eate of the holy thinge. But if the Priest dye anye soule with money, he shall eate of it, like as he that is bozne in his house shall they eate of his breadde. If the Priestes daughter also be married vnto a straunger, she maye not eate of the halowed heane offerings.

Notwithstandinge, yf the Priestes daughter be a widowe oz deuorced, and haue no chyld, but is returned vnto her fathers house agayne, shee shall eate of her fathers bread, as well as she didde in her yowthe. But there shall no straunger eate thereof. If a man eate of the holpe thinges vntowittingly, he shall put the fyfthe parte thereof vnto, and geue it vnto the Priest with the halowed thinge. And the Priestes shall not defile the holy thinges of the childzen of Israel, whiche they offer vnto the Lord, to lade them selues with misdoing, & trespass whyle they eate their holpe thinges, for I the Lord do halowe them.

Ad the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying: Speake vnto Aaron and his sonnes, and vnto al the childzen of Israel, and saye vnto them: Whatsoeuer bee of the house of Israel, oz straunger in Israel, that will offer his sacrifice for all his bowes, and for all his freewill offerings whiche they will offer vnto the Lord for a burnt offering, ye shall offer (to reconcile your selues) a male without blemish of the oren, oz of shepe, oz of the goates. But whatsoeuer hath a blemish, that shall ye not offer, for ye shall gette no fauoure therewith. And who so euer bringeth a peace offering vnto the Loꝛde (according as he is appointed) of a boꝛe, of a freewill offering, in oꝛ of sheepe, that is without defozmitie he shalbe accepted. There shal be also no blemishe therein: blind or broken, or wounded, or haue a wen, or be mangie or scabbed. Ye shall not offer suche vnto the Loꝛde, nor put an offering of any suche vpon the altar vnto the Loꝛde. In oꝛ of a shepe that hath any member out of proportion mayest thou offer for a freewill offering, but for a boꝛe it shall not be accepted. Ye shal not offer vnto the Loꝛd that which is bꝛoofed, or broken, or plucked out, or cut away, neyther shal ye make anye suche in your lande, neyther of a straungers hande shall ye offer bꝛeade vnto your God of anye suche. Because their corruption is in theym, and they haue defozmitie in theym selues, and therefore shal they not be accepted for you. And the Loꝛde spake vnto Moyses, saying: when an oꝛ of a shepe, or a goate is brought foorth, it shal be seuen daies vnder the damme. And from the viii. day foorth, it shalbe accepted, for a sacrifice vnto the Loꝛde. And whether it be oꝛ of shepe, he shall not kyll it, and her yong both in one day. Whe ye will offer a thankoffring vnto the Loꝛd, offer it y he may be accepted. And the same daye it muste be eaten vp, so that ye leaue none of it vntill the morowe. I am the Loꝛde. Therefore shall ye kepe my commandmentes and do them. I am the Loꝛd. Neither shal ye pollute my holy name, but I will be halowed amonge the children of Israel. I am the Loꝛd which halowe you, and that brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the Loꝛde.

And the Loꝛd spake vnto Moyses, saying: Speake vnto the children of Israel: and saye vnto them: These are my feastes, euen the feastes of the Loꝛd, which ye shall call holy conuocations. Sixe dayes ye shall worke, but the seventh daye is the Sabbath of reste, an holy conuocation: so that ye do no worke therein, it is the Sabbath of the Loꝛde, in all your dwellings. These are the feastes of the Loꝛde, euen holy conuocations, whiche ye shall proclayme in their seasons. In the foure and twenty daye of the fyfte moneth at euen is the Loꝛdes Passouer. And on the fyfteenth daye of the same moneth, is the feaste of swete bꝛeade vnto the Loꝛde: seuen dayes ye muste eate vnleuened bꝛeade. In the firste daye ye shall haue an holy conuocation: ye shall do no laborious worke therein. But ye shall offer sacrifices vnto the Loꝛde throughout these seuen dayes, and in the seventh daye is an holy conuocation: ye shall doo no laborious worke therein. And the Loꝛde spake vnto Moyses, saying: speake vnto the children of Israel, and saye vnto them. When ye be come into the lande (whiche I geue vnto you) and reape doꝛne the harvest thereof, ye shall bringe a sheafe of the fyfte fruites of your harvest vnto the Priest, whiche shall haue the sheafe before the Loꝛde to be accepted for you: and euen the morowe after the Sabbath, the priest shall waue it. And ye shall offer that daye when ye haue the sheafe, an he lambe without blemishe of a yere olde, for a burnt offering vnto the Loꝛd and the meate offering thereof, shall be made of two tenth deales of fyne flower mingled with oyle, to bee a sacrifice vnto the Loꝛde for a swete sauoure: and the drinke offering thereof, shall be of wyne, euen the fourth deale of an hin. And ye shall eate neither bꝛeade, nor parched corne, nor fumentie, nor newe corne, vntill the selfe same daye that ye haue brought an offering vnto your God. Let this be a lawe for euer in youre generations, and in all your dwellings. And ye shall counte from the morowe after the Sabbath: euen from the daye, that ye broughte the sheafe of the waue offeringe, seuen Sabbathes complete: Euen vnto the morowe after the seventh Sabbath, shall ye number fyfte dayes.

And yee shall bringe a newe meat offering vnto the Lord. And ye shall bringe out of your habitations two sconces made of two tenth deales of fine floure, and that are made with leuen for first frutes vnto the Lord. And ye shall bringe with the breade seven lambes without defoult of one yere of age, and one yong ox, and two rammes, whiche shall serue for a burnt offering vnto the Lord with meate offerings, and their drinke offerings, to bee a sacrifice for a sweete sauour vnto the Lord. Then ye shall offer an hee goate for a sin offering, and two lambes of one yere old for a peace offering. And the priest shall waue theym with the breade of the first frutes before the Lord, and with the two lambes. And these holpe thinges of the Lord, shall bee the Highfestes. And ye shall prayse the same daye, that it may be an holy conuocation vnto you: ye shal do no laborious woorkes therein: let it bee a lawe for euer in all your dwellinges, and in all your generations. And when yee reape downe your harveste, thou shalt not make cleane riddance of the fiede, neyther shalt thou make a npe after gathering of thy harveste: but shalt leaue it vnto the poore, and the stranger. I am the Lord your God. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: Speake vnto the children of Israel, and saye. In the seventh moneth, in the firste daye of the moneth shall yee haue reste, euen the remembrance of blowinge, an holpe conuocation: ye shall doo no laborious woorkes therein, but offer sacrifice vnto the Lord. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: the tenth daye also of the selfe seventh moneth is a daye of reconcilinge, therefore shall it be an holy conuocation vnto you, and ye shal humble your soules, and offer sacrifice vnto the Lord. Ye shall doo no woorkes the same daye, for it is a daye of reconcilinge, to make an attonement for you before the Lord our God. For what former soules it be that humbly not than selfe that daye, he shall bee destroyed from amonge his people. And what former soules do any maner woorkes y day, & same soules will I destroye from amonge his people. Ye shall doo no maner woorkes therfore: let it be a lawe for euer in your generations & in your dwellings. Let it be vnto you a Sabbath of rest, and ye shall humble your soules in the ninth day of the moneth at euen: from euen to euen that ye rest in your Sabbath. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: speake vnto the children of Israel, and saye: the fiftenth day of the same seventh moneth is the feast of tabernacles, seven dayes vnto the Lord. The firste daye is an holy conuocation: yee shall doo no laborious woorkes. Seven dayes ye shall sacrifice vnto the Lord, and in the eyghte daye shall be an holpe conuocation vnto you, and yee shall offer sacrifices vnto the Lord. It is the collection, and yee shall doo no laborious woorkes therein. These are the feastes of the Lord, whiche ye shall call holpe conuocations, for to offer sacrifice vnto the LORD, burnt offeringe, meate offeringe, peace offeringe and drinke offerings, euerye daye his due sacrifice beside the Sabbathes of the Lord, and besyde your giftes, besyde your bowes, and all your free will offerings whiche ye geue vnto the LORD. Moreover in the fiftenth day of the seventh moneth when ye haue gathered in the fruite of the lande, ye shall keepe holpe daye vnto the LORD seven dayes. The firste daye shall be as a Sabbath: like wise in the eyght daye shall be the rest of the Sabbath. And yee shall take you in the firste daye the frutes of goodlye trees, brynches of palm trees, and the bowes of thicke trees, and willowes of the brooke, and shall reioyce before the LORD your God seven dayes. And yee shall keepe the feast vnto the Lord seven dayes in the yere. It shall be a lawe for euer in your generations: that ye may kepe it in the seventh moneth. Ye shall dwell in boothes seven

And the Lord spake vnto Moses, sayinge: • commande the childreanne of Israel that they bring vnto thee, pure oyle of sene beaten for lightes, to cause the lampes to burne alwaye: withoute the vail of witnessse: in the tabernacle of witnessse shall Aaron dresse them both euening and morninge before the Lord alwayes. Lette it be a lawe for euer in your generations, thee shall dresse the lampes vpon the pure candlesticke before the LORD perpetuallie. And thou shalt take sene floure, and bake twelue walleis thereof, two tenth deales shalbe in one walleisell. And thou shalt set them in twoe rowes, sixe on a rowe vpon the pure table before the Lord, and putte pure frankincense vpon the rowes, that they maye be breade of remembraunce and an offringe to the Lord. Euery Sabbath he shall put them in rowes before the lord euermore: of the chil-

And the Lord spake vnto Moses, sayinge: bringe the cursed speaker withoute the host, and let all that hearde him, put theyr handes vpon his heade, and lette all the multitude stone him. And thou shalt speake vnto the children of Israel sayinge: whosoener curseth his God, shall beare his sin. And he that blasphemeth the name of the Lord, let him bee slayne, and all the multitude shall stone him to death. Whether he be bozne in the land or a straunger, when he blasphemeth the name of the Lord, let him be slaine. And • he that killeth anye man, let him dye the death. And he that killeth a beast, let him make him good soule for soule. And if a man mayme his neyghboure, as hee hath done, so shall it be done to him: broke for broke, • eye for eye, and toth for toth: euen as he that maymed a man, so shall he be maymed agayn. And he that killeth a beast, let him paye for it: and he that killeth a man, let him dye. Ye shall haue one manner of lawe: euen for the straunger as well as for one of youre selues, for I am the Lord your God. And Moses told the children of Israel, and they brought him, (that had cursed) out of the host, and stoned him with stones. And the children of Israel did as the Lord commanded Moses.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses in mounte Sinai, sayinge: speake vnto the childre of Israel, and saye vnto them: when ye be come into the land which I geue you the lande shall rest, and keepe Sabbath vnto the LORD. • Sixe yeares thou shalt sowe thy fields, & sixe yeare thou shalt cutte thy vineyard, and gather in the fruite thereof. thou shalt not reape, neither gather the grapes that thou hast lefte behind for it is a yere of reſte vnto the lande. And the reſt of the lande ſhalbe meate for you:emen for thee, for thy ſeruaunt and for thy mayde, for thy hired ſeruaunt, and for the ſtranger that ſojournereth with thee: and for thy cattell, and for the beaſtes that are in the land, ſhall all the encrease thereof be meate. And thou ſhalt number ſeven B Sabbathes of yeres vnto the euen, ſeventimes ſeven yere: and the ſpace of the ſeven Sabbathes of yeres wil be vnto the nine and fortieth yere. And when thou ſhalt make a trumpe blowe in the tenth day of the ſeuenth moneth euen in the day of attonement ſhall ye make the trumpe blowe, that ſound out all your lande. And thou ſhalt haſowe that yere: euen the fiftieth yere, and proclaime libertie throughout the land vnto all the inhabitants thereof, for it ſhall be a yere of iudelye vnto you, and ye ſhall retourne: every man vnto his poſſeſſion, and every man vn to his kindred againe. A yere of iudelye ſhall that fiftieth yere be vnto you. Ye ſhall not ſowe, neither reape that which groweth of it ſelfe, neither gather the grapes that are leſt. For that yere of iudelye ſhalbe holy vnto you: but ye ſhall eate of the encrease thereof out of the ſilde. In the yere of this iudelye ye ſhall retourne every man vn to his poſſeſſion againe. If thou ſell leſt ought vnto thy neighbour, or byeſt of thy neighbours hande, ye ſhall not diſſeue one another: but according to the numbꝛe of yeres after the iudelye yere thou ſhalt bye of thy neighbour, and according vnto the numbꝛe of yeres, and of the frutes, he ſhall ſell vnto thee. Accordinge vnto the multitude of yeres, he ſhall encrease the pꝛyſe thereof; and according to the ſcawncle of yeres, he ſhall miniſhe the pꝛyſe of it: for the number of frutes both he ſell vnto thee. • Diſſeue not C therefore every man his neighbour: but thou ſhalt feare thy God. For I am the Lorde your God: wherefore, ye ſhall doe after mine ordynances

and kepe my lawes, and do them, and ye ſhall dwell in the lande in ſafetie. And the lande ſhall geue her fruite, & ye ſhall eate your fill, and dwell therein in ſafetie. And if ye ſhall ſaye: what ſhall we eate the ſeventh yere, for we ſhall not ſowe, nor gather in oure encrease? I will ſende my bleſſing vpon you in the ſixte yere, and it ſhall bringe forth fruite for three yeres: and ye ſhall ſowe the eyght yere, and eate yet of olde coꝛne vntill the nine yere: euen vntill her frutes come, ye ſhall eate of olde ſtoare. The lande ſhal not be ſolde to be waſt: for • the lande is myne, and ye be but ſtrangers and ſoourners with me. In all the lande of your poſſeſſion, ye ſhall graunte a redemption for the land. • If thy brother be waxed poore, and hath ſolde awaye of his poſſeſſion, and if any of his kinne come to redeme it, let him bye out that which his brother ſolde. And if he haue noo man to redeme it; let his hande get as much as may be ſufficient to bye it out againe, and let him counte howe longe it hath bene ſolde, and deliuered the reſt vnto the man to whom he ſolde it, that he may retourne to his poſſeſſion againe. But and if his hande cannot get ſufficient to reſtoꝛe to the other againe, then that which is ſolde ſhall remayne in the hande of him that hath bought it, vntill the yere of iudelye: and in the iudelye it ſhall come oute, and he ſhall retourne vnto his poſſeſſion againe. And if a man ſell a houſe or a dwellinge within the walles of a citie, he may bye it out againe within a whole yere after it is ſolde: euen anye daye of the yere ſhall he redeme it againe. But and if he bie it not oute againe within the ſpace of a ful yere, then the houſe that is in the walled citie ſhalbe ſtabliſhed, and be his owne that boughte it, and his ſuccellours after him, and ſhall not go oute in the iudelye. But the houſes of villages which haue no walles rounde aboute them, are counted as the field of the countrey, & therefore they may be bought out agayne, and ſhall retourne in the iudelye.

Notwithstandinge, the Cities of the Leuites, and the houses of the Cities of their possession, maye the Leuites redeeme at all seasons. And yf a man purchase ought of the Leuita, the house that was sold, and the cite of theyr possession shall goe out in the yeare of iubilte: for the houses of the cities of the Leuites, ar their possession among the children of Israel. But the felde of the suburbe that is beside their cities, may not be sold, but is their perpetuall possession. If thy brother be waxen poore, and fallen in decay with thee, thou shalte relieue him, both the stranger and sojourner, that he maye lyue with thee. And thou shalt take none vsurpe of him, or hauntyage. But thou shalt feare thy God, that thy brother maye lyue with thee. Thou shalt not geue him thy money vpon vsurp, nor lende him thy cozne for increase. I am the Lord your god, which brought you out of the lande of Egypt to geue you the lande of Canaan, & to be your God. ¶ If thy brother that dwelleth by thee, be waxen poore, and be sold vnto thee, thou shalt not compell him to the bondage of seruantes: but as an hired seruant, and as a sojourner, he shall be with thee, and shall serue thee, vnto the yere of Iubilte, & then shall he departe from thee bothe he and his children with him, and shall returne vnto his owne kinned againe, and vnto the possession of his fathers: for they are my seruantes, whiche I brought out of the land of Egypt, and shall not therfoze be sold as bondemen. Thou shalt not reygne ouer him cruelly, but shalt feare thy god. Thy bondseruant and thy bondmaide which thou shalt haue, shall be of the heathen that are round about you: of them shal ye purchase seruantes and maydes, and of the children of the strangers that are sojourners among you, and of their generations that are with you, whiche they begat in your lande. These shall be your possession, and ye shall take them as inheritance for your children after you, to possesse them, they shall be your bondemen for euer, But ouer your brethren the children of Israel, ye shal not reygne one ouer another cruelly. If a sojourner or stranger waxe rich by thee, and thy brother that dwelleth by him, waxe poore, and sell him selfe vnto the stranger or sojourner by thee, or to any of the strangers kinne: after that he is sold, he may be redeemed againe: one of his brethren (that will) eether his vncle, or his vncles sonne, may bye him out, or any that is nye of kinne vnto him of his kinredde, may redeeme him: eether if his hande can get so much, he may be loosed. And he shal reckon with him that boughte him, from the yere that he was sold in, vnto the yere of Iubilte, and the price of his bying shall be valued, according vnto the number of yeares. As an hired seruant shall he be with him. If there be yet many yeres behind according vnto them, let him geue agayne for his deliuerance, of the money that he was bought for. If there remaine but fewe yeres vnto the yere of Iubilte, let him count with him agayne, and accordeinge vnto his yeares geue him againe for his redemption, and he shall be with him yere by yere, as an hired seruant, and the other shall not reygne cruelly ouer him in thy sight. If he be not redeemed thus, he shall go out in the yere of Iubilte, bothe he and his children with him: for the children of Israel are my seruantes, which I brought out of the lande of Egypt. I am the Lord your God.

sensibly. And I will sende peace in the land, and ye shall slee without anye man to make you afraide. And I will ridde euill beastes out of the lande, and there shall no swearde go throughout your lande. And ye shall chase your enemies, and they shall fall before you vpon the swearde. And sine of you shall chase an hundred, and an hundred of you shall put ten thousand to flight; and your enemies shall fall before you vpon the swearde. For I will haue respecte vnto you, and make you en-crease and multiplie you, and set vpon my covenant with you. And ye shall eat olde store, and carpe out olde for the newe. And I will make my dwelling place amonge you, and my soule shall not loth you, I will walke amonge you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people. I am the Lord your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, that ye should not be thers bondmen, and I haue broken the chaynes of your yoke, & made you go by right. But and ye will not harken vnto me, nor will not do after these commandementes: And ye shall despise my statutes, epyther ye your soue abhorre my lawes, so that ye will not do all my commandementes, but break my appoyntment, I also will do this vnto you. For I will bringe vpon you fearefullnesse, swellinge of bodye, and the burning agryue to consume your cire, and gen-ter soe we of heere. And ye shall loose your side in bayle, for your enemies shall take it. And I will set my face against you, and ye shall fall before your enemies, and they that hate you shall raigne ouer you, and ye shall see, when no man followeth you. And ye ye will not yet for all this harken vnto me, then will I punish you seven times those for your sinnes, and will breake the pyde of your stubbertnesse.
And I will make your heauy as yron, and your earth as brasse: And your labourne shall be spent in wayne. For your land shall not geue her increase, neyther shall the trees of the lande geue their fruite. And ye shall walke contrary vnto me, and will not harken vnto me I will bringe seven times mo plagues vpon you, according to your sinnes. I will also sende in wilde beastes vpon you, which shall rob you of your children, and destroy your cattel, and make you fewe in number, and cause your hye wayes to growe vnto a wildernesse. And ye ye maye not be reformed by these thinges, but shall walke contrary vnto me, then will I also walke contrary vnto you, & will punish you yet seven times for your sinnes. And I will sende a sweard vpon you, that shall asenue my testament. And when ye are gathered together within your cities, I will sende the pestilence amonge you, and ye shall be deliuered into the hande of the enemye. And when I haue broken the staffe of your head tenne wytes shall take your bread in one enen, and they shall deliuer you your breade agayne by wyghte. ye shall eate and not be satisfied. And ye ye will not yet for all this harken vnto me, but shall walke against me, I will walke contrary vnto you also in indignation, and will chastise you seuen times for your sinnes. And ye shall eate the flesh of your sons, and the flesh of your daughters shall ye deuoure. I will destroy your hye places, and rote out your images, and caste your cathedres vpon the bodyes of your ydoles, & my soule shall abhorre you. And I will make your cities desolate, and bringe your sanctuarye into naught, and wil not ingel the sweetnesse of your odours. I will bringe the lande vnto a wilderness, and your enemies which dwell therein, shall wonder at it. And I will strawe you amonge the heathen, and will drawe out a sweard after you, and your lande shall be waste, and your cities desolate.

in her Sabbathes. As long as it lyeth voyde it shall rest, because it did not rest in your Sabbathes, when ye dwelte vpon it. And vpon them that are left alpyne of you, I will send a sayntenelle into their heartes in the lande of their enemies: and the sound of a shakynge tente shall chase them, and when they see the sworde, they shall say: no man folowynge vpon them. They shall fall one vpon another, as it were before a sworde, euen no man folowynge vpon them, and ye shall haue no power to stande before your enemies. And ye shall perishe amonge the heathen, and the lande of your enemies shall take you by. And they that are left of you, shall pine awaye in their vnrightheousnesse, euen in their enemies lande and in the misdeedes of their fathers shall they consume. And they shall confesse theyr misdeedes, and the misdeedes of theyr fathers for their trespass, whiche they haue trespassed against me, & for that also that they haue walked contrarie vnto me. Therefore, I also will walke contrarie vnto them, and wyll byng them into the lande of their enemies. And then at the lease wyll they be circumcised heauens shall be tamed, and they shall make an attonement for their misdeedes. And I will remember my covenante, with Jacob; and my bonds with Isaac, and myr appointment with Abraham will I remember, and will thinke on the land.

Deu. 4.6
The lande shall be leste of them, and shall enioye her Sabbathes while the yerth waite without them. And they shall make an attonement for theyr misdeedes, because they despised my lawes, and because they coule refuse mine ordemanes: And yet for al that when they be in the land of their enemies, I will not sette them awaye, neyther will I abhorre them, to destroy them utterly, and to breake mine appointment with them: for I am the Lord thy God. I will for theyr sakes remember the covenante made vnto their fathers whom I brought out of the lande of Egypt in the sight of the heathen, that I mighte be their God: I am the Lord. These are the ordemanes, and iudgements, and lawes which the Lord made betwene him & the chyldren of Israel in mount Synai, by the handes of Moyses.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses saying: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel, and saye vnto them: If any man will geue a singuler bowe vnto the Lord accordynge to the value of the soules, the value of the male from twentie years olde vnto sixtie shalbe fyfte sicles of syluer, after the weight of sanctuary. And yf it be a female, the value shalbe thirte sicles. And from fyne years to twentie, the male shalbe set at twente sicles, and the female at ten sicles. And from a moneth vnto fyne years, the male shalbe set at fyne sicles of syluer, and the female at thre. And he that is fyfte yeare olde, and above, shalbe valued at fyne sicles, and the woman at ten. But if he be too poore so to be sette, he shall presente hym selfe before the Priest, and the Priest shall value hym, accordynge as the hande of him that bowed is able to get, euen so that the Priest value hym. If it be a beaste of which men byng an off: ringe vnto the Lord: all that any man geth of such vnto the Lord shalbe counted holpe. He shall not alter it or chaunge it: a good for a bad, or a bad for a good. And yf he chaunge beaste for beaste, then hath he samed beaste, and it also wherwith it was chaunged shalbe holpe. If it be any maner of vnelow beaste, of which men do not offer a sacrifice vnto the Lord, he shall set the beaste before the Priest, and the Priest shall value it, whether it be good or bad. And as the Priest setteth it, so shall it be. But if he will bye it againe, he shall geue the fyfte parte moore above that it was set at. If any man dedicate his house, to be holpe vnto the Lord, the Priest shall set it whether it be good or bad.

and in the Daye hath set it; so shall the holie be. And when he that sanctified it, shall redeeme his house, letta him geue the fiftie parte of the money that it was iudged at thereto; and it shalbe his.

If a man halowe a pece of his enherited lande vnto the Lord: it shall be sette accordinge to the seede thereof.

If he haue an homer of Barley it shal be sette at fiftie sicles of siluer. If he halowe his fiele immediately from the yeare of Iubilee, it shall be worth accordinge as it is esteemed.

But and if he halowe his fiele after the Iubilee, the Prieste shall recken the money accordinge to the number

D of the yeares that remayne vnto the yeares of Iubilee followinge, and thereafter it shalbe lower set. If hee that consecrated the fiele, will redeme it agayne, let him put the fiftie parte of the pice that it was sette at therevnto, and it shalbe his. And if he will not redeme the fiele, but selleth the fiele to another man, hee that bowed may redeme it nomore. But when the fiele goeth out in the yeare of Iubilee, it shalbe holy vnto the Lord: euen as a fiele that is bittere put away, and it shalbe the Priestes possession.

If a man sanctifie vnto the Lord a fiele whiche he hath bought, and is not of his inheritance, the Prieste shal reken vnto him what it is worth vnto the yeare of Iubilee, and he shal geue the pice that it is sette at, the same daye as a thing consecrated vnto the Lord. And in the yeare of Iubilee, the fiele shall retourne vnto him, of whom he bought it: euen vnto him whose inheritance of lande it is. And all setting shalbe accordinge to the sicle of the Sanctuarye. One sicle conteyneth twentie halfepens.

But the fiftie bozne of the beastes that is appointed vnto the Lord, may no man sanctifie: whether it be ox or sheepe, for it is to the Lord already.

If it be an vncleane beast, he shall redeeme it, and it is set at, and geue the fiftie parte whereto: Or, if it be not redeemed, it shalbe solde, according to the value. For withstandinge no dampned thinge that a man putteth fro him, and dedicateth vnto the Lord of all his good (whether it be man or beaste, or lande of his inheritance) maye be solde or redeemed: for euery thinge so putte away, is moste holie vnto the Lord. Let no dampned thing that a man separateth, be redeemed, but bye the deathe. Euery tythe of the lande which is of the seede of the land or of the fruite of the trees, is to the Lord, and is sanctified vnto the Lord. And yf a man will redeme oughte of his tythes, let him adde the fiftie parte thereto. And euery tythe of ore and of shepe, and of euery beast that goeth vnder the rod, euen euery tenth shalbe holy vnto the Lord. He shall not loke if it be good, or bad, nor chaunge it. Els if he chaunge it, both it, and that it was chaunged withall, shalbe halowed vnto the Lord, and maye not be redeemed.

These are the commandementes which the Lord commanded by Moyses vnto the children of Israel in Mounte Sinai.

seconde yere after they were come out of the lande of Egypt, sayinge: take yee the summe of all the multitude of the children of Israel, after their kindredes and householde of their fathers, with the number of their names; all that are males, heade by heade, from twenty yere and above, euen all that go forth to the warre in Israel, thou and Aaron shal number the thoroughoute their armie, and with you shal be men of every tribe, whereof every one is heade man of the house of his fathers. And these are the names of the men shal stand with you: of the tribe of Ruben, Eliazar, the sonne of Sedeur; of Simeon, Selumell the sonne of Hur; Gad of Gada, Nahelson, the sonne of Amiadab; of Issachar, Nathaniel, the sonne of Zuar; of Zabulon, Eliab, the sonne of Helon. Amonge the children of Joseph: of Ephraim, Elisama, the sonne of Amihud; of Manasse, Gamaliel, the sonne of Pedasur; of Ben Iamin, Abihon, the sonne of Gedeon; of Dan, Hizzai, the sonne of Ammi; Gad: of Gad, Sagiel, the sonne of Ocran; of Eshai, the son of Deguel. Of Nephthali, Ahira the son of Enan.

These were of great fame in the congregation, Loques of the tribes of their fathers, and heades ouer thousandes in Israel. And Moyses and Aaron toke these men (which are expressed by their names) and gathered all the congregation together, the first daye of the seconde moneth, and they were reckened throughout their kindredes and houses of their fathers by name from twenty yere and above, heade by heade. As the Lord commanded Moyses, euen so he numbered the in the wilderness of Sinaï, And the children of Ruben, Israel eldest sonne throughout their generations, and their kindredes, and houses of their fathers in the number of names, heade by heade (all males from twenty yere and above) as many as did go forth to the warre, the number of them that were of the tribe of Ruben, was. xlii. thousande and five hundred.

Of the children of Simeon throughout their generations and their kindredes, and houses of their fathers, the summe of them in the number of names, heade by heade, all the males from twenty yeres and above, who forer might go forth to the warre, the summe of them that were of the tribe of Simeon, lix. thousande and three hundred.

Of the children of Gad throughout their generations and their kindredes and householde of their fathers, the number of the names from. xx. yere and above, all that went forth to the warre, the number of them that were of the tribe of Gad, was. xlii. thousande, six hundred and fiftie.

Of the children of Juda throughout their generations and their kindredes and houses of their father, the number of names from. xx. yere and above, all that were able to go forth to the warre, the number of them that were of the tribe of Juda, was. lxxvi. thousande and six hundred.

Of the children of Issachar throughout their generations and their kindredes and houses of their fathers: the number of names from twenty yere and above, whiche went all forth to warre, the number of them that were of the tribe of Issachar, was. lxxx. thousande and lxxx. hundred.

Of the children of Zabulon, throughout their generations and their kindredes, and houses of their fathers, the number of names from twenty yere and aboue, whiche were able to go fourth in the hoste: The number of them that were of the tribe of Zabulon, was. lviij. thousande and foure hundred.

Of the children of Joseph: Namely, of the children of Ephraim throughout their generations and their kynredes and houses of their fathers, the number of names from twenty yeres and aboue, all that went out to the warre: the number of them that were of the tribe of Ephraim was. xli. thousande and fyue hundred.

Of the children of Manasse throughout their generations, and their kynredes and houses of their fathers, the number of names from twenty yere olde and aboue, all that went out to the war: The number of them that were of the tribe of Manasse was. xxxij. thousande and ij. hundred.

Of the children of Ben Iamynne throughout their generatjons, and their kynredes and houses of their fathers, the number of names from xx. yere and aboue, all that went fourth to the warre: the number of them that were of the tribe of Ben Iamin was xxxv. thousande and. iij. hundred.

Of the children of Dan throughout their generations and kynredes and houses of their fathers: the number of names from twenty yere olde and aboue, all that went fourth to the war: The number of them that were of the tribe of Dan was. lxxij. thousande and seven hundred.

Of the children of Isser throughout their generations and their kynredes and houses of their fathers, the number of the names from twenty yeres and aboue, all that went out to warre: The number of them that were of the tribe of Isser was. xli. thousande and fyue hundred.

Of the children of Nephtali: throughout their generations and their kynredes and houses of their fathers, the number of names from twenty yeres and aboue, all that might go fourth to the warre: The number of them that were of the tribe of Nephtalye, was. llij. thousande and foure hundred.

These are the summes which Moyses and Aaron numbred, and the pynces of Israel: those which were men, which were euery one ouer the house of their fathers. And all the numbers of the children of Israel, throughout the houses of their fathers, from twenty yere and aboue, all that went fourth to the warre in Israel, dyewe all vnto the same of. sixe hundred thousande and thye thousande, fyue hundred and fifty. But the Levites after the tribes of their fathers were not numbred amonge them.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: Thou shalt not number the tribe of Lewi, neither take the summe of them from amonge the children of Israel. But thou shalt appoynt the Levites ouer the habitation of wytnesse and ouer all the vessels thereof, and ouer all thinges that are in it. Yea, they shal beare the tabernacle and all the vessels therof, & they shall minister in it, and shall dwell round about the tabernacle. And when the tabernacle goeth fourth, & Levites shall take it downe: and when the tabernacle is to be pitched, they shall set it vp: and yf any stranger come nye, he shall dye. And the children of Israel shall pytche their tentes, euery man in his owne companie, and euery man vnder his owne bannerd throughout their hostes. But the Levites shal pitche rounde about the tabernacle of witnesse, that there be no wyach vpon the congregatjon of the children of Israel, and the Levites shall kepe the watche of the tabernacle of witnesse. And the children of Israel did according to all that the Lord commaunded Moyses, euen so did they.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses and Aaron, saying: euery man of the children of Israel shall pytch vnder his owne bannerd and vnder the armies of their fathers houses: on the other side and rounde about the tabernacle of witnesse shall they pitch. On the east syde toward the risinge of the sunne, shall they of the stander of the hoste of Juda pitch throughout their armies: And Nathanson the sonne of Aminadab was captaine of the sonnes of Juda. And his hoste and the number of them, lxxiij. thousand & sixe hundred. Nexte unto hym shall they that be of the trybe of Issachar pitch: and Nathanaell the sonne of Zuar was captaine of the children of Issachar: his hoste and the summe of the number thereof, liij. thousande and foure hundred. And then the trybe of Zabulon: and Eliab the son of Helon, captayne over the children of Zabulon and his hoste and the number of them, lviij. thousand and. liij. hundred: so that the whole number of the whole hoste of Juda are an hundred thousand. lxxxvi. thousand and foure hundred throughout their armies: and these shall go before. On the southside shall the stander of the host of Ruben kepe throughe their companies: and the captayne over the sonnes of Ruben, was Elizur the sonne of Sedeur. And his hoste and the number of them, xli. thousande and fyue hundred. And laste by him shall the trybe of Simeon pitch, and the captayne over the sonnes of Simeon, was Salumiell the sonne of Juri Sadai, and his hoste and the number of them, lix. thousande and three hundred. And the trybe of Gad also, and the captayne over the sonnes of Gad, was Eliasaph the sonne of Deguell: And his hoste and the number of them, xlv. thousand. vi. hundred and fiftie. All that were numbyed with the tribe of Ruben: an hundred thousande. ii. thousand, foure hundred and fiftie throughout their armies, and they shall go in the seconde place. And the tabernacle of witnesse shall go with the hoste of the Levites, in the myddes of the hostes: And as they lye in theyr tentes, enon so shall they procede in their iourney, every man in his degree, and vnder theyr owne standerde. The westsyde shall the standerde of the hoste of Ephraim kepe with their armies, and the captayne over the sonnes of Ephraim, was Elisama the sonne of Amihud: His host and the number of them, xl. thousande and fyue hundred. And laste by hym, shall the tribe of Manasse, and the captayne over the sonnes of Manasse was Gamaleel the sonne of Pedazur. His hoste and the number of them, xxxij. thousand. ij. hundred. And the tribe of Ben Jamin also: and the captayne over the sonnes of Benjamin was, Ividan the son of Gedeon. His host and the number of them, xxxv. thousand and foure hundred. All that were appointed with the hoste of Ephraim were an hundred. M. viij. M. and an hundred throughout their armies, and they shall go in the thirde place. The stander of the hoste of Dan shall kepe the northside with their armies: & the captayne over the children of Dan, was Hiezzer the sonne of Ammi Sadai. His hoste and the number of them, lxij. thousand. viij. hundred. And last by him shall the tribe of Aser pitch: and the captayne over the sonnes of Aser was Dagiel the sonne of Ocran. His host and the number of them, xli. thousand and. b. hundred. And the trybe of Nephthali also, and the captayne over the children of Nephthali: was Phleora the sonne of Enan. His hoste and the number of them, lliij. M. and. liij. hundred. All they that were appointed with the host of Dan, was an hundred. M. lviij. M. and. vi. hundred. And they shall go himmost with their standerdes. These are the summes of the children of Israel throughout the houses of their fathers: enon all the numbers that pitched throughout their hostes, sixe hundred thousande, three thousand. b. c. and fiftie. But the Levites were not numbyed among the children of Israel as the Lorde commanded Moyses. And the children of Israel did according to all that the Lorde commanded Moyses, for so they pitched with their standerdes, and so they journeyed throughout their kindredes, and throughout the householde of their fathers.

The. iij. Chapter.

These are the generations of Aaron and Moses, in the day that the Lord spake with Moses in the mount Sinai, and these are the names of the sonnes of Aaron: Nadab the eldest sonne, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. These are the names of the sons of Aaron which were appointed, whose hand was consecrated to minister. And Nadab and Abihu dyed before the Lord, when they offered strange fire before the Lord in the wilderness of Sinai, and had no children. And Eleazar and Ithamar ministered in the sight of Aaron their father. And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: bring the tribe of Levi, and let them be before Aaron the Priest, that they may serve him, and wait upon him and upon all the multitude, before the Tabernacle of witness to do the service of the habitation. They shall kepe all the apparell of the tabernacle of witness, and wait upon the children of Israel to doo the service of the habitation. And thou shalt geue the Levites unto Aaron and his sonnes, for they are gotten and deliuered unto him of the children of Israel. And thou shalt appoynt Aaron and his sonnes to waite on the Priests office: and the stranger that commeth nye, shall be hanged. And the Lord spake unto Moses saying: behold, I haue taken the Levites from amonge the children of Israel. for all the first borne that openeth the matrix amonge the children of Israel, and the Levites shall be mine: because all the first borne are mine: for the same daye that I smote all the first borne in the lande of Egypt, I halowed unto me all the first borne in Israel, bothe man and beaste, and mine they shall be: I am the Lord. And the Lord spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai saying: Number the children of Levi after the houses of their fathers in their kinredes. All that are males, from a moneth olde and above shalt thou number. And Moses numbred them, according to the commaundement of the Lord, and as he had commaunded. And these were the childrenne of Levi in their names: Gerson, and Cahath, and Merari. And these are the names of the children of Gerson in their kinredes: Libni and Hermi. The sonnes of Cahath in their kinredes: Amram, Jesehar, Hebzon and Oziel. And the sonnes of Merari in their kinredes: Maheli and Musi. These are the kinredes of the Levites, accordinge to the houses of their fathers. And Gerson came the kinred of the Libnites and the kinred of the Hermites. These are the kinredes of the Gersonites. And the summe of them (after the number of all the males from a moneth olde and above) was seuen thousande and five hundred. And the kinredes of the Gersonites shall pitch behinde the habitation westwarde. The captayne and moste aunciente of the house of the Gersonites, was Eliasaph the sonne of Laeli. And vnder the keeping of the children of Gerson in the tabernacle of witness was the habitation and the tente, the covering thereof, and the hanginge of the doze of the tabernacle of witness, and the hanginges of the courte, and the curtayne of the doze of the courte, which is rounde about the Tabernacle, and the altar, and the coardes of it for all the service thereof. And of Cahath came the kinred of the Amramites, and the kinred of the Jeseharites: the kinred of the Hebzonites, and the kinred of the Ozielites. These are the kinredes of the Cahathites. And the number of all the males from a moneth olde and above, was eynht thousand and sixe hundred. And these shall kepe thinges that are to be kepte in the hoyle place. And the kinredde of the childrenne of Cahath shall pitch on the Southside of the Tabernacle. The captaine and most aunciente of the house of the kinred of the Cahathites, was Elisaphan the son of Oziel, and vnder their keepinge

was the arke, the table, the candlestick and the altars, and all the vessels of the sanctuary that they minister in, and the bayle, and what soeuer belonged to the ministracion thereof. And Eleazar the son of Aaron the High Priest, was captayne ouer all the captaynes of the Levites, and had the ouersight of that wayped vpon the sanctuary. And of Merari came the kindred of the Mahelites, and the kindred of the Musites. These are the kindredes of Merari.

And the summe of theym accordinge to the number of all the males, from a moneth old and aboue, was six thousand and two hundred. The captaine and the most auncient of their house, that were of the kindred of Merari, was Zuriel the sonne of Abihael: and these shall picche on the northside of the tabernacle. And vnder the custodie of the sons of Merari shalbe the borders of the dwelling, & the barres, pillars and sockettes thereof, all the vessel therof, and all that serueth thereto, and the pillars of the court rounde aboute with theyr sockettes, their pinnes and their cordes. But on the forefront of the habitation befoze the Tabernacle of witness eastward, shal Moyses and Aaron and his sonnes picche, and wayte to kepe the sanctuary, and to kepe the children of Israel. And the stranger that commeth type shalbe slayne. And the whole sum of the Levites whiche Moyses and Aaron numbred, at the commaundement of the Lord throughout theyr kindredes) euen all the males from a moneth olde and aboue) was. two & twentie thousand. And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses: Number all the first borne that are males among the children of Israel (from a moneth olde and aboue) and take the number of their names. And thou shalt appointe the levites to me (for I am the Lord) for all the first borne of the children of Israel, and the cattell of the Levites, for all the first gendered of the cattell of the children of Israel. And Moyses numbred as the Lord commaunded him, all the first borne of the children of Israel. And all the first borne males rehearsed by their names, from a moneth olde and aboue, accordyng to their number, were two and twenty thousand, two hundred, threescore and thirtene. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses sayinge: take the Levites for all the first borne of the children of Israel, and the cattell of the Levites for their cattell, and the Levites shall be mine. I am the Lord. And for the redeeming of the two hundred and threescore and thirtene, (whiche are more then the Levites in the first borne of the children of Israel,) take five sicles of euery heade, after the weyght of the Sanctuary, the sicle containinge twente halpence. And geue the money where with the odde number of them is redeemed, vnto Aaron and his sonnes. And Moyses toke the redemption money, of the ouerplus that were more then the Levites: of the first borne of the children of Israel, take he his money: euen a thousand, three hundred and threescore and fivesicles, after the sicle of the Sanctuary. And Moyses gaue the money of them that were redeemed, vnto Aaron and his sonnes, accordyng to the word of the Lord, euen as the Lord commaunded Moyses.

The. iiii. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses and Aaron sayinge: Take the summe of the children of Cahath from among the sons of Levi, after their kindredes & houses of their fathers, (from xxx. yere and aboue vntill fiftie) all that are able to go forth to the warre: for to do the worke in the tabernacle of witness. The office of the children of Cahath in the Tabernacle of witness, is moste holpe. And when the host remoueth, Aaron and his sonnes shall come and take downe the bayle, that hangeth betweene, and wrape the Arke of witness in it: and shall put thereon a covering of Carias skin, and shall spreade vpon it a clothe that is altogether of yelow silke, and put in the barres thereof. And vpon the shewe table, they shall spred abroad, a cloth of yelow silke, and put thereon the dishes, spones, flatpeeces, and pottes to powze with, and ther shalbe breade thereon continuallye: and they shall spred vpon them a couering of purple, and couer the same with a couering of taxus skinner, and put in the barres thereof. And they shal take a clothe of yelow silke, and couer the candlesticke of lighte, with his lampes, tonges, and snuffers, and all the oyle vessels whiche they occupy about it, and they shall put both it, and all the vessel thereof within a couering of taxus skinner, and put it vpon a barre. And vpon the golde altar they shall spred a cloth of yelow silke, and couer it with a couering of taxus skinner, and put in the barres thereof. And they shall take all the thinges (whiche they occupye to minister within the holy place) and put a cloth of yelow silke vpon them, and couer them with a couering of taxus skins, and put them on a barre. And they shall take swaye the ashes from the altar, and spred a purple cloth thereon, and put vpon it all the vessels thereof that they minister withall: euen the colepannes, the fleshehookes, the hoziels, the basens and the other vessels of the altar, and they shall spred vpon it a couering of taxus skins, and put in the barres of it. And when Aaron and his sonnes haue made an ende of coueringe the holy thinges, and all the vessels of the sanctuary (agaynst that the host remoue) then the sonnes of Cahath shall come in for to beare, but they shal not touch any holy thing least they dye. And this is the charge of the sons of Cahath in the Tabernacle of witness. And to the office of Eleazar the sonne of Aaron the priest, pertaineth the oyle for the lighte, the sweete cense, the dayly meatoffering, & the anoyntinge oyle, and the ouersight of all the Tabernacle, and of all that therein is, both in the sanctuary, and in all the vessels thereof: And the

Lozde spake vnto Moyses and Aaron, sayinge: Ye shall not destroye the Tribe of the kinredde of the Cahathites, from amonge the Leuites. But thus doo vnto theym, that they maye liue and not die, when they goo vnto the moste holy thinges: Let Aaron and his sonnes goo in, and take theym downe, to euerye one after his seruice, and after his charge. But let them not goo in to see when the holy thinges are folden vp, least they dye. And the Lozde spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: Take also the summe of the children of Gerson, throughout the houses of their fathers, and throughout their kinredes: from xxx. yeare and aboue, vntill fiftie, shalte thou number theym, all that are able to go forth to the warre for to doo seruice in the Tabernacle of witness. And this is the seruice of the kinred of the Gersonites, to serue and to beare. They shall beare the curtaynes of the dwellinge, and the rousse of the Tabernacle of witness, his coueringe, and the couering of taxus skinner, that is on hye aboue vpon it, and the hanging of the doze whiche is in the Tabernacle of witness: and the hanginge that is in the entringe in of the gate of the court rounde about the dwelling, and the altar, with the cordes, and all the instrumentes that serue vnto theym, and all that is made for to serue them. At the mouth of Aaron and his sons, shall the seruice of the children of the Gersonites be done, in all their charges, and in all their seruice, and ye shall numbre vnto them all their burthens to kepe. And this is the seruice of the kinred of the children of Gerson in the Tabernacle of witness, and their watche shalbe vnder the hande of Ithamar, the sonne of Aaron the Priest: And thou shalt numbre the sonnes of Merari after theyr kinredes, & after the houses of their fathers: from thirtie yeeres and aboue vnto fiftie, shalte thou number them, euerye one that is able to go forth to the warre, to do the seruice of the Tabernacle of witness. And this is the charge & they must wayte vpon, according to all their seruice in the Tabernacle of witness. The boz-des of the dwelling, with the barres, pillars, and sockettes thereof, and the pillars that are rounde aboute the court, with their sockettes, pinnes, and cordes, and with all the instrumen-tes of it, for all their seruice. And by nameye shall reckon the thinges that they must wayte vpon to beare. This is the seruice of the kinredde of the sonnes of Merari, accordinge to all their office in the tabernacle of wit-nesse vnder the hande of Ithamar the sonne of Aaron the High Priest. And Moses and Aaron and the princes of the multitude numbred the sonnes of the Cahathites, after their kinredde and houses of their fathers: from thirte yeare and aboue vnto fiftie, all that were able to go forth to the warre, to doo seruice in the Tabernacle of wit-nesse. And the numbres of them thoroughout their kinredde were two thousande, seuen hundred and fiftie.

 This is the number of the kinredde of Cahath: namely, all that might doo seruice in the Tabernacle of witness, which Moses and Aaron did numbre accordinge to the commandemente of the Lord by the hande of Moses.
 These are the numbres of the sonnes of Gerson throughout their kinredde & houses of their fathers, from thirte yeare vnto fiftie, all that were able to go forth to the warre, for to do seruice in the Tabernacle of witness.
 And the numbres of them throughe-out their kinredde, and houses of their fathers, were two thousand, sixe hundred and thirte. This is the number of the kinredde of the sonnes of Gerson, of all that didde seruice in the Tabernacle of witness, whiche Moses and Aaron didde number ac-cordinge to the commandemente of the Lord. And these are the numbres of the kinredde of the sonnes of Merari, throughout their kinredde, and houses of their fathers, from thirte yeare vnto fiftie: all that wente forth to the warre, and serued in the Tabernacle of witness. And the nubers of them after their kinreds were three thousande and two hundred.

 This is the summe of the kinredde of the sonnes of Merari, which Moses and Aaron numbred accordinge to the word of the Lord, by the hande of Moses. And so all the numbres of the Levites, whiche Moses, Aaron and the Lordes of Israel numbred, after their kinredde and householdes of their fathers, from thirte yeare vnto fiftie, euery one that came to do his office and seruice, and to beare his burthen in the Tabernacle of witness were (when they were numbred,) eyght thousande, sixe hundred and fourescore. Accordinge to the worde of the Lord did (Aaron) number them by the hande of Moses, euery one accordinge to their seruice and charge and accordinge to their offices: as the Lord commanded Moses.

The. v. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses, sayinge: commande the children of Israel, that they • put out of the hoste, euery leper and euery one that hath an issue, & whosoeuer is defyled vpon a soule. Both male and female shal ye put out: euen out of the hoste shall ye put them, that they defile not the tentes among whiche I dwell. And the children of Israel did so, and put them oute of the hoste, euen as the Lord spake vnto Moses, so did the children of Israel.
 And the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying: speake vnto the children of Israel: whether it be • man or woman.
 If they haue committed anye sinne that a man doeth, and haue trespassed agaynste the Lord, that soule hath done amisse: Therefore they shall knowledg their sinne, whiche they haue done, and let him restore agayn the hurte that he hath done in the hole and put the fist part of it more thereto, and geue it vnto him whom he hath trespassed agaynst. But and if there be not a man to restore the hurt vnto, nor a kinsman of his, let the trespass be made good vnto the Lord, and it shalbe the Priestess, beside the ram of the attonement wherby an attonement shalbe made for him. And every beneoffering that is made of the holpe thinges of the children of Israel whiche they bring vnto the priest shalbe his, and every mans halowed thinges shalbe his: and whatsoeuer any man giveth the Priest, it shalbe his. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: Speake vnto the children of Israel and say vnto them: If any mans wife goe asyde, and trespass agaynst him, so that another man lie with her flesh, and it be hidde from the eyes of her husbande, & is not come to lighte that she is defiled, and there is no witnesse agaynst her, neyther she taken with the maner, and the spirite of ielousie cometh vpon him, so that he is ielouse ouer his wife which is defiled: or if the spirite of ielousie come vpon him, so that he is ielouse ouer his wife which is undefiled, the let the man bring his wife vnto the priest, and bring with her an offering for her, the tenth part of an Ephah of Barley meale, but let him poure none oyle vpon it, nor put frankensence thereon: for it is an offering of ielousie, an offering for a remembrance, causing the sinne to be thought vpon. And the Priestess shall bring her and set her before the Lord, and let him take holy water in an earthen vessel, and of the dust that is in the floure of the habitation, and put it into the water. And let the Priest set the woman before the Lord, and vncouer the womans heade, and put the memoriall of the offering in her handes whiche is the ielousie offering, and the Priest shall haue bitter and cursed water in his hande, and the Priest shall charge her, and saie vnto the woman. If no man haue lien with thee, neyther hast thou gone asyde to uncleannes without thy husbande, then haue thou no harme of this bitter and cursed waters. But and if thou hast gone asyde behinde thine husbande, and art defiled, & some other man hath lye with thee beside thine husbande, (and the Priest shall charge the woman with an horrible curse, and the Priestess shall saie vnto the woman) the Lord make thee to be an abomination and a curse among the people: when the Lord doth make thy thy rotte, and thy belly swell: These cursed waters go into the bowels of thee, that they may make thy belly swell, and thy thy rotte, and lette the woman say, Amen, Amen. And let the Priestess wryte these curses: And when they be cleansed lette him cast them into bitter waters, and geue the woman those bitter & cursed waters to drinke, that those cursed and bitter waters may enter into her. And then the priest shall take the ielousie offering out of the womans hande, and waue it before the Lord, and bring it vnto the altar, and the priest shall take an handfull of the offering for a memoriall, and burne it vpon the altar, and then make the woman drinke the waters: and when he hath made the woman drinke the waters (if she be defiled, and haue trespassed agaynst the husbande:) then shall the cursed and bitter waters go into her, and her belly shall swell, and her thy shall rotte, and that woman shalbe a curse among her people. And if the woman be not defiled, but is cleane, she shall haue no harme, but shall conceaue and beare. This is the lawe of ielousie, when a wife goeth asyde behinde her husbande, and is defiled, or when the spirite of ielousie cometh vpon a man, and he be ielouse ouer his wife, doth bring her before the Lord: And the Priest shall do accordinge vnto all this lawe, and the man shalbe guiltlesse, and the woman shall beare her sinne.

A The. vi. Chapter. The Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: speake vnto the children of Israel, and saie vnto them, when euer man or womanne doth separate thym selves to bowe a bowe of an abshopper, and appoint thym selves vnto the Lord, he shall separate him selfe from wyne and stronge drinke, and shall drinke no vinegre: of wyne, or of stronge drinke, nor shall drinke whatsoeuer is pressed out of grapes: and ate no fresh grapes neither yet tyled. As long as his abstinence endureth, shall he eat nothing that is made of the vine tree, or of the cornels, or of the huske of the grape. And as long as he boweth, and

B is separated, there shall no rasure come upon his heade: but untill his dayes be out, in the which he separateth him selfe vnto the Lord, he shall be holy, and shall let the lockes of his heare grow. As long as he consecrateth him selfe vnto the Lord, he shall come at no dead bodie: he shall not make him selfe vncleane at the death of his father, mother, brother or sister: because that the bowe of the abstinence of his God is vpon his heade. All the dayes of his abstinence he is holie vnto the Lord. And if it fortune that anye man by chaunce dye sodenlye before him, the heade of his abstinence shall be despyled, and he shall + haue his heade the daye of his cleansing: euen the twentieth daye he shall haue it. And the eighth day he shall brynge two turtles or two yong pigeons to the priest, before the doore of the tabernacle of witness. And the Priest shall offer the one for sinne, and the other for a burnt offering, and make an attonement for him as concerning that he sinned vpon a soule, and shall halowe his head the same daye, and he shall consecrate him selfe vnto the Lord (the time of his abstinence) and shall bryng a lambe of a yere olde for trespass: but the daies that were before are lost, because his abstinence was despyled. This is

C the lawe of the absteyner, when the time of his abstinence is out, he shall be brought vnto the doore of the tabernacle of witness, and he shall brynge his offering vnto the Lord: an hee lambe of a yere olde without blemishe for a burnt offering, and a hee lambe of a yere olde without blemishe for synne, a ram without blemishe also for a peace offering, and a basket of sweete breade, euen calke of fine flour mingled with oyle, and sweeters of sweet bread annointed with oyle with their meate offerings and drinke offerings. And the Priest shall bryng him before the Lord, and offer his sinne offering and his burnt offering, and shall offer the ram for a peace offering vnto the Lord, with the baskette of sweete breade, and the priest shall offer also his meate offering and his drinke offering. And he shall shawe the heade of the absteyner in the doore of the tabernacle of witness: as when the heade of his abstinence, and shall take the heare of his sober head, and put it in the fire, which is vnder the peace offering. And the Priest shall take the sodde shoulder of the ram and one sweete cake out of the basket, and one sweete water also, and putte them vpon the hands of the absteyner (after he hath shawen his abstinence of) and the Priest shall (take them of him, and) waue them before the Lord. And these holie thynges shall be the priests with the waue brest and hee shoulder: and then the absteyner may drinke wine. This is the lawe of the absteyner which hath bowed his offering vnto the Lord for his consecration: Besydes those thynges that his hande can gette, according to the bowe which he bowed, euen so he muste do after the lawe of his abstinence. And the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying: Speake vnto Aaron and his sonnes, saying: of this wife ye shall blesse the children of Israel, and saye vnto them. The Lord blesse thee, and kepe thee. The Lord make his face shine vpon thee, and be mercifull vnto thee. The Lord be with thee by his countenance vpon thee, and geue thee peace. And they shall put my name vpon the children of Israel, and I will blesse them.

AND it so cometh in that daye, when Moses had set by the habitation, and annointed and sanctified it, and all the apperell thereof, the alter also and all the vessels thereof, and had annointed them and sanctified them, then the Priests of Israel heads offer the houses of their fathers which were the Lodges of the tribes, standing in their offices, offered and brought their sacrifice before the Lorde: six covered charrettes and xii. oxen: one charret for two Lodges, and for one, an ox, and they brought them before the habitation. And the Lorde spake unto Moses saying: take is of them, that they may be to do the service of the Tabernacle of witness, and thou shalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according unto his office. And Moses took the charrettes and the oxen, and gave them unto the Levites, two charrets & four oxen, he gave unto the sons of Gerson according unto their office. And, iii. charrets, and eyght oxen he gave unto the sonnes of Merari (according unto their offices) under the hand of Jethamar the sonne of Aaron the priest. But unto the sonnes of Gath he gave none, because they had had them office of holy things, which they did bear upon shoulders. And the princes offered for the dedicatinge of the altar (in the day that it was anointed) & brought their sacrifices before the altar. And the Lorde sayde unto Moses: The princes that bring their offerings, every day one prince, for the dedicatinge of the altar:

And so on the first day did Nathab the sonne of Amnahab of the tribe of Juda, offer his sacrifice: And his offeringe was a silver charger, of an hundred and xxx. sicles: a silver boule of lxx. sicles after the wright of the sanctuary: and they were both full of fine wheaten flour mingled with oyle for a meatoffering: a sponne of ten sicles of golde, full of sence, a bullocke, a ram, a lambe of a yere olde for a burnt offeringe: an hee goate for a sinneofferinge: and (for a peaceofferinge) two oxen, fine rammes, fine hee goates, and fine lambes of a yere olde: this was the gift of Nathab the sonne of Amnahab. The second day of Nathanael the sonne of Zuar, captayn over Israel, did offer. And he offered for his gift: a silver charger of an hundred &

thirtie sicles: a silver boule of seuentie sicles after the sicle of the sanctuary: bothe full of fine flour mingled with oyle for a meatoffering: a golden sponne of ten sicles, full of sence, a bullocke, a ram, a lambe of a yere olde for a burnt offering, and an hee goate for sinne: and (for a peaceofferinge) two oxen, fine rammes, fine hee goates, fine lambes of one yere olde. This was the offeringe of Nathanael the sonne of Zuar. The third day, Eliab the sonne of Helon captayne of the children of Zabulon did offer. And his gift was: a silver charger of an hundred and thirtie sicles: a silver boule of seuentie sicles after the sicle of the sanctuary, and both were full of fine flour mingled with oyle for a meatoffering: a golden sponne of ten sicles full of sence: a bullocke, a ram, a lambe of a yere olde for a burnt offering, an hee goate for sinne: and (for a peaceofferinge) two oxen, fine rams, fine hee goates, fine lambes of one yere olde. This was the offeringe of Eliab the sonne of Helon. The fourth day, Elizur the sonne of Sedeur captayne of the children of Ruben bidde offer. And his gift was: a silver charger of an hundred and thirtie sicles: a silver boule of seuentie sicles, after the sicle of the sanctuary, and they were bothe full of fine flour mingled with oyle, for a meatoffering: a golden sponne of ten sicles full of sence: a bullocke, a ram, a lambe of a yere olde for a burnt offering, an hee goate for sinne: and (for a peaceofferinge) two oxen, fine rams, fine hee goates, and fine lambes of one yere olde. This was the offeringe of Elizur the sonne of Sedeur. The fifth day, Helumiel the sonne of Zuar, Sabai captayne of the children of Simeon, offered. His gift was: a silver charger of an hundred and thirtie sicles, a silver boule of seuentie sicles: after the sicle of the sanctuary, and they were both full of fine flour mingled with oyle for a meatoffering: a golden sponne of x. sicles full of sence, a bullocke, a ramme, a lambe of a yere old, for a burnt offering: an hee goate for sinne: and for a peaceofferinge, two

This was the offeringe of Dagiel the sonne of Ocran.

• The twelfth day, Thira the sonne of Enan, captayne of the children of Nephtali offered. And his offering was: a silver charger of an hundred and thirtie sicles: a silver bosome of thre score and tenne sicles, after the sicle of the Sanctuarie, bothe full of fine flour mingled with oyle for a meate offering: a golden spoone of ten sicles, full of cens: a bullocke, a ram, a lambe of one yeare olde for a burnt offering: an hee goats for sinne: and for a peaceoffering: two oxen, five rammes, five he goates, five lambes of one yere olde. This was the offering of Ahira, the sonne of Enan. This was the dedication of the altar in the daye when it was annoynted: vnto the whiche was broughte of the princes of Iſraell twelue chargers of ſyluer, twelue ſyluer bowles, twelue ſpones of gold: every charger contayning an hundred and thirtie ſickles of ſiluer, every bowle threſcore and ten. And al the ſiluer beſell conceyned two thouſande and foure hundred ſickles after the ſickele of the Sanctuary. And the golden ſpones were twelue, full of cens, contayning ten ſickles a peece, after the ſickele of the Sanctuary, ſo that all the golde of the ſpanes, was an hundred and twenty ſickles. All the bullockes for the burnt offering, were twelue, the rammes twelue, the lambes of a yere olde twelue, with the meate offering: and the hee goates for ſinne, twelue. And all the oxen for the peaceofferinge, were ſoſwe and twentie, the rammes ſyrtie, the hee goates threſcore, the lambes of a yere olde ſixtie. This was the dedication of the altar, after that it was annoynted. And when Moſes was gone into the tabernacle of witneſſe, to ſpeke with him, he heard the voyce of one ſpeakinge vnto him from of the mercyſeate, that was vppon the arke of witneſſe. be-

The. liij. Chapter.

AND the Lord ſpake vnto Moſes, ſaying: ſpeake vnto Aaron, and ſaye vnto him: whenne thou puttelt on the lampes, the ſame ſeven lampes ſhall geue lighte towards the forefront of the candleſtiche: And Aaron vpdde even ſo, and lighted the lampes towards the forefront of the candleſtiche, as the Lord commanded Moſes, and the ſwoke of the candleſtiche was of ſyſſe golde, both the ſhaft and the ſlowes therof: accordinge vnto the viſion whiche the Lord had ſhewed Moſes: euen ſo he made the candleſtiche. And the Lord ſpake vnto Moſes, ſaying: take the Leuites from amonge the childzen of Iſraell, and cleaſe them. But thou ſhalt thou do vnto them, when thou cleaſeſt them: ſprinkle water of puri- fying vppon them, and let them make a raſure to ranne a longe vpon all the ſleſhe of them, and lette them waſhe their clothes, and ſo make them ſelues cleane. Then lette them take a bul- locke with his meate offeringe: euen ſyne ſlowe myngled with oyle: and another bullocke ſhalte thou take for ſinne. And when thou doeſt bringe the Leuites befoze the tabernacle of witneſſe, thou ſhalt gather the whole multitude of the childzen of Iſraell together, and bringe the Leuites be- foze the Lord, and the chy- liden of Iſraell ſhall put their hands vppon the Leuites. And Aaron ſhall waue the Leuites befoze the Lord, for a waue offeringe of the childzen of Iſ- rael, that they may execute the mini- ſtration of the ſeruite of the Lord. And the Leuites ſhall put their hands vppon the headdes of the bullockes, and thou ſhalt offer the one for ſynne: and the other for a burnt offeringe, vnto the Lord, that thou may- eſt make an attonemente for the Le- uites. And thou ſhalt ſet the Leuites befoze Aaron and his ſonnes, and waue them for a waue offering befoze the Lord. And thus thou ſhalt ſepe- rate the Leuites from amonge the chil- dzen of Iſraell, and the Leuites ſhall be myne: after that ſhall the Leuites goo in, and do the ſeruite of the taber- nacle of witneſſe. And thou ſhalte cleaſe them and waue them, for they are geuen and deliuered vnto me from amonge the childzen of Iſrael, for ſuch as open every wombe: euen for the firſt borne of all the childzen of Iſrael. gypte, I ſanctified them for my ſelfe, and I haue takenne the Leuites, for all the ſpyte bozne of the children of Iſraell, and haue genen the Leuites as a giſte vnto Aaron, and his ſonnes from amonge the children of Iſraell, to do the ſeruiſe of the children of Iſraell, in the Tabernacle of witneſſe, to make an attonement for the children of Iſraell, that there be no plague among the children of Iſraell, if the children come nye vnto the holy thinges. And Moſes and Aaron and al the congregation of the children of Iſraell dyd with the Leuites, according vnto all that the Lorde commaunded Moſes concerning the Leuites: euen ſo dyd the children of Iſraell vnto them.

And the Leuites were purified, and waſhed their clothes. And Aaron ſwaue them befoze the Lorde, & made an attonement for theym, and cleaſed them. After that went the Leuites in to do their ſeruiſe in the Tabernacle of witneſſe, befoze Aaron & his ſonnes as the Lorde had commaunded Moſes concerning the Leuites, euen ſo they did vnto them. And the Lorde ſpake vnto Moſes, ſaying: this is it that belongeth vnto the Leuites: from xxv. yere bpwarde they ſhall go in, to waite vpon the ſeruiſe of the Tabernacle of witneſſe, & from the age of fiftye yere, they ſhall ceaſe waiting vpon the ſeruiſe therof, and ſhall ſerue no more: but ſhall miniſter vnto their brethren in the tabernacle of witneſſe to waite, but ſhall do no more ſeruiſe.
This therefore ſhalt thou do vnto the Leuites in their waiche.

Num. 48

The .ix. Chapter.

And the Lorde ſpake vnto Moſes in the wilderness of ſinai, in the firſt moneth of the ſeconde yere, after they were come out of the lande of Egypte, ſaying: let the children of Iſraell offer Paſſe-ouer in his ſeaſon: euen the .xiii. day of this moneth: at euen, let them kepe it in his ſeaſon, according to all the ceremonies of it, and according to all the maners thereof. And Moſes ſpake vnto the children of Iſraell, that they ſhoulde offer Paſſeouer, and they offered paſſeouer the .xiii. day of the firſt moneth at euen in the wilderness of ſinai, according to all that the Lorde commaunded Moſes, euen ſo did the children of Iſraell. And certaine men were deſiled vpon the ſoule of man, that they mighte not offer Paſſeouer the ſame daye. And they came befoze Moſes and Aaron the ſame day. And the men ſayde vnto him: we are deſiled vpon the ſoule of man: wherefore are we kepte backe that we maye not offer an offering vnto the Lorde in the due ſeaſon, among the children of Iſraell? And Moſes ſaide vnto them: ſtande ſtill, and I will heare what the Lorde will commande concerning you. And the Lorde ſpake vnto Moſes, ſaying: ſpeake vnto the children of Iſrael and ſay: If any man among you or your children after you be decleane by the reaſon of a coarſe, or in the way farre from you, and will offer Paſſeouer vnto the Lorde: the .xiii. daye of the ſeconde moneth at euen let them offer it, and eaſe it with ſonne bread and ſowze herbes: let them leave none of it vnto the morninge: nor breake anye bone of it: But according to all the ordinances of the Paſſe-ouer let them offer it. But the man that is cleane and is not in a tourney, and yet was negligent to offer Paſſeouer the ſame ſoule ſhall periſhe from his people, becauſe he brought not the offering of the Lorde in his due ſeaſon: that man ſhall beare his ſynne. And if a ſtraunger dwell amonge you, and will offer Paſſeouer vnto the Lorde, according to the ordeynature of Paſseouer and maner thereof, he ſhall offer it thus.

Ye ſhall haue one lawe bothe for the ſtraunger, & for him that was borne at home in the lande. And the ſame daye that the Tabernacle was reared vpe, a cloud covered the habitation

Which was a Tabernacle of the wit-nesse: and when there was vpon the habitation, as it were the similitude of fyre vntill the morninge. So it was alwaye, the cloude covered it by day, & the similitude of fyre by night.
And when the cloude was taken vp from of the tabernacle, then the children of Israel iourneyed: and where the cloude abode, there the children of Israel pitched their tentes. At the mouth of the Lord the children of Israel iourneyed, and at the mouth of the Lord they pitched. And as longe as the cloude abode vpon the habitation they lay still: and when the cloude caried still vpon the habitation longe time, the children of Israel kept the watche of the Lord, and iourneyed not. And it chaunced, that when the cloude abode a fewe dayes vpon the habitation, they abode in their tentes accordinge to the commaundement of the Lord: and they iourneyed also at the commaundement of the Lord.

D And it happened, that when the cloude abode vpon the habitation, from even vnto the morning, and was taken vp in the morning, then they iorneyed. Whether it was by daye or by night, that the cloude was taken vp they iourneyed. Or if the cloude layed two daies or a month, or a long season vpon the habitation, and remained theron, the children of Israel abode still, and iourneyed not. And as soone as the cloude was taken vp, they iorneyed. At the mouth of the Lord, they rested in the tentes, and at the commaundement of the Lord, they iorneyed keeping the watch of the Lord at the commaundement of the Lord by the hande of Moyses.

Chapter.

A And the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying: Make thee two Trompettes of silver: of an whole piece shalt thou make them, that thou mayest blowe them, to call the congregation together, and when the host shall iorney. Therfore shall they blow with them, that all the multitude may resort to thee before the doore of the tabernacle of witnesse. And yf they blow but one trompet, then the princes which are heade ouer the thousandes of Israel shall come vnto thee. But yf ye trompe, the hostes that lye on the east partes, shall go forwarde. And yf ye trompe the seconde time, the hoste that lye on the south-side shall take their iourney: for they shall trompe wherue they take their iourney. But when the congregation is to be gathered together, they shall blow onely and not trompe. And the sonnes of Aaron the priest shall blow with their trompettes, and ye shall haue them as a lawe for euer in your generations. And yf ye go to warre in your lande agaynst your enemies that beere you, ye shall blow with the trompettes: and ye shall be remembred before the Lord your God, to be saued from your enemies. Also in the day of your gladnes, and in your feast dayes, and in the beginning of your monethes, ye shall blow the trompettes ouer your burntsacrifices and peaceofferings, that they maye be a remembrance for you before your God. I am the Lord your God. And it came to passe the twentieth day of the second month in the seconde yeare, that the cloude was taken vp from of the habitation of witnesse. And the children of Israel tooke their iourney out of the desert of Sinai, and the cloude rested in the wilderness of Pharan. And the Lord tooke their iourney at the mouth of the Lord, by the hande of Moyses. In the first place wente the standarde of the booke of Juda, accordinge to their armes: whose captayne was Phahaton, the sonne of Amiadab. And ouer the booke of the Tribe of the childrene of Is-sachar, was Nathanaell the sonne of Zuar. And ouer the booke of the tribe of the children of Zabulon, was Eliab the sonne of Helon. And the habitation was taken downe: and the sonnes of Gerson and Merari wente to carrye the tabernacle.

And the hoste of Ruben went forth with theire banner and armyes, whose captaine was Eliazur the sonne of Sedeur. And ouer the hoste of the tribe of the children of Simcon was Samaliell the sonne of Suri Sadai. And ouer the hoste of the tribe of the childerene of Gad was Eliasaph the sonne of Deguell. The Cahathites also went forwarde, and bare the sanctuary, and the other wyde sette by the habitation agaynst they came. And the standerde of the hoste of the childerene of Ephraim wente forth according to their armie, whose captayne was Elisama the sonne of Amud. And ouer the hoste of the tribe of the sonnes of Manasse, was Gamaliell the sonne of Hebazur. And ouer the hoste of the tribe of the sonnes of Benjamin was Abidan the sonne of Gedeon. And the standerde of the hoste of the childerene of Dan came forth (hauing all the hostes together) throughout their armie: whose captayne was Ahiezer, the sonne of Numi Saddat. And ouer the hoste of the Tribe of the children of Aser, was Daguell the sonne of Ochzan. And ouer the hoste of the tribe of the childerene of Naphtali, was Ahira, the sonne of Enan. These are the leaders of the children of Israel throughout their armie: and thus the hostes removed. And Moyses saide vnto Hobab the sonne of Raguell the Midianite, whiche was Moyses father in lawe: We go into the place of whiche the Lord sayde: I will geue it you, Come thou therefore with vs, and we will doo thee good: for the Lord hath promised good vnto Israel. And he answered him: I will not goe, but will departe to mine owne land, and to my kinred. He sayde: Oh naye, leave vs not, for thou knowest sure mansions in the wilderness, and thou hast bene to vs in steed of eyes. And yf thou go with vs, loke what goodnesse the Lord sheweth vnto vs, the same will we the same doo thee. And they departed from the mount of the Lord three daies iorney: and the Arke of the testament of the Lord went before them in the these daies iorney, to searche oute a resting place for them. And the Lord made a shadowe for them throughout the cloude by daye, when they wente oute of the tentes. And it fortuneth, that when the Arke wente forth, Moyses saide: Rise by Lord, and let thine enemies be scattered: and let them that hate thee, flee before thee. And when the Arke rested, he sayde: Returne O Lord, vnto thee many thousands of Israel.

And it fortuneth, that whenne the people hadde sinned, it was a displeasure in the eyes of the Lord. And whenne the Lord heard it, his countenance was prouoked to wrath, and the fyre of the Lord burnt among them, and consumed them that were the bittermoste of the hoste. And the people cryed vnto Moyses. And when Moyses made intercession vnto the Lord, the fyre quenched. And the name of the place was called Taberah, because the fyre of the Lord burnt among them. And the rascall people that was among them, fell a lusting, and turned themselves, and went (euen as didah) to the children of Israel) and sayde: Who shall geue vs fleshe to eate? we remember the fleshe whiche we did eate in Egypte, for naughte, and the cucumbers and melons, leekes, onions, and Garlyke. But now our soule is dried awaye, for we can fynde nothinge elles, save Manna. The Manna was as a Coriander seed, and (so to see to) lyke the Bedellian. And the people wente aboute, and gathered it, and ground it in Millen, or beat it in morters, and baked it in pannes, and made cakes of it. And the taste of it was lyke vnto the taste of an oyle cake. And when the dew fell downe vpon the hoste in the night, the Manna fell vpon it. And whenne Moyses heard the people wepe throughout their house, he emerged vnto the doore of his tent.

sent to spy out the lande. And Moyses called the name of Olee the sonne of Nun, Joshua. And Moyses sente them south to spy out the lande of Canaan, and saide vnto them: Gette you by this way southwarde, that ye may go by into the hye countrey, and see the lande what maner thing it is, and the people that dwelleth therein: whether they be stronge or weake, eyther fewe or many, and what the land is that they dwell in, whether it bee good or badde, and what maner of cities they be, that they dwell in, whether they dwell in tentes or walled townes: and what maner of lande it is, whether it be fat or leane, and whether there be trees therein, or not. Be of a good courage, and bringe of the fruite of the lande. And it was about the time that grapes are byll ripe.

¶ And so they went by, and serched out the land from the wilderness of Zin, vnto Rehob, as men come to Hemath, and they ascended vnto the south, and came vnto Hebron, where Shimon was, and Hesi, and Chalmant, the sonnes of Enach. Hebron was builded seven yere before Ioan in Egypte. And they came vnto the river of Escoll, and cut downe there a brannche with one cluster of grapes, and swain bare it vpon a staffe, and they brought also of the pomegranates: and of the figges. And the place was called, the river Escoll, because of the cluster of grapes, which the children of Israel cut downe thence. And they turned backe againe from serching of the land after forty dayes. And they went and came to Moyses and Aaron, and vnto all the multitude of the children of Israel, in the wilderness of Sin, which is in Cadan, and broughte their woode, and also vnto all the congregation, and shewed them the fruite of the lande. And they tolde him, and sayde: We came vnto the lande whither thou sentest vs, and surely it floweth with milke and honye: and here is of the fruite of it. Nevertheless, the people that dwell therein, are of a great stature, and the cities are walled, and exceedinge greates: and moreouer, we sawe the children of Enach there. The Amalechites dwell in the south countrey, and the Hethites, Jebusites, and the Amorites dwell in the mountains, and the Canaanites dwell by the sea, and by the coast of Iordan. And Caleb stilled the (murmur that was raysed vp) of the people before Moyses, saying: We will go by, and conquire it, for we be able to overcome it. But the men that went with him, saide: We be not able to go by against the people, for they are stronger then we. And they brought by an euill reporte of the lande, which they had searched, saying vnto the children of Israel: The lande which we haue gone thowso to search it out, is a land that eateth by the inhabitants thereof: and the people that we sawe in it, are men of a great stature. And there we sawe also gigantes, the children of Enach, which come of the gigantes, And we seemed in our sight, as it were grasshoppers, and so we did in their sight.

¶ And all the multitude of the people cryed oute, and wepte thowso went that night, and all the children of Israel murmured agaynst Moyses and Aaron. And the whole congregation sayde vnto them: Woulde God that we hadde dyed in the lande of Egypte, eyther that we had dyed in this wilderness. Wherefore hath the Lord brought vs vnto this lande, to fall vpon the sword: and that our wiues, and our children should be a praye? Were it not better that we returne vnto Egypt agayne? And they sayd one to another, we will make a capitaine, and returne vnto Egypt agayne. But Moyses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the congregation and multitude of the children of Israel. And Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Iephune (which were of them that searched the land) rent their clothes, and spake vnto all the companye of the children of Israel.

Israel, saying: The lande which we walked through to search it, is a very good land. If the Lord hath lust to vs he will bringe vs into the lande, and geue it vs, whiche is suche a lande as floweth with milke and honye. But in any wise rebell not ye agaynst the Lord. - Neither neede ye to feare the people of the lande, for they are but breade for vs. Their shadowe is departed from them, and the Lord is with vs, feare them not therefore. But al they which were in that multitude, hadde stoned them with stones. And the glasse of the Lord appeared in the tabernacle of witnesse, befoze C all the childre of Israel. And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses. Howe longe do this people prouoke me, and how long wil it be ere they beleue me for al the signes which I haue shewed amonge them? I will smyte them with the pestilence and destroy them: and will make of thee a greater nation and mightier then they. And Moyses sayde vnto the Lord, then the Egyptians shall heare, for thou broughtest this people in thy might from among them. And it will be tolde to the inhabitants of this lande also: for they haue hearde likewise, that thou Lord arte amonge this people: and that thou Lord arte seene face to face, and that thy cloud standeth ouer them and that thou goest befoze them by daye time in a pillar of a cloude, and in a pillar of fyre by nighte. If thou shalt kill all this people as they were but one man, then the nations which haue heard the fame of thee, will saye the Lord is not hable to bringe in this people into the lande, whiche he swore vnto them: but hath slaine them in the wilderness. And now I beseeche thee let the power of my Lord be greates, according as thou hast spoken saying: the Lord is longe yet he be angrie, and full of mercy, and suffreth iniquitie, and sinne, and leaueh none man innocent, and visiteth the iniquitie of the fathers vpon the children, in the thirde and fourth generation: be mercifull I beseeche thee vnto

the sinne of this people, according as vnto the greates mercede, as thou hast forgiven this people frome Egypte euen vntill now. And the Lord saide: I haue forgiven it, according to thy request. But as truly as I lyue, all the earth shall be filled with the glorie of the Lord. But al those men which haue sene my glorie and my miracles which I did in Egypte, and in the wilderness, and haue tempted me now this ten times, and will not harden vnto my voyce, shall not see the lande which I swore vnto their fathers: neyther shall any of them that prouoked me see it. But my seruant. Caleb, with whom there was another maner of spirite, and because he hath followed me vnto the vtmoste, him will I bringe into the lande which he hath walked in, and his seede shall inherite it, and also the Amalechites and Cananites which dwell in the playne countrye. To morowe tourne you, and get you into the wilderness: euen by the waye of the red sea. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses and Aaron saying: howe longe both this multitude murmur agaynst me? I haue heard the murmuringes of the children of Israel, with the which they murmur agaynst me. Tell them therefore: As truly as I lyue (sayeth the Lord) I will doe vnto you euen as ye haue spoken in myne eare. Your carcases shall lye in this wilderness. And all you that were tolde throughout your numbers, from xx. yere and aboue (which haue murmured agaynst me) shall not come into the lande, ouer which I lifted up mine hande to make you dwell therein, save Caleb the sonne of Iephune, and Josua the sonne of Nun. But your children which ye sayde shoulde be a praye, them I will bringe in, and they shall knowe the lande which ye haue refused, and your carcases shall lye in this wilderness. And your children shall wander in this wilderness forty yeres, a yere for your whoredome, vntill your carcases be wasted in the wilderness.

 the Amalechites and the Cananites they presumed obstinately to goe vp into the hill toppe. Neuer the later, the arke of the testament of the Lord and Moyses departed not oute of the hoste. Then the Amalechites, and the Cananites, which dwelt in that hill, came downe, and smote them, and hewed them euen vnto Horeba.

 offering of a speciall sacrifice, epyther of a bowe or of a willing mynd, and in your principal feasts, to make a swete sauour vnto the Lord of the oxen, or of the flocke. Then • let him that of-fereth his offering vnto the Lord, bring also a meateoffering of a tenth dele of flour, mingled with fourthe part of an hynde of oyle, and the fourthe parte of an hynde of wyne for a drinke offering, and offer with the burnt offering, or any other offering, when it is a lambe. Or if it be a ram, thou shalt offer for a meateoffering, two tenth dea-les of flour mingled with the thirde parte of an hynde of oyle: and for a drinke offering, thou shalt offer the third part of an hynde of wyne for a swete sauour vnto the Lord. And when thou offer-est a bullocke for a burnt offering or for a speciall bowe or a peaceoffering vnto the Lord, let him bring with a bullocke a meateoffering of .iij. tenth deales of flour myngled with halfe uour vnto the Lord. After this maner shall it be doone for an ox, or for a ram, or for a lambe, or a kydder. Looke what numbze thou makest in these, such a numbze thou shalt make in them also. And accordyng to the numbze of suche offerings, thou shalt encrease the meate offerings and the drinke offerings. All that are of your seues shall doo these thynges after this maner, to offer an offering of swete sauour vnto the Lord. And if a stranger sojourne with you, or whosoeuer be among you in youre generations, and will offer an offering of a swete sauour vnto the Lord: euen as ye do, so he shall do. One ordinance shalbe

And when rose up before Moyses, with other men of the children of Israel, two hundred and fiftie, which were captaynes of the multitude, great and famous men in the congregation: and they gathered themselves together against Moyses and Aaron, and sayde vnto them: Ye make muche to doo, se-ting all the multitude are holp, euerpe one of them, and the Lord is amonge them. Why beane ye ppetre sines vp aboue the congregation of the Lord?
And when Moyses heard it, he set vp pon his face, and spake vnto Cohab, and vnto all his company, saying: Co moiose the Lord will shew who are his, who is holpe, and who oughte to approche hye vnto him; and who he hath chosen to come to him. This doo therefore, take you fyre pannes, bothe Cohab and all his company, and doo fyre therein, and put cense in them before the Lord to moiose. And the man whom the Lord doth chose, the same shalbe holp. Ye make muche to doo, ye children of Leui. And Moyses sayde vnto Cohab: Heare ye children of Leui. It is but a small thinge vnto you, that the God of Israel hath separated you from the multitude of Israel: and brought you to himselfe; to do the seruice of the dwelling place of the Lord, and to stande before the multitude, and to minister vnto him: he hath taken thee to him, and all thy brethren, the sons of Leui with thee, and seke ye the office of the Priest also: For which cause both thou and all thy company are gathered together against the Lord: And what is Aaron that ye murmure agaynst him? And Moyses sente, and called Dathan, and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, whiche sayde: We wilde come vnto Jhu: a small thing, that thou haue broughte us out of a lande that floweth with milk and hony, to sit vs in the wildernesse, and to toppre ouer vs alke, that thou haue broughte vs vnto a land that floweth with milk and hony, and given vs inheritance of cities and vineyardes: while thou puttest the eye of these men, the multitude came up. And Moyses waxed very angry, & said vnto the Lord: Turne not thou vnto their offering. I haue not taken so muche as an assle from them, neither haue I hurt any of them. And Moyses sayd vnto Cohab: We thou and all thy company before the Lord: both thou, they, and Aaron to moiose. And take euery manne his censer, and put cense in them, that ye may offer before the Lord, euery man of the two hundred and fiftie take his censour, thou also Aaron, that euery one may haue his censer. And they tooke euery man his censer, and put fire in them, & laid cense thereon, and stood in the doore of the tabernacle of witness with Moyses and Aaron. And Cohab gathered all the congregatiō against them vnto the doore of the Tabernacle of witness.

And the glory of the Lord appered vnto all the congregation. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses & Aaron, saying: Separate your selues from among this congregation, that I may consume them at once. And they fell vpon their faces, and sayde: O moke mighte God of the spirites, of all flesh, if this man hath sinned, while thou bee for the with all the multitude: And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: Speake vnto the congregation and say: Gette you away from about the dwellinge of Cohab, Dathan, and Abiram: And Moyses rose up, and went vnto Da-than and Abiram, the eldres of Israel foloweth him. And he spake vnto the congregation, saying: Departe from the tents of these wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, least ye perish in all their iniquities. And so they gate them from the dwellinge of Co-hab, Dathan, and Abiram: and euery spere. And Dathan and Abiram came out, and stood in the doore of their ten-tes with their wives, their sonnes, and their little children: And Moyses sayde: Hereby ye shall knowe that the Lord hath sent me to do all these wo-rdes; and that I haue not done the worde of mine owne mouth. For when ye the sinner death of all men: & if they be killed after the imitation of all menne; then the Lord hath not sent me. But and if the Lord make a newe thinge, and the earth open her mouth, and swalowe them by with all that they haue: and they go downe quicke into hell: then ye shall vnderstande, that these men haue provoked the Lord. And it fortuned, that as soone as he had made an ende of spea-

Ps. 106 c and the earth opened her mouth, and swalowed them by, and their houses, and all the men that were with Corah, and all their gooddes. And they and all that they had, went downe alive vnto hell, and the earth closed vpon them: and they perished from among the congregation. And all Israel that were about them, fledde at the crye of them. And they sayd: Least the earth swalowe vs by also. And there came out a fire from the Lord, and consumed the twoo hundred and fiftie men that offered cense. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: Speake vnto Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron the priesle, that he take by the censers out of the burning, and scatter the fire here and there, for the censers of these sinners are halowed in their deathea: and let them make of them thinne beaten plates for a coveringe of the altare. For they offered them before the Lord, and therefore they are halowed, and they shall bee a signe vnto the children of Israel.

And Eleazar the priesle toke the basen censers which they were burnt had offered, and beate them thinne for a coveringe of the altare, to be a remembrance vnto the children of Israel, that no stranger which is not of the seede of Aaron, come nere to offer cense before the Lord, that it happen not vnto him, like as vnto Corah and his company, as the Lord sayd of him by the hand of Moyses. But on the morowe all the multitude of the children of Israel murmured agaynst Moyses and Aaron, saying: Ye haue killed the people of the Lord. And it fortuned, that when the multitude was gathered agaynst Moyses and Aaron, they looked towarde the tabernacle of witnesse. And beholde, (when they were entred into it) the cloude covered it, and the glozy of the Lord appeared. And Moyses and Aaron came before the Tabernacle of witnesse. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: Get you from among this congregation, that I may consume them quickly. And they set vpon their faces. And Moyses sayd vnto Aaron: Take a censer, and put fire therin out of the altar, and poure out cense, and go quickly vnto the congregatiō, that thou may obtayne the forgiveness for them.

For there is wrath gone out from the Lord, and there is a plague begonne. And Aaron toke as Moyses commaunded him, and ran into the mids of the congregation, and behold, the plague was begon amonge the people, and he put on cense, and made an attonement for the people. And when he stoode by twent the deade, and them that were alive, the plague ceased. They that dyed in the plague were. xliij. thousande, and vij. hundred: beside them that dyed about the busynesse of Corah. And Aaron wente agayne vnto Moyses before the doore of the tabernacle of witnesse, and the plague ceased.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying: Speake vnto the children of Israel, and take of encryprince of them a rodde, after the houses of their fathers, euery rodde: and write euery mans name vpon his rodde. And write Aarons name vpon the rodde of Aarons: for a house of their fathers. And put them in the Tabernacle of witnesse, euē in the place where I meete you. And the mans rod whom I choole, shall blossom. And I will make teasse from me, the grudginges of the children of Israel, whereby they grudge agaynst you. And Moyses spake vnto the children of Israel, and all the princes gaue him, euen Printe ouer their fathers houses, a Rod, euen twelue rodde, and the rod of Barou was amonge the rodde.

C And Moyses put the rods befoze the Loyde, in the Tabernacle of witnesse. And on the morowe, Moyses wente into the tabernacle of witnesse: and beholde, the rodde of Barou for the house of Arou, was budded, and bare blossomes, and almondes. And Moyses broughte oute all the rodde from befoze the Loyde vnto all the children of Israel: and they looked vpon them, and toke euery man his rod.

D And the Loyde said vnto Moyses: bringe Barons rod againe befoze the witnesse to be kept for a token of the childrens rebellion, and that their murmuringe maye cease from me, and that they dye not. And Moyses did as the Loyd commaunded him, euen so did he. And the children of Israel spake vnto Moyses saying: Behold, we are wasted away and consumed, we all come to naught, whosoener commeth nie the dwelling of the Loyde dyeth. Shall we vterly consume awaye?

C The. xxiij. Chapter.

A And the Loyde saide vnto Barou, thou and thy sonnes and thy fathers house with thee shall beare the faulte of that which is done amysse in the holy place. And thou and thy sonnes with thee shall beare the faulte of that which is done amysse in your priesthode. And thy brethren of the tribe of Arou, and of thy fathers householde, thou shalt take vnto thee, that they may be ioyntell vnto thee, and minister vnto thee: euen vnto thee and thy sonnes with thee, befoze the tabernacle of witnesse. They shall waite vpon thee, and vpon all the tabernacle: onely let them not come nye the vessels of the sanctuary, and the sulter, that they and ye also dye not. And they shall be hy ther, and waite on the tabernacle of witnesse, for all the seruice of the Tabernacle, and let no stranger come nye vnto you. Therefore shall ye keepe the holpe place and the sulter; that there fall no more wrath vpon the children of Israel: beholde, I haue taken your brethren the Leuites from amonge the children of Israel, whiche as a gifts of yours are geuen vnto the Loyde, to do the seruice of the tabernacle of witnesse. Therefore shalt thou and thy sonnes with thee, take heede vnto your priestes office for all thinges that pertaine vnto the sulter; and for all that are within the dayle. And see that ye serue, for I haue geuen your priestes office vnto you as a gift: and therefore the stranger that commeth nye muste be slayne. And the Loyde spake vnto Barou: behold, I haue geue thee the keeping of mine heere offerings, of al the hallowed thinges of the children of Israel. Euen vnto thee I haue geuen them for the annoyntinge, and to thy sonnes for a duetie for euer. This shall be thine of moste holpe from the fire of the altare. All their sacrifices for all their meate offerings, fenne offerings of trespass offerings, which they bringe vnto me, are moste holpe.

It is thine and thy sonnes. In the moste holpe place shalt thou eate it: and all that are males shall eate of it, let it be holy vnto the. And this also is thine. & heere offerings of their gifts throughout al & waue offerings of the children of Israel: I haue geue thee by to thee & thy sons, and thy daughters with thee, to be a due for euer, and al that are cleane in thy house, shall eate of it, al & fat of the oyle, & all the fat of the wine & of the corn, which they shal offer vnto the Loyde for fire. And the same haue I geue vnto thee. And whosoever is first ripe in their land which they bring vnto the Loyd, shalbe thine & al that are cleane in thine house shall eat of it. Al dedicate thinges in Israel shalbe thine. All & beareth the matrice in al flesh that men bring vnto & Loyde whether it be of men or beastes, shalbe thine. And wherthe later & first born of man shalt thou redeeme, and the first born of beastes shalt thou redeeme like to thee. & hals are to be redeemed: shalt thou redeeme from the age of a moneth.

rael they possesse none inheritance.
But the tythes of the children of Israel, whiche they paye as an beue offering unto the Lorde, I have given the Levites to inherite. And therfore I have sayde unto them. Amonge the children of Israel ye shal possesse none inheritance. And the Lorde spake unto Moses saying: speake unto the Levites and saye unto them, when ye take of the children of Israel the ty-thes whiche I have given you of them for your inheritance, ye shall take an beue offering of the same for the Lorde: even the tenth part of a tythe. And this your beue offering shalbe reckned unto you, such as though it were of the corne of the barne, or out of the tynes of the sheppes. Of this maner ye shall therfore separate an beue offering unto the Lorde, of all your tythes whiche ye receive of the children of Israel, and ye shall geve therof unto the Lorde an beue offering, whiche shal belonge to Aaron the priesse. Of all your giftes, ye shall take oute all the Lordes beue offeringes even the fat of their halowed thinges. And therfore thou shalt saye unto them: when ye have taken awaye the fat of it from it, it shalbe counted unto the Levites, as if it were the increase of the corne store, or the increase of the sheppes.

And ye shall eate it in all places, bothe ye and your householdes, for it is your rewarde for your service in the tabernacle of witness.

And ye shall beare no sinne by the reason of it, when ye have taken from it the fat of it: neyther shall ye be halow the holye thinges of the children of Israel least ye dye.

The xix. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake unto Moses and Aaron saying: this is the ordinance of the lawe whiche the Lorde hath commanded saying: speake unto the children of Israel, that they bring thee a red cowe without spotte, and wherein is noo blemishe, and upon whiche never came yoke. And ye shall geve her unto Eleazar the priesse that hee maye burne her without the holte, and caste her to bee slayde before his face. And let Eleazar the priesse take of her blood with his finger, and sprinkle it before the tabernacle of witness seven times. And shall the cowe to bee burne in fire with her skynne, flesh and bone.
And the burning of her shall be burnt also. And lette the priesse take Cedar wood, and flaxe and purple cloth and caste it upon the fire as shee is burning. Then lette the priesse walke in clothes, and hee shall walke in the water, and then come into the holte, and the priesse shalbe holene unto the

And he that burneth her, shall walsh his clothes in water, and bathe his fleshe in water, and be vncleane vntill euen. And a manne that is cleane shall take vp the ashes of the Cowe, and put them without the hooke in a cleane place. And it shall bee kepte for the multitude of the childzen of Israell, for a sprinkling water, and for an attonement of sinne. Wherefore he that gathereth the ashes of a cow, shall wash his clothes, and remayne vncleane vntill euen. And this shall be vnto the childzen of Israell, and vnto the stranger that dwelleth amonge them, a statute for euer. The that toucheth the deade bodie of anye man, shall be vncleane seven daies. And he shall purifie him selfe with this water the thirde day, and the seventh day, and he shall be cleane. But yf he purifie not him selfe the thirde daye, and the seventh daye, he shall not bee cleane. Whosoever toucheth the carse of anye man that is deade, and spinkleth not himselfe, defileth the dwel-linge of the Lord, and that soule shall be rooted out of Israell, because the sprinkling water was not spin-kled vpon him. He shall be therfore vncleane, and his vncleannesse shall remayne vpon him. This is the lawe of the man that dieth in a tent: at that come into the tente, and all that is in the tent, shall be vncleane seven days.
And all the vessels that be open, whiche haue no lode nor cotinge vpon them shall be vncleane. And who soever toucheth one that is layne with a sword in the fieldes, or a dead person, or a bone of a dead man, or a graue: shall be vncleane seven daies. Wherefore, for an vncleane person they shall take of the burnte ashes of the sinneofferinge, and runninge water shall be put thereto in a vessel. And lette a cleane person take flope, and dippe it in the water, and sprinkle it vpon the tent, and vpon all the vessels, and vpon the sonles that were therein, and vpon him that touched a bone, or a slain person, or a dead body, or a graue. And the cleane person shall sprinkle vpon the vncleane, the thirde daye, and the seuenth daye. And the seventh daye he shall purifie him selfe, and walsh his cloathes, and bathe him selfe in water, and shall be cleane at euen. But the man that is vncleane, and spinkleth not him selfe, the same soule shall be destroyed from among the congregation: because he hath defiled the holy place of the Lord, & the sprinkling water hath not ben sprinkled vpon him, therfore shall he remayn vncleane.

And this shall bee a perpetuall lawe vnto them. And he that sprinkleth the sprinkling water, shall wash his clothes. And he that toucheth the sprinkling water, shall be vncleane vntill euen. And whatsoeuer the vncleane person toucheth, shall bee vncleane.
And the soule that toucheth it, shall be vncleane vntill the euen.

The xx. Chapter.

And the childzenne of Israell came with the whole multitude into the deserie of Sin in the first moneth, and the people abode at Cadis. And there dyed Miriam, and was buried there. But there was no water for the multitude.
And they gathered themselves together agaynste Moyses and Aaron.
And the people chidde with Moyses, and spake, saying: Woulde God that we hadde perished, when oure brethren dyed before the Lord. Why haue ye broughte the congregation of the Lord vnto this wilderness: that both we and oure cattell shoulde dye in it. Wherefore haue ye made vs to ge out of Egypt, to bring vs into this vngenerous place, whiche is no place of seede, nor of figges, nor vines, nor of pomegranates, neither is there any water to drinke. And Moyses and Aaron went from the congregation vnto the doore of the Tabernacle of witness, and fell vpon their faces.
(And they cryed vnto the Lord, and sayde: O Lord God) heare the crye of this people, and open them thy tresure, even a fountayne of liuing water, that they maye bee satisfied, and that their murmuring maye cease.) And the glory of the Lord appeared vnto them. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: take the rodde, and gather thou and thy brother Aaron the congregation together, and speake vnto the rocke before their eyes, and it shall geue forth his water. And thou shalt brynge them water out of the rocke, to geue the company drinke and their beastes also. And Moyses toke the rod from before the Lord, as he commanded him. And Moyses and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rocke: and Moyses sayde vnto them: heare ye rebellious, muste we sette you water out of this rocke? And Moyses lifte by his hande, and with his rodde hee smote the rocke twos times, and the water came out abundantlye, and the multitude dranke and their beastes also.

Isa. 78b

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses and Aaron: because ye belueued me not to sanctifie me in the eyes of the children of Israel, therefore ye shall not bryng this congregation into the land whiche I haue geuen them. This is the water of strife, because the children of Israel stroue with the Lord, and he was sanctified in them. And Thus sayth thy brother Israel: Thou knowest all the trouble that hath happened vs. Our fathers wente downe into Egypte, and we haue dwelte in Egypte a long time, and the Egyptians vexed vs and our fathers. And when we cried vnto the lord, he heard oure voyce, and sente an aungell, and hath sette vs vp out of Egypte. And beholde we are in Cadan, euen in the bittermoste title of thy border. Wee will go nowe through thy countrey, but wee will not goe through the fieldes of bynepardes, neyther will we drinke of the water of the fountaines: we will go by the kinges hye waye, and neyther tourne vnto the righte hande nor to the lefte, vntill we be past thy countrey. And Edom answered him, Thou shalt not go by me, least I come out agaynst thee with the swearde. The childe of the house of Israel sayde vnto him: we will goe by the beaten way: and yf I and my cattell drinke of thy water, I will paye for it, I will not onely (without any harme) goe through on my feete. He answered: Thou shalt not goe through. And Edom came out agaynst him with muche people, and with a mightye power. And thus Edom denyed to geue Israel passage through his countrey: wherfore Israel tourned awaye from him. And the children of Israel departed from Cadan, and came vnto mounte Hor, with all the congregation. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses and Aaron in mounte Hor, sayinge: Aaron shalt be gathered vnto his people, for he shall not come into the land, whiche I haue geuen vnto the childe of the house of Israel, because yee disobeyed my mouth at the water of strife. Take Aaron and Eleazar his sonne, and brynge them vp into mounte Hor, and thou shalt stripe Aaron out of his bestimentes and put them vpon Eleazar his sonne, and Aaron shall be gathered vnto his people and shall dye there. And Moyses did as the Lord commanded: and they went vp into mount Hor in the sight of all the multitude. And Moyses toke of Aarons clothes, and put them vpon Eleazar his sonne, and Aaron dyed there in the topp of the mounte. And Moyses and Eleazar came out of the mount. When all the multitude sawe that Aaron was deade, they mourned for Aaron thirrie dayes, throughout all the householdes of Israel;

The xxi. Chapter.

And when kinge. And the Cananite whiche dwelt towards the South, heard tell that Israel came by the waye that the spies had found out, he sought agaynst Israel, and toke some of them prisoners. And Israel bowed a bowe vnto the Lord, and sayde: If thou wilt deliuer this people into my hands, I will utterlie destroye their Cities.

 And the Lord heard the voyce of Israel, and deliuered them the Cananites. And they destroyed them and their Cities, and called the name of the place. Horma. And they departed from mount Hor by the waye of the red Sea: to compass the lande of Edom. And the soule of the people fainted by the waye. And the people spake against God and against Moyses.
 Wherefore hast thou brought vs out of Egypt, for to dye in the wyderness: for here is neither bread nor water, and our soule lotheth this light breade. • Wherefore the Lord sent fyre serpentes amonge the people whiche stonge them: and muche people of Israel dyed. Therefoze the people came to Moyses: and sayd: We haue sinned, for wee haue spoken a-gainste the Lord and against thee, • make intercession to the Lord, that he take away the serpentes from vs.
 And Moyses made intercession for the people. And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses: make thee a fyre serpente and set it vp for a signe, that as many as are bitten, may loke vpon it, and lyue. • And Moyses made a serpente of brasse, and set it vp for a signe. And when the serpentes had bitten anye man he behelde the serpente of brasse, and was healed. • And the children of Israel departed thence, and pitched in Aboth. And they departed from Aboth, and pitched at the heapes of Barim: euen in the wilderness which is by the playne of Moab on the east syde. And they remoued thence and pitched vpon the ryuer of Zarab. And they departed thence and pitched on the other side of Arnon, which is in the wilderness, and cometh out of the coastes of the Amorites: for Ar-non is the border of Moab, betwene Moab and the Amorites. Wherefoze it is spoken in the booke of the warre of the Lord. What thing he did in the red Sea, and in the riuer of Arnon.
 And the head of the ryuers that goeth vnto Moyses, gather the people together, and I will gette the water. The Israel sang his songe. Arise vp well, singe vnto him. The princes dig-ged this wel, the captaynes of the people digged it, with the teacher, & with their slaues. And from the wilderness they went to Matana, and from Matana to Habeliel, and from Habeliel to Bamoth, and from Bamoth to the valley: is in the feild of Moab vnto top of the hill that appereth before Jesimo. And Israel sent messengers vnto Schon, king of the Amorites saying: • I will go through thy lande: we will not turne into the feildes of bynepardes, neither drinke of the waters of the wel: but we wil go alonge by thy kinges hie way, until we be past thy country. But Schon wold geue Israel no lierce to passe through his co-trye, but gathered all his people together, & wente out against Israel into the wilderness. And he cam to Jahza & fought against Israel. • And Israel smote hym in the edge of the sword, and conquered his lande fro Ar-non vnto Iabok, & vnto the children of Ammon. For the border of the children of Ammon, was strong. And Israel toke all these cities & dwelt in al the cities of the Amorites: in Hesbon & in all the towncs that long therto. For Hesbon was the Citie of Schon the king of the Amorites, which fought before againste the king of the Moabites, and toke all his land out of his hand, and vnto Arnon. wherfoze they say in the proverbe: Come to Hesbon, and lette the citie of Schon be bulle-and repaired: for there is a fyre gone out of Hesbon, and a flame frome the citie of Schon, and hath consumed Ar in Moab, and the inheritors of the hie places in Arnon. Wo be to Moab: O people of Chamos, ye are vndone, his daughters to captiuitie vnto Se-hon the king of the Amorites. Their empire is lost fro Hesbon vnto Dib-and we made a wilderness even vnto stopha, which reacheth vnto Mediba. And thus Israel dwelt in the lande of the Amorites. And Moyses sent to searche oute Iazer, and they tooke the towne belonging thereto, and roted out the Amorites that were therein. And they tourned and went vpp towarde Basan. And Og the Kinge of Basan came oute agaynst them, he and all his people to fyghte at Ibyri. And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses, feare him not, for I haue deliuered him in thy hande, and all his people, and his lande. And thou shalt doe to him as thou diddest vnto Sehon the kinge of the Amorites which dwelte at Hesbon. They smote him therfore, and his sonnes, and all his people, untill there was nothing lefte him. And they conquered his lande.

The .xxij. Chapter.

And the childezen of Israel departed and pitched in the feldestes of Moab, on the other syde of Iordanne, ouer agaynst Jericho. And Balac the sonne of Ziphor sawe all that Israel had done to the Amorites: and the Moabites were fore afraide of the people, because they were manye, and stood in feare of the childezen of Israel. And Moab sayde vnto the childezen of Moabian: nowe shall this compaigny like vnto all that are rounde aboute vs, as an oxe lycketh vnto the grasse of the felde. And Balac the sonne of Ziphor was king of the Moabites at that time. He sent messengers therfore vnto Balaam the sonne of Beor in Bethor (which is by the riner of the land of the childezen of his folcke) to call him, saying: Beholde, there is a people come oute of Egypt, and beholde, they couer the face of the erth, and dwell ouer agaynst me. Come nowe therfore, and curse this people for my sake. For they are to myghte for me, yf so peradventure I might be able to smite them, and to delyue the out of the land. For I wote that he whom thou blessest, is blessed, and whome thou cursest, is cursed. And the elders of Moab, and the Elders of Moabian departed, hauing the rewarde of the southsayinge in their hande. And they came vnto Balaam, and tolde him the wordes of Balac. He answered them: Tarpe here this night, and I will bringe you worde, euen as the Lord shall saye vnto me. And the Lordes of Moab abode with Balaam. And God came vnto Balaam, and sayde: What men are these with thee? And Balaam saide vnto God: Balac the sonne of Ziphor king of Moab hath sent vnto me, saying: Beholde, there is a people come out of Egypt, and couereth the face of the earth: Come nowe therfore and curse them for my sake, yf so peradventure I maye be able to ouercome them in battayle and to delyue them oute.

And God sayde vnto Balaam: Goe not with them, neyther curse the people, for they are blessed. And Balaam rose vp in the morning and sayde vnto the Lordes of Balac: Get you vnto your lande, for the Lord will not suffer me to goe with you. And the Lordes of Moab rose vp, and went vnto Balac, and sayde: Balaam woulde not come with vs. And Balac sent agayne a greater compaigny of Lordes, and more honozable then they, which came to Balaam, and tolde him: Thus sayeth Balac, the sonne of Ziphor: Oh, let nothing lette thee, but come vnto me, for I will greatly promote thee vnto greate honoure, and will doe what soeuer thou sayest vnto me. Come I praye thee, curse this people for my sake. And Balaam answered, and saide vnto the seruantes of Balac: If Balac would geue me his house full of syluer and golde: I can not go beyonde the worde of the Lord my God, to do lesse or more. Nowe therfore tarpe yee here this night, that I maye wete what the Lord will say vnto me more. And God came vnto Balaam by night, and saide vnto him: If the meene come to call thee, rise vp and go with them: but looke what I say vnto thee, that shalt thou do. And Balaam rose by early, and saddled his Ass, and wente with the Lorde of Moab. And the countenance of God was angrie because he went.

And the aungell of the Lorde stode in the waye against him, as he rode vppon his ass, and his two seruantes were with him. And when the Ass sawe the aungell of the Lorde stande in the waye, and hauing a swearde drawen in his hande, the ass turned asyde out of the waye and went out into the feilde. And Balaam smote the ass, to tourne her into the waye.
¶ But the aungell of the Lorde stode in a path betwene the bynepardes, and there was a wall on the one syde, and another on the other. And when the ass sawe the aungell of the Lorde, she wrenched vnto the wal, and thrust Balaams foote vnto the wall, and he smote her agayne. And the aungell of the Lorde went further and stode in a nother place, where was no waye to tourne, ether to the right hande or to the left. And when the ass sawe the aungell of the Lorde, she fell downe vnder Balaam: And Balaam was wroth, and smot the ass with a staffe.
And the Lorde opened the mouthe of the Ass, and she sayde vnto Balaam: what haue I doone vnto thee, that thou haste smitten me nowe three tymes? And Balaam sayde vnto the ass: because thou haste mocked me: I woulde also there were a swearde in mine hande, for euery nowe woulde I kill thee. And the ass sayde vnto Balaam: am not I thine ass which thou hast rydden vpon sence thou wast borne vnto this dape? Was I euer wont to do so vnto thee? he said: nay.
And the Lorde opened the eyes of Balaam, and he sawe the aungell of the Lorde standinge in the waye hauing a swearde drawen in his hande. He bowed him selfe therefore, and fell flat on his face. And the aungell of the Lorde saide vnto him: wherfore haste thou smitten thine ass thre times? behold, I came out as an aduersarie, because thou makest thy waye contrarie vnto me, and the ass sawe me, and wente backe fro me three times: or els yf she had not turned fro me, (geuinge place to me that stode in the waye) I hadde surelye slayne thee, and sauid her a-gayne. Balaam sayde vnto the aungell of the Lorde: I haue sinned, for I will not that thou stodest in the waye a-gaynst me. Nowe therefore if it displease thee, I will turne home agayne.

¶ The aungell sayde vnto Balaam, goe with the men: but what I saye vnto thee, that shalte thou speake. And so Balaam went with the Lordes of Ba-lac. And when Balac heard that Balaam was come, he went out to mete him vnto a citie of Moab, which is in the border of Arnon, euen in the be-most coast. And Balac saide vnto Balaam: did I not sende for thee to call thee? And wherfore camest thou not vnto me, because I am not able to promote thee vnto honour? And Balaam made answer vnto Balac: Lo, I am come vnto thee. And can I nowe saye anye thinge at all. ¶ The worde that God putteth in my mouth, that shall I speake. And Balaam wente with Balac, and they came vnto a Citie of streets. And Balac offered oxen and shepe, & sent (rewardes) for Balaam, and for the Lordes that were with him. And on the morowe Balac tooke Balaam, and brought him vp into the hie place of Baal, that thence he might see the vtmost part of the people.

and a ram. And Balaam sayde vnto Balac: stande by the sacrifice, and I alone. But God mette Balaam, and Balaam sayde vnto him: I haue pre-

Who can tell the duste of Jacob, and the number of the fourth parte of Israel? I pray God, that my soule maye dye the death of the righteous, and that my laste ende maye bee like his. And Balac sayde vnto Balaam: what hast thou done vnto me? I fet thee to curse mine enemies, and behold, thou hast blessed them. He answered and sayde: muste I not kepe that and speake it, whiche the Lord hath putte in my mouth? and Balac sayde vnto hym: Come I praye thee with me vnto another place, whence thou mayest see them, and thou shalt see but the vtmoste parte of them, and shalt not see them all: curse them oute of the place for my sake. Beholde, the people shall rise vp as a lionesse and heue vp him selfe as a lyon. He shall not lye downe, untill he eate of the praye, and drinke the blood of them that are slayne. And Balac sayd vnto Balaam: neither curse them nor blesse them. But Balaam answered and sayde vnto Balac: tolde not I thee saying, al that the Lord speaketh, that I must do? And Balac sayd vnto Balaam: come I praye thee, and I will bring thee yet vnto another place: peradventure it will please God, that thou mayest thence curse them for my sake. And Balac brought Balaam vnto the toppe of Peor: that boweth toward the wilderness of Iesimmon. And Balaam sayd vnto Balac: make me here seuen alters, and prepare here seuen oxen, and seuen rammes. And Balac did as Balaam had sayd, and offered an oxe and a ram on euery altar.

The xliij. Chapter.

And when Balaam sawe that it pleased the Lord that he should blesse Israel, he was not as he did swiffe before to set his saying: but he let his face to ward the wilderness. come therefore, and I will aduertise thee, what this people shall do to thy folke in the latter days. And he tooke by his parable and saide: Balaam the sonne of Beor hath sayde, the manne whose eye is open, hath saide. He hath sayd that heareth the wordes of God, and hath the knowledge of the moste hygh, and beholderth the vision of the the coastes of Moab, and vndermine all the chyldren of Seth. • And Edom shalbe possessed, and Seir shall fall to the possession of their enemyes, and Israel shall do manfully. Out of Jacob shall come he that shall haue dominion, and shall destroye the remnant of the Citty. And when he looked on Amalech, he toke by his parable, and sayde: Amalech is the firste of the nations, • but his latter ende shall perish vnto the last. And he looked on the Ke-nites & toke by his parable, and sayde: Stronge is thy dwelling place, & thou pattest thy nest in a rocke. Neuerthelesse, the Kenite shall be rooted out, vntill Assur take thee prisoner. And hee toke by his parable and sayde: I las, who shall liue when God doeth this?

The shippes also shall come out of the coast of Itale, and suddne Assur, and suddne Eber, and he himselfe shall perishe at the last. And Balaam rose vp, and wente and returned to his place: and Balac also went his waye.

The .xxv. Chapter.

AND Israel dwelt in Shittim and the people began to committe whoredome with the daughters of Moab, which called the people vnto the sacrifice of their gods.
• And the people did eate, and worshipped their Goddes, and Israel coupled him selfe vnto Baal Peor. And the indignation of the Lord was prouoked agaynst Israel. And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses: take all the heads of the people, and hange them by before the LORD agaynst the sunne, that the wrath of the LORD countenance maye be turned awaye from Israel. And Moyses sayde vnto the Judges of Israel: every one slaye his men that were ioynd vnto Baal Peor. And beholde, one of the chyldren of Israel came and brought vnto his brethrenne a Madianitische wife, euen in the sighte of Moyses,

and in the sight of all the multitude of the children of Israel, that wepte before the doore of the tabernacle of witness. • And when Phinehes the son of Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest sawe it, he rose vp out of the middes of the companye, and tooke a weapon in his hande, and went after the man of Israel into the tente, and thruste them through: both the man of Israel and also the woman, euen throught the belly of her. And the plague ceased from the children of Israel. • And there dyed in the plague. xliiii. thousande.

And the fourteenth daye of the first moneth, is the passouer of the Lord. And in the fifteenth daye of the same moneth is the feast: and seven dayes longe, shall unleavened bread be eaten. In the first daye shalbe an holy convocation, ye shall do no manner of servile worke therein. But ye shall offer a sacrifice for a burnt offering unto the Lord, two yong bullocks, one ram, and seven lambs of a yere olde, without spot, and three tenth deales of flour mingled with oyle: three tenth deales also shall ye offer for a bullocke, and two tenth deales for a ram: one tenth deale shall thou offer for every lamb of seven lambs, and an hee goate for sinne, to make attonement for you. Ye shall offer these, beside the burnt offerings in the morninge, which is a continual burnt sacrifice. After this manner ye shall offer throughout the seven dayes: the soude of a sacrifice for a sweete savoure unto the Lord. And it shalbe done beside the dayly burnt offering, and his drinke offering. And in the seventh daye ye shall have an holy convocation, and ye shall do no servile worke. Therefore in the daye of your first feastes, when ye bring your meate offering unto the Lord, according to your vowes, ye shall have an holy convocation, and ye shall do no servile worke in it: but offer a burnt offering for a sweete savoure unto the Lord, two yong bullocks, a ram, and seven lambs of a yere olde a peece, with their meate offerings of flour mingled with oyle, three tenth deales unto a bullocke, two tenth deales unto a ram, and one tenth deale unto a lambe, throughout the seven lambs, and an hee goate to make an attonement for you. offer thien bullockes, two rammes, and fourtene yearling lambes, without spot: and let their meate & drinke offerings vnto the bullockes, rams, and lambes, bee after the number of thepm, and according to the maner.

And there shalbe offered an hee goat for sinne, beside the dayly burnt offerings and his meate and drinke offering. In the fourth day, ye shall offer ten bullockes, two rams, and fourtene lambes yearlings and pure: let their meate and drinke offerings vnto the bullockes, rams, and lambes be, according to the number of thepm, and after the maner. And an hee goats for sinne, beside the dayly burnt offering, and his meate and drinke offerings. In the fifth daye ye shall offer pong bullockes, two ram, and fourtene lambes of one yeare old & a peece, without spot. And let their meate and drinke offerings, vnto the bullockes, rams, and lambes be according to the number of them, and after the maner. And an hee goats for sinne, beside the dayly burnt offerring, and his meate and drinke offerring. And in the sixt daye, ye shall offer eyght bullockes, two rams, and fourtene yearling lambes, without spot. And let their meate and drinke offerings vnto the bullockes, rams, and lambes, be according to the number of them, and after the maner. And an hee goats for sinne, beside the dayly burnt offering, and his meate and drinke offerings. In the seuenth day, ye shall offer seuen bullockes, two rams, and fourtene lambes, that are yearlings and pure. And let their meate & drinke offring vnto the bullockes, rams, and lambes, be according to their number,

and after the maner. And an hee goats for sinne, beside the dayly burnt offering and his meate and drinke offering. In the eyght day, ye shall haue a collection of the feast vnto you, and ye shall do no seruile worke therein. But ye shall offer a burnt offering, a sacrifice for a sweete sauour vnto the Lorde, one bullocke, one ram, and seven yearling lambes without spot. Let their meate and drinke offerings vnto the bullocke, ram and lambes, be according to the number, and according to the maner.
And an hee goats for sinne, beside the dayly burnt offering, and his meate and drinke offerings. These thinges ye shall doe vnto the Lorde in youre feastes: beside your bowes and seruil offerings, in youre burnt offerings, meat offerings, drinke offerings, and peace offerings. And Moses tolde the chilozen of Israel, all that the Lorde commaunded him.

¶ The xxx. Chapter.

AND Moses spake vnto the heads of the tribes of the children of Israel, saying: these be the thinges whiche the Lorde hath

De. 23. ¶ commanded: If a man bowe a bowe vnto the Lozde, or sweare an othe, to binde his soule: he shall not goo backe with his worde: but shall fulfill all that is proceeded out of his mouth. If a woman also bowe a bowe vnto the LORD, and binde her selfe beeing in her fathers house in the time of her youth, and her father heare her bowe, and bond which she had made vpon her soule, and holde his peace thereto: then all her vowes & bondes which she hath made vpon her soule, shall stand in effect. But and if her father forbid her the same daye that he heareth it, none of her vowes nor bondes which she hath made vpon her soule, shalbe of valur: and the Lozde shall forgene her, because her father forbade her. If she hadde an husbnde whē she bowed or pronounced ought out of her lippes, wherewith she bound her soule, and her husbnde hearde it, and helde his peace thereat the same daye he hearde it, then her vowes and her bondes wherewith she bound her soule, shall stande in effecte. And if her husbnde forbade her the same daye that he hearde it, and made her bowe which she hath vpon her of none effecte, and released the openinge of her lippes, wherewith she bounde her soule, the Lozde shall forgue her. ¶ Euerie bowe of a widowe and of her that is deuorced (that they haue bound their soule withall) shall stande in effecte with them. If she bowed in her husbndes house, or bounde her soule with an othe, and her husbnde heard it, and helde his peace, and forbade her not, then all her vowes and bondes wherewith she bounde her soule, shall stande. But if her husbnde disannulled them, the same daye that he hearde them, then nothinge that proceedeth oute of her lippes, in vowes and bondes (wherewith she bounde her soule) shall stande in effecte: for her husbnde hath loused them. And the Lozde shall forgue her. ¶ All bowes and othes that bind to humble the soule, may her husbnde stablish or breake. But if her husbnde holde his peace from one daye into another, then he shal-leth all her bowes and bonden to-che she had upon her, because he bride his peace the same daye that he brack them. But yf he brake the after that he hath hearde them, he shall beare her sinne him selfe. These are the oppo-nances which the Royde commaunded Moyses, betwene a man and his wife, and betwene the father and his daughter beinge yet a damsell in her fathers house.

The xxxi. Chapter.

AND the Lord spake vnto Moses saying: I will avenge the children of Israel of the Arabianites, and afterwards shall I be gathered vnto thy people: And Moses spake vnto the folke saying: Harness some of you vnto warr, and let them go vppon the Arabianites, & avenge the Lord of the Arabianites. Let there be chosen a thousande of euery Tribe of Israel, the out of all Tribes ye maye sende some to the warre. And there were taken oute of the thousandes of Israel, twelue thousand prepared vnto war, of euery tribe a thousande. And Moses sente theym to the warre, euen a thousande of euery Tribe, and with them, Phineas the sonne of Eleazar the Priest, and the holier vessels: and the trompettes to blowe, were in his hande. And they warred agaynst the Arabianites, as the Lord commanded Moses, and slue all the males. And they slue the kinges of Arabian among other, that were slayne: Shamir, Gai and Bekem, Sur and Hurs Reba: slue kinges of Arabian, with Balaam the sonne of Beor, whome they slew with the sword: And the children of Israel tooke all the women of Arabian prisoners, and theyr children, and spoyled all their cattell, and all their stocke, & all their goods. And they burnt all their cities wether in theyr deserte, and all their castelles with fire. And they toke all the spoyle and all that they could catche both of men and beastes. And they brought the captiues and that which they had taken, with the spoyle into Moyses and Eleazar the Priest, and into the company of the children of Israel, even into the hooste that were in the fields of Moab, by Jordan, ouer a-gainste Iericho. And Moyses and Eleazar the Priest, and all the lordes of the congregation wente oute of the hoost agaynst them. And Moyses was angrye with the officers of the hoost, with the captaynes ouer thousandes, and ouer hundredes, which came from the warre and battayle: and Moyses sayde vnto them: Haue ye saued all the women alpye beholde these caused the children of Israel thorow the council of Balaam, to commit tres-passe agaynst the Lorde, in the busines of Prox, and there folowed a plague amonge the congregation of the Lorde.

¶ Nowe therefore, slaye all the men childrene, and the women that haue lyen with men fleshelye. But all the women childrene that haue not lyen with men, kepe alpye for your selues.
And ye shall remayne withoute the hooste, seuen dayes, all that haue killed any person, and all that haue touched any deade body, and purifye both your selues and your prisoners the third daye and the seventh. And spyndle all your raymentes, and all that is made of skynnes, and all wooke of goates heer, and all thinges made of woode. And Eleazar the Priest sayde vnto the men of warre, which came from the battayle: this is the ordy-nauce of the lawe, which the Lorde commanded Moyses, Golde, siluer, brasse, and yron, tinne and leade, and al that maye abide the fire, ye shall make it goo thorough the fire, and it shall be cleane. ¶ And the skynne, it shal be spyn-dled with sprinkling water. And all that suffreth not the fire, ye shall make goo thorough the water. And washe your clowthes the seventh daye, and ye shall be cleane. And after ward come into the hoost. And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses, saying: take the somme of the prey that was taken bothe of the women and of cattell, thou and Eleazar the Priest, and the aunciente fathers of the congregation. And deuide it into two partes betwene them that tooke the warre vpon them, and went oute to battayle: and all the congregation. And take a portion vnto the L O R D E of the men of warre, which wente oute to battayle: one soule of fyue hundred, both of the women, and of the oxen, and of the asses, and of the shepe, and ye shall take it of their halfe, and geue it vnto Eleazar the Priest, as an heue offeringe of the Lorde. And of the halfe of the children of Israel, thou shalt take one portion of fyfte, of the women, of the oxen, of the asses, and of the shepe, and of all manner of beastes, and geue them vnto the Leuites, which wayte vpon the habitation of the Lorde. And Moyses and Eleazar the Priest diuide as the Lorde commanded Moyses. And the botye and the praye which the men of warre hadde caughte, was fyue hundred thousande, and threescore and fytteene thousande shepe: and threescore and twelue thousande oxen, threescore and one thousande asses, and two and thirtie thousande soules of women, that hadde lyen by no man. And the halfe which was the parte of them that wente oute to warre was thre hundred thousande and seuen, and thirtie thousande and fyue hundred shepe. And the Lordes parte of the shepe was fyue hundred, threescore and fytteene. And the oxen were fyue and thirtie thousande, of which the Lords part was threescore and twelue.

And the asses were thirtie thousande, and fyue hundred, of which the Lodes parte was thre score and one. And the soules of women were fytteene thousand, of which the Lodes parte was two and thirtie soules. And Moyses gave that sum which was the Lodes heue offering vnto Eleazar the Priest as the Lorde commanded Moyses. And the other halfe of the children of Israel which Moyses separated from the men of war, (that is to saye the halfe that pertaineth vnto the congregation) was there

three hundred thousand e, and. xxxiiij. thousand, and fyve hundred sheepe:
and. xxxvi. thousande oxen, and thirtie thousande asses, and fyve hundred and xvi. thousande soules of women. And Moses toke of this, halfe that perteyned vnto the chyldren of Israel, one portion of fyfte, both of the we-men and of the cattell, and gaue them vnto the Levites, which wayted vpon the habitation of the Lord, as the Lord commaunded Moses. And the officers of thousandes of the host, the captaynes ouer the Thousandes, and the captaynes ouer the hundredes came fourth, and saide vnto Moses: Thy seruauntes haue taken the summe of the men of warre, whiche are vnder our authoritie, and there lacketh not one manne of vs. We haue therefore broughte a presente vnto the Lord, what euery man founde of Jewels of golde, cherynes, bracelettes, ringes, earringes, and spangelles, to make an atonement for our soules before the Lord. And Moses and Eleazar toke the golde of them, Jewels of all maner fashion. And all the golde of the hemeoffering that they beuey by to the Lord, (of the captaynes ouer Thousandes and hundredes) was. xvi. thousand, seven hundred, and fyfte sicles, for the men of warre had spoyled, eu-ery man for him selfe. And Moses and Eleazar the Priest, toke the golde of the captaynes ouer the thousandes and of the captaynes ouer the hundredes: and broughte it into the tabernacle of witnesse, for a memoriaill of the chyldren of Israel before the Lord.

The xxxiiij. Chapter.

The chyldren of Ruben and the chyldren of Gad had an exeedinge greates multitude of cattell. And when they sawe the lande of Jazer, and the lande of Gilead that it was an apte place for cattell, the chyldren of Ruben, & the chyldren of Gad came and spake vnto Moses and Eleazar the Priest, and vnto the Elders of the congregation, saying: The land of Staroth and Dibon, Jazer and Aemath, Hesbon and Gilead, Sa-bam and Bebo and Beon: which con-trey the Lord smote before the congregation of Israel: is a lande meete for cattell, and we thy seruauntes haue cattell: wherefore (sayde they) we haue founde grace in thy sight, lette this lande be geuen vnto thy seruauntes to possesse, and bringe vs not ouer Jordan. And Moses sayde vnto the chyldren of Gad and of Ruben: shall your brethren go to warre, and ye shal syt here? wherefore discorage ye the heart of the chyldren of Israel, that they should not go ouer into the land, whiche the Lord hath geuen them: Thus did your fathers, when I sente them from Eades Barne to see the lande. For when they wente by euery vnto the river of Escoll, and saw the land, they discoraged the heartes of the chyldren of Israel, that they should not go into the lande whiche the Lord hath geuen them. And the Lord was wroth the same time and swore, saying: None of the men that came out of Egypt from twenty yere olde and aboue, shall see the lande whiche I swore vnto Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, because they haue not wholly se-lowed mee: saue Caleb the sonne of Jephune the Kenesite, and Josua the sonne of Nun: for they haue colowed the Lord. And the Lord was angry with Israel, and made them wander in the wilderness fourtie yere, untill all the generation had done euill in the sight of the Lord were consumed. And beholde, ye are risen by in your fathers steade, as an encruele of sumefull men, to augment the feare swath of the Lord towards Israel.

For if ye tourne awaye from him, he will yet agayne leane the people in the wilderness, and ye shall destroy all this folke. And they went nere him and sayd: we will buyde shepewolde here for our sheepe and for our cattell, and (walled) cities for our chyldren.
But we our selues will go readye men before the chyldren of Israel, until we haue broughte the into their place.

D And oure children (and whatsoeuer we maye haue) shall dwell in the fenced cities, because of the inhabitants of the lande. We will not retourne vnto our houses, vntill the children of Israel haue inherited euery manne his inheritance. Neither will we inherit with them on yonder side Iordan forwarde, because our inheritance is fallen to vs on this side Iordan Eastwarde. And Moses sayde vnto them: If ye will do this thinge, and go harnessed before the Lord to warre, and will goo all of you in harnesse ouer Iordan before the Lord, vntill ye haue cast out his enemies before him: and vntill the lande be subdued before the Lord, then ye shall retourne and be without sinne before the Lord, and before Israel, and this lande shall be your possession before the Lord. But and if ye will not do so, behold ye haue sinned agaynst the Lord: and be sure your sinne will finde you out. Nowe therefore, build cities for your children and foldes for your sheepe, and do that ye haue spoken. The children of Gad and the children of Ruben spake vnto Moses, saying: Thy seruantes will do as my Lord commandeth. Oure children, oure wiues, oure sheepe and our cattell shall remayne here in the cities of Gilead. But thy seruantes will go al harnessed to warre, and vnto battayle before the Lord, as my Lord saith. And for their sakes, Moses commanded Eleazar the Priest, and Iosua the sonne of Nun, and the auncient fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel: and Moses sayde vnto them: If the childre of Gad and the children of Ruben will go with you ouer Iordan, all prepared to fight before the Lord, then when the lande is subdued before you, ye shall geue them the lande of Gilead to possesse: but and if they will not go ouer with you in harnesse, they shall haue their possessions among you in the lande of Canaan. And the children of Gad, and the children of Ruben answered, saying: As the Lord hath sayde vnto thy seruantes, so will we do.

will go harnessed before the Lord into the lande of Canaan: that the possession of oure inheritance, maye be on this side Iordan. And Moses gaue vnto the children of Gad, and to the children of Ruben, and vnto halfe the tribe of Manasse, the sanne of Joseph, the kingdome of Sehon kinge of the Amozites, and the kingdome of Og, kinge of Basan, the lande with the cities therof in the coastes and clittes of the country rounde aboute.

And the children of Gad builded Dibon, and Icarath, and Troer, and Atroth, Sophan, Jacler, and Tegabea, Bethnura, and Betharan, fenced cities, and they builded foldes for the sheepe. And the children of Ruben builded Hesbon, Eleale, Kynathaim, Mebo, Baal, Meon, and turned theyr names, and Sibama also: and gaue other names vnto the Cities, whiche they builded. And the children of Machir the sonne of Manasse, went to Gilead, and toke it, and put out the Amozites that dwelte therein. And Moses gaue Gilead vnto Machir, the sonne of Manasse, and he dwelte therein. And Machir the sonne of Manasse went and toke the small townes therof, and called them Hanoth Fair. And Nobah went and toke Kenath, and the townes longing thereto, and calleth it Nobath, after his owne name.

 goddesse the Lord did execution.
 And the children of Israel removed from Wapmesa, and pitched in Socoth. And they departed from Socoth, and pitched their tentes in Ethan, which is in the edge of the wil-dernesse. And they remoued from Ethan, and turned again vnto. Pi Hiroth, which is before Baal Zephon: and pitched before Migdol. And they departed from the playne of Hiroth: and wente through the middes of the sea into the wilderness, & went thre dayes iorney in the wilderness of Ethan, and pitched in Harah. And they remoued from Harah, and came vnto Elim, where wer twelue fountaines of water, and. lxx. paulmitrees, and they pitched there. And they remoued from Elim, and lay fast by the red sea. And they remoued from the redde sea, and laye in the wilderness of Sin. And they tooke their iorney out of the wilderness of Sin, and set vp their tentes in Daphka. And they departed from Daphka, and lay in Brus.
 And they remoued from Brus, & laye at Raphedim, where was no water for the people to drinke. And they departed from Raphedim, and pitched in the wilderness of Sinai. And they remoued from the deserte of Sinai, and pitched at the graues of Iust.
 And they departed fro the sepulchres of Iust, and lay at Hazeroth. And they departed from Hazeroth, and pitched in Rithma. And departed from Rith-ma, and pitched at Rimon Paraz, and they departed from Rimon Paraz, & pitched in Libna. And they remoued from Libna, and pitched at Risa. And they iourneyed from Risa, and pitched in Rehelatha. And they wente fro Rehelatha, and pitched in mount Saphar. And they remoued from mount Saphar, and laye in Harada.
 And they remoued from Harada, and pitched in Makeheloth. And they remoued from Makeheloth, and laye at Cadesh. And they departed from Cu-they wente from Hozgadgad, and pitched in Iathbatha. And they remoued from Iathbatha, and laye at Abrona. And they departed from Abrona, and laye at Ezeon gaber. And they remoued from Ezeon gaber, and pitched in the wilderness of Shinn, which is Cades. And they remoued from Cades, and pitched in mounte Hoz, which is in the edge of the land of Edom. And Aaron the Priest wente vp into mount Hoz, at the commandement of the Lord, and dyed there, even in the fortieth yere, after the children of Israel were come oute of the lande of Egypt, and in the firste daye of the first moneth.

 And Aaron was on hundred and. xxiij.

 Hoz. And kinge Erad the Cananite, which dwelt in the South of the lande of Canaan, hearde of the comminge of the children of Israel. And they departed from mount Hoz, and pitched in Salmana. And they departed from Salmana, and pitched in Phunin. And they departed from Phunin, and pitched in Dboth. And they departed from Dboth, and pitched in Iehabarim, and towarde the border of Moab. And they departed from Iehabarim, and pitched in Di-bon Gad. And they remoued from Di-bon Gad, and laye in Simon Dibla-thaim. And they remoued from Simon Diblathaim, and pitched in the moun-taines of Ibarim before Iabo. And they departed from the mountaynes of Ibarim, and pitched in the fieldes of Moab, fast by Jordan ouer against Jericho. And they pitched by Jordan, from Beth Haiselmuth vnto the playne of Sittim in the fieldes of Deu. 7.8 The Lord spake vnto the children of Israell, and say vnto them: When ye are come ouer Iordane to entre into the lande of Canaan, ye shall drine out all the inhabitants of the lande before you, and destroy al their pictures, & brake a sunder all their pynges of metall, and placke downe all their altars. And possesse the lande and dwel therein, for I haue geuen you the lande to enioye it. And ye shall deuide the enheritaunce of the lande, by lot among your kinredes, and geue to manye the moze enheritaunce, and to the fewe the lesse enheritaunce. And your enheritaunce shalbe in the tribes of your fathers, euery man enheritaunce in the place where his lot falleth. But

Num. 26.8 and if ye will not drine out the inhabitants of the lande before you, then those which ye let remaine of theyn, shalbe prickes in your eyes, and darts in your sydes, and shall here you in the lande wherein ye dwell. Isai. 1.8 Land. g.

The xxxij. Chapter.

3 And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: commaunde the children of Israell, and say vnto them: When ye come into the lande of Canaan, this is the lande that shall fall vnto your enheritaunce, the lande of Canaan, with her coastes. And your southquarter shall be from the wilderness of Sin, along by the coast of Edom, so that your southquarter reache vpon the side of the salt sea eastwarde: and sette a compasse from the south by to Arabim: and reache to Tinnah. And go out from the south to Cadan Burne, and go out also to Hazaradar, and go alonge to Azmon: and set a compasse again from Azmon vnto the riner of Egypte, and shall goe out at the sea. And sette your west-quarter be the greates sea, let the same sea be your westcoaste. And this shalbe your northquarter: ye shal come passe your bozder from the greates sea vnto mount Hor, And from mount Hor, ye shall describe your bozder, till it come vnto Hemath, and the ende of the coaste shall be at Sepada, and the coaste shall reache oute to Ziphon, and go oute at Hazor Enan. This shalbe your northquarter. And ye shal compasse your east quarter from Hazarenan to Shephan. And the coaste shall go downe from Shephan to Ribla, on the Eastsyde of Am. And the same bozder shall descende and go out at the syde of the sea of Emareth eastwarde. And then go downe along by Iordane, and leane at the salt sea.

And this shall be your lande with the coastes thereof, rounde about.

And Moyses commaunded the children of Israell saying: this is the lande whiche ye shall inherite by lotte, and whiche the Lord commaunded to geue vnto youe tribes and an halfe: for the tribe of the children of Ruben accordinge to the householdes of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Gad, accordinge to their fathers householdes, and halfe the tribe of Manasse, haue receaued their enheritaunce. Two tribes and an halfe haue receaued their enheritaunce on the other syde of Iordan, ouer against Jericho eastwarde. And the Lord spake to Moyses, sayinge: These are the names of the manne whiche shall deuide the lande vnto you: Eleazar the Priest, and Josuah the sonne of Nun. And ye shall take also a lotte of euery tribe, when ye deuide the lande.

The names of the men are these: Of the tribe of Iuda, Caleb the sonne of Iephuneh. Of the tribe of the children of Simeon, Shemuel the sonne of Amiad. Of the tribe of Ben Iamin, Elidad the sonne of Ussilon. Of the tribe of the children of Dan, the Lord Bucky, the sonne of Jagli. From amonge the children of Ioseph, for the tribe of the children of Manasse, the Lord Gadiel, the sonne of Gephod.

Of the tribe of the children of Issachar, the Lord Sal-tiel, the sonne of Isan. Of the tribe of the sons of Aser, the Lord Ishthad the sonne of Salomi. Of the tribe of the children of Nephtali, the Lord Beda El, the sonne of Amihud.

These are they whom the Lord commaunded to deuide the inheritaunce vnto the children of Israel in the lande of Canaan,

The xxv. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses in the fieldes of Moab by Iordan, ouer agaynst Ieticho, sayinge: commaunde the children of Israel, that they geue vnto the Leuites of the inheritaunce of their possession cities to dwell in. And ye shall geue also vnto the cities of the Leuites, suburbs harde by their cities rounde about them. The cities shall they haue to dwell in, and the suburbs for their cattel, and for their possession, and al manner of beastes of theirs. And the suburbs of the cities which ye shall geue vnto the Leuites, shall reache from the wall of the citie outwards, a thousande cubites rounde aboute. And ye shall measure without the citie of the eastsyde, two thousand cubites. And of the southsyde, two thousande cubites. And of the westsyde two thousande cubites. And of the northsyde, two thousande cubites also: and the citie shalbe in the middes. And these shalbe the suburbs of their cities. And from amonge the Cities which ye shal geue vnto the Leuites, there shall be sixe cities for refuge, whiche ye shall appoynte to that intent, that he whiche killeth, may flye thither. And to them ye shal adde xlii. cities mo: so that all the cities which ye shall geue the Leuites, maye be sight and forty, with their suburbs. And the cities whiche ye shall geue, shall be oute of the possession of the children of Israel. They that haue many, shall geue many. But of them that haue fewe ye shall take fewe. Euerie one shall geue of his citie vnto the Leuites, accordinge to the inheritaunce whiche he inheriteth. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, sayinge: speake vnto the children of Israel and saye vnto them: When ye be come ouer Iordan, into the lande of Canaan, ye shall appoynte you cities to be cities of refuge for you, that he whiche sleeth a soule vnswares, maye flye thither. And the citie shall be to flye from the auenger of bloude, that he whiche killeth, dye not, vntill he stande before the congregation in iudgement. And of these sixe free cities, which ye shall geue, ye shall geue thre on this syde Iordan, and thre in the lande of Canaan. And these sixe free cities shalbe a refuge bothe for the children of Israel, and for the straunger, and for him that dwelleth amonge you: that all they whiche kill anye personne vnswares, maye flye thither. And if any man smite another with an instrument of yron that he dye, then is he a murderer, and shall dye for it. If he smite him with a thywinge stone that a man maye dye with, and yf he dye, he that smote him is a murderer, let the same murderer be slayne therfore. Or if he smite him with a hand weapen of wood, that a man may die with then if he die, he is a murderer, let the murderer be slayne therfore. The iustice of bloud shall slay the murder: When he meteth him he may slay him. But yf he thrust at him. of hate or houre at him with laying of wyll that he dye, or smyte him with his hande of enuye, that he dye, he that smote him shall dye, for he is a murderer. The iustice of bloud shall slay the murder as soone as he fyndeth him. But and yf he pushed him by chaunce, and not of hate, or cast at him with anye manner of thinge, and not of laying wyll, or caste anye manner of stone at him (that a man maye dye with) and sawe him not, And he cast it vpon him and he dye, and was not his enemy, neyther soughte him anye harme. Then the congregation shall iudge betwene the sleper and the executer of bloude in such cases. And the congregation shall deliuer the sleper oute of the hande of the auenger of bloude, and the congregation shall restore him agayne vnto the citie of his refuge, whither he was fledde. And he shall hyde there vnto the death of the hye Priest, which was annointed with holpe oyle. But and yf the sleter come without the borders of his prynced citty whither he was fled, yf the auenger of bloud fynde him without the borders of his free towne, and slaye the murderer, he shalbe guiltlesse because he shoulde haue bidden in his free towne vntill the death of the hye Priest, and after the death of the hye Priest to retourne agayne vnto the lande of his possession. These commandementes shalbe a law vnto you for your generations in al your dwellinges. Whosoever killeth a soule, the same man slayer muste be layne him selfe: thorough witnesses. Neyther shall one witnesse answere to put a man to death. Moreover, ye shall take none amends for the lyfe of the murderer which is worthy to dye. But he shall be put to death. Also ye shall take no moneys of him that is fled to a free citty, that he shoulde come agayne and dwell in the lande, before the death of the hye Priest. And see that ye pollute not the lande which ye shall dwell in: for bloude defyleth the lande. And the lande can none otherwise be cleansed of the bloude that is shedde therein, but by the bloude of him that shoulde bloude. Despye not therefore the lande which ye shall inhabit, for I am in the myddes thereof: Euen I the Lord dwell amonge the childrene of Israel.

The xxxvi. Chapter.

And the aunciente fathers of the childrene of Israel the sonne of Moyses the sonne of

Pharasse of the kindred of the childrene of Iosephe, came soothe and spake before Moyses and the Princes, and auncient fathers of the childrene of Israel, and sayde: The Lord commaunded my Lord to geue the lande to inherite by lotte vnto the childrene of Israel. And my Lord commaunded in Gods behalfe, to geue the inheritance of Zelaphead oure brother vnto his daughters. Whom yf anye of the sons of the other tribes of Israel take to wyues, then shal their inheritance be taken frome the inheritance of our fathers, and shalbe put vnto the inheritance of the tribe whiche they are receyued into, and shalbe taken from the lotte of oure inheritance. And when the yere of Iubilie of the childrene of Israel cometh, then shal their inheritance be putte vnto the inheritance of the Tribe wherein to they are receaued: and so shal their inheritance bee taken awaye frome the inheritance of the Tribe of our fathers. And Moyses commaunded the childrene of Israel accordinge to the worde of the Lord saying: the childrene of the Tribe of Ioseph haue saide well. This therefore doth the Lord commaund the daughter of Zelaphead, sayinge: lette theym be wyues to whom they theym selues thinke beste, onely to the kindred and Tribe of their father shal they marrye, for shal not the inheritance of the childrene of Israel remoue from Erybe to Erybe, when the childrene of Israel abide euerye manne in the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers. And euerye daughter that possesseth anye inheritance in anye Tribe of the childrene of Israel, shal bee wyfe vnto one whiche is of the kindred of the Tribe of her father, that the childrene of Israel maye entoye euerye manne the inheritance of his father: Neyther oughte the inheritance to goe from one tribe to another: but euerye one of the Tribes of the childrene of Israel, muste abide in his owne inheritance. And as the Lord commaunded

And Maheia, Thirza, Hagia, Milcha, and Noa were married vnto their fathers brothers ſonnes, whiche were of the childerene of Manaſſe, the ſonne of Joſeph: and ſo their inheritaunce remained in the tribe of the kinredde of their father. Theſe are the commandementes and lawes, whiche the Lord commanded by the hand of Moyſes, vnto the children of Iſrael in the fieldes of Moab, by Jordan ouer agaynſt Jericho.

The fyfthe Booke of Moyſes, called in the Hebrue: Elchaddebarim, and in the Latin Deuteronomium.

The fyfth Chapter.

Heſe be the wordes which Moyſes ſpake vnto all Iſrael, on thother ſyde Jordan in the wildernes, in the playne ouer agaynſt the Red ſea, betwene Pharan and Elphell, Laban, Hazereth, and Diſahab, eleuen dayes iourney from Moab, vnto Gad's barne, by mount Seir. And it fell on the firſt day of the eleuenth moneth in the fortyeth yere, that Moyſes ſpake vnto the children of Iſrael, according vnto all that the Lord hadde geuen in commandement vnto them, after that he had ſpoken. And thou the kinge of the Amorytes whiche dwelt in Heſban, and Og kinge of Baſan, whiche dwelt at Aſharoth in Edrai. On the other ſide Jordan in the land of Moab beganne Moyſes to declare this lawe, ſayinge: The Lord our God ſpake vnto vs in Moab, ſayinge: Ye haue dwelte longe ynough in this Mounte, departe therefore and take your iourneys, and goe vnto the hill of the Amorytes, and vnto all places nye thereto, bothe into the playne, and hilles and dales: to the South, to the Seas ſyde, to the lande of Canaan, and vnto Libanon: euen vnto the great ryuer Euphrates. Beholde, I haue ſette that lande beſyde you: Go in, and poſſeſſe the lande which the Lord ſware vnto your fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, to geue vnto theym, and their ſeede after theym. And I ſpake vnto you the ſame reaſon, ſayinge: I am not able to beare you my ſelfe alone. For the Lord your God hath multiplied you: and beholde, ye are this daye as the ſtares of heauen in number (the Lord God of your fathers make you a thouſande tymes ſo manye mo as ye are, and bleſſe you, as he hath promyſed you:) Howe can I my ſelfe alone, beare the charge, and ſtrype that is amonge you? Winge (from amonge you) menne of wiſedome and of vnderſtanding, and expert, accordinge to your tribes, and I will make them rulers ouer you. And ye answered me, and ſayd: That which thou haſt ſpoken, is good for vs to doo. And ſo out of your Tribes I toke the Cap- taines (menne of wiſedome, and that were experte) and made them rulers ouer you: Captaynes ouer thouſandes, and ouer hundredes, ouer fifties, and ouer termes, and officers amonge your Tribes. And I charged your Iudges: that ſame tyme, ſayinge, Heare the cauſe of your brethren, and iudge righteouſlye betwene euery man and his brother, and the ſtranger that is with him. See that ye knowe no fauor in iudgement: but heare the ſmall as well as the great, and beſe afraide of no manne, for

Exo. 180 Indgement is goddes. And the cause that is to. harde for you, brynge vnto me, and I will heare it. And I commaunded you the same season, all the thynges whych ye shoulde doo. When we departed from Horeb, we went thowse all that great and terrible wilderness, as ye haue seene a longe by the waye of the hill of the Amoyites, as the Lord oure God commaunded vs, and came to Cades Barne: And I sayde vnto you: Ye are come vnto the hill of the Amoyites, whiche the Lord oure God will geue vnto vs. Behold, the Lord thy God hath sette the lande befoze thee, go vp and conquere it, as the Lord God of thy fathers hath sayde vnto thee. • Feare not, neither be discouraged. But ye came vnto me euerie one and sayd: • We will sende men befoze vs, to searche vs out the lande, and to brynge vs woode againe, what waye we muste goe by, and what cities we shall come. And the saying pleased me well. And I tooke xij. men of you, of euerie Tribe one, whiche departed, and wente by into the hye countrey, and came vnto the ruer Escol, and searched it oute, and toke of the fruite of the lande (to declare the piteousnes thereof) in their handes, and broughte it vnto vs, and brought vs woode againe, and sayde: It is a good lande, whiche the Lord our God doth geue vs. Notwithstan- ding ye would not consent to goe by, but were disobedient vnto the mouth of the Lord our God, and murmured in your tentes, and sayde: Because the Lord hateth vs, therefore hath he brought vs out of the lande of Egypt to deliuer vs into the hande of the Amoyites, & to destroy vs. Howe shall we goe by? Our brethren haue discouraged our heartes, saying: • The people is greater and taller then we, and haue cities great, & walled euen by to hye: and moreover we haue seene the sonnes of the Canaan there. And I sayde vnto you: Dyd ye not, nor beafraide of them. • The Lord your God which goeth befoze you, he shall fighte for you, accordinge to all that he did vnto you in Egypt befoze youre eyes. In the wilderness also thou haste seene howe that the Lord thy God bare thee eny as a man doth beare his sonne in all the way whiche ye haue gone by, vntill ye come vnto this place. And yet in this thinge ye did not beleue the Lord your God. He went in the way befoze you, to searche you out a place to pitche youre tentes in, in fire by night, that ye might see what way to goe in a cloude by day. And the Lord heard the voyce of your wordes, and was wrothe, and sware, saying: • Here shall not one of these men and of this froward generation, see that good land which I sware to I geue vnto your fathers, saue Caleb, the sonne of Iephune, he shall see it, and to him will I geue the lande that he hath troden vpon, and to his children, because he hath folowed the Lord (wonderfull was the indignation against the people, seeing that) • the Lord was angrie with me, like wise for your sakes, saying: Thou also shalt not go in thither. But Iosua the sonne of Nun, whiche standeth befoze thee, he shal go in thither. Wolden him therefore, for hee shall cause Israel to inherite the lande. • Moreover, youre children whiche ye sayde shoulde be a praye, and youre sonnes which in that day had no knowledge betwene good and euill, they shall go in thither, and vnto them will I geue it, and they shall enioye it. But as for you, turne youre faces, and take youre iourney into the wilderness: euen by the way of the red Sea. Then ye answered and sayde vnto me: • We haue sinned agaynst the Lord: we will goe by and fighte, accordinge to all that the Lord our God commaunded vs. And when ye had giue on euery man his weapons to war, beholde, ye were ready to goe by into the hill. And the Lord sayde vnto me: saye vnto them that they go not by, and that they fighte not, for I am not amonge you: least ye fall befoze your enemies: I tolde you therefore, and yete would not heare,

And the Amozites which dwelle in that hill, came out against you, and chased you (as bees bee so do) & smote you in Heir, even unto Hozma. And ye came agayne, and wepte before the Lord: but the Lord would not heere your hope, nor geue you audience. And so ye abode in Cades a long season, accordinge vnto the time that yee remained in other places.

The .ij. Chapter.

Then we .tourne our face, and take our tourney into the wilderness, even by the way of the redde sea as the Lord spake vnto me. And we compassed mounte Heir a longe time. And the Lord spake vnto me, sayinge: Ye haue compassed this mountayne longe ynough, tourne you northward. And warne thou the people, sayinge: Ye shall go throughte the coast of your brethren the children of Esau, which dwell in Heir, and they shall be afrayde of you: Take ye good heed vnto your selues therfore. Ye shall not prouoke them: for I will not geue you of their land: no not so much as a foote breadth. because I haue geuen most Heir vnto Esau to possesse, ye shall bye meate of them for money to eate, and ye shall procure water of them for money to drinke. For the Lord thy God hath blessed thee in all the workes of thy hande. Ye knewe thy entering into this greates wilderness this .xli. yeres, and the Lord thy God hath bene with thee, so that thou haste lacked nothing. And when we were departed from our brethren, the children of Esau, which dwelle in Heir, the plaign way from Elath, and from Ezion Gaber, we tourne and went by the waye of the wilderness of Moab. And the Lord said vnto me:

Thou shalt not fight agaynst the Moabites, neither prouoke them to battaile, for I will not geue thee of their land to possesse: because I haue geuen it vnto the children of Moab to possesse. The terrible people the

Emims dwelle therein in times past, a people great, many and tall, as the Enakims, which also were taken for Giantes, as the Enakims: whome the Moabites call Emims. The Moabims dwelle in Heir befoze time, whose possession the children of Esau occupied, and destroyed theym befoze theym, and dwelle in their heede: as Israel did vnto the land of his possession, which the Lord gaue them. Howe rise by (saide I) and get you ouer the riner Jared: and we went ouer the riner Jared. The space in which we came from Cades burne untill we were come ouer the riner Jared was .xxxij. yeres, untill the generation of the men of warre were wasted out from among the hoste, as the Lord sware vnto them. For in deede the hande of the Lord was agaynst them, to destroye them from among the hoste, till they were consumed: and so it came to passe, that all the men of warre were consumed and drade from amonge the people. And the Lord spake vnto me, saying: Thou shalt go throughte the coast of Moab this daye: and when thou comest nigh vnto the children of Ammon, thou shalt not lay siege vnto them, nor moue warre agaynst theym. For I will not geue thee of the lande of the children of Ammon a possession, but I haue geuen it vnto the children of Moab to possesse. That also is taken for a lande of Giantes, and Giantes dwelle therein in olde time, whome the Ammonites call Zanzimims. A people that was great, many, and tall, as the Enakims. But the Lord destroyed them befoze them, and they succeeded them in the inheritance, and dwell in their sheket as he did for the children of Esau, which dwelle in Heir when he destroyed the Moabims befoze them, they conquered their possession, and dwell in their heede vnto this day. And the Amims which dwelle in Hozma, even vnto Hza, the Caphtorims, which came out of Caphtor, destroyed theym, and dwelle in their quere, and prouoke him to battayle. This daye will I begin to sende the feare and dread of thee, vpon all nations that are vnder all the heauen, soe that they whiche heare speake of thee, shall tremble and quake before thee. And so I sente messengers out of the wilderness of Midmoth vnto Sehon king of Hesbon, with wordes of peace saying: - I will go through thy lande

De. 20. I will goe alonge by the hye waye: I will neyther tourne vnto the righte hand nor to the lefte. Thou shalt sell me meate for money for to eate, and geue me water for monye to drinke. Only graunte me, that I maye goe through on my foote (as the children of Elan which dwell in Seir, and the Moabites whiche dwell in Ir, didde vnto me) vntill I be come ouer Iordā into the lande whiche the Lorde oure God geueth vs. But Sehon the king of Hesbon woulde not let vs passe by him, for the Lorde thy God hardened his spirit, and made his heart tough because he woulde deliuer him into thy hande as it is come to passe this daye. And the Lorde sayde vnto mee: beholde, I haue begon to set Sehon and his lande before thee: goe to and

De. 21. e conquer, and possesse his land. Then De. 29. d bothe Sehon and all his people came out agaynst vs to fighte at Iaza. And the Lorde set him before vs, and we smote him and his sonnes, and all his people. And wee tooke all his cities the same season and slue the men, women and childe, and all the Cities, and let nothing remayne, save the cattell onely we caught vnto our selues, and the spoyle of the cities which we tooke, frome Broer whiche is by the brink of the river of Arnon, and from the cite that is in the river, vnto Gilad: there was not one cite to strong for vs. The Lorde our God deliuered all vnto vs: onely vnto the lande of the children of Ammon thou camest not, nor vnto euerye place of the river Iabok, nor vnto the Cities in the mountaines, nor vnto whatsoeuer the Lorde our God forbad vs.

De. 31. Chapter.

Then wee tourned and wente by the waye to Basan. And De. 21. g De. 29. b Og the kinge of Basan came out agaynst vs, he and all his people to battayle at Edrai. And the Lorde sayde vnto me: feare him not, for I will deliuer him: and all his people, and his lande into thy hande, and thou shalt doe vnto him, as thou diddest vnto Sehon kinge of the Amorites, whiche dwelte at Hesbon. And so the Lorde our God deliuered into our handes, Og also the kinge of Basan and all his folke. And we smote him, vntill none was lefte him alyue. And we tooke all his Cities the same season, (neyther was there a Citty which we toke not from theym) euen thre scoze cities throughtoute all the region of Argob, the kingdome of Og in Basan. All these cities also were made stronge with hye walles, gates and barres, besyde vnwalled townes a great mane. And we bitterly destroyed them, as we did vnto Sehon kinge of Hesbon, biding to naughte all the cities, with menne, women and childe. But all the castell and the spoyle of the cities, we caught for our selues. And thus we toke the same season, out of the hande of twoe kinges of the Amorites, the lande that was on the other side Iordan from the ryuer of Arnon vnto mount Hermon (whiche Hermon the Sydonians call Sirion, and the Amorites call it Senir) all the Cities that lay in the playne, and all Gilad, and all Basan vnto Salecha and Edrai, Cities of the kingdome of Og in Basan. For onely Og king of Basan remayned of the remnant of the Giances, whose bed was a bed of yron. And is it not yet at Rabah amonge the children of Ammon: nye, subtiles doeth the length thereof contayne, and four cubites the breadth of it, after the cu-bite of a man. And so wee conquered this lande the same time, from Aroer whiche is by the riuer of Arnon, vnto halfe mounte Gilead, and the cities thereof gaue I vnto the Rubenites and Gadaites. And the residue of Gilead, and all Basan of the kingdome of Og, gaue I vnto the halfe tribe of Manasse: euen all the region of Argob with all Basan: whiche is called the lande of giants. And the sonne of Manasse toke all the region of Argob vnto the coastes of Geshuri and Maachati, and called them after his owne name: Basan haueth Iair vnto this daye. And I gaue Gilead vnto Machir. And vnto the Rubenites and Gadites I gaue halfe Gilead vnto the riuer of Arnon, halfe the valey and beyonde, euen vnto the riuer Iabock, which is the bozder of the childrene of Ammon: the playne also (ot the wilderness) and Iordan, and the coast thereof, from Ceneroth euen vnto the sea, whiche is in the playne, euen the salte sea vnder the springe of the hill, eastwarde. And I commaunded you the same tyme, saying: The Lord your God hath geuen you this lande to enioye it, ye shall go harnessed before your brethren, the children of Israel all that are mete for the war. Your wines onely, your children, and your cattell (for I wote that ye haue muche cattell) shall abide in your cities, whiche I haue geuen you, untill the Lord haue geuen rest vnto your brethren as well as vnto you, and untill they also haue conquered the lande, whiche the Lord your God hath geuen them beyonde Jordan, and then shall ye returne agayne, every man vnto his possession which I haue geuen you. And I warned Iosua the same time saying: Thine eyes haue sene all that the Lord your God hath doone vnto these two kynnes, euen so shall he do vnto all kingdomes whither thou goest. Ye shall not feare them, for the Lord your God he shall fight for you. And I besought the Lord the same time, saying: O Lord God, thou haste begun to speake thy seruauant, thy greatnesse, and thy mightie hand: for eis where is there a God in heauen, or in earth, that can do after thy worke, and after thy power: let me go ouer and see the good land that is beyond Jordan, that goodly mountaine, and Libanon. But the Lord was angrie with me for your sakes, & would not heare me. And the Lord saide vnto me: Be content, speake no more vnto me of this matter. Get thee vp into the toppes of the hill, and lift vp thine eyes westwarde, northwarde, southward, and eastward, and beholde it with thine eyes, for thou shalt not go ouer this Jordan. But charge Iosua, and courage him, and bolden him. For he shall go before this people, and he shall deuide vnto them the lande whiche thou shalt see, and so we abode in the valley ouer against the house of Moab.

And now hearken, O Israel vnto the ordinaunces and lawes whiche I teache you for to do them, that so ye maye liue and gain, and conquere the lande, whiche the Lord god of your fathers geneth you. Ye shall put nothing vnto the worde which I commaunde you, neyther do ought therfrom, that ye maye kepe the commaundements of the Lord your god whiche I commaunde you. Your eyes haue sene what the Lord did vnto Baal Peor, for all the men that followed Baal Peor, the Lord your God hath destroyed from among you. But ye that cleaue vnto the Lord your God, are salue euerie one of you this daye. Beholde, I haue taught you ordinaunces and lawes, suche as the Lord my God commaunded me, that ye should do euen so in the lande, whither ye go to possesse it. Kepe them therfore, and do them, for that is your wisdom and vnderstanding in the syghte of the nations: that they maye heare all thyk ordinaunces, and saye: Surely it is a wise and vnderstanding people: it is a great nation. For what other nation is so greete, that gods come to see vnto, as the Lord our god is yet vnto they shall liue vpon the earth, & that they may teach their children: ye came

And the Lord commanded me that same season, that I should teache you ordinaunces and lawes, whiche ye ought to do in the land whither ye go to posselle it. Take therfore good hede vnto your selues as pertyninge vnto your soules, for ye sawe no maner of ymage in the day that the Lord spake vnto you in Horeb out of the myddes of the fyre, lest ye marre your selues, and make you a grauen ymage & picture of any maner of figure: the like-nesse of man or woman, the likenesse of any maner of beast that is on earth or the likeness of any maner feathered foule that flyeth in the ayre, or the like-nes of any maner wyrm that crepeth on the earth, or the likens of any maner sylbe that is in the waters beneth eyes vnto heauen, and when thou seest the sunne, the moone, and the starres, with all the host of heauen, thou dost be deceiued, & shouldest worship and serue the thinges, whiche the Lord thy God hath made to serue all nations Gen. 1.8 vnder the whole heauen. But the Lord hath taken you, and brought you out of the yron fornamer: euen out of Egypt, to be vnto him a people & inheritance as ye be this day. Furthermore, the Lord was angry with me for yere wordes, and sware that I shuld not go ouer Jordan, and that I shuld not go in vnto that good land, whiche the Lord thy God geueth thee to inheritance. Deu. 34b But I must dye in this lande, & shal not go ouer Jordan. But ye shall go ouer, and conquire that good lande.

Take hede vnto your selues, that ye forget not the appointment of the Lord your god whiche he made with you, & that ye make no grauen image, nor any picture that the Lord thy God hath forbidden thee. For the Lord thy god is a consuming fyre, and a gelous god.
If thou dost beget children, and childrens children, & when ye haue dwelt Jer. 16.8 in the lande, ye do wickedly, and make any maner of grauen image, & worke euill in the sight of the Lord thy god, to prouoke hym to anger, I call heauen and earth to recorde against you this day, that ye shall shortly perishe from of the lande, whither ye goe ouer Jordan, to possesse it: ye shall not prolonge your dayes therein, but shall utterly bee destroyed. And the Lord shall scatter you amonge the nations, and ye shalbe left seke in num-bre amonge the people, whither the Lord shall bringe you: and there ye shall serue gods, whiche are the worke of mans hand, wood and stone, whiche neither see, nor heere, nor eate, nor smel.
And there thou shalt seeke the Lord thy god: and shalt synd him, yf thou seeke him with all thine hearte, and with all thy soule. When thou art in tribulation, and when all these thin-ges (that be here spoken of) are come vppon thee euen in the latter dayes, thou shaltre retourne agayne to the Lord thy God, and be obedient vnto his voyce. For the Lord thy God is a merciful god: he wil not forsake thee

And so this is the lawe whiche Moses sette befoze the children of Israel. These are the witnessse, statutes and ordinances, which Moses tolde the children of Israel after they came out of Egypte, on the other side Jordan, in the valley ouer agaynst the house of Deoz, in the land of Sehon kinge of the Ammorites, which dwelt at Heshbon: whom Moses and the children of Israel smote after they were come out of Egypte, and conquered his lande, and the land of Og kinge of Basan twoo kinges of the Ammorites, whiche were on the other syde Jordan towards the sonne risinge: from Broer whiche is by the banke of the riuer Arnon, vnto mounte Syon, whiche is Hermon, and all the playne on the other syde Jordan eastwarde, euen vnto the sea, whiche is in the playne vnder the springes of the hill.

The .v. Chapter.

And Moses called al Israel, and layde vnto theym. Heare ye O Israel, the ordinances and lawes whiche I speake in your eares this daye, that ye maye learn them, and fulfill theim in dede. The Lorde our God made an appoyntment with vs in Horeb. The Lorde made not this bonde with our fathers, but with vs: euen with vs, whiche are all here aline this daye. The Lorde talked with you face to face in the Mounte, oute of the middes of the fyre. And I stood betwene the Lorde and you the same time, and shewed you the woordes of the Lorde. For ye were afraide at the sight of the fire, and went not by into the mounte: and he sayde: I am the Lorde thy God, which brought thee oute of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage.

These wordes the Lord spake vnto all your multitude in the mounte out of the middes of the fire, cloude, and darknes, with a great voyce, and added no more thereto, and wrote them in two tables of stone, and deliuered them vnto me. And it fortuned, that when ye hearde the voyce out of the middes of the darkenesse, and sawe that the hill did burne with fire, ye came vnto me with the captaynes of your tribes, and your elders, and ye sayd: Behold, the Lord our God hath shewed vs his glory, and his greatness, and we haue hearde his voyce out of the mids of the fire: we haue sene this day, that god doth talk with a man, and yet he liueth. Howe therefore, why shoulde we dye, that this greatesse fire shoulde consume vs? If wee heare the voyce of the Lord our God any more, we shal die. For what fleshe hath it bene, that euer hearde the voyce of the liuinge God speakinge oute of the middes of the fire (as we haue done) and yet did liue? The. vi. Chapter.

These are the commaundementes, ordinaunces and lawes, whiche the Lord your God commaunded mee to teache you, that ye might do them in the lande whither ye go to possesse it: namely, that thou mightest • feare the Lord thy God, and keepe all his ordinaunces and commaundementes, whiche I commaunde thee: thou and thy son and thy sonnes sonne all dayes of thy life, that thy dayes maye bee prolonged. Heare therefore, O Israel, and take heede, that thou doo thereafter, that it maye goe well with thee, and that ye maye increase mightely, euen as the Lord God of thy fathers hath promised thee a lande, that floweth with milke and honey. • Heare O Israel, the Lord our God is Lord onelpe, and • thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thyne hearte, and with all thy soule, and with all thy mighte. • And these wordes whiche I commaunde thee this daye, shalbe in thine hearte, and thou shalt shewe them vnto thy children, and shalt talke of them when thou arte at home in thine house, and as thou walkest by the waye, and when thou lyest downe, and when thou risest vp: and thou shalt binde them for a signe vpon thyne hande. And they shalbe warninges betwene thine eyes, and thou shalt write them vpon the postes of thine house and vpon thy gates. And when the Lord thy God hath broughte thee into the lande, whiche he sware vnto thy fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and geueth thee greate and goodly Cities whiche thou buildedst not, houses full of all manner of gooddes whiche thou filledst not, and wellen digged whiche thou diggedst not, vineyardes and Olive trees, whiche thou plantedst not, and when thou hast eaten and arte full, then beware leasse thou forget the Lord, which brought thee out of the lande of Egypt fro the house of bondage. • Thou shalt feare the Lord thy god, and serue him, and sweere by his name. Se that ye walke not after strange goddes, the goddes of the nations which are about you. For the Lord thy God is a gelouse god among you, lest the countenance of the Lord thy god be moued to wrath against thee, and destroye thee from of the earth. • Ye shall not tempte the Lord your God as ye did in the tentation. But kepe the commaundementes of the Lord your God & his witneses and his ordinaunces which he hath commaunded thee, and thou shalt do that which is righte and good in the sight of the Lord: that thou mayest prosper, and that thou mayest goe in and conquer that good land which the Lord sware vnto thy fathers, to caste out all thine enemyes before thee as the Lord hath saide. • And when thy sonne asketh thee in time to come sayinge: what meaneth these witneses, ordinaunces and lawes, whiche the Lord our God hath commaunded you? Then thou shalt saye vnto thy sonne: we were Pharaos bondemen in Egypt, and the Lord brought vs oute of Egypt with a mightye hande. And the Lord shewed signes and wonders great and cruell vpon Egypt, vpon Pharaos and vpon all his householdes, before our eyes, but brought vs oute from thence to bringe vs in, and to geue vs the lande whiche he sware vnto our fathers. And the Lord hath commaunded vs, to doo all these ordinaunces, and to feare the Lord our God, for our wealth all the dayes of our life, as it is come to passe this daye. Moreover: This shall bee oure righteousnesse before the Lord our God, if we take heede and keepe all these commaundementes, as he hath commaunded vs.

Uhen the Lord thy God hath brought thee into the lande whether thou goeste to possess it, and hath cast out many nations before thee: nameley the Hethytes, the Gergesites, the Amorytes, the Cananytes, the Pherezites the Hemitas and the Jebusites, seven nations greater, and myghtier then thou, • and when the Lord thy God hath let them before thee, thou shalt smite them, and utterly destroy them, and make no covenant with them, nor haue compassion on them. Thou shalt make no mariages with them, neither geue thy daughter vnto his son, nor take his daughter vnto thy sonne: for they will deceaue thy sonne, that he should not feare me, and they shall serue strange gods, and then wille the wrath of the Lord wake whote against you, and destroy you shortly. But thus ye shall deale with them: • Ye shall overthrowe their alters, & brake downe their pillars, cude downe their groues, and burne their greuous ymagines with fyre. For thou arte an holy nation vnto the Lord thy God, and the Lord thy God hath chosen thee, to be a. Generall people vnto him selfe, above all nations, that are vpon the earth. It was not because of the multitude of you above all nations, that the Lord had lust vnto you, and chose you, saying ye were the best of all nations. But because the Lord loued you and because he would kepe the • othe which he had sworne vnto your fathers, therefore hath the Lord brought you out thowso a mightie hande, and deliuered you out of the house of bondage: euen from the hands of Pharaon king of Egypt. Understand therefore, that the Lord thy God he is God, and that a trewe God, • which keppeth appoyntement and mercye vnto them that loue hym, and keepe his commandementes, euen thowso out a thousande generations, and rewardeth them that hate hym before his face, so that he bringeth them to naught, and hath not deserre

Kepe thou therefore, the commandementes and ordynances and lawes, whiche I commaunde thee this day, that thou doo them. • If ye hearken vnto these lawes, and obserue and doo them, the Lord thy God also shall kepe vnto thee, his appoyntment, and the mercye whiche he sware vnto thy fathers. He will loue thee, and blesse thee, and multiplie thee: he will also blesse the fruite of thy wombe, and the fruite of thy lande, thy corne, thy wine, and thy oyle, and the increase of thyne oxen, and the flockes of thy shepe in the land whiche he sware vnto thy fathers to geue thee. Thou shalt be blessed above all nations, there shalbe neyther man nor woman vnfruitfull amonge you, nor any thing vnfruitfull among your castell. Moreover, the Lord will take a waye from thee all manner infirmities, and will put none of the euill diseases • of Egypt (which thou knowest) vpon thee, but will sende them vpon all the, that hate thee. Thou shalt consume all the nations whiche the Lord thy God shall deliuer thee: thine eye shall haue no pittie vpon them, neither shalt thou serue their goddes, for that shalbe thy decay. If thou say in thine hart: these nations are more then I, howe can I cast them out? Thou shalt not feare them, but remember what the Lord thy God dyde vnto Pharaon and vnto all Egypt: the greates temptations which thine eyes sawe, and the signes, and wonders, and the myghtie hande and stretched out arme, wher through the Lord thy God brought thee out, euen so shal the Lord thy God do vnto all the nations of whom thou art asrayde. • Moreover, the Lord thy God wyll sende hornets among them vntyl they that are left, and hide them selues from thee, bee destroyed. Thou shalt not feare them, for the Lord thy God is amonge you a mightie God and a terrible. For the Lord thy God wil put out these nations before thee by a little and a little. • thou mayst not consume

Hear O Israel, thou passest ouer Jordan this day, to goe in, and conquere Nations, greater and mightyer then thy selfe: cities great, and walled by to heauen, a people greate and tall, euen the children of the Enakims, whiche thou knowest of, & of whom thou hast heard say, who will stande before the children of Enach? Understande therfore this day, that the Lord thy God is euen hee, whiche goeth ouer before thee, as a (denouncing and) consuming fire, he shall destroy them and he shall bring them downe before thy face. He shall cast them out, and bring them to naught quickly, as the Lord hath sayd vnto thee. Speke not thou in thine heart (after that the Lord thy God hath caste them out before thee) saying: for my righteousness the Lord hath brought me in, to possesse this lande: Nay, but for the wickednesse of these nations, the Lord hath caste them out before thee. It is not for thy righteousness sake, or for thy right heart, that thou goest to possesse their lande: But for the wickednesse of these nations, the Lord thy God doeth caste them out before thee, euen to performe the worde which the Lord thy God swore vnto thy fathers, Abraham, Ishaa, and Jacob. Understande therfore, that it is not for thy righteousness sake, that the Lord thy God doeth geue thee this good lande to possesse it, knowing thou art a stiffnecked people. Remember and forget not, howe thou psondest the Lord thy God in the wilderness, since the daye that thou didst departe out of the lande of Egypt, vntill ye came vnto this place, ye haue rebelled against the Lord. Also in Hazez ye angered the Lord, so that the Lord was wroth with you, euen to haue destroyed you: when I was gone by into the mount to receaue the tables of stone, the tables of appointment, which the Lord made with you. And I abode in the hill .xl. dayes and .xl. nightes; when I neyther did eate breade nor drinke water. And the Lord deliuered me two tables of stone, written with the finger of God, and in them was accordinge to all the wordes, whiche the Lord sayd vnto you in the mount out of the middelt of the fire in the daye, of the gatheringe together. And when the .xl. dayes, and fortye nightes were ended, the Lord gaue me the two tables of stone, the tables of the couenant, and the Lord saide vnto me. Arise, and get thee downe quickly fro hence, for thy people which thou hast brought out of Egypt, haue murthered all. They are turned attonce out of the waye whiche I commaunded them, and haue made them a molten ymage. Furthermore, the Lord spake vnto me, saying: I haue sene this people, and behold, it is a stiffnecked people, let me alone, that I maye destroye them, and put out the name of them from vnder heauen, and I will make of thee a mightye nation, and greater then they be. And I turned me, and came downe from the hill (euen from the hill that burnt with fire) and the two tables of the appointment were in my handes, and I looked, and beholde, ye had sinned against the Lord your God, and had made you a molten calfe, and had turned attonce out of the waye, which the Lord had commaunded you. And I tooke the two tables, and cast them out of my two handes, and brake them before your eyes. And I fell downe faste before the Lord: euen as at the first time, and forty dayes and .xl. nightes I did neyther eate breade nor drinke water, because of all your sinnes, whiche ye sinned, in doing wickedly in the sight of the Lord in that ye provoked him vnto wrath. For I was afrayd that for the wrath and fierines wherewith the Lord was moued against you, hee woulde haue destroyed you. But the Lord seld me at that time also. The Lord was very angry with Baion at that time, so he destroyed him, and he Remember thy seruantes Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and looke not vnto the stubbornesse of this people, nor to their wickednesse and sin: tell the land whence thou broughtest them sayng: The Lord is not able to bring the into the lande whiche he promised them: and because he hated them, therfore he hath carped them out, to slaye them in the wilderness. ram, the sonnes of Eliaz, the sonne of Ruben, howe the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them with their householdes and their tentes, and all their substance that was in their possession, in the middes of Israel. Doubtlesse, your eyes haue sene all the great actes of the Lord which he did. Therefore shall ye keepe all the commandementes which I commaunde you this day, that ye maye be stronge, and go in, and conquire the land whither ye goe to possesse it, and that ye maye prolonge your daies in the lande which the Lord swaue vnto your fathers, to geue vnto them, and to their seede, a lande that floweth with milke and honye. • For the lande whither thou goest to possesse, it is not as the lande of Egypte that ye came out of, where thou sowdest thy seede, and wateredst it with thy fete, as a gardeine of herbes: but the land whither ye go ouer to possesse, it is a lande that hath hilles and balleis, and drinke the water of the rayne of heauen: This land dothe the Lord thy God care for, and the eyes of the Lord thy God are alwayes vpon it, from the beginning of the yeare, vnto the ende of the yeare.

If ye shall hearken therfore vnto my commandementes, which I commaunde you this daye, that ye loue the Lord your God, and serue him with all your heart, and with all your soule. • I also will geue rayne vnto your land in due season: the first rayne in the latter, that thou mayest gather in thy corne, thy wine, and thyne oyle. And I will send grasse in thy fieldes for thy cattell, that thou mayest eat, and fyl thy selfe. But beware, that your hearte deceaue you not, and pee tourne asyde, and serue strange Goddes, and worship them. And then the Lord bryng wrothe agaynst you, • that by the heauen, that there be noo rayne, and that your lande yelde not her fruite, and lesse ye perishe quickely from of the good lande, which the Lord geueth you. • Therefore shall ye putte hope, that the Lord your God, your hearte, and in your soule,

The .xj. Chapter.

These are the ordinaunces and lawes whiche ye shall obserue and doo in the lande whiche the Lord God of thy fathers geueth thee to possesse it, as long as ye liue vpon the earth. • Ye shall destroy all places wherin the nations whiche ye shall conquerre, serued their gods, vpon hye mountaynes, on hilles, and vnder euerye thicke tre. Ouerthrow their altitars, and breake their pylers, and burne their grones with fire, and bre-dowen the grauen ymages of the gods that they haue, and bringe the names of them to naught out of that place.
Ye shall not so do vnto the Lord your God, but ye shall seke the place whiche the Lord your God shall haue chosen out of all your tribes, to put his name there, and there to dwell. And wherther thou shalte come, and whither ye shall bring your burnt sacrifices, your offerings, your tithes, and heue offerings of your lande, your bowes, your freewill offerings, and the first gebnyes of your oxen & of your shepe.
And there ye shal eate before the Lord your God, and ye shall reioyce in all that ye put your hande vnto, both ye and your householdes, wherin the lord thy God hath blessed thee. Ye shal not doo after all these thinges that we doo here this daye, euery man what semeth him good in his owne eyes. For ye are not yet come to rest, and to the inheritaunce whiche the Lord your God geueth you. But when ye go ouer Jordan, and dwell in the lande whiche the Lord your God hath geuen you to inherite, and when he hath geuen you rest from all your enemies round about, so that ye dwell in safety, then vnto the place whiche the Lord your god hath chosen, to put his name there, ye shall bringe all that I commaunde you: Namely, your burntofferings, your offerings, your tythes the heuerofferings of your hande, and all your speciall bowes whiche ye bowe vnto the Lord. And ye shall reioyce before the Lord your God, ye and your sonnes and your daughters, your seruantes and your maydens, and the Leuite that is within your gates: soasmuche as he hath no parte nor inheritaunce with you. Take heed that thou offer not thy burntofferings in every place that thou seest: but in the place which the Lord shall haue chosen in one of the tribes, there thou shalt offer thy burntofferings, and there thou shalt doo all that I commaunde thee. Notwithstanding thou mayest kill and eate fleshe in all thy cities, whatsoeuer thy soule lusteth after, accordinge to the blessinge of the Lord thy God which he hath geuen thee: both the vncleane and the cleane maye eate thereof, euen as the roo, of the heart: onely ye shall not eate the bloud, but powze it vpon the earth as water. Thou mayest not eate within thy gates the tyth of thy cozne of thy wine and of thy oyle, and the fyfte gendered of thyne oxen, and of thy sheepe, neyther any of thy bowes whiche thou bowest, nor thy freewill offerings or heuerofferinge of thyne hande: but thou muste eate them before the Lord thy God, in the place whiche the Lord thy God hath chosen: thou and thy sone and thy daughter, thy seruantes and thy mayde, and the Leuite that is within thy gates: and thou shalt reioyce (and be refreshed) before the Lord thy God, in all that thou puttest thine hande to.

the earth. Thou shalt • cate no man of abomination. These are the beasts which ye shall eate of, oxen, shepe and goats, hart, roo, and bugle, wild goats, vnicorne, wilde oxe, and Camelion. And all the beastes that cleane the hofe, and stite it in the swoon clawes, and chewe the cud, them ye shall eate. Neuertheless, these ye shall not eate of them that chewe cud and of them that deuide and cleane the hoofe: the Camell, the hare, & the conie: whiche chewe cud, but deuide not the hofe, therefore are they vncleane vnto you: and also the swine, though he druyde the hoofe, yet he chewe not the cud, therefore is he vncleane vnto you: ye shall not eate of the fleshe of suche, nor touche the deade carkasse of theym.

Leu. 16 b

These ye shall eate of all that are in the waters: All that haue finnes and scales shall ye eate: And whatsoever hath not finnes and scales, of that ye maye not eate, but it is vncleane vnto you. Of all cleane birdes ye shall eate: but these are they of whiche ye shall not eate: the Eagle, the Goshauke, and the Cormorant, & Arion, the Alatur, the Pye after her kinde, and all kinde of Ravens, the Estriche, the night Crowe, the Ruckowe, and the Sparrowhauke after her kinde, the litle Oule, the great Oule, the Backe, the Bitture, the Pye, the Stork, the Heron, the Jay in his kind, the Lapwing, the Swallowe. And let all creeping foules be vncleane vnto you, and not be eaten of: but of all cleane foules ye maye eate. Ye shall eate of nothinge that dyeth alone: But thou shalt geue it vnto the stranger that is in thy Citie, that he eate it, or thou mayest sell it vnto an aleaunt. For thou art an holy people vnto the Lord thy God. Thou shalt not seeth a kidde in his mothers milke. Thou shalt eate all the increase of thy seede that the field bringeth forth yeare by yeare. And thou shalt eate before the Lord thy God, (in the place whiche he hath chosen, and where he hath put his name) the tythe of thy corne, of thy wine, and of thy oyle, and the full growndes of thine oxen and of thy shepe, that thou mayest learne to feare the Lord thy God alwaye. If the waye be to longe for thee: soo that thou arte not able to carpe it, and if the place be farre from thee, whiche the Lord thy God hath chosen to set his name there (and the Lord thy God hath blessed thee) then shalt thou make it in money, and take the money in thine hande, and go vnto the place whiche the Lord thy God hath chosen, and bestowe the money for whatsoeuer thy soule lusteth after: for oxen and shepe, wine and stronge drinke, and for whatsoeuer thy soul desireth. and eate there before the Lord thy God and be mery: both thou and thine household, and the Leuite that is with in thy gates, shalt thou not forsake: for he hath neyther parte nor inheritance with thee. At the ende of thre yeare, thou shalt bringe forth all the tythes of thine increase the same yeare, and lay it by within thine owne gates. And the Leuite whiche hath no parte nor inheritance with thee, shall come, and the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widowe which are within thy gates, shall eate and be filled: that the Lord thy God maye blesse thee in all the woorkes of thine hande which thou doest.

The Priestes, the Levites, and all the tribe of Leui. must haue no parte nor enheritaunce with Israel: but shall eate the offringes of the Lord, and his enheritaunce: Therefore shalt they haue no enheritaunce amonge their brethren: but the Lord, he is their enheritaunce, as he hath sayde vnto them. And this is the Priestes due tyte of the people, and of them that offer sacrifice, whether it be ox or shepe: They must geue vnto the Prieste, the shoulder and the two chekes, and the mawre, the first frutes also of thy corne, wine and oyle, and the firste of the wol of thy shepe shalt thou geue him: • For the Lord thy God hath chosen him oute of all thy tribes, to stand and to minister in the name of the Lord, he and his sonnes for euer. If a Leuite come out of anye of the cities of all Israel, where he is a sojourner, and come with all the lust of his heart vnto the place which the Lord hath chofen: he shall minister in the name of the Lord his God, as his other brethren the Levites doo, which remaine there before the Lord. And they shall haue lyke portions to eate, besyde that whiche cometh to him of the patrimoine of his elders. • When thou arte come into the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee, see that thou learne not to do after the abominations of those nations, that there was he founde amonge you anye egges. Thou shalt not take the damme with the younge. But shalt in any wise let the damme go, and take the younge to thee, that thou mayest prosper and prolonge thy dayes. When thou buildest a newe house, thou shalt make a battlemente on the rousse, that thou lade not blond vpon thine house if any man fall thereof. • Thou shalt not sowe thy vineyarde with diuers seedes: lest the fruit of the seede whiche thou hast sowne, and the fruite of thy vineyarde be defiled. Thou shalt not plowe with an oxe, and an asse together. • Thou shalt not weare a garmente made of wooll and flaxe together. • Thou shalt make the garter (in the hemmes,) vpon the four quarters of thy besture, wherewith thou couerest thy selfe. If a man take a wife, and when he hath lyeen with her, hate her, and lay shamefull things vnto her charge, and byinge vpon an euill name vpon her, and say: I tooke this wife, and when I came to her, I founde her not a mayde: Then shall the father of the damsell and the mother byinge sooth the tokens of the damells virginittie vnto the elders of the Citie in the gate. And the damells father shall saye vnto the elders: I gaue my daughter vnto this man to wife, and he hateth her: and lo, he layeth shamefull thinges vnto her charge, sayinge: I founde not thy daughter a mayde. And yet these are the tokens of my daughters virginittie. And they shall spcade the besture before the elders of the Citie. And the elders of the citie shall take that mans chastitee him, and meace him in an hundred sicles of siluer, and geue the vnto the father of the damsell, because he hath brought vp an euill name vpon a mayde of Israel. And she shall be his wife, and he maye not put her awaye all his dayes. But and if the thinge be of a suertie, that the damsell be not founde a virgin, they shall bringe the damsell to the doore of her fathers house, and the men of that Citie shall Roane her with stones to death, because she hath wrought lye in Iſraell, to playe the whoze in her fathers house. And so thou shalt putte euill awaye from thee. .¶ If a man be founde lyinge with a woman that hath a wedded husband, they shall dye either other of them: both the man that laye with the wife, and also the wife: and so thou shalt put awaye euill from Iſraell. If a maide be handefased vnto an husbnde, and then a man fynde her in the towne, and lye with her, ye shall bringe them both out vnto the gates of the same citie, and shall stone them with stones to death: The damsell, because she cryed not, beinge in the cite. And the man because he hath humbled his neyghbours wife, and thou shalt put awaye euill from thee. But if a man finde a betrothed damsell in the fildes, and force her, and lye with her. Then the man that laye with her shall dye alone, but vnto the damsell thou shalt do no harme: because there is in the damsell no cause of death. For as when a man ryseth agaynst his neyghboure, and slayeth him, even so is this matter. For he founde her in the fildes, and the be-trought damsell cryed, and there was no man to succoure her. .¶ If a man

Ex. 18. c but every man shall dye for his owne sin.

Thou shalt not hinder the righte of the stranger, nor of the fatherlesse nor take a widows raiment to pledge. But remember that thou wast a seruant in Egypt, and how the Lord thy God deliuered thee thence. And therefore I commaund thee to do this thing.

Leuit. 19. c When thou cuttest downe thine harveste in the fild, and haste forgotte a sheaf in the fild, thou shalt not go agayne to fet it. But it shalbe for the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widowe, that the Lord thy God maye blesse thee in all the woorkes of thine hand. When thou beatest downe thine olive tree, thou shalt not turne agayne to gather by that thou leftest behind thee: but it shalbe for the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widowe. When thou gatherest thy vineyard, thou shalt not gather grapes cleane after thee: but leaue them for the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widowe. And remember that thou also wast a seruant in the lande of Egypt: and therefore I commaund thee to do this thinges.

The xx. Chapter.

3 If there be strife betwene men they shall come vnto the lawe, and let the Iudges geue sentence betwene them, and iustifie the righteous, and condemne the vngodly. And if any man be vngodly, and worthy of stripes, then let the iudge cause to take him downe, and to beate him before his face, accordinge to his trespass, vnto a certayne number.

Co. 11 For stripes he shall geue him, and not passe: least if he should exceede and beate him aboue: that with many stripes, thy brother should appeare vngodly before thine eyes.

Co. 9. Thou shalt not moell the ore that treadeth out the corne (in the barne.)

Le. 19. c If brethren dwell together, and one of them dye, and haue no child, the wife of the deade shall not mary without, vnto a stranger: but his brother shal goe into her, and take her to wife, and occuppe the rosome of his kinsman.

And the eldest sonne whiche he beareth, shall succede in the name of his brother which is deade: that his name be not put oute of Israel. And if the man will not take his brothers wife, then let her go by to the gate vnto the elders, and saye: My husbandes brother refuseth to stirre by vnto his brother a name in Israel, neither wil he marie me. Then the elders of his cite shall cal him, and comen with him. And if he stande and saye: I will not take her, then shall his kinswoman come vnto him in the presence of the elders, and loose his shoe of his foote, and spit in his face, and answers, and saye: Shoo shalt it be done vnto that man, that doeth not builde hye his brothers house. And his name shalbe called in Israel, the vnshodhouse.

If when men strime together one with another, the wife of the one runne to, for to rid her husbande out of the handes of him that smiteth him, and put forth her hande, and take him by the secretes: Thou shalt cut off her hand, and let not thine eye pittie her. Thou shalt not haue in thy bagge two manner of weyghtes, a great and a small: neither shalt thou haue in thine house diuerse measures, a great and a small.

But thou shalt haue righte and iust weyght, and a perfect and a iust measure shalt thou haue, that thy dayes may be lengthened in the land, which the Lord thy God geueth thee. For all that do such thinges, and all that doo vnright, are abomination vnto the Lord thy God. Remember what Amalech didde vnto thee by the waye, when ye were come oute of Egypt, howe he met thee by the waye, and smote the himmooste of pou, all that were feeble and came behinde, when thou wast fainted and weary, and he feared not God. Therefore when the Lord thy God hath geuen thee rest from al thine enemies round aboute, in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee to inherite and possesse: see that thou putte oute the remembrance of Amalech from thy

And thou shalt sape before the Lord thy God. I haue brought the halowed thinges oute of mine house, and haue geuen them vnto the Leuites, the straungers, the fatherlesse and the widowes, accordyng to all the commaundements which thou haste commaunded me: I haue not ouershypped thy commaundementes, nor forgotten them. I haue not eaten thereof in my mourning, nor suffred ought to perishe throughth uncleynesse, nor geuen ought thereof for the deade, but haue hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord my God, and haue done after all that thou hast commaunded me.

I looke downe therfore from thy holy habitation, euen from heuen and blesse thy people Israel, and the land whiche thou hast geuen vs (as thou swarest vnto our fathers) a land that floweth with milke and honey. This day the Lord thy God hath commaunded thee to do these ordynances, and lawes, keepe thou them, and do them, with all thine heart, and all thy soule.

Thou hast set by the Lord this day to be thy God, and to walke in his wayes, and to keepe his ordynances, his commaundementes and his lawes and to hearken vnto his voyce. In the Lord hath set thee by this day, to be a severall people vnto him (as he hath promised thee) & that thou keepe his commaundementes, and to make thee high aboue all nations (whiche he hath made) in prayse, in name, and honour: and that thou makest be a holpe people vnto the Lord thy God, as he hath sayde.

And the Lorde shall plague thee before thine enemies: Thou shalt come out one way against them, and flye seuen wayes before them and shalt be scattered amonge all the kingdomes of the earth. And thy carkasse shalbe meate vnto all manner foules of the ayre, and vnto the beastes of the earth, and no man shall fray the awaye. • The Lorde will smite thee with the hotche of Egypte, and the emerodes, scall, and maunginele, that thou maiest not be healed thereof. And the Lorde shall smite thee with madnesse, and blyndnesse, and desynge of heart. Thou shalt grope at noon daye as the blinde gropeth in darkenesse, and shalt not prosper in thy wayes. Thou shalt be oppressed with wynd and bee polled euermore, and no man shall succour thee. • Thou shalt bee betrouthed vnto a wyfe, and an other man shall lye with her. • Thou shalt builde an house, and not dwell therein. Thou shalt also plant a vineyard, & shalt not gather the grapes. Thine eye shall be slayne befoze thyne eyes, and thou shalt not eate thereof. Thine alle shall be violently taken away euē befoze thy face, and shall not be restored to thee againe. Thy shepe shall be geuen vnto thine enemies, and no man shall rescue them. Thy sonnes and thy daughters shall be geuen vnto another nation, and thine eyes shall see it, and dawe vpon them all the day longe, and there shall be no mighte in thine hande. The Lord shall smite thee in the knees and legges, wpyth a mischēuous botche that can not be healed: euē from the soole of the foote, vnto the toppe of thy head. The Lord shall brynge thee, and thy king (whiche thou shalt sette ouer thee) vnto a nation, whiche neyther thou nor thy fathers haue knowen, & there thou shalt serue strange Goddesses: euē wodde and stōne. And thou shalt be wondred at, spoken of, and talked at amonge all nations whiche the Lord shall cary thee. Thou shalt carrie muche seede out into the fielde, and shalt gather but litle in: for the greshoppers shall destroye it, Thou shalt plant a vineyard, & dwelle it, but shalt neither drinke of the wyne it, neither gather the grapes, for the wormes shall eate it. Thou shalt houe oylue trees thowse out at thy coastes, but shalt not annoynt thy selfe with oyle, for thyne oylue trees shall be trod out. Thou shalt beget sonnes, and daughters, but shalt not haue them: for they shall be caried away captiue. All thy trees and fruite of thy lande shall be marred with blasinge. The stranger that is among you, shall clyme aboue thee vpon hye, and thou shalt come downe benethe aslowe. He shall lende thee, and thou shalt not lende hym: he shall be befoze, and thou behinde. Moreover, all these curses shall come vpon thee, and shall solowe thee, & ouertake thee, till thou be destroyed: because thou hastenedst not vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God, to keepe his commandementes and his ordynances, whiche he commanded thee, and they shall bee vpon thee as miracles and wonders, & vpon thy seede for euer because thou seruest not the Lord thy God wpyth ioyfulness, and wpyth a good harte when thou hadst abundance of all thynges, therefore thou shalt serue thine enemy, whiche the Lord shall sende vpon thee: in hunger and thyrst, in nakednes, and in neede of all thinge, and he shall put a yoke of yron vpon thy necke vntill he haue brought thee to naught. And the Lord shall brynge a natiō vpon thee fro far of, & from the ende of the world as swift as an Eagle flieth: a nation whose tongue thou shalt not vnderstande: a harde fauoured nation, whiche shall not reuerde the person of the olde, nor haue compassion of the younge. The same shall eate the fruite of thy cattell, and the fruite of thy lande vntill he haue destroyed thee: and shall leaue thee: neither corne, wyne, nor oyle, neither encrease thy oxen, nor the flockes of thy shepe: vntill he haue brought thee to naught. And he shall kepe thee in all thy Cities, vntill he haue caste down thy hye walles, and strong holdes, wherein thou trustedst, thowse out all the lande. And he shall besiege thee in all thy cities thowse oute all thy land, whiche the Lord thy God hath geuen thee. And thou shalt eate the fruite of thine owne bodye: the fleshe of thy sonnes, and of thy daughters, whiche the Lord thy God hath geuen thee, in that straitenesse and sieg, wherewith thyne enemy shall besyge thee: so that it shall greue the manne (that is tender and exceedynge delicate amonge you) to of them) of the fleshe of his chyldren, whom he shall eate, because hee hath nothyng, lesse hym in that straghtnesse and sege, wherewith thyn enemye shall beseege thee in all thy Cities. Yea, and the woman that is so tender and delicate, that she dare not aduenture to sette the soule of her foote vpon the grounde, (for softnesse and tendernesse) shall bee grieved to loke on her husbände that lyeth in her bosome, and on her sonne, and on her daughter: and on her after byrth (that is come out from betwene her legges) and her chyldren which she shall beare: For when all thynges lacke, she shall eate theym secretlye, in the sege and straghtnesse wherewith thyn enemye shall beseege thee in thy Cytys.

thy God, and hearken vnto his voyce in all these things that I commaund thee this day: thou and thy children with all thine heart, and all thy soule. And the Lord thy God will tourne the captiuitie, and haue compassion vpon thee, and will tourne, and sette thee agayne from all the nations, amonge which the Lord thy God shall haue scattered thee. Though thou wast cast vnto the extreame partes of heauen: euen from thence will the Lord thy God gather thee, and from thence will he set thee, and the Lord thy God will bringe thee into the lande whiche thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt enioye it. And he will shewe thee kindnesse, and multiplie thee aboue thy fathers. And the Lord thy God will circumcise thine heart and the heart of thy seede, that thou mayest loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and all thy soule, that thou mayest liue. And the Lord thy God will put all these curses vpon thine enemies, and on them that hate thee, & that persecute thee. But thou shalt tourne, and hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, and do al his commandementes, which I commaund thee this day. And the Lord thy God will make thee plenteous in al & workes of thine hand, in the fruit of thy bodie, and in the fruite of thy cattell, and in the fruite of thy lande for thy wealth. For the Lord will tourne agayn and reioyce ouer thee to do thee good, as he reioysed ouer thy fathers. If thou hearken only vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God, to kepe his commandementes and his ordinaunces whiche are written in the booke of this lawe, and if thou turne vnto the Lord thy God with all thine heart and al thy soule. For the commandemente whiche I commaunde thee this day, is not separated from thee, neyther sorte of. It is not in heauen, that thou needest to (complayne and) say: who shal go vp for vs to heauen, and set it vs, that we maye heare it, and doo it? Neither is it beyonde the sea, that thou shouldest say: who shall go ouer the sea for vs, and set it vs, that we maye heare it, and doe it? But the worde is very nye vnto thee euen in thy mouth and in thine heart that thou doo it. Beholde I haue set before thee thys day lyfe and good, deathe and euill. For where as I commaunde thee this day, to loue the Lord thy God, to walke in his wayes, and to keepe his commandementes, his ordinaunces, and his lawes (yf thou so do) thou shalt liue and multiplie, and the Lord thy God shall blesse thee in the lande whither thou goest to possesse it. But and if thine heart tourne awayne, so that thou wilt not heare: but shalt goe astraye and woozhippe strange goddesses: and serue them, I pronounce vnto you also this daye that yee shall surely perishe, and that yee shall not prolonge your dayes vpon the lande whither thou gallest ouer Iordane, to goe and possesse it. I call heauen and earth to recorde thys daye against you, that I haue sette before you lyfe and deathe, blessing and cursing. Cherse chose lyfe, that both thou and thy seede may lyue, that thou mayest loue the Lord thy God and be obedient to his voyce, and cleaue vnto him: for he is thy lyfe, and the lengthe of thy dayes, that thou mayest dwell vpon the earth whiche the Lord swore vnto thy fathers: Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, to geue them.

And Moyses went and spake these wordes vnto all Israel, and sayde vnto theym: I am an hundred and twentie yere olde thys daye, and canne no moze goe oute and in. Also the Lord hath sayde vnto me. Thou shalt not go ouer this Iordan. The Lord thy God he will go ouer before thee, and hee will destroye these nations before thee, and thou shalt conquire them. And Joshua, he shall go before thee as the Lord hath sayde. And the Lord shall doe vnto them, as he dyd to. Behon and Og kynges of the Amorytes, & vnto the land of them: who he destroyed.

Gather the people together: men, we-men, and children, and the stranger that is within thy gates that they may heare, and learne, and feare the Lord your God, and keepe and ob-serue all the wordes of this lawe, and that their children which knowe nothinge, maye heare, and learne to feare the Lord your God, as longe as ye liue in the lande whither ye go

Lord sayde vnto Moyses: Beholde thy dayes are come, that thou must die.
Call Iosua therefore, and stande ye in the Tabernacle of witnessse, that I maye geue him a charge. And Moyses and Iosua wente, and stode in the Tabernacle of witnessse. And the Lord appeared in the Tabernacle euen in the pillar of the cloude. And the piller of the cloude stode ouer the doze of the tabernacle. And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses, beholde thou shalt sleepe with thy fathers; and this people will rise up, and go a whooring after strange Goddesses of the lande (whither they go) and will forsake me, and breake the appoyntment, whiche I haue made with them. And then my wrath will waxe whote against them and I will forsake them, and will hyde my face from theym, and they shalbe consumed. And muche aduersities and tribulations shall come vpon them, so that then they will saye: Are not these troubles come vpon me, because the Lord is not with me? And I also will surely hyde awaye my face in that daye for all the euils sake whiche they shal haue wrought in that they are turned vnto strange gods.

Nowe therefore write ye this songe for yone, and teache it the children of Israel, and put it in their mouthes, that this songe maye be my witnesse

For I will bring them into the lande and they shall eate, and fill them sel-ues, and waxe fatte, and tourne vnto strange Goddesses, and serue them and chiefe and tribulation is come vpon them, this songe shall aunswere them

Hearce O ye heauens, and I shall speake, and let the earth hear the wordes of my mouth. My doctrine shall droppe as doeth the rayne, and my speache shall flowe as doeth the dewe, as the shower vpon the herbes, and as the dropes vpon the grasse. For I will call on the name of the Lord: I scribe pee honoure vnto our God. Perfecte is the worke of the most mightye God: for all his wayes are iudgement. Hee is a God of truth, without wickednes: righteous, and wise is hee. Forwardly haue they done againste hym through their desozmities: not his owne children, but a wicked and forward generation. Do ye so rewarde the Lord, O foolish nation and vnwise? Is not he thy father and thine owner? hath hee not made thee, and ordeyned thee? Remember the dayes of the worlde that is past: consider the yeres from tyme to tyme, and the thy father, and he will shewe thee: thy elders, and they will tell thee. When the moste highest druyded the nations, and when hee seperated the sonnes of Adam, hee put the borders of the nations, faste by the multitude of the children of Israel. For the Lordes parte is his folke, and Jacob is the porcion of his inheritance. He found hym in a desert land, in a byrd ground, and in a roaringe wildernesse. He lea hym aboute, he gaue him vnderstandinge, and kepte hym as the eyle of his eye. As an Eagle that stretcheth her nest and fluttereth ouer her yong, and stretcheth oute her winges, soe doeth he take them vpye, and beareth them on his shoulders. The Lord alone was his guide, and there was no straunge God with hym. Hee carryed hym vp to and hys lande, that hee might eate the increase of the fieldes. And he fedde hym with honye oute of the rocks, and with oyle oute of the mooste harde stone. Wyth butter of kyne, and mylke of the sheepe, wyth fatte of the lambes and of fatte rammes and hee goates, wyth the fatte, of mooste plenteous wheate, and that thou myghtest dyncke the mooste pure bloud of the grape. But he that shoulde haue bene byrghte, when hee waxed fatte, spurned wyth hym heele. Thou arte well fedde, thou art growen thycke: thou art even laden wyth fatnesse. And hee forsooke God, hym maker, and regarded not the God of his saluation. They prouoked him to angre wyth straunge gods: Deities: euen wyth abominations prouoked they hym. They offered vnto Demylles, and not to God. euen to Goddess whom they knewe not: to newe gods that came newelye vpye, whom their fathers feared not. Of God that begatte thee, thou arte vnumdefull and haste forgotten God that made thee. The Lord therefore sawe it, and was angerye, because of the prouokinge of his sonnes and his daughters. And he sayeth: I will hide my face fro them, and will see what they enbe ſhalbe. For they are a verſe fro-ward generation, chylde in whom is no fayth. They haue angered me with that whiche is no God, and prouoked me with their vanities. And I alſo will prouoke them with thoſe whiche are no people. I will anger them with a fooliſhe nation.

For hye is kindled in my wrath, and burneth vnto the bottome of hell.
And hath consumed the earth with her increaſe, and ſet a fire the bottoms of the mountaynes. I will heape miſchies vpon them, and will deſtroye them with mine arrowes.
They ſhalbe burnt with hunger, and conſumed with heate, and with bitter deſtruction. I will alſo ſende the teeth of beaſtes vpon them, with the furioſnes of ſerpentes in the duſte.
Without fayth ſhall the ſwoorde robbe them of their chylde: and within in the chamber, feare both younge men and younge women, and the ſucklin-ges with the men of grape heades. I haue ſayde: I will ſcatter them abroad, and make the remembrance of them to ceaſe from among men. Were it not that I feared the wrath of the enemye, leſt their aduerſaries ſhoulde bittere with blaſphemy them ſelues, and leaſt they ſhoulde ſay: Our hye hande hath done all this, and not the Lord.
For it is a nation without ſozecaſte, neither is there anye vnderſtandinge in them: O that they were wiſe, and vnderſtoode this, that they wold con-ſider their latter ende. Howe ſhoulde one chaſe a thouſand, and two put ten thouſande to flight: excepte their maker hadde ſolde them, and excepte the Lord had ſhutte them vp: For their God is not as our God; oure enne-mies alſo them ſelues ar iudges. For their vine is of the vinegarde of So-dome, and of the ſirides of Gomora: Their grapes are grapes of gall, and their cluſters be bitter. Their wine is the poiſon of dragons, and the cruell gall of Aſpes. Is not this layde in ſoꝝe with me, and ſealed vp among my treaſures? Vengeance is mine, ſayd I, and I will rewarde: their ſeere ſhall ſayde in due time: For the day of their deſtruction is at hande, and the thyn-ges that ſhall come vpon them, make haſte. For the Lord ſhall iudge his people, and haue compaſſion on his ſeruauntes: when he ſeeth that their power is gone, and that they bee in a maner ſhut vp, or brought to naught, and forſaken. And he ſhal ſay, where are they goddes? their God in whom they truſted. The ſatte of whoſe ſacrifices they didde eaſe, and dyanke the wine of their dyanke offerings: Let them riſe vp, and helpe you, and be your protection (in neceſſitie.) He now how that I, alone am God, and there is none but I: I kill, and will make aliue: I wounde and I will heale: neither is there any that can deliuer out of my hande.

For I will liſe vp mine hande to heauen, and will ſay: I liue euer. If I whette the edge of my ſweard, and mine hande take holde to doo iuſtice, I will recompence vengeance on mine enemies, and wil rewarde them that hate me. I will make mine ar-rowes dyanke with bloude, and my ſwearde ſhall eaſe fleſhe, and that ſoz the bloud of the ſlayne, and ſoz their captiuitie, ſince the beginning of the wrath of the enemye. Pſaſpe ye Heathen his people, for he will avenge the blud of his ſeruauntes, and will avenge him of his aduerſa-ries, and will be mercifull vnto his lande, and to his people. And Moy-ſes came, and ſpake all the woordes of this ſonge in the eares of the people, he and Joſua the ſonne of Nun.
And Moyſes ſpake all theſe woordes vnto the ende to all the people of Israel, and ſayde vnto them: Sette yours heartes vnto all the woordes, whiche I teſtifie vnto you this daye: and ye ſhall commaunde them vnto your chylde, that they may obſerue, and doo all the woordes of this lawe.
And lette it not bee a daye woode vnto you: For in it is your liſe, and thzough this woode: ye ſhall prolong

A D. Moses went from the playne of Moab by into Mount Nebo, and vnto the top of the hill, that is ouer agaynst Jericho. And the Lorde shewed him all the lande of Gilead, euen vnto

Dan, and all Reubeth, and the land of Ephraim, and Manasse, and all the land of Iuda: euen vnto the brimoste sea, and the southe, and the region of the playne of Jericho, the citie of Paulme trees, euen vnto Zoar. And the L O R D E sayd vnto him.

• This is the lande whiche I swaie vnto Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, sayinge: I will geue it vnto thy seede, I haue caused thee also to see it with thine eyes, • but thou shalt not goe our thither. So Moses, the seruant of the Lorde dyed there in the lande of Moab, accordinge to the woorde of the Lorde. And he buried him in a bailey, in the lande of Moab, ouer agaynst the house of Deoz, but no man knoweth of his Sepulchre vnto this daye.

Moses was an hundred and twentie yere olde whenne he dyed: his eye was not dimme, nor his naturall colour was abated. And the children of Israel wepte for Moses in the playne of Moab thirtie dayes. And the days of weeping and mourning for Moses were ended. And Josua the sonne of Nun was full of the Spirit of wisdom: • for Moses hadde put his handes vpon him. And the children of Israel were obedient vnto him, and did as the Lorde commaunded Moses. And there arose not a Prophete since in Israel like vnto Moses, whome the Lorde knewe face to face, accordinge vnto all the miracles and wonders, whiche the Lorde sente him to doo in the lande of Egypt, vnto Pharao and all his seruauntes, and before all his land, and accordinge to al that mightie hand, and all the great visions, which Moses shewed in the sight of all Israel.

After the deathe of Moyses the servant of the Lorde, it happened also, that the LORD spake vnto Josua the sonne of Nun, Moyses minister, saying: Moyses my servant is dead. Nowe therefore vp and goe ouer Jordan, thou and all this people vnto the lande, the whiche I gene vnto the childzen of Israel. All the places that the sooles of your feete shall treade vpon, I haue geuen you as I said vnto Moyses, from the wilderness, and this Libanon, vnto the great river Euphrates: all the lande of the Hethites, euen vnto the greates sea, towarde the going downe of the sonne, shalbe your coast. There shall not a man be able to withstande thee all the dayes of thy life. For as I was with Moyses, so will I bee with thee, and will not faile thee, nor forsake thee. Be stronge therefore, and holde, for vnto this people shalt thou deuide the lande, whiche I sware vnto their fathers to geue them. Onely be thou strong and as bolde as thou canst, that thou mayest obserue and doo accordinge to all the lawe, that Moyses my seruauant commaunded thee. Tourne therefrom neyther to the right hande nor to the lefte, that thou maiest do wisely in all that thou takest in hande: Let not the booke of this lawe departe out of thy mouth: But recorde therein day and nighte, that thou mayest obserue and doo accordinge to all that is written therein. For then shalt thou make thy waye prosperous, and then thou shalt doo wisely. Hade not I commaunded thee, that thou shouldest be strong and hardye, and not feare, nor be faynt hearted? For I the LORD thy God am with thee, whither so euer thou goest. Then Josua commaunded the officers of the people, saying: Go thorow the middes of the holle, and commaund the people saying: prepare you vittails: for after thre dayes ye shall passe ouer this Jordan, to go in & entoe the land, which the LORD your GOD geueth you to possesse it. And vnto the Rubenites, Gaddites, and halfe Tribe of Manasses spake Josua, saying. Remember the word which Moles the servant of the LORD commaunded you, saying: The LORD your God hath geuen you rest, and hath geuen you this lande: Your wiues, your children, and your castell shall remaine in the lande, whiche Moyses gaue you on this syde Jordan: but ye shall goe before your brethren, armed all that be men of warre and helpe them vntill the LORD haue geuen your brethren rest, as he hath you, and vntill they also haue obtayned the lande, whiche the LORD your GOD geueth them. And then shal ye returne vnto the lande of your possession, and entoepe it, whiche lande Moles, the LORDS seruauent gaue you on this syde Jordan towarde the son rising. And they answered Josua sayinge: All that thou haste commaunded vs, we will doo, and whither soeuer thou sendest vs, we will go. Accordinge as we obeyed Moles in all thynges, so will we obey thee, only the LORD thy God be with thee, as he was with Moles. And who so euer he bee, that doeth disobeye thy mouth, and will not herken vnto thy wordes, in all that thou commaundest him, let him dye: Only be strong and of good courage.

And the kinges of Jericho sente unto Mahab, sayinge: Bynge forth the the woman took the two men, & hid them, and said thus: In dede ther came men vnto me, but I wilk not whence they were. And about the tyme of the shutting of the gate when it was darke, the men went out, whither the men went, I wote not, folowe ye af-them. But she brought them vp to the roote of the house, and hid them with the flayles of flaxe, whiche she had lyeing abrode vpon the roote. And the menne of the Tittie pursued after them, the waye to Iordan, euen vnto the fery, and as soone as they whiche pursued after them, were gone oute they shutte the gate. And of euer they were a sleepe, she came vp vnto them vpon the roote, and sayde vnto the mē: I know that the Lord hath grue you the lande: For the feare of you is fallen vpon vs, and the inhabitants of the land saunte at the presence of you.

 For we haue hearde, howe the Lord dyed by the water of the Red Sea before you, when you came out of Egypt, and what you did vnto the two kinges of the Amorites, that were on the other syde Iordan, & whom you had utterly destroyed. And as soone as we had herd these thinges (we were soze afrayd, and) our heartes did faynt. And there remayned no more courage, in any man at the presence of you. For the Lord your God he is the god in heauen aboue, and in earthe beneath. Nowe therefore (I praye you) sweare vnto me by the Lord, That as I haue shewed you mercy, ye shall also shewe mercy vnto my fathers house, and geue me a true token. And that ye shall saue a liue, both my father, and my mother, and my brethren, and my sisters, and all that they haue. And that ye shall deliuer our soules from deathe. And the men answered her: Our liues for you we will not take. And after these sayes, if ye will not this oore business. And when the Lord hath geue vs the land, we will deale mercifully and truly with thee. And then she let them downe by a coarde, & thro-rough a window: For her house was by the towne wall. And she said vnto them: get you into the mountaine, lest the pursuers seeke you, and hyde your selues there thre dayes, vntill the pursuers be returned, & then shall ye go your owne waye. And the men sayde vnto her: We will be blamelesse of this thy oth, which thou hast made vs sweare. Beholde, when we come into the land thou shalt bind this purple cozd in the windowe, which thou lettest vs downe by. And thou shalt bring thy father and thy mother, thy brethren, and all thy fathers household euen into thy house. And then whoo soeuer doeth goe oute at the doores of thy house into the streete, his bloude shall be vpon his owne head, & we wil be gilliesse. And whoeuer shall be with thee in the house, his bloude shall be on our head, if any mans hand touch him: And if thou bitter these our wo-rdes, wee will bee quite of thy othe, whiche thou hast made vs sweare.

 And she sayde: accordyng vnto your wordes, so be it: and she sent them away to depart. And she bozd the purple coarde in the windowe. And they departed, and came into the mountaine and there abode thre dayes, vntill the pursuers were returned. And the pursuers sought them throughtout all the waye, but founde them not. And the two men returned, and descended from the mountayne, and passed ouer, and came to Joshua the sonne of Nun, and told him all that had chanced them.
 And they said vnto Joshua: The Lord truly hath deliuered into our handes all the land, & all the inhabitants of the countrey, saynt at the presence of vs.

The. iij. Chapter.

And Joshua rose earlye, & they remoued frō Bethaim, & come to Iordan, he and all the children of Israel, and lodged there, before they went ouer. And after these days it fortuned, that officers went throughout the host, and commanded the people saying: to be ye de the Arke of the Testament of the Lord your God, and the priestes that are Levites bearing it: ye shall depart from your place, & go after it. So yet that there shall be a space betwene you and it, about a two thousand cubites by measure. And ye shall not come nye vnto it, that ye maye knowe the waye, by whiche ye muste go: for ye haue not gone this way in times past (and beware that ye approche not nye vnto the Arke.) And Josua sayde vnto the people: Sanctifie your selues, for to morowe the Lord shall doo wonders among you. And Josua spake vnto the priestes, saying: Take vp the Arke of the covenant, & go before the people. And they toke vp the Arke of the Testament, and went before the people. And the Lord sayde vnto Josua: this day will I begin to magnifie thee in the sighte of all Israel, that they may know how that .as I was with Moses, so will I be with thee. And thou shalt commande the priestes that beare the Arke of the covenant, saying: when ye are come to the edge of the waters of Jordan, ye shall stand still in it. And Josua saide vnto the children of Israel: Come hither and heare the words of the Lord your God. And Josua sayd: hereby ye shall know that the liuing God is amonge you, and that he will withoute faile caste out before you, the Canaanites, & the Hethites, the Hittites, the Amorites, and the Gergesites, the Amozites, and the Jebusites: Behold, the Arke of the appointment of the Lord of all the world goeth before you into Jordan. Now therfore take from among you twelue men out of the Tribes of Israel, out of every tribe a man. And as soone as the sooles of the fete of the Priestes (that beare the Arke of the Lord the gouernour of all the world) treade in the waters of Jordane, the waters of Jordan (that are beneath, shall runne downe, and) shall be dried: and the waters that come from aboue, shall stand still vpon an heape. And it fortuned, that when the people were departed from their tentes to go ouer Jordan, the priestes bearing the Arke of the appointment went before the people. And as soone as they that bare the Arke came vnto Jordan, and the fete of the priestes that bare the Arke were dipped in the brym of the water. For Jordan besh to fill at his bankes all the time of haruest. the waters also that came down from aboue did rise vp vpon an heape (& appered as great as a mountaine (and departed farre from the citie of Idam, that was beside Iordan. And the waters that were beneath toward the sea of the wilderness, fel away, and departed into a salt sea, & the people went right ouer against Jericho. And the priestes that bare the arke of the appointment of the Lord, stode by within Jordan ready prepared, & al Israelites went ouer through the dry, until al people were gone cleane ouer through Jordan.

And it fortuned, that whē the people were all gone ouer Jordan, the Lord spake vnto Josua, saying: Take you twelue men out of the people, out of euery tribe a man. And commande you them saying: Take you hence out of the middes of Jordane (euen out of the place where the priestes stode in a rebinecke) twelue of the moste hardest stones, which ye shall take away with you, & leaue theym in the place, where you shall lodge this night. And Josua called the twelue men, whiche he had prepared of the children of Israel, out of euery tribe a man, and Josua sayde vnto them: Get you before the Arke of the Lord your God, euen though the middes of Jordan, & and take vp euery manne of you a stone vpon his shoulder, accordinge vnto the number of the Tribes of the children of Israel, that this may be a signe amonge you. That when your children aske their fathers in time to come, saying: What meane these stones with you? Ye may answer them saying: that the

And the twelue stones which they toke out of Jordan, did Josua pitche in Gilgal. And he spake vnto the children of Israel, saying: If your children aske their fathers in time to come and saye: What meane these stones? Ye shall shew your children, and say: Israel came ouer this Jordan on drye land. For the Lord your God dyed by the water of Jordane before you; vntill ye were gone ouer, as the Lord your God did the redde sea, which he dyed by before vs, till we were gone ouer: that all the people of the worlde maye knowe the hande of the Lord, how mightie it is, and that ye mighte feare the Lord your God for euer.

The. v. Chapter.

AD it fortuned, that when all the kinges of the Ammorites, which are beyonde Jordan dane westerwarde, and all the kinges of the Canaanites which were by the sea, heard howe the Lord had dyed by the waters of Jordane before the children of Israel vntill they were gone ouer, their heartes the same time the Lord saide vnto Josua: Make thee sharpe knyues (of stone) and go to againe, and circumsise the children of Israel the seconde time. And Josua made him sharpe knyues (of stone) and circumsyled the children of Israel in the toppe of the foreskynnes. And this is the cause why Josua circumsised all the people that came out of Egypt: Namely such as were males because that all the men of warre, dyed in the wilderness by the waye, after they came out of Egypt. For all the people that came out were circumsised: But all the people that were boyn in the

For the Manna ceased on the morowe after they had begonne to eate of the cozne of the lande, neyther had the children of Israel Manna any more, but dydde eate of the cozne of the lande of Canaan that yere. And it fortuned that when Josua was nye to Jericho, he lift vp his eyes and looked, and beholde there stode a man agaynst him, hauing a sword drawen in his hande. And Josua wente vnto him, and sayde vnto him: arte thou on our side, or on our aduersaries. And he said: Naye, but as a captaine of the hoste of the Lord am I now come. And Josua fel on his face to the earth, and did reverence, and sayde vnto him: what sayest my Lord vnto his seruant. And the captaine of the Lords hoste sayd vnto Josua: do the word of thy loorde, for the place wheroun thou standest is holy. And Josua did so.

The. vi. Chapter.

AND Jericho was shutt hye and locked because of the children of Israel, neyther might any man go out or in. And the Lord sayd vnto Josua, beholde, I haue giuen into thine hande Jericho and her kinge, and the stronge men of warre. And ye shall compasse the citie all ye that be menne of warre, and go round about it once, and so shall ye doe fyve dayes. And seven priests shall beare before the Arke, seven trumpettes of rammes hoynes (that be bled in the Tubellie.) And the seventh daye, ye shall compasse the citie seven tymes, and the priests shall blowe with the trumpettes. And when they make a longe blast with the rammes hoyn, and ye heare the sounde of the hoyn, all the people shall shoute with a greute shout. And then shall the wall of the Citie fall downe, and the people shall assend by every man straight before him. And Josua the sonne of Nun, called the Priests and sayde vnto them, take vp the arke of the appoyntment, and lette seven priests beare seven trumpettes of rammes hoynes before the arke of the Lord. And he sayde vnto the people, go and compasse the Citie: and let him that is harnesssed, goo before the Arke of the Lord. And when Josua had spoken vnto the people, the seven priests bare the seven trumpettes of rammes hoynes, and wente forth before the arke of the Lord and blew with the trumpettes, and the arke of the covenant of the Lord folowed them. And all the menne of Irmes went before the priests, and blew with the trumpettes, and the common people came after the Arke, and the priests that wente and blew with trumpettes. And Josua commaunded the people saying: Ye shall not shoute, nor make any noyse with your voyce, neyther shall anye wynde proced out of your mouth, vntill the day that I bidde you shoute, then shall ye shoute. And so the Arke of the Lord compassed the Citie, and wente about it once: and they returned into the host, and lodged there. And Josua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the arke of the Lord, and seven priests bare seven trumpets of rammes hoynes, and went before the arke of the Lord, and blew with the trumpets. And all the men of armes went before them, but the common people came after the arke of the Lord, which went before with the blowing of the trumpets. And the second day they compassed the citie once, and returned againe into the host, and so they did six dayes. And when the seventh day came, they rose early: even with the dawning of the day, and compassed the citie after the same manner seven times: onely that day they compassed the citie seven times. And at the seventh tyme, when the priests blew with the trumpets, Josua sayd vnto the people, shout, for the Lord hath given you the Citie. And the citie shall be damned both it and all that are therein, vnto the Lord: onely Rahab the harlotte shall lyue, and all that are with her in the house, because she hid the messengers that we sent. And in any wise be ye ware of the excommunicate thinges, lest ye make your selues excommunicate, and take of the excommunicate thinges, & make the host of Israel excommunicate and trouble it. But at the silver, gold, vessels of brasle, and yron, shall be consecrate vnto the Lord, and all shall come into his treasure. And the people shouted, and blew with trumpets. And when the people heard the sounde of the trompe, they shouted with a great shout, and the wall fell downe, so that the people went up into the citie, every man straight before him, and took the citie. And they utterly destroyed all that was in the citie, bothe man and woman, younge and olde, oxe, sheepe and asse, with the edge of the swerde. At yet the childe of Israel trespasses in the excommunicate thinges: And Hean the sonne of Camp, the sonne of Zabdi, the sonne of Zareth of the tribe of Juda, tooke of the excommunicate thinges. And the wrath of the Lord waxed whote agaynst the childe of Israel. And Josua sent men from Jericho to Hai, which is beside Bethanien, on the east side of Bethel, & spake vnto them, saying: get you hye, and beseech the countrey. And the men went up, and spied out Hai. And returned to Josua, and sayde vnto him, let not all the people goo by, but let as it were two or thre thousande men go by, and smite Hai, and make not all the people to labour thither, for they are but fewe. And so there wente hye thither of the people, aboute a thre thousande men, and they slede before the men of Hai. And the men of Hai smote of them vpon a thirtie and sixe men: for they chased them from before the gate even vnto Habarim, and

 And Josua rent his clothes, and fel to the earth, vpon his face befoze the arke of the Lorde: vntill the euentide, he and the elders of Israel, and put erth

Deu. 9. d Alas, O Lorde God wherefoze haste thou brought this people ouer Iordā to deliuer vs into the hande of the A-mozites, and to destroy vs: would god we had bene content, and dwelt on the other side Iordan. Oh Lorde what shall I saie, when Israel turneth their backes befoze their enemies.

Surely the Cananites, and al the en-habitants of the lande, shall heare of it: and shall conspire agaynst vs, and destroy the name of vs out of the world.
 And what wilt thou doe vnto thy mightie name? And the Lorde sayde vnto Josua, get the vp, wherefoze speest thou thus vpon thy face? Israel hath sinned, & they haue transgressed mine appoyntment, which I commaunded them, for they haue taken of the excommunicate things, and haue stolen, and dissembled, and put them vnto their owne stuffe. And therfoze is it that the childzen of Israel cannot stande be-foze their enemies, but shal turne their backes befoze their enemies, because they be excommunicate. Perther will I be with you anye moze, excepte ye roote out the excommunicate from a-Exod. 19 Up therfoze, and sanc-tifie the people, and say: sanctifie your selues agaynst to morowe, for so sayde the Lorde God of Israel. There is a dampned thinge among you (O Israel) and therfoze ye cannot stande a-gaynst your enemies, vntill ye haue put the dampned thing from amonge you. To morowe morning therfoze ye shall be broughre accordinge to your trybes. And the tribe which the Lorde taketh, shall come accordinge to the kinredes therof: And the kinredde whiche the Lorde shall fynde guiltye, shall come by householdes. And the household whiche the Lorde shall finde faultie, shal com man by man, And he that is founde in the excommunication, shalbe burnt with fire, he and all that he hath, because he hath transgressed the covenante of the Lorde, and wrought folie in Israel. And so Josua rose by earlye in the morning, and brought Israel by their tribes: and the tribe of Iuda was caught, and he brought the kynredes of Iuda, and toke the kinred of the Zarehites, & he brought a kinred of the zarehites man by man, and Zabdi was caught. And he brought his household, man by man, and Acan the sonne of Carmy, the son of Zabdi, the sonne of Zareth, in the tribe of Iuda was caught. And Josua sayde vnto Acan: my sonne, I beseeche thee, geue glozy to the Lorde God of Israel, and geue him prayse, and shewe me what thou haste done, hyde it not from me. And Acan answered Josua, and saide: of a truth I haue sinned agaynst the Lorde God of Israel, and thus, and thus haue I done. I saue amonge the spoyle, a goodlye Babylonische garment, and two hundred sicles of syluer, and a tonge of golde, of fiftie sicles weight, and I coueted theym, and toke them.

 And beholde they lye hyd in the earth in my tente, and the syluer is there vnder. And so Josua sent messengers: which when they ranne vnto his tent beholde they were hydde in his tent, and the syluer there vnder. Therfoze they toke them out of the middell of his tent, and brought them vnto Josua, and vnto all the childzen of Israel, and laid them out befoze the Lorde.
 And Josua toke Acan the sonne of zareth and the siluer, and the garment, and the tonge of gold, and his sonnes, and his daughters, his oxen, and his asses, his shepe, and his tente, and all that he had, and all Israel with him, brought them vnto the dale of Ioy.
 And Josua sayde: In as muche as thou haste troubled vs, the Lorde shal trouble thee this day. And all Israel stoned him with stones, and burnt theym with fyre, and ouerwhelmed them with stones. And they cast vpon him a greate heape of stones vnto this daye. And so the Lorde tourned from the wrath of his indignation. And the name of the place is called the valley of Acor vnto this daye.

The vij. Chapter.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Iosua. feare not, neither be thou faint harted: Take al the men of war with thee, and bp, and get thee to Hai. Beholde, I haue geuen into thy hande, the kinge of Hai, and his people, his Citie and his lande. And thou shalt do to Hai and her Kinge, as thou diddest vnto Jericho and her kinge. Nevertheless, the spoyle and cattell thereof, shall yee take vnto your selues. And laye a watche vnto the towne, on the backeside thereof. And so Iosua arose, and all the men of warre to go bp against Hai. And Iosua chose out thirtie thousand strong men of warre, and sente theym away by night. And he commaunded them, saying: beholde, ye shall laye a wayte vnto the towne on the backeside thereof. So not berpe farre from the citie, but be all ready. And I and al the people that are with me, wil appoch vnto the citie. And when they come out agaynst vs, as they did at the first tyme, then will we lye before theym. For they will come out after vs, and we will bring them out of the Citie. For they wil say: they lye before vs, as at the first tyme, and we will lye before them. In the meane time shall ye rise bp from lyinge awayte, and destroy the citie. For the Lord your God will deliuer it into your hande. And when ye haue taken the citie, ye shall set it on fire. Accordinge to the commaundement of the Lorde shall ye do, beholde, I haue charged you. Iosua therefore sente theym forth, and they went to laye a wayte, and aboade betwene Bethel and Hai, on the westsyde of the Citie of Hai. But Iosua lodged that night among the people. And Iosua rose vp early in the morninge, and numbred the people, and went bp, he and the elders of Israell before the people agaynst Hai, And al

the men of war that were with him went bp and byue nye, & came agaynst the citie, and pitched on the northsyde of Hai: & there was a valey betwene them and Hai. And he tooke vpon a fine thousande men, and put them to lye awayte, betwene Bethel and Hai on the westside of the citie. And they put the people (euen all the hoste that were on the northside) against the citie, and the lepers awayte on the west. And Iosua walked the same night in the middes of the valey. And it fortuned, that when the king of Hai sawe it, they hasted and rose vp early, and the men of the citie went out agaynst Israell to battell, he & all his people at a time appoynted, euen before the playne, and wist not that there were lepers awayte on the backeside of the citie. And Iosua and all Israell sayned them selues to be put to the worke before them, and fled toward the wilderness. And all the people of the towne were called together, to folow after them. And they folowed after Iosua and were dashed away from the citie: And there was not a manne left in Hai, and in Bethel, that went not out after Israell. And they leste the citie open, and folowed after Israell. And the Lorde sayd vnto Iosua, stretche out the spere that is in thyne hande, toward Hai, for I will geue it into thy hande, and Iosua stretched out the spere that he had in his hande, towarde the Citie. And the lepers awayte arose quickelye out of theyr place, and ranne as soone as Iosua had stretched out his hande, and they entered into the citie and toke it, and hastened, to sette the Citie on fire. And when the men of Hai looked backe after theym, they sawe the smoke of the citie ascende vp to heauen. And they had no leysure to fyre, either this way or that, and the people that fled to the wilderness, tourned backe againe vnto the folowers. And when Iosua and all Israell sawe that the lepers awayte had taken the citie, and that the smoke of it ascended, they turned agayne and layde on the menne of Hai.

Josua. 6. And the other issued out of the Citie againt them. And so were they in the midst of Israel: for these were on the one syde of them, and the reste on the other side. And they layde vpon them so that they let none of them escape, nor remayne. And the King of Hai they toke alive, and brought him to Josua. And when Israel had made an ende of slaying, all the inhabitants of Hai in the field of the wilderness, where they chased them, and when they were all fallen on the edge of the swerde, vntill they were waiked, all the Israelites returned vnto Hai, and smote it in the edge of the swerde.

And all that fell that day, both of men and women were twelue thousande, feu en all the men of Hai. For Josua plucked not his hande backe agayne, whiche he stretched out vpon the speare vntill he had bitterly destroyed all the inhabitants of Hai.

Num. 31. De. 20.

Onely the cattell and spoyle of the Citie, Israel tooke vnto them selues, according vnto the wordes of the Lorde, which hee commaunded Josua. And Josua sette Hai on fire, and made it an heape for euer, and a wilderness, eu en vnto this daye. And the King of Hai hee hanged on a tree, vntill eu en. And as soone as the sunne was downe, Josua commaunded that they shoulde take the carkasse downe of the tree, and caste it at the entringe of the gate of the Citie, and laye thereon a great heape of stones, that remayneth vnto this daye.

of Moyses: an altar of whole stones, ouer which no man hath lifte any toole of yron. And they sacrificed thereon burnt sacrifices vnto the Lord, and offered peace offerings. And hee wrote there vpon the stones a rehearsall of the lawe of Moyses, and wrote it in the presence of the children of Israel. And at Israel and the elders thereof, and their officers and ges stood, part on this side the arke, and parte on that side, before the priests that were Levites, whiche bare the arke of the appoyntments of the Lorde: as well the stranger, as they that were bozne amonge them, halfe of them on the forefront of the mount Garizim: and halfe of them on the forefront of mount Ebal. As Moyses the seruante of the Lorde had commaunded before, that they shoulde blesse the people Israel. The ix. Chapter.

And it fortuned that when all the kinges that dwell on this syde Jordan in the hilles and valleys, and along by all the coastes of the great sea ouer agaynste Libanon (namely the Hethites, the Amorites, the Cananites, the Hittites, the Ievites and the Jebusites) heard thereof, they gathered them selues together to fight agaynste Josua, and agaynste Israel with one accord. And the inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Josua had done vnto Jericho, and to Hai: And they did worke wyllye, and went and made them selues embassadors, and toke (them bitayles, and) olde sackes vpon theyr asses, and wyne bottles olde, and rent and wozne, and olde clouted shooes vpon their fete and theyr rapement was olde, and all their prauision of bzende was dyed by, and ho red. And they came vnto Josua into the hoste, to Gilgall, and layde vnto him and vnto all the men of Israel: We be come from a farre countrey, and now we make ye agremente with vs. And the men of Israel said vnto the Hittites: peraduenture thou dwellest amonge vs : and then howe can I make peace with thee ? And they sayd vnto Josua : we are thy seruantes.

 And Josua sayde vnto them agayne :
 what are ye : and whence came ye ?
 They answered him : From a very farre countrey thy seruantes are come, for the name of the Lorde thy God, for we haue hearde the same (of the power) of him, and all that he dyd in Egypte, and all that he did to the two kynges of the Amorites that were beyonde Iordan. Sehon king of Hesbon, and Og king of Basan, whiche was at Itharoth. Wherfoze our elders and all the enhabitours of our countrey spake to vs, saying: take vitayles with you to serue by the waye, and go mete them, and saye vnto them : we are your seruantes. And now we make ye a couenaunte of peace with vs. This our foode of bread, we toke with vs out of our houses whot, the daye we departed to come vnto you. But now we beholde, it is dried by and hoized. And these bottels of wine whiche we spyled were newe: and see they be rent. And these our garmentes and shoen, are woyn for oldenesse, by the reason of the exceeding long tourney. And the men toke of their vitay-les, and couneled not with the mouth of the Lorde. And Josua made peace with them, and made a couenaunte with them that they shoulde be suffered to lyue: and the Lordes of the congregation swaue vnto them. And it fortuned, that thre dayes after they had made peace with them, they heard that they were theyr neyghbours, and that they dwelte amonge them.
 And the chyldren of Israel toke their iourney, and came vnto their cities the thirde daye: and their cities were Gibeon, and Caphira, Bereth and Harish Jarim. And the chyldren of Israel sware them not, because the Lordes of the congregation had sworne vnto them by the Lorde God of Israel. And all the multitude murmured agaynst the Lordes. But all the Lordes sayde vnto all the congregation: we haue sworn vnto them by the Lorde God of Israel, and therfoze we maye not hurte them. But this we will do to them. We will let them lyue, least wrath be vpon vs, because of the othe whiche we swaue vnto the.

 And the Lordes sayde vnto them a-gayne: Let them liue, and hew wood, and drawe water vnto all the congregation, and they dyd as the Lordes sayde vnto them. And Josua sent for them, and talked with them, and sayd: wherfoze haue ye begyled vs saying: We dwell farre from you, when ye dwell among vs : and now we are ye cursed, and there shall not cease to be of you, bond men and hewers of wood and drawers of water for the house of my God. And they answered Josua and sayd, it was tolde thy seruantes howe that the Lorde thy God had commanded his seruante Moses to geue you all the lande, and to destroy all the enhabitours thereof oute of your sight, and therfoze we were exceadinge sore asrayde (and did pro-uide) for our lyues at the presence of you, and haue done this thinge: and

The .x. Chapter.

As it fortuned, that when A-donizedec king of Ierusalem had heard howe Josua had taken Hai and had destroyed it, and howe that as he had done to Jericho and her kinge, euen so he had done to Hai and her kinge, and howe the enhabi-tours of Gibeon hadde made peace with Israel, and were amonge them they feared exceedinglye, for Gibeon was a great cite, as any cite of the kingdome, and was greater then Hai, and all the menne thereof were verie mightie. Wherefoze Adonizedek king of Ierusalem sent vnto Hoham king of Hebron, and vnto Piria kinge of Jarmuth, and vnto Iaphia kinge of Lachis, and vnto Dabir king of Egion, sayinge: Come vp vnto me, and helpe me, that we may smite Gibeon: for they haue made peace with Josua and with the childeyn of Israel.

¶ Wherefoze the five kinges of the Amorites, the Kinge of Ierusalem, the kinge of Hebron, the kinge of Jarmuth, the kinge of Lachis, and the kinge of Egion gathered themselves together: they with all their hostes, and besieged Gibeon, and made war agaynste it. And the menne of Gibeon sente vnto Josua, and to the hooste of Gilgall, sayinge: Withdrowe not thy hande from thy seruantes, come vp to vs, to saue vs, and to helpe vs: For all the kinges of the Amorites which dwell in the mountaynes, are gathered together agaynste vs. And so Josua ascended from Gilgall, he and all the people of warre with him, and all the men of might. And the Lord sayde vnto Josua: feare them not, for I haue deliuered them into thine hande. Neither shall any of them stande agaynst thee. Josua therfoze came vnto them sodenlye, and wente by from Gilgall at nighte. And the Lord troubled them befoze Israel, and slewe them with a great slaughter at Gibeon, and chased them along the way that goeth by to Bethozon, and smote theym to Esaka and Makeda. And it fortuned, that as they fled from Israel, & were in the goinge downe to Bethozon, the Lord cast downe greates stones from heauen vpon them, vntill Esaka. And there were moo deade with hople stones, then they were, whom the childeyn of Israel slewe with the sworde. Then spake Josua befoze the Lord, in the daye when the Lord deliuered the Amorites befoze the childeynne of Israel, and he sayde in the sight of Israel: Sonne stande thou still vpon Gibeon, and thou Moone in Aialon. And the sunne abode, and the Moone stood still vntill the people aduenged them selues vpon therr enemies. Is not this written in the booke of the righteous? The Sunne (I saye) abode in the midst of heauen, and halted not to go downe by the space of an whole day. And there was no daye like that, befoze it of after it, that the Lord hearde the voyce of a man. For the Lord foughte for Israel. And Josua returned, and all Israel with him vnto the hooste of Gilgall: but the five kinges fled, and were hidde in a caue at Makeda. And it was tolde Josua of one, sayinge: The five kinges are founde hidde in a Caue whiche is at Makeda. And Josua sayde: roule great stones vpon the mouth of the caue, and set men by it, for to kepe them. And stande ye not still, but folowe after your enemies, and smite all the hindermoste: And suffer them not to enter into their cities, for the Lord your God hath deliuered them into your hande. And it fortuned when Josua and all the childeyn of Israel had made an ende of slepinge them with an exceedinge greate slaughter till they were wasted, the reste that remayned of them, entered into waled Cities. And all the people returned to the hooste, to Josua at Makeda in peace; neyther did anye man moue his tongue agaynste the childeynne of Israel. Then sayde Josua: open the mouth of the caue and bringe out these five kinges vnto me oute of the caue. And they did so, and brought those five kinges vnto him oute of the caue, euen the kinge of Ierusalem, the kinge of Hebron, the kinge of Jarmuth, the kinge of Lachis, and the kinge of Egion. And it fortuned, that when they brought oute those kinges vnto Josua: Josua called for all the menne of Israel and sayde vnto the chiefe of the menne of warre, which wente with him: come neare, and putte your seate vpon the neckes of these kinges. And they came neare and putte their seete vpon the neckes of them. And Josua sayde vnto them: Ye shall not feare nor be faint berted: But he stränge and placke by your heartes, for thus shall the Lord do to all your enemies agaynst whom ye fight. And then Josua smote them, and slawe them, and hanged them on fine trees. And they hanged still up-pon the trees vntill the evening. And at the goinge downe of the sunne, it fortuned that Josua gaue commandment, and they tooke them downe of the trees, and cast them into the caue, (wherein they had bene hid) and laied stones in the caues mouth which re-mayne vntill this daye. And that same daye Josua tooke Makeda and smote it with the edge of the swerde, and the kinge thereof also. Destroyed he bitterly, with all the soules that were therein, and let nought remaine.

And he did to the kinge of Makeda as he did vnto the kinge of Jericho.

Jos. 6. a

Then Josua wente from Makeda, and all Israel with him vnto Libna, and fought agaynst Libna. And the Lord deliuered it and the kinge thereof into the hande of Israel: and he smote it with the edge of the swerde and all the soules that were therein.
He let nought remaine in it, but did vnto the kinge thereof as he did vnto the kinge of Jericho. And Josua departed from Libna, and all Israel with him vnto Lachis, and besieged it, and assaileth it. And the Lord de-liuered Lachis into the hande of Israel, which tooke it the seconde daye, and smote it with the edge of the swerde, and all the soules that were therein, doinge accordinge to all, as he had done to the Citie of Libna. Then Hozan kinge of Geser came vp to helpe Lachis: And Josua smot him and his people, vntill noughte remained of him. And from Lachis Josua departed vnto Eglon, and all Israel with him, and they besieged it, and assaulted it, and tooke it the same daye, and smote it with the edge of the swerde, and all the soules that were therein he bitterly destroyed the same daye, ac-cordinge to all that he had done to Lachis. And Josua departed byps from Eglon and all Israel with him, vnto Hebron. And they fought agaynst it, and when they had taken it, they smot it with the edge of the swerde, and the kinge thereof, and all the towne that pertayned to it, and all the soules that were therein, and he left nought remayninge: but did accordinge to all as he had done to Eglon, and destroyed it bitterly, and all the soules that were therein. And Josua returned, and all Israel with him to Dabir, and fought agaynst it. And when he had taken it, and the kinge thereof, and all the towne that pertayned therto, they smote them with the edge of the swerde, and bitterly destroyed all the soules that were therein, neyther let he oughte remaine. Euen as he did to Hebron, so he did to Dabir and the kinge thereof, as he had done also to Libna and her kinge. Josua therefore smote all the hill countreys, and the southe countreys, and the valleys, and the hill sydes, and all they kinges, and let noughte remaine of them, but bitterly destroyed al that breathed, as the Lord God of Israel commaunded.

And Josua smote them from Gader barne vnto Bash, and all the countrey of Golan, eue vnto Sibron. All those kinges and their land did Josua take at one time: because the Lord God of Israel fought for Israel. And Josua and all Israel returned vnto the host that was in Gilgal.

The xi. Chapter.

AND it fortuned, that when Iabin kinge of Hazor had hearde those thinges, he sente to Jobab kinge of Madon, and to the kinge of Simron, and to the kinge of Achlah, and vnto the kinges that are by the north in the mountaynes, and playnes toward the southside of Ene-roth, & in the low contreys, and in the borders of Dor westwarde, and vnto the Cananites both by east and west, & vnto the Amorites, Hethites, Philistites, and Jebusites in the moun-taynes: & vnto the Hittites that were vnder Hermon in the land of Shizpa:

Th. lili.

And

And they came out and at their hostes with them, a multitude of folke, even as the sand that is on the sea shore in a great number with hoxses and cha-rettes exceeding manye. And all these kinges mette together, and came and pitched together, at the waters of Meron, for to fight agaynst Israel. And the Lorde sayd vnto Josua: he not afrayde at the presence of theym: for so mozo we aboute this time will I de-liuer them all slayne befoze Israel: thou shalt hough their hoxses, & burne their charrettes with fire. And so Josua came, and all the men of war with him agaynst them by the waters of Meron, and sodenly fell vppon them.
And the Lorde deliuered theym into the hande of Israel: and they smote them, and chased them vnto great Sidon, and vnto the whote waters, and vnto the valley of Mizpa whiche is Eastward: and smote them vntill they had none remayning of them. And Josua did vnto them, as the Lord bad him: he houghed their hoxses, & burnt their charrettes with fire. And Josua at that tyme turned backe, and tooke Hazor, and smote the Kinge thereof with the sworde. And Hazor befoze tyme was the head of all those kingdoms. And they smote all the soules that were therein with the edge of the swearde, bitterly destroyinge all: and nothinge that breathed was lette re-mayne. And he burnt Hazor with fire.
And all the cities of those kinges, and all the kinges of theym did Josua take, and smote them with the edge of the swearde, and bitterly destroyed them as Moses the seruante of the Lord commaunded. But Israel burnt none of the Cities that stood still in theyr strength, save Hazor onely, that Josua burnt. And all the spoyles of the sayd cities and the cattell, the children of Israel caught vnto the selues.
But the men onely they smote with the edge of the swearde, vntill they had destroyed them, neyther lefte they oughte that had breath. As the Lord commaunded Moses his seruante, so did Moses commaund Josua, and even so did Josua: so that he mini-shed no woerde, of all that the Lorde commaunded Moses. And so Josua tooke all the lande, the hils, and all the south countrey, and all the lande of Gosan, and the lowe countrey, and the playne, and the mountayne of Israel, and the lowe countrey of the same, euen from the mounte of partinge, that goeth vp to Scir vnto the playne of Gad in the valey of Libanon, vnder mounte Hermon. And all the kinges of the same he toke, and smote them.

And slewe them. Josua made warre longe time with those Kinges: neyther was there anye cite that made peace with the childre of Israel, save those Hethites that inhabited Gibe-on: and therefore all other they tooke with battayle, for it came of the Lorde whiche did harden their heartes, that they shoulde come agaynst Israel in battayle, and that they shoulde destroy them bitterly, and slewe them no mercy, but to bring them to noughte. As the Lord commaunded Moyses. And that same season came Josua, and destroyed the Canaites out of the moun-taines: Namely out of Hebron, Debir, Anab, and out of all the mountai-nes of Iuda, and out of all the moun-taines of Israel. And Josua destroyed them bitterly, with their Cities.
There was not one Canaitte lefte in the land of the children of Israel, only in Asah, Geth, and Asdod, ther remayned of them. And Josua toke the hole lande, accordinge to all that the Lorde saide vnto Moyses, and Josua gaue it for a possession vnto Israel, according to their partes and tribes: and the lande rested from warre.

Iosua was olde, and stricken in him, thou arte olde and stricken in yeares, and there remaineth yet exceeding much lande to be possessed. This is the lande that yet remaineth: all the regions of the Phithou in any wise deuide it by lot vnto the Israelites, to inherite, as I hane commaunded thee. Now therefore deuide this lande to inherite, vnto the nine tribes, and the halfe tribe halfe the Rubenites and the Gaddites hane receaued their inheritance, • whiche Moyses gaue them beyonde:

And al the kingdome of Sehon kinge of the Amozites, whiche reigned in Hesbon, whiche Moyses smote with the Lordes of Madian, Eni, Rekem, Zur, and Hur, and Reba, the which were Dukes of Sehon, dwellinge in the countrey. And Balaim also the sonne of Beor the southsayer, did the childzen of Israell slay with the sword, among other of them that were slain,

And the border of the childzen of Ruben was Jordan with the countrey that lyeth thereon. This was the inheritance of the childzen of Ruben, after their kinredes, cities and villages pertayning thereto. And Moyses gaue inheritance vnto the Tribe of Gad, euen vnto the childzen of Gad, & he gaue by their kinredes. And their coastes were Jazer, and all the Cities of Gilead, and halfe the lande of the childzen of Ammon vnto Troer, that lyeth before Rabba. And from Hesbon vnto Ramoth, Mazphah and Betonim: and from Mahanaim vnto the border of Libir. And in the balley they had Betharam, Bethnimra, Moath, and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdome of Sehon king of Hesbon, vnto Jordan & the coastes that lye thereon, euen vnto the edge of the sea of Ceneroth on the other side Jordan eastwarde. This is the inheritance of the childzen of Gad, after their kinredes, their cities and villages. And Moyses gaue inheritance vnto the halfe tribe of Manasses. And this was the possession of the halfe tribe of Manasses by their kinreds. Their coast was from Mahanaim, euen all Basan, and all the kingdome of Og kinge of Basan, and all the townes of Jair whiche lye in Basan, euen these cities, & halfe Gilead, Astaroth, and Edzai, cities of the kingdome of Og in Basan: whiche pertayne vnto the childzen of Machir the soon of Manasses, euen the halfe portion of the childzen of Machir by their kinredes. These are the thinges whiche Moyses did distribute in the fieldes of Moab, on the other syde Jordan, ouer agaynste Jericho eastwarde.  their south coaste was from the brinke of the salt sea, from a rocke that leneth a compasse to Barca. From thence went it alonge to Azmon, and reached vnto the riuer of Egypt, and the ende of that coaste was on the west side.

 And this is their south coaste. The east coaste is the salte sea, euen vnto the edge of Iordan. And their border in the northquarter was from the rocke of the sea, and from the edge of Iorda.
 And the same border went vp to Beth

And vnto Caleb the ſonne of Jephune did Joſua geue a parte amonge the childreſſe of Iuda, accordinge to the mouth of the Lozde, euen Kiriatharbe of the father of Enoch, which Citie is Ebron. And Caleb dyoſe thence the three ſonnes of Ennach, Seſai, and Ahman, and Chalmi, which were the ſonnes of Ennach. And he wente by thence to the inhabitours of Dabir. And the name of Dabir in the olde time was Kiriath Sepher. (That is a citie of letters.) And Caleb ſayde: hee that ſmyteth Kiriath Sephar, and taketh it: to him will I geue Aſah my daughter to wife. And Othniel, the ſonne of Kenes, the brother of Caleb toke it. And he gaue him Aſah his daughter to wyfe. And as he wente in vnto him ſhe moued him to aſke of her father a field. And ſhe alighted of her aſſe. And Caleb ſayde vnto her, what aſketh thee? Who answered: geue me a bleſſinge, for thou haſte geuen me a ſouthe (and drye) lande, geue me alſo ſpringes of water. And he gaue her ſpringes of water, both aboue and beneath. This is the enheritance of the tribe of the children of Iuda, by their kinredes. And the vtmoſt cities of the tribe of the children of Iuda, toward the coaſtes of Edom ſouthwarde, were: Kabzel, Eder and Jagar: Kinnah, Dimonah, and Adada, Kedem, Hazor, and Jethnan: Ziph, Elew, and Baloth, Hazor, Hadathah, Barloth, Heſron (which is Hazor) Eman, Sami, and Moladah: Hazargadah, Heſmon, and Bethpheleth: Hazarſai, Barſabe, and Bazothah, Baalah, Jim and Izen, Eltholad, Cecill, and Hozma, Ziklag, Medemnah and Senſenah, Labaoth, Silhim, Jim, and Rimmon, all the Cities are twentye and nine with their villages. And in the loſwe countrey they hadde Elthael, Jareah, and Aſenah: Jonenah, Enganim, Ephphnah, and Enam: Jarmuth, Iduſam, Socoh, and Azah: Saaram, Adithiam, Gederah and Gederothaim: Fourteene Cities with their villages. Zenam, Habaſah, and Madalgad, Deſam, Mipha, and Jeththeil, Lachis, Bazcah, and Egion: Cabon, Lahamam, and Ethelis, Gaderah, Bethdagon, Maamah, and Mahedah: Sixtene Cities with their villages. Lebnah, Ether, e San Jephthah, Aſnah, and Mezi: Keilah, Kazez, e Mareſah: nine cities with their villages. Thron with her townes e villages. From Thron and fro the weſte, all that lyeth about Iſdod with their villages. Iſdod with her townes and villages. Azah with her townes and villages, euen vnto the river of Egypt and the great ſea was their coaſte. And in the mountaynes, they had Samir, Jathir, and Socoh, Danah, and Kiriath, Senah, which is Dabir: Anab, Ethemoh, e Anim: Gozen, Holon, and Giloh, a leuen Cities with their villages: Erab, Dumah, e Eleam, Jamin, Bethphaphnah e Jophthah: Humatah, and Kiriatharbe: which is Hebron and Jor: nine cities with their villages. ba, two Citties with their villages.

In the wilderness they had Bethara-bah, Meddin, and Hacerath: Neblon, the Citie of Salte, and Engaddi: Sixe Citties with their villages. Neuer-theless, the Jebusites that were the inhabitours of Ierusalem, coulde not the children of Iuda caste out. But the Jebusites dwel with the children of Iuda at Ierusalem vnto this day.

The xli. Chapter.

Ad the lot of the children of Ioseph fell from Iordan by Iericho, vnto the water of Iericho Eastwarde, and to the wil-dernesse that goeth by from Iericho throughout mount Bethell: and goeth out from Bethel to Lus, and runneth alonge vnto the borders of Treimataroth, and goeth downe agayne Westwarde euen to the coaste of Ja-phethi, and vnto the coaste of Bethhozon the neather, and to Galoz, and the endes of their coastes leaue at the weste sea. And so the children of Joseph, Manasse & Ephraim toke their inheritance. And the border of the children of Ephraim was by theyr kinredes. Their border on the Eastsyde was: Baroth, Adoz, euen vnto Bethhozon the hyper, and wente ons Westwarde to Machmathath on the Northsyde, and returneth Eastward vnto Chaanath Silo, and passe it on the Eastsyde vnto Ionoah, and went downe from Ionoah to Atharoth and Paarath, and came to Iericho, and went out at Iordan. And their border went from Chaphuah westward vnto the riuer Kanath, & the endes wer the weste sea. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the childre of Ephraim by their kinredes. And the separate citties for the children of Ephraim, were amonge the inheritance of the children of Manasse: euen the citties with their villages. And they diuide not out the Cananites that dwelle in Galoz; but the Cananites dwell amonge the Ephraites vnto this day, and serue vnder tribute.

The xlii. Chapter.

This was the Lotte of the tribe of Manasse whiche was the • Eldest sonne of Ioseph.

And Machir the eldest sonne of Ma-nasses which was the father of Gilead (and a man of warre) had Gilead and Basan. This is the possession of the rest of the children of Manasses by their kinredes: Namely, of the children of Asiezer: the children of Helek: the children of Triell: the children of Sichem, the children of Hether: the children of Semida: for these were the male childrenne of Manasses, the sonne of Ioseph by their kinredes.

• But Zelaphead the son of Hepher, the sonne of Gilead, the sonne of Ma-chir, the sonne of Manasses hadde no sonnes but daughters, whose names are these: Mathela, Noa, Hagla, Melcha, and Chirza: whiche came before Eleazar the Prieste and before Josua the sonne of Iuan, and before the Lordes, saying: • the Lord commanded Moyse to geue vs an inheritance among our brethren. And therfore according to the commandement of the Lord, he gaue them an inheritance among the brethren of their father. And there fell ten portions to Manasses, besyde the lande of Gilead and Basan, which is on the other side Jordan: because the daughters of Ma-nasses did inherite amonge his soon-nes. And Manasses other sonnes, had the lande of Gilead. And the coaste of Manasses was from Iser of Mach-mathath that lyeth before Sichem & went alonge on the right hande, euen vnto the inhabitours of Entaphuah, and the lande of Chaphuah belongeth to Manasses, whiche Chaphuah is besyde the border of Manasses, and besyde the border of the children of Ephraim. And the coast descended vnto the riuer Canah southwarde, euen to the riuer of the childre of Ephraim, and betwene the cities of Manasses.

The coaste of Manasses wente also on the northsyde to the riuer, and the endes of it go out at the sea: so that the south pertayneth to Ephraim, and the north to Manasses, and the sea is his bozder. And they mette together in Aser northwarde, and in Issachar Eastward. And Manasses had in Issachar and in Aser: Bethsean, & her townes: Tiblean and her townes: and the enhabitours of Doz, with the townes pertayning to the same: and the enhabitours of Endoz, with the townes of the same, and the inhabitours of Chanath with her townes: and the enhabitours of Magedon with the townes of the same, euen thre countreys. Yet the children of Manasses could not ouercome those cities. But the Cananites presumed to dwell in the same land. Wherefore, as soone as the children of Israel were waxed strong, they put the Cananites vnder tribut, but expelled them not. And the children of Joseph spake vnto Iosua saying: Why haste thou geuen me but one lotte and one portion to inherite, seeing I am a great people, and so much as the Lord hath blessed me hitherto: and Iosua answered them: yf thou be much people, then get thee vp to the wood countrey and prepare for thy selfe there in the lande of the Phereites and of the Gyautes, yf mount Ephraim be so narrow for thee. And the children of Joseph sayd: The hill is not ynough for vs: and all the Cananites that dwell in the low countrey haue charrets of yron, and so haue they that enhabite Bethsean, and the townes of the same, and they also that dwell in the valley of Jezreel. And Iosua sayd vnto the house of Joseph, Ephraim and Manasses: ye be much people, and haue great power, and shal not therefore haue one lotte. Therefore the hill shalbe poures, and ye shal cut downe the wood that is in it: and the endes of it shalbe poures, if ye cast out the Cananites which haue yron charrets, and are very stronge.

And the whole congregation of the children of Israel came together at Silo, and sette vp the tabernacle of witnesse there, and the lande was in subiection before them. And there remaineth among the children of Israel seven tribes which hadde not yet receaued their inheritance. And Iosua sayd vnto the children of Israel: howe longe are ye so slacke to come, and possesse the lande which the Lord God of your fathers hath geuen you? Geue out from amonge you for euery tribe thre men, that I may sende them. And that they maye ryle, and walke throughe the lande and distribute it accordinge to the inheritance thereof, and come agayne to me. And let them deuide it vnto them into seven parts. And Judah shall abide in their coaste on the South, and the house of Joseph shall stande in their coastes on the North. Describe ye the lande therefore into seven partes, and bringe the description hither to mee, and I shall caste lottes for you here before the Lord our God. But the Leuites haue no part amonge you, for the priesthode of the Lord is their inheritance. And Gad, and Ruben, and halfe the tribe of Manasses haue receaued their inheritance beyond Jordan eastward, whiche Moses the seruant of the Lord gaue them. And the men arose and went their way. And Iosua charged them that went out to describe the lande, sayinge: depart, and go throughe the lande, and describe it, and come agayne to mee, that I maye here caste lottes for you before the Lord in Silo. And the men departed, and walked througheout the lande, and described it by Cities into seven partes in a booke, and returned to Iosua into the hostes at Silo. And Iosua caste lottes for them in Silo before the Lord, and there Iosua deuyled the lande vnto the children of Israel, to the cheyrtion. And the lotte of the tribe of Benjamin came by accordinge to their kindredes. And the coaste of their lotte came betwene

the children of Iuda and the children of Ioseph. And their north coast was from Jordan, and went vp to the syde of Iericho on the northside, and went by through the mountaynes Westwarde, and they ended at the wilderness of Bethanen: and wente from thence towarde Lus euen to the south syde of Lus (the same is Bethel) and descended agayne to Trochabar, vnto the hill that lyeth on the southsyde of the nerher Bethhoxon. And the coaste turneth thence, and compasseth the corner of the sea southward, cuē from the hill that lyeth befoze Bethhoxon southward, and goeth out at Mariathbaal which is kiriath Jarim a Citie of the childrenne of Iuda: this is the westquarter, and the southcoast goeth from the edge of kiriathiarim, and goeth out westwarde, and thence it turneth to the water wel of Iephthoah, and cometh downe agayne to the edge of the hill, that lyeth befoze the valey of the sonns of Hennon, euen in the valey of the Gians northward, and descended into the valey of Hennon beside Jebusi Southwarde, and goeth downe to the well of Rogell, and compasseth from the North, and goeth south to the well of the sunne, and departeth from thence to the places of Geliloth, which are toward the going by vnto Iodomim: and goeth downe to the stone of Bohan the son of Ruben: and then goeth alonge towarde the syde of the playne northwarde: and goeth downe into the fieldes: and goeth alonge to the syde of Bethhaglah northwarde, and endeth at the poynte of the salte Sea north therfrom, euen at the south end of Jordan. This is the south coast. And Jordan keepeth in this coast on the Eastsyde, and this is the inheritance of the children of Ben Iamin by their coastes round about throughout their kindredes. These were the Cities of the tribes of the children of Ben Iamin throughout their kindredes: Iericho, Bethaglah, and the playne of Haziz, Betharabah, Zama-D tim, and Bethell: Iam, Iharah, and Ophrah: Chephar, Immona, Ophni and Gabat, twelue cities with their villages. Gibeon, Ramah, & Beroth, Hazphah, Caphairah, and Mozah, Keki, Iarephel, and Charelah, Zela, Eleph, and Jebusi, which is Ierusalem, Gibeath and kiriath. xiiii. Cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the children of Ben Iamin throughout their kindredes.

The. xix. Chapter.

And the second lot came out for the tribe of the children of Simeon by their kindredes. And their inheritance was in the middes of the inheritance of the childre of Iuda. And they had in their inheritance, Bersabe, Hobe, and Moladah, Hazor, Iual, Balah & Izen, Etholad, Bethad & Hozmah, Ziklag, Cethmarcaboth & Hazefusah, Bethlebaath & Sarahē, xij. Cities with their villages. Iim, Remon, Gether, and Isan, foure cities with their villages: & therto al the villages that were round about these cities euen vnto Balaath, Bezor, & Ramoth southwarde, this is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Simeon throughout their kindredes. Out of the lot of the children of Iuda came the inheritance of the children of Simeon. For the part of the children of Iuda was to muche for them: and therfore the children of Simeon had their enheritance in the inheritance of them. And the third lot arose for the childre of zabulon throughout their kindredes. And the coastes of their enheritance came to Sarid, & wente by west ward, & to Martalah, and reached to Dabaseh, and came thence to the river that lyeth befoze Iohnanem: and turned from Sarid eastward toward the sun rising vnto the border of Chisloth Chaboz: and then goeth out to Dabereh, & goth by to Iaphiaz: & from thence goeth a long eastward, to Gethah, Iepher, Itah and Iazin, and goeth to Remon, Methoar, and Meoh. And compasseth it on the north side to Iathan, & endeth in the valey of Iephthahell. And Iatath Nabaiol, Hemron, Jedalah, & Bethlehem:

twelve cities with their villages.

This is the inheritance of the children of Zabulon throughout their kindredes, and these are the cities with their villages. And the fourth lotte came out for the children of Issachar by their kindredes. And their coaste was Issachar, Casuloth, and Sunem, Hapharaim, Sion, and Naba-rath, Harabith, Kition, and Abey: Rameth, Enganim, Enhadab, and Beth phazez. And his coaste reacheth to Chabor, and Sahazimah and Beth-

Cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the Tribe of the children of Issachar, by their kindreds. And these are the cities with their villages. And the fift lot came out for the tribe of the children of Aser by their kindredes. And their coast was: Heikath, Hali, Beten and Ichlap: Blamelech, Ammaad and Misael: & came to Carmel westwarde, and to Sihor, Labanath, and turneth towarde the sunne rising to Bethdagon, and cometh to Zabulon, and to the valley of Jephthabel, towarde the northside of Bethemek and Megel, and goeth out on the lefte side of Cabul: and to Hebron, Kohob, Ramon, and Kanah, even unto great Sidon. And then the coaste turneth to Ramah, and to the stronge Citie of Joz, and turneth to Hozah, and endeth at the sea, by possession of Achzibah: Imah also and Typhak and Kohob: Twentie and two cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the children of Aser by their kindredes: These are the Cities with their villages. And the sixte lotte came out for the children of Jephthali by their kindredes.

And their coast was from Heleph and from Elom to Jaenaim, Adami, Helek and Jabneel, even to Lakum, and doth go out at Jordan. And then the coast turneth westwarde to Alanoth, Chabor, and then goeth out from thence to Hukokah, and reacheth to Zabulon on the southside, and goeth to Aser on the westside, and to Juda upon Jordan towarde the Sunne risinge. And their strong cities are Jiddin, zer, Hamath, Kacath & Cenereth, Damah, Hermath, and Hajor, Kedesh, Edjai, and Enholoz: Jeron, Hagdesel, Hozem, Bethnah, and Bethsames: nineteene cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Jephthali by their kindredes: these also are the cities and led the children their villages. And the seventh lotte came out for the tribe of the children of Dan, by their kindredes. And the coast of their inheritance was: Zarah, Elthaoli, Jrsames, Harabin, Aialon, Jethlah, Egion and Chénathath, and Sharon: Elshekeh, Gibethon, and Baalath: Jehud Bamebarak and Gethermon, Meiericon and Marcon, with the border that lieth before Japho. And the coaste of the children of Dan went out from them. And the children of Dan wente by to fight agaynst Aken, and tooke it, & smote it with the edge of the sword and conquered it, and dwelte therein, and called it, Dan, after the name of Dan their father. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Dan, in their kindredes: these also are the Cities with their villages. When they had made an ende of deviding the lande by her coastes, the children of Israell gave an inheritance unto Josua the sonne of Nun among them, accordinge to the woide of the Lord, they gave him the citie which he asked, even Channath Serah in mounte Ephraim. And he builde the Citie and dwelt therein. These are the inheritances whiche Eleazar the Priest, and Josua the son of Nun and the ancient fathers of the tribes of the children of Israell demyded by lotte in Siloh before the Lord, in the doze of the Tabernacle of witnesse, and so they made an ende of deviding the countrey.

Chap. xx. Chapter.

The Lord also spake unto Josua sayinge: speake to the children of Israell, and saye: Appoynte oute from amonge you Citie of refuge, whereof I spake unto you by the hande of Moses, that the fear that killeth any person by sword and unwittingly, may flee thither. And those cities shalbe your refuge from the auenger of blood. And he that doth flee vnto one of those cities, shall stande at the entring of the gate of the cite, and shall shewe his cause in the eares of the elders of the Citty. And they shall take him into the citie vnto them, and geue him a

B place, that he may dwell among them. And if the auenger of blood follow after him, they shall not deliuer the fear into his hande: because he smote his frende ignozauntly, and hated him not before time. And he shall dwell in the said citie vntill he stand before the congregation in iudgement, and vntill the death of the hye Priest that shall be in those dayes: for then shal the fear returne, and come vnto his own citie, and vnto his owne house, and vnto the citie from whence he fledde.

Num. 15

C And they sanctified Kedesh in Galile in mount Nephthali, and Sichem in mounte Ephraim, and Kiriath arbe, (which is Hebron) in the mountayne of Iuda. And on the other syde Iordan, ouer against Jericho eastwarde, they appointed Bosor in the wilderness vpon the playne, out of the tribe of Ruben: and Ramoth in Gilead oute of the tribe of Gad: and Golan in Basan oute of the Tribe of Manasse. These were the Cities appointed for all the chyldren of Israel, and for the straunger that sojourned among them, & whosoener killed any person ignozauntly, & same might flee thither, & should not die by the hand of the auenger of blood, vntill he stood before the congregation to declare his cause.

D in Basan oute of the Tribe of Manasse. These were the Cities appointed for all the chyldren of Israel, and for the straunger that sojourned among them, & whosoener killed any person ignozauntly, & same might flee thither, & should not die by the hand of the auenger of blood, vntill he stood before the congregation to declare his cause.

A And then came the principall fathers of the Leuites vnto Eleazar the Priest, and vnto Iosua, the sonne of Nun, and vnto the auuncient fathers, that were ouer the tribes of the chyldren of Israel, and spake vnto them at Silo in the lande of Canaan, saying: The Lord comanded by Moses, to geue vs cities to dwell in, with the suburbs thereof, for our cattel. And & chyldre of Israel gaue vnto & Leuites, out of their enhewance at the bidding of the Lord these cities following with their suburbs. And the lot cam out for the kinred of the Kahathites: and the chyldren of Aaron the priest, which were of the Leuites, had geuen them by lot, out of the tribe of Iuda, out of & tribe of Simeon, & out of the tribe of Benjamin: thirtene cities. And the rest of the chyldren of Kahath had by lot out of the kinreds of the tribe of Ephraim out of the tribe of Dan, and out of the halfe tribe of Manasse, ten cities. And the chyldre of Gerson had by lot out of the kinreds of the tribe of Issachar, and out of the tribe of Aser, out of the tribe of Nephthali: & out of the other halfe tribe of Manasse in Basan: thirtene cities. And the chyldre of Merari by their kinredes had out of the tribe of Ruben, & out of the tribe of Gad, & out of the tribe of Zabulon twelue cities. And the chyldren of Israel gaue by lot vnto & Leuites, these cities with their suburbs, as & Lord comanded by Moses. And they gaue out of the tribe of the chyldren of Iuda, & out of & tribe of the chyldre of Simeon, these cities by name, which the chyldre of Aaron, being of the kinredes of the Kahathites, and of the chyldren of Levi, obtained: for theirs was the first lot. And they gaue them Kiriath Arbe of & father of Enack (which is Hebron) in the hill countrey of Iuda, with the suburbs of the same roūd about it. But the land that pertayned to the citie, and the villages thereof, gaue they to Caleb the sonne of Iephune to be his possession. And thus they gaue to the chyldren of Aaron the priest a citie, to the whiche the slayer might flee, euen Hebron with her suburbs. Libna with her suburbs, and Jathir with her suburbs, and Estimoa with her suburbs, Holon with her suburbs: Dabir with her suburbs, Tim with her suburbs, Jutah with her suburbs, Bethlames with her suburbs, nine Cities oute of those

those

those two tribes. And out of the tribe of Benjamin, they gaue Gibeon with her suburbs: Gaba with her suburbs: CAnaoth with her suburbs, Al-man with her suburbs, foure cities. All these cities of the childzen of Aaron priestes, wer thirteene cities with their suburbs. And the kindreds of the childzen of Cahah that were Leuites: that is to say, the other childzen of Cahah had Cities geuen them for their lot, out of the tribe of Ephraim. For they gaue them the cite that the scar might fly vnto: Sichem with her suburbs, in mount Ephraim: and Gazer with her suburbs, and Rabzaim with her suburbs, & Bethoron with her suburbs. iiii. Cities. And out of the tribe of Dan: Sitheke with her suburbs: Sibthou with her suburbs, and Aialon with her suburbs, Gathremou with her suburbs four cities. And out of the half tribe of Manasses, Chanach with her suburbs, and Gathremou with her suburbs: two cities. All the cities for the other kindreds of the childzen of Cahah, were ten with their suburbs. And vnto the childzen of Gerson which were the kindreds of the Leuites, they gaue out of the other half tribe of Manasses, the cite of refuge for the scar: Golan in Basan with her suburbs, and Becherah with her suburbs, two cities. And out of the tribe of Issachar Kisson with her suburbs: and Daberah with her suburbs, and Farimoth with her suburbs: Enganim with her suburbs: foure cities. And out of the tribe of Aser, Misael with her suburbs, Abdon with her suburbs, Balakath with her suburbs: and Hohob with her suburbs: foure cities. And out of the tribe of Iosephthal, the cite for the scar to flee vnto: Kedesh in Galile with her suburbs: Maniothder with her suburbs: and Carthan with her suburbs: three cities. All the cities of the Gersonites throughout their kindreds, were thirteene cities with their suburbs. And vnto the other kindreds of the childzen of Merari, the rest of the Leuites they gaue out of the tribe of Zabud: Tecnan with her suburbs, and Carthah with her suburbs, Damna with her suburbs, and Nahal with her suburbs, foure Cities. And out of the tribe of Ruben, Bezor with her suburbs, and Jachian with her suburbs, Kedmorthe with her suburbs, and Maphaath with her suburbs, foure Cities. And out of the Tribe of Gad, they gaue the Cite for the scar to flee vnto, Ramoth in Gilead with her suburbs, and Mahanaim with her suburbs, Hefbon with her suburbs, and Jaser with her suburbs, foure Cities in all, so that all the Cities of the childzenne of Merari throughout their kindreds (whiche were the rest of their kindreds of the Leuites) were by their lot twelue Cities. And all the Cities that the Leuites hadde amonge the possession of the childzen of Israel were. xliij. with their suburbs. And the Cities laye euery one seuerallie, beueringe their suburbs rounde about them throughout all the sayde Cities. And the Lord gaue vnto Israel all the lande whiche he swore to gene vnto their fathers. And they conquered it, and dwelt therein. And the Lord gaue them rest rounde about, accordinge to all that he swore vnto their fathers, and there stood not a manne of al their enemies before them. The Lord also deliuered all their enemies into their handes. • Then escaped nothinge of all the good thinges, which the Lord had sayd vnto the house of Israel. But all cam to passe.

The .xxij. Chapter.

Then Josua called vnto the Beninites, the Gaddites, and to the halfe Tribe of Manasses. and sayde vnto them: • ye haue kept all that Moyses the seruante of the Lord commaunded you, and haue obeyed my voyce in all that I commaunded you: ye haue not lette your brethren of a longe season vnto this daye, but haue kept the commaundment of the Lord your God. nowe that the Lord hath gotten rest vnto your brethren as he hath promised them, therefore retourne ye and go vnto your tentes, and vnto the land of your possession, whiche Moyses the seruant of the Lord gaue you on the other side Jordan. But in anye wise take diligent hede, and do the commaundementes and lawe, whiche Moyses the seruant of the Lord charged you, that ye loue the Lord your God, and walke in all his wayes, and keepe his commaundementes, and cleaue vnto him, and serue him with all your heartes and all your soules.
 And so Josua blessed them, and sente them awaye. And they wente vnto their tentes. Vnto the one, halfe the tribe of Manasses. Moyses gaue possession in Basan, and vnto the other halfe thereof gaue Josua among their brethren on this side Jordane westward. And Josua sente them awaye also vnto their tentes and blessed them and sayde vnto them: retourne with muche riches vnto your tentes, and with a great multitude of cattel, with siluer and golde, with brasse, and y-ron, and with muche raymentes, and deuide the spoyle of your enemies with your brethren. And the children of Ruben, and the childrenne of Gad, and halfe the Tribe of Manasses, returned and departed from the children of Israel out of Silo (which is in the lande of Canaan) to go vnto the country of Gilead to the land of their possession, whiche they had obtained, accordyng to the wyorde of the Lord by the hande of Moyses. And when they came vnto the place of Geliloth, beside Jordan (that is in the land of Canaan) there the children of Ruben, the children of Gad, and the halfe tribe of Manasses builde an aul-tar fast by Jordan, and that a great aul-tar to see to. Which when the children of Israel heard of, they said: Behold the children of Ruben, the children of Gad, and the halfe Tribe of Manasses, haue builde an altar in the forefronte of the lande of Canaan, euen when the children of Israel hearde of it, the whole congregation of the children of Israel gathered them together to Silo, to make battayle a-gaynst them. And the children of Israel sent vnto the children of Ruben, and to the children of Gad, and to the halfe tribe of Manasses into the land of Gilead, Phinehes the son of Eleazar the Priest, and with him tenne Lozdes, of euery chiefe house a Lozde, throughout all the tribes of Israel, whiche were heades of their fathern householdes among the thousandes of Israel. And they went vnto the children of Ruben, and to the children of Gad, and to the children of the halfe tribe of Manasses, vnto the lande of Gilead, and they spake vnto them, saying: Thus say the whole congregation of the Lord, what transgression is this, that yee haue transgressed agaynst the Lord of Israell, to tourne awaye this daye from the Lord, in that ye haue builded you an altare for to rebell this daye a-gaynst the Lord? Is the wicked dede of Deor to litle for vs, whereof we are not yet cleansed vnto this daye, and for the whiche there was in the congregation of the people a plague of the Lord? Yee also are turned awaye this daye from the Lord. And seeinge ye rebell to daye agaynst the Lord, it will come to passe, that to morowe he shall bre that he was but one man, yet he alone perished not for his wickednesse. Then the children of Ruben and the children of Gad, and halfe the tribe of Manasses answered, and sayde vnto the heades ouer the thousandes of Israel: the God of Gods, the Lord God of Gods, euen the Lord God he knoweth, and also shall Israel knowe. If it be to rebell or to transgresse agaynst the Lord, then thou Lord saue vs not this day. Or els yf we haue built vs an altar to turne from following the Lord, or to offer thereon burnt offering or meat offering, or to offer peace offerings thereon: let the Lord require it, (and iudge.) And yf wee haue not rather doone it of a carefulesnes and of a sure occasion sayinge: In time to come your children might say vnto ours: what haue ye to do with the Lord God of Israel? the Lord hath made Jordan a bozder betwene vs and you, ye children of Ruben, and of Gad, ye haue no part thereof in the Lord: and so shall poure children make our children cease from fearing the Lord. betwene vs and you, and our generations after vs, that we shoulde serue the Lord, with our offerings, sacrifices and peace offerings befoze him: and that your children should not saye to oures in time to come: ye haue no part in the Lord. Therefore sayd we, that if they should so saye to vs or to our generations in time to come, that we would say agayne: Beholde the fashion of the altare of the Lord, which our fathers made, neyther for burnt offerings nor sacrifices, but for a witnes betwene vs and you. God forbid that we shoulde rebell agaynst the Lord, and turne this day from after him, and builde any other altare for burnt offerings, oblations, or sacrifices, saue the altare of the Lord oure God, that is befoze his tabernacle. And when Phinehes the Priest, and the Lordes of the congregation, and heads ouer the thousandes of Israel which were with him, hearde these wordes that the children of Ruben, and the children of Gad and the children of Manasses spake, they were well content. And Phinehes the son of Eleazar the Priest sayde vnto the children of Ruben and to the children of Gad and the children of Manasses: this day we perceaue, that the Lord is amonge vs, because ye haue not done this trespass agaynst the Lord. Howe ye haue ridde the children of Israel out of the hande of the Lord. And Phinehes the sonne of Eleazar the Priest with the Lordes, returned from the children of Ruben, and from the childrene of Gad out of the lande of Gilead vnto the land of Canaan, to the childrene of Israel, and brought them this woorde agayne. And the sayinge pleased the children of Israel, and they blessed God, and did not intende to go agaynst theym in battayle, and to destroye the lande whiche the childrene of Ruben and Gad dwelte in. And the children of Ruben and the children of Gad called the altare: Our witnes, that the Lord is God.

And it came to passe a long season after that the Lord had given rest vnto Israel from all their enemies round about, that Josua waxed olde, and was stricken in age. And Josua called for all Israel and for their elders, their heads, their iudges and officers, and sayde vnto theym: I am olde and stricken in age. If ye forsake the Lord, and serue strange Goddes, he will turne and doo you euill, and consume you, after that he hath done you good: And the people sayde vnto Josua, naye, but we will serue the Lord. Then put alwayes (sayde hee) the strange Goddes whiche are amonge you, and booke your heartes vnto the Lord God of Israell. The people sayde vnto Josua, the Lord oure God will we serue, and his voyce will we obeye. And soo Josua made a conenante with the people the same daye, and sette an ordeynance and lawe before them in Sichem. And Josua wrote these wordes in the booke of the lawe of God, and tooke a greete stone, and pitched it on ende in the sayde place, euen vnder an Oke that was in the sanctuarie of the Lord. And Josua sayde vnto all the people: Beholde, this stone shall be a witnesse vnto vs, for it hath hearde all the wordes of the Lord whiche he spake with vs. It shalbe therefore a witnesse vnto you, leaste ye denye (and dissemble with) your God. And so Josua lette the people departe, euery manne vnto his inheritance. And after these thinges it came to passe, that Josua the sonne of Nun, the seruante of the Lord dyed, beinge an hundred and ten yeares olde. And they buryed him in the countrey of his inheritance, euen in Bethnath Shureh, whiche is in mount Ephraim, on the north side of the hill of Gaas. And Israell serued the Lord all the dayes of Josua, and all the dayes of the elders that ouerliued Josua, & whiche had knowen all the woorkes of the Lord that he hadde done for Israell. The first Chapter.

After the deathe of Josua it cam to passe, that the childzen of Israel asked the Lord saying: who shal goo vp for vs agaynste the Cananites, and who shall firste fight agaynste them. And the Lord sayde: Juda shall goe vp, • beholde I haue deliuered the lande into his hands. And Juda sayde vnto Simeon his brother: come vp with me in my lotte, that we may fight agaynste the Cananites: And I likewise wil go with thee into thy lot. And soo Simeon wente with him. And Juda went vp, and the Lord deliuered the Cananites and Pherezytes into their handes. And they slewe of theym in Bezek tenne thousande menne. And they founde Adonibezek in Bezek. And they fought agaynste him, and slewe the Cananites and Pherezytes. But Adonibezek fledde and they folowed after him, & caught him, and cut of his thombes, and his great toes. And Adonibezek sayde: These scoye and tenne kinges hauing their thombes and greates cut off, gathered their meat vnder my table: as I haue done, so God hath doone to me agayne. And they brought him to Ierusalem, and there he dyed. The childzen of Juda fought agaynste Ierusalem, and tooke it, • and smote it with the edge of the swearde, and set the Citie on fire. Afterward, the childzen of Juda went to fight agaynste the Cananites, that dwelte in the mountayne, and toward the southe, and in the lowe countrey. And Juda wente agaynste the Cananites that dwelt in Hebron, which befoze time was called Kariath Arbe. And slewe Sclai, Shinan, and Chalmat. And from thence they went to the inhabitants of Dabir, whose name in olde time was called Kariathsepher (that is a Citie of Letters.) And Caleb sayde: • He that smiteth Kariathsepher, and takerh it, to him will I geue Asah my daughter to wife.

And Othoniel the son of Kenes Caleb songer brother toke it: to whom he gaue Asah his daughter to wife: & as they went, her hus band counseled her to aske of her father a field. And the she lighted of her asse: and Caleb said vnto her: what ayleth thee? She answered vnto him: geue me a blessing for thou hast geuen me a Southward (or dyce) lande, geue me also springes of water. And Caleb gaue her springes both aboue and beneath. And the childzen of the Kenite, Moyses sather in lawe went vp • out of the citie of • palme trees with the childzen of Juda into the wilderness of Iuda, that lyeth in the south of Irad, and they went and dwelt among the people. And Juda wente with Simeon his brother, and they slewe the Cananites that enhabited Sephath, & vterly destroyed it, • and called the name of the city Hozma. And at the last Iuda toke Iysh with the costes therof, and Ishalon with the costes therof, & Akaron with the costes therof, and the Lord was with Iuda, and he conquered the moystains, but could not driue out the enhabiters of the valeys, because they had charettes of yron.  the inhabitors of Bethsames, and contente to dwell in mounte Heres,

 And the hande of Joseph preuailed so that they became tributaries: and the coast of the Amorites was from Chap. ij. Chapter.

And the anngell of the Lorde came by from Gilgal to Bechim, and sayde: I made you to go out of Egypt, and haue brought you vnto the lande, whiche I sware vnto your fathers. • And I sayde: I will not breake mine appoyntment that I made with you. And yee also shall make noo conuenaunt with the inhabitors of this lande, but shall breake downe their altaires. Neverthelesse, ye haue not hearkened vnto my voyce, why haue ye this done? wherefore I haue likewise determined, that I will not caste them out before you: but they shall be thorn-es vnto you, and they goddes shall bee a snare vnto you. And when the Angell of the Lorde spake these wordes vnto all the childzen of Israel, the people cryed oute, and wepte.
 And called the name of the sayd place • Borchim, and offered sacrifices vnto the Lorde. And whenne Josua hadde sente the people awayne, the childzen of Israel went euery man into his inheritance to possesse the lande. And the people serued the LORD all the dayes of Josua, and all the dayes of the elders, that oute liued Josua, and had serued the great woorkes of the Lorde that he didde for Israel: and Josua the sonne of Nun the seruante of the Lorde dyed. • When he was an died and tenne yeares olde: whome they buried in the coastes of his inheritance: euen in Chamnath haues in mount Ephraim on the north side of the hill Gaas. And euen so all that generation were putte vnto their fathers, and there arose another generation after the, which neither knewe the Lord, nor yet the woorkes whiche he had done for Israel. And when the children of Israel did wickedly in the sighte of the Lord, and serued Baalim, and forsooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the lande of Egypt, and folowed straunge gods, euen of the Goddesses of the nations that were rounde aboute them, and bowed them selues vnto them, and angered the Lord. They forsooke the Lord, and serued Baal and Ashtaroth, and the wraethe of the Lord was red whotte agaynst Israel, and he deliuered them into the handes of raueners, that spoiled them, and solde them into the handes of their enemies rounde aboute them, soo that they had no power any longer to stand before their enemies. But whither soeuer they wente oute, the hande of the Lord was agaynst them with euill lucke, euen as the Lord promised them, and as he sware vnto them: And he punished them soe. Neuerthelesse, the Lord raised by Judges whiche deliuered them oute of the handes of their oppressours: and yet for all that they would not hearken vnto their Judges: But rather went a whooping after straunge gods, and bowed them selues vnto them, and tourned quickly oute of the waye, whiche their fathers walked in, obeying the commandementes of the Lord: But they didde not so. And when the Lord raised them by Judges, he was with the Judge, and deliuered them out of the handes of their enemies all the dayes of the Judge, for the Lord had compassion ouer their sowowings, whiche they had, by the reason of them that oppressed them, and vexed them: yet for all that: as soone as the Judge was dead, they turned, and did worse thanne they: fathers, in folowinge strange gods, and in seruing them, and ceased not from their own inuentions nor from their malicious waye. And the wraethe of the Lord was moued agaynst Israel, and he sayd: Because this people hath transgressed myne appoyntment, which I commanded their fathers, and haue not hearkened vnto my voyce, I will henceforth not caste out before them one man of the nations, which Iosua left when he dyed, that throught them I maye proue Israel, whether they will kepe the way of the Lord, and walke therein, as their fathers didde or not. And so the Lord left those nations, & dyone the not out immediatly, neither deliuered them into the hand of Iosua.

The. iij. Chapter.

These are the nations which the Lord left, that he might proue Israel by them: euen as many of Israel as had not knowen all the warres of Canaan: Only for the learning of the generation of the children of Israel: that he also mighte teache them warre, in asmuch as they that were before them, knew nothing thereof. Of those whom he left, there were fise lordes of the Philistines, and all the Cananites, and the Sodomites, and the Henites that dwelte in mount Libanon: euen from mount Baal Hermon vnto Hemath. Those remayned to proue Israel by, and to wete, whether they would hearken vnto the Commandementes of the Lord, whiche he commanded they: fathers by the hande of Moyles. And the children of Israel dwelte amonge the Cananites, Hethites, Amorites, Phereites, Henites, and Jebusites, & tooke the daughters of the to be their wiues, and gaue they: own daughters to their sons, & serued their goddesses. And the children of Israel didde wickedly in the sighte of the Lord, and forgaue the Lord their God, and serued Baalim and Ashtaroth. Therefore the Lord was angry

And when the children of Israhell cried vnto the Lord, the Lord stirred by a sauer, to the children of Israhell, and saued them: one Othoniell the sonne of Kenes, Caleb's yonger brother. And the spiritte of the Lord came vpon him. And he iudged Israhell: and wente oute to warre. And the Lord deliuered Chusan Rishathaim kynge of Mesopotamia into his hande, and his hand preuailed agaynst Chusan Rishathaim.

Par. 17 And the lande had rest forty yeres, and Othoniell, the sonne of Kenes dyed. And the children of Israhell

Went to agayne, and committed wickednes in the sight of the Lord. And the Lord strengthened Eglon the king of the Moabites, agaynst the children of Israhell, because they had committed wickednes befoze the Lord. And this Eglon gathered vnto him the children of Ammon, and the Amalekites, and went and smote Israhell, and conquered the citie of Paulme trees. And so the children of Israhell serued Eglon the king of Moab. xliii. yeres. But whenne they cryed vnto the Lord, the Lord stirred them by a sauer, Thud the sonne of Gerah, the son of Gemini, a man that could do nothinge handsomelye with his right hande. And by him the children of Israhell sente a presente vnto Eglon the king of Moab: but Thud made him a dagger with two edges of a cubite length, and he hyd gird it vnto his rayment vpon his righte thighe, and caried the presente vnto Eglon the king of Moab. And Eglon was a very fat man. And it fortuned that when he had presented the present, he sent the people that bare it away, but he him selfe tourned agayne (from the place of grauen pimages, that was by Gilgall) and sayde: I haue a secreete errande vnto thee, O king. which sayde: Kepe sylvence. And all that stood befoze him, went out from him. And Thud came vnto him, in a summer parlour which he had, late he him selfe alone, and Thud sayde: I haue a message to thee from God. And he arose oute of his seate. And Thud put forth his left hande, and toke the dagger from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly, and the harte wente in after the blade. And the fatte closed the harte, so that he mighte not drawe the dagger out of his bellye, but the dirte came out. Thud gate him out at a posterne doore, and shut the doores of the parlour about him, and locked them. When he was gone out, his seruants came, & when they sawe the doores of the parlour wer locked, they sayde: peradventure he couereth his fete in his summer chamber. And they taried till they were ashamed, and beheld: seeing he opened not the doores of the parlour, they toke a key, & opened them. And beholde, they: the Lord was fallen downe deade on the earth. And Thud escaped (while they taried) and was gone beyond, to the place of the graue pimages, and escaped into Seirath. And when he was come, he blew a trumpet in mount Ephraim. And the children of Israhell went downe with him from the hill, and he went befoze them. And he said vnto them. Follow me: for the Lord hath deliuered your enemies the Moabites into your hand. And they descended after him, and tooke the passages of Jordan, towarde Moab, and suffered not a man to passe ouer. And they slew of the Moabites the same time, vpon a tenne thousande men whiche were all fatte, and menne of warre, and there shapd not a man. So Moab was subdewed that daye, vnder the hande of Israhell: and the lande had rest foure score yeres. After him was Samgar, the sonne of Nath, whiche slew of the Philistins. vi. hundred men with an Ox goade, and deliuered Israhell also.

The. liij. Chapter.

And the children of Israel began agayne to doo wickedlye in the sight of the LORD, when Abud was dead. And the Lord, sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, that reigned in Hazor, whose captayne of warre was called Sisara, whiche dwelte in Haroseth of the Gentiles. And the children of Israel cryed unto the Lord: for he had nine hundred charrettes of yron, and twentye yeares he troubled the children of Israel verie soze. And Deboza a Prophetesse, the wife of Lapidoth, Judged Israel the same time, and the same Deboza dwelt vnder a panyne tree betweene Ramoth and Bethel, in mount Ephraim. And the children of Israel came vp to her for iudgement. And she sent & called

Jud. 5. b. Barak the sonne of Abinoam, oute of Kedesh Nephtholim, and sayd vnto him: Hath not the Lord God of Israel commaunded thee, to leade with saye wordes mento mount Chabor, and take th. x. thousand men, of the children of Nephtholim, & of the children of Zabulon? And I will bring vnto thee, to the river Kison, Sisara, the captaine of warre vnto Jabin, with his charrettes, and his people, and will deliuer him into thine handes. And Barak sayd vnto her: If thou wilt go with me, I will goe. But and yf thou wilt not come with me, I will not goe: She sayde, I will surely go with thee, but this iourney that thou takest, shall not be for thine honor, for the Lord shall sell Sisara into the hand of a woman. Deboza went with Barak to Kedesh. And Barak called Zabulon and Nephthali. in to Kedesh, and led after him tenne thousand men: and Deboza went vp with him. But Haber the Kenite, which was of the children of Hobab the father in lawe of Moyses, remoued from the other Kenites, and pitched his tent vntill the playne of Zaanaim, which is by Kedesh. And they shewed Sisara, that Barak, the sonne of Abinoam, was gone vnto Mount Chabor.

And Sisara gathered together all his Charettes, euen nine hundred charrettes of yron, and all the people that were with him from of Haroseth of the Gentiles, vnto the river Kison. And Deboza sayde vnto Barak: Up, for this is the day, in which the LORD hath deliuered Sisara into thine hande: Is not the Lord gone out before thee? And so Barak went downe from mount Chabor, and tenne thousande menne after him. But the LORD destroyed Sisara, and all his charrettes, and all his hoste with the edge of the swearde, before Barack: so that Sisara lighted downe of his charette, and fledde awaye on his fete. But Barak folowed after the charrettes, and after the hooles, euen vnto Haroseth of the Gentiles.

And all the hoste of Sisara fell vpon the edge of the sweard, and there was not a manne left. Howe be it Sisara fledde awaye on his fete, to the tente of Jaell, the wife of Haber the Kenite: for there was peace betweene Jabin the kinge of Hazor, and the householde of Haber the Kenite. And Jaell wente out to meete Sisara, and sayde vnto him: Courne in my Lord, turne into me, feare not. And when he hadde courned in vnto her, into her tente, she couered him with a mantell. And he sayde vnto her: Geue me a litle water to drinke, for I am thirstie. And she opened a bottle of milke, and gaue him drinke, and couered him. And again he said vnto her: Stande in the dooze of the tente, and when any manne doeth comen to enquire of thee, whether there be any man here, thou shalt saye, Naye. Then Jaell Habers wife tooke a nayle of the Tente, and an hammer in her hande, and wente softly vnto him, and smote the nayle into the Temple of his heade, and fastened it into the ground, for he slumbered sooze, and was werpe: And soo he dyed. And beholde, as Barack folowed after Sisara, Jaell came out to mete him, and sayd vnto him: Come and I will shewe thee the man, whom thou seekest. And when he came into her tent: Beholde, Hilara laye deade, and the mayles was in his temples. And soo God brought Iabem the king of Canaan into subiection that daye befoze the children of Israel. And the hand of the children of Israel prospered, and prevailed against Iabin the king of Canaan, vntill they had broughte him to nought.

Then Deboza and Barack the sonne of Abinoam sang the same day saying: Praise ye the Lord for the auenging of Israel, and for the people that became soo willing. Hear, O ye kinges, hearken O ye princes: I euen I will sing vnto the Lord, I will prayse the Lord God of Israel. Lord when thou wentest oute of Seir, when thou departedst out of the field of Edom, the earth trembled, and the heuens rayned: the cloudes also dropped water. The mountaynes melted befoze the Lord, euen as did Sinai, befoze the Lord God of Israel. In the days of Shamgar the sonne of Anath, in the days of Jaell the hye wayes were vnoccupied: And the runners of the pathes walked throught by wayes. The inhabitants of the townes were gone, they were gone in Israel, vntill Deboza came by, which cam by a mother in Israel. They chose newe goddesses, and then had they (the enemye) in the gates, though there wer shield & speare. There was not a shield or speare sene among fortie thousand of Israel. My hart loueth the gouerners of Israel, and them that are willing among the people. O praise ye the Lord. Speke ye that ride on faire asses, and that sit vppermost in iudgement, and walke by the wayes. At the crying of the archers among the drawres of water, there shall they speake of the righteousness of the Lord, his righteousness in the fenced places of Israel: then shall the people of the Lord go downe to the gates. Up Deboza by, get thee by, and singe a songe: O rise Barac, and leade the captiuitie captiue, thou sonne of Abinoam. Then shall they that remayne, haue dominion of the proudest of the people of (Iabin:) The Lord shall for my sake haue dominion ouer the mightie. Oute of Ephraim was there a roote of them against Sisilech, and after thee Beniamin among the people. Out of Machir came rulers, and out of Zabulon they that gouerne the pen of the suter. And of Issachar, there were princes with Deboza, Issachar also & Barac were sent on their feete into the bailey, when in the departing awaye of Ruben there were great men, & wise of heart. Why abodest thou among shepe foldes, to heare the bleatings of the flockes, and to separate thy self awaye with great men, and wise of heart. Gilead also abode beyond Jordan: and why doeth Dan remayne in ships: Isser continued on the sea shore and taried in his decayed places. But the people of Zabulon haue leoparde their liues euen vnto the death, lyke as did Repphathim in the hye places of the field. The kinges came and fought, then fought the kinges of Canaan in Channath, by the waters of Megiddo, and wan no money. They fought from heauen, euen the stars in their courses fought against Sisera. The riner of Eison remoued the, that auncient riuier, the riuier Eison: My soule shall treade (him) downe mightily. Then wer the hoise hooft smitten a sunder, by the means of the pzaunsinges that their mightie made. Curse ye the Citie of Merod, (sayd the aungell of the Lord) curse the inhabitants thereof, because they came not to helpe the Lord, to helpe the Lord with the mighty. Ioel the wife of Haber, the Kenite, shall be blessed aboue other womenne, blessed shal she be aboue other women in the tent. He bowed him downe at her fete, he fell downe, and laye still: At her fete he bowed him downe, and fell. And when he hadde sonke down he lay still desolate. The mother of Sisera looked out at a win- dowe, and cried through the lattise: Why is his charet so long a coming? Why tary the wheles of his chariot? All the wise ladies answered her: yee and her owne woordes answered her selfe. Surely they haue founde, they beaide the spoiles: enery man hath a damsell or two: Sisera hath a praye of diuers colourd garments, euen a pray of raiment dyed with sondry colours, & that are made of nedle worke: raiment of diuers colozs, and of nedle worke which is mete for him that is chiefe in distributing of the spoiles. So perish al thine enemies, O Lord: but they that loue him, let them be as the sun when he riseth in his might. And the land had rest fortye yeres.

therfoze sene an angell of the Lord face to face, that I should dye? And the Lord sayde vnto him: Peace be vnto thee, feare not, thou shalt not die. The Lord made an aultare there vnto the Lord, and called it: The Lord of

E peace. And vnto this daye it is yet in Ephraim, that pertaineth vnto the father of the Ephraites. And it fortuned that the same night the Lord said vnto him: take a ponge bullocke oute of thy fathers dyone, and an other of. vii. yeares olde, and destroy the aultare of Baal, that thy father hath, and cutte downe the groue that is by it, & make an aultar vnto the Lord thy God vpon the top of this rocke in a conuenient place. And take the seconde bullocke, and offer burnt sacrifice vpon the wood of the grene, whiche thou shalt cut downe. Then Gedeon toke ten men of his seruantes, and did as the Lord hadde him. But because he durst not doo it by day for feare of his

F fathers household & of the men of the cite, he did it by nighte. And when the men of the cite were vpearly in the morning: Beholde, the aultare of Baal was broken, and the groue cut downe that was by it, and the seconde bullocke offered vpon the aultare that was made. And they sayde one to an other: who hath done this thing? and when they enquired and asked, they said: Gedeon the sonne of Joas hath done this thing. Then the menne of the cite sayd vnto Joas. Bring out thy sonne, that he may dye, because he hath destroyed the aultar of Baal, and cut downe the groue that was by it. And Joas saide vnto all that stode by him: Will ye pleade Baals cause? or wil ye be his defenders? he that hath medled against him, let him die in the morning. If he be a God, let him be auenged of him that cast downe his aultar. And from that daye was Gedeon called, Jerobaal: because his father had sayd: Let Baal be auenged of him, that hath broken downe his aultar. All the Midianites therfoze, and the Amalekites, and they of the east, were gathered together, and wente and pitched in the valye of Jezrael: but the spirite of the Lord came vpon Gedeon. And he blew a trompet, and called. Abiezer to folowe him, and sent messengers throughtoute all Manasses, and called theym, whiche also didde folowe him. And he sente messengers vnto Mer, Zabulon, and Naphtalim, and they came to meete him. And Gedeon sayde vnto God: Wilt thou saue Israel in my hande, as thou hast sayde? Beholde, I will put a fleece of wocll in the thepshing place. And if the dewe comme on the fleece onely, and it be drye vppon all earthe besyde, then shall I bee sure, that thou wilt saue Israel by my hande, as thou saydest. And it came so to passe. For he rose vpearly on the morowe, and thruste the fleece together, and wronge the dewe thereon, and filled a bolle of water: and Gedeon sayde agayne vnto God: Be not angrie with me, that I speake once moze. For I will proue once agayne by the fleece. Let it be drye onely vpon the fleece, and dewe vppon all the grounde. And God didde so that same night: For it was drye vpon the fleece onely, and there was dewe on all the grounde.

Gen. 20. 6
A. Mar. 3

Then Jerobaall (otherwise called Gedeon) and all the people that were with him, rose beearly, and pitched besyde the well of Harad, so that the hoste of the Madianites were on the Northside of the Rock, that boweth towards the baileye. And the Lord saide vnto Gedeon: The people that are with thee, are to manie for me to gene the Madianites into theyr handes, leasse Israel make their vaunte agaynst me and say: Mine owne hand hath saued me. Howe therefore make proclamation in the eares of the people, and say: If anye man dreade or be afrayde, let him retourne. And the people arose early. And there departed and returned of the people which were at mount Gilad, xxiij. thousand. And there abode ten thousands. And the Lord sayd vnto Gedeon: the people are yet to manie, bying them down vnto the water, and I will tpe them vnto thee there. And of whom I sape vnto thee. This shall go with thee, the same shall goe with thee. And of whomsoever I say vnto thee: This shall not go with thee, the same shall not go. So he brought downe & people vnto the water, & the Lord said vnto Gedeon: As many as lape the water with their tonges as a dog doeth, them put by theym selues, and so doo them that kneele downe vpon theyr knees to drinke. And the number of them that put theyr handes to theyr mouthes, and lapped, were. iiii. hundred men. But all the remnant of the people kneled downe vpon their knees to drinke water. And the Lord sayde vnto Gedeon: By these. iiii. hundred men that lapped water, will I saue you, and deliuer the Madianites into thine hande. And let all the other people go curry man vnto his place. They therfore of the people tooke vi. taples with them, & their trumpets. And he sent all the rest of Israel, euen vnto his tent, & comforted those

the hundred with him. And the hoste of Madian was beneath him in a bailey. And it fortuned & the same night the Lord sayde vnto him: Arise, get thee downe vnto the hoste, for I haue deliuered it into thine hand. But and if thou feare to go downe, then goe thou and Pharah thy ladde downe to the host, and thou shalt hearken what they say, and so shall thine handes be stronge, to go downe vnto the hoste. Then went he downe, & Pharah his lad, euen hard vnto the men of armes, that were in the host. And the Madianites, the Amalekites, and all they of the East, lay a long in the bailey, like a multitude of grasshoppers, and their camels were without number, euen as the sand by the sea side in multitude. And when Gedeon was come: Beholde, there was a man that tolde a dreame vnto his neighbour, and saide: Beholde, I dreamed a dreame, and me thought & a lofe of barley bread tumbled into the host of Madian, and came vnto a tent, and smote it that it fell, and ouerturned it, that the tent lay along. And his felowe answered and sayde: This is nothing els saue the swerds of Gedeon, & son of Joas a ma of Israel: for into his hand hath god deliuered Madian, and all the hoste. When Gedeon heard & telling of the dreame, and the interpretation of the same, he worshipped, & returned vnto the host of Israel, and said: Up, for the Lord hath deliuered into your hand, the host of Madian. And he deuised the three hundred men into three companies, & gaue euery man a stopet in his hand, with an empty pitcher, and lampes therein: and said vnto the: Loke on me, and do likewise, that when I come to & side of the hoste, euen as I doo, so do you: When I blowe with a trumpet, and all that are with me, blowe ye with trumpets also on euery side of the host, and sape: Here is the swerde of the Lord & of Gedeon. And so Gedeon, and the three hundred men that were with him, came vnto the syde of the host in the beginning of the middle watch, & reiled by the watchmen. And they

they blew with their trumpets, and brake the pitchers that were in their hands. And all the three companies blew with trumpets, and brake the pitchers, and helde the lampes in their left hands, and the trumpets in their righte, to blowe withall.

And they cryed: The swerde of the Lord and of Gedeon. And they stode still, every man in his place rounde aboute the hoste. And they within the hoste, ranne, and cryed, and fledde. And the three hundred blew with trumpets, and the Lord set every mans swerde bypon his neyghbour, throughout all the hoste. And the hoste fledde to Bethsitah, to Zererah, and to the edge of the playne of Mholah unto Cabath. And the men of Israell being gathered together out of the Tribe of Nephtalim, of Aser, and of all Manasses followed after the Mhabianites. And Gedeon sente messengers vnto all mounte Ephraim, sayinge: Come downe against the Mhabianites, and take before them the waters vnto Bethbarath, and to Jordan. Then all the men of Ephraim gathered together, and tooke the waters vnto Bethbarath, and to Jordan. And they tooke two captaynes of the Mhabianites, Ozeb and Zeb, and slew Ozeb bypon the rocke Ozeb, and Zeb at the presse Zeb and followed after Mhabian. And brought the heades of Ozeb and Zeb to Gedeon, on the other side Jordan.

And the men of Ephraim said vnto him: Whye haste thou serued vs thus, that thou caldest vs not, when thou wentest to fight with the Mhabianites: and they chidde with him a good, (and had almoste doone him violence.) And he sayde vnto them: What deede haue I doone like vnto poures? Is not a clister of Ephraim better, then the wyne harvest of Abiezer? God hath deliuered into your hands the Lordes of Mhabia, Ozeb and Zeb. And what was I able to doo like as you haue done? And then their spiritus abated from of him, when he had sayde that. And Gedeon came to Jordan to passe ouer, he and the three hundred menne that were with him, verie sainte and yet followed the chase. And he sayde vnto the menne of Socoth: geue I praye you cakes of bread vnto the people that followe me: for they be fainte that I may followe after Zebath, and Zalmona kings of Mhabian. And the Lordes of Socoth sayde: are the handes of Zebath and Zalmona now in thine handes, that wee shoulde geue breade vnto thine armye? Gedeon sayde, therefore when the Lord hath deliuered Zebath, and Zalmona into mine hande, I will teare the fleshe of you with the thornes of the wilderness and with byers. And he wente by thence to Dhanuel, and spake vnto them likewise. And the men of Dhanuel answered him as did the men of Socoth. And he said also vnto the men of Dhanuel: when I come againe in peace, I will breake downe this towne. Zebath and Zalmona were in Carhar, and their hostes with theym, bypon a xv. thousand men, whiche were all that were left of all the hostes of the of the Gasse: for there was slayne hundred and twentie thousand men that were swerdes. And Gedeon wente through theym that dwelte in tabernacles on the Eastside of Mhabah and Zehabab, and smote the hoste: for the hoste did cast no pertiles. And when Zebath and Zalmona fled, he followed after them, and toke the two kinges of Mhabian, Zebath and Zalmona, and discomforted all the hoste. And Gedeon the sonne of Joas returned from battell, afoze the sonne was downe, and caught a lad of the men of Socoth, and enquired of him. And he wrote him of the Lordes and Elders of Socoth. lxxvii. men. And he came vnto the menne of Socoth, and sayde: Beholde here I haue Zebath and Zalmona, with whiche I bidde cast me in the teeth, sayings: we the handes of Zebath and Zalmona already in thyne hand, that we should geue head vnto thy sainty men? And he toke the elders of the Cytpe, and thynnes of the wildernesse and bzecrs and made the men of Socoth to fele them. And he brake downe the towre

3 reg. 12 of • Phannell, and slewe the men of the citpe. And then sayde he vnto Zebath and Zalmona, what maner of menne were they whom ye slewe at Ephoz? and they answered: the likeness of thee and them is all one, euen after the falschion of the chyldren of a kyng. And he sayd: they were my brethren, euen my mothers chyldren. As truly as the Lord lyueth yf ye had saved their lyues, I wouide not slaye you. And he sayde vnto Zether hys eldest sonne: by and slaye them. But the ladye bore not his sword, for he feared, because he was yet yonge. Then Zebath and Zalmona said: Rise thou, and fall vpon us: for as the man is, so is his strength. And Gedeon arose and slew Zebath and Zalmona, and toke away the ornaments, & were on their camels neckes. Then the men of Israel sayd vnto Gedeon: Raigne thou ouer us, both thou, thy sonne, and thy sonnes sonne, for thou haste deliuered us oute of the hande of Madian. And Gedeon sayde vnto them: I wyl not raigne ouer you, nether shal my chyld raigne ouer you, but the Lord shall raigne ouer you. And agayne Gedeon sayde vnto them: I wold desyre a certayne requete of you, euen that you wouide geue me euery man the earrynges of hys praye. For they had golden earrynges, because they were Amaleites. And they answered: We wyl geue them. And they spyedde a manell, and byd call there in euery man the earrynges of his praye: and the sparkes of the golden earrynges that he requyred, was a thousand and seven hundred sickeles of gold, beside cherynes, gommamanders and purple raimente that was on the kynges of Madian, and hys the charynes, that were about their camels neckes. And Gedeon in hys citpe Ephzath. And all Israel went a. whozping after it, in the same place, whiche thyng became a ruyne vnto Gedeon and to his house. Thus was Madian brought low before the chyldren of Israel, so that they lift vp their heades no moze. And the country was in quietnes fortye yeares in the dayes of Gedeon. And Jerobaall the sonne of Joas went, and dwelt in his owne house. And Gedeon had .lxx. sonnes of his bodye begotten, for he had many wyues. And his concubine that was in Sichem, bare him a sonne also, whose name he called Abimelech. And Gedeon the sonne of Joas dyed in a good age, and was buried in the sepulcher of Joas his father, euen in Ephzath, that pertayneth vnto the father of the Egrites. But it fortuned, that as sone as Gedeon was dead, the chyldren of Israel turned away and went a whozping after Baalim, and made a couenaunte with Baal to be their God, and the chyldren of Israel thoughte not on the Lord their God which had deliuered them out of the handes of all their enemyes on euerye side. Neither shewed they mercye on the house of Jerobaal, other wise called Gedeon, accordyng to all the goodnes which he had shewed vnto Israel.

The ix. Chapter.

Abimelech the sonne of Jerobaall wente to Sichem, vnto his mothers brethren, and communed with them, and with all his mothers fathers kindred, saying: I pray you in the eares of all the inhabitants of Sichem: whether is better for you, that all the sonnes of Jerobaall (which are .lxx. persons) raigne ouer you, epyther that one raigne ouer you? Remember, that I am of your bone, and of your fleshe. And his mothers brethren spake of him in the audience of the men of Sichem all these wordes, and their hartes were moued to folowe Abimelech. For they said: he is our brother. And they gaue him .lxx. peces of siluer out of the temple of Baal Berith, wherewith Abimelech bygd bagne and eight persons which

Notwithstanding. yet Joathan the yongest sonne of Jerobaal escaped, for he hpd him selfe. And all the men of Sichem gathered together, and al the house of Melio, and came and made Abimelech king in the playne, where the great stone was by Sichem. And when they told it to Joathan, he wēt and stode in the toppes of mount Garizim, and spke by his voyce, and cryed, and sayde vnto them: Herken vnto me

4 E. 46 you men of Sichem, that God maye herken vnto you. • The trees wente forth to anoynt a king ouer them, and sayd vnto the Olive tree: raigne thou ouer vs. But the olive tree sayd vnto them: Shoulde I leaue my fattenes, which both gods & men prayse in me, and go to be promoted ouer the trees? And the trees sayde to the figge tree: come thou and be kynge ouer vs. The figge tree answered them: shoulde I forsake my swetnes, & my good fruite and go to be promoted ouer the trees? Then sayde the trees vnto the vyne: come thou and be kynge ouer vs. The vyne sayde vnto them: shoulde I leaue my wyne wherby I cheare both gods and men, and go to be promoted ouer the trees? Then said all the trees vnto the fyre bush: come thou & reigne ouer vs. And the fyre bush said vnto the trees: yf it be true that ye will anoynt me kinge ouer you, then come, and put your trust vnder my shadow. If no, the fyre come out of the fir bush, and wast the Cedze trees of Libanon.

Now therfore, yf ye do truly and vncorruptly, to make Abimelech king: and yf ye haue dealt well with Jerobaal and his house, and haue done vnto him, accordinge to the deseruinge of his handes, iudge ye. For euen he (my father) fought for you, and aduētured hys lyfe, and rydde you out of the hande of Madian. And ye are risen by agaynst my fathers house this daye, and haue slayne his chyldren, enen .lxx. persons with one stone, and haue made Abimelech the sonne of his mayde seruaunte, kinge ouer the men of Sichem, because he is your brother yf ye then haue dealt truly and purely with Jerobaal and with his house this daye, then reioyce ye with Abimelech, and let him reioyce with you. But if you haue not dealt truly, then I praye God a fyre maye come out of Abimelech, and consume the men of Sichem and the house of Melio. And that ther may come a fyre from among the men of Sichem, and oute of the house of Melio, and consume Abimelech. And Joathan ranne awaye and fledde, and wente to Beoz, and dwelt there, for feare of Abimelech his brother. When Abimelech had reigned thre yere, God sent a spert of hate betwene Abimelech, and the men of Sichem. And the Citizens of Sichem rayled vpon Abimelech, and wyshed that the wickednesse done to the .lxx. sonnes of Jerobaal myghte come on him, and that God wold lay the blood of them vnto Abimelech their brother which slew them, and vpon the other men of Sichem whiche ayded him in the killinge of his brethren. And the citizens of Sichem set men to laie a wayte for him in the top of the mountaynes, which men while they tarped for his comminge, robbed all that came a longe the way by them. And it was tolde Abimelech. And Gaal the sonne of Abed came with his brethren and they gat them to Sichem. And the men of Sichem put their confidence in him. And they went out into the fieldes, and gathered in their grapes, and trode them, and made merye: and wente into the house of their goddes, and dyd eate and drynke, and cursed Abimelech. And Gaal the sonne of Abed said: what is Abimelech? & what is Sichem? that we shoulde serue him? Is he not the sonne of Jerobaal? & Jeebul is his officer? & where suche as come of Jemor the father of Sichem, for what reason is it that we shoulde serue him? woulde God this people were vnder my hand, I wold I take Abimelech out of

And he spake against Abimelech: make thine hooste greater, and go out. And when Jebul the ruler of the citie heard the words of Gaal the soon of Abed, he was wroth, & sent messengers vnto Abimelech priuily, saying: Beholde Gaal the sonne of Abed and his brethren be come to Sichem: and behold, they set the citie agaynst thee. Shewe therefore vpon by night, thou and all the people that is with thee, & lye in wait in the field. And rise early in the morning as soone as the sunne is vp, and fall vpon the citie. And if he & the people that is with him, come out against thee, do to him what thine hands shall be able. And Abimelech rose vp, and al the people that were w him by night.
And they layde awayte against Si-chem in foure companies. And Gaal the sonne of Abed went out, and stode in the entring of the gate of the citie.
And Abimelech rose vp and the folke that wer with him fro laying a wait.
And when Gaal saw & people he said to Jebul: beholde, there come people downe fro the top of the mountaines.
And Jebul said vnto him: the shadow of the hils seme men vnto thee (and by that error art thou disceaued.) And Gaal answered agayne and sayde: see, there come folke down by the middle of the land, & another company come alonge by the playne of the charmers.
Then sayd Jebul vnto him: where is now thy mouth that said: what felow is Abimelech that we shoulde serue him? Is not this the people that thou hast despised? Go out nowe and fight with them. And Gaal went out before the citizens of Sichem, & fought with Abimelech. And Abimelech chased him, that he fledde before him (and he drowe him into the Citie (and manye were overthrowe and wounded, euen vnto the entring of the gate. And Abimelech dwelt at Brimah. And Jebul spoke out. Gaal and his brethren that they should not dwell in Sichem (and suffered them not to tarye therein.) And on the morowe it happened that the people went out into the field. And they tolde Abimelech. And he toke the people, and denided them into thre co-panies, and layd a wayt in the fieldes, and looked, and behold, the people were come out of the Citie, and he ran vpon them, and smot them. And Abimelech, and the companies that were with him reached further, and stode in the entring of the gate of the citie. And the two other companies ran vpon al the people that were in the fieldes, & slew the. And when Abimelech had fought agaynst the citie all that daye, he toke it, and slew the people that was therin, and destroyed the Citie, and sowed salt throughout it. And when all the men of the towne of Sichem hearde that, they cntred into a stronge hold of the house of their god Baal Berith, (where they made a bonde with him, and therof did the place take his name, which place was exceeding stronge.) And it was tolde Abimelech, that all the men of the towne of Sichem were gathered together, and Abimelech gat him to mount Zelmon, both he and all the people that were with him, & toke axes with him, and cut downe bowes of trees, and toke them and bare them on his shoulder, & said vnto the folke that were with him: What ye haue sene me do, speede your selues, and do likewise as I haue done. And all the men that were amonge the people, cut downe bowes, and folowed Abime-lech, and put them into the holde, and sette the holde a fire by them: so that (with smoke and fire) all the men of the towne of Sichem were slayne, vpon a thousande men and women.

Then wente Abimelech to Thebez, & beseged it, and toke it. But there was a stronge towne within the citie, and thither came all the men and women, and al the chiefe that were in the citie, and shutte it to them, and got them by by the bulworkes, to the topp of the towne. And Abimelech came vnto the towne, and fought against it, and wet harde vnto the dooze of the towne to set it on fyre. And a certayne woman caste a peece of a millstone vpon his head, and all to brake his brayne pan, Then Abimelech called hastily vnto forsoaken our owne God, and haue ser-the children of Israell: did not the Egyptians, the Amozites, the children of Ammon, the Philistines, the Sidonnites, the Moabites, and the Moabites oppresse you? And ye cried to me me, and serued strange gods, whersoe I wil helpe you nomore. So and crye vnto the gods which ye haue chosen, and let them saue you in the time of your tribulation. And the children of Israell sayd vnto the Lord: we haue sinned, do thou vnto vs what seeme please thee, deliuer vs onely this day.

 And they put away the strange gods from them, and serued the Lord. And his soule had pittie on the miserie of Israell. Then the children of Ammon gathered together, and pitched in Gilead: And the children of Israell gathered the together, and pitched in Gilead.
 And the Lordes of Gilead sayd eche to other: whosoener will begin the battel agaynst the children of Amamon, the same shalbe head ouer all the inhabitours of Gilead.

The. xi. Chapter.

And there was one Jephthah a Gileadite, a stronge man, the sonne of an harlot: and Gilead begat Jephthah. And Gileadens wife bare him sonnes, whiche when they were come to age thurst out Jephthah, and sayde vnto him, thou shalt not inherite in our fathers house, for thou art the sonne of a strange woman. Then Jephthah shadd from his byethenne, and dwelte in the lande of Tob. And there gathered ydle (and theuillie) men to Jephthah, and went out with him. And it chanced in process of time that the children of Amamon made warre agaynst Israell. And when the children of Ammon fought thus agaynst Israell, the elders of Gilead went to see Jephthah out of the lande of Tob (to helpe them) and said vnto him: come and be our captaine.

that we may fight with the children of Ammon. Jephthah answered the elders of Gilead: I byd not ye hate me and expel me out of my fathers house: how happeneth it then, that you come vnto me now in tyme of your tribulation? And the Elders of Gilead saide vnto Jephthah: Therefore we tyme agayne to thee now, that thou wouldest go with vs; and fight against the children of Ammon, and be our head ouer all the inhabitants of Gilead. And Jephthah sayd vnto the elders of Gilead: If ye bringe me home agayne to fight with the children of Ammon, then if the Lord deliuer the before me, shall I be your heade? And the elders of Gilead sayd to Jephthah: The Lord be witness betwene vs, yf we do not according to thy words. Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead.

And the people made him head and ruler ouer them. And Jephthah rehearsed all his wordes before the Lord in Mizpe. And Jephthah sente messengers vnto the kings of the children of Ammon, saying: What hast thou to do with me, that thou arte come agaynst my land to fight in my land? The king of the children of Ammon answered vnto the messengers of Jephthah: Because Israel toke away my land, when they came out of Egypt: euen from Arnon vnto Iabbok, and vnto Jordan. Now therefore redde those landes agayne with thy women. And Jephthah sente messengers agayne vnto the king of the children of Ammon, & said vnto him thus saith Jephthah: Israel toke not away the land of Moab, nor the lande of the children of Ammon. But when Israel came out of Egypt and walked thowowe the wilderness, then vnto the red sea they came to Cadan, and sente messengers vnto the king of Edom, saying: lette me (I pray thee) go thowowe thy lande. But the king of Edom would not agree thereto. And in this manner they sente vnto the king of Moab, but he would not consent. And so Israel abode still in Canaan. And then they went along thowowe the wilderness, and compas-

sed the lande of Edom, vnto the lande of Moab, and came alonge by the cosse of the land of Moab, and pitched on the other syde of Arnon, and would not come within the cosse of Moab: for Arnon was the btmmost border of Moab. And then Israel sent messengers vnto Sihon, king of the Amorites, and king of Hesbon, and sayde vnto him: Let vs passe thowowe thy lande vnto our owne countrey. But Sihon consented not to Israel, that he shoulde go thowowe his cosse: but gathered all his people together, and pitched in Jazab, and soughte with Israel. And the Lord God of Israel deliuered Sihon and all his folke into the handes of Israel. And so Israel smote them and conquered all the land of the Ammonites, the inhabitants of the sayd countrey. And they conquered all the coastes of the Ammonites, from Arnon vnto Iabbok, & frō the wilderness vnto Jordan. So now, seeing the Lord God of Israel hath cast out the Ammonites before his people Israel, shouldest thou possesse the land? Nay but what people Canos thy god dwelleth out, that lande possesse thou. Canst thou whatsoeuer nation the Lord our God expelleth, that land ought we to entyre? And arte thou better then Balac the sonne of Jephthah king of Moab? did he strue with Israel of fight agaynst them, all the while Israel dwelt in Hesbon and her towne, in Broer and her towne, and in all the cities? be along by the coastes of Arnon, thre hundred yeres: why didst thou not recouer them in all that space? wherefore, I haue not sinned agaynst thee. But thou dost me wrong to warre agaynst me. The Lord therefore whiche is a Judge, be Judge this daye betwene the children of Israel and the children of Ammon. Nowebeit, the king of the children of Ammon, harkened not vnto the wordes of Jephthah, which he sent him. Then the spere of the Lord came vpon Jephthah. And he passed out to Gilead and to Manasses, and came to Mizpeh that lieth in Gilead, & from thence thence unto the children of Ammon.

F And Jephthah bowed abow unto the Num. 6d Lord, and sayd: • If thou shalt deliver the childzen of Ammon into my hands then that thyng that cometh out of the doores of my house against me, whē I come home in peace, from the childdzen of Ammon, shall be the Lord, and I will offer it by for a burnt offering.
 And so Jephthah went unto the childdzen of Ammon to fighte with them.
 And the Lord delivered them into his handes. And he smote them from Trocities: and so forth to the playne of the vineyardes with an exceeding greete slaughter. And thus the childzene of Ammon were broughte vnder before the childzen of Israel. When Jephthah came to Jozphah unto his house, se, his daughter came out against him, with tymbrells and daunces, whiche was his only child: so that besyde her, G he had nether sonne nor daughter. And when he sawe her, he rente his clothes and sayd: Alas my daughter, thou hast brought me lowe, and art one of them that troubleth me. For I have opened my mouth unto the Lord, and can not go backe, and she sayde vnto hym: my father, yf thou haue opened thy mouth unto the Lord, then doe with me accordinge to it that proceeded oute of thy mouth, for as much as the Lord hath aduenged the (and gyven the victoye) of thyn enemies the childzen of Ammon. And she said vnto her father: do this much for me: let me alone two monethes, that I may go downe to the mountaines, & bewaile my virginittie I and my fellows. And he said go, and he sent her away two monethes. And so she went with her companions, and lamented her maydenheade vpon the mountaines. And after the end of two monethes she turned agayne vnto her father which dyd with her accordyng to his bowe which he had vowed, and she had knowen no man. And it grew to a custome in Israel. The daughters of Israel came yere by yere to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite, foure dayes in a yere.

The .xv. Chapter.

A And the men of Ephraim gathered them selues together, and went northward, and said vnto Jephthah: • Wherefore wentest thou to fighte with the childzene of Ammon, and dydest not call vs to go with thee? we wil therfore burne thine house vpon thee with fyre: and Jephthah sayd vnto them: I and my people were at great stryfe with the childzen of Ammon. And when I called you, ye delivered me not oute of their han-des. And when I saw that ye deliue-red me not, • I put my life in my han-des, and wente vpon the childzen of Ammon. And the Lord delivered them into my handes. Wherefore then see ye come vpon me now, to fighte with me? Jephthah therfore gathered together all the men of Gilead, and foughte with the Ephraites. And the men of Gilead smote the Ephraites because they said: Ye Gileadites are but runnegates of Ephraim among the E-phraites and the Manassites. Where-ouer, the men of Gilead toke the passages of Jordan before the Ephraites.
 And when those Ephraites that were escaped, sayde: let vs go ouer, then the men of Gilead saide vnto them: Are thou an Ephraite? they said nay. Then saide they vnto him: then say, Achis-boleth (which is by interpretation, an eare of corne.) And he saide Sibbo-leth: for he coule not so pronounce.
 And then they toke him, & slawe him at the passages of Jordan. And there were overthrowen at that tyme of the Ephraites. xlv. my. And Jephthah drinke no wyne, nor stronge drinke, neither eate anye vncleane thinge: for so, thou shalt conceive and beare a son.

2. 7. a

And there may no .rafos come on his head. For the lad shall be an .abstainer vnto god, even from his (infancie and from his) birth. And he shall begin to deliuer Israel out of the hands of the Philistines. Then the wyfe came, and told her husband saying: a man of god came vnto me, and the fashion of him was like the fashion of an Angell of God, exceeding fearfull. But I afked

Gen. 16c him not whence he was, neither tolde me his name, but said vnto me: behold thou shalt be with childe & beare nor stronge drinke, neyther eate anye vncleane thinge: for the lad shall be an abstainer to God, even from his (infancie and from his) birth, to the daye of his death. Then Manoah made intercession to the Lord, and sayde: I pray thee my Lord, let the man of god whiche thou sendest, come once moze vnto vs, and teache vs what we shall do vnto the ladde when he is borne, and God hearde the praye of Mano-ah, and the Angell of God came a-gayne vnto the wyfe as she sat in the house. But Manoah her husbände was not with her. And the wyfe made haste and ranne, and shewed her husbände, and sayde vnto him: Be-holde, the man appered vnto me that came vnto me to daye. And Manoah arose and wente after his wyfe, and came to the man, and sayde vnto him: wite thou the man that spaketh vnto my wyfe? And he saide: I am. Mano-ah sayde: nowe when thy sayings is come to passe: what shall the maner of the chyld, and what shall he doo?

And the Angell of the Lord sayde vnto Manoah: Thy wyfe muste abstayne from all that I sayde vnto her: she may eate of nothing that cometh of the vyne tree, nor drinke wyne or stronge drinke, nor eate any vncleane thinge. But must obserue all that I bad her. Manoah sayde vnto the Angell of the Lord: we will keepe thee still, vntill. We haue made readye a kid, and haue set it before thee. And ϕ Angell of the Lord sayde vnto Ma-noah: though thou make me abide, I will not eate of thy breade. And yf thou wilt offer a burnte offeringe, thou must offer it vnto the Lord. For Manoah wist not that it was an angell of the Lord. And Manoah sayde agayne vnto the Angell of the Lord: What is thy name, that when thy sayinge is come to passe, we may do thee some worshippe? And the angell of the Lord sayd vnto him: why askest thou after my name, whiche is secret.

he would not haue receaued a burnt-offering and a meat-offering of oure handes, neither would he haue shewen vs all these thinges; nor would he now haue told vs any tuche. And the wife bare a sonne, and called his name Samson. And the ladde grew, and the Lord blessed him: And the spirit of the Lord began to moue him in the house of Dan, betwixte Zorah and Eschol.

The xliij. Chapter.

Samson went down to Chanath, and saue a woman in Chanath, of the daughters of the Philistines; and he came vp, and tolde his father and his mother; and sayde: I haue seene a woman in Chanath of the daughters of the Philistines; and now we gent me her to wife. Then his father and mother saide vnto him: Is there neuer a woman amonge the daughters of thy brethren, and amonge of my people, but that thou must goe, and take a wyfe of the vncircumcised Philistines? And Samson sayde vnto his father: geue me this woman, for shee please me well. But his father and mother wist not that it was the Lordes doing, and that he sought an occasion agaynste the Philistines, for at that time the Philistines reigned ouer Israel. Then went Samson and his father and his mother downe to Chanath, and came to the vineyardes of Chanath. And behold, a yong (wood) lyon roared vpon him. And the spirit of the Lord came vpon him. And he tare him, as he would haue rente a kidde; and yet had nothinge in his hande, neither tolde his father and mother what he hadde done. And he went downe & talked with the woman, which seemed well sauoured in the sight of Samson. And within a shorthe space after, as he went thither againe to take her to wife, he turned oute of the waye, to see the carkasse of the Lyon. And beholde, there was a swarme of bees and honey, in the carkasse of the Lyon. And he toke of the honey in his handes, and went eating, and came to his father and mother, and gaue theym also. And they didde eate. But he tolde not theym, that he had taken the honey out of the carkasse of the Lyon. And soo his father came vnto the woman, and Samson made there a feast, for so bled the yong men to doo. And when they (the citizens of that place) sawe him, they brought. xxx. companions to be with him. And Samson sayde vnto them: I will now putte forthe a riddle vnto you. And if you can declare it me within viij. dayes of the feast, and find it out, I will geue you. xxx. shirts, and xxx. change of garmentes: But and if you can not declare it me, then shall ye geue me. xxx. shirts, & xxx. change of garmentes. And they answered him, put forth thy riddle that we may heare it. And he sayde vnto theym: out of the eater came meate, and out of the strong came sweetness. And they could not in three dayes expound the riddle. And when the seventh day was come, they sayde vnto Samsons wife: Statte thyne husbande, (and perswade him) that he may declare vs the riddle least we burne thee and thy fathers house with fire. Then ye called vs hither, to make vs beggers: And Samsons wife wept before him (complained) and sayde: Surely thou hatest me and lovest me not: for thou haue put forth a riddle vnto the children of my folke, and hast not tolde it me. And he sayde vnto her: Beholde, I haue not told it my father and my mother, and shall I tell it thee? And Samsons wife wepte before him. viij. dayes, while the feast lasted. And the seventh day he tolde her, because she lay so close vpon him. And she tolde it the children of her folke. And the men of the cite sayde vnto him the seventh day, before the sunne went downe. What is sweeter then honey, and what is stronger then a Lyon? Then saide he vnto them: If ye had not plowed in my cause, ye had not found out my riddle. And the spirit of the Lord came vpon him. And he wet downe vnto Samson, and slewe thirty men of them, and spoiled them, & gaue change of mentes vnto the which expounded the riddle. And he was wroth, and went vp to his fathers house. But Samsons wife was geuen to one of his companions, that he had taken vnto him.

But it chanced within a while after, euen in the time of wheat haruest, that Samson visited his wife with a hidde, sayinge: I will goo into my wyfe into the chamber: but her father woulde not suffer him to goo in. And her father sayde: I thought that thou haddest hated her, and therefore gaue I her vnto one of thy companions. Is not her yonger sister sayier thes? Take her in steede of the other. Samson said vnto the: Howe am I more blameles then the Philistines, & therefore will I do them displeasure. And Samson went out and caughte three hundred foxes, and toke firebrandes, and fastened tayle to tayle, and put a firebrande in the middes betwene two tayles. And when he had set the brandes of fire, he sent them out (that they might runne abroade, which went immediatly) into the standinge corne of the Philistines, and burnt vp both the reaped corne, and also the standing, with the vineyardes and oliues. Then the Philistines said: who hath done this? And it was told the that Samson the sonne in lawe of the Chamitic, because he had taken his wife, and geue her to his companion. And the Philistines came vp and burnt her and her father with fire. And Samson said vnto them: Though ye haue don this yet will I be auenged of you, and then I will cease. And he smote the legges and thigh with a mighty plague. And then he went and dwelt in the cave of the rocke Etam. Then the Philistines came vp, & pitched in Iuda, and lay in a place, & was after ward called Lehi (that is a Jaw bone, wher theire host was scattered abroade.) And the men of Iuda said, why are ye come vp vnto vs? They answered: to bynde Samson as we come by, and to do to him as he hath done to vs. Then the thousande men of Iuda went downe to the cave of the rock Etam, and said to Samson: wottest thou not that the Philistines are rulers ouer vs. wherfore the hast thou done thus vnto vs? He answered them: as they did vnto me, so haue I done vnto them. And they sayde vnto hym agayne: we are come downe to bind thee, and to deliuer thee into the hande of the Philistines. And Samson sayd vnto them: sweare vnto me (and promise me) that ye shall not fall vpon me your selues. They answered him, saying: No, but we will bynde thee, and deliuer thee vnto their hands: But we wil not kill thee. And they bounde him with two newe cordes, and broughte him from the rocke. And when he came to Lehi, the Philistines shewed against him. And the spirit of the Lord came vpon him, and the cordes that were vpon his armes, became as flaxe that was burnt with fire, for the bandes loosed from off his handes. And he founde a rottenne Jawe bone of an asse, and put footth his hande, and caught it, and slew a thousande men therewith. And Samson sayde: with the Jawe of an asse, haue I made hepes of them: with the Jawe of an asse haue I slain a thousand me. And whē he had leste speakinge, he caste awaye the Jawe bone out of his hande, and called the place: Ramath Lehi: (that is by interpretation, the lifting vp of the Jawe bone.) And he was sore a thirste, and called on the Lord, and sayde: Thou hast geuen this grate virooy, in the hande of thy seruant. And now I muste dye for thirst, and fall vnto the hands of the vncircumcised. But God brake a great cote that was in the Jawe, and ther came water therout. And when he had dronke his spirit came againe and he was refreshed, wherfore the name thereof is called vnto this daye, the well of the caller on, which came of the Jaw. And he iudged Israel in the dayes of the Philistines, twenty yeres.

Samson

Then went Samson to Gath, and sawe there an harlotte and wente in vnto her. And it was tolde the Gathites, sayinge: Samson is come hither. And they went about, and layde wayte for him ther, al night in the gate of the city, and were still all the night, saying: in the morning when it is daye, we shall kill him. And Samson tooke his rest till midnight, and arose at midnight, and toke the doores of the gate of the ci-tie, and the two side postes, and rente them off, with the bar and all, and put them vpon his shoulders, and caried them vp to the top of an hill, that is before Hebron. And after this, it fortuned that by the river of Sorek, he loued a womā, called Dalila, vnto whō came the Lordes of the Philistines, and sayd vnto her: perswade him, and see wherin his greate strength lyeth, and by what meane we may ouercome him that we may blinde him, to byng him vnder, and euery one of vs shall geue thee eleven hundred silverlings.
 And Dalila sayde to Samson: Oh tel me where thy greate strength lieth, and how thou mightest be bound, and brought vnder. Samson answered vnto her: If they bynd me with seuen grene withes that were neuer dyped I shalbe swake as other menne. And then the LORD of the Philistines brought her seuen withes that were yet greene and neuer dyped, and he bound him therewith. Notwithstanding she had men lyinge in wayte with her in the chamber. And she sayde vnto him: the Philistines be vpon thee Samson. And immediatly he brake the withes as a stringe of tow (that is twined) breaketh, when it feeleth fire. And so his strengthe was not knowne. And Dalila sayde vnto Samson: See, thou hast mocked me, and tolde me lyes. Now therefore tell me, wherewith thou mightest be bound. He answered her: if thou bynd me with newe ropes that netter were occupied, I shall be swake, and as another manne. Dalila therefore tooke newe ropes, and bounde hym therewith and sayde vnto him: the Philistines be vpon thee Samson. And there were lyes of wayte in the chamber, and he brake them from off his armes, as they had beene but a threde. And Dalila sayde vnto Samson, hitherto thou hast begyled me, and tolde mee lyes: yet tell me, howe thou mightest be bounde. He sayde vnto her: If thou plantest the vii. lockes of my heade with an heare lace. And she fastened them with a nagle, and said vnto him: the Philistines be vpon thee Samson.

 And he awaked out of his slepe, & placked away the nagle, that was in the plattinge with the heare lace. And she sayd vnto him againe: howe canst thou saye that thou lovest me when thine heart is not to me? beholde, thou hast mocked me this thre times, and hast not tolde me, wherewith thy greate strength lyeth. And as she laye vpon him with her woordes continuallye vexing of him, his soule was encumbred euen vnto the death. And so he tolde her all his hearte, and sayde vnto her: there neuer came raser vpon mine headde, for I haue bene an abstayner (that is to say consecrate) vnto God, euen from my mothers wombe: therfore when I am shaven, my strength will go from me, and I shall be swake, and be like all other men. And when Dalila sawe that he had tolde her all his heart, she sent and called for the Lordes of the Philistines, saying: come by yet this once, for he hath swed me al his heart. Then the Lordes of the Philistines came by vnto her, and brought the money in their han-des. And she made him slepe vpon her knees, (and to laye his head downe in her lappe) and she sent for a man, and he did sheue off the seuen lockes of his head, and beganne to byre him, and his strength was gone fro him. And she sayde: the Philistines be vpon thee Samson. And he awoke out of his slepe, and sayde: I will go out now as at other times before, and shake my selfe, and he wist not that the Lord was departed fro him. But she

91. Since he took him, and put out his eyes, and brought him downe to Azath, & bound him with two fetters of brasse. And he did grinde in the prison house, howbeit the heare of his headde began to grow againe after that he was shaven. Then the Lordes of the Philistines gathered them together, for to offer a solemne offering vnto Dagon their God, and to reioyce: for they said our God hath deliuered Samson our enemy into our handes. And when the people sawe hym, they playsted their God: for they sayde, our God hath deliuered into our hands, our enemy, & destroyer of our cōstrey, which slue many of vs. And when their hearts were merry, it fortuned, that they saide: send for Samson that he maye make vs laughe. And they set Samson out of the prison house, and he played before them, and they set him betwene the pillars. And Samson sayde vnto the lad that led him by the hande: sette me that I may touch the pillars, that the house stand vpon, and that I may leane to them. And the house was full of men and women. And there were all the Lordes of the Philistines. And there were vpon the rofe a thre thousand men and women, & beheld while Samson played. And Samson called vnto the Lord, and sayde: O Lord God, thinke vpon me, and strengthen me, at this time onely, O God, that I maye be auenged of the Philistines for my twories. And Samson caught the two middle pillars, on which the house stood, & on which it was bozned, the one in his right hande, and the other in his left, and sayde: my soule shall dye with the Philistines, and bowed them with all his might. And the house fell vpon the Lordes, and vpon all the people that were therein. And so the deade which he slewe at his death were more then they which he slewe in his lyfe. And then his brethren and all the house of his father came downe, and toke him vpye, and brought him and buried him betwene Zorah and Beth-lehem, in the burying place of Manoah his father. And he

The. xviij. Chapter.

T Here was a man in mount Ephraim named Micah, and he sayd vnto his mother: the leuen hundred syluerlinges that were taken from thee, about which thou cursedst, and spakest it in mine eares. Beholde, the syluer is with me, I toke it away. And his mother said: blessed be thou my sonne, in the Lord. And when he had restoyed the leuen hundred syluerlinges to his mother agayne, his mother saide: I bowed the siluer vnto the Lord of mine hande for thee my sonne, that thou shouldest make a grauen ymage and an ymage of metall. Nowe therefore, I will geue it thee agayne. And when he restoyed the money agayne vnto his mother, his mother tooke two hundred syluerlinges, and gaue them to a goldsmith, which made thereof a grauen ymage, and an ymage of metall, & it was in the house of Micah. And the man Micah had a temple of goddes, and made an Ephod and Theraphim. (That is to saye, a garment for the Priest, and Idoles.) And filled the hand of one of his sons which became his prieste. In those dayes there was no kinge in Israell, but every man dyd that which was good in his own eyes. And there was a ponge man out of Bethlehem Juda of the kynred of Juda: which ponge manne was a Leuite, and sojourned there. And the man departed oute of the citie of Bethlehem Juda, to dwell where he could finde a conuenient place. And he came to mount Ephraim, to the house of Micah as he iourneyed. And Micah said vnto him: whence comest thou? The Leuite answered him: I am of Bethlehem Juda, and go to dwell where I may fynde a place (and where I maye epye it to be for my profite.) And Micah saide agayne vnto him: Dwell with me, and be vnto me a father and a priest. And I will geue thee ten syluerlinges by yere, two garmentes, and thy meate and drynke. And the Leuite was content to dwell with the man, and was vnto him as one of his owne sonnes. And Micah consecrated the hand of the Levite, and the yong man became his prieste, and was in the house of Micah. Then saide Micah: now I am sure, that the Lord will be good vnto me, sayng I haue a Levite to my priest.

Jos. 19b

In those dayes, there was no king in Israel. And in those dayes the tribe of Dan sought them an inheritaunce to dwell in, for vnto that time there fell none inheritaunce vnto them amonge the tribe of Israel. And the children of Dan sent of their hundred yue actiue men in fteates of warre oure of their coastes, euen out of Zarah and Ekahol, to besewe the land and searcho it out and said vnto them: go and searcho out the lande, whiche when they came to mounte Ephraim, euen to the house of Micah, they lodged there. And when they were in the house of Micah, they knewe the voyce of the yong man the Levite: and when they turned in thither, they said vnto him: who brought thee hither? what makest thou in this place? and what haste thou here? And he answered them: thus and thus desired Micah with me, and hath hyred me, and I am become his priest. And they sayde vnto him agayne. Like counsell now of God, that we may knowe, whether the waye which we go, shall be prosperous, or no. And the prieste saide vnto them: go in peace, for the Lord gydeth your way which ye go. Then the yue men departed, and came to Laish, and sawe the people that were therein, howe they dwelte careless, after the maner of the Hydonas, still, and without casting of parrels: and that no man made any trouble in the lande, or vsurped any domination, but were farre frome the Hydonas, and had no busynesse with other men. And they came vnto their brethren, to Zarah and Ekahol. And their brethren sayd vnto them: what haue ye done? And they answered: we ryse, that we may go by against them: for we haue sene the lande surely a very good one. And do ye sayd: be not slothful to departe. But come to conquere the lande (it shalbe no labour). If ye will go, ye shall come vnto a people that casteth no parilles, and it is a very large countrie: whiche God hath geuen into your hander. It is also a place, whiche doeth lacke nothing that is in the world. And there departed thence of the hundred of the Danites, euen out of Zarah & Ekahol, sixe hundred men appoynted with instrumentes of war. And they went by, & pitched in karloth Jarim which is in Iuda. Wherfoze they called the place, the hoost of Dan, vnto this day: and it is on the backeside of Mariath Jarim. And they went thence vnto mount Ephraim, and came to the house of Micah. Then answered the .v. men that went to spy the countrey of Laish, and sayd vnto their brethren: what ye not that there is in these houses an Ephod, Cheraphim, a grauen ymage, and an ymage of metall? Nowe thersore consider what ye haue to do. And they turned theytherwarde and came to the house of the yong man the Levite, euen vnto the house of Micah, and solated hym peassably. And the sixe hundred men gyrded with weapons of warre, which were of the children of Dan, rode by the entrynge of the gate. And the yue men that went to spy the lande, went in thither and toke the kered Image, and the Ephod, Cheraphim, and the Image of metall. And the prieste rode in the entrynge of the gate with the sixe hundred men that were armed vnto batel, whyle the other went into Micahs house, and set the kered Image the Ephod, Cheraphim, and the Image of metall. Then sayd the prieste vnto them: what do ye? They answered hym: houlde thy peace, laye thynne hande vpon thy mouthe, and come with vs, to be our father & priest. As it better for thee to be a priest vnto the house of one man, then to be a priest vnto a tribe of hundred of Israel.

And the priest was glad and toke the Ephod, and Cheraphim, and the golden image, and went with the people. And they turned and departed, and put the children, the cattell, and their other substance before them. And when they were a good way from the house of Micah, the men that were in the houses, and in Micahs house, made an out crye, and followed after the children of Dan, and called vnto the. And they turned their faces, and sayde vnto Micah: what ayleth thee that thou makest an out crye? And he sayde: ye haue taken away my goddesses whiche I made, and also the Priest, and good your wayes with them. And what haue I more how the say ye vnto me, what ayleth thee? And the children of Dan sayde vnto him, let not thy voice be heard among vs, leaste angry fellows runne vpon thee, and thou lose thy life. In the times of all thine householde. And soo the children of Dan went their wayes. And when Micah sawe that they were to strong for him he turned and went backe vnto his house againe. And they toke the thinges which Micah had made, and the priest which he hadde, and came vnto Laish, euen vnto a people that were at rest and without mistrust, and smote them with the edge of the sword, and burnt the cite with fire. And there was no man to helpe, because Laish was far from Sidon, and they hadde no medeking with any other man. And the Levite stode in the valley that lieth by Bethroth. And they built them there a cite, and dwelt therein. And called it Dan, after the name of Dan their father, whiche was bozne vnto Israel. Howbeit, in very dede the name of the cite was Laish at the beginning. And the children of Dan set them by the grauen Image. And Jonathan the sonne of Gerson, the sonne of Manasses and his sonnes, were the priestes in the tribe of Dan. vntill they were carried awaye out of the lande captiue. And they set them vppon the kerued image, which Micah made, al þ while that the house of God was in Silo.

It chaunced in those dayes, when there was no Kinge in Israel, that a certaine Levite, solourning on the side of mount Ephraim, toke to wife a concubine out of Bethlehem Iuda: and his concubine played the whoze by him, & went awaye fro him: vnto her fathers house to Bethlehem Iuda, and there continued foure monethes. And her husbande arose, and wente after her, to speake frendlye vnto her, and to bring her home againe, hauing his lad with him, and a couple of asses. And she brought him vnto her fathers house, and when the father of the damosell sawe him, he reioyced of his coming. And his father in lawe, the damosells father kept him. And the Levite abode with him thre dayes, and soo they did eate and drinke, and lodged there. The fourth daye when they arose earlye in the morninge, the man stode by, to departe. And the damosells father said vnto his sonne in lawe: comforte thine heart with a morsell, & of breade, and then go youre waye. And they satte downe, & did eate and drinke, both of them together. And the damosells father said vnto the man: Be content I pray thee, and tary al night, and lette thine heart be merie. And when the man stode ready to departe, his father in lawe compelled him to turne againe, and to tary al night there. And he rose by earlye the fifth daye to departe, and the damosells father sayde, comforte thine heart: and they taried vntill after midday. And they did eate both of them together. And when the man arose to departe with his concubine and his lad, his father in lawe, the damosells father sayd vnto him: behold, the day goeth fast away, and draweth toward euen, tarye all night: at the least way tary this day here, that thine heart may be merie. And to morrow get you earlye vppon youre waye, that thou mayest get thee to thy tent. Nevertheless the man would not tary but arose and departed, and came as far as Jebus, (which is Jerusalem) and his two asses laden, and his concubine and his ladde with him. And when they were faste by Jebus the day was soze spent, and the yong man sayd vnto the master: com I pray thee and let vs turne in, into this citie of the Jebusites, and lodge all nyghte there. His master answered him: we will not turne into a straunge Citie that are not of the children of Israel: we will go forth to Gibeā. And he said vnto his lad: go forwarde, and we shall come to one of these places to lodge all night eyther in Gibeā or in Rama. And they went forward vpon their way, and the sonne went downe vpon them, when they were faste by Gibeā, which belongeth to them of Ben Iamin. And they turned thitherwarde to go in, and lodge all night in Gibeā. And when he came, he satte him downe in a streete of the citie, for there was no man that tooke them to lodgings. And beholde, there came an olde man from his worke, oute of the field at euen, which was also of moſit Ephraim, and dwelt as a straunger in Gibeā. But the men of the place wer the childre of Ben Iamin. And when he had lift vp his eyes, he saw a watſaying man in the streete of the Citie. And the olde man sayde: whither goest thou? And whence comest thou? He answered him: we com frō Bethlechem Iuda, toward the side of moſit Ephraim: from thence am I, and I went to Bethlechem Iuda, and goo now to the house of the Lozde. And there is no man that recepueth me to house. we haue strawe and pꝛowender for our asses, and bꝛeade and wine for me and thy handmayd, and for the lad that is with thy seruauſt, & we lacke nothing. The olde man sayd: peace be with thee, all that thou lackest shall I thou finde with me: onely abide not in the streete all night, and so he bꝛought him into his house, and gaue sodder vnto his asses. And they walshed theyꝛ feete, and did eate and dꝛinke. And as they were making their herſes mery, beholde, the men of the Citie

which were wicked, beſet the house rounde aboute, and thrust at the doze, and spake to the man of the house, the olde man, sayinge: bꝛinge forth the man that came into thine house, that we may knowe him. And the man of the house, the olde man went out, and sayde vnto them: Oh may my bꝛethꝛen doo not so wickedly, ſeing that this man is come into mine house: doo not so vnmete a thinge. Beholde, here is my daughter a maiden, and this mans concubine, them I will bꝛinge oute now vnto you, and humble them, and do with them what ſemeth you good: but vnto this mā do not so abhominable a thinge. But the men would not harken to him. And the man tooke his concubine, and bzought her oute vnto them, whiche knewe her, and abused her, all the night, euen vnto the morninge. And when the daye began to ſpꝛinge, they let her go. And then came the woman in the dawning of the day and fell down at the doze of the mans house where her Lozde was, till it was daye. And her Lozde aroſe vp in the morninge, and opened the doozes of the house, and went out to goo his waye. And beholde, the woman, euen his concubine laye a longe beſeꝛe the doze of the house, and her hands stretched out vpon the thꝛesholde. And (he thinking her to haue bene a slepe) said vnto her: vp, and let vs be going. But she answered not. The man (perceauing that she was dead) tooke her vp vpon an asse, and rode vp, and gat him vnto his owne home. And when he was come vnto his house, he toke a knife, and caught his concubin, and deuided her with the bones into twelue perces, and sente her into all quarters of Israel. And at that ſawe it sayd: there was no ſuche deede done or ſcene ſince the children of Israel came out of Egipte vnto this daye, conſider the matter, take aduiſement and ſay your mindes.

Then all the children of Israel went out: and the congregatiō was gathered together at it had ben but one man, even frō Dan to Beerseba, and vnto the land of Gilead, vnto the Lord in Mizpa, & there slode folke out of al quarters, and of al the tribes of Israel, in the congregation of the people of God, foure hundred thousande sote men, that dyewe swerdes. And when the childezen of Ben Jamin heard that the childezen of Israel were gone bp to Mizpa, & had saide: O ye childezen of Israel tel vs howe this wickednes happened. And the Leuite, the womans husband, that was slaine, answered and said: I came into Gibeā, that is in Ben Jamin, w my concubine to lodge all night. And the men of Gibeā rose agaynst me, and beset the house rounde about vpon me by night, and thought to haue slayne me: and my concubine haue they so forced, that she is deade. And I toke my concubine, and cutte her in peces: and sente her thoro'out all the landes of the inheritaunce of Israel. For they haue committed abhominacion & folly in Israel. Beholde ye are all childezen of Israel. Wonder this matter, and geue your aduise in the case. And all the people arose, as it hadde bent one man, saying: there shall not a man of vs go to his tente, neyther turne into his house. But this shalbe it that we will do to Gibeā: we will go bp by late agaynst it. And we will take ten men of the hundred thoro'we out all the trybes of Israel, and an hundred of the thousand, and a thousande out of ten thousande, to set bitayle for the people, to make that they maye go agaynst Gibeā Ben Jamin, because of all the abhominacion, that they haue wrought in Israel. And so all the men of Israel gathered together agaynst the citie, knitte together, as it had bene but one man. And the tribes of Israel sente men thoro'we all the trybe of Benjamin, saying: • what wickednesse is this, that is happened among you? Howe therefore deliuer vs the men, those childezen of Belial which are in Gibeā, that we may sleigh them, and put away euil from Israel. Herethelater, the childezen of Ben Jamin, would not hearken vnto the voyce of their brethren, the childezen of Israel: but gathered them selues together out of the citie vnto Gibeā, to come out and fight agaynst the childezen of Israel. And the childezen of Ben Jamin were numbred at that tyme, out of the citie, .xxvi. thousande men, that dyewe swerdes, besyde the enhabitors of Gibeā, whiche were numbred seuen hundred chosen men. And amonge all these folke wer seuen hundred left handed men, whiche euery one coulde stynge stones at an heare breadth and not myste. And the childezen of Israel besyde Ben Jamin, were numbred foure hundred thousande men that dyewe swerdes, and were all men of warre. And the childezen of Israel arose, and wente bp to Bethel, and asked counsell of God, who should begin the battell agaynst the childezen of Ben Jamin. And the Lord saide Iuda shall begin. And the childezen of Israel slode by earely and besieged Gibeā. And the men of Israel wente oute to battell agaynst Ben Jamin, and the men of Israel putte them selues in araye to fight agaynst them, besyde Gibeā. And the childezen of Ben Jamin came out of Gibeā, and destroyed of the Israelites that day .xij. thousande men, and brought them to the earth. And the folke of the childezen of Israel plucked by their heartes, and went to agayne, & made battell in the same place where they did the firste daye. And the childezen of Israel went bp, and wept besyde the Lord vnto euen, and asked of the Lord, saying: shal we go againe to battell agaynst the childezen of Ben Jamin our brethren? And the Lord said: go bp agaynst them. And the childezen of Israel came out agaynst the childezen of Ben Jamin the seconde daye. And the childezen of Ben Jamin went agaynst the out of Gibeā, the second day, & destroyed to the earth of the childezen of Israel once againe. .xxij. men & dyewe swerdes euery man of the. Then the childezen of Israel & al the people went bp & came vnto Bethel, and wept and sat there befoze the lord and fasted the same day vnto euen, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings befoze the Lord. And the children of Israel asked the Lord: for there was the arke of the appoyntement of God, in those dayes. And Phineches the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron waiting vpon it at that time saide: Shall I get me vp to go out any more to battayle agaynst the children of Ben Iamin my brethren, or shal I cease? The Lord saide: go, for to morowe I will deliuer them into your handes. And Israel set iyers a waite rounde about Gibeā. And the children of Israel went vp agaynst the childze of Ben Iamin the third time, and put them selues in araye agaynst Gibeā, as twyse befoze. And the children of Benjamin came out agaynst the people, and were drawen awaye from the citie. And they began to smite of the people deade (as twyse befoze.) by two hye waies of which one goeth vp to Bethel, and the other to Gibeā, thowse the fielde) vppon a thirtene men of Israel. And the children of Ben Iamin sayd: We pare fallen befoze vs, as at the first. But the childze of Israel sayd: let vs slye and placke them awaye from the citie, vnto the hye wayes. And all the men of Israel rose vp out of their place, and put them selues in araye at Baal Thamar. And likewise the iyers in a wayte of Israel came forth out of their places, euen out of the medowes that were aboute Gibeā, and came agaynst Gibeā: ten thousande chosen men, out of all Israel, and there was a loze battell. But the other wylde nor that so great euill was so nre them. And the Lord plagued Ben Iamin befoze Israel, and the children of Israel destroyed of the Beniamites the same day. xxb. thousande, and an hundred men, that dyne swerdes euery one of them. And when the children of Ben Iamin sawe that they were put to the woyle, the men of Israel gaue some to the Beniamites because they trusted vnto the iaters in wayte, which they had layde besyde

Gibeā. And the iaters in wayte halled, and ranne vpon Gibeā, and went and smote all the citie with the edge of the swerde. And an appoyntment hadde the men of Israel from the iyers in wayte, that they shoulde make a great smoke wyle vpe out of the citie. And when the men of Israel fledde in the battell: Ben Iamin began to smyte deade of the children of Israel, about a thirtie persones, and sayd: the other are put to the woyle befoze vs, as in the first battell. But when there began to aryle out of the citie a pillar of smoke, the Beniamites looked backe: and beholde, the waisting of the whole citie, beganne to ascende vpe to heauen. When the men of Israel also turned agayne, the men of Ben Iamin were abashed, for they sawe that euill approached theym. And therfore they turned their backes befoze the men of Israel, vnto the way that leadeth to the wilbernesse, but the men of warre ouertoke them. And besyde that, they whiche came out of the citie, destroyed theym in the middle of theym. And thus they compassed the Beniamites aboute, and chased them to Menzha, and our ranne them to Gibeā, on the east side: and there were slaine of Ben Iamin. xxiij. thousande, which were al men of warre. And they turned and fled to the wilbernesse swarde, and vnto the rocke of Rimmon. And thether slewe by the waye of the rest of them, fye thousand men, and stiked vnto them, vntill they came to Gibon and slewe two thousand men of them. So that all that were slaine that same day of Ben Iamin wer. xxb. thousand men that dyne swerdes, which were all men of warre: only. vi. hundred men turned and fled to the wilbernesse, vnto the rocke of Rimmon, and abode there. iiij. monethes. And the men of Israel turned backe agayne vnto the children of Beniamin, and smote theym with the edge of the swerde in the cities, both mans hand, and all that came to hande, and as in fye, all the cities that they came by.

The. xxi. Chapter.

AND every manne of Israel ware in Mizpa, saying: There shal none of vs geue his daughter vnto any of Ben Jamin to wife.
And the people came to Bethell, and abode there till euen, befoze God, and lift vp their voyces, and wepte soze, and saide: O Loyde God of Israel, why is this chaunced in Israel, that there should be this day one tribe lac-kinge in Israel? And on the morow the people rose vp betyme, and made there an altar, and offered burnt offe-ringes and peace offeringes. And the children of Israel asked, who ar they among all the tribes of Israel, that came not vp with the congregation vnto the Loyde? For they had made a great othe concerning him that came not vp to the Loyde to Mizpa, saying: He shal surely dye. And the children of Israel had pitie on Ben Jamin their brethren, and sayd: There is one tribe cursed from Israel this daye: what shall we do vnto the remnant of them that they may haue wiues? We haue sworne by the Loyde, that we will not geue them of our daughters to wiues.

B And they said: Is there any of the tribes of Israel, that came not vp to Mizpa to the Loyde? And behold, ther came none of the inhabitants of Jabes Gilead vnto the hoste and congregation.
For the people were blessed: and behold, there wer none of the inhabitants of Jabes Gilead there. And they sent thither a multitude, enē. xij. thousand men of the strongest of them, and commanded them, saying: go and smite the inhabitants of Jabes Gilead with the edge of the sword, bothe women and children. And this is it that ye shall do: bitterly destroy all the males and all the women that haue lpen by men. And they founde amonge the inhabiters of Jabes Gilead foure hundred damoels, virgins, that had knowen no man, by lying with any male.
And they brought them vnto the host to Mizpa, which is in the lande of Canaan. And the whole congregation dancd with the children of Ben Jamin, that were in the Roche of Brammon, and called peaceabylge vnto them: and Ben Jamin came agayne at that time, and they gaue them wy-ues, whiche they had sauēd alpye of the women of Jabes Gilead. But they suffised them not. And the people had compassion on Benjamin, because that God had made a gap in the Tribes of Israel. And then the elders of the congregation, sayd: what shall we do to the remnant of them, to get them wyues, seying all the wiues of Ben Jamin are destroyed? And they sayd: There must be an inheritaunce for them that be escaped of Ben Jamin, that a Tribe be not destroyed out of Israel: howe be it, we maye not geue them wiues of our daughters.

For the children of Israel had sworne saying: Cursed be he that geueth a wife to Ben Jamin. Then they said: Beholde, there is a crasse of the Loyd perely in Silo, which is on the north side of Bethell, and on the east syde of the way that goeth from Bethell to Sithem, and southe from Libanon.
Therefore they commaunded the children of Ben Jamin, saying: Go and lye in wayte in the vineyardes. And when ye se that the daughters of Silo come out to dance in a rowe, then come ye out of the vineyardes, & catch you every man a wyfe of the daughters of Ben Jamin. And when their fathers or brethren come to vs to complaine, we will say vnto them: Have pitie on vs for their sakes, because we reserved not to eche man his wyfe in time of war. Nether haue ye geuen vnto them, that ye should sinne at this time. And the children of Ben Jamin did euen so: and toke them wiues according to the number of theym that danced, whom they caught. And they wente, and returned to their inheritance, and repayed the cities, and dwelte in them. And the children of Israel departed thence at that time, and went every man to his tribe, and to his kindred, and went out fro thence every man to his inheritaunce. In those dayes there was no kinge in Israel.

Israel: but every man did that which seemed right in his owne eyes.

The ende of the Booke of Judges, called in the He-brye Hophitim.

The booke of Ruth

The first Chapter.

Fortuned that (in the days of a certain Judge) whenne the iudges iudged, there fell a dearthe in the lande, and a certayne man of Bethlehem Iuda went to sojorne in the countrey of Moab: he and his wife, and his two sonnes. The name of the man was Emilelech, and the name of his wyfe, Naomi, and the names of his two sonnes were, Mahlon and Chilion, and they were Ephraimites out of Bethlehem Iuda. And when they came into the land of Moab, they continued there. And Emilelech Naomis husband dyed, and she remayned with her two sonnes, which toke the wives of the nations of the Moabites: the ones name was Orpha, and the others Ruth. And they dwelled there about a ten yere. And Mahlon and Chilion dyed also, even bothe of them, and the woman was left desolate of her two sonnes, and of her husband. When stode she by with her daughters in law, and returned from the countrey of Moab: for she hearde say in the countrey of Moab, how that the Lord had visited his people, and geuen them breade. Wherefoze she departed out of the place where she was and her two daughters with her. And they wente on their waye to retourne vnto the lande of Iuda. And Naomi said vnto her two daughters in law: Go and retourne eche of you vnto your mothers house: for the Lord deale as kinde with you, as ye have deale with the deade, and with me. And the Lord geue you, that you may fynd rest, eether of you in the house of her husband. And when shee kyssed them, they lyste by their voyce and wept, and said vnto her: We will goe with thee vnto thy folke. And Naomi said: Turne agayn my daughters for what cause will you goe with me? Are ther any mo children in my wombe to be your husbandes? Turne agayne my daughters, and goe: for I am to old to haue an husbnde. And yf I sayd, I haue hope, yf I tooke a man also this night: yea & thoughte I had already boyne sonnes, wold ye tary after them, till they wer of age? Wold ye for them so long refrayne from taking of husbandes? Not so my daughters: for it greueth me much for your sakes, that the hande of the Lord is gone out against me. And they lyste by their voyces, and wept againe, and Orpha kissed her mother in law, but Ruth abode stil by her. And Naomi said: He, thy sister in law is gon back agayne vnto her people, and vnto her goodes: retourne thou after her. And Ruth answered: Entreate me not to leaue thee, and to retourne from after thee: for whither thou goest, I will goe also, and where thou dwellest, there I will dwell: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God. When thou dyest, there will I dye, and ther will I be buried. The Lord doo so to me, if ought but deathe only departe thee and me asunder. When she sawe that she was stedfastly mynde to goe with her, she left speaking vnto her. And so they wente toge, until they came to Bethlehem. And when they wer come to Bethlehem, it was noyld of them thosowe all the cite, and the women sayde: Is not this Naomi? And she answered them, Call me not Naomi, (that is to say, beautifull) but call me Mara, (that is to say, bytter.) For the almighty hath made me very bitter. I went out full, and the Lord hath brought me home agayne emptye, why then call ye me Naomi, saying the Lord hath humbled me, and the almighty hath brought me vnto aduersitie: And so Naomi with Ruth the Moabitess her daughter in lawe, returned out of the countrey of Moab, and came to Bethlehem, in the beginning of barley harvest.

AND Naomis husbnd had a kinsman of strength & might (which was of the kindred of Elimelech) named Booz. And Ruth the Moabitess layd vnto Naomi: let me go to the field, and gather eare of coine (suche as the reapers leaue) after any man, in whose sight I fynde grace. And she sayde vnto her: Go my daughter. And she wente and came to the fiede, and gathered after the reapers, and her chaunce was, that the same fiede pertained vnto Booz, which was of the kindred of Elimelech. And behold, Booz came from Bethlehem, and sayde vnto the reapers: the Lord be with you. And they answered him: the Lord blesse thee. Then sayde Booz vnto his ponge man that stode by the reapers. Whose Damosell is this? And the pong man that stode by the reapers, answered, and said: It is the Moabitess damosell, that came with Naomi out of the countrey of Moab, and she laide vnto vs: Oh let me leaue and gather after the reapers, the eares that remain: and so she came and hath continued euen from the morning vnto now, saue that she tarped a little in the house. Then laide Booz vnto Ruth: Hearest thou my daughter? Go to none other fiede to gather, neyther go from hens, but abide here by my maydens. Let thine eyes be on the fiede that they reape, and goo thou after the maydens. Hane I not charged the pong men, that they shall doo thee no hurt? Whereouer, when thou art a thirde, go vnto the deccis, and buye of that which the ladden haue buyen. Whenne she fell on her face, & bowed her selfe to the ground, and sayd vnto him: howe is it that I haue found grace in thine eyes, & that thou shouldest knowe me, seeing I am an aleant? And Booz answered and sayd vnto her: All is told and shewed me, that thou hast done vnto thy mother in lawe since the death of thine husband, howe thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the lande where thou wast borne, and art come vnto a nation whiche thou knewest not in tyme passed. The Lord requite thy woozke, and a full reward be geuen thee of the Lord GOD of Israell, vnder whose winges thou art come to abide. Then she sayde: Let me fynde fauour in thy sight my Lord, thou that hast comforted me, and spoken heartely vnto thy mayde, whiche yet am not like vnto one of thy maydens. Booz sayde vnto her againe: In tyme of refection, come thou hither, and eate of the bzeade, and dippe thy soppe in the vineiger. And she satte downe by the reapers, and he reached her parched coine, of the whiche she bidde eate, and was satisfied, and leste parte. And when she was risen vp to gather, Booz commanded his ponge men, sayinge: let her gather euen amonge the heapes, and forbidde her not. And leaue her some of the sheues for the nonce, and lette it lye, that she may gather it by, (without shame) and rebuke her not. And so she gathered in the fiede, vntill euen, and chesherd, that she hadde gathered, and it was in measure vpon an Ephra (that is thre bushels) of barley. And she tooke it by, and went into the Citie: and when her mother in lawe hadde serue what she had gathered, she plucked out also and gaue to her that she had reserved when she had eaten ynough. And her mother in lawe sayde vnto her: Where hast thou gathered to day? and where wroughtest thou? Blessed be he that knowe thee. And she shewed her mother in lawe howe she had wrought with him, and sayde: The mannes name with whom I wrought to day is Booz. And Naomi sayde vnto her daughter in lawe: Blessed be he of the Lord, for he craeth not to do good to the liuinge, and to the dead.

And

Naomi

Ruth.

And Naomi sayde agayne vnto her: the man is nye vnto vs, and of oure next kinne. And Ruth the Moabite, sayde: he sayd vnto me also. Thou shalt be with my pong men vntil they haue ended al my haruest: And Naomi answered vnto Ruth her daughter in law: it is best my daughter that thou go out with his maydens, that they fall not vpon thee in any other fiede. And so she keppe her by the maydens of Booz, to gather, vnto the ende of barley haruest, and of wheat haruest also, & dwelt with her mother in law.

The. iij. Chapter.

Then Naomi her mother in law sayde vnto her: my daughter, shall I not seeke rest for thee, that thou mayest prosper? And is not Booz our kinsman, with whose maydes thou wast? Behold, he wenooweth barley to night in the threshinge floure: washe thy selfe therfore, and anoint thee, and put thy rayment vpon thee, and get thee downe to the barne. But lette not a man knowe of thee, vntill he haue left eating & drinke. And when hee goeth to sleepe, make the place where he layeth him downe, and then goe and lifte vp the clothes that are on his feete, and laye thee downe there, and so shall he tell thee what thou shalt doo. And she answered her: all that thou biddest mee, I will do. And so she wente downe vnto the barne, and did accordeinge to all that her mother in lawe had her. And when Booz had eaten and dronken, and made him merpe, and was gone in, to lye downe beside the heape of cozne, she came softlye, and lifte vp the clothes of his feete, and layde her downe. And at midnight the manne was afrayde and groped. And beholde a woman lay at his fete. And he sayde, what art thou? she answered: I am Ruth thine handmayde, sprede thy wing ouer thine handmayde, for thou arte the nexte of the kinne. He sayde: blessed be thou in the Lord my daughter, for thou hast shewed moze goodnes in the latter ende, then at the beginning, in as muche as thou solow-

dest not ponge menne, whether they wer poze or rich. And now my daughter feare not, I will do to thee al that thou requirest, for all the Title of my people doth knowe, that thou art a woman of vertue. And it is true that I am of thy next kin, howebeit, there is one nper then I. Charge this nighte. And when morning is come, yf he will marpe thee, it is good, so let him doo. But if he wil not haue thee, as sure as the Lord liueth, I will haue thee: ly thou vntill the morning. And so she lay at his fete vntill the morning. And she arose by before one coulde knowe another. And he said: let no man knowe that there came any woman into the barne. And he said againe: hyng the malle that thou hast vpon thee, & holde it vp. And when she helde it vp, he met in sixe measures of barley, and layde it on her. And she gat her into the cite: and when she came in to her mother in law, she said: how is it? & the my daughter? And she told her al that the man had don to her. And sayde also: these. vi. measures of barley gaue he me & said: thou shalt not come empty vnto thy mother in law. Then sayde she my daughter, sit thou vntill thou knowe howe the matter will chaunce. For the man will not be in rest, vntill he haue finished the thing this same daye.

The. iij. Chapter.

Then wente Booz vnto the gate and sat him downe there: and beholde, the kinsman of whiche Booz spake, came by. Vnto whome he sayde: come and set downe here, and called him by his name. And he tourned in, and satte downe. And he tooke ten men of the elders of the cite, and saide: sit ye downe here. And they sat downe. And he saide vnto the kinsman: Naomi that is come agayne out of the countrey of Moab will sell a parcell of lande, which was oure brother Elimelech. And I thought to do thee to witte, and bid thee bye it before the inhabitants and elders of my people. If thou be willed to redeeme it, do: but and if thou wilt not purchase it, then tell me.

continually to moke her, because the 25 Lord had made her barren. And so did she peare by peare as oft as she wente vp to the house of the Lord. And so chafed her, which wepte, and did not eate. Then said Elihana her husband to her: Hanna, why wepest thou: and why eatest thou not: & why is thyne hert troubled: and why bestest to the, then ten sons: So Hanna rose vp after they had eaten & dronke in Shilo.
 And Eli the priest sate vpon a stoole by one of the side postes of the temple of the Lord. And she was troubled in her mynd, and prayed vnto the Lord, and wept sore, and bowed abow; and saide: O Lord of hostes, if thou wilt loke on the scruple of thine handmaid and remember me, & not forget thine handmaid, burgedie vnto thine handmayd a man childe: I will geue him vnto the Lord all the days of his life, and there shall no rasor come vpon his heade. And as she continued praying befoze the Lord, it fortuned that Eli marked her mouth. For Hanna spake in her hert, and her lyps did but moue only, but her voice was not herd: and therefore Eli thoughte she had ben dronken, and Eli said vnto her: How long wilt thou be dronken: put a way from thee the wyne that thou haste. Hanna answered and said: Not so my Lord.
 I am a woman of a frowdesul heart: I haue dronke neither wyne nor brogge drinke, but haue pouzed oute my soule befoze the Lord. Count not thine handmayde to be lyke a daughter of Belial, for out of the abundance of my mynes and greife haue I spoken by-therto. Eli answered her agayne, and said: So in peace, the God of Israell graunt thee thy petition, that thou hast asked of him. She saide: Lette thyne handmayde fynde grace in thy syncke.
 And so the woman went her waye, and did eate, and looked no more to sad.
 And they rose vp early, and worshyped befoze the Lord, and then returned, and came to their house to Shamath. And when Elihana his wife Hanna his wife, the Lord remembered her: for in morelle of time it came to pass, that she conceiued, & bare a sonne, & called his name Samuell (saying:) because I haue asked him of the Lord.

 And Elihana and all his house went vp to offer vnto the Lord, the offering due for the feaste, and also his bowe: Nevertheless, Hanna wet not vp, but said vnto her husband: I will tarpe vntill she hadde be weyned, and then I will bringe him, that he maye appere befoze the Lord, and there abyde for euer. Elihana her husband answered her: Doe what seemeth thee best: tarpe at home, vntill thou haste wep-ned him, and I beseech the Lord to make good his sayinge. And so the woman abode, and gaue her son sucke vntill she weyned him. And when she had weyned him, she toke him with her, with thre bullockes, & an Epha of flour, and a bottle of wyne, and brought him vnto the house of the Lord in Shilo, & the child was yet but tender of age. And they slue a bullocke, and brought in the lamb to Eli, and she sayd: Oh my Lord as truly as thy soule lyueth my Lord I am the woman that stode befoze the here praying vnto the Lord. For this lad I prayed and the Lord hath geuen me my desire which I asked of him: and therefore I haue geuen hym vnto the Lord, as long as he is mete for the Lord. And they worshipped the Lord there.

Chap. 9. Chapter.

 open vnto the Lord. My mouth is open vnto myne enemies, for a triumph in thy saluation. There is none so holy as the Lord, for nothing is nothing: Neither is there any strength as is ours. O Lord, we are not so muche proudely, let our gaies depart out of our mouthes: the Lord is a God of knowledge, and his purposes come to pass.

 The Lord maketh poore, and maketh of the duste, and lifteth up the beggar from the donghill: to set them a-with the seat of gloire. For the pillars of the earth are the Lordes, and he hath set the rounde world upon them. He will keepe the fete of his to Ramath to his house, and the ladde bidde minister vnto the Lord befoze Eli the prier. But the sonnes of Eli were chyliden of Beliall, and knewe not the Lord. And the priestes made a lawe for the people, that whensoeuer any man offered any offering, the priestes ladde came: while the fleshe was seething, and a fleshyooke with thre teeth in his hande, and thruste it into the panne, kettie, coulizon or pot.

 And all the fleshyooke broughte up, that the priestes took vnto theym: And so they did vnto all the Israelites, that came thither to Shiloh. Yea, and thereto, befoze they burnt the fat, the priedes ladde came and saide to the manne that offered: Geue fleshe that I maye drinke it for the prieste, for he will not drinke sodden fleshe of thee; but rawe.
 And yf any man sayde vnto him: Let swere him, yea, thou shalt geue it me now, and yf thou wylte nat, I will take it with violence. And the synne of yonge men was very great befoze the Lord. For menne abhorred the offeringe of the LORD. But the childe Samuell ministred befoze the Lord, & gyded aboute with a linnen Ephod. Moreover his mother made him a little coate, and brought it to him from yere to yere, when shee came vppre with her husbande to offer the offeringe in the solempne feastes: And Eli blessed Elhana and his wife, and sayde: the Lord geue thee seede of this woman; for the petition that shee asked of the Lord. And they wente vnto their owne home. And the Lord visited Hanna, so that shee concepued and bare thre sonnes and two daughters. And the childe Samuell grewe befoze the Lord. Eli was verie olde, and hearde all that his sonnes did vnto all Israel, and howe they laye with the women that way-ted at the doore of the Tabernacle of witnesse, and he sayde vnto theym: Why do ye suche thinges? For of all these people I heare euill reportes of you. Oh, maye my sonnes: for it is no good reporte that I heare, howe that ye make the Lordes people to trespasse. If one manne synne against another, doismen may be iudges: but if a man synne against the Lord, who will be his defence? For withstandinge, they hearkened not vnto the voyce of their father, because the Lord wold slay them. The childe Samuell profited, and grew, and was in fauor both with the Lord, and also with men. And there came a manne of God vnto Eli, & said vnto him: thus sayth the Lord, didst thou not I appeare vnto the house of thy father when they wer in Egypt subiect vnto Pharaos house?

 And I chose thy father out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, for to offer vpon mine altar, and to burne

And thou shalt see thine enemy in the tabernacle of the Lord, and in all the wealth which (God) shall give Israel, and there shall not be an elder in thine house for ever. Forasmuch as I will not destroye all the males that come of thee from mine altar: But to make thine eyes pale, & to make thine hearte melt. And all they that be multiplied in thine house, shall die if they be men. And this shall be a signe unto thee, that shall come vpon thy two sonnes, Ephraim and Simeon: when in one daye they shall dye both. And I will stirre me up a faithful priest, that shall do according to my heart and minde. And I will build him a sure house. And he shall walke before mine anointed for ever. And they that are left in thine house, shall come and crouch to him for a little peece of silver, and a cake of bread, and shall say: pnt me (I pray thee) in one office or other amonge the priests, that I maye have a morsell of bread.

Ch. 13. Chapter.

A And the child Samuel ministered unto the Lord before Eli, and the word of the Lord was precious in those dayes, neither was there anye open vision. And it chanced at that time, that Eli lay in his place, and his eyes began to waxe dimme, that he could not see: And yet the lampe of God went not out, Samuel layd him downe to sleepe in the temple of the Lord, where the Ark of God was. And the Lord called

Samuel, and he sayd: here I am, and became unto Eli, and sayd: Here am I, for thou hast called me. And he said: I called thee not: go agayne, and sleepe. And he went and layd him downe to sleepe. And the Lord called once agayne Samuel, and Samuel arose, and went to Eli, and sayd: I am here, for thou hast called me. And he answered: I called thee not my sonne: Go againe and take thy rest: Samuel knew not yet the Lord, neither was the word of the Lord yet opened unto him. And the Lord went to and called Samuel the thirde time. And he arose and went to Eli, and said: I am here, for thou hast called me. And Eli perceived that the Lord had called the child. Wherefore, Eli said unto Samuel: go, and lye downe, and if he call thee agayne, then say: speake on Lord, for thy servants heareth. So Samuel went and layd him downe in his place. And the Lord came, and stood, and called as before, Samuel, Samuel. Samuel answered: speake on for thy servants heareth. And the Lord said to Samuel: behold, I will do a thing in Israel, that both the cores of as many as heareth it, shall tingle. In that day I will rise up against Eli, all things which I have spoken concerning his house, from the beginning to the ending: I have told him. I will judge his house for ever, for the wickednes which he knoweth: for whē the people cursed his sons for the same wickednes, he was not corrected. And therefore, I have sworn unto the house of Eli, that the wickednes of Eli's house, shall not be purged with sacrifice nor offering for ever. Samuel lay till the morning, and opened the doores of the house of the Lord. And Samuel lewd to seeke Eli the priest. Then Eli lewd Samuel, and sayd: Samuel, what is this? And he answered: here I am, he sayd: what is that the Lord hath said unto thee? I pray thee hide it not from me: God doth and so to thee, if thou hide any thing from me, of all that he said unto thee. And Samuel told him enery whit, & he had nothing from him. And he said: It is the Lord, let him do what seemeth him best. And Samuel grew, & the Lord was with him, and left none of his words unperfomed. And all Israel feared Dan to Ber-sabe with that faithfull Samuel was made the Lords prophet. And the Lord appeared again in Shilo: for the Lord opened himselfe to Samuel in Shilo, through the word of the Lord.

The. iij. Chapter.

AND Samuel spake vnto all Israel. (And it fortuned, that in those dayes the Philistines came together to fight.) And Israel wente out against the Philistines to battaile, and pitched beside the helpestone. And the Philistines pitched in Aphek. And put theym selues in aray agaynst Israel. And when they ioynd the battaile, Israel was put to the worse before the Philistines. And the Philistines stode in aray along by the sides, about a foure thousand men. And when the people were come into their tentes, the elders of Israel said: Wherefore hath the Lord called vs downe this day before the Philistines: let vs seke the Lord of the appointment of the Lord out of Shilo vnto vs, that when it cometh among vs, it maye be out of the hande of our enemye. And so the people sent to Shilo, and set from thence the arke of the appointment of the Lord of hostes, whiche dwelleth betwene Cherubins. And there were the two daughters of Eli, Hophni, and Phinehes with the arke of the appointment of God. And it fortuned, that when the arke of the appointment of the Lord came into the host, all Israel shouted a mightye shout, so that the earth rang agayne. And when the Philistines heard the noyle of the shout, they sayde: What meaneth the lounde of this myghtye shout in the hoste of the Hebrews? And they understoode howe that the arke of the Lord was come into the hoste. And the Philistines were afrayd, and sayd: God is come into the hoste. And they sayde agayne vnto vs, for it was netter so before this. Wo vnto vs who shall deliuer vs out of the hande of these myghty Gods? These are the gods that smote the Egyptians with so many plagues in the wilderness. Be strong, & quite your selues like men, O ye Philistines, that ye be no seruantes vnto the Hebrewes, as they haue be come to you. Be of a manly courage therfore & fight. And the Philistines fought, & Israel was put to the worse, and fled every man into his tent. And ther was an exceeding great slaughter: for there were overthrowen of Israel. xxx. M. footemen. And the arke of God was taken, and the two sons of Eli, Hophni & Phinehes were dead. And ther ran a man of Ben Iamin out of the aray, & came to Shilo the same day with his clothes rent, and earth vpon his head. And whē he came, Eli sat vpon a stole & looked toward the way: for his heart feared for the arke of God. And when the man came into the city, & told it, all the citie cried. And whē Eli heard the noyle of the crying, he said: What meaneth this noyle of the rumour? And the man came in hastily, and told Eli. Eli was. xxviij. yere old, & his sight failed him: for he could not se. And the man said vnto Eli: I am he that came out of the aray, and fled this day out of the host. And he said: What thing is fortuned my son? The messenger aunswere, & said: Israel is fled before the Philistines, & ther is a great slaughter charged among the people, & thy two sons Hophni & Phinehes are dead, and the arke of God is taken. And it fortuned that whē he made mention of the arke of God, Eli felled of his stoles backward vpon the threshold of the gate, & his necke brake, & he died: for he was an old man and heuy, & iudged Israel forty yeres. And his daughter in lawe Phinehes wife was with child, & ny the birth. And whē she herd the tidings of the arke of God was taken, and that her father in lawe, & her husbando were dead, she bowed her self, and railed, for her paines came vpon her. And about the time of her deathe, the woman that stood about her, sayd vnto

Because the Ark of God was taken, and because of her father in law and her hus bande. And shee sayde agayne: The glozpe is gone fro Israell, for the arke of god is take.

The. v. Chapter.

AND the Philistines tooke the Arke of God, and carped it from the helpestone vnto Asdod, againe the Philistines tooke the arke of God, and broughte it into the house of Dagon, and set it by Dagō. And when they of Asdod were by in the next daye in the morning, beholde, Dagon lay vpon the earth before the Arke of the Lord. And they toke Dagon, and set him in his place agayne. And when they were by early in the next morning, behold, Dagon lay vpon the groundes before the Arke of the Lord, and his head, and his twoe handes cut vpon the threshold, that only the shape of a fish was left on him. And therefore is it, that the priestes of Dagon (neither any man that cometh into Dagon's house) treade not on the threshold of Dagon in Asdod vnto this day. But the hand of the Lord was heuy vpon them of Asdod, and he destroyed them, and smote them with emerodes; both Asdod and in all the costes thereof. (The villages also and the fields in the mids of the country wer full, & there came by mice, and ther was a confusion of great death in the cite.) And whē the men of Asdod saw that it was so, they said: the arke of the God of Israell shall not abide here with vs, for his hand is sore vpon vs and vpon Dagon our God. They sent therfore and gathered al the Lordes of the Philistines vnto them and said: what shal we do with the Arke of the God of Israell? They answered: let the arke of the God of Israell be carried about vnto Gath. And they carried the arke of the God of Israell aboute. And it fortuned, that when they had carried it about, there was by the hand of the Lord a mighty great noise in the cite, and he smote the wng of the cite both small and greates and they had secret diseases. (And the Gethites toke counsell, and made the selues priuy sears of skinned.) Therfore they sent the Arke of God to Akaron. And as soone as the Arke of God came to Akaron, the Akaronites cried out saying: they haue brought the Arke of the God of Israell to by to slea vs and our people. And so they sente, and gathered together all the Lordes of the Philistines and sayde: sende a waye the Arke of the God of Israell, to go againe to his owne place that it sle vs not and our people, for ther was great lamentation ouer the dead throughout all the Cite, and the hand of God was exceeding sore there. And the menne that dyed not, were smitten with the Emerodes: and the cry of the cite went by to heauen.

The. vi. Chapter.

THE Arke of the Lord was in the country of the Philistines seven monethes: and the Philistines called for the priestes and the southsayers, sayinge: what shal we do with the arke of the Lord? tell vs wherewith we shal sende it home agayne. They sayd: If thou sende the arke of the god of Israell home agayne sende it not emptye. But rewarde it with a trespassse offering, and then ye shall be whole, and it shalbe known to you, why his hande departed from you. Then sayd they: And what shalbe the trespassse offeringe, whiche we shal rewarde him with? They answered: siue golden artles and siue golden myce, according to the number of the Lordes of the Philistines, for it is one maner of plague on you all, and on youre Lordes. Wherfore ye shal make ymages like vnto your artles, and ymages like your myce that corrupt the land, and ye shal geue them vnto the God of Israell, that he may take his hand from off you, & from off your gods and from off your land. Wherfore doo ye harden your hearts as the Egyptians and Pharaos.

it out before the Lord, and said the same day, and said there we have sinned against the Lord. And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Mizpa. When the Philistines heard that the children of Israel were gathered together to Mizpa, the Lordes of the Philistines went up against Israel.
And when the children of Israel heard that, they were afraid of the Philistines, and the children of Israel said to Samuel: Cesse not to cry unto the Lord our God for vs, that he may save vs out of the hand of the Philistines.

that they fell before Israel. And the took a stone, and pitched it betwene Mizpa, and the marke of the rocke, & called the name thereof, the stone of help, saying: Hitherto hath the Lord helped vs. And so the Philistines were brought vnder, & they came no more into the coastes of Israel: and the hand of the Lord was against the Philistines at the days of Samuel. Thereto, the cities whiche that the Philistines had taken from Israel, were restored againe to Israel, taken from Machon to Gath, with the coastes of the same, and Israel plucked them out of the hands of the Philistines.

And there was peace betwene Israel and the Amorites. Samuel judged Israel all the dayes of his life, and wrote aboute yeare by yeare to Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpa, and judged Israel in all those places: and came againe to Ramah: for there was his house, and there he judged Israel also, and there he dwelt in an altar before the Lord.

The fifth Chapter.
When Samuel was old, he made his sonnes Judges ouer Israel. The name of his eldest sonne was Joel, and the name of the second Abia: and they were judges in Beerseba. And his sonnes walked not in his waies: but turned after aster lucre, and tokererward, and peruerted the right. Then all the elders of Israel gathered them together, and came to Samuel vnto Ramah, and said vnto him: Behold, thou art old, and thy sonnes walke not in thy waies.
Nowe therefore make vs a king to iudge vs as all other nations haue. But the thing displeased Samuel when they said: geue vs a king to iudge vs.
And Samuel prayed vnto the Lord, & said the Lord vnto Samuel: here the voice of the people in all that they say vnto thee. For they haue not talke thee away, but me, that I should not reigne ouer them. And as they haue e-uer done, so now I thought thou wast of Egypt vnto this day, and haste me, and serued other gods, with vs they vnto thee. Now therefore hearken vnto their voyces, so as wilt, yet testify vnto them, and shew them the autoritie of the king that shall reigne ouer them. And Samuel told all the words of the Lord vnto the people that asked a king of him, and he said: this shal be the autoritie of the king that shall reigne ouer you: he will take your sons & put the to his charets, & make his horsmen of them to run before his charet: & will make him of them captaines ouer thousandes and ouer he-cetes, and will set the to care his goods & to gather in his harvest, and to make instruments of war, and apparell for his charets. And will take your daughters and make the to potceries, oiles and bakets. And he shall take the best of your felde, & of your vineyardes of your olive trees, and your best his seruantes. And he shall take the tenth of your sheepe, and of your oxen parts, and geue it to his seruantes and to his seruantes. And he shall take the best of your men seruantes & seruaunts, and yong men, and of your asses, and put thepm to his woozke.

And he shall take the tenth of your sheepe, and ye shalbe his seruauntes.
And ye shall crye out at that time bypon your king, whiche ye shall haue chosen you, and the lord will not heare you at that day. Neuerthelesse, the people would not heare the voyce of Samuell, but did saye: Naye, not so. But there shall be a king ouer vs, that we maye bee like other nations, and that our king may iudge vs, and go out befoze vs, and fyghte our battles (for vs.) Therfoze when Samuell heard all the wordes of the people, he reherled them in the eares of the lord. And the lord sayd to Samuell: Hearken vnto their voyce, and make them a kynge. And Samuell sayd vnto the men of Israel: So eue-ry man vnto his citie.

The .ix. Chapter.

There was a man of Ben Jamin named . Cis, the sonne of Ibiell, the sonne of Zeror, the sonne of Bechozath, the sonne of Aphiath, the sonne of a man that was a Geminite, a mā of strenght and might: and the same had a sonne, called Saul, a goodly yong man, and a sapie: so that among the children of Israel, there was none goodlier then he. For from the shoulders bywarde he was hyer then all the other people.
And the asses of this Cis Sauls father were lost: and Cis said to Saule his sonne: Take one of the laddes with thee, and go by, and seke the asses. And he went throug mount Ephraim, and throug the land of Saniss, but they founde them not. Then they wēt throug the land of Galim, and there they were not. When they went also throug the land of Jem-ni, they founde them not. At the laste when they were come to the lande of Saph, Saule sayde to his ladde, that was with him: Come, let vs retorne least my father leaue carings for the asses, and take thoughte for vs. He sayde vnto him: Beholde, there is in this Citie a man of God and he is a wozshipfull man: all that he saith cometh surely to passe. Howe then lette vs go thither: peradventure he shall shew vs what way we may go. Then sayde Saul to his lad: if we will go what shall we brynge the man? For our breade is all spent out of our ves-seis, and there is none other presente to bryng the man of God: what haue we? And the lad answered Saule a-gayne, and sayde: I haue found about me the .iij. part of a sicke, that will I geue the man of God, to tell vs oure waye. Befoze time in Israel when a man went to seke an answer of God thus wyle he spake, come and let vs go to the sear. For he that is now called a prophet, was in the old time called a sear. Then said Saul to his lad: wel said of thee: com let vs go. And so they went vnto the Citie where the man of God was. And as they were going by into the cite, they met with damocels that came out to drawe water, and sayde vnto them: is there here a sear? And the maydens answered the, yea, (here is one) behold, he is be-foze you. Make hast now, for he cam this day to the cite, for there is an offring of the people this day in the hill.

When ye be com into the cite, ye shall find him straight way, yer he go by to the hill to eate: for the people will not eate vntill he come, because he doeth blesse the offring. And then eat they be bidden to the feast. Howe therfoze get you by, for this day shall ye finde him. And they went by to the Citie.
And when they were come into the midde of the cite: beholde, Samuell came out against them, for to go by to the hill. But the lord had told Samuell in his rare (a day befoze Saule came) sayinge: To morowe this time I will send thee a man out of the land of Ben Jamin, him shalt thou an-noynt to be Captaine ouer my people Israel, that he maye save my people out of the bandes of the Philistines: for I haue looked vpon my people, and their cry is come vnto me. When Lozde answered him: see, this is the man whom I spake to thee of. This same shall reigne ouer my people.

Then wente Saul to Samuel in the middle of the gate, and said: tel me I pray thee where the sears house is. Samuel answered Saul and sayde: I am the sear, go vp befoze me vnto the hill, for ye shal eate with me to day. And to morowe I wil let thee go and wil tell thee all that is in thine heart. And as for thine asses that were losse thye dayes ago, care not for them for they are found. And morosoner, whose

D shall the beutifull thinges of Israel be: delonge they not to thee, and vnto all thy fathers house: But Saul answered and sayd: am not I the son of a Ieminite, of the smallest tribe of Israel: And my kindred is the leasse of al the kindredes of the tribe of Ben-Jamin. Wherfoze then speakest thou so to me: And Samuel tooke Saul and his lad, and brought them into the parlor, and made them sit in the chiefest place amonge them that were bidden: which were vppon a thirtye persons: And Samuel said vnto the cooke: bringe forth the portion which I gaue thee, and of which I sayd vnto thee: keepe it with thee. And the cooke tooke vp the shoulder, and that which was vppon it, and set it befoze Saul. And Samuel sayde: beholde that which is left: put it befoze thee and eate, for hitherto hath it bene kept for thee, of purpose, when I called the people. And so Saul did eate with Samuel that daye. And when they were come downe from the hill into the Citie, Samuel communed with Saul vpon the top of the house, and when they arose earlie aboute the springe of the daye, Samuel called Saul vpon the top of the house, saying: vp that I may send thee away. And Saul arose, and they went oute at the doores, both hee and Samuel. And when they were come alittle oute of the towne, Samuel sayde to Saul: bid the lad go befoze vs (and he went befoze) but stande thou still a while, that I maye shew thee what God sayeth. The .x. Chapter.

A And the Samuel toke a vessel of oyle, and powred it vpon his head, and kissed him and said: I hath not the Lozde anointed thee to be captayne ouer his inheritance: and thou shalt deliuer his people oute of the handes of their enemyes which are round about them. And this token shalt thou haue, that the Lozde hath anointed thee to be prince. When thou art departed from me this daye, thou shalt finde .ij. men by . Beth-lehem in the border of Ben-Jamin, enst at Jazrah. And they will saye vnto thee: the asses which thou wentest to seke are found. And so thy father hath left the care of the asses, and forsooth for you saying: what shal I do for my sonne: Then shalt thou go forth from thence, and shalt come to the plaine of Chaboz. And ther shal mete thee thre men going vp, to God to Bethel: one carrying .ij. kids: & another carrying .ij. ioues of byred: and another carrying a bottle of wine. And they will salute thee & geue thee .ij. loines of byed which thou shalt receiue of their handes. After þ thou shalt come to the hill of god, wher þ Whilistins kepe their watch. And when thou art come thither to þ citie, thou shalt mete a compaigne of prophets coming down from the hill, with a psalter, a timbrell, a pipe, and a harpe befoze the, & they shal prophesy. And the spirit of þ Lozde wil com vpon thee also & thou shalt prophesy as the, and shalt be turned into another man. Therfoze whē these signes are shewed thee, doo what thou hast to do: for þ God is with thee. And thou shalt go befoze me to Gilgal. And I also will com down vnto thee, to sacrifice burnt sacrifices, and to offer peaceofferings. Carry for me seuen dayes, til I come to thee, & shewe thee, what thou shalt doo. And alsoone as he had turned his shoulder to goe from Samuel, God gaue him another maner of beate, and at those tokens cam to passe that daye. And whē they cam to the hill: behold, the compaigne of prophets met him and the spirit of God came vpon him also, and he prophesied amonge them. And all that knewe him before, when they sawe that he prophesied amonge the prophetes, they sayd ech to other: what is this that is happened vnto the sonne of Cisr? Is Saul also amonge the prophetes? And one of the same place answered and sayde: Who is theyr father? And therof came the psonerbe: what is Haule also amonge the prophetes? And when he had made an ende of prophesying, he came to the hill. And Haules fathers brother saide vnto him, and to his lad: whither went ye? He sayde: to seeke the asses: and when we saw that they were no where, we came to Samuel. And Hauis vncle sayd: Telle me what Samuel said vnto you? Saul answered his vncle: He told vs plainlye, that the asses wer found. But of the kingdome wherof Samuel spake, told he him not. And Samuel called the people together vnto the Lord to Mizpa, and sayd vnto the children of Israel: Thus said the Lord God of Israel: I brought Israel out of Egypt, and deliuered you out of the hande of the Egyptians, and out of the handes of all kingdomes that troubled you. And ye haue this day cast away your God that helped you out of all your aduersities and tribulations. And ye haue sayd vnto him: Make a kinge ouer vs. Now therfore stand ye before the Lord by your tribes, and your thousandes. And when Samuel hadde brought all the tribes of Israel, the Tribe of Ben Iamin was caughte. When he had brought the tribe of Ben Iamin by their kindredes, the kindred of Metri was caught: and at the last Saul the sonne of Cis was caught. And when they sought him, he coulde not be found. Therfore they asked the Lord further, yf the man shoulde come thither. And the Lord answered: Beholde, he hath hid him selfe amonge the bushes. And they ranne and sette him thence. And when he stoode amonge the people, he was hyer then anye of the people, frome the shoulders vpward. And Samuel saide to all the people: See ye not him, whom the Lord hath chosen, and howe there is none like him amonge all the people? And all the people shouted and saide: God lend the king lyfe. Then Samuel told the people the date of the kingdome, and wrote it in a booke, and layd it vp before the Lord, and sent all the people awayne, euery man to his house. And Haule also went home to Gibea. And there folowed him strong men, whose hearts God had touched. But the children of Belial said: How shall he saue vs? and they despised him, and brought him no presentes. And he helde his tongue.

Cher. xi. Chapter.

Nahas the Ammonite came, and besieged Iabes in Gilead. And all the men of Iabes sayd vnto Nahas: make a couenant with vs, and we will be thy seruantes. And Nahas the Ammonite answered them: In this will I make a couenant with you, yf I may thruste oute all your righte eyes, and bring that shame vpon al Israel. To whom the elders of Iabes said: geue vs seven dayes respice, that we may sende messengers vnto all the coastes of Israel. And then yf there be no man to helpe vs, we will come oute to thee. Then came the messengers to Gibea vnto Saul, and tolde this tydinges in the eares of the people. And all the people lyste vp their voyces, and wept. And beholde, Haule came folowing the cattell out of the fieldes, and Haule sayde: what ayleth this people that they wepe? And they told him the tidinges of the men of Iabes. And the spirite of God came vpon Saul, when he heard those tidinges, and he was exceeding angrie, and toke a yoke of oxen, and hewed them in peeces, and sente them thorowout al the colles of Israel by the hands of messengers, saying: whosoever cometh not forth after Saul, after Samuel, so shal his oxen be serued. And the feare of the Lord fell on the people, and they came oute as it had bene but one manne. And whene he them in Bezek, the children of Israel were thier hundred thousande men, and the men of Iuda thirty thousand. And they sayde vnto the messengers that came: So saye vnto the men of Iabes in Gilead: O mozo we by that time the sonne be hotte, ye shall haue helpe. And the messengers came and shewed the men of Iabes, whiche were glad: Therfore the men of Iabes saide: O mozo we will come cut vnto you, and ye shall do with vs all that pleaseth you. And on the morowe it fortuned, that Saule put the people in thre partes. And they came in vpon the host in y morning watche and slewe the Ammonites untill the heate of the day. And they that remained, were scatered: so that two of the wer not left together. And the people said vnto Samuell: what is he that dare saye: Shall Saule reygne ouer vs? Winge those men that we maye slay them. And Saule sayde: There shall no man dye this daye, for to daye the Lord hath saued Israel. Then sayd Samuell vnto the people: Come that we maye goe to Gilgal, and renew the kingdome there. And all the people went to Gilgal, & made Saule kinge there, before the Lord in Gilgal. And there they offered peace offerings before the Lord. And there Saule and all the men of Israel reioysed exceedingly.

Samuell sayde vnto all Israel: Beholde, I haue hearkened vnto your voyce, in all that ye sayde vnto me, and haue made you a king. Nowe therefore, your king walketh before you. And I am olde and graye headed: and beholde, my sonnes are with you, and I haue walked before you from my childhode vnto this day. Beholde, here I am: beare recorde of me before the Lord, and before his anointed. Whose oxe haue I taken? or whose asse haue I taken? whom haue I doone wronge to? whom haue I hurt? Or of whose hand haue I receiued any bypbe; to blinde myne eyes therewith, and I will restore it you againe. & he sayd: Thou haste done no wrong, nor hurte vs, neither haste thou taken ought of any mans hand. He sayd vnto them agayn: The Lord is witnesse agaynst you, and his anointed is witnesse this daye, that ye haue found naught in my hands. And they answered: He is witnesse. And Samuell saide vnto the people: It is the Lord, that made Moses and Aaron, and that broght your fathers out of the land of Egypt. Nowe therefore stand still, that I maye reason with you before the Lord, according to all the righteousnesses of the Lord, which he shewed both you and your fathers. After that Jacob was come into Egypte, and your fathers cryed vnto the Lord, the Lord sent Moses and Aaron, which brought your fathers out of Egypt, and made them dwell in this place. And when they sought the Lord their God, he deliuered them into the hand of Sifara captain of the hoste of Habor. And into the hand of the Philistines, and into the hand of the kynge of Moab, and they fought agaynst them. And they cryed vnto the Lord, and said: We haue sinned because we haue forsaken the Lord, and haue serued Baalim and Ashteroth. Nowe therefore deliuer vs out of the handes of our enemies, & we will serue thee. And the Lord sent Jerubball, & Badaan, & Jephthah, and Samuell, and deliuered you oute of the handes of your enemies on every side, and ye dwelled safe. And for all that, when you sawe that Nahas the king of the children of Ammon cam against you, ye sayd vnto me: No, but a kinge shall reigne ouer vs, when yet the Lord your God was your king. Nowe therefore, behold, the king whom ye haue chosen, and whom ye haue despised: Lo, the Lord hath set a king ouer you. If ye will seare the Lord, and serue him, and heare his voyce, and not disobey the word of the Lord your God, then shall ye be prospered. For ye shall knowe that ye shall prosper, if ye will not forsake the Lord your God: If ye will not forsake the boyc of the Loyde, but disabey the Loydes mouth, then shall the hande of the Loyd be vpon you, and on your fathers. Now also stand & see this great thing, which the Loyde will do before your eyes: is it not now wheat harvest? I will cal vnto the Loyd, and he shall sende thunder and rayne, that ye may perceiue and see howe that your wickednes is greates, whiche ye haue done in the sight of the Loyd, in asking you a kinge. And so Samuell called vnto the Loyd, and the Loyd sent thunder and rayne the same day. And al the people feared the Loyde and Samuell exceedingly. And all the people saide vnto Samuell: pray for thy seruantes vnto the Loyde thy God, that we dye not, for we haue synned in asking vs a kyng, beside all the synnes that euer we dyd. And Samuell sayde vnto the people, feare not. Ye haue in dede done all this wickednes, yet deport not fro following the Loyde. But serue him euen with all your heartes. Neyther turne ye after dayne things which are not able to profite you, for they are but vanitie. For the Loyde will not forsake his people, because of his great names sake, because it hath pleased the Loyde to make you his people. Moreover, God forbyd that I should synne agaynst the L O R D E, and cease praying for you, but to shewe you the good and ryght waye. Therfore feare you the Loyde, and serue him in the truth and with all your heartes: and consider howe greates things he hath done for you. But and yf ye do wpykedlye, then shall ye perishe, both ye and your kinge.

Saul had bene kinge one yeaere, (when these thynges camme to passe) and he reigned two yeres ouer Israel. And Saule chose him three thousande men of Israel. Two thousand were with Saule in Michmas, and in mount Bethel, and a. M. with Jonathan in Gibe Ben Jamin. And the rest of the people he sent eury man to his owne house agayne.

And Jonathan smote the holde of the Philistines, that was in the hill, and it came to the Philistines eares. And Saule blew the trompet throughout all the lande, saying: let the Hebrews heare. And all Israel heard say, howe that Saule had destroyed an holde of the Philistines, wherefore Israel stanke before the Philistines. And the people gathered together after Saule to Gilgali. The Philistines also gathered them selues together to spyghte with Israel, thirtie thousand charets, and sixe thousande horsemen, with other people lyke the. And by the seas syde in multitude, and came vppe, and pitched in Michmas eastwarde from Bethatien. And when the men of Israel sawe it they were in a streite, and feare came vpon the people, and they hyd them selues in canes, and in pryuy holes, and in rockes, and in hie wates, and in pyts. And some of the Hebrews went ouer Jordan to go vnto the land of Gad and Gilead. And Saule was yet in Gilgali, and all the people that folowed him were astonied. And he taried seven daies, euen vnto the time that Samuell. had appoynted. But Samuell came not to Gilgali, and the people were therfore scattered from him. And Saule said: bying a burnt sacrifice to me and peaceofferings. And he offered burnt sacrifice. And as sone as he had made an ende of offering the burnt sacrifice, behold Samuell came. And Saule went against him, to blesse him. And Samuell sayd: what hast thou done? Saule sayd: because I sawe that the people scattered from me, and that thou camest not within the daies appoynted, and that the Philistines gathered theselues together to Michmas: therfore said I: the Philistines shall come downe nowe vpon me to Gilgali, and I haue not made supplication vnto the Loyd. And whē I had overcome my selfe, at the last I offered a burnt offering. And Samuel saide to Saule: Thou art become a foole, thou halste not kepthe the commaundement of the Loyde thy God which he commaunded thee. For at this time woulde the Lord haue stablished thy kyngdome vpon Israel for ever. But now, thy kyngdome shall not continue. • The Lord hath sought hym a man after his own hart, and the Lord hath commanded him to be captayne ouer his people, because thou hast not kepte that which the Lord commaunded thee. And Samucll arose and gat hym vp from Gylgath, Gibea Ben Jamin (and the remnant of the folke wente vp after Saul, to meete the people, which sought agaynst them, as they were comminge from Gylgal to Gibea in the hyll of Ben Jamin.) And Saul numbred the people that were founde with him, and they were about a fyve hundred man. And Saul and Jonathas his sonne and the people that were founde with them had their abyding in the hyll of Ben Jamin. But the Philistines pitched in Michmas. And there came out of the hoste of the Philistines thre companies, to destroy, one companye turned vnto the waye that leaderth to Ophra vnto the lande of Saul. And another companye turned the waye to Bethoron. And the thirde companye turned to the waye of the coaste that is sene about the valye of Zebolim toward the wyldernesse. There was no smith found throughout all the lande of Israel. For the Philistines sayd: Leste happely the Hebrews make the swordes or speeres. But all the Israelues went downe to the Philistines, to mende every man his share, his mattocke, his axe and his necessarye toles: And then the edges of the shares, mattocks, donge foxkes, and axes were blunte, and also the foxkes were to be set in. And so in time of battell there was neither swerde nor speere founde in the handes of any of the people that were with Saul and Jonathas. But with Saul and Jonathas his sonne was there somewhat found. And the watch of the Philistines came out, to go ouer vnto Michmas.

And it fortuned the same time, that Jonathas the sonne of Saul sayde vnto his yonge man that bare his harness: come, and let vs gooner to the philistines watch that are vnder on the other syde, and he tolde not his father. And Saul layed in the bittermoste parte of Gibea vnder Rimmon, which is in Agidon and the people that were with hym were vpon a fyve hundred men. And Itha the sonne of Thirab, Ichabods brother, the sonne of Shimeas, the sonne of Ely, was the Lordes huske in Gilo and were an Ephod. And the people wylde not that Jonathas was gone. And in the myddes of the passage (by which Jonathas sought to go ouer vnto the Philistines watch) were there two sharpe rockes, cum one on the one syde, and the other on the other syde: the one called Boyez, and the other Senne. The forefront of the one, leane northward toward Michmas, and the other was southward toward Gibea: And Jonathas sayde to the yonge man that bare his harness: come and let vs go ouer vnto the watch of these vncircumcised, peradventure the Lord will wylke with vs: for it is no hardnesse with the Lord. • to saue eyther in manye or in fewe. And his harnesser sayd vnto him: to all that is in thine hart: So where it pleaseth thee: Behold, I am with thee as thine hart listeth. Then sayde Jonathas: beholde, we go ouer vnto these men, and shall shewe our selues vnto them: if they saye on this wyse to vs: tarpe, hntyll we come to poue, then we will stande still in our place and not go vp vnto them. But and yf they saye: come hye vnto vs, then will we go vp, for the Lord hath deliuered them into our handes. And this shalbe a sygne vnto vs. And they bothe thewed them selues vnto the watch of the Philistines: And the Philistines said: se, the Hebrews come out of the holes where they had hid them selues in. And the monne of the watche answered Jonathas and his harnesser, and said: come vs to.

and we will shewe you a thinge. And Jonathas sayde vnto his harnes bearer, come by after me, for the Roide hath deliuered theym into the hande of Israel. And Jonathas clame by vpon hands and fete, and his harnes bearer after him. And (so when they had seene Jonathas face) they fell before Jonathas: and his harnes bearer shewe them after him. And that fyre slaughter whiche Jonathas and his harnes bearer made, was vpo a twentie men, within the compasse as it were about an halfe aker of land. And there was a feare in the holle in the fieelde, and amonge al people: in so much that they that were gone out of the watche to rob were astrayd also: and the earth trembled for the feare that was scene of God. And the watch men of Saul in Gibe Ben Jamin, sawe. And beholde, the people (of the Philistines) were scattered and were smitten as they went. Then sayd Saul vnto the people that was with him. Searche and see, who is gone awaye from vs. And when they had numbred, behold, Jonathas and his harnes bearer were not there. And Saul sayd vnto Abia: bringe hither the Arke of God. For the Arke of God was at that tyme with the chyldren of Israel. And it fortuned that while Saul talked vnto the Prieste, the noise that was in the holle of the Philistines spred farther abrode and encreased (by litle and litle, and gaue a moze cleare sounde.) And Saul sayd vnto the prieste: with drawe thine handes. And Hauile toynd him selfe vnto all the people that were with him, and they came to the battell. And beholde. every mannes sword was agaynst his felowe, and there was a very great rmoz. Mozeouer, the Chyces that were with the Philistines before that tyme, and were come with them into all partes of the host, turned to be with the Israelites that were with Saul and Jonathas. And all the men of Israel also, which had hid themselves in mount Ephraim, as sone as they heard how that the Philistines were fled, they folowed

after the in the batell. And so god holpe Israel that day. And the battell continued vnto Bethauen. And when the men of Israel were kept down with hunger that day, Saul charged the people with an oth saying: Cursed be the man that eateth any foode butt hight, till I be aduenged of mine ennemyes. And so, none of the people tasted anye sustenance. And all the inhabitants of the lande came to a wood where hong lay vpon the grounde. And the people came into the wood: And behold, the hong dropped, & no man moued his hand to his mouth, for the people feared the oth. But Jonathas hard not what his father charged the people with the oth, wherefore he put forth the ende of the rod that was in his hand, & dipte it in an hong combe, & put his hande to his mouth, & his eyes receyued sight. He answered one of the people & sayd: thy father adured the people, saying: Cursed be the man that eateth anye sustenance thys day: and the people were faint. He said Jonathas: my father hath troubled the land: see howe mine eyes hath receiued sight, because I tasted a litle of this hong: how much moze then to day if the people had eat of the spoyle of their ennemyes which they found. And had there not bene then a much greter slaughter among the philistines: & they layed on the philistines that day, fro Michmas to Bialon. And the people were exceeding faintie. And the people gat them to the spoyle, and toke shepe, oxen, & calues, & slue them on the ground, & the people did eat the with the blud. Then men told Saul saying: Behold, the people sin against the Lord, in that they eat with the blud. And he said: ye haue trespassed. Howl a gret stone vnto me this day, & Saul sayd agayn: Go abrod among the people and bid them bring me euery man his oxe, & euery man his shepe, & slay them here, & sin not against the lord in eating with the bloud. And the people brought euery man his oxe in his hand by night & slew them there. And Saul made an altar vnto the Lord. And that was the first altar that he made vnto the Lord.

And Saul said: let vs go downe after the Philistines by night, & spoyle them, vntill it be day in the morning, and let vs not leaue one man of them.
And they sayde: do whatsoeuer thou thinkest best. Then sayde the prielle: let vs come hither vnto God. And Saul asked of God, shall I go downe after the Philistines: will thou deli-uer them into the handes of Israell?
But he answered him not at y time.
And Saul sayde: let the people come hither out of all quarters, and knowe and see by whom this sinne is chaun-ced this day: for as cruely as the Lord liueth whiche sauech Israell, though it be in Jonathas my sonne, he shall dye the death. But there was no man amonge all the people that answered him. Then he sayde vnto all Israell: be ye on one side, and I and Jonathas my sonne will be on the other side.
And the people sayde vnto Saul: what thou thinkest beste, that doo.
Therefore Saul sayde vnto the Lord God of Israell: geue a perfecte lotte (Lord God, geue thou the iudgement howe happeneth it, that thou geuest thy seruauent no answer to day: If this synne bee in me or in Jonathas my sonne, shewe it, or yf this iniqui-tye be in thy people.) And Saul and Jonathas were caughte, but the people scape free. And Saul sayd: cast lots betwene me and Jonathas my sonne.
And Jonathas was caughte. Then Saul sayd to Jonathas: tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathas tolde him, and sayde: I tasted a little honey with the ende of the rod that was in myne hande: and so, I must dye. Saul answered: . God do so and so to me, thou shalt dye the death Jonathas.
And the people sayd vnto Saul: shall Jonathas dye whiche hath so mygh-tely helped Israell? God forbid. As cruely as the Lord liueth, there shall not one heere of his head fall to the grounde, for he hath wrought with God this daye. And so the people de-liuered Jonathas, that he dyed not.
And then Saul departed by from following the Philistines, And the Philistines went to their owne place. And so Saul helde the kingdome ouer Israell, and fought against all his e-nemyes on euerye syde agaynst Moab, agaynst the children of Ammon, agaynst the kynges of Ioba, and a-gaynst the Philistines. And whether sooner he turned him selfe, there he swanne: and he gathered his hostes together, and smote the Amalekites, and rid Israell out of the handes of them that spoiled them. The sonnes of Saul were: Jonathas, Iesai, and Melchison. And his two daughters were thus named: the elder was called Merob, and the yonger Michol.

And the name of Sauls wife, was Rhinoa the daughter of Rhimaez. And the name of his chiefe captayne was Ibner the sonne of Ner, Sauls vn-cle. And . Cis was Sauls father. And Ner the father of Ibner was the son of Abiel. And there was soye warre agaynst the Philistines, all the dayes of Saul. And whosoeuer Saul saw to be a stronge man, and mete for the warre, he rooke him vnto him.

The .xv. Chapter.

Samuell sayde vnto Saul: . the Lord sent me to annoynt thee, to be Kinge ouer his people Israell. Howe therefore hearken thou vnto the voyce of the wordes of the Lord.
Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes: I remember that whiche Amalecke did to Israell: howe they layed waite for them in the way, as they came out of Egypt. Howe therefore go, and smite Amalecke, and destroie ye all that pertaineth vnto them, and let thou haue no compassion on theym: (and couete nothinge that they haue) slay both manne and woman, infants and suckeling, ore, and sheepe, camell and Asse. And Saul gathered the people together and . numbyed them in Ce-laim, two hundred thousand souldiers, and tenn thousande men of Iuda.

the Amalekites, leaſte I deſtroye you with them, for ye ſhewed mercy to all the childzen of Iſrael, whē they cam out of Egypt. And ſo the Amalekites departed from amonge the Amalekites. And Saul ſmote the Amalekites frō Hevila, as thou commeſt to Hur, that lyeth befoze Egypte, and tooke Agag the kinge of the Amalekites alive, and bitterlye deſtroyed all the people with the edge of the ſwarde. • But

An. 24 b Saul and the people ſpared Agag, and the better ſhepe, and the ſatter oxē, and the lambes, and al that was good, and would not deſtroye them. But al that was ſonie and naught woort, that they deſtroyed bitterly. Then cam the

C word of the Lord vnto Samuell, ſaying: • it repēteth me, that I haue made Saul king. For he is turned frō me, and hath not perſourmed my commaundementes. And Samuell was euill apayed, and cryed vnto the Lord all night. And when Samuell roſe early to mete Saul in the morning, it was told Samuell, that Saul was come to Carmel, and behold, he hath made him there a place, and is turned, and departed and gone doſone to Gilgal. And Samuell came to Saul, and (Saul offered burnt ſacrifice vnto the Lord, of the firſt of the ſpoiles which he had brought from Amalec. And when Samuell was come vnto Saul.) Saul ſayd vnto him: Blessed be thou in the Lord, I haue fulfilled the commaundement of the Lord. Samuell ſayde

D what meaneth then the bleatinge of the ſhepe in myne eares, and the noiſe of the oxen which I heare? Saul answered: they haue brought them from the Amalekites. For the people ſpared the beſt of the ſhepe and of the oxen, to ſacrifice them vnto the Lord thy God. And the remnant haue we deſtroyed bitterly. Samuell ſayde to Saul: ſet me tell thee what the Lord hath ſaid to me this night. And he ſaid vnto him: ſay on. Samuell ſaid: When thou waſt liſt in thine owne ſyghte ſoule thou nor made the heade of the tribes of Iſrael: And the Lord anoynted thee kinge ouer Iſrael. And the Lord ſent thee on a iourney, and ſayde: Go, and bitterly deſtroy thoſe ſinners the Amalekites, & fight againſt them, vntill thou bitterly deſtroy them. And wherfoze haſt thou not herkened vnto the voyce of the Lord, but haſt turned to the pray, and haſt done that which is wicked in ſight of the Lord? And Saul ſayd vnto Samuell: yea, I haue herkened vnto the voyce of the Lord, and haue gone the way which the Lord ſent me vnto, & haue brought Agag the king of Amalec, and haue bitterly deſtroyed the Amalekites. But the people toke of the ſpoyle, ſhepe, oxen, & the cheſt of the things, which ſhould haue bene deſtroyed, to offer vnto the Lord thy god in Gilgal. And Samuell ſayd: hath the Lord as great pleaſure in burnt ſacrifices and offeringes, as when the voyce of the Lord is obeyed? Behold to obey is better thē ſacrifice, and to herken is better then the fat of rammes. For rebellion is as the ſinne of witchcraft, and ſobernes is as the wickedneſſe of Idolatrye. Becauſe thou haſt caſt away the word of the Lord, therfoze hath the Lord caſt away thee alſo, from being king. And Saul ſaid vnto Samuell: I haue ſinned, for I haue gone farther then the ſayinge of the Lord and thy wordes, becauſe I feared the people, & obeyed theyr voyce. Nowe therfoze take away my ſynne, and turne agayne with me, that I may worſhippe the Lord. And Samuell ſaid vnto Saul: I wil not return with thee: for thou haſt caſt away the word of the Lord, & the Lord hath caſt away thee, that thou ſhalt not be king ouer Iſrael. And as Samuell turned himſelfe to go away, he caught the lappe of his coate, and it rent. And Samuell ſaid vnto him: the Lord hath rente the kingdome of Iſrael from thee this daye, and hath gotten it to a neighbour of thine, that is better then thou. The ſtrength of Iſrael will not begyle nor repent: for he is not a man that can repent. He ſaid: I haue ſynned. But nowe honour me befoze the elders of my people, and befoze Iſrael, and turne agayne with me, that I may worshippe the Lord thy God. And so Samuell turned again, and so: towed Saul. And Saule worshipped the Lord. Then sayd Samuell: bring ye hither to me Agag, the kinge of the Amalekites. And Agag came vnto him delicately. And Agag sayde: truely the bitter death cometh on. And Samuell said: As thy sword hath made women childlesse, so shall thy mother be childlesse aboue other women. And Samuell he wed Agag, in peces befoze the Lord in Gilgail. And then Samuell departed to Ramia. And Saule went home to his house to Gibea Saul. And Samuell came no more to see Saul, vntill the day of his death. Nevertheless Samuell moyned for Saul: & the Lord repented that he had made Saul king ouer Israel.

The Lord sayde vnto Samuell: Howe long wilt thou mourne for Saul seeing I haue cast him away from reggynge ouer Israel. Fill thine home with oymment, and come, that I may send thee to Isai the Bethleemite, for I haue prouided me a kinge amonge his sons. And Samuell sayde: howe can I goe for yf Saule heare it, he will kill me. The Lord answered: Take an Heifer with thee, & say: I am com to offer vnto the lord. And call Isai to the offeringe, and I wil shew the what thou shalt do. And thou shalt anoint him: whom I name vnto thee. And so Samuell did as the Lord bad him, and came to Bethleem, and the elders of the towne were assembled at his coming, and sayde: Comest thou peaceably? He answered: Yea, I am com to offer vnto the Lord. Sanctifie your selues, & come with me vnto the offering. And he sanctified Isai and his sonnes, and bad them to the offeringe. And when they were come, he looked on Eliab, and sayde: Surely the Lordes anointed is befoze him. But the Lord said vnto Samuell: looke not on his fashion, or on the heighth of his stature, because I haue refused him: for God seeth not as man seeth, for man looketh on the outward apperance, but god beholdeth the heart. Then Isai called Abinabab, and made him come befoze Samuell. And hee sayde: neyther hath the Lord chosen this. Then Isai made Hamma come, and he sayde: neyther yet hath the Lord chosen him. Agayne Isai made seven of his sonnes to come befoze Samuell. And Samuell sayd vnto Isai: the Lord hath chosen none of these. And Samuell sayde vnto Isai: are here all thy children? He sayde: there is yet a litle one behind, that kepeth the shepe. And Samuell sayde vnto Isai: sende & fet him, for we will not sit downe, till he be come hither. And he sente, and brought him in. And he was bosome, and of an excellent beuoye, and well fauoured in sight. And the Lord sayde: I praye, and annoynt him, for this is he. Therefore Samuell toke the hoyme with the oymment, and annoynted him in the middes of his brethren. And the spirite of the Lord came vpon Dauid, from that day forward. And Samuell rose vp, and went to Ramia. But the spirite of the Lord departed from Saule, and an euill spirite sente of the Lord vexed him. And Saules seruantes sayde vnto him: Beholde, an euill spirite sente of God vexeth thee, les our Lord therefore commaunde his seruantes (that are befoze thee) to seeke a man, that is a cunninge, player with an harpe: that when the euill spirite sente of God commeth vpon thee, he maye playe with his hande, and thou shalt be eased. Saule sayde vnto his seruantes: prouide me a man then, that can playe well, and bringe him to me. Then answered one of his seruantes, and sayd: Behold, I haue fene a sonne of Isai a Bethleemite, that can playe vpon instrumenten, and is an acutefelowe, and a man of warre, and prouident in dainge of feates, and well made, and the Lord is with him. Wherefore Saule sente messengers vnto Isai, and sayd: sende me Dauid thy sonne, whiche is with the shepe. And Isai tooke an Ass laden with bread, and a sack of wine, and a and sent them by Dauid his soonne vnto Saul. And Dauid cam to Saul and stode besyde him, and he loued him very well, and he was made his harness bearer. And Saule sente to Eli, saying: let Dauid remaine with me, for he hath founde fauour in my sight. And so it fortuned, that when the euill spirits sent of god came vpon Saule, Dauid toke an harpe, and played with his hand, and so Saule was refreshed and did amende, and the euill spiritte departed from him.

The .xvij. Chapter.

The Philistines gathered their hoste to battell, and came together to Socoth which is in Iuda, and pitched betweene Socoth and Beshah, in the cosse of Danumim. And Saul and the men of Israel came together, and pitched in the Oke valley, and put them selues in aray, to fight agaynst the Philistines. And the Philistines stode on an hill on the one side, and Israel stode on an hill on the other side, and there was a valley betweene them. And there came a man betweene them both, out of the tentes of the Philistines, named Goliath. of Gath, sixe cubites and an handbrydth longe, and had an helmet of brasse vpon his heade, and a coate of mayle aboute him. And the weighte of his coate of mayle was fine thousande siccles of brasse. And he had bootes of brasse vpon his legges, and a shielde of brasse vpon his shoulders. And the hachte of his speare was like a weauiers beamie. And his speare head weyed sixe hundred sickles of yron. And one bearinge a shielde wente besyde him. And he stode and cryed agaynst the hoste of Israel, and sayde vnto them: why are ye come out in aray to battell? am not I a Philistine, & you seruants to Saul? Chose you a man downe to me? And if he be able to fight with me, and to beate me, then wil we be your seruantes. But if I can overcome him and beate him, then shall ye be our seruantes, and serue vs. And the Philistine sayde: I despye the hoste of Israel this daye: geue me a man, that we maye fight together. When Saul and all Israel heard those wordes of the Philistine, they were discouraged, and greatlye afraide. Dauid was the soonne of an Ephrahite (of whō mention is made afore) of Bethlechem Iuda, named I sai, whiche had eynghie sonnes. And was an olde man in the dayes of Saul, and came to age among wien. And the thre eldest sons of I sai wente and folowed Saule to the battell. And the names of his thre sonnes that went to battell, were: Eliab the eldest, and the next, Abinadab and the thirde Samma, and Dauid was the leaste. And the thre eldest wente after Saul. Dauid also went, and departed from Saule, to secke his fathers shepe at Bethlechem. And the Philistine came soothye in the morninge and eueninge, and continued soothye dayes. And I sai sayde vnto Dauid his sonne: Take for thy brethren an Ephra of this parched corne, and these ten loanes, and bryng it vnto the hoste to thy brethren. And carpe these ten freche chekes vnto the captayne, and loke howe thy brethren fare, and set oute their pletges. And Saul and they, and all the men of Israel were in the Oke valley, fighting with the Philistines. And Dauid rose vp early in the morninge, and left the sheepe with a keeper, and toke and went as I sai had commaunded him, and came within the compasse of the hoste. And the hoste went out in aray, and shouted in the battell: for Israel and the Philistines hadde put them selues in aray, the one agaynst the other. And Dauid toke downe the gere from him and put them vnder the handes of the keeper of the vessels, and ran into the host, and came, and saluted his brethren. And as he talked with them: Behold, there stode a man in the middes (Goliath the Philistin by name) of Gath out of the aray of the Philistines, and spake of the maner aboue rehearsed, that Dauid hearde it. And all the men of Israel, when they saw the man, ranne a waye from him, and were soze asfayde. And euery man of Israell sayde: Sawe ye this manne come forth: reuen to reuple Israell, is he come. And to him that beateh him wil the kinge geue great riches, and will geue him his daughter there to: yea, & make his fathers house free in Israell. And David spake to the men that stode by and sayd: What shall be done to the man that beateh this Philistine, & taketh away the shame from Israell? And what is this vncircumcised Philistine, that he should reuile the host of the liuing God? And the people answered him (after this manner,) sayinge: so shall it be done to the man, that beateh him. And Eliab his eldest brother hard when he spake vnto the men, and Eliab was angrie with David, and saide: Why cammest thou downe hither? and with whom hast thou lefte those fewe shepe in the wilderness? I knowe thy pryde and the malice of thine heart, that thou art come downe to see the battel. And David sayde: And what haue I nowe done? is there not a woozde? And he departed from him into the presence of another, and spake of the same manner, and the people answered him agayne, as before. And they that hearde the woozdes which David spake, rehearsed them before Saul, which caused him to be set. And David sayde to Saul: Let no mans heart faile him because of him. Thy seruant will go and fyght with ponde Philistine. And Saul sayde to David again: thou art not able to go against ponde Philistine, to fight with him. For thou art but a childe, but he is a man of warre euen from his yowth. David answered vnto Saul: Thy seruant kepte his fathers shepe, and there came a lion, & likewise a Beare, & toke a shepe out of the flocke. And I went out after him, and smote him, and tooke it out of his mouth. And when he arose against me, I caught him by the beard, and smote him, and slewe him. And so thy seruant slewe the Lyon, and the Beare (also) hard thy seruant slaine,

And truly this vncircumcised Philistine shalbe as one of them. (Howe will I go, and take awaye the rebuke of the people, for what is this vncircumcised Philistine) seeinge he hath rayled on the host of the liuing God. And David spake moreouer: the Lord that deliuered me out of the hand of the Lyon, and out of the hand of the Bear he shal deliuer me also out of the hand of the Philistine. And Saul said vnto David: Go, and the Lord shalbe with thee. And Saul put his rayment vpon David, & put an helmet of brass vpon his head, and put a coate of mail vpon him, and girded David with his owne sword vpon his rayment. And he assayed to go. And because he neuer proued it, David sayde vnto Saul: I cannot go with these, for I haue not vsed my self thereto: & David put them of him, and tooke his staffe in his hand, and chose him five smooth stones out of a brooke, and put them in a shepherds bagge, which he had, and a slinge poke: and his slinge was in his hande, and he went to the Philistine. And the Philistine cam & byrde nere against David, and the man that bare the shield, went before him. And when the Philistine looked about, and sawe David, he despayned him, for he was but yonge, & well coloured, and goodly to loke vpon. And the Philistine sayd vnto David: am I a dogge, that thou commest to me with a staffe, and the Philistine cursed David in the name of his goddes. And the Philistine said to David: come to me, & I will geue thee the shepe vnto the foules of the ayre, and to the beastes of the field: Then sayde David to the Philistine: thou commest to me with a sword, a speare, and a shield: But I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the host of Israell, whom thou hast rayled vpon. This day shall the Lord deliuer thee into my hande, & I shal smite thee, and take thine heade from thee, & will geue the harties of the host of the Philistines this day vnto the foules of the ayre, and to the beastes of the earth, that all they which be in the woilde, maye knowe, that there is a God in Israell. And al this congregation shall knowe, that the Lord sameth not with sword and speare. For the battayle is the Lordes, and he shal geue you into our handes. And when the Philistine arose to come and draw nye unto David, David halled, and ran into the battaile even agaynst the Philistine. And David put his hande in his bagge, and toke out a stone, and slange it, and smote the Philistine in his forehead, that the stone sunke into his forehead, and he fell grouelinge to the earth, and soo David overcame the Philistine with a sling & a stone, and smote the Philistine, and slewe him, even when David had no sword in his hande. But David ranne and stode vpon the Philistine, and tooke his swearde, and dyewe it out of his sheathe, and slewe him, and cut off his head therewith. And when the Philistines sawe, that their champion was dede, they fled. And the men of Israel and of Iuda arose, and howted and folowed after the Philistines, vntill they came to the valey, and vnto the gates of Ekron. And the Philistines fel down wounded by the way to Sarasim, even vnto Gath and Ekron. And the children of Israel returned from chasing after the Philistines, and spoyled their tentes. And David toke the heade of the Philistine, and broughte it to Ierusalem: But he put his armour in his tente. When Saule sawe David go forth agaynst the Philistine, he sayde vnto 1 Re. 14. Abner the captayne of his host: Abner, whose sonne is this yonge man? Abner answered, as truly as thy soule liueth (O king) I cannot tell. And the king saide: Enquire thou, whose sonne the yongelinge is. And when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistines, Abner tooke him and brought him before Saule, with the head of the Philistine in his hand. And Saule sayde to him: whose sonne arte thou, thou yonge man? David answered: I am the sonne of thy seruaunt Iesse the Bethlehemitte.

And when he hadde made an ende of speaking vnto Saule, the soule of Jonathan was knitte with the soule of David, and Jonathan loued him as his owne soule. And Saule tooke him that daye and would let him go, no moze home to his fathers house. And Jonathan made a couenaunte with David, because he loued him as his owne soule. And Jonathan put off his own cote & was vpon him, and gaue it David, & therto his cloke, his sword, his bow, and his girdle. And David wente out whither soeuer Saule sent him, and behaued him selfe wisely. And Saule set him ouer his men of warre, and he was accepted in the sight of all people, and in the sight of Saules seruantes. And it happened as they wente, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, the women came out of all Cities of Israel singing and daunsinge, agaynst Kinge Saule, and with timbrelles, with tope and with instrumentes of musicke. And the women answered one another in their playe, and sayde: Saule hath slayne his thousand, and David his ten thousande. And Saule was exceeding wroth, and the saying displeased him, and he sayde: they haue ascribed vnto David ten thousande, and to me but a thousande, and what can he moze haue, saue the kingdom? Wherefore Saule toke on side of David fro that day forthwarde. And it happened on the morowe, that the euil spirit sent of God, came vpon Saule, and he prophesied in the middea of the house. And David played with his harpe as at other tymes, and there was a taulin in Saules hande. And Saule toke the taulin, and said I will naye David to the wall with it. And David annoyed out of his presence two tymes. And Saule was afeard of David, because the Lord was with him, and was departed fro Saule. Therefore Saule put him fro him, and made him a captains ouer a thousand, and he went out and in before people. And David behaued him selfe wisely in all

Lords batteles. For Saul thought: anyne hande shall not be vppon him, but the hande of the Philistines. And David answered Saul: what am I and what is my life, or the kinned of my father in Israell, that I should be sonne in lawe to the kinge? Howe be= Saul sayd: I will geue him her that she may be a snare to him, and that the hand of the Philistines may be against him. wherfore Saul sayd to David:

maunded his seruantes, to commen with David secretly, and to say: Be= holde, the king hath a fauour to thee, & all his seruantes loue thee, be nowe therfore the kinges soonne in lawe.
End Sauls seruantes spake those wordes in the eares of David. And David sayd: Semeth it to you a light thing to be a kinges soonne in lawe?
I am a poore man, and of smale repu= tation. And the seruantes broughthe Saul word agayn, saying: of this ma= ner spake David: And Saul said: this wife shal ye say to David, the king ca= reth for none other dowrye, but for an hundred foreskins of the Philistines, to be auenged of the kinges enemyes.
But Saul thought to make David fall into the handes of the Philistines.
And when his seruantes tolde Da= uid these wordes, he pleased David well to be the kinges soonne in lawe.
And of the dayes were expired, Da= Davids enemye. The Lordes of the Philistines bled to go forth. And it turned: wher they went forth, David behaued him selfe wiselyer then al the seruantes of Saul: so that his name was much set by.

The. xix. Chapter.

Saul spake so Jonathas his soon, I and to all his seruantes, that they should kill David. But Jona= thas Sauls sonne had a great fauour to David, and Jonathas told David saying: Saul my father goeth aboute to slepe thee. Now therfore take hede to thy selfe vntill the morninge, and abide in some secret place and hude thy selfe. And I will go out, and stande by my father in the field where thou art, and with common with my father of thee, and whatsoeuer I see, I will tell thee. And Jonathas spake good of Da= uid vnto Saul his father, and sayde vnto him: let not the king be agayn his seruant David, for he hath not sinned agaynst thee, and his woordes haue bene to thee worde verpe good.
For he did: purchis life in his hande, and slew the Philistine: and the Lord brought to passe a great healtie for all Israell. Thou sawest it, and thou re= ioydest, wherfore then wilt thou agaynst innocent blood, and say Da= uid without a cause? And Saul har= kened vnto the voice of Jonathas, and swore: as truly as the Lord liueth he shall not dye. And Jonathas called David, and she wed him al those wo= rdes, and broughthe David vnto Saul.
And he was in his presence in times past. And the war began agayn, and David went out and fought with the Philistines, and slue them with a great slaughter, and they fled from him. And the euill spiritte sent of the Lord vpon Saul, as he sat in his house, hauing a Jaucin in his hande, & David played with his hand. And Saul en-tended to nagle David to y wal with the Jaucin. But he rid him selfe out of Sauls ptesence, as he smote the spere (with a hayne stroke) into the wall. And David fled and was saved the same night. Saul also sent messengers vnto Davids house, to watche him, and to slay him in the morninge.

 And Michol Davids wife told it him saying: If thou save not thy selfe this night, to morrow thou wilt be slayne.
 And so Michol let David down thro a windowe, & he went & fled, and was saved. And then she tooke an image and layed it in the bed, and put a yllow stuffed with goates heere vnder the head of it, and couered it with a cloth. And when Saul sent messengers to fetch David, he sayde, he is sick. And Saul sent y messengers a-gayne to see David, saying: bying him to me, bed and al, that I may slep him.
 And when the messengers were come in: Beholde, there lay an ymage in the bed, with a pilow of goates heere vnder the head of it. And Saul said vnto Michol: why hast thou mocked me so, and sent away mine enemy that he is escaped. Michol answered Saul: for he saide vnto me, let me go, or elles I will kil thee. And so David fled, and escaped, and came to Samuell to Rama, & tolde him al that Saul had done to him. And he & Samuell wente and dwelt in Batoth. And one told Saul saying: Behold, David is at Batoth in Ramia. And Saul sent messengers to let David. And when they sawe a compaigne of prophetes prophecying; and Samuel standinge faste by them, the spirit of God fel vpon the messengers of Saul, and they prophecied to.
 And when it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they prophecied lyke wise. And Saul sent messengers yet agayne the thirde tyme, and they prophecied also. Then went he himselfe to Ramia, and cam to a great wel that is in Bethel: whiche is called Ebez: where are Samuel and David.

And one said: Behold, they be at Ra-moth in Rama, and he wente thither; euen to Ramoth in Rama, and the spirit of God came vpon him also, and he went prophecying, vntill he came to Ramoth in Rama. And he stript off his clothes & prophecied before Samuell in like maner, and fell naked all that day and all that night. And ther-of is it, that they saye: is Saul also among the prophetes?

¶ The xx. Chapter.

And David fled from Ramoth which is in Rama, and came & said before Jonathas: What haue I done: wherein am I faultpe?
 What is the synne that I haue comit-ted before thy father, that he seeketh my lyfe? He sayde vnto him: God forbyd, thou shalt not dye. Behold, my father will do nothing epyther great or smal, but that he will shew it me. And how should my father hide this thing from me? He will not doo it. And David sware agayne, and sayde: Thy father knoweth, that I haue found grace in thine eyes, and therfore he saith: Jona-thas shalt not knowe it, lest he be loy.
 And in very dede, euen as truly as the Lorde liueth, and as truly as thy soule liueth, there is but a step betwene me and death. Then sayd Jonathas vnto David: Whatsoeuer thy soule desireth that I will do vnto thee. And David sayde vnto Jonathas: Behold, to mo-rowe is the beginning of the moneth, and I should speke with the kinge at meat. But let me go, that I may hide my selfe in the fieldes vnto the thirde day at euen. If thy father speak of me then saye: David is ked leaue of me, that he might go to Bethlehem to his owne citie, for there is holden a prey-leasse for all the kinredde. And yf he say, it is well done, then thy seruaunt shall haue peace. But and if he be angrye, then be sure that wickednesse is bitterlye concluded of him. And then thou shalt shewe mercy vnto thy seruant, for thou hast made with me thy seruaunte a bonde in the Lorde.
 Notwithstandinge, yf there be in me anye trespass, then slaye me thy selfe, i. Samuel.

and bringe me not to thy father. And Jonathan answered: God keepe that from thee (nether is it possible to come to passe,) for if I knewe that wickednesse were concluded of my father, to come vpon thee, thinkest thou, that I should not tell it thee? Then said David: who shall tell me, if thy father answer cruely? And Jonathan sayde vnto David: come and let vs go oute into the field. And they went out both of them into the field. And Jonathan sayd vnto David: The Lord God of Israel looke on it, when I haue tropped my fathers mynde, one time or other within this three dayes, that it stande well with David. If I then sende not vnto thee, and shewe it thee, the Lord do so and so vnto Jonathan. But if my father haue anye pleasure to do thee euill, I will shewe thee also, and sende thee away that thou mayest go in peace: And the Lord be with thee, as he hath bene with my father. And thou shalt performe vnto me the mercy of the Lord, not onely while I liue, but euen when I am deade, and plucke not thy mercy awaye from my house for euer: No not when the Lord hath destroyed the enemies of David, euery one from the face of the earth. And so Jonathan made a bonde with the house of David, despyninge that the Lord should seeke it oute by the handes of Davids enemies (yf it were broken.) And with other words bid Jonathan sweare vnto David, because he loued him. For he loued him as his own soule. Then sayd Jonathan to David: to morowe is the first day of the moone. And thou shalt be missed, because the place wher thou wast wont to sitte, shall bee emptye. Therefore this daye three dayes come downe in anye wise vnto the place wher thou biddest hide thy self, when the busynesse was in hande: euen by the stone Efell. And I will shoote thre arrowes by the oyle tyde therof, as though I shot them as a mark, and will send a lad, and bid him go seke the arrowes. And if I say vnto the lad: see the arrowes are on this side thee, bring them: then come thou: for it is in peace and no hurte, as sure as the Lord liueth. But if I say vnto the lad: be hold, the arrowes are beyond thee, then go (in peace) for the Lord hath sent thee away. And as touching this which thou and I haue spoken: beholde, the Lord be betwene thee and me for euer. And so David hidde him selfe in the field. And when the newe mone was come, the king sate him downe to eat meate. And the kinge sate him downe after the olde maner, in his seate by the wall. And Jonathan arose and sate by Sauls side, and Davids place was empty. Neuertheles, Saul saide nothing at all that day. For he thought some thing hath chaunced him that he is not cleane. But on the morowe which was the second day of the newe mone, it happened that Davids place was empty agayne. And Saul sayde vnto Jonathan his son, wherfore commeth not that sonne of Isai to meate, neither yesterday nor to daye? And Jonathan answered vnto Saul. David asked licence of me, to go to Bethleem, so he sayde: let me go I pray thee: for our kindred doeth holde an offering in the citie, and my brother hath sent for me. And therfore if I haue found fauour in thine eyes, let me go, and see my brethren. This is the cause that he cometh not vnto the kinges table. Then was Saul angri with Jonathan and sayd vnto him: Thou wicked rebel, do not I knowe, that thou hast chosen the sonne of Isai vnto thine own rebuke, and vnto the rebuke and shame of thy mother: for as long as the son of Isai liueth vpon the earth, thou shalt not be stablished, nor yet the kingdome; wherfore nowe send and set him vnto me, - for he is the childe of death. And Jonathan answered vnto Saul his father, and sayde to him: Wherfore should he dye? what hath he done? And Saul liste by a speere to speere him, wherby Jonathan wille well that it was bitterly determined of his father, to slaye David. And so Jonathan arose from the table in a great rage & did eat no meate the second of the month, for he was loy for Dauid because his father hadde done him shame. On the next morninge, Jonathan wente out into the fielde, at the tyme appoynted with Dauid, and a little ladde with him. And he sayde vnto his boye: runne and seeke oute myne arrowes which I shotte. And as the boy ran he shotte an arrow beyonde him. And when the ladde was come to the place whither Jonathan had shot the arrowe, Jonathan cryed after the lad agayne: make speede, and stand not still. And Jonathan had gathered by the arrowes, and came to his master. But the ladde wist nothing of the matter. Onelye Jonathan and Dauid wist it. And Jonathan gaue his weapons vnto the lad that was with him, and said vnto him go and carie them to the towne. And as soone as the lad was gone, Dauid arose out of a place that was to ward the South, and fell on his face to the ground, and worshipped three times. And they kissed eith er other, and wept together so long, till Dauid exceeded in weeping. And Jonathan sayde to Dauid: go in peace. And the thynges whiche we haue swozne both of vs in the name of the Lord sayinge: the Lord be betwene thee and me, and betwene thy seede and mine, lette them stande for euer. And he arose, and departed. And Jonathan went into the towne.

Then came Dauid to Nob to Ahimelech the priest. And Ahimelech was astonied at the sodaine comming of Dauid, and sayde vnto him: why art thou alone, and no man with thee? And Dauid sayde to Ahimelech the priest: the kinge hath commaunded me to do a certayne thinge, and hath sayde vnto me, let no manne knowe where aboute I sende thee, and what I haue commaunded thee to do: And I haue appoynted my seruantes, to suche and suche places. Nowe therefore if thou haue oughte hande. And the priest answered Dauid, and sayde: there is noo common breade vnder mine hande, but here is halowed bread, if the ponge men haue kept them selues from vncleane thinges, especially women. Dauid answered the priest, and sayde vnto him: of a truth women haue bene locked vp frō vs about a thre dayes, when I came out and the vessels of the yonge men were holpe. Howbeit this waye is vnpure, and howe muche moze shall there be holynes in the vessel. And so the priest gaue him halowed bread, for there was none other breade there save the shewebreads, that were taken from befoze the Lord, to putte freshe breade there, the day that it was taken away. And there was there the same daye, a certayne man, of the seruantes of Saul abiding befoze the Lord, named Doeg an Edomite, the chiefe of Sauls herde men. And Dauid sayde vnto Ahimelech: is not here vnder thine hande, ether spere or swerde? for I haue neither brought my swerd nor my harnesse with me, because the kynges busynesse required haste. And the priest sayde: the swerde of Goliath the Philistine whom thou slewest in the Dcke valley, beholde, it is here wrapt in a cloth behinde the Ephod. If thou wilt take that, take it: for there is none other sanc that hath. And Dauid said, ther is none to that, geue it me. And Dauid arose & fled the same day from the presence of Saul, and went to Achis the king of Geth. And the seruants of Achis said of him: is not this Dauid the kinge of the lande? did they not singe vnto hym, in daunces, sayinge: Saul hath slaine his thousands, and Dauid his tenne thousande? And Dauid putte those woordes into his heart, and was sore afrayde of Achis the kinge of Geth. And hee chaunged his speche befoze them, and sayned him selfe in their hands, and scrabled on the dozes of the gate, and let his spittle fall downe vpon his beard. Then said Achis vnto his seruantes: loo ye see that this man is beside him selfe, wherfoze they haue haue ye brought him to me? Haue I neede of mad men that ye haue brought this felow to play the mad man in my presence? Shall he come into my house?

The. xxij. Chapter.

AND therfore departed there, and escaped, and cam vnto the cane Ddellam. When his brethren also and all his fathers house heard it, they went downe thither to him. And there gathered vnto him all men that were in combance, and in dette, and troubled in their myndes, and he became a captayne ouer them. And there were with him vpon a foure hundred men. And Dauid went thence to Mizpa in the land of Moab: and sayde vnto the kinge of Moab: Let my father and my mother (I pray thee) come soozth vnto you, till I knowe what God will doo for me. And he brought theym befoze the king of Moab. And they dwelt with him all the while that Dauid kepte himselfe in holde. And the Prophete Gad sayde vnto Dauid, abyde not in holde, but depart and go into the land of Iuda. Then Dauid departed and came into the fozest Hareth. And Saul heard that Dauid was come abroad, and also the men that wer with him. And Saule sat in Gibea vnder a tree in Rama, hauing his spere in his hande, and all his men stood aboute him. And Saule sayde vnto his seruantes that stode aboute him. Heare I pray you, yesonnes of Jemini: will the son of Isai geue euery one of you fieldes and vineyardes, and make you all captayns ouer thousands and ouer hundredes? that ye haue also conspired agaynst me, and there is none that telleth it me in mine eare? And wher as my son hath made a bond with the sonne of Isai, there is none of you that mourneth for me, or sheweth it in mine eare: beholde, my sonne hath sinned by my seruante to lay awayte agaynst me this same daye. Then answered Doeg the Edomite which also stode by the seruants of Saule, and

sayde, I sawe the sonne of Isai when he came to Beth, to Ahimelech the son of Ahitob, whiche as ked counsell of the Lorde for him and gaue him byttayle, and the swearde of Goliath the Philistine also. Then the Kinge sent and called for Ahimelech the priest the sonne of Ahitob, and all his fathers house, that is to saye, the priestes that were in Beth. And they came al to the kinge. And Saule sayde: heare now thou sonne of Ahitob. He answered: here am I my Lorde. And Saul said vnto him: whye haue ye conspired agaynst me, thou and the sonne of Isai, in that thou hast geuen him byttayle, and a swearde, and hast as ked counsell of God for him: that he shoulde arple agaynst me, and lye awayte for me this day? Ahimelech answered the kyng and sayde: who is so fapthfall amonge all thy seruants as Dauid, and therto the kinges sonne in lawe, and goeth at thy bidding, and is had in honour in thine house? haue I this daye begon first to as ke counsell of God for him? That be farre from me (if I had knowen it) let not the kinge put suche a thing vpon his seruante, in all the house of my father. For thy seruante knewe nothinge of all this, eyther lesse or moze. The kinge sayde: thou shalt surely die Ahimelech, thou and all thy fathers house. And the kinge sayde vnto the footemen that stood about him, turne, and slaye the priestes of the Lord, both because their hande is with Dauid, and because they knewe when Dauid fledde, and shewed it not to me. But the seruantes of the king would not moue their handes, to fall vpon the priestes of the Lorde. And the king sayde to Doeg: turne thou, and fall vpon the priestes, and Doeg the Edomite turned and ranne vpon the priestes, and slue that same daye foure scoze and fow persons, that did weare a tinnen Ephod. And Beth that citie of the priestes smote he with the edge of the swearde, both men and women, children, and suckelinges, oxen, and sheepe, and one of the sons of himelch, the sonne of Abitob (named Abiathar) escaped and fled to David. And Abiathar shewed David, howe that Saul had slayne the Lordes priests. And David sayd vnto Abiathar I will it the same day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he wold tell Hauile. ¶ And I am cause of the death of all the foules of thy fathers house. Abide thou with me, and feare not. For yf any man seke my soule, he shall seeke thyne also, with me thou shalt be in safegarde.

The .xxij. Chapter.

Then they tolde David saying: Behold the Philistines fyght agaynst Keilah, and spoyle the barnes. Therefore David asked the Lordes aduise saying: shall I goe and smite these Philistines? And the Lord answered vnto David: go, and smyte the Philistines, and saue Keilah. And Davids men that were with him, sayde vnto him: see, we be afrayd here in Iuda: howe muche more then yf we come to Keilah against the host of the Philistines? Then David asked the Lord agayne. And the Lord answered him and sayde: I yse, and go downe to Keilah, for I will deliuer the Philistines into thine hand. And so David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines, and dyne awaye their cattell, and smote them with a great slaughter. And so David saved the inhabytters of Keilah. And it chaunced, when Abiathar the sonne of Ahimelech fled to David to Keilah, he brought an Ephod with him in his hande. And it was tolde Saul, that David was come to Keilah. And Saul sayd: God hath deliuered him into mine hande. For he is shut in nowe that he is come into a towne, that hath gates and barres. And Saul called all the people together to warre, for to go downe to Keilah, & to besiege David and his men. And David having knowledge, that Hauile imagined myschife agaynst him, sayde to Abiathar the priest:

Wrynge the Ephod. Then sayde David: O LORD GOD of Israel, thy seruaunte hath hearde, that Saul is aboute to come agaynst Keila to destroy the citie for my sake: wyl the men of Keila deliuer me into his hande? And will Saul come downe, as thy seruaunte hath harde saye? O LORD GOD of Israel, tell thy seruaunt. And the Lord sayd: he wyl come downe. Then sayd David: will the men of Keilah deliuer me and the men that are with me into the hands of Saul? and the Lord sayde, they will betraye you. Then David and his men which were vpon a fixe hundred, arose and departed oute of Keila, and went whither they could. And it was tolde Saul, that David was fled from Keila, and he lette the tourney alone. David abode in the wildernesse in stronge holdes, and remained in a mountayne in the wildernesse of Ziph. And Hauile soughte him euery daye, but GOD deliuered him not into his hande. ¶ And David sawe that Hauile was come oute, to seeke his life. ¶ And David was in the wildernesse of Ziph, in a thicket. And Jonathan Sauls sonne arose and wente to David into the thicket, and comforted his hande in God, and sayd vnto him: feare not, for the hande of Saul my father shal not finde thee, and thou shalt be kinge ouer Israel, and I must be nexte vnto the. And that doth Saul my father knowe. And they made a bonde both of them together before the Lord. And David tarped still in the thicket, and Jonathan went to his house. Then came the Ziphites to Saul, to Gibra, saying: Dost thou not David hide him selfe fast by vs in stronge holdes, in a thicket that is by the hill of Hachila, on the right syde of the wildernesse? Nowe therefore kynge, thou mayest come downe according to all the iust of thy soule: come downe, and our parte shalbe to deliuer hym into the kinges hand. And Saul said, blessed are ye in the Lord: for ye haue compassioun on me. So I pray you, & order the matter well, knowe and see his haunte, where his foote hath bene, and who hath sene him there, for it is tolde me, that he is very suttile and worketh craftely. See therfore, and knowe all the lurking places: where he hybeth him selfe, and come ye agayne to me with the certentie, and I wil go with you. And yf he be in the lande, I will searche him thowseout all the thousandes of Iuda. And they arose, and went to Ziph befoze Saul. But Dauid & his men were in the wilderness of Maon, in the playne that is on the right hande of Iesimon. Hauile also and his men went to seeke: and they tolde Dauid. Wherefoze he went vnto a rocke, and abode in the wilderness of Maon. And when Saul herd that he folowed after Dauid in the wilderness of Maon. And Hauile and his men went on the one side of the moan rayde, and Dauid and his men on the other syde. And Dauid toke thought howe to get from Saul. For Saul and his men compassed Dauid and his men, round about, to take them. But there came a messenger to Saul, saying: hast thee and come, for the Philistines are come into the land. Wherefoze, Saul retourned from persecutinge Dauid, and went agaynst the Philistines. And therfore is it, that they called the place: The rocke of separation. And Dauid went thence, and dwelte in stronge holdes at Engadi.

Vhen Hauile was come agayne frome folowinge after the Philistines, it fortuned that there were, whiche tolde him, saying: beholde, Dauid is in the wilderness of Engadi. Then Saul toke thre thousand chosen men oute of all Israell, & went to seeke Dauid and his men in the heyght of the rockes, where wyldes goates remayne. And he came to the flockes of shepe in the waye. And Saul went into a caue to couer his fete. And Dauid and his men remayned in the inwarde partes of the caue. And the men of Dauid sayde vnto hym: se, the day is come, of which the Lord sayd vnto the: beholde, I wil deliuer thine enemies into thy hand, & thou shalt do to him as it shall seme good in thy sight. Then Dauid arose & cut of a lap of Sauls garment priuelye. And immediatlye Dauid here smote him because he had cut of a lap of Sauls garment. And he said vnto his men, the Lord kepe me from delyng that thinge vnto my master the Lords anoynted to lay mine hand vpon him, seeing he is the anoynted of the Lord. (For as truly as the Lord liueth: except the Lord smyt him, or except his day come, or if he go not down to war & perishe, the Lord be merciful vnto me that I lay not my hand vpon the Lords anoynted.) And so Dauid kept of his seruantes with these wordes, & suffered them not to ryle agaynst Saul. But Saul rose vp oute of the caue & went away. Dauid also arose & went out of the caue, and cried after Saul, saying: My Lord kyng. And when Saul looked behind him. Dauid stowed to the earth, and bowed himselfe and sayd to Saul: wherefoze guesstest thou an ear to mens wordes that saye: Dauid seeketh euill agaynst thee? Behold, this day thine eyes haue sene, how that the Lord hath deliuered the this day into mine hand in the caue. And some bad me kyll thee, but I had compassion on the, and sayd: I wil not lay my hands on my master, for he is the Lords anoynted. And moreover, my father, beholde, and see yet the lap of thy garment in my hand, in as much as I killed thee not, when I cut of the lap of thy garment. Understand therfore, and se, that ther is nether euill nor wickednes in me, and that I haue not sinned agaynst thee. And yet thou hunted after my soule to take it. The Lord be iudge betwene thee and me, and the Lord aduenge me of thee. But mine hand be not vpon thee. According to the olde proverbe sayeth: With kindness shall the wicked be procured: But mine hand be not vpon thee. After whom is the kyng of Israel come oute? Whom dost thou motie persecution?

 Loyd be iudge, and iudge betwene thes avenge mee of thine hand. When Da-hast shewed this day, howe that thou haste dealt louinglye with me, for as muche as when the Loyd had locked me in thine handes, thou killedst me not. For who shall finde his enemye, and let him depart into a good waye?

 Wherefoze the Loyd reward thee with the man was Naball, and the name of his wife was Abigail, and she was a woman of a singular wisdom, and beautifull. But the man was char-lisse, and of frowarde conditions, and was of the kindred of Caleb. And Da-sent out ten young men, and sayde vnto them: Gette you by to Carmel, and go to Naball, and greete him in my name. And thus shall ye saye: Peace be to thee, peace be to thine house, and peace be vnto all that thou haste. Be-

 And Naball answered Dauids ser-uantes, and sayde: What is Dauid? and what is the sonne of Isai: there is plentie of seruantes now a daye: that breake awaye euerye man from agayn, and came and told him all those sayings. And Dauid sayde vnto his men: Gyde euery man his swearde aboute him. And they gyded euerye man his swearde about him, and Da-aboade by the stuffe. But one of the laddes tolde Abigail Nabals wife, sayinge: Beholde, Dauid sente mes-

David, Abail

thepe. Nowe therfore take heede, and see what thou hast to doo: for there is an occasion of euill geuen agaynste D our mayster, and all his houtholde, seeing he is a forme of Beliall, vngacious to speake to. Then Abigail made haste, and tooke twoo hundred loaves, and two bottels of wine, and five shepe ready dresed, and five measures of parched corne, and an hundred fraples of raisins, and two hundred topnettes of figges, and laded theym on asses, and sayd vnto her pong men: Go ye befoze me: Beholde, I come after you. But shee tolde her husbände Abail nothing thereof. And as shee roade on her Ass, she camme vnto the downe the syde of the hill, and behold, Dauid & his men came downe agaynste her, and she mette them. And Dauid said: In vain haue I kept al that this felow hath in the wilder nesse, so that nought was misse of all that pertayned vnto him. And he hath quyte me euill for good. So and so doo G O D vnto the enemies of Dauid, if I leaue of al þe pertaine to him, by þe dawning of the day, any thinge that pisseth agaynste the wall. And when Abigail sawe Dauid, shee halted and lpyghted of her Ass, and fell befoze Dauid on her face, & bowed her self to the ground and fell at his fete, and saide: Let this vnhappy deede be counted myne, my Loyde, and let thine handmayde speake in thine audience, and here the wordes of thy handmayde. Let not my Loyde (the Kinge) regarde this vnchastite mā Abail: for as his name is, so is he Abail in his name, and folly is with him. But I thine handmayde sawe E not the pong men of my Loyde, whom thou sentest. Nowe therfore my Loyde, as sure as the Loyde liueth, and as thy soule liueth, the Loyd hath withholdē thee from comming to shed bloud, and withdraue thou thine hande from bloodshed. Nowe, I praye God that thyne enemies and they that intende to do my Loyd euill, may be as Abail. And nowe this is the blessing which thyne handmayde hath brought vnto my Loyde: and let it be geuen vnto the pong men that solow my Loyde. For geue the trespass of thine handmayde, for the Loyde will make my Loyde a sure house, because my Loyde sygheth the battayles of the Loyde, and there coude none euill be founde in thee in all thy dayes. And if anye man rise to persecute thee, and to seeke thy soule, the soule of my Loyde shall be bound as in the bundell of the liuing with the Loyde thy G O D. And the soules of thy enemies shal God call out, out as out of the middell of a sling. And when the Loyde shall haue done to my Loyde al the good that he hath promised thee and shall haue made thee ruler ouer Israel: then shall it be no decaye vnto thee, nor discourage of heart vnto my Loyde, that thou haste not shode bloude causetlesse, nor enenged thy selfe. But when the Loyde shall haue dealt well with my Loyde, then thinke on thine handmaid. And Dauid sayd to Abigail: Blessed be the Loyde God of Israel, which sent thee this day to mete me. Blessed is thy sayinge, and blessed art thou, which haste kept me this day from comming to shed bloud, and from aduenginge my selfe with mine owne hande. For in verie deede as sure as the Loyde God of Israel liueth, which hath kept me backe from hurting thee, except thou hadst looked and met me, thinkest thou, there had bene lesse vnto Abail by the dawning of the daye, a piller agaynste the wall. And so Dauid receyued of her hand, that which she hadde brought him, and sayde to her: Go by in peace to thine house. Behold, I haue heard thy voyce, and haue accepted thy personne. And Abigail came to Abail: and beholde, he helde a feaste in his house, lyke the feaste of a King, and Abails hearte was merre with him, for he was verie dionken. And when he tolde him nothings, merre lesse nor moze, vntill the morninge daye. But in the morninge, when the wyne was gonne out of Abail, his wyfe tolde hym these wordes, and his heart dyed within hym, and he became an a stone. And when dayes after, the Lord smote Abail, that he dyed. And when David heard that Abail was dead, he sayd: Blessed be the Lord that hath iudged the cause of my rebuke of the hand of Abail, and hath kept his seruant from euill, and hath recompensed the wickednes of Abail bypon his owne head. And David sent to comon with Abigail: to the intente to take her to his wyfe. And when the seruantes of David were comen to Abigail to Carmel, they spake vnto her, saying: David sent vs vnto thee, to take thee to his wyfe. And she arose, and bowed her selfe on her face to the earth, and sayd: Beholde, let thy hand mayde be a seruant, to washe the fete of the seruantes of my Lord. And Abigail hastened, and arose, and gat her by bypon an Asse, with five damoselles of hers, that wente at her fete, and she went after the messengers of David, and became his wyfe. David also toke Achisai of Jezrael, and they were bothe his wyues. But Hauke gaue Michol his daughter Davids wyfe, to Phalti, the sonne of Laish, whiche was of Gallim.

The xxi. Chapter.

The Ziphites came vnto Hauke to Gibea, sayinge: Doest thou not David hyde him selfe in the hill of Machilla, which is before Jezsimon? Hauke arose, and went downe to the wilderness of Ziph, hauinge thre thousande chosen men of Israell with him, say to seeke David in the wilderness of Ziph. And Hauke pitched in the hill of Machilla, whiche lyeth before Jezsimon, by the waye of Ide. But David dwelt in the wilderness. And he sawe that Hauke came after him into the wilderness. David therfore sent out spies, and vnderstoode, that Hauke was come in berpe deede. And David arose, and came to the place where Saul hadde pitched, and David behelde the place where Hauke laye, and Abner the sonne of Ner, which was his chiefe captayne Saul lay within, and the people and the holte round about him. Then answered David, and spake to Abimelech the Bethite, and to Abisai the sonne of Ner, and brother to Joab sayinge: who will goe downe with me to Saul to the holte? And Abisai said: I will goe downe with thee. And so David and Abisai came downe to the people by night. And beholde, Saul laye sleeping within the holte, and his speare sticke in the grounde at his head. But Abner and the people laye round about him. Then sayde Abisai to David: God hath deliuered thyne enemye into thyne hande this daye. Nowe therfore, lette me smyte him once with my speare to the earth, and I will not smyte him the seconde tyme. And David sayde to Abisai: destroye him not. For who canne laye his hande on the Lordes annoynted, and be gillelesse. And David sayde furthermoze: as sure as the Lord liueth, the Lord shall smyte him of his daye shall come to dye, or he shall descende into battel, and there perishe. The Lord kepte me from laying mine hande vpon the Lordes annoynted: But take thou nowe the speare that is at his heade, and the crewe of water, and lette vs go. And soo David tooke the speare and the crewe of water from Sauls heade, and they gat them away, and no man sawe it or marked it, or awaked. For they were all asleepe, because the Lord had sent a deade sleepe bypon theym. Then David went ouer to the other syde, and stode on the toppe of an hill a farr of (a great space being betwene them) and David cryed to the people and to Abner the sonne of Ner, saying: Hearest thou not Abner? Abner answered and saide: What arte thou that cryest to the kinge? and David sayde to Abner: art not thou a manne: and who is like thee in Israel? wherefore then haste thou not kepte thy Lord the kinge? For there came one of the folke in, to destroye the kinge thy Lord. It is not good that thou haste done. Is truelve as the Lord liueth, ye are worthy to dye, because ye haue not kepte youre mayster, 18. 24. sayde: • Is this thy voyce my soonne David? and David sayde: It is my voyce, my Lord, O king. And he sayd: Wherefore doth my Lord thus perforce his servant? for what have I done, or what euill is in myne hande? Now therfore let my Lord the king heare the wordes of his servant. If the Lord haue stirred thee vp agaynst me, let him smell the sauoure of a sacrifice. But and if they be the children of manne, cursed are they before the Lord. For they haue called me out this day from abidinge in the inheritance of the Lord, saying: Hence, and goe serue other gods. Nowe therfore, let not my blud fall to the earth before the face of the Lord. For the king of Israel is come oute to hunte a fyre, as when one doeth hunte a partridge in the mountaynes. Then sayde Saul: I haue spanned, come agayn my sonne David, for I will doo thee no more harme, because my soule was precious in thine eyes this daye. Beholde, I haue played the fool, and haue erred exceedingly. And David answered & sayde: Beholde, the Kinges speare, let one of the yong men come ouer and set it. The Lord rewarde euery man accordinge to his righteousnesse and faith: For the Lord deliuered thee into my hande this daye, but I woulde not lay mine hande vpon the Lordes annointed. And beholde, like as thy lyfe was muche sette by this daye in myne eyes: so be my lyfe set by in the eyes of the Lord, that he deliuer me out of all tribulation. Then Saul sayde to David: Blessed arte thou my sonne David, for thou shalt be a doer, & proue it. And so David wente his way, and Saul tourned to his place agayne.

And David sayde in his heart I shall perithe one day or other by the hande of Saul, therefore is there nothing betw ter for me, then to flee and save my selfe in the lande of the Philistines, and Saul shall cease and seke me no more in all the coastes of Israel, and so shall I escape out of his hande. And David arose, and he and the sixe hundred men that were with him, wente vnto Achis, the son of Achis kinge of Geth. And David dwelte with Achis in Geth, both he, and his men every man with his household, & David with his two wyues: Abigail the Iezraelite, and Abigail, Abigail wyfe of Carmel. And it was tolde Saul that David was fled to Geth, and he sought no more for him. And David sayde vnto Achis: If I haue now founde grace in thine eyes, let them geue me a place in some towne in the fields, that I may dwell there. For why should thy servant dwell in the head cite of the kingdome with thee? Then Achis gaue him Ziklag that same daye: for whiche cause Ziklag pertaynerh vnto the kings of Iuda vnto this daye. And the time that David dwelte in the countrye of the Philistines, was foure monethes, and certayne dayes. And David and his men went vp, and ran vpon the Gittaites, the Gergites, and the Iezraelites. For those nations were from the beginninge the inhabiteurs of the lande, as menne go to Hur, vnto the lande of Egypt. And David smote the land, and left neither man nor woman alive, and dyde away the sheepe, the oxen, the asses, camels, and clothes, and returned, and came to Achis. And Achis sayd: Where haue ye bene a roving this daye? And David answered: Towarde the south of Iuda, and toward the south of the Iezraelites, and toward the south of the Iezraelites. And David saved neyther man nor woman alive, nor suffered they to come to Geth, for feare (saith he) least they should steale on vs, saying: So dyde David, and so will be his manner all the while he dwelleth in the countrye of the Philistines. And Achis beleened David, saying: He abhorreth the people of Israel, and therefore he shall

The xxviiij. Chapter.

And it chanced in those dayes that the Philistines gathered their host together to war to fight wth Israhell. And Dauid sayde to Dauid: Be sure, thou shalt go out with me to the battell, thou and the men that are with thee. And Dauid sayde to Israhell: then thou shalt knowe what thy seruante can do. And Israhell sayde agayne to Dauid: Then I will make thee trier of my heade for euer.

1 Re. 24. Israhell was then beate, and all Israhell had lamented him, and buried him in Ramoth b^etwixt Bethleem.

Exo. 22. And Saul hadde putte the women that had spirites of prophesye and the Southsayers oute of the lande. And the Philistines gathered together, and cam and pitched in Gath. And Saul gathered all Israhell together, and they pitched in Gilboa: And when Saul sawe the hoste of the Philistines, he was afrayde, and his heart was sore astonied. And when Saul asked counsell of y^e Lord, the Lord answered him not, neyther by dreames nor by Urim, nor yet by Prophetes.

Then sayde Saul vnto his seruants: seek me a woman that hath a spirite of prophesye, that I maye goe to her and aske of her. And his seruants sayde to him: Beholde, there is a woman that hath a spirite of Prophesye at Endor. And Saul charged him selfe, and put on other rayementes, and then went he and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night. And he sayde: prophesye vnto me by the spirite, and bringe me him vppon whom I will name vnto thee.

And the woman sayd vnto him: Beholde thou knowest what Saul hath done, howe he hath destroyed the women that hadde prophesying spirites, and the Soothsayers oute of the lande. Wherefore then seekest thou an occasion agaynste my soule, that hee might kill mee? And Saul swaie to her by the Lord sayinge: As surely as the Lord liueth, there shall nooe harme chaunce thee for this thinge,

Then sayde the woman: whom shall I fetch by vnto thee? He answered: Bring me by Samuell. When shee sawe Samuell, she cryed with a loude voyce, and spake to Saul sayinge: Why haste thou discaued me, for thou art Saul. And the king sayde vnto her, be not afrayde: what seest thou? The woman sayde vnto Saul: I see gods ascending by out of the erth. He said vnto her again: what fallion is he of? She answered: ther cometh by an old man with a malle vpon him. And Saul perceued that it was Samuell & he stouped with his face to y^e ground and bowed him selfe. And Samuell said to Saul: why hast thou disquieted me, to make me be broughte vpper? Saul answered: I am sore incombed for y^e Philistines make war agaynst me, and God is departed from me, and answereth me homoz, neither by pythys, neyther by dreames. And therefore I haue called thee, y^e thou mayest tel me, what I shall do. The said Samuell: wherfore dost thou aske of me, while the Lord is gon fro thee, and is become thine enemy? Truly the Lord hath don for himselfe, euen as he spake by my hand. For the Lord hath rent the kingdome out of thine hand, & geuen it thy neighbour Dauid. Because thou obeyedst not the voyce of y^e Lord nor executedst his fierce wrath vppon the Amalekites, therfore hath y^e Lord don this vnto thee this day, & mozeouer, the lord will deliuer Israhell with thee into the hands of the Philistines. To morow shalt thou and thy loons be with me, and the lord shall geue the host of Israhell into the hands of the Philistines. Then Saul fell straight way flat on the earth as longe as hee was, and was sore adreab, because of the woordes of Samuell. And there was y^e length in him, for he hadde eaten no breade all the daye and the night before. And the woman came vnto Saul, and sawe that hee was sore troubled, and sayde vnto him: Se thine handmayde hath obeyed thy voyce, and haue put my soule in my hande, and haue hearkened vnto thy wordes which thou saydest vnto me. Now therfore herken thou also vnto the voyce of thine handmayd, and let me set a moyzell of breade before thee, that thou mayest eate, and gette thee strength, and then go on thy iourney. He refused, and sayd: I will not eate. But his seruantes and the woman together compelled him, and he hearkened vnto their voyce. And so hee arose from the earth, and sat him on a bed. The woman had a fat calfe in the house, and she hasted, and killed it, and toke floure and kneaded it, and dydde bake sweete cakes thereof, and brought them before Saul and before his seruantes. And when they hadde eaten they stode by, and wente aswage the same night.

The xxix. Chapter.

The Philistines were gathered together with all their armies vnto Iphc: And the Israelites pitched in Bim, which is in Jezrahel. And the Lordes of the Philistines went forth, with the hundredes and thousandes. But Dauid and his men came behinde with Achis. Then said the Lordes of the Philistines: What are ponder Chus? Achis sayde vnto the Lordes of the Philistines: Is not this Dauid the seruant of Saul the kinge of Israel, whiche hath bene with me these dayes or yeres? I haue founde no fault in him, since he fled vnto me vnto this daye. And the Lordes of the Philistines were wroth with him, and sayde vnto him: Make this fellowe returne, that he maye go agayne to his place which thou hast appointed him, and let him not goe downe with vs to battell, least in the battell, he be an aduersarye to vs. For wherewith coulde he better chayne the fauoure of his mayster, then with the brutes of these men? Is not this Dauid, to whom they singe in deuices:
xx. 18. a Soule due his thousande, and when thou wentest out and in with me in the host: neyther haue I founde euill with thee since thou camest to me vnto this daye. Accurthelesse the Lordes of the Philistines sauoure thee not: wherfore nowe retourne, and goe in peace, that thou displeas not the Lordes of the Philistines. And Dauid sayde vnto Achis: And what haue I done? what haste thou founde in thy seruant, as long as I haue bene with thee vnto this daye, that I maye not goe fight agaynst the enemies of my Lord the kinge? Achis answered and sayde to Dauid: I knowe that thou art good, and art in my sight, as an angell of God. Notwithstanding the Lordes of the Philistines haue sayd: Let him not goe by with vs to battell. wherfore nowe ryle by earlie in the morninge with thy masters seruantes that are come to thee, and when ye be by earlie (as soone as ye haue light) depart. And so Dauid, and his men rose hysrariye to depart in the morninge, and to returne into the land of the Philistines. And the Philistines went by to Jezrahel.

The xxx. Chapter.

But when Dauid and his men were come to Ziklag the thirde daye, the Amalechites hadde rushed in, vpon the Bonthe, and vpon Ziklag, and hadde smyten Ziklag, and burnt it with fyre, and had taken the women (that were therein) prisoners both smal and great: but save not a man, save carried them with them, and went their wayes. And Dauid and his men came to the Etic, and behold, it was burnt with fyre, and their wives, their sonnnes, and their daughters were carried aswage. Then Dauid and the people that was with him, lift by their voices, & wept vntill they could wepe no more. And Dauids two wiues were taken prisoners also: Abinoam the Jezrahelite, and Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite. And Dauid was in a shrowde combatte: for the people intended to stone him, because the heaues of all the people were heved for theyr sons and their daughters. But David tooke a good courage to him in the Lord his God, & said vnto Abiathar the priest Shimelechs soon: I pray thee, bringe me the Ephod. And Abiathar broughte the Ephod to David. And David as ked counsell at the Lord, sayinge: Shall I folowe after this companie, and shall I ouertake them? And he answered him: folowe, for thou shalt ouertake them and recover the praye. So David and the sixe hundred menne that were with him, wente and came to the riuer Besor, where a part of them abode. But David and foure hundred men folowed. For two hundred abode behinde, being to wery to go ouer the riuer Besor. And they founde an Egyptian in the felde, and broughte him to David, and gaue him bycade to eate, and water to drinke, and gaue him a fewe figges and two clusters of reasinges. And when he hadde eaten, his spirite came agayne to him: for he had eaten no bread, nor dronke no water in thre dayes and thre nightes. And David sayde vnto him, to whom belongeth thou, and whence art thou? he said: I am a yonge man of Egypte, and seruauant to an Amalekite: and my master left me behind, bec ause it is thre daies agone, that I fell sicke: we came a roning vpon the south of Chetuis, and againste Iuda, and towarde the south of Caleb. And we burnte Zikleg with fire. And David sayde to him: canst thou bring me to this company? And he sayde: sweare vnto me by God, that thou wilt neyther kill me, nor deliuer me into the hands of my master, & I wil bring thee to the company. And when he had brought him thither, behold, they laye scattered abroad vpon the earth, eating & drinking and dauncing, because of the plenteous and great praye that they had carried away out of the land of the Philistines, and out of the lande of Iuda. And David layde vpon them, from the riuer vntill the twilight on the morowe: so that there escaped not a man of them, save foure hundred yonge men, whiche rode away vpon camels, and fled. And David recovered al that the Amalekites had carried away, and David rescued his two wiues: so that there was no person of them lacking, small or great, sonne or daughter, or of the spoyle of al that they had taken away, David recovered the all agayne. And David toke al the shepe and the oxen. And they draue them befoze his castell, and said: This is Davids pray. And David came to the two hundred men, that were to weare for to folowe David, whome they had made also to abide at the riuer Besor. And they came to meete David, and the people that were with him. And when David came to the people, he saluted them. Then answered al the wicked and the vnchastites (of the men that went with David) and said: Because they went not with vs, therfore wil we geue them none of the pray that we haue recovered. But let every man take his wife & his child: those let them cary away, & be walking. Then sayd David: ye shall not do so (my brethren,) so that which the Lord hath geuen vs, & hath preserved vs, and deliuered the company that came against vs, into our hands. For who shold herken vnto you in this matter? But as his part is that goeth down & fighteth, so shal his part be that carrieth by the stuffe, that it may be parted alike. And so from that day forthward, was that made a statute & a law in Israel, vntill this daye. When David therfore came to Zikleg, he sent (giftes) of the pray vnto the elders of Iuda, and to his frendes, sayinge: See, ther is a blessing for you, of the spoyle of the enemies of the Lord. He sent to them of Berhel, to them of south Ramoth, to them of Zathir, to them of Troer, to them of Sephamoth, to the of Eschemaa, to them of Bethell, to them of the citics of Ierahmeel, to them of the citics of the Kenites, to them of Bozama, to them of Bozalan: to them of Athach, to them that are in Hebron, and in all places, where David and his men were wont to haunte.

The xxxi. Chapter.

The Philistines fought against Israel, and the men of Israel fledde away from the Philistines, and fell downe wounded in mount Gilboa. And the Philistines pleased soze vpon Saule and his son, and slewe Jonathas, and Binadab, and Melchisua, Saules sonnes. And when the battayle went soze agaynst Saul, the archers with bowes found him, and he was soze afraid of the archers.

When sayd Saul vnto his harness bearer, • drawe out thy swearde, and thrust me through therewith, least the vncircumcised comine and thrust me thoroughe, and make a mockinge stocke of me. But his harness bearer would not, for he was soze afraid. And Saule tooke a sweard, and fell vpon it. And when his harness bearer sawe that Saule was dead, he fel likewise vpon his swearde, and dyed with him. And so Saul dyed, and his three sonnes, and his harness bearer, and all his men that same day together. And when the men of Israel that were on the other side of the valley, and they of the other syde Jordan heard that the me of Israel were put to flight, & Saul and his sonnes were deade, they leste the Cities, and ranne awaye. And the Philistines came and dwelte in them.

C On the morowe when the Philistines were come to spoule them, that were slayne, they founde Saule and his three sonnes lyinge in Mounte Gilboa. And they cut off his heade, and stripped him out of his harneys, and sente into the lande of the Philistines on euery syde that they shoulde publishe it in the temple of their Idolles, and amonge the people. And they layd vp his harneys in the house of Asarothe, but they hanged vp his body on the wall of Bethsan. • When and burnt them there, and toke their bones, and buried them vnder a tree at Iabes, and fasted seuen dayes.

The firste Chapter.

After the deathe of Saul, when Dauid was returned from the slaughter of the Amalechites, and had ben two dayes in Ziklag: Bechoide, there came a man the thirde daye out of the host from Saul, with his clothes rent, & earth vpon his head. And whē he came to Dauid, he fell to the earth & did obeisance. Dauid said vnto him: whence comest thou? he sayde vnto him: Out of the hoste of Israel I am escaped. And Dauid sayde vnto him: And what is chauced? tel me. he said: The people is fled from the battayle, and many of the people are overthromwen, and dead, and Saule and Jonathas his sonne are dead also. And Dauid said vnto the yonge man that tolde him these tidings: how knowest thou that Saule & Jonathas his sonne be dead? he yonge man that tolde him, answered: I cam by chauce to mounte Gilboa: And behold, Saul leaned vpon his speare. For the charrettes and companies of horsemen folowed hard after him. And when he looked backe, he sawe me, and called me. And I answered: Here am I. And he said vnto me: What art thou? I answered him: I am an Amalekite. he said vnto me agayne: Stand vpon me, and slea me: For anguish is come vpon me, though my life be yet al in me. And so I stode vpon him and slue him, for I was sure that he could not liue, after that he had fallen. And I toke the crowne that was vpon his hed, and the bracelette that was on his arme, and haue brought them hither vnto my lodde.

 ¶ Then David toke holde on his cloathes, and rent them, and so dyd all the men that were with hym. And they mourned, & wept, and fasted vntill euen, for Saul and Jonathas his sonne, and for the people of the Lord, and for the house of Israel, because they were ouerthrowen with the swerde. And David sayde vnto the pong man that brought him these tydynges. Whence art thou? And he answered I am the sonne of an alcaunt an Amalekite. And David sayd vnto hym: Howe is it that thou wast not afraid, to lay thine hande on the Lord-des anointed, to destroy hym? And David called one of his pong men, and saide: Go to and runne vpon him. And he smot him that he dyed: Then said David vnto hym: Thy blood be vpon thyne owne headde. ¶ For thyne own mouth hath testified against thee saying: I haue slayn the Lords anointed. And David mourned with thys lamentation ouer Saul and ouer Jonathas his son, and bad teach the children of Israel & vse of the bowe. And behold, it is written in the booke of the ryghteous. And he sayd: Consider, O Israel, these that be dead and wounded vpon thy hye hylls. O noble Israel, the wounded are slayne vpon the hylls. Oh howe are the myghtie ouerthrowen. ¶ Tell it not in Gath, nor publishe it in the stretes of Asa-lon: lest the daughters of the Philis-tins reioyce, and least the daughters of the brutumised, triumphe. Ye mountayns of Gilboa: Upon you be neither dewe nor rayne, nor vpon the fieldes of offerpnynges. For there the shield of the myghtie is caste downe: the shield of Hauke as though he had not ben anointed with oile. The bow of Jonathas and the swerde of Saul turned neuer backe agayne emptye frō the blood of the slayne, and frome the fat of the myghtie warrours. Saul and Jonathas were louely and pleasant in their liues, and in their des-thes they were not deuised. They were swifter then Eagles, and stronger then Lyons. Ye daughters of Israel wepe ouer Saul, which clothed you in purple with pleasures, & hanged ornaments of golde vpon your apparell. Howe wert the myghtie slayne in battaile? Jonathas is dead: on the hye hylls. Wo is me for thee (my brother Jonathas) very kinde haste thou beene vnto me. Thy loue to me was wonderfull, passing the loue of women as a mother loued her only child, euen so did I loue thee. O howe are the myghtie ouerthrowen, and the weapons of warre destroyed.

 the Lord sayd vnto him: Go. And Da-uid sayd agayne: Whither shall I goe?
 He answered: Vnto Hebron. And so David went thither with his twoo wyues, Ahinoam the Ierusalemite, and Abigail Nabals wyfe the Car-and ouer Jezrahell, Ephraim, Ben Jamin, and ouer all Israel. And Isboeth Sauls son was fortie yere old when he began to reigne ouer Israel, and reigned two yere. But the house of Iuda folowed Dauid. And the tyme which Dauid reigned in Hebryon ouer the house of Iuda, was .vij yere and sixe monethes. And Abner the sonne of Ner, and the seruants of Ishboeth the sonne of Saule wente out of Mahanahim, to Gibeon. And Joab the sonne of Jauiia, and the ser-uants of Dauid went out, & met the by the poole of Gibeon. And they sat downe, the one on the one syde of the poble, and the other on the other syde.

And Abner said to Joab: Let the pong men arise, and play before vs. And Joab said: Let them arise. Then there arose, and went ouer, twelue of Ben-Jamin by number, whiche pertained to Ishboeth the sonne of Saule, and twelue of the seruantes of Dauid.
And euerye one caughte his felowe (that came against him) by the head, and thrust his swerd in his syde, and so they fell down together. Wherefore the place was called: The field of the mightye. And it is in Gibeon. And there began an exceeding cruell battell that same daye. For Abner and the men of Israel fell before the seruantes of Dauid. And there were thre sons of Jauiiah there: Joab, Abisai, and Abael. And Abael was as light of foot as a wild Boe. And Abael folowed after Abner, and tourned neither to the right hande, nor to the lefte from Abner. Then Abner looked behinde him, and sayde: Iste thou Abael? He answered: Yea that I am.
Abner sayde: Turne thee epyther to the right hande, or to the lefte, and catche one of the pong men, and take thee his weapons. But Abael would not depart from him. And Abner said agayn to Abael, departe fro me, wherfore shoulde I smyte thee to the grounde, and not be able to holde by my face to Joab thy brother? Howe be it, when he woulde in noo wise departe, Abner with the hinder ende of the speare, smote him vnder the hoyle ribbes, that the speare came out behynde him, that he fell downe in the same place, and dyed there. And as they wer come to the hil Ama, & Ierth before Giah by way that goeth throough the wilderness of Gibeon. And the childre of Ben Jamin gathered the felues together on an heape to Abner, and stode on the top of an hill. Then Abner called to Joab, and sayde: Shall the swerd deuour still for euer? Kno-west thou not that it will bee bitternes in the latter end? How long shall it be, ere thou bid the people retourne from folowing their brethren? And Joab sayd: As truly as God liueth if thou haddest not spoken in the moning, the people had bene departed, e-uery one from persecutinge his brother. And so. Joab blew a trou-pet, and all the people stood still, and pursued after Israel no moze, neither sought they any moze. And Abner and his men walked all that night throough the plaine, and went ouer Jordan, and past through al Bethozon til they came to Mahanahim. And Joab returned from persecutinge Abner.

And when he hadde gathered all the people together, there lacked of Da-uids seruantes nyntene men, and Abael. But the seruantes of Da-uid hadde slayne of Ben Jamin, and of Abners men, thye hundred and thye score men. And they toke by Abael, and buried him in the sepulchre of his father in Bethlehem. And Joab and his men went all night, vntill the dawning of the daye, and came to Hebryon.

There was longe warre betwene the house of Saul and the house of David. But David waxed stronger and stronger, and the house of Saul waxed weaker and weaker. And vnto David were (sire) children borne in Hebron: his eldest sonne also was Amnon, of Bathsheba the Iezraelite: the seconde Cherab of Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite: the thirde Absalom, the sonne of Maachab, the daughter of Chaiat, the king of Gessur: the fourth, Adonia, the sonne of Hagith: the fift, Sephathia, the sonne of Abith: the sixte, Iethream by Eglia Davids wife. These were borne to David in Hebron. And it fortuned, that while there was warre betwene the house of Saul, and the house of David, Abner helde by the house of Saul. And Saul hadde a Concubine named Rizpa, the daughter of Baia. And Ishobeth sayde to Abner: wherefore hast thou gone into my fathers concubines? Then was Abner wroth for the wordes of Ishobeth, and sayde: Am I not a dogges head, which against Iuda do shewe mercy this daye vnto the house of Saul thy father, and to his brethren and frendes, and haue not deliuered thee into the hand of David: and thou findest a fault in me this day for this woman? So and so doo God to Abner. For as the LORD hath sworn to David, so will I be: on his side, to bring the kingdome from the house of Saul, that the throne of David maye bee established ouer Israel, and ouer Iuda, euen from Dan to Bersabe. And he could geue Abner neuer a worde to aunsweere, because he feared him. And Abner sent messengers to David secretly, sayinge: whose is the land? Make a bonde with me, and beholde: My hande is with thee, to bringe all Israel vnto thee. He sayde: It is good, that I make a bonde with thee. But one thinge I require of thee, that thou see not my face, except thou first bring Michol Davids daughter: when thou

comest to see me. And David sente messengers to Ishobeth Davids soon: sayinge: Deliuere me my wife Michol, which I married with an hundred foreskinnes of the Philistines. And Ishobeth sent, and toke her from her husbände. Wherewith, the soonne of Aias. And her husbände went with her, and came weeping behinde her, till they came to Bahurim. Thenne sayd Abner vnto him, go and returne. And he returned. And Abner had communication with the elders of Israel, sayinge: Ye fought for David in tymes past, that he might bee your kinge. Nowe then doo it: for the LORD hath sayde of David: By the hande of my seruant David, I will saue my people Israel, out of the handes of the Philistines, and out of the hande of all theyr enemies. And Abner spake in the eares of Beniamin, and wente to tell in the eares of David in Hebron, all that Israel was contented with, and the whole house of Beniamin. And so Abner came to David to Hebron, hauinge twenty men with him, and David made him and the men that were with him a feast. And Abner sayde vnto David: I will be, and go gather all Israel vnto my Lord the kinge, that they may make an appointment with thee, and that thou mayest commaunde all, as thyne hearte desireth. And when David hadde lette Abner departe, he wente in peace. And beholde, the seruantes of David, and Joab came from chasing the robbers, and brought a great praye with them. But Abner was not with David in Hebron: for he had sente him awayne to departe in peace. When Joab and all the hoste that was with him, were come, then tolde Joab, sayinge: Abner the soonne of Ner came to the kinge, and he hath sent him awayne, that he is gone in peace. Thenne Joab came to the kinge, and sayde: What haste thou doone? Beholde, Abner came vnto thee, and whype haste thou sent him awayne, that he should scape quite?

Thou knowest Abner the son of Ner for he came to deceyue thee, & to know thy out goinge, and in goinge, and to know all that thou doest. And when Joab was come out from Dauid, he sent messengers after Abner, whiche brought him agayne from the well of Syra, unknowinge to Dauid. to speake with him secretlye, and smote him vnder the thopt ribbes that he dyed, for the bloude of Ishahel his brother. And when afterwarde, it came to Dauid eare, he sayde: I and my kingdome are guiltlesse befoze the Worde for ever concerning the bloude of Abner the sonne of Ner. Lette the bloud remaine on the heade of Joab, and on all his fathers house that the house of Joab be neuer without one of other that hath running yllnes of leper and that leaneth on a staffe, and that doth fall on the swearde, and lacketh byade. And the cause why Joab and Abisai slewe Abner, was that Abner had flayne their brother Ishahel at Gibeon in battell. And Dauid sayde to Joab, and to all the people that wer with him: Went youre clothes, and putte on sacke cloth, and mourne befoze Abner. And king Dauid him selfe folowed the corse. And when they buried Abner in Hebron, the king liste vp his voyce, and wept beside the sepulchre of Abner, and soo did all the people. And the king lamented ouer Abner, and said: died Abner as a foole dieth thy handes were not bdd, nor thy fete brought into cheynes but as a ma fallerh befoze wicked children so felless thou. And all they that were of the people, wept yet more ouer him. And when all the people came to eat meate with Dauid while it was yet day, Dauid sware saying: So and so do God to me, if I taste breade or ought els, till the soonne bee downe. And the people wiske it, and it pleased them. And whatsoeuer the kinge dydde, it pleased all the people. For all the people and all Israel beresode that day, how that it was not

Vhen Sauls sonne heard that Abner was deade in Hebron, his handes were feble, and all the Israelites were afraide: & Sauls sonne had two men that were captaynes ouer the souldiers, the one called Baanah, and the other Rechab: the soonnes of Rimmon a Berothite, of the chylozenne of Ben Jamin: for Beroth was reckned to Ben Jamin. And these Berothites fledde to Gethaim, and sojourned there vntill the same time. And Jonathas Sauls sonne had a sonne that was lame on his fete. And he was five yere olde: when the tidinges came of Saule and Jonathas oute of Israell. And his nurse toke him by, and fledde awaye. And as she made haste to flee, the childe fell, and began to halte, and his name was Hiphiboseh, And the soonnes of Rimmon the Berothite, Rechab and Baanah went and came in the heate of the daye to the house of Ifbofeth, whiche slepte on a bedde at noon. (And the woman that was the keeper of the doore, and clesed the wheate, was asleepe. And they came in the middes of the house as though they wold haue fetched wheate, and Rechab and Baanah his brother smote him vnder the thopt ribbes, and fledde. For when they came into the house, he slepte on his bedde in his resting chamber, and they smote him, and slewe him, & beheaded him, & toke his head, and gat them away through the playn all the night. And they brought the heade of Ifbofeth vnto Dauid, to Hebron, and layde to the kinge: Beholde, there is the heade of Ifbofeth Dauid sonne, thine enemye whiche soughte after thy life. And the Lord hath avenged my Lord the kinge this daye of Saul and of his seede. And David answered Achish and Banaiah his brother, the sonnes of Rimmon the Gerothite, and sayde vnto them: as surrey as the Lord liueth, which hath deliuered my soule out of all aduersities: When one tolde me and sayde that Saul was deade, thynking to haue brought good tidings, I caught him and slew him in Silleg: whiche thought that I woude haue given him a rewarde for his tydings bringyng. Howe muche moze when wicked men haue slayn a righteous person, in his owne house, and vpon his bedde: Shall I not require his blood of your hande, and take you from the earth? And David commaunded his yong men, & they slew them, and hanged them, and cut of their handes, and feete, and hanged theym vpon the poole of Hebron. But they toke the head of Ishobab, and buried it in the Sepulchre of Abner in Hebron.

Then came all the tribes of Israel to David, vnto Hebron, and sayde: Beholde, we are of thy bone and of thy fleshe. And in time past when Saul was our king, thou leddest Israel in & out. And the Lord hath sayd to thee: thou shalt fede my people Israel, and thou shalt be a captayne ouer Israel. And so all the elders of Israel came to the kinge to Hebron. And king David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the Lord. And they anointed David king ouer Israel. David was thirtie yeares olde, when hee beganne to reigne: and he reigned fortye yere. In Hebron he reigned ouer Iuda seven yeares and sixe monethes: And in Ierusalem he reigned thirtie and thre yeares ouer all Israel and Iuda. The kinge also and his men went to Ierusalem vnto the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land. which spake vnto David sayyng: except thou take awaye the blinde and the lame, thou shalt not come in hither. For they sayde: Thou arte not able to come in hither. Neuerthelesse, David tooke the stronge holde of Sion. The same is the Citie of David. And David sayde the same daye: Whosoeuer smyteth the Jebusites, and getteth vp to the gutters of the houses, and smyteth the lame and the blinde that hate Dauids soule: Wherefoze, they said the blinde and the lame shall not come into the house. And so David dwelte in the towre, and called it the Citie of David, and builde rounde aboute it from Millo inwarde. And Dauid prospered and grewe, and the Lord God of hostes was with him. And Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and Cedar trees, and Carpenters and masons for wallen: and they built David an house. And David perceaued, that the Lord hadde stablished him king ouer Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdome for his people Israels sake, and David toke him no concubines and wiues oute of Ierusalem, after he was come from Hebron, and mo sons and daughters were yet bozne to David. And these be the names of the sonnes that were bozne vnto him, in Ierusalem: Samuella, Sobab, Nathan, and Salomon, Iibbar also and Elisua, Nespegh, and Iaphia, Elisama, Eliada, and Eliaphelst. But when the Philistines heard, that they had anointed David kinge ouer Israel, they came all vp to seeke David. And as sone as David heard of it, he gat him to an hold. And when the Philistines came, they layde theym alonge in the valley of Rephaim. And David asked counsell of the Lord sayyng: Shall I goo vp to the Philistines? Witte thou deliuer them into my handes? And the Lord answered vnto David: go vp, for I will doubtles deliuer the Philistines into thy handes. And David came to the playne of Beresayn and smote them there, and sayde: the Lord hath deuyded myne enemies asunder before me, as water is deui-ded asunder. And therefore, the name of the place was called the plain of Perezim: And there they sette their images, and David and his menne tooke them vp. And the Philistines came yet agayne, and layde them selues in the balley of Rephaim. And when David asked at the Lord: Shall I go by agaynste the Philistines? and wilt thou deliuer them into my handes? He answered: Thou shalt not go by, but compass them on the backside and come vpon them ouer against the Peretrees. And when thou hearest the noyse of a thing going in the toppes of the Peretrees: then remoue. For then shall the Lord go out before thee, to smite the hoste of the Philistines. And David did as the Lord had commaunded him, and smote the Philistines from Gibeon, vntill thou come to Gazer.

The. vi. Chapter.

A Gayne, David gathered together all the chosen men of Israel, euen thirtie thousand and arose and went with all the folke that were with him of the menne of Iuda, to sette a waye from thence, the Arke of God: whose name is called the name of the Lord of hostes that dwelleth vppon it, betwene the Cherubins. And they putte the Arke of God vpon a newe carte, and brought it out of the house of Abinadab that was in Gibeon. And Uza & Ahio the sons of Abinadab draue the newe cart and when they brought it out of the house of Abinadab that was at Gibeon, with the Arke of God. Ahio went before the Arke. And David and all the house of Israel played before the Lord in sundry instrumentes made of Cedar wood, with harpes, psalteries, timbrells, fiddles and Shimbals. And when they came to Bethany, they shing flour, Uza put his hande to the Arke of God, and held it for ore stumbled. And the Lord was wrothe with Uza, and God smote him in the same place for his fault, & ther he dyed before the Arke of God. And David was displeased, because the Lord had smitten Uza. And the name of the place was called Perez. The renting of Uza vntill this day. And David was then afraid of the Lord, and said: howe shall the arke of the Lord come to me? And so David wold not bring the arke of the Lord vnto him into the cite of David. But David caried it into the house of Obeth Edom, a Gethite. And the arke of the Lord continued in the house (of Obeth Edom the Gethite) iij. monethes, and the Lord blessed Obeth Edom & al his household. And one told king David howe that the Lord had blessed the house of Obeth Edom, & al that pertained vnto him because of the arke of God. And David went & brought the Arke of God from the house of Obeth Edom, into the cite of David with gladnes, (and ther was with David ieuen sortes of dauncers & causes for sacrifice.) And when they that bare the arke of the Lord, had gone like spaces, he offered an oxe and a fat sheepe. And David (played on harpe strings, and) daunced before the Lord with al his might, & was girded with a limbe Ephod. So David and all the house of Israel brought the Arke of the covenant) of the Lord, with shoutinge and trumpet blowing. And it fortuned, that as the arke of the Lord came into the cite of David, Michol Dauides daughter looked through a window and saw king David spring and daunce before the Lord, and she despised him in her heart. And when they brought in the arke of the Lord, they sette it in his place, euen in the middes of the Tabernacle that David had pitched for it. And David offered burnt offeringes and peace offeringes before the Lord. And as soone as David had made an ende of offering burnt offeringes and peace offeringes, hee blessed the people in the name of the Lord of hostes, and gave amonge all the folke, euen among the whole multitude of Israel, as well the women as menne: to euery one a Cake of brende, and a peece of fleshe, and a slacket of drinke. And so all the people departed euery one to his house.

Then Dauid returned to blesse his household, and Michol the daughter of Saul came out to mete Dauid, and said: How glorious was the kinge of Israel this day, which was vncouered to daye in the eyes of the maydens of his seruantes, as if it had ben a lighte bryded felowe vncouered: and Dauid sayde vnto Michol: I thought to dance befoze the Lord, whiche chose me rather then thy father, and al his kinne, and commaunded me to be ruler ouer al the people of the Lord, euen ouer Israel. And therfore will I play befoze the Lord. And will yet be moze vile then so, & will be meke in mine owne sight: and of the verpe same maid seruantes which thou hast spoken of, shall I be had in honoure. Therfore Michol the daughter of Saul hadde no childe, vnto the daye of her death.

The. vij. Chapter.

It fortuned, that as the kinge sat in his house (after that the Lord had gotten him rest round about from all his ennemyes) he sayde vnto Nathan the prophete: Behold, I dwell now in an house of Cedar trees, but the Arke of God dwelleth within the curtayne. And Nathan sayd vnto the king: Go, and doo all that is in thine hearte, for the Lord is with thee. And it fortuned the same night that the worde of the Lord came vnto Nathan, saying: Go, and tell my seruant Dauid. Thus sayth the Lord: Shalt thou build me an house to dwell in? For I haue not dwelt in any house since the tyme that I brought the chyldren of Israel out of Egypt, vnto this daye: but haue walked in a tent and tabernacle. In all the places wherin I haue walked with all the chyldren of Israel, spake I one worde with any of the trybes of Israel, (vnto I commaunded the Iudges to seeke my people Israel) saying: Why build ye not me an house of Cedar trees? Then Nathan so sayd vnto my seruant Dauid: thus sayth the Lord of Israel: A house thou shalt the sheepe coate (as thou waste folowinge sheepe) that thou mightest be ruler ouer my people Israel. And I was with thee in all that thou wentest to, and haue destroyed all thyne ennemyes oute of thy sight, and haue made thee a great name, like vnto the name of the great men that are in the world. And therefore I will appoynt a place for my people Israel, and will plante it, that they may dwell in a place of their owne, & moue no more, neyther shall the wicked people trouble thym anye more, as they didde at the beginninge, since the tyme that I sette Iudges ouer my people of Israel. And I will geue thee rest from all thyne ennemyes. And the Lord telleth thee, that he will make thee an house. And when thy dayes bee fulfilled, thou shalt sleepe with thy fathers, and I will set vp thy seede after thee, whiche shall proceede out of thy body, and will stablish his kingdome. He shall buyde an house for my name, and I will stablish the seate of his kingdome for ever. I will be his father, and hee shall be my sonne: If he syn, I will chasten him with such a rodde as men be chastened with, & wiche plagues as the chyldren of menne bee plagued with. But my mercy shall not depart awaye from him, as I tooke it from Saul, whome I putte downe befoze thee. And thyne house and thy kingdome shall endure without ende after thee, and thy seate shall be established for ever. According to all these wordes, and accordinge to all this vision, did Nathan speake vnto Dauid. Then went Dauid in, and sette him downe befoze the Lord, and sayde: What am I, O Lord God? and what is my house: that thou shouldest haue brought me thus farre forth? And this was yet a small thinge in thy sight, O Lord God, but thou hast spoken also of thy seruants house for a great while to come. For this is the blood man, O Lord God. For what can Dauid say more vnto thee? Nathan answered, knowest thou thy seruant?

3 A fter this, it fortuned, that David smote the Philistines and subdued them, and tooke the hyddle of bondage out of the hand of the Philistines. And he smote the Moabites, and measured them with a lyne, and castethem downe to the ground. Euen with two lynes measured he them wher he was, and the lengthe of one lyne saved he alyue, and so became the Moabites, Davids seruauntes, and payde tribute. David smote also Hadarezer, the sonne of Rehob kinge of Zobah, as he wente to recouer his bozder at the riuer Pherar. And David toke a thousande and seuen hundred hoysen of his hoste, and twentie thousande foote men, and cut of the holt of all his charret hoysen; reseruinge one onely hundred charret-tes. And when the Sirians of Da-malcon came to succoure Hadarezer kinge of Zobah, David slew of the Sirians two and twentie thousande men, and put souldiours in Siria Da-malcon. And the Sirians became seruauntes, to David payinge tribute.

And thus the Lord saved David, in all that hee wente vnto. And David tooke the sheldes of golde that belonged to the seruauntes to Hadarezer, and brought them to Jerusalem. And out of Betan and Berothai (Cities of Hadarezer) bid David bring exceeding much brasie, (wherof Salomon made sent Joab his sonne vnto king Da-blesse him because he hadde fought a-

The happened after this; that the Kinge of the childerne of Ammon dyed, and Hanon his soonne reigned in his steade. Then sayde Dauid: I will shewe kindness vnto Hanon the sonne of Nabal, as his father shewed kindness vnto mee. And Dauid sente to comforte him by the hands of his seruants ouer (the death of) his father. And Dauids seruants came into the lande of the children of Ammon, and the Kinge of the children of Ammon said vnto Hanon their Lord: thinkest thou that Dauid both honour thy father, that he hath sent comfortours to thee? hath not Dauid rather sent his seruantes vnto thee, to search the cite, and to spie it oute, and to ouerturne it? wherefore, Hanon toke Dauids seruantes: and shaued off the one half of euery mans beard, and cut off their garments in the middle, euen hard to the buttocks of them, and sent them away, when they tolde it vnto Dauid, he sente to meete them (for they were men exceedingly shamed.) And the Kinge sayde, tarpe at Iericho vntill your beards bee

W growen, and then retorne. And when the children of Ammon saw that they stancke in the sighte of Dauid, they sente and hyred the Syrians of the house of Rehob, and the Syrians of Joba. xx. thousande foote men, and of king Maachah a thousande men, and of Itob twelue thousande men. And when Dauid heard of it, he sent Joab and all the hooke of stronge men. And the children of Ammon came out, and waged battell at the entringe in of the gate, & the Syrians of Jobah, of Rehob, Itob, and Maachah were by them selues in the fildes. When Joab sawe that the front of the battell was agaynst him before and after, he chose of all the freshe ponge men of Israel, and put them in aray agaynst the Syrians. And the reste of the people he deliuered into the hand of Abisai his brother, that he might put them in a rape agaynst the children of Ammon.

C And he said: if the Syrians be stronger then: thou shalt helpe me. But if the children of Ammon be to strong for thee, I wil come and succoure thee. Wherefore quize thee like a man, and let be stande stille for our people, and for the Cities of our God. And the Loze do that which is good in his owne eyes. And Joab proceeded forth, and the people that was with him, to fight with the Syrians. But they fled before him. And when the children of Ammon sawe that the Syrians were fled, then fled they also before Abisai, and entred into the Citie. And so Joab returned from the children of Ammon, and came to Ierusalem. And when the Syrians sawe that they were put to the worse before Israel, they gathered the together. And Hadarezer sent, and brought oute the Syrians that were beyonde the river. And they came with their army, and Jobah the captayne of the hoste of Hadarezer went before them. And when it was shewed Dauid, he gathered all Israel together, and passed ouer Jordan, and came to Helam. And the Syrians set them selues in aray agaynst Dauid, and fought with him, and the Syrians fled before Israel. And Dauid destroyed seven hundred charres of the Syrians, and foure thousande horsemen, and smote Jobah the captayne of their hoste, which also dyed there. And when all the kinges (that were seruantes to Hadarezer) sawe that they were put to the worse before Israel, they made pence with them, and serued them. And so the Syrians feared to helpe the children of Ammon any moze.

AND it came to passe that after the yeare was expired in the time when kinges be to go forth to battell, Dauid sent Joab and his seruantes with him, and all Israel, which destroyed the children of Ammon, and besieged Raba. But Dauid tarried still at Ierusalem. And it chanced in an evening that Dauid arose out of his bed, and walked vpon the roafe of the kings palace, and from thence he sawe a woman washing her selfe: and the woman was very beutyfull to looke vpon. And he sente to enquire what woman it should be, saying: Is it not Bethsabe, the daughter of Eliam, and wife to Urias the Hethite? And Dauid sente messengers, and fet her. And she came in vnto him, and he lay with her. And (immediatly) she was purpyed from her vncleanness, and returned vnto her house. And the womanne concealed, and sente and tolde Dauid, and sayde: I am with child. And Dauid sent to Joab (sayinge) sende me Urias the Hethite. And Joab sente Urias to Dauid. And when Urias was come vnto him, Dauid demanded of him: howe Joab diide, and howe the people fared, and howe the men of warre prospered. And Dauid saide to Urias: Go downe to thine house and walke thy feete. And Urias departed out of the kings palace, and they followed him a seruite from the Kings table. But Urias slepe at the house of kinges place, with all the seruantes of his house, and wente not downe to his house. whiche when they had tolde Dauid (sayinge: Arias wente not downe into his house.) Dauid sayde vnto Arias: Camst thou not from thy iourney? whype diddest thou not go downe then vnto thine house?

Arias answered Dauid: The arke and Israel and Iuda dwell in poulions: and my lord Joab and the ser-uantes of my house lye vpon the flat earth, and shall I then goe into myne house to eate and to drinke, and 12. 14. lye with my wife: By thy lye, and by the life of thy soule, I will not doe this thing. And Dauid sayde vnto Arias: tarpe here this night also, and to morowe I will let thee depart.

And so Arias abode in Jerusalem that day, and the morowe. And when Dauid had called him, he did eate and drinke before him, and hee made him drinke. And at euen he went out to lye on his couche with the ser-uantes of his house, but wente not downe to his house. On the morowe Dauid wrote a letter to Joab, and sente it by the hand of Arias. And he wrote thus in the letter, saying: Put Arias in the forefront of the sharpe battell, and come ye backe from him, that he maye be smitten and dye. So when Joab besieged the Citie, he assigned Arias vnto a place, where hee wist that stronge men were. And the men of the citie came out, and fought with Joab. And there were certayne ouerthrowen of the people, and of the seruantes of Dauid. And Arias the Bethite dyed also. Then Joab sente and tolde Dauid all the thinges con-cerninge the warre, and charged the messenger, sayinge: When thou haste made an end of telling the matters of the warre vnto the king, yf he begin to fume, and saye vnto thee, wherfoze approched ye so nye vnto the Citie, when ye did fight, wisse ye not that they would hurle and shoote from the wal: who smote Bimelech sonne of Joab, 9. g. Ieroboth: & did not a woman calke a peere of a milstone vpon him from off the wall, and he dyed in Thebes? whype went ye nye the wall: then saye thou: Thy seruant Arias the Be-thite is deade also. So the messenger went, and came, and shewed Dauid all that Joab had sent him for, and the messenger sayde vnto Dauid: the men presupled agaynst vs, and camme out vnto vs in the ficke, and we (with violence) stroke vnto them, euen vnto the entringe of the gate. And the shooters shot from the walles, vpon thy seruantes, and some of the kinges seruantes be deade. And thy seruaunte Arias the Bethite is deade also. And Dauid sayde vnto the messenger: Thus shalt thou saye vnto Joab: let not that thing trouble thee.

For (the chauce of warre is di-uerse, and) the swearde deuourth one as well as another: Make thy battell more stronge agaynst the Citie to ouerthrowe it, and see that thou corage Joab. And when the wife of Arias hearde that her husbände was deade, she mourned for him. And when the mourninge was passe, Dauid sente and sette her to his house, and she became his wife, and bare him a sonne.
But this thing that Dauid did, displeased the house.

The .xij. Chapter.

And the house sente Nathan vnto Dauid. And he came vnto him, and tolde him: There were two men in one cite, the one riche, and the other poore. The riche man had exceeding many sheepe and oxen. But the poore had nothing saue one little sheepe, which he hadde bought and nourished vp. And it grew vp with him, & with his chiltzen also & did eate of his owne meat, and dranke of his owne cup: and slepte in his bo-some: & was vnto him as his daughter. And there came a stranger vnto riche man. And he could not fynde in his heart to take of his owne sheepe, and of his owne oxen, to dyesse for the stranger that was come vnto him: But tooke the poore mannes sheepe, and blessed it for the manne, that was come to him. And David was exceeding wroth with the man, and saide to Nathan: as surely as the Lord liveth, I Re. 2 of the man that hath done this thing - is the child of death. He shall restore the Exo. 2 2 a lambe - foure fold, because he did this thing, and had no pittie. And Nathan said to David: thou art the man. Thus I Re. 16c sayth the Lord God of Israel: I anopnted thee king ouer Israel, & rid thee out of the hand of Saul. I gaue thee thy masters house & thy masters wiues into thy bosome, and gaue thee the house of Israel and of Iuda, and might (if that had bene to litle) haue geuen the so much more. Wherefore the hast thou despised the commandment of the Lord to do wickednesse in his sight? Thou hast killed Urias the Hethite with the sword, and hast taken his wife to thy wife, and hast layne him with the sword of the children of Ammon. Now therefore the sword shall neuer depart from thine house, because thou hast despised me, and taken the wife of Urias the Hethite, to bee thy wife. Wherefore thus saith the Lord: beholde, I will stirre vp euil agaynst thee, euen out of thine own house, and I will take thy wyues before thyne eyes, & geue them vnto thy neighbour, and he shall lye with thy wyues in the sight of the sunne. For thou diddest it secretly. But I will do this thinge before all Israel, and in the open sun-nyght. And David said vnto Nathan:

 I haue sinned agaynste the Lord.
 And Nathan sayde vnto David: the Lord also hath put away thy sinne, thou shalt not dye. Howdest, because in doing this dedde, thou hast geuen the enemies of the Lord a cause to rayle, the child that is boine vnto thee, shall surely dye. And Nathan depa-ted vnto his house. And the Lord stroke the child that Urias wife bare vnto David, and it sickened sore. Da-uid therefore besought the God for the childe, and fasted, and went in, and lay all night vpon the earth. And the elders of his house arose, and wente to him, to take him vp from the earth,

But he would not, myght did he eate meate with them. And it happed the seventh daye, that the childe dyed. And the seruantes of David durst not tell him, that the childe was deade. For they sayde: Beholde, while the childe was yet alive, were spake vnto him, and he would not hearken vnto our voyce. Howde wilt he then heare him selfe, if we tell him, that the childe is deade? But David seeing his seruantes whisperinge, perceived that the childe was deade, and Da-uid sayde vnto his seruantes: Is the childe deade? They sayde: yea.
 And David arose from the earth, and washed and annoynted him selfe, and chaunged his apparell, and came into the house of the Lord, and woosh-ped, and afterwarde came to his owne house, and had that they should sit byeade before him, and he didde eate.
 Then sayd his seruantes vnto him: What thinge is this, that thou hast done? Thou diddest faste and wepe for the childe while it was alive, and as soone as it was deade, thou diddest rise vpper, and eate meate. He sayd: while the childe was yet alive, I fasted and wepte. For this I thought who can tell whether God will haue mettye on mee, that the childe maye liue. But now I seeinge it is deade, wherefore should I faste? Can I bringe him agayne anye more? I shall goe to myn, rather then he shall come agayne to me. And David conforted Bethshabe his wife, and wente in vnto her, and laye with her, and she bare a sonne, and called his name Solomon, and the Lord blessed him.
 And he sente by the hande of Nathan the prophet, and called his name. Jo-dab, of the Lordes behaile.
 Joab fought agaynst Absa the El-tie of the childerne of Ammon, and toke the Citie of the kingedome. And Joab sente messengers to David, sayinge: I haue made assaule to Ab-sa, and haue taken the citie with wallers. Nowe therefore gather the men of the people together, and besiege the Citie, that thou mayest haue it.

And beholding, the whole kinred is risen agaynst thy handmayde, and they sayde: Deliver vs him that smote his brother, that we may kill him, for the soule of his brother whom he slewe. We will destroye the hepye also. And so they shall quench my sparkle which is left, that he shall stirre vp (to my hus band) neither name nor yssue vpon the earth. And the king said vnto the woman: go home to thine house, I will geue a charge for thee. And the woman of Thekoa said vnto the king: My Lord, O king, this trespass be on me and on my fathers house, and the king and his seat be giltye. And the king sayd: yf any man soye ought vnto thee, bring him to me, and he shall hurt thee no more. Then sayd she: Let the king remember his Lord God, that the anger of the bloude gather not on heapes together to destroy, and that they slaye not my loonne. And he answered: as sure as the Lord liueth, there shall not one heare of thy sonne fall to the earth. The woman sayde: Lette thine handmayde speake one worde more with my Lord the king. And he sayde: saye on. The woman sayde: wherfore then hast thou determinede such a thinge agaynst the people of G D? For the king doeth speake this thinge as one whiche is faulty, that he shoulde not set home agayne his banished. For we muste needes dye, and perishe as water spilt on the ground, whiche can not be gathered vp agayne: Neither doth God spare any soule. Let the king therfore fynde the means, that his banished be not bitterly expelled fro him. Now therfore I am come, to speake of this thing vnto the king my Lord. For they that be of the people wil fear me. And the handmayd sayd: Nowe will I speake vnto the king, peradventure the kinge will perfourme the request of his handmayde. And the kinge shall heare his handmayde to deliver her oute of the hande of the man that would haue destroyed me, and also my sonne out of the inheritance of God. And thine handmayd sayd: the worde of my Lord the kinge shall now be comfortable. For my Lord the kinge is an Iungell of G D, in hearinge of good and bad: therfore the Lord thy God be with thee. Then the kinge answered, and sayde vnto the woman, hyde not from me (I praye thee) the thing that I shall aske thee: And the woman said: let my Lord the king now say on. And the kinge sayd: Is not the hand of Joab with thee in all this matter? The woman answered, and sayde: As sure as thy soule liueth, my Lord king, there is els no man (on the right hand nor on his lefte) but as my lord the king hath spoken, thy seruant Joab he bad me, and he put al these wordes in the mouth of thine handmayd. For to the intent that I shoulde alter my communication, hath thy seruant Joab done this thinge. And my Lord is wise, euen as an Iungell of God, to vnderstande all thinges that are in the earth. And the kinge sayde vnto Joab: behold, I am content to do this thinge. Go and sette home the childe Absalom agayne. And Joab fell to the grounde on his face, and bowed him self, and blessed the kinge. And Joab said: Now thy seruant knoweth, that I haue found grace in thy sighte (my Lord O king) in that the kinge hath fulfilled the request of his seruante. And so Joab arose, and went to Gessur, and brought Absalom to Ierusalem. And the king said: Let him turne to his owne house, and not se my face. And so Absalom returned to his owne house, and sawe not the kings face. But in all Irael there was not so goodly a man as Absalom, for he was verie beautifull: In so muche that from the sole of his foote to the top of his heade, there was no blemishe in hym. And when he shaued his hed (for at euerye yeares ende, he shaued it, because the heare was heauye on him, and muste needes shaued) the heare of his head waxed two hundred sicles after the kinges weyght. And this Absalom had thre sons born hym, and one daughter, named Tamar, which

Whiche was a fayre woman to looke vpon. So Abalom dwelt two yere in Ierusalem, and sawe not the kinges face. Therefore Abalom sente for Joab, to have sent him to the kinge.
But he woulde not come to him. And when he sent again, he wold not come.
Therefore he sayd vnto his seruants: Beholde, Joab hath a parcell of lande fast by my place, and hee hath barley therin. Go and set it on fire. And Absaloms seruantes set it on fire. (And Joabs seruants came with their garments rent, and sayde: Absaloms ser-uants haue burnt y^e pece of land with fire.) Then Joab arose, and came to Abalom vnto his house, and said vnto him: Wherefore haue thy seruants burnt my field with fyre? And Ab-alom answered Joab: Behold, I sente for thee, desiring thee to come, because I would haue sent thee to the kinge, for to say: Wherefore am I come from Gedur? It had bene better for me, to haue bene there still. Nowe therefore woulde I see the kinges face. And yf there be any trespasse in me, kill thou me. And so Joab came to the kinge and told him: which when he had sent for Abalom, he came to the king, and fell to the grounde on his face before him. And the king kissed Abalom.

The .xv. Chapter.

After this, it fortuneth, that Abalom gat him charets and horses, and fyfte men to run before him. And he rose vp earlye in the morning, and rode in the place of the entring in of the gate. And eue-ry man that had any matter, and came to the kinge for iudgement, hym did Abalom call vnto him, and sayde: Of what cite art thou? He answered: Thy seruant is of one of the tribes of Israel. And Abalom sayde vnto him: So thy matter is good and righteous, but there is no man deputed of the king to heare thee. Abalom sayde moreouer: Oh, that I were made Iudge in the land, that euery manne whiche hath any plea and matter in the lawe, might come to me, and that I might do him iustice? And when any man came nio to him, & did him betraunce, he put forth his hand, & took him to him, and kissed him. And on this maner did Abalom to all Israel that came to the king for iudgement, and he stole the heartes of the men of Israel. And after fortye yeres it for-tuned, y^e Abalom said vnto the kinge: Let me go nowe to Hebzon, & pay my bow, which I haue bowed vnto the Lorde: for thy seruant bowed a bowe (whē I was in Gedur in the lande of Shiria) saying: If the Lorde shal byng me agayn to Ierusalem, I will serue the Lorde. And the king said vnto him: Go in peace. And so he arose, and went to Hebzon. And Abalom sent spyes throughtout all the trybes of Israel, sayinge: As soone as ye heare the voyce of the Trompt blowe, ye shall saye: Abalom reygneth kinge in Hebzon. And with Abalom went two hundred men out of Ierusalem, that wer called. And they went with pure heartes, not knowing of any thinge.

And Abalom sent also for Ahitophel the Gilonite Dauids counsailler, that he should come out of his Citie Gilo, while he offered sacrifices. And there was wrought strong treason. For the people went and increased with Ab-alom in multitude. And there came a messenger to Dauid, and sayde: The heartes of the men of Israel are turned after Abalom. And Dauid sayde vnto all his seruants that were with him at Ierusalem: Up, that we maye be gone, for we shall not els escape frō Abalom. Make spede to depart, leaue he come suddenly, and catch vs, & byng som mischief vpon vs, and smyte the City with the edge of the sword. And the kinges seruantes sayd vnto him: Beholde, thy seruants are redy to doo whatsoeuer my Lorde the King shall appoint. And the kinge and all his householde departed a foote. And he left behinde him .ten concubines, to kepe the house. And so the kinge and all the people went out a foote, and caried in a place that was farre off. And least I take it, & call it after my name. And David gathered all the people together, and went against Raba, and besieged it, and gate it. And he tooke their kinges crowne from of his head, which weyed an hundred weyght of golde, and in it were pprecious stones. And it was set on Davids head. And he brought out the spoyle of the Citie in exceeding great aboundance. And he carped onto the people that was therein, and put them upon sawes, and upon yon harrowes, and upon axes of yon, and thrust them into the tile-hill. Thus did he with all the cities of the children of Ammon. And so David and all the people returned vnto Jerusalem.

Ch. xij. Chapter.

After this it chanced, that Abalom the sonne of David hadde a saye sister, named Chamar, whom Ammon the sonne of David loued. And he was so foze vexed, that he fell sicke for the loue of his sister Chamar: for she was a virgin, and he thought it harde for him, to haue his purpose of her. But Ammon had a frende, called Jonadab, the sonne of Gemesch Dauides brother, and Jonadab was a very wise man. And he sayde vnto him: howe cometh it, that thou beinge the kinges sonne, art thus consumed euerye day. wilt thou not tell me? Ammon answered him: I loue Chamar my brother Abaloms sister. Jonadab sayde vnto him: Laye thee downe on thy bedde, and make thy selfe sicke. And when thy father is come to see thee, saye vnto him: Oh, lette my sister Chamar come, and geue me meate, and dresse it in my sight, that I maye see it, and eate of her hande. And so Ammon laye downe, and made hym selfe sicke. And when the King was come to see him, Ammon sayde vnto him: Oh let Chamar my sister come and make me a couple of fritters in my sight, that I maye eate of her hande. Then David sente home to Chamar, sayinge: God nowe to thy brother Ammons house, and dresse him meate. So Chamar went to her brother Ammons house, and he was laid downe. And she toke flour, and made paste, and dresed fritters in his sight, and did bake them, and toke a platter, and powred them out before him, but he would not eate. And Ammon sayde: Haue out all men from me. And they went all out from him. And Ammon sayd vnto Chamar: Bring the meate into the chamber, that I maye eat of thine hande. And Chamar toke the fritters, which she had made, & brought them into the chamber to Ammon her brother. And when she had set them before him to eate, he toke her, and sayde vnto her: Come Ipe with me my sister. And she answered him: naye my brother, do not foze me: for there hath no such thing bene done in Israel: do not thou this abhominatio. For whither shall I be able to go with my shame. And thou shalt be as one of the foolers in Israel. O speake vnto the kinge, and he shall not denye me vnto thee. Howebeit he would not herken vnto her voyce, but toke her, and forced her, and laye with her. And then Ammon hated her exceedingly, so that the hate wherewith he hated her, was greater then the loue, with whiche he before loued her. And Ammon said vnto her, vp and get thee hence. She answered him: thou haste no cause. His will that thou puttest me away is greater then the other that thou diddest vnto me. Nevertheless he would not heare her, but called his boy that serued him and said: put away this woman from me, and bolte the doze after her. And she had a kirtle of diuers colours upon her, for with such were the kinges daughters (that were virgins) apparelled. Then his seruante broughte her out, and locked the dooze after her. And Chamar toke and put ashes on her heade, and rent her gay kirtle that was on her, and layed her hande on her heade, and so wente: and as she wente, cryed. And Abalom her brother sayd vnto her: Hath Ammon thy brother bene with thee? Howe yet be still my sister, he is thy brother. Act not this thing greue thine heart. And so Thamar remayned desolate in her brother Abaloms house. But when king Dauid herd of all these thinges, he was very wroth. (And he woulde not be the spirit of Ammon his son: for he loued him, because he was his first borne.) And Abalom sayd vnto his brother Ammon neither good nor bad. Howbeit Abalom hated Ammon because he had forced his sister Thamar. And it happened after two yere, that Abalom had shepe shepers in the plaine of Bazai beside the tribe of Ephraim, & had al the kinges sons, and came to the king and said: behold thy seruant hath shepe shepers, let the kinge with his seruantes come to thy seruant. The kinge answered Abalom: nay my sonne, we will not go al, nor be chargeable vnto thee. And Abalom laye soze vpon him: howbeit he wold not go, but blessed him. Then sayd Abalom: if thou wilt not come, then let my brother Ammon go with vs. And the king answered him: what nedeth it, that he go with thee? But Abalom made such insaie that he let Ammon, and al the kinges children go with him. Now had Abalom commaunded his pong men, saying: marke when Ammons heart is merie with wyne, and when I bid you smite Ammon, then kil him and leaue not, haue not I hidden you? be hold therefore, & playe the men. And the pong men of Abalom did vnto Ammon. euen as Abalom had commaunded. And all the kinges sonnes arose, and euery man gat him vp vpon his mule, and fled. And it fortuned, that while they were yet in the way, tidings came to Dauid, saying: Abalom hath slayn all the kinges sonnes, and there is none left aliue. Then Dauid arose, and tare his garmentes, and laye a long on the earth, and all his seruantes stode by with their clothes rent. And Jonadab the sonne of Simeach Dauids brother, answered and sayde: Let not my Lord suppose that they haue slayne all the pong men the kinges sonnes, saue Ammon onely is dead. For that hath bene determined in Abaloms mynde, since hee forced his sister Thamar. Nowe therefore let not my Lord the king take the thinge so gretuously, to thinke that all the kinges sonnes are dead, saue Ammon onely is dead. But Abalom fled. And the pong man that kept the watch, left by his eyes, and looked: and behold, there came muche people by a way, alonge by the hinder part on an hilles side. And Jonadab sayd vnto the king: behold, the kinges sonnes come: as thy seruant sayde, so it is. And as sone as he had lesse speakinge: Beholde, the kinges sonnes came, and liste by their voyces, and wepte. The kinge also and all his seruantes wepte exceedingly. But Abalom escaped, and went to Chalmat the son of Amihur king of Geshur. And Dauid mourned for his soon euery daye. And so Abalom escaped, and wente to Geshur, and was there three yeres. And kinge Dauid desired to go forth vnto Abalom: for where as Ammon was dead, he was comforted ouer him.

I Obab the sonne of Jeremia ceased, that the kinges heart was towarde Abalom, and he sente to Chekoa, and sette thence a wise woman, and sayde vnto her: sayne thy selfe to be a maunier, and put on mourninge apparell: And annoynt not thy selfe with oyle. But be as a woman that had longe tyme mourned for some deade bodye. And come to the kinge, and speake of this maner vnto him. And so Iobbe taught her what he shoulde saye. And when the woman of Chekoa had fallen on her face to the ground, and done obeisance, she sayd vnto the king: helpe me O kinge. The kinge sayde vnto her: What aileth thee? She answered: I am a widowe, and myne husband is deade. And thine hand mayde had two sonnes, and they two fought together in the fields, (where was no man to go betweene theym) but she one smote the other, and slayd him.

And when I haue agayne the maner

¶ When Husai was come to is nozell thou. Husai answered vnto Absalom, the counsell that Thithophel hath geuen, is not good at this tyme.

¶ For (saide Husai) thou knowest thy father, and his men, how that they be stronge. And they bee chased in their mindes, and are euen as a Bear rob-father is a man also practised in war:

and maketh no taryng with the people. Behold he lurketh now in some cove, or in some other (stronge) place.
And though some of his men be ouerand they which be with him, are all men of war. Therefore my counsell is, that all Israel be gathered vnto thee, from Dan to Beer Sheba, which are as the sands of the sea in number, and that thou go to battell in thine owne person. For so shall we come vpon him in one place or other, where we shall find him, and we will fall vpon him, euen as thicke as the dewe falleth on with him, we shall not leaue him one.

Whosoever if he be gotten into a town then shall all the men of Israel bringe it into the river, vntill there be not one of Husai the Archite is better, then the counsell of Thithophel. For it was stroye the good counsell of Thitho-phel, that the Lord might bringe vnto Absalom. Then saide. Hu-sai vnto Sadocke and Abiathar the priestes, of this and that maner dyde Thithophel and the elders of Israel counsell Absalom. And thus and thus haue I counselled. Nowe therefore sende quickly, and shew Dauid, sayinge, tarye not all night in the fieldes of the wilderness, but get thee ouer, least the king be deuoured, and all the people that are with him.

¶ Nowe Jonathas and Ahimaaz abode by the well Rogell, (for they might not be seene to come into the Citie.) And a wench went and told them. And they went and shewed kinge Dauid. Pre-uertheless, a lad sawe them, and told it to Absalom. But they went both of the away quickly, and came to a mans house in Bahurim, which had a well in his yard into the which they went down.

And a woman toke and spied a coverlet ouer the welles mouth, and strawed firmment coze therron, and the thing was not spied. And when Absaloms seruants came to the well to the house they sayd: wher is Ahimaaz and Jonathas? The woman answered them:

they bee gone ouer the little brooke of water. And when they had sought theym, and coulde not fynde theym, they returned to Jerusalem. And as soone as they were departed, the other came out of the well, and wente and tolde kinge Dauid, and sayde vnto hym: Up, and gette you quick-lye ouer the water, for suche counsell hath Thithophel geuen agaynst you. Then Dauid arose, and all the people that were with him, and they were com ouer Jordan by that it was daye: so that there lacked not one of theym, that was not come ouer Jordan.

¶ And when Thithophel sawe that his counsell was not followed, he saddled an Asse, and arose, and gat him home to his owne house, and to his owne city; and put his household in order, & hanged himselfe, and dyde:

and was buried in the Sepulcher of his father. Then David came to Mahanaim. And Abisalom passed ouer Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him. And Abisalom made Amasa captayne of the hoste in stede of Joab, which Amasa was a mannes soon named Iethra an Israelite, that wēt into Abigail the daughter of Nahas, sister to Zeruia Joabs mother: So Israel and Abisalom pitched in the lande of Gilead. And when David was come to Mahanaim, Hobi the sonne of Nahas out of Rabba, the Citie of the children of Ammon, and Machir the sonne of Ammellei oute of Rodeber, and Berzelai the Gileadite out of Roglim, broughte beddes, bassens, earthen vessels, wheate and barley, floure and parched cozne, beanes, rice, otemell, honey, butter, sheepe, and cheefe of kine, for David and all the people that were with him, to eate. For they sayd: The people is hungry, wery and thirstie in the wilderness.

The xviij. Chapter.

AND David numbred the people that were with him, and set captains of thousands and of hundredes ouer them. And David sent forth the third part of the people vnder the hand of Joab, and another part vnder the hand of Abisai the son of Zeruia Joabs brother, and the other thirde part vnder the hande of Ittai the Gethit. And the king said vnto the people. I will go with you also. And the people answered: thou shalt not go forth: for if we flee, our aduersaries will not care for vs, neither shall they regard vs, though half of vs were slaine: but thou art worth ten thousande of vs: wherefore it is better that thou succour vs out of the citie. And the king sayd vnto them: What semeth you best that will I do. And the king stode by the gate syde, and all the people came oute by hundredes, and by thousandes. And the king commaunded Joab and Abisai, and Ittai saying: intreate the ponge mā Abisalom gently for my sake. And all the people heard that the kinge gaue all the capitaines charges concerning Abisalom. And so the people wente out into the fildes against Israel, and the battel was in the wood of Ephraim, wher the people of Israel were put to the sword before the seruantes of David, & ther was a great slaughter that day, euen of .xx. thousande mē. For the fild was fought ther in diuers places al aboute vpon the erth. And the wood deuoured mo people that day, then did the swerde. And Abisalom came before the seruants of David riding vpon a Mule, which caried him vnder the thick bowes of a great Oke, & his head was caught of the Oke. And he was lift by betwene heauen & earth, & the mule that was vnder him went his way. And one that sawe it tolde Joab, saying: Behold, I sawe Abisalom hang in an Oke: and Joab sayde vnto the mā that told him, if thou diddest see him, why diddest not thou there smite him to the ground, and I would haue giuen thee .x. sicles of siluer, and a girdle. The man sayde vnto Joab, thoughte thou wouldest laye a thousande sicles of siluer in my hande, yet would I not stretch out mine hande against the kinges son. For we heard with our eares when the king charged thee, and Abisai, and Ittai, saying: Beware, that none touche the ponge man Abisalom. Moreover, if I had done it, I shoulde haue done against mine owne life, for there is no matter hid from the kinge: yea & thou thy self wouldest haue ben against me. Then saide Joab: I maye not stande thus taryng with thee. And he tooke three speares in his hande, and thrust them throught Abisalom, while he was yet aliue on the bodie of the tree. And the seruants that bare Joabs weapons, turned, and smote Abisalom, and slew him. And when Joab blew the trompet, the people returned from followinge Israel, for Joab spared the people. And they tooke Abisalom, and cast him into a great pit in the wood, and layed a mighty great heape of stones vpon him. And all Israel fled to their tentes, him. And all the Gethites, and all the Shelethites, and all the Gethites (mightie menne of warre) (euen. vi. hundred men, which were come afote from Geth) wente before the Kinge. Then sayde the kinge to. That the Gethite. wherfore comest thou with vs? Retourne, and abide with the kinge, for thou art a stranger, and art remoued from thyne owne place. Thou comest but yester day, and shuld I disquiet thee to day to go with vs? I will go whither I can. Therefore retourne thou, and carpe agayne thy brethren. Wherpe and trueth (shall the Lord shewe vnto thee.) And That answered the king and sayd: As true is as God liueth, and as my lord the kinge liueth: In what place my lord the kinge shall bee, whether in death, or lyfe, euen there also will thy seruant be. And Dauid the king sayde to That: Come then, and go forwarde. And That the Gethite wente forth, and all his men, and all the childzen that were with him. And al the countrey wepte with a lowde voyce, and so did all the people that went forth. The kinge also him selfe passed ouer the Brooke Kydon. And all the people wente towarde the waye that leadeth to the wildernesse. And Shadoch and all the Leuites were with him, and bare the Arke of the appoyntemente of GOD. And there they sette downe the Arke of God. And Biathar wente by vntill the people were all come ouer, oute of the Citie. And the kinge sayde vnto Shadoch: Carpe the Arke of God agayne into the Citie. If I shall finde fauoure in the eyes of the Lord, he will bringe me agayne, and shewe me both it, and the Tabernacle thereof. But and if the Lord say thus: I haue no iust vnto thee, beholde, here am I, let him doo with me, what seemeth good in his eyes. The kinge sayde also vnto Shadoch the priest. Art not thou a Hebr? Retourne into the Citie in peace. And take your two sons with you: Ahimaaz thy sonne, and Jonathas the sonne of Biathar. Beholde,

I will tarrye in the fieldes of the wildernesse, vntill there come some woozde from you to be tolde me. Shadoch therefore and Biathar caried the Arke of GOD agayne to Ierusalem, and they taried there. And Dauid went vnto mount Oliuet, and wept as he went, and had his head couered, and went barefote. And all the people that was with him, had enerye man his head couered, and as they wente by, they wepte also. And one tolde Dauid, saying: Ahithophel is one of them that hath conspired with Abalom. And Dauid sayd: O Lord turne the counsell of Ahithophel into foolishnes. When Dauid was come to the toppr of the mount, he woozshiped God: and behold, Hu set the Brachite camme agaynst him with his coate tozme, and hauinge earth vppon his heade. Vnto whom Dauid sayde: yf thou go with me, thou shalt bee a burthen vnto me. But if thou returne to the Citie, and say vnto Abalom: I will be thy seruant, O kynge: (as I haue thus longe bene thy fathers seruant, so am I now thy seruant, thou mayest for my sake destroye the counsell of. Ahithophel. And thou hast there with thee, Shadoch and Biathar, the Priests, vnto whome thou shalt shewe all that thou canst heare out of the Kings house. And beholde, they haue there with them they two sons: Ahimaaz Shadoches sonne, and Jonathas a biathars soon: by them also shal ye send me al that ye canne heare. And so. Husai Dauids frend gat him to the citie. And Abalom also entred into Ierusalem.

The. xvi. Chapter.

And when Dauid was a little past the toppr of the hill: beholde, Ziba the seruante of Ahithophel came to mete him with a couple of asses laden, & vpon them a two hundred loaves, and one hundred bouches of reasinges, and an hundred fralles of dyed figges, and a bottle of wine. And the kinge sayde vnto Ziba: what meanest thou with these? And Ziba sayde: They be asses for for the kinges household to ride on, & bread and fruite for the yonge men to eat, and wine, that such as be faint in the wilderness, maye drinke. And the king said: where is thy masters son? Ziba answered vnto the king: Behold, he tarieth still at Ierusalem. For he sayd: This daye shall the house of Israel restore me the kingdom of my father. Then sayde the king to Ziba: Beholde, thine are all that pertaine vnto. Whiphoboth. And Ziba sayde:

I do homage to thee. I beseeche thee that I may finde grace in thy sight, my Lord, O king. And when kinge David came to Bahurim: Beholde, thence came out a man of the kinrede of the house of Saule, named Semei, the sonne of Gera, and he came out cursing. And he caste stones at David, and at all the serpauntes of king David. And all the people also, and all the men of warre were on his right hande and on his left. And thus sayd Semei when he cursed: Come forth, come forth thou bloudshedder, and thou man of Beliall. The Lord hath broughte vpon thee, all the bloudde of the house of Saule, in whose steede thou hast reigned, and the Lord hath deliuered the kyngdome into the hande of Absalom thy sonne. And beholde, thou art come to thy mischiefe, because thou arte a bloudshedder. Then sayde Absai, the sonne of Zerua vnto the king: Why doest thou this dead dogge curse my Lord the kinge? Let me go now, and take off the heade of him. And the kinge sayde: What haue I to doo with you, ye sonnes of Zerua: let him curse, for the Lord hath bidden him curse David. Who dare then saye: wherefore haste thou doone so? And David sayde vnto Absai, and to all his seruants: Behold, my sonne, which came of mine owne bodye, seeketh my lyfe: Howe muche more then may this son of Remim doo it? Suffer him to curse, for the Lord hath bidden him. Happily the LORD will looke on my weeping eyes and wretchednes, and doo me good for his cursing this daye. And as David and his men went by the way, Semei went along on the hillside syde ouer agaynst him, and cursed as he went, and threw stones at him, and caste dust. And the kinge and all that were with him, came wey, and refreshed them selves there. And Absalom and all the people of the men of Israel came to Ierusalem, and Abithophell was with him. And as soone as Absai the brother Dauids frende, was come vnto Absalom, he said vnto him: God save the king. And Absalom said againe to Absai: Is this thy kindnes thou owest to thy frende? wilt thou not go with him? Absai answered vnto Absalom: nay not so, but whom the Lord & this people, & all the men of Israel chosse, his will I be, & with him will I dwell. Whom, vnto whom shall I do seruice, but eue to his son? And as I was seruant before with thy father, euen so shall I be with thee. Then spake Absalom to Abithophel: gene cosicell what is best for vs to do. And Abithophel sayde vnto Absalom: Get thee in vnto thy fathers concubines, which he hath left to kepe & house. And all Israel shall heare, & thou art cast out of thy father, the shall the hands of all that are with thee, be stronger. And so they pitched Absalom a tent vpon the top of the house. And he wrote in vnto his fathers concubines in the sight of all Israel. And the counsell of Abithophel, which he counsailed in those days, was as and had asked counsell of God: euen so was all the counsell of Abithophel, both with David and Absalom.

The .xxij. Chapter.

A bithophel sayde vnto Absalom, lette me choose out twelve thousande menne. And I will go by, and soloowe after David this night. And I will come vpon him, while he is wey and weak handed, and will smite him. And all the people that are with hym, shall see. And so will I smite the kinge

And this Absalom yet in his life time 141.155 toke counsell, and reared vp a pillar, which is in Kings dale. For he sayde: I haue no sonne. And therefore to kepe my name in remembrance doo I it. And hee called the pillar after his owne name. And it is called vnto this day, Absaloms pillar. Then saide Ahimaaz the sonne of Zadock: Let me runne now, and beare the kinge tydings, howe that the Roide hath iudged him quite of the hande of his enemies. And Joab sayde vnto him: thou art no manne to beare good tydings to day: thou shalt beare tydin-ges another tyme: but to daye thou shalt beare none, because the Kinges sonne is deade. Then sayde Joab to Ahimaaz: Go and telle the Kinge, what thou hast seene: And Ahimaaz bowed himself vnto Joab, and ranne. Then sayde Ahimaaz the sonne of Zadocke agayne to Joab: what come will, lette me also runne after Ahimaaz. And Joab sayd: Wherefore wilt thou run my sonne, seeing that for the tydin-ges thou shalt haue no reward: well (sayd he) I can see what will, lette mee runne. He sayde vnto him: run. Then Ahimaaz ranne by the playne waye, & came before Ahimaaz. And Dauid sat betweene two gates. And the watch-manne wente vpon the walke ouer the gate vnto the wall, and lifte by his eyes, and saw: and behold, there came a man running alone. And the watche-man cried, and told the king. And the king sayd: if he be alone, there is good tydings in his mouth. And he came and dyed we nre. And the watchmanne sawe another man running, and hee called vnto the porter and sayde: Be-holde, there cometh another manne running alone. And the kinge sayde: he is also a tydings bringer. And the watchmanne sayde: he thinketh the runninge of the foremoste is lyke the runninge of Ahimaaz the sonne of Zadock. The kinge said: he is a good man, and cometh with good tydin-ges. And Ahimaaz called and sayde vnto the kinge: good tydings, and he will deliuer thee to the earth vpon his face before the Kinge, and sayde: Blessed be the Roide thy God, which hath shut vp the men that lift vp their hands against my Lord the king. And the kinge sayde: is the man Absalom safe? Ahimaaz answered: when Joab sent (Ahimaaz) the kinges seruant, and me thy seruāt, I saw much a do. And I wot not what it was. And the kinge said vnto him: turne, and stande here.

 And he turned, and stood still. And behold, Ahimaaz came also and sayd: Good tidings my lord the king, for the Roide hath quit thee this day out of the hand of all them that rose against thee. And the king said vnto Ahimaaz: Is the yong man Absalom safe? Ahimaaz answered: The enemies of my Lord the kinge, and all that rise agaynst thee, to do thee hurt, be as that yong man is. And the king was moued, and went vp to a chamber ouer the gate, and wept.
 And as he went, thus he saide: O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom, wouldst thou had dyed for thee, O Absalom my sonne, my sonne.

The xix. Chapter.

And it was tolde Joab: Be-holde, the kinge weepeth and mourneth for Absalom. And the victorie of that daye was tour-ned into mourning vnto all the people. For the people heard saye that daye howe the kinge sorowed for his sonne. And the people stode a waye that daye from going into the Citie, as people confounded, steale a waye when they fle in battaile. But the kinge hid his face, and cryed with a lowde voyce. O my sonne Absalom, O Absalom my sonne, my sonne. And Joab came into the house of the kinge and sayd: Thou hast shamed this daye the faces of all thy seruantes, which this day haue saured thy lyfe, and the lyues of thy sonnes, and of thy daughters, and the liues of thy wiues, and of thy concubines, in that thou louest thine enemies, and hatest thy frendes.

 thou regardest neyther thy lordes, nor seruantes. And this daye I doo perreptie, that if Absalom hadde liued, and all we hadde dyed this daye, that had pleased thee well. Nowe therefore hye, and come out, and speake kindly vnto thy seruantes. For I sweare by the Lord, excepte thou come oute, there wil not tary one man with thee this nighte. And that will be woozle vnto thee, then all the euill that fel on thee from thy yowth vnto this houre. Then the kinge arose, and sat downe in the gate. And they told vnto al the people, sayinge: Beholde, the kinge dooth sit in the gate. And all the people came before the king. But Israel fled euery man to his tent. And it fortuned, that all the people were at strife throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying: The kinge saued vs out of the hande of our enemyes, hee deliuered vs out of the hande of the Philistines, and nowe he is fledde out of the lande from Absalom. But Absalom whome we anoynted ouer vs, is deade in battle. Therefore, why are ye so still, that ye bying not the kinge agayn. And kinge Dauid set to Hadoth & Abiathar the priests, saying: Speke vnto the elders of Iuda, and say: Why are ye behynd to bying the kinge agayne to his house, seeing that such tidings is come from all Israel vnto the kinge, euen to his house? For the kinge hath said: Thus shall ye saye vnto the people of Iuda: Ye are my brethren, by bones, and my fleshe. Wherefore then are ye the last to bying the kinge home agayne? And say ye to Amasa. Art thou not of my bone and of my fleshe? God do so and so to me, if thou be not captayn of the hoste to me for euer in the roome of Joab. And he bowed the hearts of al the me of Iuda, euen as the hearts of one man so that they sent this worde to the king: Returne thou with all thy seruantes. So the kinge retourned, and came to Iordan. And Iuda came to Gilgail, for to go downe to mete the king, and to conuey him ouer Iordan. And Semet the sonne of Gera, the sonne of Jemini, whiche was of Bahurim, hastened, and came with the men of Iuda, to mete kinge Dauid, & there were a thousand men of Benjamin with him, and Jiba the seruant of the house of Saul, and his xiiij. sonnes, and twenty seruantes with him. And they went quickly ouer Iordan before the king. And there went ouer a boote that carried ouer the kinges householde, and they did him pleasure. And Semet the sonne of Gera fell before the king (as he was come ouer Iordan) and layde vnto him. Lette not my Lord impute wickednesse vnto me, nor remember the things (that thy seruant did wickedly when my Lord the kinge departed out of Jerusalem) that the kinge shoulde take it to hearte. For thy seruant doth knowe, howe that I haue doone amisse. And therfore beholde, I am the first this daye of all the house of Ioseph, that am come to go downe to mete my Lord the king. But Abiathar the sonne of Zarnia answered and sayde: Shall not Semet dye for this, because hee cursed the Lords anointed? And Dauid said: What matter is betwene you and me ye sonnes of Zarnia? For this daye ye be aduersaries vnto me. Shall there any manne dye this day in Israel? Do not I knowe that I am this day kinge ouer Israel? And therfore the kinge said vnto Semet: Thou shalt not dye, and the kinge swore vnto him. And Hiphiboseth the sonne of Saul came also to mete the king, & had neither washed his feete, nor shauen his beard, nor washed his clothes, from the time the kinge departed, vntill he came againe in peace. And it fortuned that when he was come to Jerusalem, and met the king, the kinge said vnto him: Wherefore wentest thou with me Hiphiboseth? He answered: My lord, O king, my seruant deceined me. For thy seruant saide: I would haue mine asse saddled to ride thereon, for to go to the kinge, because thy seruant is lame. And Jiba hath falsly repoized of thy seruant vnto my lord the king. And my lord the king is as an angell of God: Doo therefore what semeth good in thine eyes. For all my fathers house were but dead men before my lord the kinge: and diddest thou put thy seruant amonge them that did eate at thine owne table. What right therfore haue I yet, to crye any more vnto the kinge? And the king sayd vnto him: Why speakest thou yet in thine owne cause: It is determined, that I haue saide, thou and Iiba deuide the landes betwene you: And Iyphiboseith said vnto the king: yea, let him take all, for so much as my Lord the king is come againe in peace vnto his owne house. And Berseiai the Gileadite came downe from Roglim, and wente ouer Iordane with the king, to conuey him ouer Iordan: Berseiai was a very aged man, euen foure score yers olde, and prouided the kinge of sustenance, while he lay at Mahanaim: for he was a man of very great substance. And the king saide vnto Berseiai: come thou with mee, and I will seide ther with me in Ierusalem. And Berseiai saide vnto the king: I am thus old, and howe am I able to go by with the king vnto Ierusalem? I am this daye foure score yere olde, and can I deceiue betwene good and euill? Hath thy seruant any task in that he eateth of his mastrers? Can he heare any more the voyce of synninge mynne and women? Wherefore then should thy seruant be yet a burthen vnto my Lord the kinge? Thy seruant will go a litle way ouer Iordan with the king, and why will the king recompence it me with suche a rewarde? O let thy seruant tourne backe agayne, that I may die in mine owne cote, and be buried in the graue of my father and of my mother. Behold, here is thy seruant Chimcam: let him go with my Lord the king, and do to him, what shall please thee. And the king answered: Chimcam shall go with me. And I will doo to him, that thou shalt be content with. And whatsoeuer thou shalt requyre of me, that same will I doo for thee. And all the people wente ouer Iordan. And when the king was come ouer Iordan, hee kissed Berseiai, and blessed him, and he went backe againe vnto his owne place. And then the kinge went to Gilgal, and Chimcam went with him, and so did all the people of Iuda, and brought ouer the king and there went but half the men of Israel. And behold, all the men of Israel came to the king & said vnto him, why haue our brythre the me of Iuda stole thee awaye, & haue brought the king & his household, and all Dauids men with him ouer Iordan? And all the men of Iuda answered the me of Israel: the king is nere of kin to vs: wherefore be ye angry for that matter: thinke ye that we eat of the kinges cost, or that we take vs any gifts? And the men of Israel answered the me of Iuda & said: we haue ten parts in the king, & haue thereto more right to Dauid, then ye. Why then did ye despise vs, & our aduise should not be first had in restoring our king agayne? And the wordes of the men of Iuda were fiercer then the wordes of the men of Israel.

Vhen there came thither a certain man of Bethail (named Seba, the sonne of Bichy, a manne of Gemin) he blew a trompet and sayde: we haue no part in Dauid, neyther haue wee inheritance in the sonne of Isai: lette the men of Israel depart vnto their tentes. And so euery manne of Israel went from Dauid, and solowed Seba the sonne of Bichy. But the men of Iuda claue fallie vnto their kinge from Iordan to Ierusalem. And Dauid came to his house to Ierusalem, and tooke the ten women his concubines, that he had left behind him to kepe the house, and putte them in ward, and fed them, but laye no more with them. And so they were enclosed vnto the day of their death: liuing in widowhode. Then sayde the king to Amasa: call the men of Iuda together agaynst the third day, and be thou here also. And so Amasa went to gather the me of Iuda together: but tarried longer then the time, whiche hee hadde appoynted him. And Dauid sayde to Abisai: now we shall Seba the sonne of Bichy doe vs more harme, the woman ſayd: Art thou Joab? He anſwered: I am he. She ſayde vnto him: Heare the wordes of thy handmayde. And he anſwered: I do heare.

And ſhe ſayde agayne: They ſpeke in the old tyme, ſaying: Men muſt al be (peace firſt, how much rather ſhoulde they ſo do to) Abels. For ſo haue they continued (hitherto:) I am one of them that are peaceable and faithfull in Iſrael. And thou goeſt aboute to deſtroy a citie, and a mother in Iſrael.
Whye wille thou deuoure the inheritance of the Lord? And Joab anſwer-ed, and ſayde: God forbid, God forbid it me, that I ſhould ether deſtroy or deſtroy. The matter is not ſo: but a man of mount Ephraim (Heba the ſon of Bichzi by name) hath liſt by his hand agaynſt the kinge, euen agaynſt Da-uid. Deliner vs him oneye, and I will departe from the Citie. And the woman ſayd vnto Joab: Wholde his head ſhall be thy own to the ouer the wall. And then the woman went vnto all the people with her wiſedome.
And they ſmote off the head of Heba, the ſonne of Bichzi, and caſt it out to Joab. And he blew a ſtomper, and they ſcattered from the Citie, euery man to his tent. And Joab returned to Jeruſalem, vnto the Kinge. Joab was ouer all the hoſt of Iſrael. And Baſſia the ſonne of Jehoiaſa was ouer the Crethites, and Shelchites.
And Aduram was ouer the Gibeonites.
And Jehoiſaphat the ſonne of Ahub was Recorder. Seua was ſcribe.
And Sadock and Abiſath were the Priettes. And Ira the Jafrite was Dauids pyett.

The .xxi. Chapter.

Then there fell an hunger in the dayes of Dauid, thre yea-res together. And Dauid enquired of the Lord. And the Lord answered: It is for Saul, and the houſe of blond, becauſe he ſlew the Gibeonites. And the kinge called the Gibeonites, and ſayde vnto them: (Howe the Gibeonites were the children of Israel, but a remnant of the Amosites, and the children of Israel swore vnto them: And Saul sought to slay them, for a yeale that he had to the children of Israel, and of Iuda. wherfore Dauid sayde vnto them: what shall I doo for you, and wherewith shall I make the attonement that ye maye blesse the inheritance of the Loyde? The Gibeonites answered him: we will haue no siluer nor golde, of Saul nor of his house: neyther is it oure mynde, that thou shouldst kill any man in Israel. He sayd: what say ye then that I shal doo for you? They answered the kinge: the man that consumed vs, and pynned to byng vs to naught, him will we destroye, that naught of him continue in any of the coastes of Israel. Let seven men of his sonnes be deliuered vnto vs, and wee will hange them vp vnto the Loyde, in Gibeah of Saul, whow the Loyd did chose. And the king sayd: I will geue them you. But the kinge hadde compassion on Hiphoboth the sonne of Jonathan the son of Saul, because of the Loyde, othe, that was betwene them: euen betwene Dauid and Jonathan the sonne of Saul. But he toke the two sonnes of Rizpa the daughter of Bia (whome he bare vnto Saul) euen Armoni and Hiphoboth, and the five sonnes of Michol (the daughter of Saul) whom he bare to Doziel the sonne of Barziel, the Gheholathite. And he deliuered them vnto the hands of the Gibeonites, which hanged them in the hill before the Loyde. And they fell all seven together, and were slayne in the dayes of harvest: euen in the first dayes: and in the beginning of Barly harvest. And Rizpa the daughter of Bia tooke sackcloth and hanged it by for them vpon the Roche, euen from the beginninge of harvest, untill rayne dropped vpon them out of heauen: and suffered neyther the birdes of the ayre to fall on them by daye, nor beasts of the fielde by nyght. And it was tolde Dauid what his wyfe the daughter of Bia, the concubine of Saul had don: and Dauid went, and toke the bones of Saul and of Jonathan his sonne, from the men of Jabes in Gilead (whiche had stolen them from the strete of Bethsan, where the Philistines had hanged them, when the Philistines had slayne Saul in Gilboa. And he brought thence the bones of Saul, & the bones of Jonathan his soon, and they toke by the bones of them that were hanged. And the bones of Saul and Jonathan his soon buried they in the countrey of Ben Iamin, in Zela, in the sepulchre of Cis his father. And when they had performed all that the king commanded, God was then at one with the lande. It fortuned, that the Philistines had yet warre agayns with Israel. And Dauid went down and his seruants with him, & fought agaynst the Philistines. And Dauid waxed saynt, and Iesai of Iob one of the sons of the gyauntes (the yron of whose speare waxed three hundred sicles, & he being gyrded with a newe swerde) thoughte to haue slayne Dauid. But Abisai the sonne of Neria succoured him, and smote the Philistine and killed him. Then the seruantes of Dauid swore vnto him sayinge: Thou shalt go no more out with vs to battell, that thou quenche not the light of Israel. And yet after this, ther was a battell with the Philistines at Iob, and then Abbechath the Husathite slue Haph, which was one of the sonnes of the Gyauntes. And there was yet another battell in Iob with the Philistins, wher Elhanan the son of Jaer Ogim, a Bethlehemitte slue one Goliath a Gethite: The stoffe of whose speare was as great as a weeners cloth beame. And there was yet another batell in Geth, where was a man of a gret stature, & had on euery hand. vi. fingers, and on euery fote. vi. toes. xliij. in all. And was bozne also of the kinredde of the gyauntes in Geth. And when he despyed Israel. Jonathan the son of Simen the brother of Dauid slew him. These four gyauntes were bozne in Geth, and

The song of

ii, Samuel felt into the hande of Dauid, and into the handes of his seruantes.

The .xxij. Chapter.

AND Dauid spake the wordes of this song vnto the Lord, what time the Lord had delivered him oute of the hande of all his enemyes, and oute of the hande of Saul. And he sayde: the Lord is my rocke, and my castell, and my deliuerer. God is my strengthe, in him will I trust: he is my shield, and the horne of my saluation: my woorthip and my refuge: my sanctuarie, thou shalt saue me from swynge. • I will call on the Lord which is prayle woorth-y, and so shall I be saued from mine enemyes. For the corrupsions of death closed me about, the floudes of Hell shall put me in feare, The sorowes of hell compassed me about, the snarcs of death ouertooke me. In my tribulation will I call vpon the Lord, and crye to my GOD. And he shall heare my voyce oute of his temple, and my crye shall enter into his eares.
The earth trembled and quaked: the foundations of heauen moued and shoke, when he was angrie. Smoke wente vp in his wrath, and consuming fire out of his mouth: coles were kindled thereof. And he bowed heauen and came downe, and there was darkenes vnder his fete. And he satte vpon Cherub and did flye: hee was borne caried vpon the winges of the winde. He made darkenes a tabernacle rounde aboute him, with waters gathered together in thicke cloudes.
Through the brightnes of his presence were the fire coles kindled, God thundred from heauen, and he that is moste hye, doeth put oute his voyce.
He shot arrowes, and scattered theim: he hurled lightning, and ouerthrewe them. The flowinges of the sea appeared, and the foundations of the world were seene, by the reason of the rebukinge of the Lord, and through the blasinge of the breath of his angels. He shall sende from heauen, and set me: he shall plucke me oute of manys waters. He shall deliuer me from my mightye aduersarye, and fro myne enemyes, for they are to stronge for me. When they had ouertaken me, in the day of my calamitie, the Lord stayed me by. For he brought me out into rounth: he deliuered me, because he hadde a loue vnto me. • The Lord will rewarde me accordinge to my righteousnes: accordinge to the pure-nes of my handes will he recompence me. For I haue kepte the wayes of the Lord, and done no wickednes a-gainste my God. For all his labours are in my sight, and his statutes will not I put away from me. In his sight also haue I bene vndefiled, and haue kept me from mine owne iniquitie.

And the Lord did to me agayne, ac-cordinge to my righteousness, euen after my purenes in his eye sight.
With the godly, thou shalt be godly, and with the man that is vncorrupt, thou shalt be vncorrupt. With the pure thou shalt be pure, and with the frowarde, thou shalt be frowarde.
And the poore people that are in ad-uersitie, thou shalt helpe. And on the proude shalt thou caste thine eyes.
Thou arte my lighte O Lord: the Lord shall light my darkenesse. For with thy helpe I will runne through an hoste of men, and in my God will I spring ouer a wall. God is vncorrupte in his waye: the waye of the Lord is tryed in the fire, he is the defendour of all them that truste in him.
For who is a god, saue the Lord and who is mightie saue our God? God strengtheneth me with power, and rid-deth the waye in battell cleare before me. He maketh my fete like hartes fete, and setteth me safe vpon my hye holde. • He teacheth my handes to fght, that euen a bowe of sterle is to weake for mine armes. Thou hast geuen me the shield of thy saluation, and with thy louinge meekenes thou doest multiplie me. Thou shalt make me space to walke in, and my legges shall not faile me. I will folowe vpon mine enemyes, and destroy them.

and I will not againe untill I have consumed them. I will waste them and smite them, that they shall not be able to crye: yea, they shall fall vnder my feete. Thou halste girded me about with might to battell, and them that arose agaynst me, halste thou subdued vnder me. And thou madest myne e-nemyes (and them that hated me) to tourne their backs to mee, that I might destroye them. They looke for helpe, but there is none to saue them: Yea, euen vnto the Lorde do they crye, but he heareth them not. I will breake them as small as the dust of the earth: I will stampe them as the dytze of the streete, and will spreade them abroad. Thou halste deliuer me from the discention of my people: thou shalt keepe me to be an heade ouer nations: the people which I knowe not, shall serue me. Strange chyldren disemble with mee. At the hearinge of the eare they obeye mee. Strange children will shynke awaye, and they shall bee smitten with feare in theyr pytup chader. God is aloue, and blessed be my maker: magnified bee God, my moke strong saluation. It is God that auergeth me, and bringeth down the people vnder mee. Hee deliuereth mee from mine ennemyes, thou also shalte lyfte me vp on hye from them that ryle agaynst me, thou shalt de-liuer me from the wicked menne. And therfore I will praye thee (O Lorde) amonge the nations, and will syng vnto thy name. Whiche sheweth great saluation for his kinge, and dealeth mercifullly with his annointed, euen with Dawid, and with his seede for euermore.

The. xxiij Chapter.

These be the laste sayingses of David, Dauid the sonne of Ishai sayde: And the manne (whiche was made the anointed of the God of Iacob, and the noble Psalmist of Iſrael) sayde: the spirite of the Lorde spake by me, and his woorde was in my tongue. The God of Iſrael spake of me, euen the most mighty of Iſrael, saide: he that beareth rule ouer men, ought to rule himselpe in the feare of God. And as the morning light when the sunne is vp, a morning in which are no cloudes to lette the brightnes, and as the grasse of the earth is by the vertue of the rayne. Shall not my house bee so with God? For he hath made with me an euerlasting conuenaunt, perfect and sure in all poyntes: and this is tracelye all my health and all my de-lyte, that it growe, but not as grasse.

But the vngodlye manne of Beliall shall be as a thorne cleane plucked vp, which can not be taken with handes: But the man that shall touche them, must haue paine, or a longe heile. • 138. 122 eis must they be burnte with fyre in the same place. These be the names of the mightye menne, whome Dauid had: one that sat in the seate of wise-dome, being chiefe among theyr, pleasaunte was he and stronge: hee slewe eyght hundred at one time. After him was Eleazar the sonne of Dobi, the sonne of Ahohi, one of the thre worthy with Dauid, whiche despyed the Philistines that were there gathered together to battell: when the men of Israell were gone vp. Hee arose, and layd on the Philistines vntill his hande was wytye, and clawe vnto the sword. And the Loyde gaue great victoie the same daye. And the people which had fled, retourned, and went after him to run to the spoyle.
After him was Samma the sonne of Agge the Hararite, and the Philistines gathered together beside a towne, (where was a parcell of lande full of ryce) and the people fledde from the Philistines. But he stoode in the mid-des of the groundes, and defended it, and slewe the Philistines. And the Lorde gaue greates victoie. • These 138. 123 thre (which were of the thirtie chiefe captaines) went downe to Dauid in the hartest tyme vnto the caue Achislam, and the hoste of the Philistines abode in the balley of gyautes. And Dauid was then in an hoide. And the souldiours of the Philistines were in Bethlehem.

David

ii. Samuel.

And David longed and said: Oh that I had of the water that is in the well by the gate of Bethlehe, for to drinke. And the three mighty brake thorough the hooſte of the Philistines, and let water out of the well of Bethlehem that was by the gate, and tooke and brought it to David. Wherefore he would not drinke thereof, but offered it unto the Lord, and sayde: the Lord forbid that I should doe so. Is not this the blood of the men that wente in jeopardy of their liues: and therefore he would not drinke it. And these thinges did these three mightye men. Abisai the brother of Joab, the sonne of Hariah, was chiefe amonge the thre, and he hit vp his speare agaynst thre hundred, and slue them, and had the name amonge the thre. For hee was nobler man then the thre, and was their captayne. Howbeit he attained not unto the first thre. And Banaiahu the sonne of Jehoiada (the sonne of a mightye man) valiaunt in actes, of Babzell, slue two strong ysons, euen ysons of Moab. He wente downe also, and slue a yson in a pytte, in tyme of snowe. And he slue an Egyptian a goodly bygge man, whiche had a speare in his hande. But hee wente downe to him with a staffe, and plucked the speare out of the Egyptians hande, and slue him with his owne speare. These thinges did Banaiahu the sonne of Jehoiada, and had the name amonge the thre worthyes. He was honorable among thirty, but he attained not to the (first) thre. And David made him of his counceill. Ishai the brother of Joab also was one of the thirte. Then Elhanan the sonne of Dodo of Bethlehem, Samma the Haronite: Elia the Harodite, Helez the Palstite, Ira the sonne of Akas the Chekoite: Abiezer of Anathoth: Meobnai the Musothite, Selman an Ithobite, Maharia the Netophatite, Heleb the sonne of Baanah an Netophatite, Ithai the sonne of Ribai out of an hill of the children of Ben Iamin: Banaiahu the Bithanionite, Hebai of the riuers of Gaas, Abisalon the Arbathite, Ammether a Barhumite, Elshaba a Shaalbonite and the sonnes of Isai, Jonathan, Samma the Hararite, Abiam the son of Harar an Hararite, Eliphelet the sonne of Asbai the sonne of a Machathite, Eliam the sonne of Abishephell the Gilonite, Hazeai the Carmelite, Paasai the Arbite, Igall the sonne of Nathan of Zoba, Bani the Gadite: Zeiee an Amonite, Paharia a Berachite, which was the harnel bearer of Joab the sonne of Zaria, Ira the Jethite, Gareb the Jethite, Uria the Hethite, thirte and seven in all.

The xxiii. Chapter.

And agayne, the Lord was wroth agaynst Israel, and hee moued David agaynst them, in that he sayd: go and number Israel and Iuda. For the king sayd to Joab the captayne of his hooſte: go thou abrode now, throughout all the trybes of Israel, euen from Dan to Beer Seba, & number ye the people, that I maye knowe the number of them. And Joab sayde vnto the king: I beseeche the Lord thy God, to make thy people as many mo as they be: yea and an hundred times so many mo, and that the eyes of my Lord the king may see them. And what is the cause that my Lord the king hath a iude to this thinge? For withstandinge the kinges woorde preuailed agaynst Joab, and agaynst the captaynes of the hooſte. And Joab and the captaynes of the hooſte went out from the presence of the kinge, to number the people of Israel. And they passed ouer Iordan, and pitched in Aroer, on the right syde of the Erie, that lyeth in the middes of the valey of Gad, ouer agaynst Jazer. And then they came to Gilead, and to the nether lande, where was a newe habitation, and from thence they came to Dan Jaan aboute to Sidon, and came to the stronge holde of Tiro, and to all the Cities of the Heuites, and of the Cananites, and then went out to the South of Iuda, euen to Beer Seba.

And so, when they had bene abroade throughout all the lande, they returned to Ierusalem againe, after the ende of nyne monethes and twentye dayes. And Ioaab deliuered vp the number and summe of the people vnto the kinge. And there were in Israel eght hundred thousande men of might that bore sweardes. And the men of Iuda were fine hundred thousande men. And Dauid's heart smote him, after that he hadde numbered the people. And Dauid sayde vnto the Lord: I haue sinned exceedingly, in that I haue done. And now the Lord take away the trespass of thy seruant for I haue done very foolishly. And when Dauid was vp in a morninge, the word of the Lord came vnto the Prophet Gad, Dauid's sear, sayinge: Go and saye vnto Dauid, thus saith the Lord: I offer thee three thinges: Chose thee which of them I shall do vnto thee. So Gad came to Dauid, and shewed him, and sayde vnto him: Wilt thou haue seven yeres hunger to come in thy lande, or wilt thou see thee monethes before thine enemyes, thy folowinge thee, or that there be three dayes pestilence in thy lande? Nowe therfore aduise thee, and see, what aunswere I shall geue to him that sente me. And Dauid sayde vnto Gad: I am in extreme trouble. We will fall nowe into the hande of the Lord, for muche is his mercy, and let us not fall into the hande of man. And so the Lord sente a pestilence in Israel, from the morning vnto the time appointed: And ther dyed of the people from Dan to Beerseba seuentye thousande men. And when the Angell stretched out his hande vpon Ierusalem to destroye it, the Lord had compassion to doo that euill, and sayde to the Angell that destroyed the people: It is now sufficient: holde thine hande. And the Angell of the Lord was by the threshing place of Betsa the Jebusite. And Dauid spake vnto the Lord (when he sawe the angel that smote the people) and sayde: I am I that haue sinned, and

I that haue doone wickedly. But these shepe, what haue they done? let thine hande (I pray thee) be agaynste me, and agaynste my fathers house. And Gad came the same daye to Dauid, and sayde vnto him: Go vp and reare an altar vnto the Lord in the threshing flooze of Betsa the Jebusite. And Dauid (according to the saying of Gad) went vp, as the Lord commaunded. And Betsa looked, and sawe the Kinge and his seruantes comminge towarde him. And Betsa went out, and bowed him selfe before the kinge flat on his face vpon the ground, and Betsa sayde: wherefore is my Lord the Kinge come to his seruant? Dauid answered: To bye the threshing flooze of thee, and to make an altar vnto the Lord, that the plague maye cease from the people. And Betsa sayde vnto Dauid: Let my Lord the kinge take and offer what seemeth him good in his eyes: Beholde, here be oxen for burnt sacrifice, and steades, and the other instruments of the oxen for wood. All these thinges did Betsa geue vnto the kinge, and sayde mozeouer vnto the kinge: The Lord thy God accept thee. And the kinge sayde vnto Betsa: Not so, but I will bye it of thee at a price, and will not offer sacrifice vnto the Lord my God of that which doeth cosse me nothinge. And so Dauid bought the threshing flooze, and the Oxen for fiftye shekles of silver. And Dauid built there an altar vnto the Lord, and offered burnt sacrifices and peace offerings. And so the Lord was intreated for the land. And the plague ceased from Israel.

The ende of the second booke of Samuel, otherwise called the seconde booke of the kinges.

The third booke of the kinges, after the reckening of the La-ministers: which third booke and the fourth also, is but one with the Hebrewes.

The first Chapter.

AD kinge David was olde and stricken in yeres, so that when they couered him with cloathes, he caught no heate:
wherefore his seruauntes sayde vnto him: Let there be sought for my lord the kinge, a yonge mayden, to stande before the king, and to cherishe him. And let her lye in thy bosome, that my lord the kinge maye get heate. And so they soughte for a fayre damosell throughtoute all the coasts of Israel, and founde one Abi-sag a Sunamite, and broughte her to the kinge. And the Damosell was exceeding fayre, and cherished the kinge, and ministered to him. But the kinge knew her not. And Adonia the sonne of Hagith exalted him selfe, sayinge: I will be kinge. And he gat him cha-rettes and horsemen, and swift men to runne before him. And his father would not displease him at any time, nor sayde so muche to him as: whye doest thou so? And he was a goodlye man, and his mother bare him nexte after Absalom. And he tooke counsell at Joab the sonne of Zeruaia, and at Abiathar the prieste. And they helped Adonia. But Sadocke the priest, Ba-nashu the sonne of Jehoiada, Nathan the Prophete, Semet, and Rei, and all the men of might which were with David, fauoured not Adonia.
And Adonia sacrificed shepe and oxen, and fatte cattell, by the stone of Zohe-lech, whiche is falshe. by the well of Jof. 15. b Rogell, and called all his brethren the kinges sonnes, & the men of Juda the kinges seruantes. But Nathan the prophet and Banashu, and the other myghty men, & Salomon his brother he called not. Wherefore, Nathan spake vnto Bethsabe, the mother of Salomon, saying: Hast thou not heard how that Adonia the sonne of Hagith doth reigne, and David our lord knoweth it not? Nowe therefore come, and I will geue thee counsell, howe to save thyne owne life, and the life of thy sonne Salomon. Go and get thee in vnto king David, and say vnto him: Wilt thou not thou (my lord O kinge) swear vnto thy handmayde, sayinge: Salomon thy sonne shall reygne after me, and he shall sit vpon my seate, why is then Adonia king? Beholde, while thou yet talkest there with the kinge, I will come in after thee, and consume thy wordes. And Bethsabe wente in vnto the kinge into the chamber. And the king was very old, and Abisag the Sunamite ministered vnto the kinge. And Bethsabe knee-ped, and made obeyssaunce vnto the kinge. And the kinge sayde: what is the matter? She answered him: my lord, thou swearst by the lord thy God vnto thine handmaid: Salomon thy sonne shall reygne after me, and he shall sitte vpon my seate. And beholde, nowe is Adonia kinge, and my lord the king woteth not of it. And he hath offered oxen, fat catel, and many shepe, and hath called all the sonnes of the kinge, and Abiathar the Prieste, and Joab the captayne of the hoste. But Salomon thy seruante hath he not bidden. And now my lord (O kinge) the eyes of all Israel wait on thee, that thou shouldest tel them, who ought to sit on the seat of my lord the kinge after him. For elles when my lord the king shall slepe with his fathers, I and my sonne Salomon shalbe inuere. And while she yet talked with the king, Nathan the prophet came:

so. And they told the king, saying: be-holde, here cometh Nathan the prophet. And when he was come into the kinge, he made obeyssaunce before the kinge vpon his face on the grounde, and Nathan said: My lord (O kinge) hast thou said: Adonia shall reigne after me, and he shall sit vpon my seate?

For he is gone do wne this daye, and hath slaine many oxen, and fat sheepe, and hath called all the kinges sonnes, and the captains of the host, and Abiathar the priest. And behold, they eate and drinke before him, and saye: God saue kinge Iudonia. But we thy seruant, and Sadock the priest, and Banaiahu the sonne of Jehoiada, and thy seruant Salomon hath he not called. As this thing done of the Lorde the king, and hath not shewed it vnto thy seruant, who shoulde sit on the seate of my lorde the king after him? Then kinge David answered and said: Call me Bethsabe. And he came into the kinges presence, and stood before him. And the king swore, saying: As truly as the Lorde liueth (that hath ridde my soule out of all aduersitie) euen as I swore vnto thee by the lord God of Israel, sayinge: Salomon thy sonne shall reigne after me, and he shall sitte vpon my seate for me, so will I doo this day. Then Bethsabe bowed on her face to the earth, and did reuerence vnto the king, and sayde: I pray God that my lord kinge David may liue euer. And kinge David sayde: Call me Sadocke the prieste, and Nathan the Prophete, and Banaiahu, the sonne of Jehoiada. And they came before the king. The kinge also said vnto them: Take with you the seruantes of your Lorde, and set Salomon my sonne vpon mine owne Mule, and carry him down to Gihon. And let Sadock the priest, and Nathan the Prophet anoint him there, kinge ouer Israel. And blowe pee with trompettes, and saye: God saue kinge Salomon. And then come vp after him that he maye come and sitte vpon my seate: for he shall be king in my stede. And I will commaund him to be captain ouer Israel and Iuda. And Banaiahu the sonne of Jehoiada answered the king, and said: I men I pray God that the Lord God of my lorde the kinge saye so to. And as God hath bene with my lord the king, so euen so be he with Salomon also, and make his seate greater, then the seate of my lord kinge Davids hath bene,

And so Sadock the Priest, and Nathan the prophete, and Banaiahu the sonne of Jehoiada, and the Gethites, and Phelithites went do wne, and set Salomon vpon kinge Davids mule, and brought him to Gihon and Sadock the priest tooke an horne of oyle out of the tabernacle, & anointed Salomon. And al they of the people blew trompettes, and said: God saue kinge Salomon. And al the people came vp after him, piping with pipes & reioysing greatly, so that the erth rang with the sound of them. And Iudonia and al the gestes that he had called vnto him heard it, euen as they had made an end of eating. And when Joab hearde the sound of the trompet, he sayde: Howe happeneth it that there is such a noise in the citie? And as he yet spake: behold, Jonathas the sonne of Abiathar the priest cam. And Iudonia said vnto him: Come in, for thou art a valiant man, and bringest good tidinges. And Jonathas answered and sayde to Iudonia: Verily our lord kinge David hath made Salomon kinge. And the king hath sent with him Sadocke the priest, & Nathan the prophet, and Banaiahu the sonne of Jehoiada, and the Gethites, and the Phelithites, & they haue set him vpon the kinges Mule. And Sadock the priest, and Nathan the prophet, haue anointed him kinge in Gihon. And they came vp agayne, & reioyced, that the citie did so loud again. And that is the noise yee haue herd. And Salomon sitteth on the seate of the kingdome. And moze euer the kinges seruantes came to blisse our lord kinge David, saying: Thy God make the name of Salomon moze honorable then thy name, & make his seat greater then thy seate. And the kinge bowed himself vpon the bed. And thus said the king: Blessed be the lord god of Israel, which hath made one to sit on my seate this daye, mine eye seinge it. And all the gestes that were with Iudonia wer afraide, and rose vp, and went euery man his way. And Iudonia fearing the presence of Salomon arose, and wente into the tabernacle sonne of Gera, the sonne of Gemin, of Bahurim, which cursed me with an horrible curse, in the daye when I went to Mahanaim. But he came to meete me at Jordan, and I swore to him by the Lorde, saying: I will not slep thee with the swearde: But thou shalt not count him as vngilty.

For thou art a man of wisdom, and knowest what thou oughtest to doe vnto him. His hoare head shalt thou so. David slept with his fathers, and was buried in the Citie of David.

And the dayes which David reigned vpon Israel, were forty yeres: seven yeres reigned he in Hebron, and thir tie and thre yeres reigned he in Je rusalem. Then sat Salomon vpon the seate of David his father, and his kingdome was stablished mightie.
And Adonia the sonne of Hagith cam to Bethsabe the mother of Salomon And she sayde: Comest thou peacea bly? And he sayd, peaceably. He sayde: Wherfore, I haue somewhat to saye vnto thee. She sayd: saye on. And he saide: Thou knowest that the king dome was mine, and that all Israel set their faces on me, that I shoulde reygne, howbeit, the kingdom is tur ned away, and geuen to my brother: for it is appointed him of the Lorde: and nowe I aske a petition of thee, denye me not. And she sayd vnto him: Saye on. And he sayde: Speake, I pray thee, vnto Salomon the kinge, for he will not saye thee naye, that he geue me Abisag the Sunamite to wife. And Bethsabe sayde: Well, I will speake for thee vnto the kinge.
Bethsabe therfore went vnto kinge Salomon, to speake vnto him for A donia. And the kinge rose vpe to meete her, and bowed him selfe vnto her, and sat him downe on his throne.

And there was a seate set for the kinges mother, and she sat on his righte syde. Then shee sayde: I desire a litle petition of thee, I praye thee saye me not naye. And the king said vnto her: I ke on my mother, for I will not say the naye. She said: let Abisag the Shunamite be geuen to Adonia thy brother to wife. And kinge Salomon answered and sayd vnto his mother: Wype doest thou as he Abisag the Shunamite for Adonia? as he for him the kingedome also, for he is mine elder brother; & hath for him Abiathar the priest, and Joab the sonne of Zaruia. Then king Salomon swaie by the Lord, sayinge: God doo so, and so to me: yf Adonia haue not spoken this worde agaynst his owne life. Howe therefore, as truly as the Lord liueth, which hath ordeyned me, and set me on the seate of Dauid my father, and made me an house, as he promised, Adonia shall dye this daye. And kynge Salomon sente by the hande of Banaihu the sonne of Jehoiada, and he smote him, that he dyed. And vnto Abiathar the priest sayde the king: get thee to Anathoth vnto thine owne felices, for thou art worthy of death: but I will not at this time kill thee, because thou barest the arke of the Lord God before Dauid my father, and because thou hast suffered with my father in all his afflictions. And so Salomon put away Abiathar from beinge prieste vnto the Lord: that he might fulfill the wordes of the Lord: whiche hee spake ouer the house of Eli in Silo. Then tidings came also to Joab: for Joab had tourned after Adonia, though he returned not after Absalom. And Joab fled vnto the tabernacle of the Lord, and caught hold on the horns of the altar. And it was tolde king Salomon, howe that Joab fledde vnto the tabernacle of the Lord and stood by the altar. Then Salomon sent Banaihu the sonne of Jehoiada, sayinge: go and fall vpon him. And Banaihu came to the Tabernacle of the Lord, and sayde vnto him: Thus saith the king: come out.

And he sayd: nay, but I will dye euen here. And Banaihu broughte the king worde agayne, sayinge: thus said Joab, and thus he answered me. And the kinge sayde. Woe euen as he hath sayd: smyte him, and hurpe him, that thou mayest take awaye the bloudde which Joab shed causelesse, from me, and from the house of my father. And the Lord shall bringe his bloud vpon his owne head, for he smote two men rightwyser and better then hee, and slue them with the sword, my father Dauid not knowinge thereof, euen Abner the sonne of Ner, captayne of the host of Israel, and Amasa the son of Iether captayne of the host of Iuda. Their bloud shall therefore returne vpon the heade of Joab, and on the heade of his seede for euer. But vpon Dauid, and vpon his seede, and vpon his house, and vpon his seat shal there be praece for euer of the Lord. So Banaihu the soon of Jehoiada went by and smote him, and slue him, and buried him in his owne house in the wilderness. And the kinge putte Banaihu the sonne of Jehoiada in his roome ouer the horse, and putte Sadocke the Priest in the roome of Abiathar. And the kinge sent and called Hemei, and sayd vnto him: build thee an house in Ierusalem, and dwel there: and let that thou go not spoorth thence any whither. For be thou sure that the daye that thou goest oute, and passest ouer the riuer of Cedron, thou shalt dye that daye, and thy bloudde shalbe vpon thine owne head. And Hemei sayde vnto the king, This is a good thinge: as my Lord the kinge hath sayde, so will his seruauent doo. And Hemei dwelte in Ierusalem manye a daye. And it chaunced after thye years, that two of the seruantes of Hemei ranne awaye vnto Achis, soon of Maacha kinge of Geth. And they told Hemei, sayinge: behold thy seruantes be in Geth. And Hemei stode by, and laped his alle, and gat him to Geth to Achis, to seke his seruantes, and returned, and broughte his seruantes agayne from Geth. And

And it was tolde Salomon, howe that Hemi had gone from Ierusalem to Geth, and was come agayne. And the Kinge sente and called Hemi, and saide vnto him: Wydnot I charge thee by the Lord with an othe, and testified vnto thee, saying: be sure that whensoever thou goest out, and walkest abroad anye whither, thou shalt dye the death? And thou saydest vnto mee, it is good tidings that I haue hearde. Why then hast thou not kept the oth of the Lord, and the commaundement that I charged thee withall? The king saide mozeouer to Hemi: thou remembrest al the wickednesse which thine heart knoweth that thou diddest to Dauid my father. The Lord also shall bring thy wickednesse vppon thine owne head: and Kinge Salomon shalbe blessed, and the seate of Dauid stablished before the Lord for euer. So the kinge commaunded Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada, which went out, and smot him that he dyed. And the kingdome was stablished in the hand of Salomon.

Salomon made affinitie with Pharaos king of Egypt, and toke Pharaos daughter, and brought her into the Citie of Dauid, vntill he had made an ende of buildinge his owne house, and the house of the Lord and the wall of Ierusalem rounde about. Onely the people sacrificed in altars made on hilles, because there was no house built vnto the name of the Lord, vntill those dayes. And Salomon loued the Lord, and walked in the ordinaunces of Dauid his father, saue onely that he sacrificed and offered incense vppon altars in hilles. And the kinge wente to Gibcon, to offer there: for that was a speciall offering place. And a thousand burnt offerings did Salomon offer vpon that altar: and in Gibcon the Lord appeared to Salomon in a dreame by night. And God saide: alke what thou wilt, that I maye geue it thee, And

Salomon sayd: thou hast shewed vnto thy seruant Dauid my father great mercy, when he walked before thee in trueth & righteousness, and in plainnes of heart with thee. And thou hast kept for him this great mercie, that thou hast geuen him a sonne, to sit on his seate, as it is comen to passe this day. And now, O Lord my God, is thou that hast made thy seruante Kinge in seede of Dauid my father. And I am but yonge, and wote not howe to go out and in. And thy seruant is in the middell of thy people, which thou hast chosen. And verily the people are so manie that they can not be tolde nor nūbzed for multitude. Geue therefore vnto thy seruant, an vnderstandinge heart, to iudge the people, that I maye decreerne betwix good and badde. For who is able to iudge this thy so mightye a people? And this pleased the Lord well, that Salomon had desired this thinge, And god said vnto him: because thou hast asked this thinge, and hast not asked longe life, neither hast asked riches, nor the soule of thine enemies, but hast asked vnderstandinge and discretion in iudgemente: Beholde, I haue done according to thy petition. For I haue geuen thee a wise and an vnderstandinge hearte, so that there was none like thee before thee, neyther after thee shall any arise lyke vnto thee. And I haue also geuen thee, that which thou hast not asked, euen riches and honour, so that there shall be no Kinge lyke vnto thee all thy dayes. And if thou wilt walke in my wayes, to keepe myne ordinaunces and my commaundementes, thy father Dauid didde walke, I will lengthen thy dayes. When Salomon awoke, behold, it was a dreame. And he cam to Ierusalem, and stood before the Arke of the testamente of the Lord, and offered burnt offerings, and peace offerings, and made a feast to all his seruants. Then came ther. ij. women that wer harlots, vnto the king, and stode before him. And the one woman sayde: O my Lady,

I and this woman dwell in one house. And I was deliuered of a child with her in the house. And the thirde day after that I was deliuered, she was deliuered also: and we were together, and no stranger with vs in the house, save we two. And this wifes childe died in the night, for shee smothered it. And she arose at midnight, and tooke my sonne from my syde, while thynne handmayd slept, and laide it in her bosome, and put her deade childe in my bosome. And when I rose vp to geue my childe sucke, behold, it was deade. But when I had looked vpon it in the morning, beholde, it was not my sonne whiche I did beare. The other woman said: it is not so: but my sonne liueth, and thy sonne is dead. And she said again: No, but thy sonne is dead, and my sonne is aliue. And thus they pleased before the kinge. Then sayde the king: the one sayeth, this that is aliue is my soon, and the dead is thine. And the other sayeth, naye: but thy sonne is the dead, and the liuing childe is mine. And the king said: bringe me a swerde. And they broughte oute a swerde before the king. And the king said: Deuide the liuing childe in two, and geue the one halfe to the one, and the other to the other. Then spake the woman, whose the liuing childe was, vnto the king, for her bowels perned vpon her sonne, and saide: I beseeche thee my Lord, geue her the liuinge childe, and in no wise slay it. But the other saide: let it be neither mine nor thine, but deuite it. Then the kinge answered and saide: geue her the liuing childe, and slay it not, for she is the mother therof. And at the of Israel hard of the iudgement, which the king had iudged, and feared the king: for they saw that the wil dom of God was in him to do iustice. R.

and from all kinges of the earth, which

The. b. Chapter.

And Hiram king of Tyre sent his seruantes vnto Salomon, for he had herd, that they had anointed him kinge in the roome of his father. For Hiram was euer a loue of Dauid. And Salomon sent to Hiram, saying: Thou knowest howe that Dauid my father coulde not buyld an house vnto the name of the Lorde hys God, for the warres which were about him on euery side, vntill the Lorde put them vnder the soles of his fete. But now the Lorde my God hath geuen me rest on euery syde, so that there is neyther aduersarye, nor any euill plague. And behold, I am determined to buyld an house vnto the name of the Lorde my God, as the Lorde spake vnto Dauid my father, saying: Thy sonne whom I will set vpon thy seate for thee, he shal buyld an house vnto my name. Now therefore, commaunde thou that they bestow me Cedar trees out of Libanon. And my seruantes shalbe with thyne, and vnto thee will I geue the hyre for thy seruantes, according to all suche thinges as thou shalt ap-poynt, for thou knowest that there is not amonge vs, that canne skill to bestow timber, like vnto the Sidonies.
When Hiram hearde the wordes of Salomon, he reioyced greatly, and sayde: Blessed be the Lorde this daye whiche hath geuen vnto Dauid a wyle sonne, ouer this myghty people. And Hiram sente to Salomon, saying: I haue considered the thinges which thou sentest to me for, and will accomplish all thy desire, concerning tymber of Cedar trees and firre. My seruantes shal bring them from Libanon to the sea. And I will conuoy them by ship vnto the place that thou shalt shew me, and will cause them to be discharged there, and thou shalt receiue them. And thou shalt doe me a pleasure agayne, if thou minister fise for mine house. And so Hiram gaue Salomon Cedar trees, and fir trees, according to all his desire. And Salomon gave Hiram twentie thousand quarters of wheate for foode to his household, and fiftie buttes of pure oyle. Thus much gave Salomon to Hiram yeare by yeare. And the Ladye gave Salomon wisdom as he promised him. And there was peace betwene Hiram and Salomon and they two were confederate together. And king Salomon ryfed a summe oute of all Israel. And the summe was thirtie thousande men, whome he sent to Libanon, ten thousande a month by course, so that when they had ben one moneth in Libanon, they abode two monethes at home. And Hiram was ouer the summe. And Salomon had thre scoze and ten thousand that bare burdens, and foure scoze thousande masons in the mountayns: besides the Lordes, whom Salomon appointed to ouersee the worke euen thre thousand and thre hundred, whiche ruled the people (and theym) that wrought in the worke. And the king commaunded them to bring great stones, free stones, and hewed stones for the foundation of the house. And Salomons masons, and the masons of Hiram did hewe theym, with the workmen of the corners. And so they prepared bothe tymber and stones, for the building of the house.

The .vi. Chapter..

AND it came to passe, that in the foure hundred and foure scoze yere (after the children of Israel were come out of the land of Egypt) and in the fourth yere of the reigne of Salomon vpon Israel, and in the month Zif, which is the second moneth, he began to build the house of the Lord. And the house which Salomon built for the Lord, was three scoze cubites longe, and twentie cubites bryde, a fiftie cubites hie. And he made a porche before the bodye of the temple, whiche was twentie cubites long after the brydth of the house, and ten cubites bryde, euen in the forefront of the house. And in the house he made windowes bryde withoute and narrowe within. And in the wall of the house, he made chambers round about (euen in the walls of the house) round about the temple and the quier, and made sides rounde aboute. The nethermoste chamber was sixe cubites bryde, and the myddle was sixe cubites bryde, and the thirde was seven cubites bryde. For without in the walles of the house, he layde beames rounde aboute, that the beames of the chambers shoulde not be fastened in the walles of the house. And the house was builde of stone, made perfect already, before it was brought thither, so that there was neyther hammer nor axe, eyther any tooles of iron heard in the house, while it was in building. The doore of the middle chamber was in the right side of the house: and men went by with winding staires into the middle chamber and out of the middle vnto the thirde. And so he builde the house, and finished it, and roofed it with beames of Cedar timber. And then he builde chambers to all the temple of sixe cubites heygth, and they were ioyned to the house with beames of Cedar.

And the word of the Lord came to Salomon, sayinge: Concerninge the house whiche thou art in building, if thou wilt walke in mine ordinaunces, and execute my lawes, and keepe all my commaundementes, to walke in them: then will I make good vnto thee, my promise, whiche I promised Dauid thy father. And I will dwell amonge the children of Israel, and will not forsake my people Israel. Salomon therefore buylded the house, and finished it, and siled the walles of the house within, with boordes of Cedar tree, euen from the pavement of the house vnto the roofe did he sile the walles of it within, with Cedar trees, and boorded the floore of the house with planks of fyre. And he siled twentie cubites in the sides of the quier of the temple both floore and walles, with boordes of Cedar, and dyssed it within the secrette place of the temple, euen in the the moſte holpe. And the ſpyſke houſe that is to ſay, the bode of the temple withoute was fortye cubites longe. And the Cedar of the houſe within, was harued with knoppes, and grauen with ſlowes, and all was Cedar timber, ſo that no ſtone was ſene. And the quier that was within the Temple, he prepared to ſet there the Arke of the appointment of the Lord. And the quier beſoze, was twentye cubites longe, and twentye cubites in bredth, and twentie cubites in heighth. And he ſieled it with pure golde, and boorded the aultare with Cedar. And Salomon alſo ſieled the houſe within with pure golde. And he made golden barres runne alonge the quier, which he had covered with gold. And the whole houſe he overlaid with golde, untill he had ended it. And the Aultar that was in the quier, he overlaid with golde alſo. And within the quier he made two Cherubins of olive tree, ten cubites hie. Five cubites long was a wing of the one Cherub, and five cubites longe was a wing of the other Cherub: ſo that from the uttermoſt part of one wing unto the uttermoſt part of the other, were tenne cubites. And the other Cherub was ten cubites hie alſo: ſo that bothe the Cherubs were of one meſure, and one ſize: For the heighth of the one Cherub was ten cubites, and ſo was it of the other. And he put the Cherubs within the inner houſe. And the Cherubs ſtretched out their wings, ſo that the one wing of the one, touched the one wall, & the one wing of the other touched the other wall. And the other two wings of theym touched one another in the middes of the houſe. And he overlaid the Cherubs with golde. And in all the walles of the houſe round about, he made figures of carved and ſieled woozke: As namely pictures of Cherubs and Paulme trees, and graven ſlowes, both within in the quier, & without in the Temple. And the flooze of the houſe, he covered with golde, bothe within in the quier, and alſo without in the temple. And in the entring of the quier, he made two doozes of olive tree: And both the upper and two ſide poſtes, were ſine ſquare. The two doozes alſo were of olive tree, and he graven them with gravinge of Cherubs and paulme trees, and graven ſlowes, and covered them with gold, and laid thynne plates of golde vpon the Cherubs and Paulme trees. And in like maner did he in the doze of the temple, ſavinge that the poſtes were of olive tree ſoure ſquare. The two doozes were of ſirre tree, and epyther dooze with two ſoldinge leanes, hee graven thereon Cherubs, palme trees and ſlowes, and covered them with golde, which was layde thynne vpon the carved woozke. And he builde the inner courte with three rowes of hed ſtoane, and one rowe of Cedar wood. In the fourth yeare was the foundation of the houſe of the Lord layde, even in the moneth Ziph: And in the ſeventh yeare, in the moneth Bull (which is the epyght moneth) was the houſe full finiſhed, thoroughout all the partes therof, accordyng to all the faſhion of it. And ſo was her ſeven yeare in building it.

But Salomon was buildinge his own houſe thirteene yere, and ſpniſhed it all. And hee built the houſe in the woodde of Libanon, an hundred cubites long, and ſiftie cubites broad, and, xxx. cubites hie. And (it ſtoode) vpon ſoure rowes of Cedar pillars, and Cedar beames (were layd) vpon the pillars. And the roole was Cedar above vpon the beames that laye on the pillars, even, xlii. beames in ſifteene rowes. And there were windowes in three rowes: and the windowes were one agaynſt another three ſoide. And the doozes with their ſide poſtes, and the upper poſte were ſoure ſquare, and had windowes one agaynſt another, thre ſoide. And he made a poſte by the pillars (that bare by the hand) ſiftie cubites longe, and, xxx. cubites hie.

broade, and that porche was befoze those and the other pillars: For there was a thicke tree sette befoze theym. Then he made a porche to sit & lodge in, fyled with Cedar throughout all the pamentes. And his owne house (that he kepte residence in, and that was in an other court without the porche) was made of the same worke.

B And then Salomon made an house Ex. 3. a for Pharaons daughter, (whome he had taken to wife) like vnto the fashion of the porch. And all these were of the best stones, hewed after a measure, and sawed with sawes, within and without, from the foundation vnto the beames that laye aboue; after the measure, and euen so on the outeside towarde the great Court. And the foundation was layde vpon rich stones, and that verie great stones, whereof some were ten cubites, and some eynht cubites. And aboue were good stones squared after a certayne rule, and couered with Cedar. And the great Court rounde aboute was with thre rows of hewed stones, and one rowe of Cedar planks, after the maner of the inner Courte of the house of the 1. D. R. D. C., and of the porche of the Temple. 2. And kinge Salomon sente and sette one Hiram oute of Tyre, a widowes sonne, of the tribe of Rephthalim, his father beinge a manne of Tyre. Whiche Hiram was a craftsman in brasse, full of wisdom, vnderstandinge, and cunning: to worke all maner of worke in brasse. And he came to kinge Salomon, & wrought all his worke. For he caste .xiiij. cubites hie a peece, and a stringe of .xij. cubites did compasse epyther of them aboute. And he made two head peeces of molten brasse (after the fashion of a crowne) to set on the toppes of the pillars: The heygth of the one head peece containede five cubites, and the heygth of the other head peece containede five cubites also: he made also net worke and garlands of chain worke, vpon the head peeces that were on the toppes of the pillars, euen seuen (rowes) vpon the one head peece, and seuen vpon the other. And so he made the pillars, and two rowes rounde aboute, in the one wyethen worke, to couer the heade peeces that were vpon the pomgranates. And thus did he also for the other head peeces. And the heade peeces that were on the toppes of the pillars, couered he aboute with a curious worke of roses, towarde the palace by the space of foure cubites. Likewise vnder the heade peeces in those two pillars beneath, ouer agaynst the middes, and befoze the net worke. And vpon the second heade peece, were there two hundred pomgranates in two rowes rounde about. And he set by the pillars in the porch of the temple. And when he had set by the righte pillar, he called the name thereof .Jachin: and when hee had set by the left pillar, he called the name thereof .Boaz. And in the toppe of the pillars was a worke of roses, and so was the workmanship of the pillars finished. And hee made a moultin lauatoze, ten cubites wide from bym to bymme, rounde in compasse, and five cubites hie. And a stringe of thirty cubites did compasse it aboute, and vnder the bymme of it, there were knoppes rounde aboute, ten in one cubite: and they compassed the lauatoze rounde aboute. And the knoppes were caste with it, in two rowes, when it was cast. And it stode on twelue oxen: of which, thre looked towarde the north, thre towarde the weste, thre towarde the South, and thre towarde the East, and the lantoppe stode vpon them, and all their hinder partes were inward. It was an hande breadth thicke, and the bymme wrought like the bym of a cup with flowres of lilyes. And it containede two thousande Batens. And he made tenne sockettes of brasse, four cubites longe, and foure cubites brode a peece, & thre cubites hie. And the worke of the sockettes was on this maner: They had sides, and the sides were betwene the ledges. And on the sides that were betwene the ledges, were lions, oxen, and Cherubs. And likewise vpon the ledges that were aboue: and beneath the hyons and oxen, were certayne aduitions made of thin woꝝke. And vnder euery sockette were foure brasen wheeles, and borders of brasle. And in the foure corners thereof, were vnderfettters (vnder the Lanatoype) cast eche ouer against his fellow. And the stalke of the Lanatoype was in the middle of it (where it is sene on the outside) one cubite hye, and a cubite and a halfe round, and in the heighth of it wer grauen woꝝkes, whose sides were made foure square, and not round. And vnder the spydes were foure wheeles, and γ axell trees loyned fast to the bottom. And the heighth of euery wheele was a cubite and an halfe. And the woꝝkmanshipp of the wheeles was like the woꝝke of a charet wheele. And the agel-trees, the nauellics, spokes and shaftes were all moulten. And ther were foure vnderfettters in the four corners of one sockette: and the vnderfettters wer of the very bottom it self. And in the heighth of the bottom was there a rounde compasse of halfe a cubite hye: and in the hepyth of the bottom, there proceeded both legs and sides out of the same. For in the borders of the ledges and on the spydes hee hadde grauen pictures of Cherubins, lions and palme trees, one by another rounde aboute. Thus made he the ten lockets after this maner. And they had al one fashyon of casting, one mesure and one sise. Then made he ten laners of bras one lauer contayninge fortie Waters: and one lauer was foure cubites, and vpon euery one of the tenne lockets, he put one lauer. And he putte fine of those sockettes on the right syde of the house, and other syue on the left. And he set the lanatoype on the ryght syde of the house. Callward and towarde the South. And Hiram made pottes, γ howels and basens, and so finished all the woꝝke that hee made Kinge Salomon for the house of the Loyde: that is to saye, two pillers and twoo round head pieces that were to be set on the tops of the two pillers, twoo

net woꝝkes to couer the twoo rounde hedpieces, set vpon the top of γ pillers, foure hundred pomegranates for the twoo net woꝝkes, euen twoo rowes of pomgranates in one net woꝝke, to couer the twoo headpieces that were to be sette on the toppes of the pillers: And the ten sockettes, and ten laners on the sockettes. The lanatoype, and twelue oxen vnder it, and pottes, howelles and basens. And all these beselless whiche Hiram made to Kinge Salomon for the house of the Loyde, were of bright brasle. In the playne of Jordan did the kinge calke them, euen in the thicke claye betwene Shocoth and Zarthan. And Salomon left all the vessels vnswept, because they were soo exceedinge manye, neyther founde they oute the weyghte of the brasle. And so Salomon made all the vessels that pertained vnto the house of the Loyde: the golden altiare, and the golden table, whereon the shew-bread was: And fine candlesticks, for the right syde, and fine for the leftt befoze the quire, of pure golde with flowres, lampes, and snuffers, of gold: and bolles, flat pieces, basons spones and basours of pure golde and hinges made he of golde both for the dozes of the quire (the place most holy) and for the doozes of the temple also. And so was ended all the woꝝke that Kinge Salomon made for the house of the Loyde. And Salomon brought in the thinges whiche Dauid his father had dedicated: euen the silver, golde and vesselless, and layed them by amonge the treasures of the house of the Loyde.

The. viij. Chapter.

Then Salomon gathered together the elders of Israel, al the heddes of the trybes (and them that were captaynes amonge the fathers of the chyliden of Israel) vnto him in Ierusalem, that they myght bringe by the arke of the appoyment of the Loyde. out of the cite of Dauid, whiche is Sion. And all the men of Israel assembled vnto Kinge Salomon to the feast that followeth the moneth of Ethenim, which is the tenth moneth. And all the elders of Israel were come, and the Priests toke by the Arke. They bare \dagger Arke of the Lord, into \dagger tabernacle of wit-nesse, and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle: those did the priests and the Levites beare. And king Solommon and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him, (and went with him before the arke) did offer sheepe and Oxen, that couide not be tolde nor numbred for multitude. And so the Priests brought the Arke of the appointment of the Lord vnto his place: euen into the quier of the Temple and the place moste holy, vnder the wings of the Cherubs.

For the Cherubs stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and covered both it, and also the stauces thereof a hie vppon it. And they dyctwe out the stauces, that the endes of them might appeare out of the holpe place within the quier, but they were not seene withoute. And there they haue bene vnto this day, and ther was nothing in the Arke, . save the two tables of stone, which Moses put there at Horeb, in the whiche (tables) the Lord made an appoyntment with the children of Israel, when he brou-ghte them out of the lande of Egypt.

 And it fortuned, that when the Priestes were come out of the holy place, the cloud filled the house of the Lord, that the Priests could not stand and minister, because of the cloude: for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of the Lord.

Then spake Salomon:
 the Lord said, that he woulde dwell in the darke cloude: I haue built thee an house to dwell in, an habitation for thee to abide in for ever. And the king turned his face, and blessed all the congregation of Israel, and all the congregation of Israel stood still. And he sayd: Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which spake with his mouth vnto Dauid my father, . and hath with his hande fulfilled it, sayinge: Since the daye that I broughte my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no ritle of all the tribes of Israel, to builde an house that my name might be therein: But I haue chosen. Da-uid, to be ruler ouer my people of Israel. And it was in the heart of Da-uid my father, to builde an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel.

And the Lord sayde vnto Dauid my father: whereas it was in thine heart to build an house vnto my name, thou diddest well, that thou wast so minded. Nevertheless \dagger shalt not builde the house, but thy sonne that shal come out of thy loynes, he shal builde the house vnto my name. And the Lord hath made good his woorde that he spake. And I am risen by in the room of Dauid my father, and sit on the seat of Israel, as the Lord promised, and haue built an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel. And I haue prepared therein a place for the Arke, wherein is the couenaunt of the Lord, whiche he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt. Salomon stood before: euiler of the Lord, in the sight of all the congregation of Israel, and stretched out his handes toward heauen, and saide: . Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in heauen aboue, or in the earth beneath: thou that kepest couenaunt and mercy for thy ser-uantes, that walke before thee with all their heart: thou that haste kepte with thy seruante Dauid my father, that thou promisedst him. Thou spa-kest also with thy mouthe, and haste fulfilled it with thine hande, as it is come to passe this daye. Therefore, now Lord God of Israel, kepe with thy seruante Dauid my father, that thou promisedst him, saying: . Thou shalt not be withoute a manne in my sight, to sitte on the seate of Israel: so that thy children take heede to theyr waye, that they walcke before me as thou haste walked in my sighte. And nowe (O God) of Israel, lette thy woorde be verified, whiche thou spa-kest vnto thy seruante Dauid my father. Will God in deede dwell on the earthe? Beholde . the heauens,

Salomon

iii. Kings.

Esa. 66 and heavens of all heavens are not able to containe thee: And howe should the this house do it that I have builded: Have thou therfore respect vnto the prayer of thy seruaunt and to his supplication (O Lord my God) to heare the voyce and prayer besoye thee this daye: that thine eyes maye be open toward this house, nyghte and day, euen to ward this place) of which thou hast sayde: • My name shall be there. • That thou mayest hearken vnto the prayer, which thy seruaunte prayeth in this place: And regarde thou the supplication of thy seruaunt, and of thy people Israel, when they pray in this place: And heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, and when thou hearest, haue mercye. • If anye man trespass agaynst his neighbour, and there go another betweene them, and the one compell the other, and come swainge before thine aultare, in this house, then hearken thou in heauen, and worke and iudge thy seruantes, that thou condemne the vngodly to bring his way bypon his heade, and iustifie the righteous, to geue him according to his righteousness. • When thy people Israel be put to the woollse before the enemye, because they haue sinned agaynst thee and afterwarde tourne againe to thee, and knowledge vnto thy name, and praye and make supplication vnto thee in this house: then heare thou in heauen, to be merciful vnto the sinne of thy people Israel, and bringe them againe vnto the lande, which thou gauest vnto their fathers. • If heauen be shutte vp, and there be no rayne because they haue synned agaynst thee: yet if they pray in this place, & knowledge vnto thy name, and tourne from their sinne, though thy shourginge of them: then heare thou in heauen, and be mercifull (vnto the sinnes) of thy seruantes, and of thy people Israel, that thou shew them a good waye to walke in, and geue raine bypon the lande that thou hast geuen to thy people to inherite, If they be in the land, dearth, or pestilence, drought, blinding, gresshopper or caterpillar, or if their enemy besiege them in the land of their cities, or whatsoeuer plague or sickness chaunce: • then what prayers and supplication so euer be made of anye man of all thy people Israel, which shall knowledg anye man the plage of his owne hart, and stretch forth his hands toward this house. Heare thou then in heauen, euen in thy dwelling place, and be merciful, & worke, & geue anye man according to al his wayes, (euen as thou that only knowest his heart, for thou only knowest the hart of all the children of men:) that they may feare thee as long as they live in the land, which thou gauest vnto our fathers. And likewise, if a stranger that is not of thy people Israel, com out of a farre countrey for thy names sake, for they shall heare of thy greates name, and of thy mightie hand, and of thy stretched out arme, and shall come and praye in this house. Therefore heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, and do al that the stranger calleth to thee for, that al the nations of earth maye know thy name, and feare thee, as do thy people Israel: and that they may knowe that thy name is called bypon in this house, that I haue built. If thy people goe out to battell agaynst their enemy, whether so euer thou shalt sende them, and shall praye vnto thee (O Lord) • toward the waye of the citie which thou hast chosen, & toward the house that I haue built for thy name: (heare thou in heauen their prayer and supplication, and iudge their cause.) If they sinne agaynst thee • (for there is no man that sinneth not) and thou be angry with them, & deliuer them into the hande of their enemies, so they carrye the waye prisoners to the land of their enemies, eyther farre or neare, yet if they turne againe byro their herts in I land (to the which they be carried as captiue) and returne and praye vnto thee in the land of their enemies, saying: we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly, bede, and haue committed vngodlynesse, and so tourne agayne vnto thee with all their harts, and all their soule in the land of their enemyes (whiche led them away captiue) and praye vnto thee, toward the way of their land, whiche thou gauest vnto their fathers and toward the citie whiche thou hast chofen, and toward the house whiche I haue builde for thy name: Then Jan. 9. b hear thou their prayer and supplication in heauen thy dwelling place, and iudge their cause: and be mercifull vnto thy people that haue sinned agaynst thee, and vnto all their iniquities, (whereby they haue done swichedye agaynst thee) and gette thou them the fauour of those whiche led them away captiue, that they may haue compassion on them. For they be thy people, and thine inheritance, whiche thou broughtest out of Egypte, euen from the myddell of the foynace of yron.

And lette thine eyes be open vnto the prayer of thy seruante, and vnto the I. Cl. 1. b prayer of thy people Israell: to harden vnto them, in all that they call for vnto thee. For thou diddest separate them from amonge all nations of the earth, (to be thine owne inheritance) as thou saydest by the hand of Moses thy seruante, when thou broughtest our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord God. And when Salomon hadde made an end of praying all this prayer and supplication vnto the Lord, he arose from before the altare of the Lord, and from kneeling on his knees, and from stretching of his handes vnto heauen, and knee and blessed all the congregation of Israell with a loude voyce, saying: Blessed be the Lord, that hath giuen rest vnto his people Israell, according to all that he promised: there hath not failed one worde

Re. 7. b of all the good promise, which he promised by the hande of Moses his seruant. The Lord our God be with vs, as he was with our fathers, and forake vs not, neyther leaue vs: but that he maye bowe our heartes vnto him, & we may walke in all his wayes, and kepe his commandementes, his statutes and his lawes, which he commanded our fathers. And these my wordes whiche I haue prayed before the Lord, be nie vnto the Lord our God daye and nyghte, that he de-sende the cause of his seruante, and also the cause of his people Israell, (what thinge so euer chauce at anye time) that all stattons of the earth maye knowe, that the Lord is God, and none but he. Let your heart therfore be perfect with the Lord our God, that ye walke in his statutes, and kepe his commandementes, at this day. And the king and all Israell with him, offered offerings before the Lord. And Salomon offered a sacrifice of peaceofferings vnto the Lord, and he offered vnto the Lord. xxi. thousande Oxen, and an hundred and twenty thousande sheepe: And so the kinge and all the children of Israell dedicated the house of the Lord. The same daye did the kinge hallowe the middle of the court, that was before the house of the Lord: for there he offered burntofferinges, meattofferinges, and the fat of the peace offeringes, because the brasen altare that was before the Lord, was so litle to receiue the burnt offerings, meattofferinges, and the fat of the peaceofferinges. And Salomon held that same time an hie feast, and all Israell with him, a verie greate congregation, euen from the entringe in of Emath vnto the riuer of Egypt, before the Lord our God. seven daies, and seven dayes, euen. xliii. dayes.

And the. lvi. daye he sente the people away. And they blessed the king, and wente vnto their tentes ioyous and with gladde hearts, because of all the goodnesse that the Lord had done for Dauid his seruante, and for Israell his people.

The. ix. Chapter.

And when Salomon had finished the building of the house of the Lord, and the kinges palace, & as he had in his mind, & was appointed to make:
The Lord appeared to him.

- him againe as he appeared vnto him at Gibeon. And the Lord sayde vnto him: I haue heard thy prayer and thy intercession, that thou hast made befoze me: For I haue halowed this house (which thou hast built,) to put my name there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart shalbe there perpetually. And if thou wilt walke befoze me (as Dauid thy father walked, in purenes of hart and in righteousnes) to do all that I haue commaunded thee, and wilt keepe my statutes, and my lawes, then will I establish the seate of thy kingdom vpon Israel for ever,
- as I promised vnto Dauid thy father, saying: • Thou shalt not be without a man vpon the seate of Israel. But and if ye and your children turne away from mee, and will not keepe my commaundementes and my statutes, whiche I haue set befoze you, but go and serue other goddes, and worshipp them: then will I weede Israel out of the lande, which I haue geuen them: And this house which I haue halowed • for my name, will I caste oute of my sighte. And Israel shall be a prouerbe and a salue amonge all nations. And this house shalbe taken away: so that euery one that passeth by it, shalbe astonied, and shall hiss, and they shall saye: • Whye hath the Lord done thus vnto this land, and to this house? And they shall answer: because they forsooke the Lord their god, which brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and haue taken holde vpon other Goddes, and haue worshipped them, and serued them: therefore hath the Lord brought vpon them all this euill. • And it was tuned, that at the ende of twentye yeares, Salomon finished the buildinge of the two houses, that is to witte, the house of the Lord, and the kinges palace. And Hiram the kinge of Tyre brought Salomon timber of Cedar, and fyre trees, gold, and what soeuer he desired. And Salomon agayne gaue Hiram twentye cities in the land of Galile. And Hiram came out from Tyre to see the cities which
- Salomon had geuen him, and they pleased him not. And he said: What cities are these, which thou hast geuen me, my brother? And he called the land of Cabul vnto this day. And Hiram sent the king sixe scoze hundred weight of golde. And this is the sum whiche kinge Salomon rayled for a tribute, when he builded the house of the Lord, and his owne house, and Millo, & the wall of Ierusalem, and Hazer, & Megeddo, and Gazer: For Pharaon king of Egypt went by, and tooke Gazer, and burnt it with fyre, & slue the Cananites that dwelt in the citie, and gaue it for a present vnto his daughter, Salomons wife. And Salomon builded Gazer and Beth Hozon the nether. And Baalath & Chamir in the wilderness and in the land: and all the treasure cities that Salomon had, (and were vnwalled, those he made stronge) and cities for his charrets, and cities for his horsemen, and all that Salomon desired, and wold build in Ierusalem, in Libanon, and in all land of his dominion. And all the people that were lesse of the Amorites, Hethites, Pherezites, Hevites, and Jebusites, (whiche were not of the children of Israel) their children that were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel also were not able to destroye. Those did Salomon compell to bringe tribute vnto this day. But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no bond men. But they were men of warre, & his ministers, his Lordes, his captaynes, and rulers of his charrets and his horsemen. And these were the lordes, that were set ouer Salomons worke: euen fyue hundred were they and their type, and they ruled the people that wrought the worke. And Pharaons daughter came by out of the Citie of Dauid vnto the house, which Salomon had builded for her. And then did he also build Millo. And thre yeares did Salomon offer burnt offerings and peace offerings vnto the altar, which he builded. And he

remaine there, and all Israel, till he had destroyed all the men children of Edom. And this Hadad fled, and sought other Countie of his fathers servants with him, to come into Egypt: Hadad being yet a little child. And they arose out of Arabian, and came to Paran, and tooke men with them out of Paran, and came to Egypt, unto Pharaos King of Egypt, which gave him an house, and appointed him dieties, and gave him lande. And Hadad gat great fauoure in the sight of Pharaos, so that hee gave him to wife the sister of his owne wife. euen the sister of Chabpenes, the queene. And the sister of Chabpenes bare him Genubath his sounne, whom Chabpenes nourished in Pharaos house. And Genubath was at Pharaos house among the sonnes of Pharaos. And when Hadad hearde in Egypt, that Dauid was laid to sleepe with his fathers, and that Ioab the captaine of the hoste was deade also, he said to Pharaos: let me depart, that I may go to mine owne countrey. Pharaos sayde vnto him: what haste thou lacked here with me, that thou wouldest thus go to thine owne countrey? he answered nothing, so we be it, let me go. And God stirred him by another aduersarye, one Rezon, the sonne of Eliada, which fledde from his Lord Hadadzer king of Zobah. And he gathered men vnto him, and became captaine ouer the companye, when Dauid slewe them. And they went to Damasco, and dwelt there, and reigned in Damasco. Therefore was he an aduersarye to Israel all the daies of Salomon. And this was the mischance, in that Hadad did abhorre Israel, and reigned ouer Siria. And Jeroboam the sonne of Nebay an Ephraimite of Zareda (whose mother was called Zerub, which was a woman, and he Salomons seruante) lift vp his hande agaynste the kinge. But this was the cause, that he lyfte vp his hand agaynste the kinge. Salomon builde Heilo, and warded the broken places of the Citie of Dauid his father. And this fellowe Jeroboam was a man of warre. And Salomon sawe the young man, that he was able to doo the worke: he made hym ruler ouer all the charges of the house of Ioseph. And it chaunced at that season, that Jeroboam went out of Ierusalem, and the prophet Ahiah the Shilonite mette him by the waye, hauing a new mantel on him, and they two wer alone in the field. And Ahiah caught the newe mantel that was on him, and rent it in twelue pieces, and said to Jeroboam: take thee ten peces. For thus saith the Lord God of Israel: beholde, I will rent the kyngedome out of the handes of Salomon, and will geue ten tribes to thee, and he shal haue one, for my seruante Dauid sake, and for Ierusalem the citie whiche I haue chosen out of all the Tribes of Israel: because they haue forsaken me, and haue worshipped vnto Ashtaroth the God of the Sidons, and Chamos the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the children of Ammon, & haue not walked in my wayes (to fulfill my pleasure, my statutes and my lawes,) as did Dauid his father. I will not take the whole kyngdome out of his hand: but I will make him chiefe all his life longe, for Dauid my seruantes sake, to whome I chose: because he kept my commandments & my statutes. But I will take the kyngdome out of his sonnes hande and will geue it vnto thee, euen ten tribes of it, & vnto his sonne thou I geue one tribe, that Dauid my seruante may haue a light alwaye before me in Ierusalem, the citie whiche I haue chosen me, to put my name there. And I will take thee, and thou shalt raigyn accordynge to all that thy soule desireth, and shalt be kinge ouer Israel. And if thou harken vnto all that I commande thee, and wilt walke in my wayes and do that is right in my sight, that thou kepe my statutes and my commandmentes (as Dauid my seruante did) then will I bee with thee, and dwyle thee a sure house that shall contynue, as I dwyle for my seruant Dauid, and will geue Israel vnto thee: And I will for this offence (whiche Salomon hath committed) beere the seede of Dauid, but not for euer. Salomon sought therfore to kill Jeroboam, and Jeroboam arose and fled into Egypt, vnto Sisak kinge of Egypt, and continued there in Egypt vntill the death of Salomon. The rest of the wordes that concerne Salomon, and al that he did, and his wisdom: are they not writtten in the booke of the wordes of Salomon? The time that Salomon reigned in Ierusalem vpon al Israel, was forty yeres. And Salomon slept, and he laid him with his fathers, and was buryed in the citie of Dauid his father, and Rehoboam his son ne reigned in his stede.

The. xij. Chapter.

AD. Rehoboam wente to Sichem: for all Israel were come to Sichem, to make him kinge. And Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat (whiche was yet in Egypt) heard of it, for he fled to Egypt from the ptesence of kinge Salomon, and dwelte in Egypt. Soo they sente and called him: and Jeroboam and all the congregation of Israel came, and spake vnto Rehoboam, sayinge: Thy father made our yoke greuous, now we therfore, make thou the greuous seruice of thy father, and his sooze yoke, whiche he putte vpon vs, lyghter, and we will serue thee. And he sayde vnto them: Departe yet for the space of thre days, and then come againe vnto me. And the people departed. And king Rehoboam tooke counsell with the olde men that stode befoze Salomon his father, while he yet liued, and sayd: What counsell geue ye, that I may haue matter to answer this people? And they salde vnto him: If thou be a seruant vnto this people this daye, and followe theyr mynys, and answer them, and speake kynde wordes vnto them, they will be thy seruantes for euer. But he forsooke the counsell that the old men had geuen him, and called vnto his counsell yong men, that were growen vp with him and waited on him. And he saide vnto them: What counsell geue ye, that we may aunswere this people? for they haue commoned with mee, sayinge: Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lyghter. And the yong men that were growen vp with him, spake vnto him, sayinge: Thus shalt thou speake vnto this people (that haue said vnto thee: Thy father made our yoke heauye, but make thou it lyghter.) Euen thus shalt thou saye vnto them: My little finger shall be swaighter, then my father was in the topes. And now where as my father did lade you, and put a greuous yoke vpon you, I will make it leuier. My father also corrected you with scourges, but I will chastise you with scorpions. And so Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the thirde day, as the kinge had appoynted sayinge: come to me agayne the thirde day. And the king answered the people chaustly, and left the olde mens counsell (that they gaue him) and spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, sayinge: My father made your yoke greuous, and I will make it greuouser. My father also chastised you with whippes, but I will chastise you with scorpions. And the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the ordinance of God, that he might perfoyme his saying, which the Lord spake by Ahia the Silonite vnto Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat. And so, when all Israel sawe, that the king regarded the not, the people answered the king with these wordes, sayinge: What portion haue we in Dauid? we haue no inheritance in the sonne of Isai. To your tentes, O Israel, nowe we to thyne house Dauid. And so Israel departed vnto their tentes. Howebeit, ouer the children of Israel, whiche dwelte in the Citie of Iuda, diuide Rehoboam reygne still. The kinge Rehoboam sente antier that was before the Loyde, and to her finished the house. And Kinge Salomon made a nauie of shippes in Ezion Haber, which is beside Eloth; on the bryke of the red sea in the land of Edom. And Hiram sente by shippe also of his seruantes, that wer ship-men; and had knowledge of the sea, with the seruantes of Salomon.

 And they came to Ophir and fet from thence one and twentie scoze hundred weyghte of golde; and broughte it to kinge Salomon.

The .x. Chapter.

AND the . Quene of Saba hearing the fame of Salomon (concerninge the name of the Loyde) came to proue him with harde questions. And shee came to Ierusalem with a verpe great trayne: with Camellies that bare swete odoures, and golde exceedinge muche, and precious stones. And shee came to Salomon, and continued with him of all that was in her heart. And Salomon declared vnto her all her questions; so that there was not one thinge hidde from the king; whiche he expounded not vnto her. And the Quene of Saba considered all Salomons wise-dome, and the house that he had builtded, and the meate of his table, and the settinge of his seruantes; the order of his ministers; and their apparell; his drinke; and his burnt sacrifices; that he offered in the house of the Loyd, and shee was astonied. And shee sayde vnto the kinge: It was a true worde that I heard in mine owne land of thy sayings, and of thy wisdom. Howbeit I belieued it not till I came, and sawe it with mine eyes. And beholde, the one halfe was not told me: for thy wisdom and prosperitie exceedeth the fame which I heard of thee. May-we are thy men; and happye are these thy seruantes, which stand euer before thee, and heare thy wisdom. Blessed be the Loyde thy God, whiche lo-ueth thee, to sette thee on the seate of Israel, because the Loyde loued Israel for ever; and made thee kinge to doe equitie and righteousnesse. And shee gaue the kinge sixe scoze hundert weyght of golde, and of swete odoures exceedinge muche, and precious stones. There camme no moze suche aboundance of swete odours, as the Quene of Saba gaue vnto king Salomon. The nauie also of the shippes of Hiram, that carped golde; from Ophir, brought likewise great plentie of Almuge tree and precious stones. And the kinge made of the Almuge trees, pillars for the house of the LORD, and for the kinges palace, and made Harpes and Psalteres for singers. There came no moze suche Almuge trees, nor were anye moze scene vnto this daye. And kinge Salomon came vnto the Quene of Saba, accordinge to all her desire whatsoeuer she asked: besides that he gaue her of a free will with his owne hande. And so she retourned vnto her owne countrey: both shee and her ser-uantes. The waighte of golde that came to Salomon in one yere, was sixe hundred, thre scoze and sixe talentes of golde, besides that he hadde of chapmen, and of marchauntes, and of Poticaryes, and of all the kinges of Arabia, and of the Lords of the countrey. And kinge Salomon made two hundred bucklers of beaten golde, sixe hundred sickles of golde wente to a buckler. And hee made thre hundred shields of beaten gold, thre pound of gold went to one shield and the king put them in the house of the woodde of Libanon. And the kinge made a greateseate of yuoze, and couered it with the best golde.

 And the seate hadde sixe steeppes. And the toppe of the seate was rounde behynde, and there were pommelies on eithersyde of the place of the seate, and two Lyons stood beside the pom-melles. And there stood twelue Lyons on the steeppes, sixe on a syde.
 There was none lyk (worke) scene in anye kingedome. And all kinge Salomons drinking vessels were of golde, and likewise all the vessels of the house of the woodde of Libanon, banon, were of pure golde. And for syluer, it was nothyng worth in the dayes of Salomon. For the kinges nauyge of shippes went on the sea vnto Tharsis with the nauie of Hiram shippes: euen once in the yere went the nauie to Tharsis, & brought golde and syluer, Elephanes teethe, apes, and Decockes. . And so kinge

2 Par. 9. f. Salomon extended all the kinges of the earthe bothe in ryches and wisdom. And all the worlde resorted vnto Salomon, to heare his wisdom, whiche God had putte in his heart. And brought him euery man his present, vessels of syluer, and vessels of golde, raiment, harness, and sweete odours, and horses, and Mules, yere by yere. And Salomon gathered together charrettes and horsemen: and he had a thousande and .iiii. hundred charrettes, and twelue thousande horsemen, whome he bestowed in the charrette cities, and with the king at Ierusalem. . And the king made syluer in Ierusalem, as plenteous as stones, and Cedar as plenteous as the wyde pygge trees, that growe abundantly in the fields. The buying of horses also oute of Egypt: and the collection of the warres, vnder the kinges marchantes take agayne, and solde the stuffe for a price. A charrette came vnder out of Egypt for .vi. hundred siclos of syluer: that is one horse for an hundred and fiftye. And euen so for all the kynges of the heathenes, and for the kynges of Siria: vnder theye buyng them out, thowse theye handes.

The .xi. Chapter.

3 Ke. 3. a. BUt King Salomon loued many outlandishe women: and the daughter of Pharaon: and women of the Moabites Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonites, and Hetites. Where as yet (concernyng these nations) the Lord said vnto the children of Israel: . Come not ye at them, nor let them come at you: Els wyll they turne your hereticks after theye goddes. Nevertheless Salomon claued vnto theym in loue.

El. 34. b

. And he had seven hundred Aunettes and thye hundred concubines, and his wyues turned away his hearte. For it came to passe, when Salomon was olde, his wyues turned his heart after other Gods: and his hearte was not perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of Dauid his father. For Salomon folowed Baaloth the God of the Zidonis, and Milcom, the abomination of the Ammonites. And Salomon wrought wychebnes in the sight of the Lord, and folowed not the Lord perfectly, as vnder Dauid his father. For then bid Salomon build an hye place for Chamus, the abomination of Moab, in the hill that is before Ierusalem, and vnto Moloch, the abomination of the children of Ammon. And yftherwise vnder he for all his outlandishe wyues, which burnt incence, and offered vnder to their gods. And the Lord was angry with Salomon, because his heart was turned from the Lord God of Israel, which had appered vnto him in temple, and gave him a charge (concernyng this thing) that he should not folow other gods. But he kepte not that, whiche the Lord commaunded him, wherfore the Lord sayde vnto Salomon: for as muche as this is done of thee, and thou haste not kepte myne appoyntment, and my statutes whiche I commaunded thee: I will rend the kingdom from thee, and will geue it to thy seruant. Notwithstanding in thy dayes I will not doo it, because of Dauid thy father, but will take it from the hande of thy sonne. Howe be it, I will not take away all the kingdom: but will geue one tribbe to thy sonne, because of Dauid my seruant, and because of Ierusalem, whiche I haue chosen. And the Lord sware by an aduerlarie vnto Salomon: that one Hadad an Edomite, of the kynges frende, whiche was in Edom. For when Dauid was in Edom, & hee the captayne of the hoste was gone, hee smote all the marchildren in Edome, for his monethen dyde. And phet came to the citie to lamente, and to burie him. And he layde his body in his owne graue, and they lamented ouer him. (Was my brother.) And when he had buried him, he spake to his sonnes saying. When I am dead, see that ye burie me in the sepulchre whererin the man of God is buried: lay my bones beside his bones. For the sayinge whiche he cryed as the wynde of the Lord against the altar in Bethel (and against all the houses of hill altars whiche are in the citie of Samarie) shall come to passe. Howbeit, for all that, Jeroboam conuerted not from his wicked waye: but turned backe, and made of the lowest of the people Priestes of the hyl altars. And who so pleased him, he filled his hande, and became Priest of the hyl altars. And this thinge turned to synne vnto the house of Jeroboam, euen to destruction: and to bringe him to haught from of the face of the earth.

The xliij. Chapter.

At that time Abia the sonne of Jeroboam fell sicke. And Jeroboam sayde vnto his wyfe: bp (I praye thee) and disguise thy selfe, that thou be not knowne to be the wyfe of Jeroboam, and gette thee to Silo. For there is Abia the prophet which told me: that I should be kinge ouer this people. And take with thee ten loaves, and craknelles, and a cruse of honey, and go to hym that he maye tell thee what shall become of the chyld. And Jeroboams wyfe did so: and arose, and wente to Silo, and came to the house of Abia. But Abia coulde not see, for his eyes were waxen dymme for age. And the Lord sayde vnto Abia: Beholde, the wyfe of Jeroboam cometh, to aske a thinge of thee for her sonne, for he is sicke. But thus shalt thou saye vnto her. And when she came in, she sayned her selfe to be another woman. But when Abia heard the sounde of her feet as she came in at the doore, he sayd:

Come in thou wyfe of Jeroboam, why saynest thou thy selfe to be another? I am sente to thee to shewe thee heauy things. So tell Jeroboam, thus sayth the Lord God of Israel. (It repenteth me) forasmuche as I exalted thee from amonge the people, and made thee prince ouer my people Israel, I dyd rente the kingdome away from the house of Dauid and gaue it thee: neuertheless, thou hast not bene as my seruante Dauid, whiche kepte my commandementes, and folowed me with all his herte, to do that whiche is ryghte in mine eyes: but hast done euill, aboute all that were before thee: for thou hast gone, and made thee other goddes, and molten ymages, to prouoche mee, and haste caste mee behynde thy backe: therefore beholde, I will bynge euill vpon the house of Jeroboam, and will roote out from Jeroboam, euen hym that ysseth agaynst the wall, and hym that is in pryson, and forsaken in Israel, and will take awaye the remnaunte of the house of Jeroboam, as a man taketh awaye donge, till he hath caryed out all. Whosoever (of Jeroboams house) dye in the towne, hym shall the dogges eate: and he that dyeth in the ficke, shall the fowles of the ayre eate: for the Lord hath sayde it. Wp therefore and get thee to thynne owne house. Behold, when thy foote entreteth into the citie, the chyld shall dye. And all they of Israel shall mourne for hym, and burie hym: For he onely of Jeroboam shall come to the sepulchre, because in hym there is founde goodnesse towards the Lord God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam. Whosoever, the Lord shall reere hym vpon kinge ouer Israel, whiche shall destroye the house of Jeroboam in that day. But what is it now? For the Lord shall smyte Israel, as when a rede is shaken in the water, and he shall scathe Israel out of thys good land (which he gaue to their fathers) and shall scatter them beyonde the ryuer, because they haue made them groues, and angred the Lord.

And

Jeroboam

iii. Kinges.

Rehoboam

And he shall gene Israell by, because of the finnes of Jeroboam, which did sinne, and made Israell to sinne. And Jeroboams wife arose, and departed, and came to Thirzah, and when shee came to the threshold of the dooze, the childe was deade. And all Israell buried him, and lamented him, according to the worde of the Lord, whiche he spake by the hand of his servant Ahia the prophet. And the rest of the wordes that concerne Jeroboam, howe he warred, and howe he reigned: Behold, they are written in the booke of the chronicles of the kings of Israel. And the days which Jeroboam reigned, were. xxiij. yere. And whē he was layed a slepe with his fathers, Nadab his sonne reigned in his stead. Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon reigned in Juda, and Rehoboam was. xli. yere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned. xviij. yere in Jerusalem (the citie which the Lord did choose out of all the Tribes of Israel, to putte his name there.) His mothers name was Maama an Ammonite. And Juda wrought wickednesse in the sighte of the Lord, and angered him in many things then their fathers did, in theyr sinnes, whiche they sinned. For they also made them hill aultars, ymages & Idol groues on euery hie hil, and vnder euery thicke tree. And there was a steeves of male childzen in the land, and they did according to all the abominations of the nations, whiche the Lord caste out before the childzen of Israel. And it fortunēd, that in the fiftē yere of King Rehoboam, Sishak kinge of Egypte came by agaynst Jerusalem, and tooke away the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kinges house, and spoiled all that was to be had. And he toke away the sheldes of gold which Salomon hadde made. In whose steede King Rehoboam made brassen sheldes, and committed them into the handes of the keepings of the captaynes of the garde, whiche waited at the dooze of the kinges house. And when the king went into the house of the Lord, they

of the garde bare theim, and broughte them againe into the Garde chamber. The rest of the wordes that concerne Rehoboam, and all that hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kinges of Juda? And there was warre betwene Rehoboam and Jeroboam all their liues. And Rehoboam slepte with his fathers, and was buried beside his fathers in the Citie of Dauid. His mothers name was Maama an Ammonite. And Ahiam his sonne reigned in his steede.

The. xv. Chapter.

In the. xviij. yere of Kinge Rehoboam, the son of Nadab, reigned Ahiam ouer Juda. Thye yere reigned he in Jerusalem, and his mothers name was Maacha, the daughter of Abisalom. And hee walched in all the finnes of his father, whiche he had done before him, and his heart was not perfecte with the Lord his God. as the heart of Dauid his father. Nevertheless for Dauids sake did the Lord his god geue him a lighte in Jerusalem, that he sette by his sonne after him, and to stablish the Jerusalem: because Dauid did that whiche was righte in the sighte of the Lord, and turned from nothing that he commaunded him all the dayes of his life. save only in the matter of Urias the Hethite. And there was warre betwene Ahiam and Jeroboam as long as they liued. The rest of the wordes that concerne Ahiam, and all that hee dyd, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kinges of Juda? And there was warre betwene Ahiam and Jeroboam. And Ahiam slepte with his fathers, and they buried him in the Citie of Dauid. And Ahia his sonne reigned in his steede. In the twente yere of Jeroboam kinge of Israel, reigned Asa ouer Juda, one and forty yere reigned he in Jerusalem, and his mothers name was the receuer of the tribute. And al they other set he in Dan. And this thinge of Israell stoned him to death. But king Rehoboam made speede to get him (because of the one) as farre as Dan. And he made an house of hill altars, by to his charet, and to flee to Ierusalem. And they of Israell rebelled against the house of Dauid, vnto this day. And when all Israell hearde that Jeroboam was come agayn, they sent and called him vnto the multitude, and made him kinge ouer all Israell: and there was no tribe that followed the house of Dauid, but Iuda onelye. And when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem, he gathered all the house of Iuda, with the tribe of Ben Iamin an hundred and foure scoze thousand of cholen men (which were good warriors) to fight against the house of Israell, and to bringe the kingdome agayne to Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon. And the worde of God came vnto Semaias the man of God sayinge: speake vnto Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon Kinge of Iuda, and vnto all the house of Iuda and Ben Iamin, and to the remnaunte of the people, sayinge: Thus sayeth the Lord: Ye shall not go vyppre, nor yett fygge agaynst your brethren, the children of Israell, returne euery man to his house, for this thinge is my doinge. They harluned therfore vnto the worde of the Lord, and returned to departe accordinge to the worde of the Lord. Then Jeroboam builde Sichem in mount Ephraim, and dwelte therein. And went from thence, and builde Penueil, And Jeroboam thoughte in his hert: nowe shall the kingdome returne to the house of Dauid. For yf this people go vyppre, and do sacrifice in the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, then shall the hert of this people turne agayne vnto their Lord Rehoboam kinge of Iuda: and so shall they kill me, and go agayne to Rehoboam kinge of Iuda. Wherupon the kinge tooke counceyl, and made two calues of gold, and sayde vnto them. It is muche for you to go vyppre to Ierusalem. Beholde O Israell: these are the gods, whiche brought you out of the land of Egypt. And he set the one in Bethel, and the other set he in Dan. And this thinge turned to sinne, for the people wente (because of the one) as farre as Dan. And he made an house of hill altars, and made Priestes of the lowest of the people, whiche were not of the sonnes of Levi. And Jeroboam made a feast the .xv. daye of the eyght moneth, lyke vnto the feast that is in Iuda, and offered on the altar. And so did he in Bethel, to offer vnto the calues that he had made. And he put in Bethel the Priestes of the hill altars, which he had made. And he offered burnt offerings vyppon the altar, which he had made in Bethel, the fiftenth day of the eyght moneth, euen in the moneth which he had imagined of his owne heart: and made a solempne feast vnto the children of Israell, and offered vpon the altar, and burnt incense.

3. 17. 18

The .xix. Chapter.

And beholde, there came a man of God oute of Iuda (by the worde of the Lord) vnto Bethel, and Jeroboam stode by the altar to putte incense. And he cryed agaynst the altar in the worde of the Lord and sayd: O altar, altar, thus sayth the Lord: Behold a child shall be bozne vnto the house of Dauid, (Ioseph by name) and vyppon thee shall he offer the .xx. stes of the hill altars, that burnt incense vpon thee, and mennes bones shall be burnt vpon thee. And he geue a token the same tyme, sayinge: This is the token, that the Lord hath spoken it: Behold, the altar shall rent and the ashes that are vpon it, shall fall out. And when the kinge hearde the saying of the man of God (which had cryed agaynst the altar in Bethel) he cretched oute his hande from the altar, sayinge: holde him. And his hande whiche he put forth agaynst him, dyed by, and he couide not pull it in agayne to him: the altar also claued aunder, and the ashes fell oute from the altar, accordinge to the token, whiche the man of God hadde:

genen by the worde of the Lord. And the kinge answered, and sayde vnto Eph. 8b the man of God. • Oh praye vnto the Mat. 3. c for me, that my hande may be restored me agayne. And the man of God besought the Lord, and the kinges hand was restored agayne, and became as it was afore. And the kinge sayde vnto the man of God: Come home with me, that thou mayest dyne, and I will geue thee a rewarde. And the man of God sayde vnto the Kinge: If thou wouldest geue me halfe thine house, I will not go in with thee, neyther will I eate breade or drinke water C in this place. For so was it charged me, through the worde of the Lord, saying: eate no breade nor drinke water, nor turne againe by the same way that thou camest. And so he wente another way, and returned not by the waye that he came to Bethell. And there dwelte an olde prophete in Bethell, and his sonnes came, and tolde him all the woordes, that the man of God had done that daie in Bethell, and the wordes whiche he had spoken vnto the king, tolde they their father also. And their father sayd vnto them: What way went he? And his sonnes shewed him what waye the man of God wente, whiche came from Jada. And he sayde vnto his sonnes: Saddle me the asse. which when they had saddled, he gat him by thereon, and went after the man of God, and found him sittinge vader a tree. And hee sayde vnto him: Wite thou the man of God that camest from Juda? And he D sayde: I am. He sayde vnto him: come home with me, and eate bread. He answered: I may not returne with thee, to goo in with thee, neyther will I eate bread, or drinke water with thee in this place. For it was sayde to me in the worde of the Lord: Thou shalt eate no bread, nor drinke water here, nor turne agayne to goo by the waye that thou camest. He sayde vnto him: I am a prophete also as well as thou, and an Angell spake vnto me in the name of the Lord, sayinge: Bring him again with thee into thine house, that he maye eate breade, and drinke water. And he lpyd vnto him. And so he wente agayne with him, and did eate bread in his house, and drinke water. And it fortuned, that as they e satte at the table, the woorde of the Lord came vnto the prophete, that brought him agayne. And hee cryed vnto the man of God that came from Juda, saying: E has sayth the Lord: Because thou hast disobeyed the mouthe of the Lord, and hast not kepte the commandements whiche the Lord thy God commaunded thee: but camest backe agayne, and hadst eaten breade, and droncke water, in the place (concerninge the whiche the Lord did saye vnto thee: Thou shalt eate no breade, nor drinke no water) thy carkasse shall not come vnto the sepulchre of thy fathers. And soe it came to passe, that when he had eaten breade and dronke, the prophete which broughte him agayne, saddled him an Asse. And when he was gone, • a Lyon mette him by the waye, and slayd him, and his carkasse was caste in f the waye, and the Asse stood thereby, and the Lion stood by the carke also. And men that passed by, sawe the carkasse caste in the waye, and the Lion standinge thereby: and they came and tolde it in the towne, where the olde prophete dwelte. And when the pro-phete that brought him backe againe from the waye, heard thereof, he sayde: It is the man of God: He was disobedient vnto the worde of the Lord, and therfore the Lord hath deliuered him vnto the Lion, which hath rent him, and slayne him, accordeinge to the woorde of the Lord, whiche he spake vnto him. And he spake to his sonnes, saying: Saddle me an asse: and so they did. And he wente and founde his bodye caste in the waye, and the Asse and the Lion stood by the carke.

 And the Lion had not eaten the carkasse, nor harte the asse. And the pro-phete tooke by the body of the man of God, and layed it vppon the Asse, and broughte it agayne: and the olde prowas Maacha, the daughter of Absalom. And Asa did that seemed right in the eyes of the Lord, as did David his father. And he took away the whose keepers out of the land, and put away all the abominable Idols that his father had made. And he put downe Maacha his mother, from bearinge rule, because she had made images in grooves. And Asa destroyed her Images, and burnt them by the brooke Cedron. But the hill altares were not put downe. Nevertheless Asas heart was perfecte with the Lord all his dayes. He brought in the holpe vessels of his father, (and that he had dedicate) vnto the house of the Lord: golde and siluer, and Jewelles. And there was warre betwene Asa, and Baasa kinge of Israel all their dayes. And Baasa kinge of Israel went by against Iuda, and built Ramoth, so that he would let none go out of it, to Asa king of Iuda. Then Asa took all the siluer and golde, that was left in the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the Treasures of the kings house, and deliuered them vnto the handes of his seruantes, and Asa sent them to Benhadad the son of Tabrimon, the sonne of Hezion kinge of Siria, (that dwelt at Damascus), sayinge: there is a bonde betwene me and thee, betwene my father and thy father. And beholde, I haue sent vnto thee a present of siluer and golde, that thou come and breake the bond that thou hast with Baasa king of Israel, that he maye departe from me. So Benhadad harkened vnto king Asa, and sent the captaines of the hostes (which he had) against the cities of Israel, and smote Hion, and Dan, and Abel, Beth Maachah, and all the Region of Ceneroth, with all the lande of Naphtali. And when Baasa heard thereof, he left building of Ramoth, and dwelt in Tirza. The king Asa made a proclamation throughout all Iuda, that none should be circumcised. And so they took the Stones of Ramoth, and the timber (wherewith Benhadad had builded) and king Asa builded with them the hill of Ben Hadad at Tirza. The remnant of all the wordes that concerne Asa, and all his might, and all that he did, and the cities which he builded, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iuda? Nevertheless in his olde age, he was diseased in his secte. And Asa slepte with his fathers, and was buried besyde his fathers in the cite of David his father. And Jehosaphat his Sonne reigned in his steade. And Nadab the sonne of Jeroboam began to reigne vpon Israel, the seconde yeare of Asa king of Iuda, and reigned vpon Israel two yere. And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, walking in the way of his father, and in his sinne, wherewith he made Israel sinne. And Baasa the sonne of Ahia (which was of the house of Isachar) conspired against him, and Baasa smote him at Gibbethon, which is a city of the Philistines: for Nadab and all Israel laide siege to Gibbethon. Euen in the third yere of Asa king of Iuda, did Baasa slaye him, and reigned in his steade. And it fortuned that when he was kinge, he smote all the house of Jeroboam, & left him naught that breathed, vntill he had put him cleane out, according vnto the sayinge of the Lord, which he spake by his seruant Ahia the Shilonite: because of the sinnes of Jeroboam, wherewith he sinned, and made Israel sinne, when he with his pronocation angered the Lord God of Israel. The rest of the wordes that concerne Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? And there was warre betwene Asa and Baasa, king of Israel, all their dayes. So in the thirde yere of Asa kinge of Iuda, began Baasa the sonne of Ahia to reigne ouer all Israel in Tirza. xlii. yere. And he did that which is euill in the sight of the Lord, walking in the waye of Jeroboam, and in his sinne, whiche made Israel to sinne.

Then the worde of the Lorde came to Iehu the sonne of Hanani agaynst Baasa, saying: sozaimuche as I exalted thee oute of the duste, and made thee captayne ouer my people Israell, and thou hast walked in the way of Jeroboam, and haste made my people Israell to sinne, to anger me with their syns: Behold, I wil roote out the posteritie of Baasa, and the posteritie of his house, & will make his house like the house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat. • That man of Baasa which dyeth in the cutte, hym shall the dogges eat: and that man of him which dyeth in the fieldes, shall the fowles of the ayre cate. The rest of the wordes that concerne Baasa, and what hee did, and his powe, are they not written in the booke of chronicles of the kinges of Israell? And so Baasa slept with his fathers, and was buryed in Chirza. And Ela his sonne reygned in his steade. And by the hande of the prophet Iehu the sonne of Hanani, came the worde of the Lorde agaynst Baasa, and agaynst his house, and agaynst all the wickednesse that he dyd in the sighte of the Lorde (in angeringe him with the worke of his owne handes) that he shoulde be like the house of Jeroboam, and because he kyled him, (that is to saye Iehu the sonne of Hanani the Prophete.) The .xxvi. yere of Asa kinge of Iuda, beganne Ela the sonne of Baasa to reygne ouer Israell in Chirza, two yere. And his seruante Zimri (whiche was captaine of halfe his charettes conspired agaynst him, as he was in Chirza drynking: and was dronken in the house of Arza steward of his house in Chirza. And Zimri came and smote him, and killed him in the .xxvii. yere of Asa king of Iuda, and reygned in his steade. And it fortuned that whē he was king, and sat on his seate, he sate all the house of Baasa, not leauing thereof, one to pylle agaynst the wall: Yea, he sate his kynskolkes and frendes also. And thus did Zimri destroy all the house of Baasa, accordinge to the worde of the Lorde, whiche he spake agaynst Baasa by the hand of Iehu, the Prophete, for all the synnes of Baasa and synnes of Ela his sonne, which they synned, and made Israell to synne, and angered the Lorde God of Israell with theyr vanities. The rest of the wordes that concerne Ela, and all that he did, are they not written in all the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Israell? In the seven and twenty yere of Asa kinge of Iuda, did Zimri reygne seven dayes in Chirza, and the people was then in the hoozte besieginge Gibbethon, a Citie of the Philistines. And the people in the hoozte hearde one saye: Zimri hath conspired, and slayne the kinge: wherefore, all they of Israell made Amri (the captaine of the host) kinge ouer Israell, that same daye euen in the hoozte. And Amri departed by from Gibbethon, and all Israell with him, and they besieged Chirza. And when Zimri sawe that the Citie muste needes be taken, he went into the palace of the kings house, and bynt him selfe and the kings house with fire, and so dyed, for his sinne whiche he sinned, in doing that which is enill in the sighte of the Lorde, and in walking in the waye of Jeroboam, and in his syns which he did, and in that he made Israell to sin. The rest of the wordes that concerne Zimri & the treason that he wrought, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Israell? Then were the people of Israell deuyded into two partes, for halfe the people folowed Chibni the sonne of Ginath, making him king: and the other halfe folowed Amri. But the people that folowed Amri, penyaled agaynst the people that folowed Chibni the sonne of Ginath. And so Chibni dyed, and Amri reygned. In the .xxxi. yere of Asa kinge of Iuda, began Amri to reygne ouer Israell, .xii. yere. Sixte yere reygned he in Chirza. He bought the hill Schomron of one Schemar for two talents talented of silver, and builde in the hill, and called the name of the Citie whiche he builde, after the name of Schemar, whiche had bene omer of the hill Scharon. But Amri w^oght that whiche is euill in the eyes of the Lord, and did worlfe then all that were before him. For hee walked in all the waye of Zeroboam, the sonne of Nabat, and in his sins, that made Israel sinne, to anger the Lord God of Israel with their vanities. The rest of the wordes that concerne Amri, and all that he did, and his strength that he shewed, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Israel? And so Amri slept with his fathers, and was buried in Schomron, and Ahab his son reygned in his steade. In the thirtie and eght yeare of Asa king of Iuda began Ahab the son of Amri to reygne ouer Israel, and the same Ahab the sonne of Amri reygned ouer Israel in Samaria twenty and two yeare. And Ahab the sonne of Amri did euill in the sight of the Lord, aboue all that were before him. For it seemed vnto him but a lighte thinge to walke in the sinnes of Zeroboam the sonne of Nabat. He tooke Jezabeil also the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Sidonies to wife, and wente to him, and serued Baal, and worshipped him. And he reared vp an altare for Baal in the temple of Baal, whiche he had builded in Schomron. And Ahab made groues, and proceeded further in angering the Lord God of Israel, then all the kinges of Israel that were before him. In his dayes, did Hiel of Bethell build Iericho. And it cost him Thysam his eldest sonne when he laide the foundation, and his pongest sonne Segub, when he set vp the gates, accordinge vnto the worde of the Lord, . which he spake by Iosua the sonne of Nun.

And the Iaco. 5. d worde of the Lord came vnto him, saying: get thee hence, and turne thee eastwarde, and hide thy selfe in the brooke Cherith, that is it that lieth before Iordan: Thou shalt drinke of the riuer, and I haue commaunded the rauen to fede thee there. And so he wente and didde accordinge vnto the worde of the Lord: For he went and dwelt by the brooke Cherith, that is before Iordane. And the rauen brought him bread and fleshe in the morninge, and like wise bread and fleshe in the evening, and he drank of the brooke. And it chaunced after a while, that the brooke dried vp, because there fell no rayne vpon the earth. And the worde of the Lord came vnto him, sayinge: . vp and get thee to Zaphath, whiche is in Sidon, and dwell there. Beholde I haue commaunded a widow there to sustaine thee. So hee arose and went to Zaphath. And when he came to the gate of the Citie, the widow was there gathering stiches. And he called to her, and sayde: . set me I praye thee a little water in a vessell, that I maye drinke. And as she was going to fet it, he cryed after her, and sayde: bring me I praye thee, a morsel of bread also in thine hande. She sayd: As truly as the Lord thy God liueth, I haue no bread readye, but euen an handfull of meale in a barell, and a little oyle in a cruse. And beholde I am gathering of stiches for to go in, and dyelle it for me and my sonne, that we maye eate it, and dye. And Elia saide vnto her, feare not, come and doo as thou hast saide: but make me thereof a litle cake first of all, and bring it vnto me: and afterwarde make for thee & thy sonne. For thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel: the meale in the barell shal not be wasted nether shal the oyle in the cruse be minished, vntill the Lord haue sent rayne vpon the earth. And she went, and did as Elia saide, And hee and shee and her house did eate a good space, and the meale wasted not out of the barreil, neyther was the oyle spent out of the cruise, according to the woꝛde of the Lorde, which he spake by the hande of Elia.

And after these thinges, it happened, that the soon of the wife of the house fell sicke. And his sickenesse was so soꝛe, that there was no breath left in him. And she sayde vnto Elia: what haue I to do with thee. O thou man of God: art thou come vnto me, to cal my sinne agayne to remembrance, and to slaye my sonne? He sayde vnto her: D geue me thy sonne. And he tooke him out of her lappe, and caried him by into a losse, where he abode, and layd him vpon his owne bed, and called vnto the Lord, and sayd: O Lord my God, haste thou punished also this widowe (with whom I dwell as a stranger) and hast slayne her sonne?
4. Re. 4. f. And he stretched him selfe vpon the Acs. 23 c child thre times, and called vnto the Lord, and sayd: O Lord my God, let this childes soule come into him a-gayne. And the Lord heard the voyce of Elia, and the soule of the child cam into him agayne, and he reuiued. And Elia toke the boie, and brought him downe out of the chamber into the house, and deliuered him vnto his mo ther, and Elia sayd: behold, thy sonne liueth. And the woman sayd vnto Elia: now I know that thou art a man of God, and that the woꝛd of the Lord in thy mouth is true.

The .xviii. Chapter.

A fter proccesse of many dayes, the woꝛde of the Lorde came to Elia in the thirde yere, saying: Go thewe thy selfe vnto Ihab, and I will sende rayne vpon the earth. And Elia went to thewe him selfe vnto Ihab, and there was a gret famine in Schomron. And Ihab called Obadia, which was the gouernour of his house: and Obadia feared God gretly: For when Iezabell destroyed the Prophetes of the Lord, he toke an hundred Prophetes and hyd them, fiftie men in one caue, and fiftie in another, and provided bread and water for them. And Ihab sayd vnto Obadia: Go into the land, vnto all fountains of water, and vnto all f brokes, if haply we may find grasse, to save the horses & the mules, and that we destroye not some of the beestes. And so they deuised the land betweene them, to walke through it.

Ihab went one way by him selfe, and Obadia went another waye by him self. And it chaunced that as Obadia was in the waye, Elia met him. And Obadia knewe him, and fell on his face, and sayd: art not thou my Lord Elia? And he answered him: I am he.
Go and tell thy Lord: behold, Elia is here. He sayde: what haue I sinnet, that thou wouldest deliuer thy seruant into the hande of Ihab, to slay me? As truly as the Lord thy God liueth, ther is no nation or kingdom, whither my Lord hath not sente, to seke thee. And when they sayd: he is not there, he toke an oth of the kingdome and nation, when he found ther not. And now thou sayest: go and tel thy Lord, that Elia is here. And as sone as I am gone from thee, f founts of the Lord shall cary thee into some place that I do not knowe, so when I come and tell Ihab, and he can not fynde thee, he shall slaye me. But I thy seruauit feare the Lord from my youth by. Was it not tolde my Lord what I did, when Iezabell slew the prophetes of the Lord, howe I hid an hundred men of the Lordes prophetes, fiftie men in one caue, and fiftie in another, and provided them of bread and water? And now thou sayest: Go thou nowe and thewe thy Lord: Behoide, Elia is here, that he may slay me? And Elia sayd, as truly as the Lord of hostes liueth, before whom I stande, I will thewe my selfe vnto him this day. So Obadia wente to mete Ihab, and tolde him.
And Ihab went to mete Elia. And as fortuned, that when Ihab sawe Elia he sayde vnto him: Art thou betroublers of Isræll? He answered: It is not I that haue troubled Isræll, but they, and the fathers house, in that ye have forsaken the commundement of the Lord, and thou hast forsaken Baal. Nowe therfore sende and gather to me at Israel into mo-Carnell, and the prophetes of Baal four hundred and fifty, and the prophetes of the Idols groues four hundred, which are of Jezabels table.

And Ahab sent unto all the children of Israel, and gathered the prophetes together unto mount Carnell. And Eli came unto all the people, and said: howe longe haie ye betwene two opinions. If the Lord be God, folowe him: but if Baal be he, then go after him: And the people answered him not one word. Then sayde Eli unto the people againe: I wiche remayne a prophet of the Lord: But Baales prophetes are four hundred and fifty.
Let them therfore gethe a two oxen, and let them choole the one, and cutte him in pieces, and laye him on wood, and platte no fire vnder: and I will kisse the other ox, and laye him on wood, and will put no fire vnder.
And call ye on the name of your God, and I will call on the name of the Lord: and then the God that answereth by fyre, let him be God. And all the people answered and sayde: it is well spoken. And Eli sayde vnto the prophetes of Baal: chuse you an ox, and vndre him first (for ye are many) and call on the name of your Goddes, but put no fire vnder. And they tooke the one ox that he did geue them, and they kysed it: and called on the name of Baal from morning to noon, saying: O Baal heare vs. But ther was no voyce: nor one to answer: And they lepte vpon the altare that they had made. And at noone, it fogged that Eli mocked them, and sayde: the lorde sayde is a God: peradventure he is talkinge, or occupied (in followinge vpon his enemyes) or is he as a slouther: or happe ye bee deceyved, and mighte be widdes with your ox. And they toke to them their oxen, and their manner was, that they kysed and vndred, till the blood folowed on them. And it chaun-ced, that when middaye was passed, they prophesied vntill the time of the evening sacrifice. But there was neyther voyce nor one to answer, nor any that regarded them. And Eli sayde vnto all the folke: come to mee.

And all the people came to him. And he repayed the altare of the Lord, that was broken. And Eli tooke twelve stones accordyng to the number of the twelue Tribes of the sons of Jacob (vnto whom the woorde of the Lord came, saying: Israel shall be thy name. And with the stones he made an altare in the name of the Lord: And he made a ditch rounde about the altare, as broad as two sorowes of the corne fiede. And he put the wood in order, and hewed the ox in pieces, and layed him on the wood, and sayde: fill foure barres with water, and powre it on the burnte sacrifice and on the wood. And he saide: do so agayne. And they did so the seconde tyme. And he sayde agayne: do it the thirde tyme. And they did it the thirde tyme. And the water ran round about the altare. And he filled the pit with water also. And it fortuned when the tyme came (wherin the burnte sacrifice of the evening vled to be offered) Eli the prophet came and sayd: Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Jaccob, it shalbe knowne this day, that thou art the God of Israel, and that I am thy seruante, and that I have done all these thinges at thy commaun-dement. Heare me (O Lord) heare me, that this people may knowe, that thou art the Lord God, and that thou hast returned their heart againe now at the last.
And the fire of the Lord fel, and consumed the burnte sacrifice, the wood, the stones and the duff, and licked by the water that was in the pit. And when all the people sawe it, they fell on their faces, & said: The Lord be God. The Lord he is God. And Eli saide vnto them: Take the prophetes of Baal, and sette not one of them escape. And they tooke them, and Eli brought them vnto the brooke Ison, and slue the shee. And Elia said vnto Thab: get thee vp, eate and drinke for there is a sounde of muche rayne.

 And so Thab wente vp to eate, and to drinke, and Elia went vp to the top of Carmell. And he layde him selfe flat vpon the earth, and put his face be-twene his knees, and sayd. to his seruant: go vp (I pray thee) and looke toward the wynde of the sea. And he went vp and looked, and sayde: there is nothing. And he sayd: goo againe. bit-times. And it fortuned, that at the seuenth time he said: beholde, there aris-eth a litle cloude of the Sea, like a mans hande. He sayde: goo, and saye vnto Thab. Make fast thy charer, and get thee downe, that the rayne stoppe tyes not. And it came to passe, that in the meane whyle, the heauen was blacke with cloudes and winde, and there was a great rayne. And Thab gate vp and came to Jezrael. And the hand of the Lord was on Elia, and he gydded vp his loynes, and ran before Thab, till he came to Jezrael.

The. xix. Chapter

AND Thab tolde Jezebell, all that Elia had doone, and howe he had slayn al the Prophetes with the sword. Then Jezebell sent a messenger vnto Elia, saying: soo and so lette the goddes do to me, yf I make not thy soule like one of theirs, by to morowe this time. When he sawe that, he arose and wente for his lyfe, and came to Beersaba in Iuda, & lette his seruant there. But he him selfe wente a dayes iourney into the wilderness, and came and sate vnder a Juniper tree, and desired for his soule, that he might die, and said, it is now ynough (O Lord) take my soule, for I am not better then my fathers.
 And as he lay & slept vnder the Jun-per tree: behold, an angel touched him and sayde vnto him: vp and eate. And when he toke aboute him: beholde, there was a loafe of bryeden breade, and a vessel of water at his heade.
 And he did eate and drinke, and layde him downe agayne to slepe. And the angel of the Lord came againe the seconde time, and touched him, and said: vp, and eate, for thou hast yet a great iourney. And he arose, and hidde eate and drinke, and walked in the strength of that meate. fortye dayes and fortye nightes, euen vnto Mount the mounte of God. When he came thither into a caue, he lodged therein all nighte. And beholde, the woorde of the Lord came to him, and sayde vnto him: what dost thou here Elia?

 And he answered: I haue bene Je-lous for the Lord god of Hostes sake, for the children of Israel haue forsaken thy covenant, & broken downe thy altaires, and slayne thy prophets with the swerde, and I am onely left, and they seeke my life to take it awaye. And he sayde: come out and stande vpon the moun, before the Lord. And beholde. the Lord went by, and a mighty stronge winde that rente the mountaynes, and brake the rockes before the Lord. But the Lord was not in the winde. And after the winde came an earthquake. But the Lord was not in the earthquake.
 And after the earthquake, came fyre: but the Lord was not in the fyre. And after the fyre, came a small still voyce.
 And when Elia heard it, he covered his face with his mantell, and wente out, and stood in the entring in of the caue. And beholde, there came a voyce vnto him, and saide: what dost thou here Elia? And he answered: I haue bene gelous for the Lord God of Hostes sake, because the children of Israel haue forsaken thy covenant, cast downe thine altaires, and slayne thy prophets with the swerde, and I am onely left, and they seeke my life to take it awaye. And the Lord sayde vnto him: go and turne thy waye to the wilderness vnto Damasco, that thou mayest annoynt. Hazael, kinge ouer Siria. And Jehu the sonne of Nimsi, walte thou annoynte kinge ouer Israel. And Elia the sonne of annoynt to be Prophet in thy name.

 And it shal come to passe, that thou shalt escape the sword of Hazael.

shall Iehu slay: and if any scape the sword of Iehu, him shall Elia put to death. And thereto. I have left me seven thousande in Israel, of whiche neuer manne bowed his knees vnto Baal, nor kissed him with his mouth. So he departed thence, and found Elia the sonne of Saphat plowinge, and hauinge twelue yoke of Oxen before him, and he with the twelue. And Elia went by him, and caste his mantell hypon him. And he leste the oxen, and ranne after Elia, and sayde: let me I praye thee, kisse my father and my mother, and then I will followe thee. He saide vnto him: goo backe againe, for what is it, that I haue doone to thee? And when hee wente backe againe, from him, he toke a couple of Oxen, and slew them, and dressed the flesh with the instruments of the Oxen, and gaue vnto the people, and they did eate. And then he arose, and wente after Elia, and minished vnto him.

The .xx. Chapter.

And Benhadad the kinge of Siria gathered all his hoste together, hauing. xxij. kinges with him, and horses and charrettes: and went by and besieged Samaria, and warred agaynst it. And he sente messengers to Ahab kinge of Israel into the Citie, and sayde vnto him: thus saith Benhadad. Thy silver and thy golde is mine, and the sayest of thy wines, and of thy children bee myne. And the kinge of Israel answered and sayde: My lord kinge, accordinge to thy sayinge, I am thine and all that I haue. And when the messengers came agayne, they sayde: thus saith Benhadad. For as muche as I haue sent vnto thee, saying: thou shalt deliuer me thy silver and thy golde, and thy wines, and thy children: I will therfore sende my seruantes vnto thee to mowse this tyne: and they shall serch thine house, and the houses of thy seruantes. And what soeuer is pleasaunt in thine eyes, they shall take it in their handes, and bring it away. Then the kinge of Israel sente for all the elders of the lande, and saide: take heede, I praye you and ser, how this fellowe goeth about mischief. For he sente vnto me for my wines, for my children, for my silver & for my gold: and I denied him not. And all the elders: & all the people said: haue not vnto him, nor consent. Wherfore he saide vnto the messengers of Benhadad: tel my lord the kinge al that thou diddest send for to thy seruant at the first time, that I will do, but this thing I may not do. And the messengers departed, and brought answer agayne. And Benhadad sente vnto him agayne, and sayde: thus and thus do the Gods vnto me, if the dust of Samaria be enough for al the people that solowe me, to take euery man an handful. And the kinge of Israel answered, and sayd: tell him, let not him that putteth on his harness booke him self, as he that putteth it of. And it fortuned, that whā Benhadad hard that thinges, as hee was with the kinges drinking within the pavilions, he saide vnto his seruantes, put on your harness. And they sette their scyues in aray agaynst the Citie. And behold, there came a Prophet vnto Ahab kinge of Israel, saying: thus saith the lord, haste thou selfe al this greet multitude: Beholde, I will deliuer it into thine hand this daye, that thou shalt knowe that I am the lord. And Ahab sayde: By whome? hee sayde: thus saith the lord: Euen by the seruantes of the gouernours of the shoppes. He sayde againe: who shall order the battaile? And hee answered: Thou. Then hee numbred the seruants of the gouernours of the shoppes: and they wer two hundred and. xxxi. And after them also, he numbred all the people, all the children of Israel, euen seven thousand. And they went out at noon: but Benhadad did drinke till he was drunken in the pavilions, both hee and the kinges: euen xxxii. kinges, that holpe him. And the seruantes of the gouernours of the shoppes went out first. And Benhadad

iii. Kings.

sent out, and they shewed him, saying: There are men come out of Samaria. He sayd: whether they be come out for peace, take them alive: or whether they be come out to fight, take them yet alive. And so those young men of the governours of the Syres came out of the cite, and the hooste after them, and they slew every one his enemy that came in his waye. And the Sirians fledde, and they of Israel followed after them. And Benhadad the kinge of Syria feared on a hoyle, with his hopeimans. And the kinge of Israel went out, and slew the horses and charettes, and with a greateslaughter slew he the Sirians. And there came a Prophette to the kinge of Israel, and sayde vnto him: goo forth and play the man, be wyse, and take heede what thou doest: for when the yere is gonne aboute, the kinge of Siria will come vp agaynst thee. And the seruantes of the kinge of Siria sayde vnto him. The Gods of the hillies are their Goddes, and therefore they had the better of vs: but lette vs fighte agaynst them in the plaine, for what ye wil we shal haue the better of them. And this doo: take the kinges away every man oute of his place, and putte Dukes in their rowmes. And do thou number thee an hoost, like the hoost that thou hast loste, suche horses and suche charets, and we will fight agaynst them in the playne, and thou shalt see vs gette the better of them. And he harkened vnto their voyce, and did euen so: and it forturned, that after the yere was gonne aboute, Benhadad numbred the Sirians, and went vp to Cyshek to fight agaynst Israel. And the children of Israel were numbred, and with their whole number wente they agaynst them, and the children of Israel pitched before them, like two little flockes of kiddes: but the Sirians fylled the countrey. And there came a man of God, and sayd vnto the kinge of Israel: thus sayth the Lord: Because the Sirians haue sayde: the Lord is but God of the hillies, and not God of the valeis: therefore will I deliuer this great multitude into thine hand, and ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord. And they pitched one ouer agaynst the other, bit.dales, and it came to passe, that in the seventh daye, the battaile was toynd. And the children of Israel slew of the Sirians an hundred thousande footmen in one daye. But the rest fled to Cyshek into the cite. And there fell a wall vpon xxii. thousande of the men that were left. And Benhadad fledde, and came into the cite, from chamber to chamber. And his seruantes sayde vnto him: Behold, we haue heard say, that the kinges of the house of Israel are mercifull kinges. We will therefore put sacke clothe aboute our loynes, and ropes aboute our neckes, and go out to the kinge of Israel, if happily he will saue thy life. And so they gadded sacke clothe aboute their loynes, and put ropes aboute their heades, and came to the kinge of Israel and sayd: Thy seruant Benhadad saith: I pray thee let me liue. He saide: is he yet aliner he is my brother. And they tooke that woorde for good lucke, and hastely caughte it out of his mouth, and saide: yea, thy brother Benhadad. He said: go, & hange him hither. And Benhadad came out vnto him, and he caused him to come vp into the charet. And he saide vnto him: the cities which my father toke from thy father I will restore agayne. And thou shalt make streates for thee in Damascus, as my father did in Samaria. And I will make an appoyntment with thee, and sende thee awaye. And so he made an appoyntment with him, and sent him awaye. And there was a certaine man of the children of the Prophetes, whiche sayde vnto his neighbour in the woordes of the Lord: smite me, I praye thee. And the man would not smite him: Then said he vnto him: Because thou hast not harkened vnto the voyce of the Lord: beholde as soone as thou arte departed from me, a Lion shall lay thee. And it came to passe, that as soon as he

1. Ki. 13. Elisha departed from him, & a Lyon found him, and slew him. Then he founde another man and sayde: smite me I praye thee. And the man smote him, so that in smiting he wounded him. And the prophet went forth, and smothered his face out of knowledge with ashes, which he layde vpon his face. And when the king came by, he cryed vnto the king, and sayde: thy seruant went out in the middes of the battell. And beholde, there went away a man, whom another man brought vnto me, and sayde: kepe this man. And if he be missed or losse, thy lyfe shall go for his: or else, thou shalt pay a talente of silver. And as thy seruant had here and there to do, he was gone. And the king of Israel said vnto him: curn so shalt thy iudgement be as thou hast desired it thy selfe. And he basted and took the ashes awaye from his face: And the king of Israel knewe him, that he was of the Prophetes. And he sayde vnto him: thus sayth the Lord: because thou hast let go a man that is in my curse, thy lyfe shall goe for his lyfe, and thy people for his people. And the king of Israel went to his house, wayward, and in displeasure, and came to Samaria.

Chapter.

1. Ki. 18. After these thinges, it chanced, that Naboth the Jezrabellite had a vineyarde in Jezrabell heath by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria. And Ahab spake vnto Naboth, saying: Gue me thy vineyard, that I may make me a garden of herbes therof, because it lieth so nye my house: and I will geue thee for it a better vineyard then it is: or rather if it please the, I will geue thee the worth of it in money. And Naboth sayde to Ahab: The Lord forbid that from me, that I should geue the inheritance of my fathers vnto thee. And Ahab came from his house heauy, and enuill spake, because of the words which Naboth the Jezrabellite had spoken to him, for he had said: I will not geue thee the inheritance of my fathers. And he

layd him downe vpon his bed, and turned away his face (to the wall) and would eate no bread. But Jezabell his wyfe came to him, and sayde vnto him: why is thy spirite so wayward, that thou eatest no bread? And he said vnto her: For I spake vnto Naboth the Jezrabellite, and said vnto him: Gue me thy vineyard for money: or els if it please thee, I will geue thee another vineyard for it. And he answered: I will not geue thee my vineyarde. And Jezabell his wyfe sayde vnto him: Doeest thou thus governe the kingdome of Israel: by and eate bread, and setthing hearte at restle, I will geue thee, the vineyard of Naboth the Jezrabellite. And so she wrote a letter in Ahab name, and sealed it with his seale, and sente the letter vnto the elders, and to the nobles that were in his cite dwelling with Naboth. And she wrote in the letter, saying: proclaim a faste, and let Naboth on hye amonge the people, and set twoe charytistes before him, to beare (false) witnesse agaynst him, saying: thou diddest blaspheme God, and the king. And then carry him out, and stone him to death. And the men of the cite, that is to say, which dwelt in his cite, did as Jezabel had sent vnto them, and as it was written in the letter, which she had sent vnto them. They proclaimed fasting, and set Naboth amonge the chief of the people, and there came in two men (the chyliden of Belial) and sate before him. And the two charytiste persones witnessed agaynst Naboth, in the presence of the people saying: Naboth did blaspheme God & the king. And they carryed him out of the cite, & stoned him with stones that he dyed. And then they sente to Jezabel, saying: Naboth is stoned to deathe. And it fortuneth, when Jezabell hearde that Naboth was stoned to deathe: She sayde to Ahab: Up, and take possession of the vineyarde of Naboth the Jezrabellite, which he denyed to geue thee for money, for Naboth is not alyue, but deade. And when Thab hearde that Naboth was dead, he rode vp to goe downe to the vineyarde of Naboth the Jezraelite, and to take possession of it. And the worde of the Lord came vnto Elia the Chesbyste, saying: vp and go downe to mete Thab kinge of Israel, whiche is in Samaria. For so, he is gone downe to the vineyarde of Naboth: to take possession of it.

And therefore shalte thou saye vnto him, thus sayeth the Lord: hast thou killed, and gotten possession? And thou shalte speake vnto him, saying: thus sayeth the Lord, in the place where dogges licked the bloud of Naboth, shall dogges lick euen thy bloud also. And Thab sayde vnto Elia: haste thou found me, O thou mine enemye. He answered: I haue found thee, for thou arte euen solde to worke wickednesse in the sight of the Lord. Beholde, I will bringe euill vpon thee, and will make cleane riddance of thy posterite, and will destroye from Thab, euen him that maketh water against the wall, and him that is shure vp, and leste behinde in Israel: and will make thine house, like the house of Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat, and like the house of Baasa the sonne of Ahia, for the prouocation, wherewith thou haste prouoked and made

Israel to syn. And of Jezabell spake the Lord, saying: dogges shall eate Jezabell in the possession of Jezrael. And he that dyeth of Thab in the towne, him shall dogges eate: and he that dieth in the fieldes, him shall the foules of the ayre eate. But there was none like Thab which did euen sell him selfe to worke wickednes in the sight of the Lord, and that because Jezabell his wife pricked him forward. He did exccrading abhominably in followinge foule Idolles, according to all thinges, as did the Amosites, whom the Lord caste out before the chyldren of Israel. And it fortuneth, that when Thab heard those wordes, he rent his clothes, and put sackcloth about his fleshe, and fasted and laye in sackcloth, and went bare fore. And the worde of the Lord came to Elia the Chesbyste, saying: hast thou howe Thab humbled him selfe before mee? because hee submitted him selfe before me, I will not bring that euill in his daies: but in his sonnes dayes will I bring that euill vpon his house. And they continued thys yere without warre betwene Elia and Israel.

AD. in the thirde yere did Jehosaphat the kinge of Iuda, come downe to the kinge of Israel. And the kinge of Israel sayde vnto his seruantes, knowe ye not that Ramoth in Gilead is ours? and we sit still, and take it not out of the hande of the kinge of Siria. And he sayde vnto Jehosaphat: wilt thou come with me to battaile against Ramoth in Gilead? And Jehosaphat sayde vnto the kinge of Israel: I wil be as thou art, and my people shal be as thyne, and my horses as thyne. And Jehosaphat said vnto the kinge of Israel: aske counsell I praye thee at the worde of the Lord to daye. And then the kinge of Israel gathered the prophetes together vpon a four hundred men, and sayde vnto theym: shall I go agaynst Ramoth in Gilead to battaile, or shall I lette it alone? And they said, go vp: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the handes of the king. And Jehosaphat sayde: is there here neuer a prophet of the Lord more, that we mighte enquire of him? And the kinge of Israel sayde vnto Jehosaphat, there is yet one manne (Michon the sonne of Iimla,) by whome wee maye aske counsaile of the Lord: but I hate him: for he doth not prophesie good vnto me, but euill. And Jehosaphat sayde: let not the kinge say so. Then the kinge of Israel called a chamberlayne and sayde: sette Michon the soon of Iimla hither anon. And the kinge of Israel & Jehosaphat the kinge of Iuda sat either in his chariot and their apparell on them in a chariot place beside the entering into þe gate of Samaria, and all the prophetes prophesied before them. And Zedekia the sonne of Canaana made hornes of iron, and said: Thus saith the Lord: With these hornes shalt thou smite the Syrians, vntill thou haue made an ende of them. And all the prophetes prophesied euen so, saying: Go vp to Ramoth in Gilead, and prosper, for the Lord shall deliuer it into the kings hands. And the messenger that was gone to call Micha, spake vnto him, saying: Beholde the woozdes of the prophetes speake good vnto the kinge with one mouth: let thy worde therefore (I praye thee) be like the woozde of euery one of them, to speake that which is good. And Micha said: as truly as the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer the Lord saith vnto me: that will I speake. And so he came to the kinge, and the king said vnto him: Micha, ought we to go agaynste Ramoth in Gilead to battayle, as to be still? he answered to him. Go and prosper, the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the kinge. And the king sayde vnto him: So and so manye times doo I charge thee, that thou tell me nothing, but that which is true, in the name of the Lord. He saide: I saw al them of Israel scattered vpon the hilles, as sheepe that haue not a shepheard. And the Lord sayde: These haue no master; let euery man retourne to his house in peace. And the kinge of Israel sayde vnto Jehosaphat: did I not tell thee, that he woulde prophesye no good vnto me, but euill? And he sayde agayne: Heare thou therefore the woozde of the Lord. I sawe the Lord set on his seate, and all the hoste of heauen stood aboute him on his ryght hand, and on his lefte. And the Lord sayde: Whi shall perswade Ahab, that he maye go and fall at Ramoth in Gilead, and one saide in this manner, and another on that. And there came forth a certayne spirite, and stood before the Lord, and sayde: I will perswade him. And the Lord sayde vnto him: Wherewith? And he sayde:

I will go out, and be a false spirite in the mouth of all his prophetes. He sayde: thou shalt perswade him, and preuaile, go forth then, and doo euen so. Howe therfore behold, the Lord hath put a lyinge spirite in the mouth of all these thy prophetes, and the Lord hath spoken euill towarde thee. But Zedekia the sonne of Canaana went in and smote Micha on the cheke, and said: When went the spirit of the Lord fro me, to speake vnto thee? And Micha said: behold, thou shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go from chamber to chamber to hyde thee. And the king of Israel sayde: take Micha and carry him vnto Imon the gouernoure of the cite, and vnto Joab the kinges sonne, and sape: thus saith the kinge. But this felowe in the prison house, and fede him with bread of affliction, and with water of trouble, vntill I retourne in peace. And Micha sayde: If thou retourne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And he sayde: Hearken ye people euery one of you. And so the king of Israel and Jehosaphat the kinge of Iuda wente vp to Ramoth in Gilead. And the kinge of Israel sayde to Jehosaphat: chaunge thee, whi thou goest to war, and put on thine apparell. And the kinge of Israel chaunged him selfe, and wente to battell. But the kinge of Siria commaunded the two and thirtie captaynes (that had rule ouer his charettes) sayinge: fight neyther with small nor greute, save onelye agaynste the kinge of Israel. And when the captaynes of the charettes sawe Jehosaphat, they sayd: Surely it is the kinge of Israel, and they turned to fight agaynste him. And Jehosaphat cried. And so it came to passe that when the captaynes of the charettes sawe that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe fro him. And a certayne man drew a bowe ignorantly, and (by chaunce) smote the king of Israel betwene the ribbes and his harnes. Wherfore he said vnto the dyuer of his charets: turne thy hande, and carpe me out of the holte, for I am (saye) hurt. And the battell increased that day, and the king stood still in his charret agaynst the Syrians, and dyed at even. And the bloude ranne oute of the wounde into the middes of the charret. And there went a proclamation through out the holte aboute the going downe of the sunne saying. Every manne to his Citie, and to his owne countrey. And so the Kinge of Israel dyed, and they came to Samaria, and buried him there. And one washed the charret in the poole of Samaria, and the dogges licked up his bloud (and harlots washed by the poole syde,) according vnto the woorde of the Lord, which he spake. The rest of the wordes that concerne Ahab, and all that he did, and the Troozie house which he made, and al the cities that he builded, are they not writtten in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kinges of Israel? And so Ahab slepte with his fathers; and Ahazias his sonne reygned in his steede.

Jeholaphat the sonne of Isa beganne to reygne vpon Iuda, in the fourth yeare of Ahab kinge of Israel, and Jeholaphat was. xxb. yeare olde, when he beganne to reygne, and reygned. xxb. yeare in Ierusalem. His mothers name was Zibba, the daughter of Shimi. And he walked in all the wayes of Isa his father, and bowed not therfrom: but did that which was right in the eyes of the Lord. Nevertheless, the hill altars were not taken out of the way, for the people offered and burnt incense yet in the hill altars. And Je-holaphat made peace with the kinge of Israel. The rest of the wordes that concerne Jeholaphat, and the myghte that he bled, and howe he warred, are they not writtten in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Iuda. And the remnant of the keres of the males, which remained in the dayes of his father, he putte cleane oute of the lande. Then was then no kinge made in Edom. And Jeholaphat made tenne shippes in the sea, to come out through Tharsis to Ophir for golde, but they went not, for the shippes brake at Oyon Gaber. Then sayd Ahazias, the sonne of Ahab vnto Jeholaphat: Lett my seruantes go with thy seruantes in the ships. But Jeholaphat would not. And Jeholaphat did sleepe with his fathers, and was buried with his father, in the Citie of Dauid his father. And Jehoaz his sonne reygned in his steade. Ahazias the sonne of Ahab, beganne to reygne ouer Israel in Samaria, the tenententh yeare of Jeholaphat kinge of Iuda, & reigned two yeares ouer Israel. But he did euill in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the way of his father; and in the waye of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebath, which made Israel to sinne.

AND AHAZ did wis-kedlye against Israell after the death of Ihab. And Iha-zia fel through a lat-tes windowe of his upper chamber that he had in Samaria. And while he was in his sicknesse, he sent messengers and sayd vnto them: Go and enquire of Beelzebub the God of Ekron whether I shall recouer of this my disease. But the Iungell of the Lorde spake vnto Elia the Thel bite: Arise, and go vp agaynst the messengers of the kinge of Samaria, and say vnto them: Is there not a God in Israell, that ye go to aske counsell at Beelzebub the god of Ekron? wherfore, thus sayth the Lorde: thou shalt not come downe from the bed on which thou art gone vp, but shalt dye the death. And Elia departed. And when the messengers turned bakke agayne vnto him, he sayde vnto them: Why are ye now come agayne? They answered him: there came a man by a-gaynst vs, and sayde vnto vs: go and turne agayne vnto the king that sent you, and say vnto him: Thus saith the Lorde: Is there not a God in Israell, that thou sendest to enquire of Beelzebub the God of Ekron? Therefore thou shalt not come downe from the bed, on which thou art gone vp, but shalt dye the death. And he sayde vnto them: what manner of man was that which came by in your way, and tolde you these wordes? And they answered him: it was an heape man, and girted with a girdle of leather aboute his loynes. And he sayde: it is Elia the Thel bite. Then the kinge sente vnto him a captaine ouer fiftie, with his fiftie men) which cam to him, and behold, he sate on the toppe of an hill.

And he spake vnto him: Thou man of God, the kinge hath sayde: come downe. Elia answered and sayde to the captaine ouer the fiftie: If I be a man of God, fire come downe from heauen, and consume thee and thy fisty. And there came fire of God, and consumed him and his fiftie. And the king went agayne, and sent him another captaine ouer fiftie with his fis-tie. And he answered and sayde vnto him: A man of God, thus hath the king sayd: make hast, and come downe.
Elia answered and sayde vnto them: if I be a man of God, fire come downe from heauen, and consume thee and thy fiftie. And there came fire of God downe from heauen, and consumed him and his fiftie. And the king went agayne, and sente the thirde captaine ouer fiftie with his fiftie men. And the thirde captaine ouer fiftie went by and camme and fell on his knees be-foze Elia, and besought him, and saide vnto him: A man of God, let my lyfe and the lyfe of the fiftie thy seruantes be precious in thy sight. Behold, D there came fire downe from heauen, and burnt by the two foze captaynes ouer fiftie with their fifties: therfore let my life nowe be precious in thy syght. And the Iungell of the Lorde sayd vnto Elia: go downe with him, and be not afrayde of him. And he aroose and went downe with him vnto the king: And he sayde vnto him, thus sayth the Lorde: for as muche as thou hast sent me messengers to aske counsell at Beelzebub the God of Ekron, as though there had bene no God in Israell, whose woorde thou mightest seeke after: therefore thou shalt not come downe of the bed, on which thou art gone vp, but shalt dye the death.
And so he dyed according to the woorde of the Lorde, which Elia had spoken.
And Jehoram (his brother) beganne to reygne in his steade, in the seconde yere of Jehoram the sonne of Jehosaphat kinge of Iuda, because he had no sonne. The rest of the wordes that

Ch. ii. Chapter.

AND it chaunced, that when the Lord would take vp Elia into heauen by a whirle winde, Elia went with Elisa from Gilgail. And Elia sayde vnto Elisa, tarpe here I praye thee, for the Lord hath sente me to Bethel. Elisa sayde vnto him: as surely as the Lord liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. And they came downe to Bethel, and the childzen of the prophetes that were at Bethel came out to Elisa, and sayd vnto him: knowest thou not, howe that the Lord will take away thy master from thy heade this daye? He sayde: I knowe it also, holde ye your peace. And Elia sayde vnto him: Elisa, tarpe here I praye thee, for the Lord hath sent me to Jericho. He saide: as surely as the Lord liueth, and as sure as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee, and so they came to Jericho. And the childzen of the Prophetes that were at Jericho came to Elisa, and sayd vnto him: knowest thou not, that the Lord will take away thy master from thy heade this daye? He answered: I knowe it also, hold ye your peace. And Elia said vnto him: tarpe I praye thee here, for the Lord hath sent me to Iordans. And he said: as surely as the Lord liueth, & as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. And so they two went together.

And fiftie menne of the sonnes of the prophetes came and stode on the other syde a farr off, and they two stode by Iordan. And Elia tooke his mantell and wrapte it together, and smote the waters, and they were deuyded, parte the one waye, and parte the other, so that they two went ouer throught the dry land. And it fortuned, & as sone as they were ouer, Elia said vnto Elisa: aske what I shall do for thee, yet I be taken away from thee. And Elisa sayde: I praye thee let thy spirite bee doubled vpon me. And he sayde: thou hast asked an hard thinge, & neuer the-

lesse, if thou see me when I am taken away from thee, thou shalt haue it so: if thou do not, it shall not be. And it fortuned, that as they went walking and talking: beholde, there appeared a charret of fire, and horses of fyre, and parted them both a sunder. And Elia went vp throught the whirlewind into heauen. And Elisa saw, and cryed: O my father, O my father: the charret of Israel, and the horsemenne thereof, and he sawe him no more: and he tooke his owne clothes, and rente them in two pieces. He tooke vp also the mantle of Elia that fell from him, and went backe againe, and stode by Iordans syde, and tooke the mantle of Elia (that fell from him,) and smote the waters, (and they parted not a sunder,) and he sayde: where is the Lord God of Elia, and he him self? And when he hadde smitten the waters, they parted this waye and that way, and Elisa went ouer. And when the childzen of the Prophetes which were at Jericho sawe him from a far, they sayde: the spirite of Elia doeth rest on Elisa, and they came to meete him, and fell to the grounde before him, and saide vnto him: See, there be with thy seruantes fiftie stronge men, lette them go and seeke thy master: happelye the spirite of the Lord hath taken him vp, and caste him vpon some mountain, or into some valley. And he sayde: Ye shall sende none. And when they lay vpon him till he was ashamed, he sayde: Sende. They sent therfore fiftie men, which sought him thre dayes and thre nights, but founde him nor. And when they came agayne to him, whiche taried at Jericho, he sayde vnto them: bid I not saye vnto you, that ye shoulde not go? And the men of the city said vnto Elisa, beholde sye, the dwellinge of this citie is pleasant as thou thy self seest: but the water is naught, and the ground barren. He saide: Bying not a newe cruse, & put salt therein. And they brought it to him. And he went vnto & spilling of & waters, & cast the salt in thither, and said: Thus saith the Lord,

I have healed this water, there shall not come henceforth, either dearthe or barrennesse. So the waters wer healed vnto this day, accordyng to the saying of Eliza, whiche he spake. And he went by from thence vnto Bethel. And as he was goinge by the waye, there came litle childre out of the cite, & mocked him, and said vnto him: Go by thou balde head, go by thou balde head. And he turned back, and looked on them, and cursed them in the name of the Lord. And there came. ii. she beares oute of that wood, and tare. xliii. children of them. And he wente from thence to mount Carnell, and from thence he turned againe to Samaria.

The. iij. Chapter.

Jehoram the sonne of Ahaz began to reygne vpon Israel in Samaria the. xliiii. yere of Jehosaphat kinge of Iuda, and reygued xxiij. yeres. And he wroughte euill in the sight of the Lord: but not like his father and like his mother, for he put away the images of Baal, that his father had made. Nevertheless, he cleaued vnto the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat (which made Israel to sinne) and departed not therefro. And Elisa king of Moab was a lord of sheepe, and reyned vnto the kinge of Israel an hundred thousand labes, and an hundred thousande Hammes with the wool. But when Ahaz was dead, it fortuned that the king of Moab rebelled against the kinge of Israel. And king Jehoram wente oute of Samaria the same season, & numbred all Israel, and went and sent to Jehosaphat the king of Iuda, sayinge: I king of Moab hath offered against me, wilt thou come with me against Moab to battle? He answered: I will come by, for as I am, so art thou: and as my people be, so are thy people, and thy horses as mine. And he said: what way shall we go by? And he answered: The way through the wilderness of Edom. And so the kinge of Israel and the kinge of Iuda and the king of Edom. And when they had compassed the way, by daies they hadde no water for the hoste, and for the cattell that followed them.

And the kinge of Israel said: Alasse the Lord hath called these three kinges together, to deliuer them ouer into the hande of Moab. But Jehosaphat said: is there not here a prophet of the Lord, that we may inquire of the Lord by him? And one of the kinge of Israels seruantes answered and saide: here is Elisa the sonne of Shaphar, which powred water on the handes of Elia. And Jehosaphat sayde: Is not the word of the Lord with him? And so the kinge of Israel, and Jehosaphat and the kinge of Edom went downe to him. And Elisa saide vnto the kinge of Israel: What haue I to doo with thee? Get thee to the prophets of thy father, and to the prophets of thy mother. And the king of Israel said vnto him: Oh naye, for the Lord hath called these three kinges together to deliuer them into the hande of Moab. And Elisa sayde: As sure as the Lord of hostes liueth (in whose sight I stande) and it wer not that I regard the presence of Jehosaphat the kinge of Iuda, I woulde not looke towarde thee, nor yet see thee. But now we bringe me a minstrell. And when the minstrell playde, the hande of the Lord cam vpon him. And he sayde: Thus saith the Lord. Make this playne grounde full of diches. For thus saith the Lord: ye shall see neyther winde nor rayne, and yet the brooke shalbe filled with water, that ye may drinke, bothe ye and your beastes, and your cattell.

And this is yet but a small thinge in the sight of the Lord, for as muche as he will geue ouer the Moabites also into your hands. And ye shall smite euerye stronge towne, and euerye goodlye cite, and shall sell euerye pleasant tree, and stoppe euerye well of water, and marre euerye good platte of grounde with stonnes.

And in the morning, when the meate offeringe was offered, It fortuned, that that there came water by the way fro Edom; and the countrey was filled with water. And when all the Moabites heard that the kinges were come by to fight against them, they gathered all together, from the youngest that was able to put on harnesse: and so bywarde, and stood in the border of the lande. And they were by early in the morning, and the Sunne shone bypon the water, that the Moabites sawe the water a farr off as redde as bloude, and they sayde. This is the bloud of the slaughter: the kinges are slayn, and one hath smitten another. Nowe therefore Moab, gette thee to the spoyle. And when they came to the hoste of Israel, the Israelites stood and smote the Moabites, so that they fledde before them, but they folowed bypon them, and smote Moab. And they overthrew the Cities, and on every good parcel of land, caste every man his stone, and filled it, and they stoote all the welles of waters, and felle all the good trees. Onely in the cite of byrke left they the stones therof, howe be it they went aboute it with singes, and smote it. And when the king of Moab sawe, that the battayle was loose agaynst him, he tooke with him seven hundred menne that drew the swearde to haue gone thorough, euen vnto the kinge of Edom: but they could not. And then he tooke his eldest sonne (that shoulde haue reigned in his stead) and offered him for a burnt offeringe bypon the wall. And there was greete indignation against Israel, and they departed from him, and returned to their owne land.

The. iij. Chapter.

Add there cried a certaine woman of the wiues of the prophets vnto Elisa, saying: thy seruante my husbnde is deade, and thou knowest, that thy seruante did feare the Lorde. And the creditour is come, to sette my two sonnes, to be his bondmen. Elisa sayde vnto her: Tell me what shall I doo for thee: what haste thou in thine house? She saide: Thine handmayde hath nothinge at all in the house, save a picher with oyle. He sayd vnto her: Go and borrowe vessel for thee, of them that are withoute, euen of all thy neighbours, emptie vessels, and that not a fewe. And when thou art come in, thou shalt shutte the doore after thee, and after thy sonnes, and pour oute in to all those vessels, and lette a syde that whiche is full. And so the woman wente from him, and shutte the doore after her, and after her sonnes. And they brought to her, and she poured oute. And it came to passe that when the vessels were full, she sayde vnto her sonne: bringe me yet a vessel. And he saide vnto her: I have no mo. And the oyle ceased. Then she came, and tolde the man of God. And he sayde: goo and sell the oyle, and pay them that thou art in dette vnto, but liue thou and thy children of the rest. And it fell on a daye, that Elisa came to Sunem, where was a greete woman, that tooke him in, for to eate breade. And so it came to passe, that from that time forth (as ofte as he came that waye) he tourned in thither to eate breade. And she sayde vnto her husbnde. Beholde, I perceiue that this is a holpe man of God, that commeth so ofte by oure place. Lett vs make him a chamber (I pray thee) with wallies, and let vs set him there a bedde, and a table, a stoole and a candlesticke, that he may turne in thither when he commeth to vs. And it fortuned on a daye, that he came thither, and turned into the chamber, and laye therein, and sayde to Gehazi his seruant: call this Sunamite. And when he called her, she presented her self before him. And again he said vnto him: Tell her. Behold, thou hast bene carefull for vs, and hast made all this provision: what shal we now do for thee? woldest thou be spoken for to the king, or to the captaine of the hoste? She answered: I dwell among mine owne people. And he saide againe, what is to be don for her? Gehazi answered: surely she hath no child, & her husbnde is an

was concained, and bare a sonne: that her: as long as the fruit could hane it fell on a daye, that he wente oute to his father, and to the reapers. And he saide vnto his father: my heade, my head. And he said to a lad: Carpe him to his mother. And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he satte on her knees till noone, and then died. And she wente vp, and laid him on the bedde of the manne of God, and shutte the doore about him, and went out, and called vnto her husband and said: send with me (I praye thee) one of the younge men, and one of the Maies. For I will runne to the man of God, and come againe. And he saide: wherefore wilt thou go to him, seeing that to daye is neyther newe for breath. Then she saddled an Asse, and saide to her seruante: leade away the Asse, and make her not to go slowly (because I ride vpon her) but when I bid thee. And so she wente and came vnto the man of God, to mount Carmell. And it fortuned, that when the man of God sawe her farre off, he said to Gehazi his seruante.

Beholde, ponder is the Shunamite.
Runne therefore to meete her, and saye vnto her: Is all well with thee, and with thy husband, and with the lad?
And she answered: All is well. And when she came to the man of God by to the hill, she caught him by the feete.
But Gehazi wente to her, to thruste her away. And the man of God sayd: let her alone; for her soule is vexed within her, and the lorde had hidde it from me, and hath not told it me. Then she saide: did I desire a sonne of my lorde? did I not require thee, that thou shouldst not deceiue mee?

Then he saide to Gehazi: • gyde by 4. re. 9. a. sayd: • as sure as the lorde liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. And he arose and folowed her.

Gehazi went before them, and layeth the staffe vpon the face of the childe.
But there was neither voice, nor any feeling. Wherefore he went againe to meete him, and tolde him, sayinge: the childe is not awaked. And when Elisa was come into the house: Be-house, and then wente vp, and layde himselfe vpon him againe. And then the childe gasped. vii. times, and opened his eyes. And hee called Gehazi and sayde: Call for this Shunamite.

So he called her: whiche when shee was come in vnto him, he sayde vnto her: • Take thy sonne. Therefore shee Luke. 5. 6 of the Prophetes dwelte with him.

And he saide vnto his seruant: Set tage for the children of the Prophetes.

And one wente out into the fildes to gather herbes, and found (as it were) a wilde vine, and gathered thereof and came, and shredde them into the shall I sette this befoze an hundred men? Hee sayde agayne: getie it vnto the people that they may eat. For thus sayeth the Lorde - they shall eate, and ther shal be left ouer. And so he did set

Joh. 6. a.

The .v. Chapter.

N Raaman, captaine of the hoste of the Kinge of Siria, was a greate man, and honozable in the sight of his master: because that by him, the Lorde had genen health vnto Siria. He was also a mighty manne and experte in war, but he was a lea-per. And the Sirians had gone oute by companyes, and had broughte oute of the countrey of Israel a litle maid, and she was with Raamans wyfe.
And she saide vnto her lady: I would to God my Lorde were with the pro-phete that is in Samaria, for he wold deliuer him of his leprosie. And hee went in, and tolde his Lorde, saying: Thus and thus sayde the mayde, that is of the land of Israel. And the king of Siria, sayde: Comme and enter in, and I will sende a letter vnto the kinge of Israel. And he came, and toke with him tenne talentes of siluer, and .vi. thousande pieces of gold, and tenne chaunge of raiments, and broughte the letter to the kinge of Israel conceyning this tenour: Nowe when this letter is come vnto thee: Behold, I haue therewith sent Raman my seruant to thee, that thou mayst ridde him of his leprosie: and it fortuned, that when the kinge of Israel hadde read the letter, he rent his clothes, and sayde: O I am I God, that I should see a manne from his leprosie, for he hath sent to me, that I should deliuer a manne from his leprosie.

Wherfoze consider (I pray you) and see howe he seeketh a quarell agaynst me, whiche when Elisa the man of God had heard, how that the kinge of Israel had rente his clothes, he sente to the kinge, saying: Wherfoze hast thou rent thy clothes? let him come nowe to me, and he shall knowe, that there is a prophete in Israel, and so Raaman came with his hoysen, and with his charrettes, and stood at the dooze of the house of Elisa. And Elisa sent a messenger vnto him, saying: Go and walke thee in Iordane scum spyes, and thy fleshe shal come againe to thee, and thou shalt be censed. But Raaman was wrothe, and wente a-wayne, and sayde: Beholde, I thought with my selfe, he woulde surely come out, and stande and call on the name of the Lorde his God, and put his hande on the place, that he maye heale the leprosie. Are not Abana and Paraphar, riuers of Damasco, better than all the waters of Israel? If I walke me also in them, shall I not be censed? And so he turned him, and departed with displeasure. And his ser-uantes came, and comoned with him, and saide: Father, If the prophete had bid thee doe some great thing, ought-est thou not to haue doone it? Howe much rather then, when he sayeth to thee. Wash, and be cleane? Then went he downe and walshed himselfe seven spyes in Iordan, according to þ saying of the man of God, and his fleshe changed, like vnto the fleshe of a litle childe, and he was censed. And hee turned agayne to the man of God, he and all his company, and stood befoze him, and said: Behold, I knowe now that there is no God in al the world, but in Israel. Now therfore, take a blessing of thy seruant. But he said: As surely as þ lord liueth (beside whome I stand) I wil receiue none. And when þ other wold haue constrained him to reccuse it, he woulde not. And Naaman sayde: (Euen as thou wilt, but I beseech thee) Shall there not be giuen to thy seruant as much of this earth as two mules may beare? For thy seruant will henceforth offer neither burnt sacrifice nor offering vnto any other God, save vnto the Lord. But herein the Lord be mercifull to thy seruant that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon, and doth worship there, and leaneth on my hande, and I also worship in the house of Rimmon, (when I do worshippe I say) in the house of Rimmon: the Lord be mercifull vnto thy seruant, because of this thing. Vnto whom he sayde: Go in peace. And when he was departed fro him, as it were: a furlong of grounde.

¶ Gehezi the seruant of Elisa the man of God, sayde: behold, my master hath spored Naaman this Syrian, that he woulde not reccuse of his hande those thinges that be offered. As surely as the Lord lieth, I will runne after him, and take some what of him. And loo Gehezi folowed Naaman. And when Naaman sawe him runninge after him, he lighte downe from the charet, to mete him, and sayde: Is all well? he answered: All is well. Beholde, my master hath sent me, saying: See, there be come to me euen now from mount Ephraim two yong men of the chyldren of the prophete: geue them I pray thee, one talent of siluer and two chaunge of garmentes. And Naaman said: With a good will. Take two talentes, and he compelled him to binde two talentes of siluer in two bagges, with two chaunge of garmentes, and layed them vpon two of his seruantes, to beare them before him. And when he came into a secreete place, he tooke them from their hande, and bestowed it in the house, and the men were let go, and they departed. But he went in, and stood before his master. And Elisa sayde vnto him: Whence comest thou Gehezi? He said: thy seruant wait no whither. But he said vnto him: Went not mine hert with thee, when the man tourned againe from his charet to mete thee. Is it now a time to reccuse money, to reccuse garmentes, olive trees, vyneyardes, shepe and oxen, men seruantes and mayde seruantes? The leprose therfore of Naaman shall cleane vnto thee, and vnto thy seed for euer. And he went out from his presence, a leper as white as snowe.

¶ The chyldren of the prophete sayde vnto Elisa: Beholde, the place where wee dwell with thee, is to litle for vs, we wil therfore go vnto Iordan, and take thence euerye man a beame, and build vs a place to dwell in. And he answered: go. And one said: be content I praye thee, and come with thy seruantes. And he answered: I will come, and so he went with them. And when they came to Iordan, they cut downe wood. But it fortunied, that as one was sellinge downe of a tree, the axe head fell into the water. And he cried, and said: Alas master, it was lent me. And the man of God sayde: Where fell it? and he shewed him the place. And he cut downe a sticke, and caste it in thither, and immediatly the yron did swim. Therfore said he: take it vp. And he stretched out his hande, and toke it vp. But the kinge of Siria warred agaynst Israhel, and tooke counsell with his seruantes, and sayde: In ponder secreete place shalbe my reuayning. And the man of God sente vnto the king of Israhel, saying: Beware, that thou go not ouer to suche a place, for there the Syrians are lurking. Therfore the king of Israhel sent to the place which the man of god tolde him, and warned him of, and saved him selfe from it, not once or twyse. And the hearte of the kinge of Siria was troubled for this thinge: and he called for his seruantes, and sayde vnto them: Will ye not shewe me, which of our men (betrayeth me) to the king of Israhel? And one of his seruantes sayde: None my Lord, O king. But Elisa the prophete, that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel, yea, even the wordes that thou speakest in thy priuie chamber. He sayde: go, and tpe where he is, that I maye sende and fet him. And one tolde him, sayinge: Beholde, he is in Dothan. Therfore sente he thither hoxses, and charrettes, and a mightie hoste. And they came by nighte, and compassed the cite about. And when the seruant of the man of God rose vp early to go oute: Beholde, there was an hoste round about the towne with hoxses and charrettes. And his seruauit sayde vnto him: Mas master, what shall we do? He answered: feare not, for they that be with vs, are mothen they that be with them. And Elisa prayed and sayde: Lord (I beseech thee) open his eyes, that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the ponge man. And beholde, the mountayne was full of hoxses, and charrettes of fire rounde aboute Elisa. And when they came downe to him, Elisa prayed vnto the Lord, and sayde: Smyte this people (I pray thee) with blindness. And he smote them with blindness, accordinge to the desire of Elisa. And sayde vnto them, this is not the way, neither is this the towne: folowe me, and I will bringe you to the man whom ye seeke. But he led theym to Samaria. And it fortuned, that when they were come to Samaria, Elisa sayde: Lord, open their eyes that they may see. And the Lord opened theyr eyes, and they sawe. And behold they were in the middes of Samaria. And the kinge of Israel saide vnto Elisa, when he sawe them: My father, shall I smite them? And he answered: Thou shalt not smyte them. But smyte those that thou hast taken with thine owne sword, and with thine owne bowe. But rather sette breade and water before them, that they maye drinke, and go to theyr master. And he prepared a great refection for them. And when they had eaten and dronke, he sente them awaye and they went to their master. And so the soundiour of Siria came no more into the lande of Israel. After this it chanced, that Benhadad kinge of Siria gathered all his host, and went by, and besieged Samaria. And there was a great dearth in Samaria: and beholde, they besieged it, vntill an asses heade (was sold) for foure sicles of silver pence, and the fourth parte of a Cab of dones donge, for fine sicles. And as the kinge of Israel was going vpon the wall, there cryed a woman vnto him, sayinge: Help, my Lord a king. He said: If the Lord do not succoure thee, where with can I helpe thee: with the borne, or with the wine presse? And the kinge saide vnto her: what wilt thou? She answered: yonder woman saide vnto me: bringe thy sonne, that we maye eate him to day, and we will eate mine to morowe. And so we pressed my sonne and he ate him. And I saide to her the other daye: bringe thy sonne that we maye eate him, and she hath hid her sonne. And it came to passe, that when the king heard the wordes of the woman, he rent his cloathes, and went by on the wall. And the people looked: and beholde, he had sackcloth vnder, vpon his fleshe. Then he said: God be so and so to me, if the heade of Elisa the sonne of Saphat shall stande on him this day. But Elisa sat in his house, and the elders sat by him. And the kinge sente a man before him. But yet the messenger came to him, he sayde to the elders: haue ye not seene howe that the sonne of this murderer hath sente to take away mine heade: be circumspect when the messenger cometh, and shut the doore, and holde him at the doore: if not the sounde of his masters feet be heard: while he yet talketh with them? Beholde, the messenger came downe vnto him, and sayd: Beholde, this euill is of the Lord, and what moze shall I looke for of the Lord?

Then Elisa sayde: heare ye the wordes of the Lord, that saye to the Lord: to morowe the tyme shall a bushell of flour be sold for a sicle, and three

Shelles of Barley for a sicke in the gate of Samaria. Then a certaine Roide (on whose hand the king leaned) answered the man of God, and sayd: behold, if the Roide would make swine bowes in heaven, might this sayinge come to passe? He said: Beholde, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but shalt not cate the trof. And there were four leperous menne at the entring in of the gate. And they sayde one to another: whyt we here vntill we dye? If we saye, we will enter into the citie: beholde, the death is in the Citie, and we shall dye therein. And if wee sit here, we dye also. Howe therfore come, and let vs fall vpon the host of the Sirians: If thei save our liues we shall liue: If they kill vs, then are we dead. And soo they arose in the night, to go to the hooft of the Sirians. And when they were commed to the utmost part of the host of Siria: Beholde, there was no manne there. For the Roide had made the hooft of the Sirians to heare a noyse of charrettes, and a noyse of hoxes, and the noyse of a greates hooft. In so much that they sayde one to another: loe the king of Israel hath hyed agaynst vs the kinges of the Hethites, and the kinges of the Egyptians, to come vpon vs. Wherefore they arose, and fled in the night, and lefte their tentes, their hoxes, and their asses, and the field which they had pitched euen as it was, and fled for their liues. And when these lepers came to the edge of the hooft, they went into a tent, and did cate, and drinke, and caried thence siluer, and golde, and rayments, and went and hid it: came agayne, and entered into an other tente, and caried thence also, and went and hid it. The saide one to another: we do not well this day, for as much as it is a daye to bringe good tidings, and wee holde our peace. If wee tarpe till the daye light, some mischief will come vpon vs. Howe therfore come, that wee may go and tell the kinges householde. And so they came and called vnto the porters of the Citie, and told them, saying: we came to the pavilions of the Sirians: and see, there was no manne there, neyther boyer of man, but hoxes and asses tyed, and the tentes were as they were wont to be. And so the man called vnto the porters, and they tolde the kinges house within. And the kinge arose in the night, and sayde vnto his seruantes: I will see we you now, what the Sirians haue done vnto vs. They knowe that wee be hungry, and therfore are they gone out of the pavilions, to hide them selues in the field, sayinge: when they come out of the Citie, we shall cathe them aliu, and get into the citie. And one of his seruantes answered and sayd: Let men take (I praye you) five of the hoxes that remaine, and are left in the multitude. Beholde, they are euen as all the multitude of Israel, that are left in the Citie: Beholde (I saye) they are euen as all the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed, and wee will sende, and see. They toke therfore the hoxes of two charrettes, and the kinge sente after the host of the Sirians, sayinge: goe, and see. And they went after them, euen vnto Iordan: and lo, all the way was full of clothes and vessels which the Sirians had cast from them in their host. And the messengers retourned, and tolde the king. And the people went out and spoiled the tentes of the Sirians. And soo it came to passe, that a bushell of fine floure was solde for a sicke, and two bushelles of barley for a sicke, according to the woorde of the Roide. And the kinge appointed that laod on whose hand he leaned, to be at the gate. And the people troade vpon him in the gate, and he dyed according to the woord of the man of God which he sayd, when the kinge came downe to him. And so came the thing to passe that the man of God hadde spoken to the kinge, sayinge: Two bushels of barley for a sicke, and a bushell of fine floure for another, shalbe to morowe this time in the gate of Samaria. Wherevnto that Roide answered the man of God, and sayde: Yea and if the

Then spake Elisa vnto the woman (whose sonne he had restored to lyfe agayne) sayinge: vp and go thou & thine house, and sojourne wherloeuver thou canst: for the Lozde hath called for a death, and the same shall come vppon the land: seuen yeares: and the woman arose, and did after the saying of the man of God, and wente both she, and her household, and sojourned in the lande of the Philistines vij. yeres.
And at the seuen yeres end, it fortuned, that the woman came againe out of the lande of the Philistynes, and went out to call vppon the King for her house and for her lande. And the king talked with Gehazi the seruant of the manne of God: saying, tel me I pray thee, all the great dedes that Elisa hath done. He told the king how he had restored a dead manne to lyfe again: but in the mean time the woman (whose son he had rased vp agayne) cryed to the king for her house, and for her land. And Gehazi sayd: My lozde king this is the woman, and this is her sonne whome Elisa rased vp a gain. And when the king asked & wo-ma, she told him. And so & king deliue-red her a chamberlaine, saying: restore thou vnto her all that are hers, & all the frutes of the fielde, since the daye that she left the land, vnto this time. And

3 Re. 19:

Elisa came to Damascus: And Be-hadad the kinge of Siria was sicke.
And one tolde him saying: The man of God is come hyther. And the king sayde vnto Hazael: take a present in thine hand, and go mete the manne of God, that thou mayest aske the Lozde by him, whether I shall recover of this disease, and so Hazael wente to mete him, and tooke the present with him, and of eury good thing of Da-masco, euen as much as fortye camelis coulde beare, and came and presented him sette before him, and sayde: Thy sonne Benhadad king of Siria hath sent me to thee, saying: shall I recouer of this disease? And Elisa sayde vnto him: go and saye vnto him: thou shalt recover, howbeit the Lozde hath shewed me, that hee shall surely dye.

And he looked aside, and was ashamed and the man of God wept. And Hazael said: why wepest thou my lozde? He answered: for I knowe the euill thin-ges that thou shalt do vnto the children of Israell: for their stronge cities shalt thou set on fire, and their yonge men shalt thou slea with the sword, and shalt dash out the braynes of their sucking children, and all to tear their women with child. But Hazael sayde: what is thy seruant a dog, that I shoulde do this great thinge?
And Elisa answered: the Lozde hath shewed me, that thou shalt be king of Siria. And so he departed from Elisa, and came to his master, which sayd to him. What saide Elisa to thee? He answered: he told me, that thou shouldest recover. And on the morow it for-tuned, that he toke a thicke cloth, and dipte it in water, and spread it on his face, and he dyed: and Hazael reigned in his stede. The first yere of Jehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israhel, Je-hosaphat beinge also kinge of Iuda, Jehoram the sonne of Jehosaphat kinge of Iuda, beganne to reigne, xxxij. yere old was he, when he began to reigne, and he reigned vij. yers in Jerusalem. And he walked in & wordes of the kinges of Israhel, as they that were of the house of Ahab: for & daughter of Ahab was his wife, and hee did euil in the sight of the Lozde. And the Lozde would not destroy Iuda, and that because of Dauid his seruant, as I he promised him to geue him alwayes light amonge his children. In those dayes Edom did wickedly: when he was vnder & hand of Iuda. For they made thē a king of their owne. So Je-horam wente to Jazir, he and all his charettes with him, and hee tooke by night, and smote the Edomites, which compassed him in, with the captains of his Charettes, and the people fled into their tentes. But Edom rebelled, so that he woulde not be vnder the hand of Iuda vnto this daye. And then Robnah began to bee disobedient euen that same time. The rest of the wordes that concerne Ioram and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the chronicles of the kinges of Iuda: And Ioram rested with his fathers, and was buried beside his fathers in the Citie of David. And Ahasiah his Sonne regned in his stede. In the .xxij. yere of Ioram the sonne of Ahab kinge of Israel, did Ahasiah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iuda begin to reigne. Two and twenty yere old was Ahasiah when he began to regne, and he regned one yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Isebelah, the daughter of Omri kinge of Israel. But he walked in the waye of the house of Ahab, and did euil in sighte of the Lord, euen as did the house of Ahab. For he was the sonne in lawe of the house of Ahab. And hee wente with Ioram the Sounne of Ahab to warre against Hazael king of Siria, in Ramoth Gilead, and the Sirians wounded Ioram. And king Ioram went back againe to be healed in Jezrahel, of the woundes which the Sirians hadde geuen him at Ramoth, when he fought against Hazael king of Siria. And Ahasiah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iuda went downe to see Ioram the sonne of Ahab in Jezrahel, because he was sicke there.

And Elia the Prophete called one of the childzen of the prophetes, and sayde vnto him: gyde by thy loynes, and take this boxe of oyle in thine hande, and gette thee to Ramoth in Gilead. And whē thou comest thither, looke where is Jehu the sonne of Jehosaphat, the sonne of Nimsi, and go to him, and make him arise by from amonge his brethren, and carye him to a secreete chamber. Then take the boxe of oyle, and powre it on his heade, and saye thus sayeth the Lord: I haue annointed thee to be king ouer Israel. And then open the doze, and sty withoute anye taryinge. And so the seruauent of the prophet gate him to Ramoth Gilead, and when he came in, behold, the captains of the hoosle were syttinge together. And he sayde: I haue an errand to thee, O captayne. And Jehu sayde: vnto whiche of all vs? He said: to thee, O captayne. And he arose and wente into the house. And he powred the oyle on his heade, and sayde vnto him: Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel: I haue annointed thee to be kinge ouer the people of the Lord, euen ouer Israel. Thou shalt smyte the house of Ahab thy maister, that I may aduenge the blud of my seruantes the Prophets, and the bloud of all the seruantes of the Lord, of the hande of Jezabel, for the whole house of Ahab shalbe destroyed, and I will destroye from Ahab, euen him that maketh water agaynst the wall, and him that is prisioned and forsaken in Israel: and I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, and like the house of Baasa the sonne of Ahis. And as for Jezabel, the dogges shall eate her in the fildes of Jezrahel, and there shalbe none to burye her. And hee opened the doze and fledde. Jehu came oute to the seruantes of his Lord, and one sayde vnto him, is all well? Wherefore came this madde fellowe to thee? And he sayde vnto them, yee knowe what manner of manne it is, and what his communication is. They sayde vnto him agayne: it is not so, tell vs. He sayd: thus and thus spake he to me, sayinge: Thus sayeth the Lord: I haue annointed thee to be kinge ouer Israel. Then they beside the horologie halted, and tooke euerye manne his garmente, and put it vnder him, and blew with trompettes, sayinge: Jehu is kinge. And so Jehu the sonne of Jehosaphat the sonne of Nimsi conspyred against Joaz. Joaz kept Ramoth Gilead, he and all Israel, because of Hazael king of Syria: and king Joaz returned to be healed in Jezreel of the woundes whiche the Syrians had geuen him, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria. And Jehu said: If it be your mindes, then let no man depart and scape out of the citie, to go and tell in Jezreell. So Jehu gat by into a charete, and wente to Jezreell, wher Joaz lay, and Ahaziah king of Juda was come downe thither to see Joaz. And the watchman that stood on the towre in Jezreell, spied the companie of Jehu as he came, and sayd: I see a companie. And Jehozam sayd: take an horseman, and sende to mete them, that he maye aske whether it be peace, and so there went one on horsebacke, to mete him, & said: thus saith the king: Is it peace? and Jehu said: what hast thou to do with peace? turne thee behind me. And the watchman told, sayinge: the messenger came to them, but he cometh not agayne. Then he sent out another on horsebacke, which came to them, and sayde: thus sayeth the king: Is it peace? Jehu answered: what haste thou to do with peace? turne thee behinde mee. And the watchman tolde, sayinge: he came to them also, and cometh not agayne, and the drining is lyke the drining of Jehu the sonne of Nimsi: for he drineth the charet as he were madde. And Jehozam sayde: make redy. And the charet was made ready. And Jehozam king of Israel, and Ahaziah king of Juda went out eyther of them in his charet agaynst Jehu, and met him in the furlonge of Naboth the Jezrehelite. And it fortuneth, that when Jehozam saw Jehu, he sayde: Is it peace Jehu? He answered: what peace should there be, so longe as the whoredoms of thy mother Jezabell, and her witchcrafts are so great? And Jehozam turned his handes, and fled, and sayd to Ahaziah: there is falsched Ahaziah. And Jehu took a bowe in his handes, and smote Jehozam betweene the armes, and the arrowe went through his heart. And he fell downe flat in his charet. Then sayd Jehu to Bidkar a captayne, take him and cast him in the plat of the ground of Naboth the Jezreelite. For I remember that when I and thou rode together in a charet after Ahab his father, the Lord layed this heauy burthen vpon him. I haue sene yester day the bloude of Naboth, and the bloud of his sons sayd the Lord, and I will quite it thee in this ground sayth the Lord. Howe therfore take him, and caste him in the plat of ground, according to the word of the Lord. But when Ahaziah the king of Juda saw this, he fled by the waye of the garden house, and Jehu folowed after him, and sayde: Smyte him also in the charet: (and they smot him) in his charet, at the going by to Gur by Ibletham, and he fled to Hagibdo and there died. And his seruantes carped him in a charet to Ierusalem, and buried him there in his sepulchre, with his fathers in the citie of David. And in the xi. yere of Joaz the sonne of Ahab, began Ahaziah to reygne ouer Juda. And when Jehu was come to Jezreell, Jezabell heard of it, and stretched her face, and tyed her head, and looked out at a windowe. And as Jehu entred at the gate, she sayd: had Simri peach which slue his mayster? And he lyfte by his eyes to the windowe, and sayd: who is of my syde, who? And there looked out to him two or thre chamberlaines. And he sayd: Howe her downe: So they threwe her downe, and her bloud dashed towarde the wall, and towarde the horses, and he troode her vnder foote. And when he was come in, he did eate and drinke, and sayde: Go, and visite, I praye you, yonder curled creature, and bury her: for she is a kinges daughter. And so when they came to bury her, they founde no more of her then the skull, and the fetes and the palmes of her handes, wherefore they came agayne, and tolde him. And he sayde: this is the worde of the Lord, which he spake by the hande of so the carhas of Jezrahell was euen

Jehu. 89

Ahab had .lxx. sonnes in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria bu-to the rulers of Jezrahell, to the elders and to them that broughte by Ahabs children, saying: nowe when this letter cometh to you, ye that haue with you poure masters sonnes, yee haue with you both charrettes and horses: a stronge citie haue ye also, and hermes: loke which of your masters sonnes is best and mosse meete, and set him on his fathers seate, and fight for your Lordes house. But they wer exceedinglye asfraid, and sayde: see, two kinges were not able to stand besyde him howe shall we then be able to stande?
And he that was gouernour of Ahabs house and hee that ruled the citie, the elders also, and the tutors sente to Jehu, saying: we are thy seruantes, and will do all that thou shalt bid vs: we will make no man king therelofe, doo thou what seemeth good in thine eyes. Then hee wrote another letter to them saying: Yf ye bee mine, and will hearken vnto my voyce, then take the heades of the men that are poure masters sonnes, and comme to mee to Jezrahell by to morowe thys tyme.
And the kinges sonnes were .lxx. persons; and they were with the greate men of the citie, which brought them by. And whethe letter came to them, they toke the kinges children, and slue them; euen .lxx. persons, and layed theyr heades in bas kettes, and sente them to him to Jezrahell. And there came a messenger, and tolde him, saying: they haue brought the heades of the kinges sonnes. And he sayde: let them laye them on two heapes in the entring in of the gate; vntill the morning. And when it was daye, he went out, and stode, and said to all the folke:

ye be righteous. Behold, I conspired against my master, and slue him. But who slue all theser? Learne here, that there shall fall vnto the earth nothing of the woorde of the Lord, whiche he spake concerning the house of Ahab.
For the Lord hath broughte to passe the thinges that he spake by the hand of his seruauit . Elia. And so Jehu slue all that remayned of the house of Ahab in Jezrahell: and all that were great with him, and his kinsfolkes, and his priestes, so that he let nothing of him remain. And he arose, and departed, and camme to Samaria. And when Jehu was in the waye to the house where the shepherdes did there their shepe, he met with the brethren of Ahaziah king of Iude, and sayde: what are ye? They answered: the brethren of Ahaziah are wee, and goe downe to saluete the children of the king and of the queene. And he sayde: take the alme. Whom when they had taken them alme, they slue them at the well, whiche was beside the house where the sheepe are shorne, euen two and fortye menne, neyther leste he anye of them. And when he was departed thence, he mette with Jehonadab the son of Rechab comming against him.
And he blessed him and said to him, is thine heart right, as mine hert is true with thine. And Jehonadab answered: yea that it is, (yf it be sayeth he) then geue me thine hande. And when he had geue him his hand he toke him by to him into the charrette, and sayde: come with me, and see the zeale that I haue for the Lord: and so they made him ride in his charret. And when hee camme to Samaria, he slewe all that remayned vnto Ahab, in Samaria, till he hadde wypped him oute, ac-cordinge to the sayinge of the Lord, whiche he spake to Elia. And Jehu gathered all the people together, and said vnto them: Ahab serued Baal a little: But Jehu shall serue him more Howe therefore call vnto me all the prophetes of Baal, all suche as serue him, and al his priestes, and let none be lacking. For I haue a great sacrifirice to Baal, and therfore whoſoener is miſſed, he ſhal not liue. But Jehu did it for ſubtiltye, to the intent that he myghte deſtroie the ſeruauntes of Baal. And Jehu ſaide: Proclaime an holy conuocation for Baal, and Jehu ſente vnto all Iſrael. And all the ſeruauntes of Baal came, that there was not a manne leſſe behinde, that cam not. And they cam into the houſe of Baal, & the houſe of Baal was full from one ende to another. And he ſayd vnto him that was the keeper of the beſtrey: Bring forth garmentes for al the ſeruauntes of Baal. And he brought them out garmentes. And when Jehu wente with Jehonadab the ſoon of Rechab into the houſe of Baal, hee ſayde vnto the ſeruauntes of Baal: ſearch, and looke that there be here with you, none of the ſeruauntes of the Lord, but the ſeruauntes of Baal onely. And when they went in to offer ſacrifice, and burnt offeringe, Jehu appointed ſoure ſcore men without, and ſayde: If any of the men, whome I haue broughte vnder your hande eſcape, he that letteth him go, ſhall dye for him. And it ſortuned, that alſoone as he had made an ende of offeringe the burnt ſacrifice, Jehu ſayde to the men of warre, and to the captaynes: Go in, and ſley them, lette none come out. And they ſmote them with the edge of the ſword. And the men of warre, and the captaynes caſte them out, and went vnto the Citie of the Temple of Baal, and ſet the ymagines out of the Temple of Baal, and burnt them. And they brake the image of Baal, and brake the houſe of Baal, and made a draſt houſe of it vnto this daye. And ſo Jehu deſtroied Baal out of Iſrael. But from the ſynnes of Jeroboam the ſonne of Nabat, whiche made Iſrael to ſynne. Jehu departed not, nepther from folowinge of them (nepther forſooke he) the golden calves that were in Bethel and in Dan. And the Lord ſaide vnto Jehu, becauſe thou haſt done right well, in bringinge to paſſe the thinge that is right in mine eyes, and haſt done vnto the houſe of Ahab accordinge to al thinges that are in mine heart, therfore ſhal thy children vnto the fourth generation ſit on the ſeate of Iſrael. But Jehu cared not for this, to walk in the lawe of the Lord God of Iſrael with all his heart: for he departed not from the ſynnes of Jeroboam, whiche made Iſrael to ſynne. In thoſe dayes the Lord beganne to cut Iſrael thynke: And Hazael ſmote them in all the coaſtes of Iſrael, from Jordan eaſtwarde, euen all the lande of Gilead, the Gadithen, the Rubenites, and them that were of Manafſes, from Aroer vnto the river of Jeron, euen Gilead and Baſan. The reſt of the wordes that concerne Jehu, and all that he didde, and all his power, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Iſrael? And Jehu ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria: and Jehoahaz his ſonne reigned in his ſtede. And the time that Jehu reigned vppon Iſrael in Samaria, is, xxviii. yeres.

The .xi. Chapter.

AND Athalia the mother of Ahaziah when ſhe ſaw that her ſonne was dead, he aroſe, and deſtroied al the kinges ſede. But Jehoſaba the daughter of kinge Ioram, and ſiſter of Ahaziah, toke Iona the ſonne of Ahaziah, and ſale him from amonge the kinges ſonnes that were ſlayne, and his nouriſe with him, out of a ſeeping chamber, and hid him from Athalia, that hee was not ſlayne. And he was with her hid in the houſe of the Lord ſix yeres. And Athalia did reigne ouer the land. And the .vij. yere Jehoſaba ſente and ſette the rulers ouer & hundredes, with the captaynes and them of the garde, and toke them to him into the houſe of the Lord, and made a bonde with them, and toke an oth of them in the houſe of the Lord, and ſhe ſwed them the kinges ſonne. And commaunded them ſaying: This is it that ye muſt doo, our thirde parte of you, whole deſcende is to come on the Sabbath daye, ſhall kepe the watch of the kinges house.

 And another thirde part shall kepe the gate of Sur: and another thirde parte shall kepe the gate which is behinde them of the garde: and so shall ye kepe the watch of the house of Messah, and two partes of you, that is, all that go out on the Sabbath day, that kepe the watch of the house of the Lord about the kinge, and ye shall compasse the kinge rounde aboute, and euery man shall haue his weapon in his hande.
 And whosoener commeth within the ranges, let him be slayne. And see that ye bee with the kinge, as hee goeth oute and in. And the captaynes ouer the hundredes did accordinge to all thinges that. Jehoiada the Prieste commaunded: and they toke euery man his men, that were to come in on the Sabbath day, with them that should go out on the Sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest. And to the captynes ouer hundredes did the Priest geue king Dauides speares and shieldes, that were in the Temple. And they of the garde stode, and euery man had his weapon in his hande rounde about the king, from the right corner of the temple to the left, alonge by the altar and the temple. And he brought out the kinges son, and put the crowne vpon him: and deliuered him the witnes, and made him king, and annoynt-ed him. And they clapt their handes, and sayde: God saue the kinge. And when Athalia heard the noyse of the running of the people, she came to the people into the temple of the Lord.
 And when she looked, behold, the kinge stode by a pillar as the manner was, & the singers, and the trumpettes by the kinge, and all the people of the lande reioyced, and blew with trumpettes.
 And Athalia rent her clothes, & cryed Treason, treason. But Jehoiada the priest commaunded the captaynes of the hundredes that had the rule of the hoolle, and sayde vnto them: Haue her oute withoute the Temple, that shee may be within the ranges, and yf any folowe her, kill him with the sword: for the priest had sayde: she maye not be slayne in the house of the Lord.

 And they layd handes on her, till she came into the waye, by the which the hoxses went into the kinges palace: and there was she slayne. And Jehoiada made a bond betwene the Lord and the king, and the people, that they should be the Lordes people, and also betwene the kinge and the people.
 And all the people of the lande wente into the house of Baal, and destroyed it, his altars also, and his ymages brake they downe iustly, and slewe Mathan the priest of Baal before the altars. And the prieste set watche ou-er the house of the Lord, and tooke the rulers ouer hundredes, the captai-nes, and them of the garde, and all the people of the lande. And they brought the kinge from the house of the Lord: and came by the waye of the gate of them of the garde to the Kinges palace. And he satte him downe on the Seate of the Kinges. And all the people of the land reioyced, and the citie was in quiete. And they slewe Athalia with the swearde, besyde the kinges palace. Such yere olde was Jehoas, when he began to reggne.

The xij. Chapter.

And he began to reggne in the vij. yere of Ichn. xl. yere reigned he in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Zebiah, of Beersaba. And he dydde that whiche was good in the sight of the Lord, as long as Jehoiada the priest enformed him. But the hill altars was not taken away, for the people offered and burnt incense yet vpon the hill altars. And Jehoas sayde to the Priestes: all the siluer of the dedicate thinges that he brought vnto the house of the Lord in currant money, that is to saye: the money that euery man is set at, and all the money that euery man with a willing heart geueth and bringeth into the house of Lord, let the priestes take it to the eue-ry man of his acquaintance, to repaire the broken places of the house, where sooner any decay is founde. And so it came to passe, that vnto the .xxij. yere of kinge Jehoas, the Priestes hadde mended nothinge, that was decayed in the temple. Then kinge Jehoas called for Jehoiada the bishop, and the Priestes, and sayde vnto them: Whye repayre ye not the broke places of the temple? Now therfore, see that ye receyue no more money of your acquaintaunce, except ye deliuer it to repayre the temple withall. And the priestes consented to receiue no more money of the people: except to repayre the decayed places of the temple. But Jehoiada the priest tooke a chest, and bozed a hole in the lid of it, and set it besyde the altar on the righte syde, as euery man cometh into the Temple of the Lord. And the priestes that kepte the vessels, put therein all the money that was broughte into the house of the Lord. And it fortuned, that when they sawe there was muche money in the chest, the kinges scribe and the hye priest came vp, and told the mony that was found in the house of the Lord, and put it into a bag. And they gaue the money scaled, into the handes of them that executed the worke, and that had the ouersyght of the house of the Lord: and they broughte it oute to the carpenters and builders (that wrought vpon the house of the Lord) and to masons, and hewers of stone: And they bought timber and fre stone to repayre the decaye in the house of the Lord, and to all that wente out to mende the temple: howe be it ther was not made for the house of the Lord, bolles of siluer, instrumentes of musicke, basens, trompettes oz anye vessels of golde: oz vessels of siluer, of the money that was brought into the house of the Lord: But they gaue that to the worke men, and repayed therewith the house of the Lord. Moreouer, they reckened not with the men, into whose handes they deliuered the money to be bestowed on workemen: for they did their busynesse saythfully. Howe be it, trespasser mony, and sinne many was not brought into the house of the Lord, for it was the Priests. Then came Hazael kinge of Siria vp, and fought agaynst Beth, and tooke it, and Hazael set his face to go vp to Ierusalem. And Jehoas kinge of Iuda tooke all the halosword things that Jehosaphat, Jehozam and Haziah his fathers kinges of Iuda had dedicat, and that he himselfe had dedicated, & all the gold that was found in the treasures of the house of the Lord, and in the kinges house, and sent it to Hazael king of Siria, and so he departed from Ierusalem. The remnaunte of the woodes that concerne Jehoas, and all that hee dydde, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Iuda: And his owne seruantes aroise, and wroughte treason, and slew Jehoas in the house of Hillo, when he came downe to Hilla. Jehoahaz the sonne of Semeah and Jehoahab, the sonne of Semeah his seruantes, slew him, and he dyed. And they buried him with his fathers in the Citye of Dauid. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his stede.

The .xxij. Chapter.

In the .xxij. yere of Ioaas the son of Jehoahaz kinge of Iuda, Jehoahaz the sonne of Jehu, began to reygne ouer Israell in Samaria .xviij. yere. And he wrought that which was euill in the sight of the Lord, and folowed the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, which made Israell to sinne, and departed not thence from. And the Lord was angrie with Israell, and deliuered them into the hand of Hazael king of Siria, and in to the hande of Benhadad the sonne of Hazael all their dayes. And Jehoahaz besought the Lord: and the Lord herd him. For he considered the trouble of Israel wherby the king of Siria troubled them. And the Lord gaue Israell a deliuerer, so that they wēt out fro vnder the subiection of Sirians. And the children of Israel dwelt in their tentes as before time.

4. re. 8. b.

Nevertheless they departed not from the sinnes of the house of Jeroboam, whiche made Israel synne, but waiked in them. And there remayned an Idols groue still also in Samaria.

7 Neyther did he leane of the people to Jehoahaz, but fifty horsmen, ten charets, and ten thousand footemen: for the king of Syria destroyed them, and made them like threshed duste. The rest of the wordes that concerne Jehoahaz, and all that hee did, and his power, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Israel? And Jehoahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Joas his sonne reygned in his steade. In the xxxvij. yere of Joas king of Juda, began Jehoas the sonne of Jehoahaz to reygne ouer Israel in Samaria. xvi. yere, and did that which is euill in the sight of the Lorde, and departed not from all the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of 8 Nabat, (that made Israel to sin,) for he waiked therein. The remnaunte of the wordes that concerne Joas, and all that he did, and his power wherewith he fought agaynst Amaziah king of Juda, are they not written in the Chronick booke of the kinges of Israel? And Joas slept with his fathers, and Jeroboam late vppon his seate. And Joas was buryed in Samaria amonge the kinges of Israel. When Elisa was fallen sicke of his sicknesse (wherof he dyed) Joas the king of Israel came downe vnto him, and wepte before him, and sayde: O my father, my father, the charet of Israel, and the horsmen of the same.

Amg. 2. c. Elisa sayde vnto him: take bowe and arrowes. And he tooke vnto him bowe and arrowes. And he said to the kinge of Israel: put thine hande vppon the bowe, and he put his hande vppon it. And Elisa put his handes vppon the kinges handes, and said: open a window Eastward, and when he hadde opened it, Elisa said: shote, and he shot. And he sayde: the arrowe of healthe of the Lorde: and the arrowe of health agaynst Siria: for thou shalt smite Siria in ria in Sybel, till thou haue made an end of them. And he said: take the arrowes, and he toke them. And he said vnto the kinge of Israel: smyte the grounde, and he smote it thise, & ceased. And the man of God was angrie with him, and saide: thou shouldest haue smitten. v. oz. vi. times (oz. vij. times,) and then thou haddest smitten Siria, till thou haddest made an end of them, where nowe thou shalt smite Siria but thise. And so Elisa dyed, and they buryed him, and the souldiers of the Moabites came into the lande, the same yere. And it chaunced as some of them were buryinge a man, and spied the souldiers, they caste the man into the Sepulchre of Elisa. And when the man was rolled downe, and touched the body of Elisa, he reuiuied, and stood vpon his feete. But Hazael vexed Israel, all the dayes of Jehoahaz. And the Lorde had mercye on them, and pityed them, and hadde respect vnto them, because of his apoyntment made with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and woulde not destroy them, neyther cast he them from him as yet. So Hazael the kinge of Siria died, and Benhadad his sonne reygned in his steade. And Jehoas the sonne of Jehoahaz wente agayne, and tooke out of the hande of Benhadad the sonne of Hazael, the cities which he had taken away out of the hand of Jehoazah his father, in warre: for. iij. times did Joas beate him, and restored the Cities vnto Israel agayne.

But the children of those murderers he slew not, according vnto it that is written in the booke of the lawe of Moses: wherein the Lord commaunded, saying: lette not the fathers dye for the children, nor let the children be slayne for the fathers: But let euery manne be put to death for his owne sinne. He slew of Edom in the salte valley, ten thousande, and tooke the castell on the rocke in the same battell, and called the name of it Joktheel vnto this daye. Then Amaziah sente messengers to Jehoas the sonne of Jehoahaz sonne of Jehu king of Israel, saying: come, let vs see eche other.

C And Jehoas the kinge of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iuda, saying: did not a thistle that is in Libanon, sende to a Cedar tree that is in Libanon, saying: geue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: And the wilde beaste that was in Libanon, went and trode downe the thistell. Thou hast smitten Edom, thine heart hath made thee proud: Enioy this glory, and tarpe at home. Why dost thou provoke to mischiefes that thou shouldest bee overthrown, and Iuda with thee? But Amaziah would not heare. And Jehoas the king of Israel went by, & he and Amaziah kinge of Iuda sawe eche other at Bethsames which is in Iuda. The .xv. Chapter.

In the twentieth and seven yere of Jeroboam king of Israel, beganne Azaria sonne of Amazia kinge of Iuda to reygne. Sixteene yere olde was he when he was made king, and he reygned twos and fiftie yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Jecheleiah of Ierusalem. And he did that which was right in the sighte of the Lord, according to all thinges as did his father Amaziah: save that the high altars were not put awaye, for the people offered, and burned incense still on the high altars. And the Lord smote the king, and he was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelte in a seuerall house at libertie, and Iotham the kinges sonne gouerned the palace, and iudged the people of the land. The rest of the wordes that concerne Azaria and all that hee didde, are they not written in the boke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Iuda? And so Azaria slepte with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the Citie of David, and Iotham his sonne reygned in his steede. In the xxvij. yere of Azaria kinge of Iuda did Zacharia the sonne of Jeroboam reygne vpon Israel in Samaria. vii. monethes, and wrought that which was euill in the sighte of the Lord as did his fathers: and tourned not awaye from the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, which made Israel to sinne. And Shallum the sonne of Iabes conspired against him, and smote him in the sight of the people, and killed him, and reygned in his steede. The reste of the wordes that concerne Zacharia, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Israel. These be also the wordes of the Lord, which he spake vnto Iehu, sayinge: the sonnes shall sitte on the seate of Israel in the fourth generation after thee. And it came so to passe. Shallum the sonne of Iabes beganne to reygne in the .xxxix. yere of Azaria king of Iuda: and hee reygned a moneth in Samaria. For Menahem the sonne of Gadi went by from Thirza, and cam to Samaria, and smote Shallum the sonne of Iabes in Samaria, and slus him, and reygned in his steede. The .xxxix. yere of Azaria kinge of Iuda began Menahem, the sonne of Gadi to reygne vpon Israel. x. yere in Samaria. And hee did euill in the sighte of the Lord, and tourned not awaye all his dayes from the synne of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, whiche made Israel to synne. And Phul the kinge of Assiria came vpon the lande. And Menahem gaue Phul a .x. talentes of siluer that his hande might be with him, and stablish the kingdome in his hande. And Menahem made a proclamation for the money in Israel, that all menne of substance shoulde geue the king of Assiria fiftie sicles of siluer a peece. and Pekahia his son dyd in his steade succede him in the kingdome. In the fiftieth yere of Azaria kinge of Iuda, began Pekahia the sonne of Menahem to reygne ouer Israell in Samaria two yere, and did that whiche was euill in the sighte of the Lorde: and left not off from the synnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, whiche made Israell sinne. But Pekah the sonne of Remaliahu, whiche was a captayne of his, conspired agaynst him, and smote him in Samaria, euen in the palace of the kinges house with Argob and Aris: and with him were fiftie men of the Gileadites, and he killed him, and reygned in his roome. The rest of the wordes that concerne Pekahia, and all that he did: behold, they are writtten in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kinges of Israell. In the. liij. yere of Azaria kinge of Iuda, began Pekah the soon of Remaliahu, to reygne ouer Israell in Samaria. x. yere, and did euill in the sight of the Lorde, and turned not away from the synnes of Jeroboam, the sonne of Nabat, that made Israell syn. In the dayes of Pekah kinge of Israell, came Tiglath Pileser kinge of Assiria, and toke Iion, Abel, Beth maacha, Ianoah, Kedez, Hazor, Gilead, Galile, and all the lande of Ephraim, and caried the away to Assiria. And Hosia the sonne of Ela conspired treason agaynst Pekah the sonne of Remaliahu, and smote him, and slew him: and reigned in his steade in the. xx. yere of Iotham the sonne of Azariah. The rest of the wordes that concerne Pekah, and all that hee did, beholde, they are writtten in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israell. The seconde yere of Pekah the sonne of Remaliahu kinge of Israell, beganne Iotham, the sonne of Azariah kinge of Iuda to reygne. Fyue and twentie yere olde was he, when he began to reygne: and he reygned fyrteene yere in Ierusalem. His mothers name was Ierusa, the daughter of Iadok. And he did that whiche is right in the sighte of the LORD:

even accordinge to all as his father Azariah, so did he. But the hill saulters were not put aswape: for the people offered, and burnt incense still in the hill saulters: he built the hyder dooze of the house of the Lorde. The rest of the wordes that concerne Iotham, and all that hee didde, are they not writtten in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Iuda. In those dayes the Lorde began to sende into Iuda Rezin, the kinge of Siria, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliahu. And Iotham slept with his fathers, and was buryed with his fathers in the cite of Dauid his father, & Ahaz his sonne reygned in his steade.

The. xvi. Chapter.

The. xvi. yere of Pekah the soon of Remaliahu kinge of Israell, & Ahaz the soon of Iotham kinge of Iuda, began to reygne. Twentie yere olde was he, when he was made kinge, and reygned sixteene yere in Ierusalem, and did not that whiche was right in the eyes of the Lord his God, lyke Dauid his father: But walked in the waye of the kinges of Israell: yea, and made his sonne to dwell go throughe the fyre, after the abominations of the Heathen, whome the LORD cast out before the childerne of Israell. And he offered, and burnt incense in the hill saulters, and on the hilles, and vnder euery thicke tree. Then Rezin kinge of Siria, and Pekah sonne of Remaliahu kinge of Israell came vp to Ierusalem, to spyghte. And they soughte agaynst Ahaz, but coulde not ouercome him. And the same tyme Rezin kinge of Siria, broughte Elath agaynst to Siria, and rid the Iewes thence. And the Sirians came to Elath, and dwelte therein vnto this daye. So Ahaz sente messengers to Tiglath Pileser kinge of Assiria, saying: I am thy seruauant and thy sonne, come vp and deliuer me out of the hande of the kinge of Siria, and out of the hande of the kinge of Israell, whiche rise by agaynste me. And Thaz tooke the silver & the gold, that was founde in the house of the Lorde, and in the treasures of the kinges house, and sent a reward to the kinge of Assyria. And the kinge of Assyria consented vnto him. For the kinge of Assyria went by agaynst Damasco. And whē he had taken it, he caried awaye the people to Ryz, and sine Rezin. And king Thaz went to Damasco, to mete Tiglath Peleser kinge of Assyria. And when king Thaz sawe an aultar that was at Damasco, he sent to Uria the priest, the paterne of the aultar and the fashion of it, and all the workmanship therof. And Uria the priest made an aultar in all poyntes lyke to the paterne which kinge Thaz hadde sente from Damasco: euen so bydde Uria the priest make it, agaynst king Thaz came from Damasco. And so, when the king was come from Damasco, he saw the aultar, and the king went to it, and offered thereon. And he burnt his burnt offeringe, and his meat offering, and powzed his drinke offering: and spynkeled the bloude of his peace offerings, beside the aultare that was by the brasen aultar, which was before the Lorde, and set it without the temple betwene the aultare, and the temple of the Lorde, and put it on the northside of the aultar. And kinge Thaz commaunded Uria, the priest, and sayd: Upon the great aultar sette on fire in the moyninge, the burnt offeringe, and in the euen, the meat offering, and the kinges burnt sacrifice, and his meat offeringe, with the burnt offering of all the people of the lande, and their meat offering, and their drinke offerings, and poure there by all the bloude of the sacrifice offerings. But the brasen aultar will I come and see. And Uria the priest did according to all thinges as kinge Thaz commaunded him. And kinge Thaz brake the sides of the bottoms and tooke the lauer from off them, and tooke downe the lauer from off the brasen oven that were vnder it, and putte it vpon a pavement of stones.

And the daye for the Sabbath (that they had made in the house) and the kinges entrie without touned he to the house of the Lorde for (fear of) the king of Assyria. The rest of the wordes that concerne Thaz, what he did, are they not written in the boke of the chronicle of the kinges of Iuda? And Thaz slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the Citie of David: and Hezekia his son reigned in his stede.

The. xviij. Chapter.

In the. xij. yere of Thaz kinge of Iuda, began Hosea the sonne of Elia to reygne in Samaria bypon Irael. ix. yere, & did that which was euill in the sight of the Lorde, but not as the kinges of Irael, that were before him. And Salmanasar king of Assyria came by agaynst him, and Hosea became his seruante, and gaue him presentes. And the kinge of Assyria found treason in Hosea: for he hadde sent messengers to Sua kinge of Egypt, and brought no present vnto the king of Assyria from yere to yere: and therfore the king of Assyria toke him, & put him in prison. And then the king of Assyria came by throughout all the lande, and gat by agaynst Samaria, and besieged it thre yere. In the nynte yere of Hosea, the king of Assyria tooke Samaria, and caried Irael awaye vnto Assyria, and put them in Hala, in Habor, by the river of Goza, and in the cities of the Medes. For it came to passe that the children of Irael sinned agaynst the Lorde their God, whiche had brought them out of the lande of Egypt, from vnder the hande of Pharaon king of Egypt, and feared other goddes, and they walked in the ceremonies of the heathen, whome the Lorde caste out before the children of Irael, and in the ceremonies whiche the kinges of Irael had made. And the children of Irael wente aboute to hyde those thinges that were not well, from the Lorde their God. And they builde the hill aultars in all their Cities, both in the towres.

¶ Neuertheles, Juda also kept not the commaundementes of the Lorde they: God, but walked in the ceremonies of Israel, which they made. And the Lorde caste by all the seede of Israel, and vexed them, and deliuered them into the handes of spoylers, vntill hee had caste them out of his syghte. For Israel deuicid them selues from the house of Dauid, and made theym a kinge, euen Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat. And Jeroboam drew Israel awayne, (that they shoulde not folowe the Lorde) and made them syn a great synne. For the children of Israel walked in all the sinnes of Jerobo- am whiche he did, and departed not there from, vntill the Lorde put Is- rael awayne out of his sighte, as hee had sayde by all his seruantes the prophetes. And so was Israel carped awayne out of their owne lande, to As- siria, euen vnto this daye. And the kinge of Assiria broughte men from Babilon, from Cutha, from Sua, from Hanath, and from Sephoruaim, and put them in the citis of Samaria in steede of the children of Israel. And they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the citis therof. And it fortuned, that at the beginning of their dwellinge there, they feared not the lord. And the Lorde sent Lyons among them, which slue them. Wherfore, men sayde to the king of Assiria: The nations whiche thou hast translated, and put in the ci- ties of Samaria, knowe not the lawe of the God of the lande, therefore he hath sente Lyons vpon them: and be- hold they slay the, because they knowe not the maner of worshipping of the God of the lãd. Then the king of As- siria commaunded sayng: Carry thi- ther one of twayne of the piskies, whom ye brought thence, and let the go, and dwell there, and teach them the fashon howe to serue the God of the countrey. And then one of the piskies whiche they had caried thence came, and dwelte in Bethell, and taught theym howe they shoulde feare the Lorde. Howbeit euerye nation made theym Goddes of their owne, and put them in the houses of the hill al- tars, whiche the Samaritans hadde made, euerye natio in their citis wher in they dwelt. The men of Babilon made Soroth, Benoth: and the men of Catha, made Pergal: and the men of Hamath made Simi. The Sutees made Ribbaz and Charthak. And the Ephraimites burnt their children in fyre for Tadmeclech, and Inamelech, the Gods of Ephraim. And so they feared the Lord, & made them Pyelles of the Hill aultars, whiche sacrificed for the in the houses of the hill aultars. And so they feared the Lord, and serued their own Gods after the maner of the people, whome they carried thence. And vnto this day they doo after the olde maner: and neyther feare God, neyther doo after their ordinances and customs, & after the law and commandement which the Lord commanded the children of Jacob, whome hee called Israel. And the Lord made an appointmēte with them, & charged them, saying: • Feare none other Gods, nor bowe your selues to them, nor serue them, nor sacrifice to them: but fear the Lord which brought you out of the land of Egypt with great power and a strethed out arme: him feare, and to him bowe, and to him doo sacrifice. The statutes, ordinances, law, and commandement which he wrote for you, see that ye be diligent to doo for evermore, and fear not any other goddes. And the appointmēte that I haue made with you, see ye forget not, and feare none other goddes: but the Lord poure God ye shall feare, and he shall deliuer you out of the handes of all your enemies. Howbeit, they did not hearken, but did after their olde custome. And so these nations feared the Lord, and serued their Images also, like as did their children, and their childrens children. Euen as did their fathers, so do they vnto this day.

The xviij. Chapter.

In the third yere of Hosea sonne of Elia kinge of Israel, it came to passe, that Hezekiah the sonne of Abaz kinge of Iuda did reygne. ¶ Twentie and five yere old was he, when he began to reigne, and reigned xxx. yere in Ierusalem, his mother name also was Ibi, the daughter of Zacharia, and he did that whiche is right in the sight of the Lord, according to all as did Dauid his father.

¶ He put away the hill aultars, and brake the ymages, and cut downe the groues, and all to brake the brazen serpent that Moyses had made. For vnto those dayes the children of Israel did burn sacrifice to it, and he called it Nehustan. He trusted in the Lord God of Israel, so that after him was none lyke him amonge all the kinges of Iuda, neyther were there anye suche before him. For he came to the Lord, and departed not from him, but kepte his commandementes, which the Lord commanded Moyses: And the Lord was with him: so that hee prospered in all thinges which he tooke in hande. And he rebelled agaynst the kinge of Assiria, and serued him not. He smote the Philistines euen vnto Gaza, and the costes therof, both castles where they kepte watches, and stronge Cities. ¶ And in the fourth yere of king Hezekiah, which was the seuenth yere of Hosea, sonne of Elia kinge of Israel, it fortuned that Salmanazar kinge of Assiria came by agaynste Samaria, and besieged it. And after thre yeres they tooke it euen in the xij. yere of Hezekiah: that is to say, the ninth yere of Hosea kinge of Israel. And Samaria was wonne. And the kinge of Assiria, did carry away Israel vnto Assiria, and put them in Halah, and in Habor by the riner of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes: because they would not hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord their God: but transgressed his appointmēt, and all that Moses the seruaunt of the Lord commanded, and wold neither heare them nor doo them. ¶ Herefoze in the xiiij. yere of king Hezekiah did Sennacherib kinge of Assiria come by agaynste all the stronge cities of Iuda, & rooke theym. And Hezekiah kinge of Iuda sent to the kinge of Assiria to Lachis, saying: I haue offended, depart from me, and all that thou wilt on me, that

And Hezekiah gaue him all the siluer that was found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the Kinges house. At the same season did Hezekiah rent the doores of the temple of the Lord, and the pillers (which the sayde Hezekiah king of Iuda had couered ouer) and gaue theym to the kinge of Syria. And the kinge of Assyria sente Tharthan and Rablaris and Rabshake from Lachis to king Hezekiah with a great hoste agaynst Ierusalem. And they went vp, and cam to Ierusalem, and gatte them vp, and stood by the conduit of the vpper poole, whiche is in the way of the fullers field. And when they hadde called to the Kinge, there came out to them. Eliakim the sonne of Elia which was steward of the household, & Sobna the scribe, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph, the recorder. And Rabshake said vnto them: Tell ye Hezekiah I praye you: thus sayeth the great king, euen the king of Assyria: what confidence is this that thou hast? Doest thou speake suche a light worde in dede? By counsell and power, I will be ready to make war. On whome then doest thou truste, that thou rebellest agaynst me? doest thou trust in the staffe of this broken reede of Egypt, on which if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pearse it. Euen so is Pharaos kinge of Egypte, vnto all that trust on him. If ye saye vnto me, we truste in the Lord oure God: Is not that hee, whose hill antitares and his other antitares, Hezekiah hath put downe, and hath said to Iuda and Ierusalem, ye shall worshipping before this antitar here in Ierusalem. Now therfore deliuer the wards vnto my Lord the king of Assyria, that ye rebell not, and I wil deliuer thee two thousand hostes, if thou be able to set ryders vpon them: why thinkest thou scoone at the presence of one of the least Dukes of my masters seruants, and trustest to Egypt for chareys and hors

menne? Moreover, am I come nowe without the biddinge of the Lord to this place, to destroy it? the Lord said to me: goo vp to this land, and destroy it. And Eliakim the sonne of Hezekiah, and Sobna, and Ioah said vnto Rabshake: speake (I praye thee) to thy seruants in the Syrians language, for we vnderstand it, and talke not with vs in the Jewes tongue, in the eares of this people that are on the wall. And Rabshake sayde vnto them: hath my master sent me to thy master and to thee to speake these wordes? Hath he not sent me because of the men which spyte on the wall, that they maye ease their owne bounge, and drinke their owne pisse with you? And so Rabshake stode, and cried with a loud voyce in the Jewes language, and spake, saying: heare the sayings of the great king of Assyria. Thus saith the king: let not Hezekiah beggyle you, for he shall not be able to deliuer you out of mine hande, neyther let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying: the Lord shall surely deliuer vs, and this title shall not be geuen ouer into the hande of the king of Assyria. Harken not ye to Hezekiah: for thus sayeth the king of Assyria. Deale kindlye with me, and come oute to me. And then eate carry man of his owne vine, and of his owne figge tree, and drinke euery man of the water of his owne well, till I come, and set you to as good a lande as youres is: a land of corne and wyne, a lande of bread and vineyardes, a lande of oyle, of Olive trees, and of honey: that ye may liue and not dye. And harken not vnto Hezekiah, for he beggyleth you, saying: the Lord shall deliuer vs. Hath euery one of the goddes of the nations deliuered his lande out of the hand of the king of Assyria? where is the God of Hamath, and of Arphad, and where is the God of Sepharvaim, Hena and Iua? did they deliuer Samaria out of mine hande? what God is among al the gods of the nations that hath deliuered his land out of mine hand. Shall the Lord deliuer Ierusalem oute of mine hande? But

But they that were of the people held their peace, and answered him not a word: for the king had commanded, saying: answer him not. Then Eliachim which was the steward of the household, and Shobna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshake.

Ezekiah. 37
So it came to passe, that when king Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes and put on sacke, and came into the house of the Lord, and sent Eliachim which was the steward of his household, and Shobna the scribe, and the elders of the priests clothed in sacke, to Asaph the prophete the sonne of Amos: And they said vnto him, thus saith Hezekiah: This day was day of tribulation, and of rebuke and blasphemys. For the children are come to the birth, & ther is no strength to be deliuered. Peradventure the Lord thy God will heare all the wordes of Rabshake, whom the king of Assyria his master hath sent, to rail on the living God, and to rebuke him with wordes, which the Lord thy God hath heard: And lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left. So the seruantes of king Hezekiah came to Asaph. And Asaph sayde vnto them: So shall ye saye to your master. Thus sayth the Lord: be not afrayde of the wordes whiche thou hast heard, with whiche the ponge men of the king of Assyria haue raysted on me. Beholde, I will put him in another mind, and he shall heare tydings, and so retourne to his owne lande. And I will bring to passe, that he shall fall vpon the sword, & c. And in his owne lande. And Rabshakee wroth againe, and founde the king of Assyria fighting against Libnais: he had heard, howe that he was departed from Lachis. And when hee heard men say of Sennacherib kinge of the blake Moynes: Beholde, hee is come oute to fighte agaynst thee, hee departed, and sente messengers vnto Hezekiah, sayinge: Thus speake to Hezekiah king of Iuda, sayinge: Lette not thy God discaue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying: Ierusalem shall not be deliuered into the hande of the king of Assyria. Beholde thou hast heard what the kinges of Assyria haue done to all landes, howe they haue utterly destroyed the. And thou shalt thou (alone) escape: Haue the Gods of the heathen deliuered them, which mine sunetries haue destroyed: As Hozan, and Haran, Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Bithlassar: where is the kinge of Hamah, and the kinge of Arphad, the king of the cite of Sepharuaim, and of Hena and Iua: So Hezekiah receiueth the letter of the hande of the messengers, and read it: And Hezekiah went vp into the house of the Lord, and layde it abroade before the Lord. And Hezekiah prayed before the Lord and sayde: O Lord God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubs, thou art God alone ouer all the kingedomes of the earth, thou hast made heauen and earth: Lord, bowe downe thine eare, and heare: Open Lord thine eyes, I beseeche thee, and see, and heare the wordes of Sennacherib whiche hath sente this man to rayle on the living God. Of a trueth Lord, the kinges of Assyria haue destroyed nations and their landes, and haue set eye on theyr gods. For they were no Gods, but the worke of the handes of manne: euen of wood and stone. And they destroyed them. Now therefore, O Lord oure God, I beseech thee, save thou vs out of his hand that all the kingedomes of the earth may know, that thou only art the Lord God. And Iſai the son of Amos sente to Hezekiah, saying: thus saith the Lord God of Israel: that which thou hast prayed me concerninge Sennacherib king of Assyria, I haue heard it. This is therefore the worde that the Lord hath sayde of him: The virgin, euen the daughter of Sion hath despised thee, & laughed thee to scorn (O thou king of Assyria) the daughter of Jerusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

• Whom hast thou rayled on, & whom hast thou blasphemed? Agaynst who hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted up thine eyes so hye? Agaynste the holy of Israel. By the hande of thy messengers thou halste rayled on the Lord and sayd: with the multitude of my charrettes, I am come by to the toppes of the mountaines, euen along by the sides of Libanon, and I will cut downe the hye Cedar trees, and the lusty fir trees therof. And I will go into the lodging of his nest, & into the wood of his plaine. I haue digged and dronke stronge waters, and with the sip of my going will I drye al the water pooles that are besieged. Make thou not herd, howe I haue ordeyned suche a thing a great while agoe, and haue prepared it from the beginning? And shall I not nowe bring it forth, that it may destroy, and to bringe the stronge Cities into waste heapes of Rones? And the inhabytours of them shalbe of litle power, and faint herted, and comforted, and. • shalbe like the grashe of the field, or grene herbe, or as the haye on the toppes of the houses, or as the corne that is barripe, & smitten with blasing. I know thy dwellinge, thy comminge out, and thy going in, (and thy waye) and thy surpise agaynste me. And because thou ragest agaynste me, and thinkest thy selfe so blessed: this is come vppon thee vnto myne eares, and I will put my hooke in thy nostrils, and my bit in thy lippes, and will bring thee backe agayne, the same waye thou camest. And this shalbe a signe vnto thee (O Hezekias.) Ye shal eat this yere of such things as growe of them selues, and the next yere suche as come by of those that did growe of theyr owne accorde. And the thirde yere so wye and reape, plant byneparbes, and eat the frutes therof. And it that is escaped and lefte, of the daughter of Iuda, shall yet agayne take rotyng downe warde, and beare fruite by wynde. For out of Ierusalem shall go a remnant, and a number that shall escape out of mount Sion: the ziele of the Lord of hostes shall bringe this thing to passe. Wherefore, thus sayeth the Lord, concerninge the Kinge of Assyria: he shall not come to this cite, nor shoote an arrowe into it, nor come before it with shieldes, nor caste banke against it: but shall goe backe agayne the waye he came, and shall not come into this cite, sayth the Lord. For I will defende this cite, to save it, for myne owne sake, and for Dauid my seruants sake. And so it came to passe, that the selfe same night, the angell of the Lord went out, and smote in the hoste of the Assyrians an hundred, foure score and syue thousande. And when the remnaunte were by cotes in the morning: they sawe, they were all dead carcases. • And so Sennacherib king of Assyria auoyded and departed, and went againe, and dwelt at Ninine. And it fortuneth, that as he was in a temple worshipping Nisroch his god, Bozamelech and Barsar his owne sonnes smote him with the sword. And they escaped into the land of Armenia, and Asar Haddon his son reygnaed in his steele.

and because thou haste humbled thy self before me the Lorde, when thou heardest what I spake agaynst this place, and agaynst the inhabitours of the same (howe that they should be destroyed and accursed:) and hath rent thy clothes and wepte before mee: of that also haue I heard, saith the Lorde. Beholde therefore, I will receyue thee vnto thy fathers, and thou shalt be put into thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill, whiche I will bring vpon this place. And they brought the king word agayne.

The xxij. Chapter.

And then the king sente, and gathered vnto him all the elders of Iuda and of Ierusalem. And the kinge wente vnto the house of the Lorde, with all the men of Iuda, and all the inhabitours of Ierusalem, with the priestes and Prophetes, and all the people bothe small and greate. And he read in the eares of them. all the wordes of the booke of the conuincement, whiche was founde in the house of the Lorde. And the kinge stode by a pillar, and made a conuincement before the Lorde, that they should walk after the Lorde, & kepe his commandements, his witness, and his statutes with all their heart, and all these foules, & make good the wordes of the sayde appoyntments that were written in the sayde booke. And all the people consented to the appoyntments. And the king commanded Helkias the hie Prieste, and the inferior Priestes and the keepers of the ornaments, to bringe oute of the temple of the Lorde, all the vessels that were made for Baal, for the Idole groves, and for all the hoste of heauen. And he burnt them without Jerusalem in the fieldes of Cedron. and carped the ashes of theym into Bethel. And he put downe the ministers of Baal, whom the kinges of Iuda had founded to burne incense in the hill aultares and cities of Iuda that were rounde aboute Jerusalem, and also them that burnt incense vnto Baal, to the sunne, to the Moone, to the planettes, and to all the hoste of heuen. And he brought out the Idols groues from the Temple of the Lorde without Jerusalem vnto the brooke Cedron, & burnt it there at the brooke Cedron, and stampit it to powder, and caste the dust thereof vpon the graves of the children of the people. And he brake downe the ceiles of the male houses that were by the house of the Lorde, where the women woue hangings for the Idols groue. And hee brought all the priestes oute of the ciyties of Iuda, and despyled the hill aultars, where the priestes had burnt incense, euen from Geba to Beerseba, and destroyed the aultars of the gates that were in the entringe in of the gate of Josia, the gouerner of the Citie, whiche were (as a man goeth in) on the left hand of the gate of the city. Nevertheless the priestes of the hill aultars came not vp to the aultar of the Lorde in Jerusalem, saue only they did eate of the swete breade amonge their brethren. And he despyled the pheth which is in the valey of the children of Hinnom, because no man shold offer his son or his daughter in fire to Moloch: he putte downe the houses that the kinges of Iuda had geuen to the Sunne at the entringe in of the house of the Lorde, by the chamber of Nathanniel, the Chamberlayne which was ruler of the suburbs, and burnt the charers of the Sunne with fire. And the aultars that were on the toppe of the parloir of Ithaz (whiche the kinges of Iuda had made) and the aultares which Manasse hadde made in the two courtes of the house of the Lorde, did the kinge brake downe, and ranne thence, and caste the dust of them into the brooke Cedron. And the hill aultars that were besyde Jerusalem on the right hande of the mount Othiel (whiche Salomon the Kinge of Israel had builded for Asarothe Idoll of the Sidonnes, and for Chemosh the Idoll of the Moabites, and for Milchom the abominable Idoll of the children of Ammon) those the kinge despyled: and brake the Images, and cut downe the Idoll groues, and filled their places with the bones of menne. Moreover the aultar that was at Bethel, the hill aultar made by Jeroboam the loon of Ahab (whiche made Israel synne) bothe the aultar and also the hill, he brake downe, and burnt the hill aultar and stampit it to powder, and burnt the Idoll groue. And as Josia turned him selfe, he spied the graves that were in the mount, and sent and sette the bones out of the graves, and burnt them vpon the aultar, to pounce it, accordinge to the wordes of the Lorde that the man of God had sayd, whiche tolde the same wordes. Then he sayde: What grave stone is poulder that I see? And the manne of the Citie tolde him: It is the Sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iuda, and tolde the selfe same thinges that thou haste done to the aultar of Bethel. And he sayd: let him be: see that no man moue his bones. And soo his bones were saued, with the bones of a Prophete that came out of Samaria. And all the houses of the hill aultars in the cities of Samaria, whiche the kinges of Israel had made, to anger (the Lorde) without those Josia put oute of the waye.

Jer. 7. b

And to them according to all the actes that he had doone in Bethell. And he sacrificed all the Priestes of the hill sanctuaries that were there euen vpon the altars, and burnt mennes bones vpon them, and returned to Jerusalem.

And the Kinge commaunded all the people, sayinge: • keepe the feaste of passeouer vnto the Lorde your God, as it is written in the booke of this commandment. • There was no Passouer holden like that from the dayes of the Iudges that iudged Israel, and in all the dayes of the kinges of Israel, and of the Kinges of Iuda.

In the xviij. yere of king Iosia was this passeouer holden vnto the Lorde in Jerusalem. And thereto woorkers with spirittes, and slaynslayers, Images, Idols, and all the abominations that were spied in the lande of Iuda, and in Jerusalem, those did Iosia put out of the way, to perfoyme the woordes of the lawe, which were written in the booke, that Helkiah the Priestee founde in the house of the Lorde: Like vnto him was there no kinge before him, that turned to the Lorde with all his heart, with all his soule, with all his might, according to all the lawe of Moses, neither after him arose ther any such as he. Notwithstandinge the Lorde turned not from the fiercenes of his greates wrath (wherewith he was angry agaynst Iuda) because of all the provocacions that Manasse had provoked him withall. And the Lorde said: • I will put Iuda also, out of my sight, as I have done asyay Israel, and wil take of this city Jerusalem, whiche I have chosen, and the house of which I said: my name shal be there. The rest of the wordes that concerne Iosia and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Iuda.

In his dayes Pharaos Necho kinge of Egypt went by agaynst the king of Assiria to the riuer of Euphrates. And kinge Iosia sente agaynst him, and was slayne of him at Megiddo, where he had seene him. And his seruantes carryed him dead from Magiddo, and broughthe him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his owne Sepulchre. And the people of the lande tooke Jehoahaz the son of Iosia, and annointed him, and made him Kinge in his fathers seeede. Jehoahaz was xxiij. yere olde when he beganne to reygne, and reigned thre monthes in Jerusalem. His mothers name also was Hamiel, the daughter of Jeremia of Libna. And he did euill in the sight of the Lorde, according to all thinges as his fathers had don. And Pharaos Necho put him in bondes at Ribba in the lande of Hamath, that hee shoulde not reygne in Jerusalem, and put the land to a tribute of an hundred talents of siluer, and a talent of gold. And Pharaos Necho made Eliakim the sonne of Iosia king in the roume of Iosia his father, and turned his name to Jehoakim, and tooke Jehoahaz awaye, whiche when hee came to Egypt, dyed there. And Jehoakim gaue the siluer and the golde to Pharaos: and taxed the lande, to geue the money accordinge to the requeste of Pharaos, requiring of euery man, (according to thre habilitie) siluer and golde: enen of the people of the lande, to geue vnto Pharaos Necho. Jehoakim was xxb. yere olde when he began to reygne, and he reigned xxi. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name also was Zebuda the daughter of Bedai of Rama. And he did that which was euill in the sighte of the Lorde, according to all thinges as his fathers had done.

The xxiiij. Chapter.

In his dayes camme Nabuchodonosor kinge of Babilon vpp, and Jehoakim became his seruante thre yere, and then turned, and rebelled agaynst him. And the Lorde sente vpon him men of war from among the Caldees, fro among the Sirians, out of the Moabites, and from the childzen of Ammon, and sent them agaynst Iuda, to destroye it, according to the sayinge of the Lorde, whiche he spake by his seruantes the Prophetes. Onely, at the bidding of the Lorde happened it so to Iuda, to putte them oute of his sight, for the sinnes of Manasse, according to all that he did: and for the Inno-cent bloud that he shed, and filled Ierusalem with innocent bloud: and the Lorde woulde not be reconciled. The rest of the wordes that concerne Jehochim, and all that he dyde, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kinges of Iuda? And so Jehochim slepte with his fa-

And the Kinge of Egypt came no more out of his lande: for the king of Babilon had taken fro the river of Egypt vnto the river of Euphrates, all that pertayned to the king of Egypt. Jehochim was xviij. yere olde, and reigned in Hierusalem thre months. His mothers name also was Nehusta, the daughter of Elnathan of Ierusalem. And he did that which was euill in the sight of the Lorde, according to all as his father had done. In that time came the seruantes of Nabuchadnezar kinge of Babilon by agaynst Ierusalem, and the Citie was besieged. And Nabuchadnezar the king of Babilon came agaynst the Citie: and his seruantes did besiege it. And Jehochim the king of Iuda came out to the Kinge of Babilon, he and his mother, his seruantes, his lordes, and his chamberlaines. And the king of Babilon tooke him in the eyghte yere of his reigne. And he caried out thence all the treasures of the house of the Lorde. And the treasures of the kings house: a brake all the vessels of golde, which Salomon king of Israel had made in the temple of the Lorde, as the Lorde hadde sayde. And he caried awaye all Ierusalem, and all the lordes, and all the stronge menne of warre, euen ten thousande into captiuitie: and all craftes men, and keepers, none remayninge saue the poore common people of the lande. And he caried away Jehochim to Babilon, and the kinges mother, and the kinges wyues, his chamberlaynes, and them that were mighty in the land, those caried he away into captiuitie from Ierusalem to Babilon. And all the active men of war, euē. by thousand: & craftsmen and porters, a thousand. All that were strong and apt for warre, did the king of Babilon bring to Babilon captiue. And the king of Babilon made Mathania his fathers brother, kinge in his see-de, and chaunged his name to Zedekia. Zedekia was, xxi. yere olde when he began to reygne, and he reigned eleuen yere in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Hamital, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libna. And he did euill in the sight of the Lorde, according to all as Jehochim had done. For the wrath of the Lorde was moued agaynst Ierusalem and Iuda, vntill he made them oute of his sight. And Zedekia rebelled agaynst the king of Babilon.

C The. xxb. Chapter.

And it fortunēd, that in the nyynth yere of his reigne, the tenth day of the tenth month: Nabuchadnezar kinge of Babilon came, he & all his host agaynst Ierusalem, & pitched agaynst it, and made ruggins agaynst it on euery syde. And the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yere of king Zedekia. And the ninth day of the moneth, there was so great hunger in the citie, that there was no breade for the people of the land. And the citie was broken by: and all the men of armes fledde by night away, throue a gate which is betwene two walles, by the kinges garden: the Chaldees lying about the Citie. And the king went the waye towards the plain. And the souldiers of the Chaldees folowed after the king, and toke him in the plynne of Jericho, and all his armie were scattered away from him, and (lefte him.) So they toke the king, and broughte him to Nabuchadnezar, the kinge of Babilon.

to Ribla, where they reasoned with him. And they slue the sonnes of Zedekia before his eyes: and he put out the eyes of Zedekia, and fettered him with two chaynes, and carped him to Babilō. And the seventh day of the fyfth moneth, which is the nyntieth yere of kinge Nabuchadnezer kinge of Babilon, came Nabufaradan a seruant of the kinge of Babilon, and chiefe captayne of the men of warre, vnto Ierusalem: and burnt the house of the Lorde, and the kinges house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and al great houses burnt he with fyre. And all the fouldiours of the Chaldees that were with the chiefe captaynes of the meyne of warre, broke downe the wals of Ierusalem round about. But the rest of the people that were left in the Citie, and them that were fled to the kinge of Babilon, with the remnaunte of the common people, did Nabufaradan the chiefe captayne of the men of warre, carpe away: but the captayne of the fouldiours left of the poore of the land, to dress the vines, and to til the ground.

And the pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lorde, and the sockettes, and the brasen lanatoyze that was in the house of the Lorde did the Chaldees breake, and carped all the brasse of them to Babilon. And the portres, chouches, dyssinge knynges, spones, and all the vesselles of brasse that they ministred in, tooke they away. And the fyre pannes, and basens, and suche thinges as were of golde, and of siluer, theym tooke the chiefe captayn away, euen two pillars one lanatoyze, and the sockettes which Salomon had made for the house of the Lorde. The brasse of all these vesselles was withoute wayght. The heryghth of the one pillar was. xviij. cubites, and the heade thereof was brasse, and thre cubites hie, and vpon the head was there a wytheren wythe, and pomgranates rounde about; all of brasse. And of the same fashion was the second pillar with a wytheren wythe. And the chiefe captayne of the men of

warre toke Saraia the chiefe prieste, and Zephoniah the hiest prieste sauons, and the thre keepers of the holys thinges. And out of the citie he tooke a chamberlayne, that had the surseyght of the men of warre, and. v. men of them that were euer in the kinges presence, whiche were founde in the citie: and him that was scribe to the captayne of the hoste, which broughte out the people of the lande to warre, and thre score men of the people of the lande, that were founde in the Citie. And Nabufaradan the chiefe captayne of the men of warre tooke these, and brought them to the kinge of Babilon to Ribla. And the king of Babilon smote theym, and slue theym at Ribla in the land of Hanath. And so Iuda was carped away out of their land. Howbeit, there remayned people in the lande of Iuda, whom Nabuchadnezer kinge of Babilon left, and made Gedalia, the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, ruler ouer them. And al the captains of the soudiers, and other men hearde, that the kinge of Babilon had made Gedalia gouerner: and there came to Gedalia Ahazphah: Ismael the son of Netanias, Iohannan the sonne of Natts, Saraia the son of Chanhumeth, the Netophatite, and Jezania, the sonne of Maachati, and theyr men. And Gedalia swore to thes to the men whom they had with them, & said vnto them: Feare not ye, because ye are the seruants of the Chaldees: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babilon, and ye shalbe well. But it chaunced in the seventh moneth, that Ismael the son of Netanias, the son of Elisama, of the kings bloud, came, and ten men with him, and smote Gedalia, that he dyed: and so did he the Jewes and the Chaldees, & were with him at Mizpa. And all the people, both small and great, and the captains of warre arose and came to Egypt: for they were as frayde of the Chaldees. Notwithstanding yet in the seven and thirtie yeres after Jehoaquin king of Iuda was caried away the seven and twenty the day of the twelwth moneth, Evil-merodach king of Babilon, the same ycare that he beganne to reygne, did lyfte by the heade of Jehoahim kinge of Iuda oute of the prifon, and spake kindlye to him, and let his feate above the feat of the kinges that were with him in Babilon: and changed his prifon garmentes. And he did ever eate hynde befoze him, all the dayes of his lyfe. His portion was a continuall portion that was assigned him of the king, every day a crayne as longe as he lived.

 of the gates of the house of the Lozde, euen of the Tabernacle to keepe them.

2u. 3. d.

In foure quarters did they keepe the watchtowers of the East, West, North and South. And their brethren remained in the countrey, and cannes after seven dayes from tyme to tyme with them. For the Levites (whiche had the ouersight of the vestryes and treasures of the house of God,) were vnder the custodie of four notable porters: and they laye rounde aboute the house of God: because the keepinge thereof pertayned to them, and they had the keyes to open euery morning.

 And certayne of them had the rule of the ministringe vessels, and broughte them in and out by tale. Some of the were appoynted to ouersee the vessels, and all the ornaments of the sanctuary, and the flour, wine, oyle, frankensence and sweete odours. And certayne of the sonnes of the Priestes made oymntmentes of the sweete odours.
 And Mathathias one of the Levites whiche was the eldest sonne of Sal-um the Cozahite, had the ouerspyghte of the thinges that were made in the tryng panne. And other of they brethren the sonnes of Cozab hadde the ouersight of the Shewbread, whiche they prepared euerie Sabbath. These are the singers, euen auncient fathers of the Levites, whiche dwelt in seperate chamb:rs: and were free, for they had to do in the Temple both day and night. These were auncients fathers of the Levites in theyr generations, & dwelt at Jerusalem. And in Gibeon dwelt Abi Gidon and Jehiel, whose wife was called Moacha, his eldest sonne was Iddon, then Zur, Cis, Baal, Mer and Mahab: Gedon, Zib-zacharia and Meshior. And Mahab begat Shimean. And they also dwelt with their brethren at Jerusalem, euen hardy by them. And Mer begat Cis, Cis begat Baal. And Baal begat Jehonathan, Melchias, Iddon & Esbaal. And the sonne of Jehonathan was Meribaal. And Meribaal begat Micah, and the sons of Micah were Ithion, Melech and Chaphin. And Ithion begat Jappa, Jappa begat maneth, Ammaneth, Jami, Jami begat Moza, Moza begat Benia, Benia sonne of Ephai, and his sonne was Oshai, and his sonne Azel. And Azel had sixe sons, whose names are these: Agurion, Bachan, Ithupell, Bearia, Oshai and Hanan. These are the sonnes of Azel.

The .x. Chapter.

And the Philistines foughte against Israel. And the men of Israel fled befoze the Philistines, and were overthrowen and wounded in mount Gihon. And the Philistines folowed, and were furce after Haul and his sonnes, and the Philistines smote. Jehonathan and Abinadab and Malchisua the sonnes of Haul: And the battell wente soze against Haul, and the archers founde him, and he was wounded of shoters.
Then sayd Haul to his weapon bearer: I have the sword, and thrust me through therewith, that these uncircumcised come not, and do me shame.
But his weapon bearer woulde not, for he feared exceedingly. So Haul caught a sword, and fell vpon it. And when his harnes bearer sawe that Haul was deade, he fell on another sword also, and died. And thus Haul and his three sonnes, and al they of his house died together. And when al the men of Israel that were in the battell sawe howe they fled, and that Haul and his sonnes were deade, they forsoke theyr cities and came away, and the Philistines came and dwelte in them. And it happened that on the mooraine when the Philistines came (to strip the dead bodies) they found Haul and his sonnes overthrowen in mount Gihon. And when they had stripped him, they took his heade, and his harnes, and sente them into the lande of the Philistines round about to shewe them unto theyr ydols, and to the people. And they putte his harnes in the house of their God, and sette by his heade in the temple of Dagon. And when all they of Iabes in Gihon heard of that the Philistines had done to Haul, they arose (all the men of Iabes) and they sayd, the bones of Haul, and the bones of his sonnes, and broughte them to Iabes, and buried the bones of them vnder anoke in Iabes, and fasted .vij. days.

So Haul repaid for his trespass that he trespassed against the Lord, in that he kept not the word of the Lord, and in that he sought and asked counsel of a woman that wrought with a spirit, and asked not the Lord. And therfore he sue him, and turned the kingdome vnto David the sonne of Isai.

The .xi. Chapter.

Then all Israel gathered them to David vnto Hebron, • saying: Beholde, wee bee thy bones and thy fleshe. And mozeouer in time past, even whenne Haul was king, thou leddest Israel out and in.
And the Lord thy God said vnto thee: thou shalt fede my people Israel, and thou shalt be capitaine ouer my people Israel. Therefore came all the elders of Israel to the king to Hebron, and David made a couenaunt with them in Hebron, befoze the Lord. And they anoynted David king ouer Israel, • according to the word of the Lord by the hande of Samuel. And David and all Israel wente to Jerusalem, which is Iebus: wherwas were the Gebusytes, inhabitants of the lande.
And the inhabitants of Iebus sayde to David: thou comest not here. Neverthelesse David won the castell of Sion, whiche is called the Citie of David. And David sayd, whosoever smitteth the Gebusytes first, shall bee the principall captayne and a Lord.
So Ioab the sonne of Zeruia went first by, and was made the chiefe captaine. And David dwelt in the castles of Sion, and therefore they called it the Citie of David. And he built the Citie on euery syde, even from Millo rounde about, and Ioab repayed the reste of the Citie. And David prospered and waxed great, and the Lord of hostes was with him. These are the principall men of power whome David hadde, and that came to him in his kingdome with all Israel to make him Kinge, according to the word of the Lord vnto Israel. And this is the number of the mighty men whom David had: Isobeam the son of Bachmont, the chiefe amonge thirtye, he lift vp his speare agaynst thye hundred, and wounded them at one tyme. After him was Eleazar his vn-cles sonne an Ithrite, whiche was one of the thye myghtyest. He was with David at Bas-dammim, and ther the Philistines were gathered together to battell. And there was there a parcell of ground full of barley, and the people fledde before the Philistines. And they, the thye asoylaid kept forth into the middes of the field, and sawed it from burninge, and sowe the tye chiefe captaynes wente to a rocke to David, into the Cane Achis. And the hoste of the Philistines assailed in the valley of Rephaim. And when David was in the holde, the Philistines watche was at Bethlehem that same tyme. And David longed, and sayde: O that one woulde geue me drinke of the water of the well that is at the gate at Bethlehem.

And the thye drake through the hoste of the Philistines, and drew water out of the well, that was by the gate at Bethlehẽ, and toke it, and brought it to David. Nevertheless, David woulde not drinke of it, but rather offered it to the Lord, and sayd: my God forbid it me, that I shoulde doo this thinge. Shall I drinke the bloud of these men, that haue put their luyes in teopardye: (for with the teopardie of they luyes they brought it) therefore E he would not drinke of it. And this did these thye myghtyest. And Abisai the brother of Joab, he also was captaine amonge thye: for he lift vp his speare agaynst thye hundred, and wounded them, and had a name amonge the thye: Yea amonge thye, he was more honorable then the two, for hee was they captayne. Howbeit, he attained not vnto the (firste) thye. Banai the sonne of Jehoiada the sonne of a be-tye stronge manne did greater actes then Abisai: for he slew two stronge Lyons of Moab, and went downe, and slew a Lion in a pit in tyme of snawe.

And he slew an Egyptian, whose stature was euen siue cubites longe, and in the Egyptians hande was a speare lyke a weavers beame. And the other wente downe to him with a water, and plucked the speare out of the Egyptians hande, and slew him with his owne speare. Suche thinges did Banai the sonne of Jehoiada, and had the name amonge the thye myghtyest, and was honorable amonge xxx. but attained not vnto the firste thye.
And David made him of his counsaile. The other men of armes were these: Ishai the brother of Joab, Elihanan his vncles sonne of Bethlehem: Samoth the Harodite, Helez the Pelonite, Ira the sonne of Je-kes the Cheruite, Abiezer the Be-niamite, Sibcai the Husathite, Iai the Ithrite, Maharai the Nephthalite, Heled the sonne of Bonai the Perithaphite, Ittai the sonne of Ribai of Gibeon that prayeneth to the children of Ben Jamin: Banai the Gharathite, Hurai of the riuers of Gasa: Abiezer the Be-niamite, Dathan the Bashanite, E-liabai the Gathite. The sonnes of Hachai the Gersonite: Jonathan, the sonne of Hage, an Ithrite, Shi-am the sonne of Sacar the Harathite, Eliphal the sonne of Ur, Hepter the Mecherathite, Ahia the Pelonite, Hezro the Carmelite, Hanani the son of Chai, Joell the brother of Nathan, Hibbar the sonne of Huri, Jelegai the Ammonite, Shammai the Beerothite, the deares of the harness of Joab the sonne of Zeruia. Ira the Ithrite, and Gareb a Ithrite, Uri the Bethite, and Zabab the sonne of Ailai, Adina the sonne of Amichai, Rubenite, a captayne of the Ruben-ites, and thirtie with him, Hanan the sonne of Maachab, and Jonathan the Gathite, and Ishai an Ithrite, Samma and Jehiell the sonnes of Nathan an Ithrite, Jehiell the sonne of Shur and Isha his brother an Egyptian, Eliel a Hahonite, Jeribai and Jashai the sonnes of Elnaon, and Ithraim a Moabite, Eliel and Obed, and Jaserai a Gileadite.

Chapter. xij.

These are they that came to David to Bether, while hee yet kept himselfe close, because of Hushai the son of Elai, and they were very strong helpers in battell. They were armed with bowes, and coude hurle stones with the rpyghte hande, and with the left, and shoote arrows out of a bowe, and were of Hushai's brethren even of Ben Jamin. The chieft were Abiezer, and Joas the sonnes of Amias, a Gibeonite, and Joziel and Pelet the sonnes of Asmoneth. Beracah and Jehu of Anathoth, and Jinnai, a Gibeonite, a mighty man among thirtie, and more then the thirtie, Jeremiah, Jehozieil, Johanan, and Josabab of Gedor. Eleasai, Jerimoth, Bealia, Semaria, and Seraphia, the Haraphites, Elcanah, Jesai, Agarai, Jozer, Josbedam, Hachmuni, Joela and Jechabiah, the sonnes of Jerodan of Jechab. And of the Gadites there separated theym selves, some unto David into the holde of the wilderness, men of might and minde for warre, and that coude handle shield and speare, whose faces were like the faces of Lions, and they were as swift as the Rooses in the mountaynes. Of the firste, Obed the second, and Eliab the third, Hushai the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth, Arhai the sixte, Eliel the seventh, Johanan the eighth, Elisabath the ninth, Jeremiah the tenth, and Hachbanaai the eleventh. These were of the sonnes of Gad, and were captaynes over the men of warre, the small purged an hundred, and the greates a thousand. These are they that went over Jordan in the first moneth, while he hadde filled over all his banckes. And they put to flyght all them of the holley, both towardes the East and west. And there came of the children of Benjamin and Juda to the holde unto David. And David went oute to meete them, and answered, and sayd unto them: if ye be come peaceably unto me, to helpe me, myne heart shalbe knit unto you. But and yf you come to betraye me to mine aduersaries, (seeinge there is no wickednesse in myne handes) the God of our fathers looke thereon, and rebuke it. And the spirite came vppon Amasai, whiche was the chiefe amonge thirtie, and he said: Thine are we David, and on thy syde thou sonne of Elai: Peace, peace be unto thee, & peace be to thynne helpers, for thy God is thine helpe. Then David receyved theym, and made theym heades of companies of the men of warre. And there fell some of Manasse to David, when he came with the Philistines against Haul to battell, but they helped them not. For the Lordes of the Philistines toke aduilement, and sent him awaye agayne, sayinge: he will fall to his maker Haul, to the trophye of our heades. As he wente to Bether, there fell to him of Manasse: Adra, Jozabab, Jechiel, Micharil, Jozabab, Galihu and Zithai, heades of the thousandes that were of Manasse. And they holp David agaynst the rouers. For they were all myghtie men of warre, and captaynes in the holle. For at that tyme there came one after to David, daye by daye, to helpe him, until it was a great host, like the host of God. And this is the number of the chief captaynes that were prepared to battell, and came to David to Hebron, to tourne the kingdome of Haul to him, according to the worde of the Lord. The children of Juda that bare shield and speare, were sixe thousande and eight hundred readye prepared to the war. Of the children of Simeon, men of might to warre, seven thousande and one hundred. Of the children of Leui, foure thousand and sixe hundred. And Jehoiada was the chiefe of them of Aaron, and with him thire thousande and seven hundred. And Zadock a yeunge man, strong & valeaunt, and of his fathers household, xxij. captaines. And of the children of Ben Jamin the brethren of Saul, three thousand. And a great part of the vid (vnto that time) totow the house of Saul. And of the children of Ephraim, xx. thousande and eight hundred mighty men of warre, and famous men in the householde of their fathers. And of the halfe tribe of Manasse, xviij. thousande, whiche were appoynted by name to come and make Dauid kinge. And of the children of Issachar, whiche were menne that had vnderstandinge in the right spynne, to knowe (howe to commaund) what Israel ought to doo. The heades of them were thousande hundred, and all their brethren were at their will. And of Zabulon that went out to the battaile, and proceeded forth to the warre, with all maner of instrumentes of warre, sixty thousand that were prepared to the warre, withoute anye doubtenesse of hert. And of Naphtali, a thousand captaines, & with the with shield and speare, xxviij. thousande. And of Dan prepared to battaile, xviij. thousande, and syxe hundred. And of Aser, that wente off to the warre, and kepte the forefront of the battaile fourte thousande. And of the other syde of Jordan, of the Rubenites and Gadites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasse, with all maner of instrumentes of warre, an hundred and twentie thousand. All these were men of warre keepinge the forefront of the battaile with perfect heart, and came to Helizon to make Dauid kinge ouer al Israel. And al the rest of Israel was of one accord, to make Dauid kinge. And there they were with Dauid. iij. days eating and drynking: for their brethren had prepared for theym. Moreover, they that were nye them, vntil Issachar, Zabulon and Naphtali, brought bread on asses, camels, mules, and oxen, and meate, flowre, figges, realings, wyne, and oyle, oxen, and sheepe abundantlye. For there was toye in Israel.

The .xij. Chapter,

AND Dauid consulted with all the captaines of thousande and hundredes, and with all the Lozdes, and saide vnto all the congregation of Israel: If it seeme you good and to be of the Lozde our God, we will take and send vnto oure brethren that are left in all the lande of Israel, and with them also, to the Priestes and Levites, whiche are in their Cities and suburbs, to gather theym together vnto vs. And wher we will bringe agayne the Arke of the Lozde to vs: for we regarded it not in the days of Saul. And all the congregation was content that he should do so, for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people. So Dauid gathered all Israel together frst wher they were in Egypt, vnto the entering of Henniath, to bringe the Arke of the Lozde frst Mariah Jarim. And Dauid wente by, and all Israel to an hye place towarde Bethlath Jarim, that was in Jude, to sette thence the Arke of the Lozde God, that dwelleth betwene the Cherubens: where his name is called on. And they caried the Arke of God in a newe carte, out of the house of Binadab. And Uzza and his brother gupped the corte. And Dauid and all Israel plaid before the Arke of God w al their might, with singing and harpes, psalteries and timbrels, and from petes. And wher they cam to the thyrtyngs Roope of Chidon, Uzza putte forth his hande to holde the Arke, for the oxen (being a little wilde) stumbled. And the Lozde was wroth with Uzza, & smote him, because he put his hande to the Arke. And there he dyed before God. And Dauid was oute of quier, because the Lozde had rent a rent in Uzza, and he called the name of that place, the rentinge of Uzza vnto this day. And Dauid was afrayd of God that day, saying: How shall I bring the Arke of God home to me? And so Dauid brought not the Arke home to him to the cite of Dauid: But caried it into the house of Obed Edom, a Gethite. And the Arke of God remayned with Obed Edom, euen in his house three monethes. And the Loyde blessed the house of Obed Edoim, and all that he had.

¶ The.xij. Chapter.

SO Hyam the king of Eire sent messengers to Dauid, and timber of Cedar trees, with masons and carpenters, to build him an house. And Dauid perceiued that the Loyde had confirmed him king vpon Israel, and that his kingdom was set vp on his, because of his people Israel. And Dauid tooke yet moe wyues at Jerusalem, and begat moe sonnes and daughters. These are the names of his children which were boyns vnto him at Jerusalem: Samua, Sobab, Nathan and Salomon, Ithbar, Eliab, and Eliphale, Hoga, Nepheg, & Iaphia, Elisama, Beeliada, and Eliphalet. And when the Philistines herd that Dauid was anointed king vpon all Israel, all the Philistines went vp to the Dauid. And Dauid hearde of it, and went out agaynst them. And the Philistines came in, and prauised through the valley of Gephaim. And Dauid asked counsaile at God, saying: that I go agaynst the Philistines, and wile thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Loyde sayde vnto him: go vp, for I wile deliuer them into thyne hand. And so they came vp to Baal Perazim, and Dauid smote the there. And Dauid saide: God hath deuised mine enemies with mine hand, as a man would deuise water. And therefore they called the name of that place Baal Perazim. And when they had lefte their Goddes there, Dauid gaue a commaundement, & they wile burnt with fire. And the Philistines came together agayne, and rushed into the valley. And Dauid asked agayne at God. And God said to him: go not vp after them, but turne awaye from them, thile thou mayest come vpon them, ouer agaynst the pearctrees. And when thou hearest a sounde god in the toppes of the pearctrees, then goe oute to battaile: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the hooles of the Philistines. Dauid therefore did as God commaunded him, & they smote the host of the Philistines, from Gibeon to Gazer. And the name of Dauid went oute into all landes, and the Loyd made all nations feare him.

AND Dauid made him houses in the city of Dauid, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a sente. Then Dauid sayde: The arke of God ought not to be caried but of the Leuites. For them hath the Loyde chosen to beare the Arke of the Loyde, and to minister vnto him for euer. And Dauid gathered all Israel together to Jerusalem, to sette the Arke of the Loyde vnto his place, which he hadde ordayned for it. And Dauid broughte together the children of Aaron and the Leuites. Of the sonnes of Cohath was Elziel the chiefe, and of his brethren there were an hundred and. xx. Of the children of Merari, Alai the chiefe: and of his brethren. ij. hundred and twentye. Of the sonnes of Gerson, Joel the chiefe: and of his brethren an hundred and thirtie. Of the children of Elizaphan, Semmala the chiefe: and of his brethren, two hundred. Of the sonnes of Hebzon, Eliel the chiefe: and of his brethren cxxij. Of the sonnes of Uzziel, Aminadab the chiefe: and of his brethren an. C. and. xij. And Dauid called Zadock and Abisathar the Priests & the Leuites, Uzziel, Alai, Joel, Samala, Eliel, and Aminadab, and said vnto them: Ye that are the principall fathers of the Leuites, see that ye be holy with your brethren that ye may bring in the Arke of the Loyde God of Israel, vnto the place that I haue prepared for it. For because ye were not there at the first, the Loyd our God made a rent among vs, for that we sought him not, as the fashion oughte to be. So the priests and the Leuites sanctified them selues: to sette the Arke of the Loyd GOD of Israel, And the children of the Leuites tes bare the arke of God upon their shoulders with staves thereon, as Moyses commaunded, accordinge to the woordes of the Lord. And Dauid spake to the chiefe heades of the Levites, that they shoulde appoynte certayne of their brethren to singe with instrumentes of musicke, psalteryes, harpes and limballes that they myght make a sound, and to sing on hys with topfainelles: And the Levites appoynted Herman the sonne of Joel: and (of his brethren) Blaph the sonne of Berechias: And of the sonnes of Merari, and of their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Cusai: And with them their brethren of the seconde degree: Zacharia, Ben Jaaziel, Semiramoth, Jehiel, Ammi, Eliab, Benaiahu, Maasiah, Matathiah, Eliphalehu, Mikniah, Obed EDOM, and Jziel, porters. So Herman, Blaph, and Ethan the singers made a sounde with limballes of brasse. And Zacharia, Jziel, Semiramoth, Jehiel, Ammi, Eliab, Maasiah, and Benaiahu, played with psalteries on an Harp. Matathiah, Eliphalehu, Mikniah, Obed EDOM, Jziel and Azariah played upon harpes, an eyght aboute with courage. And Chenaiahu the chiefe of the Levites, was master of the song for he taughte other to singe, because he was a man of vnderstanding. Berechias and Elcana kepte the doore of the Arke. And Secanaihu, Jeholaphat, Netthaniell, Imalai, Zachariahu, Banaiahu and Elizer the Priests did blowe with trompettes before the Arke of God. And Obed EDOM and Jithai were keepers of the doore of the arke. And Dauid and the elders of Israel, and the captaynes ower thousandes went to set the Arke of the appointment of the Lord out of the house of Obed EDOM with gladnes. And when God helped the Levites that bare the arke of the appointment of the Lord, they offered seven oxen, and seven rammes. And Dauid had on him a linnen garment, like as had also all the Levites that bare the arke, and so had the singers, and Chanania the ruler of the song, with the singers. And Dauid had upon him an Ephod of linnen. And all they of Israel brought the Arke of the Lordes covenant with shewing, and blowing of shawme, and trompettes, making a noyse with limballes, psalteries and harpes. And as the Arke of the appointment of the Lord came into the Citie of Dauid, Michol the daughter of Saul, looking out at a window, sawe Kinge Dauid dancing and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

The xvi. Chapter.

So they brought in the Arke of God and sette it in the middest of the tente that Dauid pitched for it. And they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God. And when Dauid had made an ende of offering the burnt offerings and peace offerings, hee blessed the people in the name of the Lord. And he dealt to all Israel (both man and woman) a crackerell of bread, and a good piece of fleshe, and a slacket of wyne. And he appoynted certayne of the Levites to minister before the Lord, and to repete, and to thanke and playe the Lord God of Israel. And Blaph was the chiefe, and next to him Zacharia, Jziel, Semiramoth, Jehiel, Matathias, Eliab, Benaias, Obed EDOM, and Jziel with psalteries and harpes. But Blaph made a sounde with limballes. Benaiahu & Jehoziel Priests blew with trompettes continually before the Arke of the covenant of God. And that same time Dauid did appoint chieflie to thanke the Lord, by Blaph and his brethren. O geve thanks unto the Lord, call upon his name, make his acts knowne amonge the people. Sing unto him and playe unto him, talke of all his wonderfull dedes. Reioyce in his holie name: let the heartes of them that seeke the Lord be gladd. Seeke the Lord and his strength: Seeke his presence alway. Remember his marvelles which he did, and his wonders, and the iudgements of his mouth.

The serbes of Israel are his servants: the children of Jacob are his chosen. He is the Lord our God: in all landes are his iudgements. Thinke on his appointmēt for euer, and on the woordes which he commaunded to a thousande generations. Whiche hee made with Abraham, and of his othe to Isaac, which he set before Jacob for a decree, and to Israel for an euerlasting covenant, saying: To thee will I geue the land of Canaan, to be the portion of poure inheritance. When you were fewe and small in number, and sojourners therein. And they walked from nation to nation, and from one kingdome to another people. He suffered no man to do them wrong: but rebuked euen kings for their sakes.

C Touche not mine annoynted, and doo my prophets no harme. Sing vnto the Lord all the earth, and shewe from day to day his saluation. Tell of his glory among the heathen: his wonderful deedes among all nations. For great is the Lord, and woorthie to be prayed exceedingly: he is to be feared aboue all Gods. For all the goddesses of the people are of no value: But the Lord made heauen. Praise and honour are in his presence: strength and gladnes are in his place. Ascribe vnto the Lord ye kindreds of people: Ascribe to the Lord glory and dominion: Ascribe vnto the Lord, the glorie due vnto his name. Bring sacrifices and come before him, and worship the lord with halpe honour. Let all the earth feare him, although he compasseth the earth be so established, that it cannot be moued: let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad, and let men tell among the nations, that the Lord is king. Let the sea thunder, and the faldes thereof: let the fieldes reioyce, and all that is therein. Then shall the trees of the wood reioyce at the presence of the Lord, because he commeth to iudge the earth. O geue thanks vnto the Lord, for he is good, for his mercy endureth euer: and say ye, same be O God of our saluation, gather vs together, and deliuer vs from emong the heathen, that we may geue thanks to thy holpe name, and triumphe in the people of thee. Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all people say Amen. and praise the Lord. And so he left there before the Arke of the Lordes couenante, Asaph and his brethren to minister before the Arke continually, in suche thinges as were to be doone day by day. (and that by their courses.) And Obed Edom and his brethren, the scoze and eght, and Obed Edom the son of Jeduthun, and Hosa were appointed to bee porters. And Zadocke the Priest, and his brethren the priests, were before the tabernacle of the Lord, in the hye place that was at Gibeon, to offer burnte offerings vnto the Lord, vpon the burnt offering aulzar perpetualle, in the morninge and euening, according to all that whiche is written in the lawe of the Lord, whiche he commaunded Israel. And with them were Heman and Jeduthun, and other that were chosen (whose names were expressed) to geue thanks to the lord, that his mercy lasteth euer. And with them did Heman and Jeduthun, singe with the Trompers and Hymballes, making a sweet melody with instruments of musicke and godly songes. And the sonnes of Jeduthun were porters. And all the people departed, euery manne to his house, and David returned to blesse his house.

AND it fortuned that whē David dwelt in his house, he sayd to Nathan the prophēt: loe, I dwell in an house of Cedar tree: but the Arke of the Lordes couenante remaineth vnder curtayns. And Nathan sayde vnto David: doo all that is in thine heart, for God is with thee. And the same night it fortuned, that the woorde of God came to Nathan, sayinge: goo and tell David my seruante, thus sayth the Lord: Thou shalt not buyde me an house to dwell in. For I have dwelt in no house since the daye that I broughte out the chyldren of Israel, vnto this daye: but haue gone from tent to tent, and from one habitation to another. And wheresoeuer I haue swelched with all Israel, I spake I euer one word to any of the Iudges of Israel, (whom I commaunded to feede my people) saying: Why haue ye not built me an house of Cedar tree? Nowe therfore, thus saith thou say vnto my seruauit Dauid: thus saith the Lord of hostes: I tooke thee out of the pastures when thou wentest after shepe that thou shouldest be captayne ouer my people Israel. And I haue bene with thee whither soeuer thou hast walked, and haue weeded out all thine enemyes out of thy sighte, and haue made thee a name, like the name (of one) of the greatest menne that are in the earth. And I haue ordeined a place for my people Israel, and made it fast: so that nowe they may dwell in theyr place, and moue no more. Neither shall the chyldren of wickednes bere them any more as at the beginninge. And since the time that I commaunded Iudges to be ouer my people Israel, I haue subdued all thyn enemyes, and I tolde thee, that the Lord would buyde thee an house. This also shall come to passe: when thy dayes be expired, that thou muste go vnto thy fathers, I will rase by thy seede after thee, whith shalbe of thy sonnes, and I will prepare for him the kingdome. He shall build me an house, and I will stablish his seate for euer. I will be his father, and he shall be my sonne, and I will not take my mercye away from him, as I toke it fro him that was before thee. But I will set him in mine house and in my kingdome for euer. And his seate shall be sure for euermore. Accordyng to all these wordes, and accordyng to all this vision, did Nathan tell Kinge Dauid. And Dauid the kinge came and sat before the Lord, & sayd: What am I (O Lord God,) and what is myne householde, that thou hast promoted me thus hight? And yet thou hast litle in thine eyes. O God: But thou hast spoken also of thy seruauit house for a great while to come: and hast looked vpon me as vpon a man of hye degree (O Lord God.) What shall Dauid desire more of thee for the honour of thy seruauits? For thou hast knowen thy seruauit: O Lord, for thy seruauits sake, euen accordyng to thine owne heart hast thou done all this magnificence, to shewe all great thinges. Lord, there is none lyke thee, neither is ther any God save D thou, accordyng to all that we haue hearde with oure eares. Moreover, what nation on the earth is lyke the people Israel, to whom God hath vouchsafed to come and redeeme them to be his owne people, and to make thee a name of excellencye and terribleness, with casting out nations from before the people, whom thou hast deliuered out of Egypt? Thy people of Israel diddest thou make thine owne people for euer, and thou becamest their God. Therefore nowe Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruauit, and his house, be true for euer, that thou doo as thou hast sayd: let it come to passe, that thy name may be magnified for euer, that it maye be sayde: the Lord of Hostes is the God of Israel (euen the God of Israel) and the house of Dauid thy seruauit endureth stable before thee. For thou (O my God) hast tolde thy seruauit, that thou wilt buyde him an house. And therefore thy seruauit hath founde in his heart to praye before thee. And nowe Lord, thou art God, and hast promised this goodnes vnto thy seruauit. Nowe therefore, let it be thy pleasure to blesse the house of thy seruauit, that it maye continue before thee for euer. For whome thou blessest (O Lord) the same is blessed for euer.

After this it is written, that Dauid smote the Philistines, and subdued the Gittites, and the towncs that longed therto.

out of the handes of the Philistines. And he smote Moab, & the Moabites became Davids seruantes, and payd him tribute. And David smote Hadarezer king of Zobab into Hamath, as he went to stablish his dominion by the river Euphrates. And David tooke from him a thousand charets, and, vij, M. horsmen, and, xx. M. souldiers, and lamed all the charets horses, and reserued of them an. C. charettes. And when the Sirians of Damasco came to helpe Hadarezer king of Zobab, David slue of the Sirians, xxij. M. and David subdued Siria and Damasco: And the Sirians became Davids seruantes, and brought him tribute. And the Lord preserued David in all that he went to. And David tooke the shields of golde that were on the seruantes of Hadarezer, and broughte them to Ierusalem. And from Gebath, and from Chun (cities of Hadarezer) brought David exceeding much blaske. Wherewith Salomon made the

 C of Hamath, hearde howe David had beaten all the strengthe of Hadarezer king of Zobab, he sente Haduram his sonne to kinge David, to make peace with him, and to blesse him, because he had fought agaynst Hadarezer, and beaten him (for Chon had war with Hadarezer,) and David brought all manner of Jewels of golde, silver, and blaske with him. And king David dedicated them vnto the Lord & with the silver and golde that he brought from all nations, from Edom, from Moab, from the children of Ammon, from the Philistines and from Timalac. And whē the sonne of Jeruiah saw of the Edomites in the salt balley, xviij. M. and sette souldiers in Edom, and all the Edomites became Davids seruantes. Thus the Lord kept David in all that he tooke in hand. And David reigned ouer al Israel, & executed iudgment and righteousness among all his people. And Joab the sonne of Zeruia was ouer the host, and Jehoshaphat the sonne of Achish Recorder, & Zadock the son of Abitob and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the priestes: and Benaia was scribe, and Banaiah the son of Jehoiada was ouer the Cretchites, & the Phelathites and the eldest sonnes of David were next vnto the king.

The xix. Chapter.

After this, it chaunced, that Nahas the kinge of the children of Ammon died, and his sonne reigned in his steede. And David sayde: I will shewe kindnesse vnto Hanon the sonne of Nahas: because his father dealt kindlye with me. And David sente messengers to comforte him ouer the deathe of his father. And the seruantes of David came into the lande of the children of Ammon to Hanon, to comforte him. But the Lordes of the children of Ammon saide to Hanon: thinkest thou that David doeth honoure thy father in thy sight: that he hath sente comforters vnto thee? Art not his seruantes come to searche, to looke and espye out the land. Wherfore Hanon tooke Davids seruantes, (and polde them) and shamed them, and cut off their coates hard by their buttocks, and sent them away. And there went certaine, & told David, how the men were shamed. And the king sent to mete them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the king said: tary at Jericho, vntill your berd be growen, and then return. And whē the children of Ammon sawe that they stank in the sight of David, Hanon and the children of Ammon sent a. M. talentes of silver to hire them charets and horsmen out of Mesopotamia, and out of Siria, Maacha and out of Zobab. And they hyred, xxxij. M. charets and the king of Maacha and his people, which came and pitched before Heoba. And the children of Ammon gathered them selues together from their cities, and came to battell. And when David hearde of it, he sent Joab and all the hooste of Aronge men. And

And the children of Ammon came out, and putte them selues in aray to battayle before the gate of the Citie. And the kinges that were come, kept them by them selues backe in the fielde.

C When Joab also sawe that the fronte of the battaille was agaynst him before and behinde: he chose oute of all the chosen menne of Israell, and put them in aray agaynst the Sirians. And the rest of the people he deliuered vnto the hand of Abisai his brother, and they putte them selues in aray agaynst the children of Ammon. And he sayde: If the Sirians be so stronge for me, then shalte surcoure me: and yf the children of Ammon preuaile agaynst thee: I will help thee. Plucke by thine hearte, and let vs playe the men: for our peoples sake, and for the cities of our God, and the Lorde shall booke that whiche is good in his owne syghte. So Joab and the people that were with him, dyed we nre before the Sirians vnto the battayle, and they fledde before him. And when the children of Ammon sawe that the Sirians were fled, they ranne away lykewise before Abisai his brother, and gate them into the Citie. And Joab came to Ierusalem. And whē the Sirians sawe that they were put to the worke before Israell, they sent messengers and set out the Sirians that were beyonde the riner, and Hophach the captain of the host of Hadarezer went before them. And it was tolde Dauid: and he gathered all Israell, and went together ouer Iordan, and came and set vppon them. And when Dauid had put him selfe in aray agaynst the Sirians: they fought with him. But the Sirians fled before Israell. And Dauid destroyed of the Sirians seven thousand charets, and .xl. thousande footemen, and killed Hophach the captayne of the hoste. And when the seruants of Hadarezer sawe y they were put to the worke before them of Israell, they made peace with Dauid, and became his seruantes. Neether woulde the Sirians helpe the children of Ammon any moze,

The .xx. Chapter.

A And it came to passe, that after y the pere was expired, (about the time that kinges go oute a warrefare:) Joab carped out the armye of the hoste, and destroyed the countrey of the children of Ammon, & cam and besieged Rabba, and destroyed it. But Dauid tarped at Ierusalem, while Joab smote Rabba, & destroyed it. And Dauid toke the crown of their kinge, from off his heade, and founde that it had the waighte of a talent of golde, and there were precious stones in it, and it was ordred for Dauids head. And he brought also exceeding muche spoyle oute of the Citie. And he brought out the people that were in it: and tormented them with sawes and harrowes of yron, and with other sharpe instruments, and so dealt Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. And Dauid and all the people came agayne to Ierusalem. After this it fortuned, there arose warre at Gager with the Philistines. At whiche time Sobaiah the Gushathite drew Happei, that was of the children of Repphaim: and they were subdued. And there was a battaille agayne with the Philistines, and Elhanan the sonne of Jaier, also Lahemi, the brother of Goliath the Gethite, whose speere was like a weavers beame. And there chaunced yet agayne warre at Beth, whereas was a man of a greate stature, with .xxij. fingers and toes, sixe on euery hande, and sixe on euery foote, & was the son of Raphah. But when he defied Israell, Ichonatham the sonne of Shimea, Dauids brother slue him. These were bozne vnder Raphah of Geth, and were overthrowen in the hande of Dauid: and in the hande of his seruantes.

The .xxi. Chapter.

A And Satan stood by agaynst Israell, and provoked Dauid to number Israell. And Dauid sayd to Joab, and to the rulers of the people: Goe and number Israell from Beer Sheba to Dan, and bringe it to me, that I may knowe the number of them. And Joab answered: the Lord make his people an. C. times so many mo as they be. But my Lord, O kinge, are they not all my Lordes seruantes? why then doth my Lord require this thinge? whye will my Lord be a cause of trespasse to Israel? Nevertheless, the kinges word prevailed agaynst Joab. And Joab departed and walcked throughout all them of Israel, and came to Jerusalem agayne, and gaue the number of þ count of the people vnto Dauid.

And all they of Israel were a thousande thousande, and a hundred thousand men that dyne swerde: and Juda was. cccc. lxx. thousande menne that dyne swerde: But the Leuites & Ben Jamin counted he not amonge them. For the kinges word was abhominable to Joab. And the Lord was displeased with this thinge: and smote Israel. And Dauid sayde vnto God: I haue sinned exceedingly in doinge this thinge. And now (I beseech thee) do away the wickednesse of thy seruunt, for I haue done very foolishly.

And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauides sear, saying: goo, and tell Dauid, saying: Thus sayeth the Lord: I grue thee the choyce of thre thinges: chose the one of them, that I maye do vnto thee. And Gad came to Dauid, & sayde vnto him: Thus sayeth the Lord: Chose thee, either thre yeres famishment, or thre monthes to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and that the sword of thine enemies maye ouertake thee, or els the sword of the Lord, and pestilence in the lande thre dayes: and the angell of the Lord destroyinge throughout all the coastes of Israel. And now aduise thy selfe, what word I shall bringe agayne to him that sent me. And Dauid sayde vnto Gad, I am in an exceeding strait: Let me fall now into the hande of the Lord, for passinge greates are his mercyes: but let me not fall into the hande of men. So the Lord sent pestilence vpon Israel, and there were ouerthowen of Israel lxx. thousande men. And God sent the angell into Jerusalem to destroy in it. And as he was about to destroy, the Lord behelde, and had compassion on the euil, and sayd to the angell that destroyed: it is ynough, lette nowe thine hande cease. And the angell of the Lord stood by the threshinge floze of Ornan the Jebusite. And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and sawe the angell of the Lord stand betwene the earth & heauen, hauing a drawen swerde in his hand, stretched out toward Jerusalem. Then Dauid and the elders of Israel which wer clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces. And Dauid said vnto God: is it not I that commaunded þ people to be numbred? Is it not I þ haue sinned and done euil in dede, and what haue these shepe done, let thyne hand (O Lord my God) be on me and on my fathers house, but not on thy people, that they shoulde be punished. And the angell of the Lord commaunded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid should go vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lord, in the threshing floze of Ornan the Jebusite. And Dauid wente vp, accordinge to the sayinge of Gad, whiche hee spake in the name of the Lord. And Ornan turned aboute, and sawe the angell, and his foure sonnes were with him, and hid them selves: But Ornan was threshing wheate. And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and sawe Dauid, and went out of the threshing floze, and bowed himselfe to Dauid, with his face to the ground. And Dauid said to Ornan geue mee the place of the threshing floze, that I may build an altar there in vnto the Lord. Thou shalt geue it me for as much money as it is worth, þ the plage may cease from the people. And Ornan said vnto Dauid: take it to thee, and let my Lord the kinge do that whiche seemeth good in his eyes. So, I geue thee Oxen also for burnt sacrifices, and the threshing sledges for wood, and wheate for meate offeringe: I geue it all. And kinge Dauid sayde to Ornan: not so, but I will bpe it for as much money as it is worth. For I will not take þ which is thine for the Lorde, nor offer burnt-offerings without cost. And so David came to Dinan for that place of gold. vi. hundred by wayght. And David built ther an altar vnto the Lorde, and offered burntofferings and peaceofferings, and called vpon the Lorde, and he heard him from heauen in fyre vpon the altar of burnt-offering. And when the Lorde had spoken to the angel, he put vp his sweard agayne into the sheathe of it. At that time when David saw that the Lorde had heard him in the threshinge floore of Dinan the Jebusite, he bled to offer there. For the Tabernacle of the Lorde, which Moses made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt-offering were at that season in the hill of Gibeon. And David coulde not go before it, to aske counsaile at God, for he was afrayd of the sweard of the anngell of the Lorde.

The. xxij. Chapter.

AND David sayde: this is the house of the Lorde God, and this is the altar for the burnt-offeringe of Israel: And David commaunded to gather together the strangers that wer in the land of Israel, and hee set masons to hewe free stone for the building of the house of God. And David prepared plentye of iron for nailes: and doores of the gates and to toyne withall, and abundance of brasse without waight, and Cedar trees withoute number: For the Sidons and they of Tyre brought muche Cedar woodde to David. And David sayde: Salomon my sonne is ponge and tender, and the house that is to be built for the LORDE must exceede in gretnes, that it may be spoken of and praysed in all lands. I will therefore make ordinaunce for it. And so David prepared manye thinges before his death. And hee called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to builde an house for the Lorde God of Israel. And David sayde to Sa-

2 Re. 7. b lomon: my son, I thought (as it was 2 Re. 4. a in mine heart) to builde an house vnto the name of the Lorde my GOD. But the woorde of the Lorde came to me, sayinge: Thou haste shed muche bloud, and haste made greate battayles: thou shalt therefore not buyde an house vnto my name: for thou haste shed much bloud vpon the earth in my sight. Behold, a sonne is doyme to thee and he shalbe a manne of rest, for I will geue him rest from all his enemies rounde about. For his name is Salomon, and I will sende rest and peace vpon Israel in his dayes. He shall build an house for my name, and he shalbe my sonne, and I will be his father, and will prepare the seats of his kingdome vpon Israel for euer. Nowe therefore my sonne, the Lorde be with thee, and prosper thee, & thou shalt buyde the house to the name of the Lorde thy God, as he hath sayd of thee. And the Lorde shall geue thee wisdome and vnderstandinge, and shall geue thee commandementes for Israel, that ye may keepe the lawe of the Lorde thy God. For then thou shalt prosper, euen when thou takest heede and fulfillest the statutes and lawes, which the Lorde charged Moses with for Israel: Blucke vp thine heart therefore, and be stronge, dreade not, nor be discouraged. Beholde, in myne aduersitye haue I also prepared for the house of the Lorde, an hundred thousande talentes of golde, and a thousande thousande talentes of silver, and as for brasse and yron, it cannot be numbred, for it is verie much. And I haue prepared tymber & stone, and thou mayest provide more thereto. Moreover, thou hast workmen with thee knowe, and masons, and carpenters to woork in stone and timber: and many men that be actiue for euery worke. And of golde, silver, brasse and yron, ther is no number. Up therefore and bee doinge, and the Lorde shalbe with thee. And David commaunded all the Lordes of Israel to helpe Salomon his sonne, sayinge: Is not the Lorde your God with you? and hath he not geuen you rest on euery side? for he hath geuen the inhabitaunt the hands into my hands, and the hands is subdued before the Lord, and before his people. Moreover these set your breasts & your souls to seek the Lord your God. And build ye the temple of the Lord God, to bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God into the house, to build in the name of the Lord.

The xxij. Chapter.

S When David was old, and of days, he made Salomon his sonne, kinge over Israel.
And then he gathered together all the lordes of Israel, with the Priests, and the Levites. And the Levites were numbered from the age of xx. years and above: and the number and summe of them was xxxviij. thousand men. Of whiche xxij. thousand were sette to further the worke of the house of the Lord. And six thousand were officers and Judges. Four thousand were porters, and four thousand prayed the Lord with such instruments, as was made in precept with all. And so David put an order amonge them, dividinge them in parties. Of the children of Leui: Gerson, Cahath, and Merari.

Of the Gersonites was Laadan and Semei. The sonnes of Laadan, the chiefe was Jubiel, Zethan and Joell thre. The sonnes of Semei: Helomith, Hozai and Haran thre. These were the ancient fathers of Laadan.
And the sonnes of Semei, were Je-hath, Jura, Jems and Beria: These four were the sonnes of Semei. And Jehath was the chiefe, Jura the second. But Jems & Beria had not many sons, therefore they were in one rehning according to their fathers hous-holde, each of them for one ancient hous-holde. The sonnes of Cahath: Im-ron, Japhar, Hothan and Eliel four.

1 Ch. 6. 2. The sonnes of Merari: Baran and Dathan. And Baran was separated from the tribe of the holy things in the place of the holies, he and his sons Dathan; and to burne incense before the Lord, and to minister unto him, and to blowe in his name for ever.

Moses also the man of God, and his children, were named with the tribes of Leui. The sonnes of Moses: Gerson and Eliezer. Of the sonnes of Gerson: Sebul was the chiefe. The sonns of Eliezer: Rehabia the chiefe.
And Eliezer had none other sonnes.
And the sonnes of Rehabia were very many. The sonnes of Jzabar, Sa-lomith the chiefe. The sonnes of Hebron: Jersahu the firste, Imania the second, Jabezziel the thirde, and Jecamean the fourth. The sonnes of Maziel: Micha the first, and Jesia the second. The sonnes of Merari: Mahli and Musi. The sonnes of Mahli: Eleazar and Cis. And Eleazar dyed, and had no sonnes, but daughters: and their brethren the sonnes of Cis toke them. The sonnes of Musi: Mahli, Eder, and Jeremoth thre. These are the children of Leui after the house-holde of their fathers, even the ancients of the fathers, according to their offices, and after the number and summe of the names of them that did the worke in the service of the house of the Lord, from the age of twentie yeres and above. And David sayde The Lord God of Israel hath given rest unto his people, that they maye dwell in Jerusalem for ever. That the Levites also should now no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the service thereof: for according to all the last wordes of David, the Levites were numbered from twen-tye yeres and above, and their office was under the hands of the sonnes of Aaron: for the fruits of the house of the Lord, in the courtes of the celles, and in the purifyinge of all holy thin-ges, and in the worke of the service of the house of God. In the shewbread, in the fine flour, in the meat offering, in the waters of swete breade, in the frying panne, in the gridiron, and in all manner of measures and life, and to stande every day in the morninge to thanke and prayse the Lord, and so to offer all burnt sacrifices unto the Lord, in the shewbread, in the new Moones, and on the feastsfall dayes, by number and course continuallye (as they were commanded) before the Lord. And that they should waite on the tabernacle of witness, and on the holy place, and on the sonnes of Aaron their brethren, in their seruice of the house of the Lord.

The xxliij. Chapter.

These are deuisions of the sons of Aaron. The sonnes of Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. • Nadab also, and Abihu died before their father, and had no children. But Eleazar and Ithamar executed the priestes office. And David ordered them in this manner: Sadoc of the sonnes of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sonnes of Ithamar were according to their offices in their ministation. And there were no vniuersall men founde amonge the sonnes of Eleazar, then the sons of Ithamar. And thus were they ordered together among the sonnes of Eleazar, ther were xviij. rulers according to the household of their fathers; & egypt among the sons of Ithamar, according to the household of their fathers. And thus were they put in order by lotte, the one sorte from the other: and so were these rulers in the sanctuary, and Lordes before God, as well of the sonnes of Ithamar, as of the sonnes of Eleazar. And Himeia the sonne of Athanai the Scribe, of the kindred of the Levites: wrote them before the Kinge and the Lordes, and before Sadoc the Priest, and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar, and before the ancient fathers, before the priestes and the Levites, one principall household beinge reserved for Eleazar, & one for Ithamar. And the first lot fell to Jehoiarib, and the second to Jedai. The thirde to Harin, and the fourth to Sehoiim: The fift to Melchias, and the sixte to Ithamin. The seventh to Jakon, and the eighth to Abia. The ninth to Jesai, and the tenth to Shecaniah. The eleventh to Abishai, and the twelfth to Gadai. The thirteenth to Japha, and the fourteenth to Isebad. The fifteenth to Bilga, & the sixteenth to Immer. The seventeenth to Hezir, and the eighteenth to Haphez. The nineteenth to Ishai, and the xx. to Jehohai. The xxi. to Jachin, and the xxij. to Gamal. The xxij. to Delaihu, and the xxij. to Masiahu. These are the ordinaunces of them in their offices, when they came into the house of the Lord, according to their manner vnder Aaron their father, as the Lord God of Israel had commanded him. The rest of the sonnes of Levi are these: Of the sonnes of Huram, Shubael: of the sonnes of Shubael, Shubael. Of the sonnes of Kehath the fiftie Iefia. Of the Iezabababes Shelomoth: Of the sonnes also of Shelomoth, Jehath. His sonnes Jeriah the fiftie, Amarith the seconde, Jehaziel the thirde, and Jehampai the fourth. Of the sonnes of Uzziel, Micha. Of the sonnes of Micha, Samir. The brother of Samir was Ithia. Of the sonnes also of Ithia: Jacharihu. The sons of Merari were Mahli and Musi. The sonnes of Jacharihu, Beno. The sonnes of Merari by Jacharihu, Beno, Hohem, Salur, and Jai. Of Mahli came Eleazar, and he hadde no sonnes. Of Musi the sonnes of Ithia Jerahmell. The sonnes of Musi, Mahli, Gadi, and Jerimoth. These are the children of the Levites after the household of their fathers. And these caste lottes next to their brethren the sonnes of Aaron, in the presence of David the Kinge, and Sadoc and Ahimelech, and the ancient fathers, the priestes, and Levites, euen the principall fathers before the younger brethren. The lot was cast by distribution amonge them all, in the presence of David.

And so David, & the captains of the hoste appointed them to seruice to the sonnes of Asaph, Heman, and Jedaihu. And they did according to the word of the Lord. And there was a multitude of the men that were appointed to the seruice and ministation. Of the sonnes of

Blaph: Jathir, Joseph, Nathania, and Zebadiah: waied on Blaph, which prophesied by the kinge. Of Jedutham: the sonnes of Jedutham, Gedaliahu, Zeri, Zebadiah, Zababiah, and Zabathiah, sixe, vnder the handes of their father Jedutha which he prophesied with a harpe, soz to geue thankes and prayles vnto the Lord. Of Heman: the sonnes of Heman, Bukiah, Mathaniah, Uzziel, Zebai, Jeremoth, Hanania, Hanani, Eliath, Gedaltai, Shomathi, Ezer, Zebekiah, Malothi, Mothir, and Mahaziah. All these were the sonnes of Heman which was the kinge fear in the wordes of God to lift vp the hope of the regal dignitie. And God gaue to Heman. xiiij. sonnes, and thre daughters. All these were at the hande of thre father singinge in the house of the Lord with tymballes, psalteries and harpes, when Blaph, Jedutham, and Heman created the service in the house of God, at the kinges hande. And the multitude of them with their brethren that were instructed in the songs of the Lord, euen all that were cunning, wer two hundred, foure score and eyght. And they cast lottes among them seiers (how they should waite) of wel for the small as for great, for scholar, as well as for schoolmaster. And the first lot in Blaph fell to Joseph. The seconde to Gedaliahu (with his brethren and sonnes) which men were twelue. The thirde fell to Zaccur with his sonnes and brethren, beynge twelue personnes. The fourth, to Zeri with his sonnes & brethren, twelue persons. The fift to Nathaniahu with his sonnes and brethren, twelue persons. The sixt to Bukiah with his sonnes and brethren, twelue personnes. The seventh to Zebadiah with his sonnes and brethren, twelue persons. The eight to Zebadiah with his sonnes and brethren, twelue personnes. The ninth to Zebadiah with his sonnes and brethren, twelue personnes. The tenth to Heman with his sonnes and brethren, twelue personnes. The eleuenth to Zebadiah with his sonnes and brethren, twelue personnes. The tweluth to Zababiah with his sonnes and brethren, twelue personnes. The xxvi. Chapter.

These are the deuisions of the porters. Amonge the Zephathites. Zephathiah: the sonne of Boze of the childzen of Blaph. And 3 sonnes of Zephathiah were these: Zachariah the eldest, Zebadiah the second, Zebadiah the third, and Jehuiah the fourth, Elam the fift, Zebadiah the sixt, and Zebadiah the seuenth. The sonnes of Obed Edom, Hemeia the eldest, Zephathiah the seconde, Boze the thirde, Zebadiah the fourth, and Zephathiah the fift, Amiel the sixt, Zebadiah the seuenth, Zebadiah the eyght, for God blessed him. And vnto Hemeia his soon were sonnes bozne, that ruled in the house of their father, for they wer me of might. The sons of Hemeia: Othni, Raphael, Obed & Elzabad and his brethren wer strong me, Elihu & Zephathiah. All these wer of the childzen of Obed Edom, they and their childzen: and their brethren actiue me of strength to do seruice, euen. lxxij. of Obed Edom. And Helimiah had sonnes and brethren, actiue men. xviij. The soon-nes of Hosa, of the children of Merari, Simri the chiefe, and thoughte hee was not the eldest, yet his father sette him in the chiefest place. Helkiah the second. Eballiah the thirde, and Je-chariah the fourth: al the sonnes and brethren of Hosa were. xiiij. Amonge these was deuised the office of the portership, that they shoulde be ancient men, to wait with their brethren whē they ministred in the house of the Lorde. And they cast lottes betwene the greate and small after the house-holde of theyr fathers for euery gate.

And the lot on the Eastsyde fell vpon Helemiah. And for Zachariah his sonne (whiche was a wise counsayler) the y caste lottes, and his lotte came out toward the North. And Obed Edoms lot fel to the South. And for his sonnes fel the houses of Assupim. For Suphim and Hosa toward the west, with the gate that standeth toward the higher waye, one watche beinge ouer agaynst another. In the east were sixe Leuites, and towarde the North. liij. a day, and toward the South. liij. a day, and toward Assupim two and two. In Dharbar toward the west two at the goings by, and two in Dharbar. These are the deuisions of the porters amonge the sonnes of Moyses, and amonge the son-nes of Merari. And of the Leuites: Thiah had the ouerspyght of the treasure of the house of God, and of the treasure of the dedicate thinges. As concerning the sons of Laadan, whiche were the children of the Gersonites.
Of Laadan came ancient fathers: Euen of Laadan there came Gersumi and Jehieli. The sonnes of Jehieli: Jethan and Joel his brother, which were ouer the treasures of the house of the Lorde. Of the Amramites also, and Izharites, Hebzonites and Ozielites, was Sabuel the sonne of Gerson the sonne of Moyse, a ruler ouer the treasures. And of his brethren the sonnes of Eliezer, was Rahabiah, whose sonne was Hiah, whose sonne was Joaz, whose sonne was Zichri, whose sonne was Helomith.

Whiche Helomith and his brethren were ouer all the treasures of the decate thinges which Dauid the king and the ancient fathers, the captanes ouer thousandes and hundredes, and the captaines of the hoste, had dedicated oute of the spoiles wonne in battayles: they did dedicate them to maintayne the house of the Lorde, and all that Samuel the sear, and Dauid the sonne of Cis, and Abner, the son of Ner, and Joab the sonne of Jer-emia had dedicated, and whosoener had dedicate any thinge, it was vnder the hand of Helomith and of his brethren.
Of the Izharites was Chenania: hui and his sonnes appoynted to the busynesse without forth ouer Israel: for they were officers and iudges. And of the Hebzonites, Asabiah and his brethren, men of actiue a thousande and seuen hundred were officers among them of Israel beyonde Jo-dan westward, in all busynesse belonging to God, and seruice of the kinge.
Amonge the Hebzonites was Jedon the chiefest, euen a prince amonge the Hebzonites and fathers of his kin-red. And in the fourtye yeare of the kingdom of Dauid, they were sought for. And there were founde amonge them men of actiue at Jazer in Silo-ad: And his brethren were men of ac-tiue euen two thousande and seuen hundred, aunciente fathers whom kinge Dauid made rulers ouer the Rubenytes, Gadites, and ouer the halfe tribe of Manasse, for euery matter pertainyng to God, and for the kinges busynesse.

Chapter. xxviij.

The children of Israel, after the number of them, the auncient heads and capitaines of thousandes and hundredes, and their officers that serued the kinge by their courses which came in and went out, moneth by moneth, throughout all the monethes of the yere. And in every course were, xxiiij. thousande. One the first course for the first moneth, was Jachobson the sonne of Zabdiel. And in his course were four & twenty thousande. Was the chiefe of all the captaynes of the host, for the first moneth was of the children of Pharez. Over the course of the seconde month was Dodai an Ephraite, and in his course was Hichai a ruler, (his helper.) And in the course were .xxij. thousande. The chiefe captaine of the third host for the thirde moneth was Banaiahu, the son of Jehoiada the hie Priest, and in his course were .xxij. thousande. This is that Banaiahu, which was nooke myghtye among thistle, and abduke thirte. And in his part was Amizabad his son. The fourth captayne for the fourthe month was Asael, the brother of Joab, and Zabadaia his soon after him. And in his course were .xxij. thousande. The fifth captayne for the fifth moneth was Samhu the Jezrahite: and in his course were .xxij. thousande. The sixth captayne for the sixth moneth, was Ira the sonne of Ithra a Cherite, and in his course were .xxij. thousande. The seventh captayne for the seventh moneth was Helez the Elomite, of the childre of Ephraim: and in his course were .xxij. thousande. The eight captayne for the eight moneth, was Sibechai an Husathite of the kindred of Zebai, and in his course were .xxij. thousande. The ninth captayne for the ninth moneth was Abiezer an Anathothite of the sonnes of Benjamin, and in his course were .xxij. thousande. The tenth captayne for the tenth moneth was Adinai the Mesopotamite of the Zarathites, and in his course were .xxij. thousande. The eleventh for the eleventh moneth was Banai a Pirathonite of the childre of Ephraim: and in his course were .xxij. thousande. The twelfth captayne for the twelfth moneth, was Halwai the Ramothite, with Othomer, and in his course were .xxij. thousande. And the rulers over the tribes of Israel were these: Amonge the Rubenites was Eliezer the sonne of Zi-

chi. Amonge the Simeonites also, was Baphathiahu the sonne of Macha. Amonge the Levites: Hasabiah the sonne of Kemuel. Amonge the Manassites: Jadoch. Amonge them of Juda, Elihu of the brethren of David. Amonge them of Issachar, Omri the sonne of Michael. Amonge them of Zabulon, Ismaiah the sonne of Obadiah. Amonge them of Jephthah, Jerimoth the soon of Azriel. Amonge the children of Ephraim: Hoses the sonne of Azariah. In the halfe tribe also of Manasse: Joel the son of Pedaiahu. Of the halfe tribe of Manasse in Gilead: Jiddo the sonne of Zachariah. Amonge them of Beniamin: Jaaziel the sonne of Abner. Amonge them of Dan: Azarel the sonne of Jehoram. These are the lordes of the Tribes of Israel. But David tooke not the number of them under .xx. yeare: because the Worde sayde: hee would increase Israel like unto the flocks of the skye. And Joab the sonne of Zaruia began to number: but he finished it not, because that they fell to wrath for it against Israel, nevertheless was the number put into the Chronicles of king David. Over the treasures was Azmoneh the son of Badael. And over the treasures of the fields, in the cities and villages, and castles, was Jehonathan the sonne of Azabai. And over the woodmen in the fields that filled the ground, was Eri the sonne of Chelub. And the oversight of the vineyardes had Sermei the Ramathite. Over the increase also of the vineyardes, and over the winecellers was Sadoi the Hattuphite. And over the olive trees and mulberry trees that were in the valleys, was Baal Hanan the Gederyte. And over the treasure of oyle was Joas. Over the oxen that fed in Sharon, was Seitai the Sharonite. And over the oxen that were in the valleys was Saphat the son of Adai. Over the camellies, Obithe Ismaelite. And over the asses was Jehadiah the Meronothite. Over the sheepe was Jazea the Hagarite. All these were the rulers of the substance of king David. And Jehonathan Davids uncle, a manne of counsell, and of vnderstanding was a Scribe: and Achiel, the sonne of Bachmany was with the kinges soons (instruc- ting them.) And Abithophell was of the kinges counsell. And Husai the Archite was the kinges companion. And next to Abithophell was Ichoi- da, the soune of Banaiahu, and Abia- thar. And the captayne of the kinges warre was Joab.

The xxviij. Chapter.

AND David gathered toge- ther all the Lordes of Israel: the lordes of the Tribes, the lordes of the companies, that miti- stred to the kinge by course, the Cap- taines ouer Thousandes, and ouer hundredes, and the Lordes that hadde the oversight ouer all the substance and possession of David, his sonnes with the chamberlains: all the mightie and valiant, and all active men vnto Jerusalem. And king David stode by vpon his seate, and sayde: Heare me my chyliden and my people. • I had in mine heart to builde an house of rest for the Arke of the conuente of the Lord, and for the foote stole of our God, and had made ready for the buildinge: But God saide vnto me: • Thou shalt not builde an house for my name, because thou hast ben a man of war, & hast shed blood. Whereouer the Lord God of Israel, • chose me before all the house of my father to be kinge ouer Israel for ever: for in Iuda would he choise a captayne; and of the householde of Iuda is the house of my father, and amonge the sonnes of my father, he hadde a luste to me, to make me kinge ouer all Israel. And of all my sonnes, (for the Lord hath gouerned me many sonnes) he hath chosen Salomon my sonne, to sit vpon the seate of the kingdome of the Lord in Israel. And he sayde vnto me: • Salomon thy sonne, hee shall builde me an house and courtes, I haue chosen him to be my sonne, and I will be his father. I will stablish his kingdome for ever. It shal be strange to doo my commandementes, and my lawes, as it hath this day. Nowe therefore, in the sight of all Israel the congregation of the Lord, and in the audience of oure God: keepe and seeke for all the commandementes of the Lord your God, that ye may enioye a good land, and leaue inheritance for your chyliden after you for ever. And thou Salomon my sonne, know thou the God of thy father, and serue him with a pure heart, and with a sweet courage.

• For the Lord searcheth all heartes, and vnderstandeth all the ymaginations of thoughtes. And yf thou seeke him, he will be founde of thee: But yf thou forsake him, he will cast thee off for ever. • Take heede now, for the Lord hath chosen thee, to builde him an house of a Sanctuary. Be stronge therefore, and play the man. And David gaue Salomon his sonne the pattern of the porche (of the temple also) and of the houses that longed thereto, of the store houses, vpper chambers, inner parlours, and of the house of the mercy sear: and the example of al that he had in his mynde; for the courts of the house of the Lord, and for all the cellen rounde about, for the treasures of the house of God, and for the treasures of the vberate thinges, and for the deuotions of the quierles & acutes that wayped by course, and for all the woorkmanship, that shoulde serue for the house of the Lord, & for all the vessels that shoulde serue in the house of the Lord. For gold, and for the waight of gold, for all vessels of sundry ministrations: for all maner of vessels of silver in waight, and for all vessels, what so ever purpose they serued vnto. • The waight of gold for the candlestickes, and the gold for their lamps, with the waight for euery candlesticke, and for the lamps therof. And for the candlestickes of silver by waight, with the candlesticke, & also for their lamps according to the diuersitie of the use of euery candlesticke. And by waight

(he gaue) gold for the tables of breadd, euen for euery table: and lyke wyse siluer for the tables of silver. And golde for archbokes, cypres, and drinkeing pottes. And pure golde in wyghte for basons, euen for euery bason. And likewise siluer by wyghte for euery bason of silver. And for the altar of incense, pure gold by wyghte. And golde for the patterne of the charret of the Cherubs that stretched out their wings, and covered the Ark of the covenant of the Loyde. All (saide he) was geuen me by wyrring of the hande of the Loyde, whiche made me vnderstande all the workemanshippe of the patterne. And Dauid sayde to Salomon his sonne: be stronge, and be manfull, feare not, nor be faynte hearted. For the Loyde God, euen my God, is with thee, and he shall not faile thee, nor forsake thee, vntill thou haue finished all the worke that must be done for the house of the Loyde. Because the prestes and leuites are deuyded in compaignes, for all maner of seruice that pertaineth to the house of God: they are with thee for all maner of workemanshippe, and so are all that excell in wisdom for anye maner of seruice. Thou hast also the lordes, and all the people for euery thing that thou shalt neede of.

AND Dauid the kinge sayde vnto all the congregaſſon: God hath speciall choſen Salomon my ſon which is yet yonge and tender, and the worke is great: for the house shall not be for man, but for the Lord GOD. Wherof I haue prepared with all my might, for the house of God, golde for vessels of golde, silver for them of silver, brasse for things of brasse, yron for things of yron, & wood for things of wood, and onyx stones, and stones to be set, glistering stones and of diuerſe colours, and all manner of precious stones, and marble stones in great abundance. And because I haue luste to the house of my God: I haue of mine owne proper good, of golde and silver whiche I haue leuallie geuen to the house of my God, besyde all that I haue prepared for the house, euen three thousande talentes of golde, of Ophir, and seuen thousande talentes of tryed silver to ouerlape the walles of the house with: all the golde for things of golde, silver for things of silver, and for all manner of worke by the handes of artificers. And whosoever is willinge, may this day consecrate his hande vnto the Loyde. And so the eunckent fathers, and the lordes of the tribes of Israel, the capſaynes of thousandes and hundredes, with the lordes that were rulers ouer the kinges woorkes, were willinge, and gaue for the seruice of the house of God, fyue thousande talentes of golde, and ten thousande pieces of gold, and ten thousand talentes of silver, and. xliij. thousand talentes of brasse, and one hundred thousande talentes of yron. And they with whome precious stones were founde, gaue them to the treasure of the house of the Loyde, by the hande of Jehiel the Gersonite. And the people reioysed, when they were so willinge to geue the goodes, & with a perfect heart they offered vnto the Loyd. And Dauid the kinge reioysed with great gladnes. And Dauid blessed the Loyd before all the congregaſſon, and sayde: Blessed be thou Loyde God of Israel our father from euer, and for euer. Thyne (O Loyde) is greatnesse, and power, glory, victorie, and prayſe: for all that is in heauen and in earth is thine, and thine is the kingdome (O Loyde) and thou excellest aboue all, euen as the heade of all. And richesse, and honoure come of thee, and thou regnest ouer all, and in thine hande is power and strength, and in thine hand it is to make greates, and to geue strength vnto al. And nowe our God, we thanke thee, & prayſe thy glorious name. But who am I? & what is my people? We should enforce our selues to geue these things so willinglye:

D But all things come of thee, and of Ge. 47. b that which we receiued at thine hand, Pl. 39. c. we haue giuen thee. For we bee but Heb. 11. c. strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers. Our dayes in the earth also are but as a shadow, and there is none abiding. O Lord our God, all this stuffe that we haue prepared to build thee an house for thy holpe name cometh of thine hand, and is at thine. I (wot also my God) that thou tryest the heartes, and haste pleasure in vnfaynednesse. And in the vnfaynednesse of my hearte, I haue willingly offered all these things. And nowe haue I seene the people, which are found here, to offer vnto thee willingly, and with gladnesse. O Lord God of Abraham, Ishac, and of Israell our fathers, keepe this for ever, as the beginning of the thoughtes of the hearte of the people, and prepare their heartes vnto thee. And geue vnto Salomon my sonne a perfect heart, to keepe thy commandementes, thy testimonies and thy statutes, and to do all, and to builde the house, for the whiche I haue made prouision. And David sayde to all the congregation: Howe bleste the Lord your God. And at the congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heades, and worshipped the Lord, and the king. And they offered offerings vnto the Lord. And on the morowe after the sayde daye, they offered burnt offerings vnto the Lord, euen a thousande yonge oxen, a thousande rammes, and a thousande sheepe, with their drinke offerings.

Many sacrifices offered they for all Israel, and did eate and drinke before the Lord the same day: with grei glad-nes. And they made Salomon the son of David kinge, the seconde time, and annoynted him prince before the Lord, and Sadock to be the hie priest. And Salomon sat on the seate of the Lord, and was king in stede of David his father, and prospered, and all they of Israell obeyed him. And all the lordes and men of power, and all the sonnes of king David, submitted theym sel-ues, and were vnder king Salomon.
And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignitie, in the sight of all them of Israel, and gaue him so glorious a kingdome, as no kinge had before him in Israel. And so David the sonne of Isai reigned ouer all Israel. And the space that he reigned ouer Israel, was forty yere: seuen yere reigned hee in Hebron, and xxxij. yere reigned he in Ierusalem. And he died in a good age, full of dayes, riches, and honours.
And Salomon his sonne reigned in his stede. The Actes of David the king, first and last: Beholde, they are written in the booke of Samuell the Sear, and in the booke of Nathan the Prophete, and in the booke of Gad the Sear, with all his kingdome, power, and times that went ouer him, and ouer all Israell, and ouer all the kingdomes of the earth.

The firste Chapter.

AND Salomon the son of David waxed stronge in his kingdome: and the Lorde his God was with him, and magnified him in the dignitye. And Salomon spake vnto all Israel, to the captains ouer thousandes, and to the captaynes ouer hun-dredes, and to the Iudges, and to euery officer in all Israel, and to the aun-cients fathers. And so Salomon and all the congregation with him. Went to the hye place that was at Gibeon: for there was the tabernacle of wit-nesse of God. which Moyses the ser-uaunt of the Lorde made in the wil-dernes. But the Ark of God. had David brought from Kirjath Jearim, into the place whiche David had prepared therfore. For he had pitched a tent for it at Jerusalem. Whereouer, the brasen altar. that Bezalell the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur had made was there, before the tabernacle of the Lorde. And Salomon and the congregation wente to visite it. And Salomon gate by there before the Lorde to the brasen altar, that was before the tabernacle of witnessse, and offered a thousande burnt sacrifices vpon it. And the same night did God appere vnto Salomon, and sayde vnto him: Aske what I shall geue thee.
And Salomon sayde vnto God: thou hast shewed great merce vnto Da-uid my father, and hast made me to reigne in his seede. Nowe therfore, O Lorde God, let thy promise which thou madest vnto David my father, be true. For thou hast made men thyngs ouer a people, whiche is lyke the dust of the earth in multitude: wherefore, geue me nowe wisdomme and knowledge, that I maye be able to go in and oute before this people: for who els (woudhelpe) can iudge this people that is so greates. And God sayd to Salomon: Because this was in thine heart, and because thou hast not asked treasure and richesse, and honoure, and the lynes of thyne enemys, neyther yet longe lyfe: but hast asked wisdome and knowledge for thy selfe, to iudge my people, ouer whiche I haue made thee kinge: wis-dome and knowledge is graunted vnto thee, and I will geue thee treasure and richesse, and gloxy: so that amonge the kinges that haue bene before thee, or after thee, none was or shall be lyke thee. And so Salomon came from the hilautar (that was at Gibeon) to Jerusalem, from the tabernacle of witnessse, and reigned ouer Israel. And Salomon gathered charettes and horsemen: and he had a thousande and foure hundred charets: and twelue thousande horsemenne, whom he bestowed in the charer Cities, and with the kinge at Jerusalem. And the kinge made silver and golde at Jerusalem as plenteous as stones: and Cedar trees made he as plentye as the mulberye trees, that growe in the balleyes. And the horses whiche Salomon hadde, were brought him out of Egypte by the kinges marchauntes, that were together, whiche beinge of one companye, tooke them out at a price. They came also and brought out of Egypte a charer for sixe hundred pecies of siluer: euen an hoise for an hundred and fiftye. And so brought they horses for all the kinges of the Hethites, and for the kinges of Siria, by theyr owne hande.

The ii. Chapter.

AND Salomon determined to bualde an house for the name of the Lorde, and an house for his kingdome: And Salomon tolde oute threescore and tenne thousande men to beare burthens, and foure score thousande men to hew stones in the mountayne.

3 Reg. 5a tapne: and thye thousand and sic hundred to ouersee them. And Salomon sent to Hiram the kinge of Tyre, saying: As thou diddest deale with Dauid my father, and diddest sende him Cedar wood, to build him an house to dwell in, euen so deale with me. For I am about to build an house for the name of the Lord my God, to offer vnto him holpe things, and to burne sweete incense, and to set the two beade before him continually: to offer burnt sacrifice of the morninge and eveninge, on the Sabbath dayes, in the first day of every newe moone, and in the solempne feastes of the Lord our God: for it is an ordinance to be continually kept of Israel. And the house which I build, shalbe great: for great is our God aboue all Goddes. But whor is able to build him an house? When that heauen, and heauen aboue all heauens is not able to receiue him? What am I then that I should build him an house? nay, but euen to burne sacrifice before him, shall this building be: send me nowe therfore a cunning man, that can worke in gold and siluer, in brasse and yron, in purple crimolyn and ycalowre silke, and that can skil to graue, with the cunning men, that are with me in Iuda and Ierusalem, whom Dauid my father bidde prepare. Sende me also Cedar trees, Wyne trees, and Myunge trees, out of Libanon. For I wotte that thy seruantes can skil to hewe tember in Libanon. And beholde my men shalbe with thine, that they may prepare me ymber ynough. For the house which I am determined to build, shalbe wonderfull great. And beholde, for the vse of thy seruants, the cutters, and hewers of timber: I haue geuen .xx. thousande quarters of beaten wheate, and .xx. thousande quarters of barley, and .xx. thousande bates of wyne, and .xx. thousande bates of oyle. And Hiram the king of Tyre answered in writinge, whiche hee sent to Salomon: Because the Lord hath loued his people, therfore hath he made the kinge ener them. And Hiram sayde mores:

And Hiram sayde mores: blessed be the Lord God of Israel, whiche made heauen and earth, and that hath geuen Dauid the kinge a wise sonne, and one that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstandinge, to build an house for the Lord, and a palace for himselfe. And nowe I haue sent a wise man, and a man of vnderstandinge (whom my father Hiram did vse). the sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre, and he can skil to worke in golde and siluer, in brasse and yron, in stone and timber, in purple, and ycalowre silke, in fyne whyte and crimolyn, and can graue sundrye manner of gravinges, and to finde out diuerse manner of subtil worke that shalbe set before him, with thy cunning men, and with cunning men of my Lord Dauid thy father. Nowe therfore, the wheate, the barley, oyle, and wyne, which my Lord hath spoken of, let him sende vnto his seruantes. And we will cut wood in Libanon, as much as thou shalt neede, and we wil bring it to thee, in ships by sea to Iapho from whence thou mayest carge them to Ierusalem. And Salomon numbred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the number of theyn, whom his father Dauid had numbred. And they were found an hundred and thye and fiftye thousande and sixe hundred. And he set lxx. thousande of them to bear burthen, and lxxx. thousande to hewe stones, in the mountaine: and thye thousande and sixe hundred officers, to sette the people a worke.

3 Re. 8. b And Salomon began to build the house of the Lord at Ierusalem in mount Mozen. Where (the Lord) appeared vnto Dauid his father, euen in the place that Dauid prepared in the threshinge floore of Achan the Gethaitite. And he began to build in the seconde daye of the second month the fourth yere of his regyne, And these are the passages uer: blessed be the Lord God of Israel, whiche made heauen and earth, and that hath geuen Dauid the kinge a wise sonne, and one that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstandinge, to build an house for the Lord, and a palace for himselfe. And nowe I haue sent a wise man, and a man of vnderstandinge (whom my father Hiram did vse). the sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre, and he can skil to worke in golde and siluer, in brasse and yron, in stone and timber, in purple, and ycalowre silke, in fyne whyte and crimolyn, and can graue sundrye manner of gravinges, and to finde out diuerse manner of subtil worke that shalbe set before him, with thy cunning men, and with cunning men of my Lord Dauid thy father. Nowe therfore, the wheate, the barley, oyle, and wyne, which my Lord hath spoken of, let him sende vnto his seruantes. And we will cut wood in Libanon, as much as thou shalt neede, and we wil bring it to thee, in ships by sea to Iapho from whence thou mayest carge them to Ierusalem. And Salomon numbred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the number of theyn, whom his father Dauid had numbred. And they were found an hundred and thye and fiftye thousande and sixe hundred. And he set lxx. thousande of them to bear burthen, and lxxx. thousande to hewe stones, in the mountaine: and thye thousande and sixe hundred officers, to sette the people a worke.

The .iij. Chapter.

And Salomon began to build the house of the Lord at Ierusalem in mount Mozen. Where (the Lord) appeared vnto Dauid his father, euen in the place that Dauid prepared in the threshinge floore of Achan the Gethaitite. And he began to build in the seconde daye of the second month the fourth yere of his regyne, And these are the passages whereby Salomon was instructe to haile the house of God. The length was three scope cubites after the olde mesure, and the breadth. xx. cubites.

The porche, that was in headthe as large as the temple, hadde. xx. cubites: and the height was an hundred and xx. cubites: And he overlaid it on the inner side with pure golde. And the greater house he sieled with firsse tree, which he overlaid with the best gold, and graued thereto Palme trees and chaynes. And he overlaid the house with precious stone beautifulle. And the gold was gold of Paruaim. The house (I saye) the beames, pooles, welles and doyes thereof, overlaid he with golde, and made grauen woozke vpon the walles. And he made the house more holpe, whose length was twentie cubites, like to the headthe of the house, and the breadth thereof, was also twentie cubites. And he overlaid it with good golde, euen with bi. hundred talenics. And the waight of the naples of golde was fiftie silcles. And he overlaid the vpper chambers with golde. And in the house more haly, he made two Cherubins of ymage wozke, like children, and overlaid them with golde. And the wings of the Cherubs were. xx. cu-bites long. The one winge was fyue cubites, reachinge to the wall of the house, and the other winge was likewise fyue cubites reaching to the wing of the other Cherub. And euen so the one winge of the other Cherub was fyue cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other winge was fyue cubites also, and reached to the winge of the other Cherub. So that the winges of the sayde Cherubes were stretched oute twenty cubites.
And they stood on theyr feet, and loked inwarden. And hee made foze hangings of yelowe silke, purple, cre-masin, and fine white, and caused the pictures of Cherubs to be broudered theron. And he made before the house two Pillers of. xxx. cubites. highe.
And the heade that was aboue on the toppe of every one of them was fyue cubites, and he made chaynes of woze then woozke for the queere, and putte them on the heades of the pillars, and made an hundred pomegranates, and put them on the chaynes. And he reared by the pillars before the Temple: one on the right hande, and the other on the left: and called the right Iachin and the left, Boaz.

The. iij. Chapter.

And he made an altar of brafse xx. cubites long, and. xx. cubi-tes broude, and. xiiii. cubites hie. And he caste a brasen Lauatozpe of ten cubits from bym to bym, round in compasse, and fyue cubites hie: and a line of thirty cubits did compasse it rounde aboute. And vnder it was the fashion of Oxen which did compasse it round about: with ten cubits did they compasse the Lauatozpe rounde about, and there were. ii. rowes of oxen whiche were caste of lyke molten wozke. And it stode also vpon twelue oxen: thre looked towarde the North, thre towarde the West, thre towarde the South, and thre toward the East: and the Lauatozpe was set vpon them, and all their backes were toward the Lauatozpe. And the thickest of it was an hand breadth, and the bym lyke the bym of a cuppe with floures of lilies.
And it receyued and held thre thousand bates. And he made ten lauers, and put fyue on the ryghte hande, and fyue on the lefte, to washe and clesse in them, suche thinges as they offered for a burnt offering. But the great La-uatozpe was for the priestes to washe in. And he made ten candlesticks of gold (according to the pattern that was geuen of them) and putte them in the temple: fyue on the right hand, .v. on the lefte. And he made also. x. tables, & put them in the temple. .v. on the right side, and fyue on the lefte. And he made an. C. basens of golde. And he made the court of the priestes, and the great court and doyes to it, and overlaid the doores of them with brafse. And he set the great lauatozpe on the right side of the

C the East end, ouer agaynst the South. And Hiram made pottes, shouelles, and basens, and finished the woork that hee was appointed to make, for king Salomon in the house of God. The two pillers, the coueringes, of two heades, on the toppe of the pillers: and the two swatches to couer the two scalpes of heades that were on the toppes of the pillers: and foure hundred pomegranates on the two swatches, two rowes of pomegranats on one swatche, to couer the two tops, of heades that were on the pillers. And hee made two bottomes, and lavers made he hypon the bottomes: the greates Lauatoyre, and twelue Oren vnder it. Pottes also and shouelles, fleshookes, and all these vessels did Hiram (his father) make to king Salomon for the house of the Lorde of bryghte brasse. In the playne of Jordan did the king caste them, euen in the clay ground that is betwene Socoth and Jaredatha. And Salomon made all these vessels in greates boundaunce, for the weyght of brasse could not be reckened. And Salomon made all the vessels that were for the house of God: the golden altara also & the tables to set the shewbread vpon. Moreover, the Candlestickes with their lampes (to burne after the manner befoze the queere) and that of precious golde: and the floures and the lampes, and the snuffers made hee of golde, and that perfecte golde: and the dressinge knyues, basens, spones, and scencers of pure golde. And (he made) the dooze of the temple, and the inner doores within the place mooste holpe, and the inner doores of the temple wer gilted. And so was all the woork that Salomon made for the house of the Lorde finished.

The. v. Chapter.

A And so al the woork that Salomon made in the house of the Lorde was finished, and 3. Reg. 7. Salomon brought in all the things that Dauid his father had dedicated, with the silver and golde, and all the iewels, and put them among the treasures of the house of God. Then Salomon gathered the elders of Israel together, and al the heades of the tribes and auncient fathers of the children of Israel, vnto Ierusalem: to bringe the Arke of the couenante of the Lorde out of the cite of Dauid: whiche is in Zion. Wherefoze, all the men of Israel resorted vnto the king in the feast, euen in the seventh moneth. And all the elders of Israel came, and the Leuites tooke vpp the Arke. And the priestes and the Leuites broughte awayne the Arke and the tabernacle of witnesse, and all the holpe vessels that were in the tabernacle, and they bare them. And king Salomon, and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him befoze the Arke, offered thepe and Oren, so manpe that they couide not be tolde nor numbred for multitude. And the priestes brought the Arke of the appointment of the Lorde vnto his place, euen into the queere of the Temple, within the place mooste holpe, and set it vnder the wings of the Cherubs, that the Cherubs stretched out thepe wings ouer the place of the arke, and the Cherubs covered bothe the Arke and her barres about on hye. And the barres of the Arke were so longe, that the heades of the barres were scene without the Arke within the queere, but not without. And there the Arke remayned vnto this day. But there was nothinge in the Arke, - saue the two Tables, whiche Moses put therein at Horeb, when the Lorde made a couenante with the children of Israel, after they were come out of Egypt. And it fortuned, that when the priestes were come out of the holpe place (the sanctuarie was filled with smoke) for all the Priuelles that were present, were sanctified, and dyd not then waite by course, that bothe the Leuytes, and the singers vnder Heman and Jeduthun, were appointed to sundre offices, with their cithchildren and brethren, and were arrayed in fine robes, hauinge Drumme, psalteries, and harpes, and stood at the East end of the altar: and by the an hundred and twentie puffed blowinge with Trompettes. And the trumpet blowers and the singers agreed, that it seemed but one voyce in playinge and chancinge the voyce. And when they lyfte by their voyce with the Trompettes, drummes, and other Instrumentes of musike: and when they praised & laude (and sayd:) by what he is good, and that his mercies lasteth ever: the house of God was filled with a cloude, so that the priestes could not endure to minister, by the reason of the cloude. For the waterspe of the voyce hadde filled the house of God.

The. vi. Chapter.

Then Salomon sayd: the Lord hath spoken, he saith that he will dwell in the cloude. And I have built an habitation for thee, & a place for thy dwellinge for ever. And the kinge turned his face, and blessed the whole congregation of Israel, and all the congregation of Israel stood. And he sayd: blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which hath with his handes fulfilled it, that he spake with his mouth to my father David, sayinge:

 Lord promised, and have builded an house for the name of the Lord God Ark, wherein is the covenante of the Lord that he made with the children of Israel. And the kinge stood before the altar of the Lord, in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and stretched out his handes. For now Salomon hadde made a braise pulpit of fine cubites longe, and fyve cubites broad, and thye of heigth, and had sette it in the middes of the grasse court, and upon it he stood and kneled downe upon his knees before all the congregation of Israel, and stretched out his handes toward heaven, and sayd: O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in heven & in erth which keepeth covenante, and shew-est mercye vnto thy seruantes that walk before thee with all their hertes: Thou which hast kept with thy seruant David my father, the thinges which thou promisedst him: thou saydest it with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine handes, as it is to see this his neyghboure, and take an othe a-gaynst him, and make him to sweare, and they both come befoze thine authority in this house, then heare thou frō vpon his head, and iustifie the righhis righteousness. And yf thy people Israel be put to the worse befoze the euen as thou doest knowe every of thy strength. O Lord God, let thy sanctuarie be clothed with health: and let thy sanctuarie rejoyce in goodnesse.

O Lord God turne not away the face of thine anointed: Remember the mercyes which thou hast promised to David thy servant.

The .ij. Chapter.

AND when Salomon had made an end of praying, ther came downe from heaven, and consumed the burnt offering, and the sacrifices. And the house was filled with the glory of the Lord, and the priests could not stand unto the house of the Lord: because the glory of the Lord had filled the house.
And when all the children of Israel saw how the spirit, and the glory of the Lord came downe upon the house, they fell downe flatte upon their faces to the earth upon the pane-ments, and worshipped, and confessed unto the Lord that he is gracious; and he hath mercy lasteth ever. And the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the Lord. And king Salomon offered a sacrifice of .xxij. thousand bullockes, and threentie thousand sheepe. And so the king and all the people worshiped the house of God.
And the priests stood on their officing, and the Levites had the instrument of praise of the Lord, which king David had made to confesse unto the Lord: and his mercy lasteth ever.

playing a psalm of David with their bande. And the priests blew with trumpets before them: and all they of Israel stood. Moreover, Salomon went into the middle of the court, that was before the Lord: for ther he offered burnt offerings, & the fat of the peace offerings, because of the golden altar which David had made, was not habile to receive the burnt offerings, & the meat-offerings & the fat. So at the same time Salomon kept a feast of seven dayes and all they of Israel with him, an exceedinge greates congregation, even from the entering in of Hamath, unto the river of Egypt. And in the eighth day they made a gathering. For they kept the dedication of the altar seven dayes, and the feast seven dayes. And the .xiiij. day of the seventh moneth, he lette the people departe, into they several glades and merve in heart: for the goodnesse that the Lord had shewed to David and to Salomon, and to Israel his people. And so Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the kings house: and all that came in his heart to make in the house of the Lord, and in his owne house, wente prosperously forwarde. And the Lord appeared to Salomon by night and sayd unto him: I have hearde thy petition, and have chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice. If I shut up heauen that there bee no raine: or if I commaunde the locusts to devour the lande: or if I sende pestilence amonge my people: And if they that are of my people, amonge whom my name is called upon, doe humble theym selves, and make intercession, and seeke my presence, and turne from their wicked wayes: then will I heare from heaven, and be mercifull unto they synne, and will heale they lande.
And from henceforth mine eyes shall be open, and myne eares attende unto the prayer that is made in this place.
And therefore nowe: I have chosen and sanctified this house, that my name maye bee there for ever: and mine eyes, and mine heart shall these perpetually. And if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father walked, to do all that I have comanded thee, and shalt observe my statutes and my lawes, then will I stablish the seate of thy kingdome, accordinge as I made the covenant with David thy father, saying: • Thou shalt not be without a man to be kinge in Israel. And if thou turne away, and forseake my statutes, and my comma-ndementes which I have sette before you, and shall goo, and serue other goddess, and worshippye them: then will I plucke them by hye the rootes, out of my lande, which I have geuen them, and this house which I have sanctified for my name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a prouerbe and a jest among al nations.

And every one that passeth by, shall be astonied at this house, which belonged to the most hye God, and shall say:
• Why hath the Lord dealt of this fashion with this lande, and with this house? And they shall answer: because they forlooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and caughte holde on other gods, and worshipped them, and serued them: even therefore hath he brought all this euill vpon them.

3. reg. 9. b

And it fortuned, that after twentie yere when Salomon had built the house of the lord and his owne house, he builde the Cities that Hiram gaue him, and put of the children of Israel therein. And Salomon went to Hamath zoba, and strengthened it. And he builde Chadmoz in the wilderness, and repayed all the stoye cities which were in Hamath. And he builde Bethhozon the upper, and Bethhozon the nether.
Stronge cities, hauing walles, gates, and barres. And Baplah, and all the stoye cities that Salomon had, and all the charet cities, and the cities of the hoysemen, and every plesant place that Salomon hadde lust to builde in Ierusalem and Libanon, and thogh-out all the land of his dominion. And all the people that were left of the Hebreites, Amozites, Cherethites, Hittites and Jebusites, which were not of the children of Israel: but were the children of them which were left after them in the lands, and were not conquered of the children of Israel, them did Salomon make to paye tribute, until this day. But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no bondmen for his worke: but they were men of warre, and rulers, and great lordes with him, and captaines ouer his charets and hoysmen. And kinge Salomons officers that courted and ruled the people, were thow hundred and fifty. And Salomon bought the daughter of Pharaon out of the Citye of David, into the house that he had builded for her. For he sayd: my wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, for it is holpe: because that the ark of the Lord is come vnto it. Then Salomon offered burnt offeringes vnto the Lord, on the altare of the Lord, which he had built before the porche, doinge euerye thing in his due time, and offering accordinge to the commandment of Moyses, in the shabbethes, newe Moones, and solempne feastes, thre tymes in the yeare, that is to saye: in the feast of soure bread, in the feast of weekes, and in the feast of Tabernacles. And Salomon set the soyes of priests to their offices, as David his father had ordered them, & the Levites in their wa-ches, for to praye and minister before the priestes day by day, and the people by course at euery gate. For he had David the man of God comen-ded. And they omitted not the com-mandementes of the kinge: vnto the priestes and the Levites, concerning any manner of things, and concerning the treasures. For Salomon made provision for the charges, from the first daye that the foundation of the house of the Lord was layed: until it was finished; that the house of the Lord was perfect. Then Salomon Salomon to Hiram Tyer, and to Cloth at the red sea spide in the lande of Edom. And Hiram sente him by the handes of his seruantes, shippes, and seruantes that had knowledge of the sea: and they camme with the seruantes of Salomon to Ophir, and caried thence foure hundred and fiftie talentes of Golde, and broughte it to king Salomon.

The ix. Chapter.

AD. When the Queene of Saba herd of the fame of Salomon, she came to proue him in hard questions at Jerusalem, with a very greate compaign, with camels that bare spices and plentie of golde, and precious stones. And when she was come to Salomon, she communed with him of all that she had in her heart. And Salomon soyled her all her questions, and there was not one woide hid from Salomon, whiche he tolde her not. And when the Queene of Saba had sene the wisdom of Salomon: and the house that he had built: and the meate of his table, the sitting of his seruantes, and the standing of his wayters, their apparell, his butlers, their apparell, his going by, by the whiche he went into the house of the Lorde, there was no moze spirite in her. And she said to þe king: the saying, whiche I heard in mine owne lande, of thine actes, and of thy wisdom, is true. I beleued not the wordes of them, untill I came, and mine eyes had sene it. And beholde, the one halfe of thy wisdom was not tolde me: for thou exceedest the same that I hard. Happte are thy men, and happte are these thy seruantes which stande before thee alway, and heare thy wisdom. Blessed be the Lorde thy God, which had iust to thee, to set the king on his seate, that thou mightest be king, ordeyned by the Lorde thy God: Because thy God loneth Israel, and hath delite to make them continue etern: therefore made he thee king ouer them, to do righte and equitie. And he gaue the king an hundred and. xx. talentes of golde, and of spices exceading great abundaunce, and precious stones: neither was there any moze such spice as the queene of Saba gaue king Salomon. And the seruantes of Hiram and the seruantes of Salomon which broughte golde from Ophir broughte also almus wood and precious stones. And the king made of the almudge wood steyres in the house of the Lorde, and in the kinges palace, and harpes and psalteryes for singers. And there was no such wood sene before in the lande of Iuda. And kinge Salomon gaue to the Queene of Saba gery pleasaunte thinge that she asked, but not soo muche as she brought vnto the kinge. And so she tournd and went away to her owne land with her seruants. The weight of golde that came to Salomon in one yere, was syxe hundred. lxvi. talentes of golde, besydes that which chappemen and marchauntes brought, and all the kinges of Arabia, and rulers of that countrey brought gold and siluer to Salomon. And kinge Salomon made two hundred bucklers of beaten golde, and syxe hundred scies of beaten golde were spente vppon one buckeler, and thzee hundred shieldes made he of beaten golde, and one shield cost thzee hundred peces of golde: and the kinge put them in the house that was in the forest of Libanon. And the kinge made a great seate of Iuoype: and overlapyd it with pure golde. And there were syxe steyres to the seate, wyth a fote stole of golde fastened to the seate: and pommelies on eche side of the sitting place, and two Lyons standing by the pommels. And twelue lions stoode on the one side and on the other vpon the sixe steyres, soo that there was no suche woork made in any kyngdome. And all the byrnyng vessels of kinge Salomon were of gold, and all the vessels of the house that was in the forest of Libanon were of precious gold: for siluer was counted nothing worth, in the dayes of Salomon. For the kinges shippes wente to Charlis with the seruantes of Hiram: euerye thzee yeres passed all the kinges of the earth, in riches and wisdom. And all the Kinges of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisdom that God had put in his heart. And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, rayment, harnesses, spices, horses & mules, and whatsoever might be gotten yere by yere. And Salomon had foure thou-

The reste of the actes of king Salomon firste and laste, are they not written in the sayings of Nathan the prophete, and in the prophetic of Ihuah the Silonite, and in the visions of Iddo the fear of visions agaynst Jeroboam the son of Nabat: And Salomon repyned in Jerusalem vpon all Israel fourte yeres. And Salomon slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the cite of Dauid his father: and Rehoboam his sonne reigned in his stede.

The .x. Chapter.

3. Re. 12 AD • Rehoboam wente to Sichem, for to Sichem were all Israel come together to make him kinge. And when Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat (which was fled into Egypte from the presence of Salomon the kinge) hearde it, he returned out of Egypte. And they sente and called him. And so Jeroboam and all they of Israel came and communed with Rehoboam, saying: Thy father layd a greuous yoke vpon vs, now we therfore reinit thou somewhat of the

greuous service of thy father, and of his heavy yoke that he put vpon vs: and we will serue thee. And he sayde to them: come agayne vnto me after three dayes. And the people departed. And Kinge Rehoboam counsailed with the elders that had stande before Salomon his father, why he yet liued, and he sayde: what counsaile geue ye me, to answere this people agayne. And they tolde him saying: If thou be kinde to this people, and shewe thy selfe lowely to them, and speake lowe uoices to them, they will be thy seruantes for euer. But he leste the counsaile whiche the elders gaue him, and toke counsaile with the yonge men that were growen vp with him, and that rode in his presence. And he sayd vnto them: what aduise geue ye, that we maye aunswere this people, which haue communed with me, saying: What somewhat of y yoke which thy father did put vpon vs. And the younge men that were growen vnto with hym, spake vnto hym, saying: Thus shalt thou aunswere the people that spake to thee, saying: Thy father made oure yoke heauy: but make thou it somewhat lighter for vs. Thus shalt thou saye vnto them: my little finger shall be heavier then my fathers loynes. For where my father putte a heauy yoke vpon you, I will putte more to your yoke: my father chastised you with whippes, but I will chastise you with scorpions. And so Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the thirde daye, as the kinge hadde, saying: Comme agayne to me the thirde daye. And the kinge answered them cruelly: and Kinge Rehoboam leste the counsaile of the aged menne, and answered them after the aduise of the yonge menne, saying: My father made your yoke greuous, and I will adde thereto: my father chastised you with whippes, but I will chastise you with scorpions. And so the kinge harkened not vnto the people, but the occasion came of God, that the Lorde might make good his sayinge, • whiche he spake, by the hande of Shia the Silonite to Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat. And when all they of Israell sawe that the king would not agre vnto them, the people answered the king, saying: what part haue we with Dauid, or inheritance with the sonne of Isai? let euery man of Israell go to his tent. • And nowe Dauid, see to thine house. And so all Israel gat them to their tents, so that Rehoboam reigned ouer no mo of the childzen of Israell, then dwelle in the cities of Iuda. Then kinge Rehoboam also sent Haduram that was ruler ouer the tribute, and the childzen of Israel stoned him with stones that he died. But kinge Rehoboam made speede to get him vp to his charret, to flee to Ierusalem. And they of Israel rebelled againste the house of Dauid vnto this daye.

AND when Rehoboam was come to Ierusalem • he gathered of the house of Iuda and Ben Iamin, nine scoze ch. chosen me of warre to fight against Israell, and to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboam. And the woord of the Lorde came to Semetiah the man of God, sayinge: speake vnto Rehoboam the son of Salomon, kinge of Iuda, and to all them of Israell that are in Iuda and Ben Iamin, and say: thus sayeth the Lorde: Ye shall not goe vp nor fight against your brethren: retourne euery man to his house, for this thing is doone of me. And they obeyed the wordes of the Lorde, and returned fro goinge agaynste Jeroboam. And Rehoboam dwelt in Ierusalem, & builde strong cities in Iuda. He builded vp Bethlehem, and Etham, and Cheko: Bethzan, Bocho, and Adullam: Gath & Maresha, and Ziph, Aduraim, Lachis and Ascha: Zorea, Tialon, & Hebron, which is in Iuda and Ben Iamin, stronge Cities, And he repayred the stronge holdes, and put captaynes in them, and scoze of bitaile, and wyne and oyle. And in all Cities he putte shieldes and speares, and made thym exceeding stronge, hauinge Iuda and Ben Iamin on his side. And the priestes and the Leuites that were in all Israell, resorted to him out of all their coastes. For the Leuites left their suburbs and their possession, and came to Iuda and Ierusalem: • for Jeroboam and his sonnes had caste them out from ministering vnto the Lord. • And he ordeyned him Priestes for the hill anitares, for the Deuilles, and for the calves whiche he had made, and after the Leuites there went of al the tribes of Israell, suche as submitted theyr hearts to seke the Lord God of Israell, and came to Ierusalem, to offer vnto the Lorde God of their fathers. And so they strengthened the kingdome of Iuda, and made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon, mighty thre yere longe, for thre yere they walked in the waye of Dauid and Salomon.

And Rehoboam toke him Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth, the son of Dauid to wife, & Abiahil the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Isai, which bare him childzen Iesus, Samaria, & zaha. And after her he tooke Maaca, the daughter of Absalon, which bare him Abia, Arthat, Ziza, and Shelomith. And Rehoboam loued Maacah the daughter of Absalon aboue al his wiues and concubines, for he tooke xviij. wiues and thre scoze concubins, and begate .xxviii. Sonnes, and thre scoze daughters. And Rehoboam made Abiah the sonne of Maacah the chiefe ruler amonge his brethrenne, and to haue the oversight of the kingdome. And he played wiselpe, and scattered all his childzen throughout all the Countreies of Iuda, and Ben Iamin vnto euery stronge citie. And he gaue them aboundaunce of bitaile, and obteyned manye wiues.

AND it came to passe, that when Rehoboam had stablished the kingdome, & became mighty, 3. Ke. 13

he forsoke the lawe of the Lord, and all Israel with him. And it fortuned, that in the fifth yere of King Rehoboam, Sefac the king of Egypt came bp agaynste Jerusalem, because they had trasgressed agaynst the Lord with .xii. C. charets, and .lx. M. horsemen. And the people were withoute number, that came with him oute of Egypte, Lubim, Sukkim, and the blackmozes. And they toke the strong cities in Iuda, and came to Ierusalē. Then came Semeia the Prophete to Rehoboam, and to the lordes of Iuda, that were gathered together within

B Jerusalem for Sefac, and sayde vnto them: thus sayth the Lord: ye haue left me, and therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Sefac. Whereupon the lordes of Israel, and the king humbled them selues, and sayd: the Lord is righteous. And when the Lord sawe that they submitted theim selues, the worde of the Lord came to Semeia, saying: They submit the selues, therefore I will not destroy them. But I will deliuer them somewhat, and my wrath shall not burne vpon Ierusalē by the hands of Sefac. Neuertheles, they shalbe his seruantes, to knowe what differēce is betwene my seruice and the seruice of the kingdome of the world. And so Sefac king of Egypt came to Jerusalem, & tooke awaye the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kinges house: he tooke euen all. And he caried awaye the shields of gold, which Salomon made. In steade of which, king Rehoboam made shields of brasse, & committed them to the handes of the captaines which had the oversight of the sotemen, and that kept the entraunce of the kinges house. And it came to passe, that when the king entred into the house of the Lord, the garde came and fet them, and brought them agayne vnto the garde chamber. And when he humbled him selfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he woulde not destroye altogether. And in Iuda all was well. And so king Rehoboam waxed mighty, and reyg-ned in Jerusalem. And Rehoboam was .xii. yere olde, when he began to reygne, and he reygned .xviij. yeres in Jerusalem, the Citie which the Lord had chosen out of al the tribes of Israel to put his name there. And his mothers name was Naama an Ammonitelle. And he did euill, because he prepared not his heart to seeke the Lord. The actes also of Rehoboam, firste and last, are they not written in the sayinge of Semeia the prophet, & Iddo the sear whiche noted the genealogie: and ther was warre alwaye betwene Rehoboam & Ieroboam. And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buried in the citie of Dauid, and Abia his sonne reygned in his stead.

The .xiiij. Chapter.

The .xiiij. yere of kinge Ieroboam: beganne Abia to reygne ouer Iuda, and he reygned thre yere in Ierusalē. His mothers name also was Michaiaba, the daughter of Artell of Gibeā. And there was war betwene Abia & Ieroboam. And Abia made prouision for & war, hauing balaunt and expert men of warre, euen foure hundred thousande chosen men. And Ieroboam set him selfe in aray to fight against him, with eght hundred thousand pickt men which were strong and men of armes. And Abia rode bp vpon Zemaraim an hill which is in mount Ephraim, and sayd: heare me thou Ieroboam and all Israel: Do not you knowe howe that the Lord God of Israel gaue the kingdome, ouer them of Israel, to Dauid for euer, euen to him and to his sons with a salted coneuant? And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruante of Salomon, the sonne of Dauid is risen bp, and hath rebelled against his Lord. And there gathered to him lewde men, the childezen of Betanai, and pretapled agaynste Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon when Rehoboam was yonge and tender hearted, and coulde not stande before them. And now ye see, that ye be able to prynciple agaynst the kingdome of the Lozde, which is in the hand of the son-nes of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, and haue the golden calves • which Jeroboam made you for gods And haue ye not cast out the priestes of the Lozde, the sonnes of Aaron, and the Leuites, and haue made you priesters after the maner of the nations of other landes? so that whosoener commeth and consecrateth his hand with a younge ox, and seuen rammes, the same maye be a prieste of them that are no goddes. But we belong vnto the Lozde our God, whom we haue not forsaken, and the priestes are the sonnes of Aaron which minister vnto the Lozde, and the Leuites waite vpon their office. They burne vnto the Lozde euerye morning and eue-ninge, burne sacrifices and sweete encense: the shewebreade set they in order vpon a pure table: and prepare the candlesticke of golde with the lamps of the same, to burne euer at euen. And truly we kepe the watche of the Lozde our God, but ye haue forsaken him. And beholde, God himselfe is our captayne, and his priestes blow with the trompettes, and crye alarm agaynst you. O ye children of Israel, fight not agaynst the Lozd God of your fathers: for it will not prosper with you. But for all that, Jeroboam conuayed men priuelye about, to come behynd them, and so they were besyde Juda, and the spers in weite were behinde them. And when they of Juda looked about: behold the battell was besyde and behinde, and they cryed vnto the Lozde, and the priestes blewe with the trompettes, and the men of Juda gaue a shoute.

And as the men of Juda shoute, it came to passe, that God smote Jeroboam, and all Israel besyde Abia and Juda. And the children of Israel fled besyde Juda, and God deliuered them into their hande. And Abia and hys people slew a great slaughter of them: there fell downe wounded of Israel three hundred thousande chosen men.
And so the children of Israel were brought vnder at that time, and the children of Juda pryncipled: because they leaned vnto the Lozde God of their fathers. And Abia folowed after Jeroboam and toke cities from him: Bethel, with the towynes belonging thereto. Iesana with the towynes that belonged thereto, and Ephraim with her towynes. And Jeroboam recoured no strength agayne in the dayes of Abia. And the Lozde plagued him, and he dyed. But Abia waxed migh-tye, and marped. xiiij. wyues, and begot. xxiij. sonnes, and. xbi. daughters.

The reste of the actes of Abia, his customes and sayinges are written in the booke of the prophete Iddo.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

SO Abia slepte with his fathers, and they buryed him in the citee of Dauid, and • Asa hys sonne reigned in his stead. In whose daies the lande was in quietnes ten yere.
And • Asa dyd that was good and right in the eyes of the Lozd his God: for he tooke awaye strange alters, and the hylalters, and brake downe the images, and cut downe the groues, and commaunded Juda to feke the Lozde God of their fathers, and to do according to the lawe and commandement. And he put awaye out of all the cities of Juda the hylalters and the ymages: and the kingdome was quiet besyde hym. And he built strong cities in Juda: because the lande was in reste, and he had no warre in those yeres. For the Lozd had geuen him reste. Therefore he sayde vnto Juda: let vs build these ctytes, and make about them walles, towres, gates, and barres, for the lande is yet in reste besyde vs, because we haue soughte the Lozde our God: we haue sought him, and he hath geuen vs reste on euerye syde: and so they build, and it prospered with them. And Asa had an ar-mye of menne that bare sheldes and speares, oute of Juda, three hundred thousande: and oute of Ben Iamin that bare sheldes, and dyne bowes,

And Aſa went out beſore him, & they vnto the Lord his God, and ſaid: Lord no power, helpe vs therfore, O Lord our God, for we truſte in thee, and in thy name we go agaynſt this multitude. Thou art the Lord our God, & no man ſhall preuaile agaynſte thee.

So the Lord ſmote the blacke Moores beſore Aſa and Iuda, & the blacke Moores fled. And Aſa and the people that was with him, folowed after them vnto Gerar. And the blacke Moores hoſt was overthrowen, that there was none of them left, but were deſtroyed beſore the Lord, and beſore his hooſte. And they carped away a mightie great praye. And they ſmote all the cities round about Gerar. For the feare of the Lord came vpon them.
And they ſpoiled all the cities, and ther was exceeding much ſpoile in the.
They ſmote alſo the tentes of cattell, and carped away plentie of ſhepe and camels, and returned to Ieruſalem.

The. xv. Chapter.

As the ſpirite of God cam on Azaria the ſonne of Obed.
A And he went out to mete Aſa and ſayde vnto him: Heare me Aſa, and all Iuda, and Ben Iamin. The Lord is with you, whyle ye be with him, and when ye ſecke him, he will be ſoude of you: and agayne when ye forſake him, he alſo will forſake you. And truly for a longe ſeaſon in Iſrael no man ſought the true God, no man regarded the prieſt that taught them, no man cared for the lawe. And when anye man in his trouble didde turne vnto the Lord God of Iſrael; and ſought him, he was found of them.
And in that time there was no peace to him, that didde go out and in: but great ſedition was there amonge all the inhabitants of the earth. And nation was deſtroyed of nation, and ci-tie of citie: for God did moue all aduerſitie among them. Playe therfore the men, and let not your hands ſlacke for your ſwoorde ſhall be rewarded.

And when Aſa hearde theſe wordes, and the prophecy of Azaria the ſonne of Obed the Prophet, he tooke courage, and put awaye the abhominable pooles out of all the lande of Iuda and Ben Iamin, and out of the cities whiche he wanne in mounte Ephraim, and renued the altar of the Lord, that was beſore the porche of the Lord. And he gathered all Iuda and Ben Iamin, and the ſtrangers with them out of Ephraim, Manaſſe, and Simeon. For there ſelle manye to him out of Iſrael, when they ſawe that the Lord his God was with him. So they aſſembled at Ieruſalem the thirde moneth, the ſyſtente yeare of the regne of Aſa.
And they offered vnto the Lord the ſame tyme of the ſpoyle whiche they had brought. vii. hundred oxen, and vii. thouſande ſhepe. And they made a conſtaunt to ſeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart, and all they ſoule. And who ſoo euer would not ſeke the Lord God of Iſ-rael ſhould dye for it, whether he were ſmall or greate, man or woman. And they ſware vnto the Lord with a loude voyce, ſhoutinge and blowinge with trumpets and ſhaulmes. And all they in Iuda reioyled at the othe, for they had ſwoyne vnto the Lord with all their heart, and ſoughte him with all their luſte, and he was ſoude of them. And the Lord gaue them reſte rounde aboute on euerye ſyde. And kinge Aſa put Maacha his mother out of auctoritie, becauſe ſhe had made an abhominable ydol (of ſyluer) in agroue: and Aſa brake downe her y-dole, and ſtamped it, and burnt it at the bwooke Cedron. But all the altars were not taken awaye out of Iſrael, though the heart of Aſa was perfect all his dayes. And he brought into the house of God, the things that his father had dedicate, and that hee himselfe hadde dedicate: euen siluer, and gold, and Jewels. And there was no more warre vnto the. .xxv. yere of the reygne of Ala.

¶ The .xxvi. Chapter.

Jm. 5. c

In the .xxvi. yere of the reygne of Ala, came . Baasa kinge of Israel by agaynst Iuda, and builde Rama, to that intente he woulde lette none passe oute or in (safely) to Ala kinge of Iuda. And Ala set out golde and siluer out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the kinges house, and sent to Benhadad kinge of Siria that dwelte at Damesec, and said: There is a consideration betwene me and thee, betwene my father and thine. Beholde I haue sente thee siluer and golde, that thou wilt come and breake thine appointmente with Baasa kinge of Israel, that he maye departe from mee. And Benhadad graunted vnto kinge Ala, and sente to the captaynes of his armye to the cities of Israel. And they smot Tion, Dan and Belmain, and the strong cities of Ephraim. And when Baasa hearde this, he lefte buildinge at Rama, and lette his wooper crale. And then Ala the kinge tooke all Iuda, and caried awaye the stones and timber of Rama wherewith Baasa was a buildinge, and he built therewith Geba & Mizpa. At that time, Hanani the sear came to Ala king of Iuda, and sayde vnto him: Because thou haste trusted in the king of Siria, and not rather put thy trust in the Lord thy God, therefore is the hoste of the kinge of Siria escaped out of thine hande. . Had not the blake Mozes and Rubian exceedinge greates hoste, with manye charrettes and horsemen? And yet because thou trustedst in the Lord, he deliuered them into thine hande. For the eyes of the Lord beholde all the earth to strenghten them that are of per-fecte heart towarde him. . Herin Gen. 3. 10 thou haste done foolishly, and therefore 1. re. 13. c from henceforth thou shalt haue war. And Ala was wroth with the sear, and put him into a prison house, for he was displeased with him, because of this thing. And Ala destroyed certayne of the people the same season. And beholde these dedes of Ala, firste and laste, are written in the booke of the kinges of Iuda and Israel. And Ala in the .xxix. yere of his reygne fell sicke in his feete, and that his disease continued very long. And in his sickness he sought not the Lord, but phisitions. And Ala slepte with his fathers, and died in the .xli. yere of his reygne. And they buried him in his owne sepulchre, whiche he had made for him selfe in the Citie of David, and laied him in the bed whiche he had filled with diuerse kindes of spices and sweete odours, made by the crafte of the poticaries. And they burnt verye much spice about him.

Ad . Jehosaphat his son reigned in his stead, and puenailed Mat. 1. b agaynst Israel. And he put souldiers in all the stronge Cities of Iuda, & set rulers in the lande of Iuda, and in the cities of Ephraim, whiche Ala his father had wonne. And the Lord was with Jehosaphat, because he walked in the olde wayes of his father David, & sought not Baalim. But sought the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandementes: and not after the doings of Israel. And the Lord established the kingdome in his hande, and all they that were in Iuda brought him presentes, so that he had abondaunce of riches and honour. And he lift by his heart vnto the wayes of the Lord, and he put downe yet moze of the highaltars and groves out of Iuda. In the thirde yere of his reygne he sent to his lordes, euen to Benhail, Obadia, Zacharia, Nathanel, & to Michaahu that they should teach in the cities of Iuda, and with the he sent Leuites, euen Semetiahu, Petthaniah, Zabadihu, Isaell, Semiramoth, Jehonathan, Adoniah, Tobiah, and Tabadonia and with them Elishamah and Jehoram priests. And they taught in Juda, and hadde the booke of the lawe of God with them, and wente aboute throughout all the cities of Juda, and taughte the people. And the feare of the Lord feil vpon all the kingdoms of the landes that were rounde about Juda, and they fought not against Jehosaphat. And some of the Philistines brought Jehosaphat giftes, and tribute siluer, and thereto the Arabians brought him cattell: euen. vij. M. and vij. hundred rammes, and. vij. M. and vij. hundred he gotes. And so Jehosaphat prospered and grewe vp an hye. And hee builde in Juda, castelles and strong cities: & he had great substance in the Cities of Juda, but the menne of armes and strongest souldiers wer in Jerusalem. And these are the officers of them in the houses of theyr father, the captaynes ouer the thousandes in Juda. Bana the captayne, and with him of fighting men. iij. C. M. And nexte to his hande was Jehohanan a captaine, and with him. ii. c. and lxxx. M. And next him was Amazia the sonne of Zichri, which of his own good will offered him selfe vnto the Lord, and with him. ij. C. M. mighty men of warre. And of the children of Ben Jamin, Eliadas a man of might and had with him armed men with bowe and shilde. ij. C. M. And nexte him was Jehosabab, and with him an. C. and. lxxx. M. that wer prepared for the warre. These wayted on the king, besides those which the king put in the strong Cities throughout all Juda.

The. xviij. Chapter.

AND Jehosaphat had abundance of riches and honour, and ioyned affinitye with Bhab. And after certain yeres he went down to Bhab to Samaria, and Bhab shewe many shepe and oxen for him, and for the people that hee had with him, and entreated him to go by with him

vnto Ramoth in Gilead. And Bhab kinge of Israell sayde vnto Jehosaphat Kinge of Juda: wylte thou goe with me to Ramoth in Gilead? And he answered him: I will be as thou, and my people shall bee as thine, and we will go with thee to the war. And Jehosaphat said vnto the king of Israell: aske counsell I praye thee, at the wooorde of the Lord, this same day. Wherefore the king of Israell gathered together of prophetes. iiii. C. men and sayde vnto them: shall we goe to Ramoth in Gilead to fight, or should I cease? And they sayde: goe vp, and God shall deliuer it into the kinges hande. But Jehosaphat said: is there yet here neuer a prophete more of the Lordes that we might aske of him? And the king of Israell said vnto Jehosaphat: there is yet one manne, by whom we maye aske the Lord. But I hate him: for he neuer prophetieth me good, but alway euill, and the same is Michea the son of Jimla. And Jehosaphat sayde: let not the kinge saye so. And the king of Israell called one of his chamberlaines, and said: ffithe hither quickly Michea the sonne of Jimla. And the kinge of Israell and Jehosaphat kinge of Juda sat either of them on his seate in their apparill, in a threshinge flooze beside the gate of Samaria, and all the prophetes propheticied before them. And one Zebekia the sonne of Chanana had made him hornes of yron, and sayde: thus sayth the Lord: with these shalt thou ouerthrowe Siria, vntill they bee brought to naught. And all the prophetes propheticied euen soo, sayinge: Go vp to Ramoth in Gilead, and it shall prosper with thee: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hande of the king. And the messenger that wente to call Michea, spake to him, sayinge: beholde, the wordes of the prophetes spake good to the Kinge with one assent, let thy wordes therfore be like one of theirs, that thou speake that which is pleasaunte. And Michea sayd: as truly as the Lord liueth, enfe what my god saith, that will I speake.

And when he was come to the king, the king sayde vnto him: Michas, shall wee goo to Ramoth in Gilead to fighte, or leaue off? And he saide: go by, and all shalbe wel: and they shalbe deliuered into youre hande. And the king sayde to him: How and so manye times do I charge thee that thou saye nothinge but the trueth to me, in the name of the Lord. Then he said: I did see all them of Israel scattered in the mountaynes, as sheepe that haue no shepheard. And the Lord sayde: these haue no master, let them returne euery manne therfore to his house in peace. And the king of Israel said vnto Jehosaphat: did not I tell thee, that hee woulde not prophesy good vnto me, but euill? But he saide agayne: therfore heare ye the word of the Lord, I saw the Lord sit vpon his seate, and all the company of heauen stood on his right hande, and on his left.

And the Lord sayd: who shall deceyue Ahab king of Israel, that he maye go by and be ouerthrowen at Ramoth in Gilead? And he sayde: one sayth this, another that. And there came oute a spirite, and stood before the Lord, and said: I wil deceyue him. And the Lord sayd vnto him: wherine? And he sayd: I wil go out, and be a lying spirite in the mouth of all his Prophetes. And the Lord said: thou shalt deceyue him, and shalt p[er]suade, go out, and do euen so.

And now therfore, beholde, the Lord hath put a lyinge spirite in the mouthes of all these thy Prophets, & the Lord hath spoken euill agaynst thee. And Zedekia the sonne of Chanaan went to, and smote Michas vpon the cheke, and sayd: by what way went the spirite of the Lord from me, to speke with thee? And Michas said: thou shalt see the day when thou shalt goo from chambze to chambze, for to hide thy self. And the king of Israel said: take ye Michas, and bringe him to Imon the gouernour of the citie, and to Iosab the kinges sonne, and ye shal say, thus sayeth the king: put this felow in the prison house, and feede him with breade of affliction, and water.

of trouble, vntill I come agayne in peace. And Michas sayd: if thou come agayne in peace, then hath not the Lord spokē vnto me. And he said: ha: he to, ye people euery one of you. And so the king of Israel, and Jehosaphat the king of Iuda went by to Ramoth in Gilead. And the king of Israel sayde vnto Jehosaphat: I muste chaunge me, when I go to the battell: but see that thou haue thine own apparel vpon thee. And the king of Israel chaunged him self, and they came to the bareil. But the king of Syria had commaunded the Captaynes of the charets that were with him, saying: see that ye fight not agaynst the small or great, saue against the king of Israel only. And when the captaynes of the charettes saw Jehosaphat, they saide: It is the king of Israel, and therfore they compassed aboute him to fighte. But Jehosaphat cried oute, and the Lord deliuered him, & God chased the away from him. For it came to passe, that when the captaynes of the charettes perceiued, that it was not the kinge of Israel, they returned backe agayne from him. And a certaine man drew a bowe with all his might, and smote the kinge of Israel betweene the ioyntes of his habergein. And hee sayde to his charret man: tourne thine hande, that thou mayest carie me out of the holle: for I am wounded. And the battell ceased that day. Howe be it the kinge of Israel caused his charret to stand stil against the Syrians vntill enen. And about the time of the Sun goinge downe, he died.

The .xxv. Chapter.

And Jehosaphat the Kinge of Iuda, camme home agayne in peace to Ierusalem. And Jehu the sonne of Hanani the Seer, wente oute to meete him, and sayde to Kinge Jehosaphat. Wouldest thou helpe the vngodlye, and loue them that hate the Lord? Therfore is wrath come downe vpon thee, from before the Lord. Neuerthelesse there are some

And he sette iudges in the land, throughout all the strong cities of Iuda, citie by citie, and sayde to the iudges: take heede what ye doo, for ye execute not the iudgements of man but of God, which is with you in the iudgement. Wherefore now, let the feare of the Lord bee vpon you: and take heede, and be doing the thing that pleaseth him, for there is no vn-

Ch. xx. Chapter.

After this also it fortuned that the children of Moab and the children of Ammon, and with them other of the Ammonites came against Jehosaphat to battel. And ther came some that told Jehosaphat, saying: there cometh a great multitude agaynst thee from the other side of the sea, and oute of Siria. And behold, they be in Halason, Chamar, which is Engaddi. And Jehosaphat feared, and set himselfe to seeke the Lord, and proclaimed fastinge throughout all Iuda. And they that were in Iuda, gathered themselves together, to aske counsell of the Lord. And they came oute of all the cities of Iuda, to make intercession to the Lord. And Jehosaphat stood betwene the congregation of Iuda and Jerusalem in the house of the Lord before the newe court, and said: O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen, and reignest not thou on all the kingdomes of the Hethen? And in thine hand is power and might, and there is no man that is able to withstand thee. Wite not thou our God, which diddest calle out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gauest it to the seede of Abrahā thy louer for euer? And they dwell therein, and haue built thee altyle therin for thy name, saying: He will come vpon vs, as the sworde of iudgement, pestilence or hunger: then, if we stande before this house in thy presence, for thy name is in this house, and crye vnto thee in our tribulation, heare thou and helpe. And now behold, the children of Ammon & Moab, and mount Seir, by whome thou wouldest not let them of Israel goe, when they came out of the land of Egypt: but they departed from them, and destroyed them not. See, how they reward vs, to come for to call vs oute of the possession, which thou hast giuen vs to inherite. O our God, wilt thou not iudge them: for we haue no might against this great company that cometh agaynst vs. Neither wat we what to do: but our eyes be vnto thee. And all Iuda stood before the Lord with their ponge ones, their wines and their children: and there was Jehasiel the sonne of Zacharia the son of Banaiā the sonne of Zebiel, the son of Mathania, a Leuite of the sonne of Asaph, and vpon him came the spli-rite of the Roide, euen in the middes of the congregation. And hee sayde, herken all Iuda, and yee inhabiters of Ierusalem, and thou king Jehosaphat: Thus sayth the Lord vnto you: be not afraid, nor feare hearted by reason of this greate multitude: for the battell is not yours but Goddes.

 To morowe go ye downe against the:
 for they come vp at ziz, & ye shall finde them at the ende of the brooke before the wilderness of Ieruell. Ye shal not neede to fighte in this battell: but they forth and stand, and beholde the helpe of the Lord which is with you: feare not, nor let your heartes faile you: O ye of Iuda and of Ierusalem. To mo-row go out against them: for the Lord will bee with you. And Jehosaphat bowed his face to the earth, and all Iuda and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Lord worshipping the Lord. And the Levites of the chil-drene of the Cohathytes, and of the children of the Gersathytes stood vp, to prayse the Lord God of Israel with a loude voyce on hye. And when they arose early in the morning, they gat them out vnto the wilderness of Ebedon. And as they went oute, Je-hosaphat stood and sayd: heare me, O Iuda, and yee inhabitants of Ierusalem. Put your truste in the Lord your God, that ye may be founde faythful.
 Geue credence to his prophetes, and so shall ye prosper. And hee gaue the people counsell, and set some to singe vnto the Lord, and to prayse him in the bewtie of holynes, and to go oute before the armie, as they wente, and to say: praise the Lord for his mercye lastely euer. And what time as they beganne to lande and prayse, then the Lord stirred vp certayne of the childre of Ammon and Moab, whiche layed wait for the that were of mount Seir which were come against Iuda. And they wer ouerthrowne with strokes among themselves. For the children of Ammon & Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir. And they slue and destroyed them. And when they had made an ende of the inhabitants of Seir, euery one helped to destrope another among them selues. And when Iuda came to the edge of the wildernes, they looked vnto the multitude.

 And behold, they were dead carcases fallē to the earth, and none escaped. And when Jehosaphat and his people came to take away the spoule of them, they founde amonge them aboundance of goodes, rayment and pleasant iewels, which they toke for them selues, more then they coulde carpe away: so that they were thre dayes in gathering of the spoule, it was so muche. And the fourth daye they assembled in the balley of blessing for there they blessed the Lord. And therefore they called the name of the same place, the balley of blessing vnto this daye. And so all the men of Iuda and Ierusalem returned with Jehosaphat their heade, for to go againe to Ierusalem with glad-nesse: for the Lord had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies. And they came to Ierusalem with psalteries & harpes, and shawmes, euen vnto the house of the lord. And the feare of god fell on the kingdomes of all landes, when they had heard that the Lord fought against the enemies of Israel.
 And so the reialme of Jehosaphat was in tranquillite: and his God gaue them rest on euery side. And Jehosaphat raygned vpon Iuda, and was xxxv. yere old when he began to raig-n, and raygned. xxb. ycare in Ierusalem.
 And his mothers name was Abusa:

 were not taken away, for the people had not yet prepared thei harres vnthe sayinges of Iehu the sonne of Ha-nani, whiche noted them in the booke: of the Kinges of Israel. After this dyd Jehosaphat king of Iuda toyne hym selfe with Ahaziah kinge of Israel

Israel whose minde was to do wickedly. He coupled him selfe with him, to make ships to goo to Tharsis, and they made the shippes in Ezion Gaber. And Eliezer the sonne of Dodanah of Marela prophesied agaynst Jehosaphat, saying: because thou hast ioyned thy selfe with Thaziabu, the Lozde hath broken thy workes. And the ships were broken that they were not able to go to Tharsis.

The .xxi. Chapter.

Jehosaphat also. slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the citie of Dauid, and Jehoram his Sonne reigned in his stede: and he had brethren which were the sonnes of Jehosaphat, Azaria, Jehiel, Zacharia, Azaria, Michaeil, and Sephatiahu. All these were the sonnes of Jehosaphat kinge of Iuda. And their father gaue them manye greates giftes of golde, and syluer, and other speciall substance, with strong cities in Iuda, but the kingdome gaue he to Jehoram, for he was the eldest.

And Jehoram roose by agaynst the kingdome of his father, and preuailed and. slew all his brethren with the sword, and diuers of the Lordes of Israel. Jehoram was. xxii. yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned. viii. yere in Ierusalem. And he walked in the waye of the kings of Israel, lyke as did the house of Ahab, for he had the daughter of Ahab to wife, and he had wrought euill in the eyes of the Lozde. Howe be it the Lozde would not destroye the house of Dauid, because of the. couenaunt that he had made with Dauid, as he promised to geue a lighte to him, and to his sonnes for ever. In his dayes the Edomites rebelled when they were vnder the dominion of Iuda, & made them selues a kinge. And Jehoram wente forth with his Lordes, and all his charettes were with him: and he rose vpp by night, and smote the Edomites, whiche compassed him in, and the captains of the charets, But Edom rebelled still, so that they would not be vnder the hande of Iuda vnto this daye. That same time also did Ahaba departe from being vnder his hande, because Jehoram had forsaken the Lozde God of his fathers. Whereouer he made hill altars in the cities of Iuda, and caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to committe fornication, and prouoked Iuda to ydolatrie. And there came a writinge to him from Elias the prophet, saying: Thus sayth the Lozde God of Dauid thy father: because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Jehosaphat thy father, and in the wayes of Aha kinge of Iuda, but walkedst in the wayes of the kinges of Israel, and hast made Iuda and the dwellers in Ierusalem to goe a whooringe, like to the whoydomes of the house of Ahab, and hast slayne thy brethren, euen thy fathers house, whiche were better then thou: Beholde, with a greate plague will the Lozde smite thy folke, thy chylde, thy wyues, and thy goodes. And thou shalt suffer greates payne: euen a dis-ease of thy bowels, vntill thy guttes fall out by reason of thy sicknesse, daye by day. And so the Lozde spyped by agaynst Jehoram the spyt of the Philistines, and the Arabians that were besyde the blacke Moories: And they came by into Iuda, and walked it, and caried awaye all the substance that was founde in the kinges house, and his sonnes, and his wyues: so that there was neuer a sonne left him, save Jehohabab, which was the youngest among his sonnes. And after all these things, the Lozde smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease: And it came to passe, & in processe of time, and euen after the end of. ii. yeres his guttes fell out in his sicknesse: & so he dyed of very euill diseases. And they made no burninge for him like the burninges of his fathers. When he began to reigne he was. xxii. yere olde, and reigned in Ierusalem. viii. yere, and liued wickedly: howe be it they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the kinges.

AND the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Thaziah his yong sonne king in his stead. For the men of warre that came with the hoste of the Arabians, had slayne all his eldest sonnes. And so Thaziah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iuda, was made king. Two and forty yere olde was he, when he began to raigne, and he reigned one yere in Ierusalem: his mothers name was Thaliahu the daughter of Amri. And he walked also in the ways of the house of Shab, for his mother (by her counsell) entysed hym to do wyckedly. Wherefoze he dyd that which was euill in the sight of the Lorde, as did they that were of the house of Shab: for they were hys counsellors after the death of his father to his destruction. And he walked after their counsell, and went with Jehoram & sonne of Shab king of Israel, to fight against Hazael kyng of Siria at Ramoth in Gilead: and the Sirians smot Jehoram. And he returned to be healed in Jezrel, of the woundes whiche were geuen hym at Ramoth when he fought with Hazael king of Siria. And Thaziah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iuda, went downe to see Jehoram the sonne of Shab at Jezrel, because he was diseased. And it came of God, that Thaziah shoulde be dyspised for his coming to Jehoram: for when he was come he went oute with Jehoram agaynst Jehu the sonne of Symisy, whom the Lorde had appoynted to destroye the house of Shab. And so it came to passe that when Jehu was executing iustice vpon the house of Shab, and hadde found the Lordes of Iuda, and the sonnes of the brethren of Thaziah that wepted on Thaziah, he slew them. And he soughte Thaziah, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought hym to Jehu, and when they hadde slayne hym, they buried hym: because (sayde they) he is the sonne of Jeholaphat, whiche sought the Lorde with all his hart. And the house of Thaziah hadde no power to keepe syllyl the kyngdome. But when Thaliahu the mother of Thaziah sawe that her sonne was dead, she arose and destroyed all the kinges seede in the kindred of the house of Iuda. And Jehosabeth the daughter of the king tooke Joas the sonne of Thaziah, and she ale him from amonge the kinges sounes that were slayne, and put hym and hys nurse in a pynne Chamber. And so Jehosabeth the daughter of king Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada & priest, and the sister of Thaziah hyde hym fro Thaliahu, that he was not slayn. And so he was with them hid in the house of God. vi. yere. And Thaliahu raigned ouer the lande.

The .xxij. Chapter.

AND in the seventh yere Jehoiada being bolde, tooke the captains of hundreth. Azariah the sonne of Jehoram, and Jsmael the sonne of Jehohanan, Azariah the sonne of Obad, Thaziah the son of Obadiah, and Elilaphat the sonne of Sichzi, and made a bond with them. And they wente aboute in Iuda, and gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iuda and the ancient fathers of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem. And all the congregation made a bond with the kinge in the house of God. And he sayde vnto them: beholde, the kinges sonne muste raygne, as the Lorde hath sayd of the chyldren of Dauid. This is it therefore that ye shall do: The third part of you shal (on the Sabbath) come to the Priestes, Leuites, and keepers of the porches. And another thirde part shalbe by the kinges house, and another thirde part shal be at the gate of the foundation, and all the people shalbe in the courtres of the house of the Lorde. But there shall none come into the house of the Lorde, save the priestes, and they that minister vnto the Leuites. They shal goe in, for they are holpe: but all the people shal keepe the watche of the Lorde, and the Leuites shal compasse

the king round about, and every man shall have his weapon in his hand: and what other man soever doth come into the house of the Lord, he shall be slayne: and let them be with the king, when he cometh in, and when he goeth out. And the Levites and all Juda did according unto all things that Jehoiada the priest had commanded, and took every man his men, that came in on the Sabbath with the that went out on the Sabbath day: neither dyd Jehoiada the prieste lette the captaynes depart. And Jehoiada the priest delivered to the captayns of hundreds, speares, shields, and bucklers that had pertayned to kinge David, and were in the house of God. And he set all the people every man having his weapon in his hand from the ryghte syde of the temple, to the left syde of the temple, alonge by the altar and the temple, rounde aboute the king. And they brought out the kynges sonne, and putte hypon him the crowne, and the testimonie, (and they gave him in his hande, the lawe that was to be kepte) and made hym king. And Jehoiada and his sonnes annoynted him, and sayde: God save the king. When Athaliah heard the noyse of the people, running and praising the kinge, she came to the people into the house of the Lord. And she looked, and beholde, the king stood in his place at the entyrng in, and the Lordes and the trompettes were by the kinge: and all the people of the lande reioysed, blowing with trompetts, and dyd playe with instrumentes of musike, and taught to singe and prayle. But Athaliah rente her clothes, and sayd: Treason, treason. And Jehoiada the priest wente oute to the captayns of hundreds, that were governers of the host, and said unto the: Have her oute withoute the doore of the temple: and who so foloweth her, let hym be slayne with the swerde. For the priest saide, that they shoulde not slea her in the house of the Lord. And they layde handes on her, till she was come to the entyrng of the house gate, beside the kinges house, & there they slew her. And Jehoiada made a bonde betwene him and all the people and the king, that they shoulde be the Lordes people. And all the people went to the house of Baal, and destroyed it, and brake his altars, and his ymages, and slewe Mathan the priest of Baal before the altars, and Jehoiada put the offices for the house of the Lord under the hand of the priestes and Levites, as David hadde distributed them in the house of the Lord, to offer burnte offerings unto the Lord, as it is written in the lawe of Moses, with reioysing and singing, as it was ordeyned of David. And he set porters by the gates of the house of the Lord, that none whiche was unclean in any thinge shoulde enter in. And he took the captaynes of hundreds, and all the nobles, and the governours of the people, and all the folke of the lande, and caused the king to come downe out of the house of the Lord, and they came throught the hye gate of the kinges house, and set the king upon the seate of the kingdome. And all the people of the lande reioysed: and the cite was in tranquillite, after that they hadde slayne Athaliah with the swerde.

Was seven years old when he began to reygne, he reigned fortie years in Jerusalem. His mothers name also was Ziba of Beer Seba. And Joas did that which was right in the sight of the Lord all the dayes of Jehoiada the Priest. And Jehoiada took him two wives, and he begate sonnes and daughters. And it chaunced after this, that Joas was minded to reneue the house of the Lord, and he gathered together the Priestes and the Levites, and said to them: Go out unto the cities of Juda, and gather of all Israell money to repayre the house of your God from yeare to yeare, and see that ye haue the thing: howbeit the Levites were slack. And the kinge called Jehoiada that was the chiefeſt, and ſayde vnto him. why requirſt thou not of the Levites to bring in, out of Iuda and Ieruſalem, • the collection of money, according to the commaundement of Moſes the ſervant of the Lorde, and the congregation of Iſrael ſhoulde offer it for the tabernacle of witneſſe. For Moſes ſaid Iſtaiah and her chyldren brake vp the houſe of God, and all the thinges that were dedycots for the houſe of the Lorde vnto they beſetwixt for Bealim. And at the kinges commaundement, • they made a cheſt, and ſet it without at the gate of the houſe of the Lorde: and made a proclamation throughe Iuda and Ieruſalem, to bryng into the Lorde • the taxation of money, that Moſes the ſervant of God ſet vpon Iſrael in the wyldeſſe. And the Lordes and all the people reioyced, and brought in, and caſt into the cheſt, vntill it was full. And it ſortuned, that the ſame time they brought in the cheſte (vnto them which were in the kinges buſineſſe) by the hand of the Levites. And when they ſaw that ther was much money, the kinges ſcribe (and one appoynted by the hye prieſte) came, and emptyed the cheſte, and toke it, and carped it to his place agayne: thus they did daye by daye, and gathered muche money. And the kinge and Jehoiada gaue it to ſuche as did the labour and worke in the houſe of the Lorde, and hyed maſons and carpenters to repayre the houſe of the Lord, and ſo did they artificers in yron and brasse, to mende the houſe of the Lorde. And ſo the worke men wrought, and the worke mended throughe their handes, and they made the houſe of god as it ought to be, and ſtrengthened it. And when they had finiſhed it, they brought the reſt of the money beſore the king, and Jehoiada: and therewith were made beſelles for the houſe of the Lorde, even beſelles to miniſter withall, and to ſerne for burntofferings, chargers, and ſpores, beſelles of golde and ſyluer. And they offered burntofferings in the houſe of the Lorde continually all the dayes of Jehoiada. But Jehoiada waxed olde, and dyed full of dayes. For an hundred and thirtie yere olde was he when he dyed. And they buried him in the cite of David amonge the kinges, becauſe he delite well with Iſrael, and with God, and with his houſe. And after the death of Jehoiada, came the Lordes of Iuda, and made obeysaunce to the king. And the kinge harkened vnto them. And ſo they leſte the houſe of the Lorde God of their fathers, and ſerued groves and ydoles. And then came the wrath of God vpon Iuda and Ieruſalem, for this their treſpaſſes ſake. And he ſent prophets to them, to bring them agayne vnto the Lorde: And they teſtified vnto them: but they would not heare. And the ſpirit of God came vpon Zacharia the ſonne of Jehoiada the prieſt, which ſtoode by the people, and ſayde vnto theym: Thus ſayeth God: why tranſgreſſe ye the commaundementes of the Lorde, that ye can not proſper? For becauſe ye haue forſaken the Lorde, he alſo hath forſaken you. • And they conſpired againſt him, and ſtoned him with ſtones at the commaundement of the kinge: euen in the court of the houſe of the Lord. And ſo Joas the kinge remembered not the kindnes which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but ſlue his ſon. And when he died, he ſaide: the Lorde loke vpon it, and require it. And when the yere was out, it ſortuned, that the hoſt of Siria came vpon agaynſt him: & they came againſt Iuda & Ieruſalem, and deſtroyed all the Lordes of the people from amonge the people, and ſente all the ſpoyle of them vnto the kinge to Damasco: for the Sirians came with a ſmall company of men, and the Lord deliuered a very great hoſte into their hand, becauſe they had forſaken God of their fathers. And moreover they ſerued Joas accordinge to his dedes. And when they were departed from him, they leſt him in great diſeaſes: and his owne ſervants conſpired againſt him, for the bloud of the chyldren of Jehoiada the prieſte, and ſlue him.

him on his bedde, and he dyed, and they buried him in the cite of David: but not in the sepulchres of the kinges. And these are they that conspired agaynst him: Zebah the sonne of Sim'eath an Ammonite, and Jeho-sabab the son of Simrith a Moabite. And his sons, and the summe of the sate that was rayled in his time, and the repaying of the house of God beholde, they are writen in the booke of the kinges. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his stede.

4. re. 14 b

Amaziah was .xxv. yere olde when he beganne to reggne, and he reigned .xxix. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jehodaban of Jerusalem. And he didde that whiche is righte in the sighte of the Lord, but not with a perfecte heart. And as soone as he was setteled in the kingdome, he slewe his seruantes that hadde killed the kinge his father. But he slewe not their childzen, because it is writen thus in the lawe and boke of Moyses, where the Lord commaunded, saying: The fathers shall not dye for the childzen, neither shall the childzen dye for the fathers, but euerye man shall dye for his owne sin. And Amaziah gathered Iuda together, and made them captaynes ouer thousandes and ouer hundredes, according to the houses of their fathers, thorooweoute all Iuda and Benjamin. And he numbred them from twentye yere olde, and aboue, and founde among them, thre hundred thousand chosen men able to go to battell, and that could handle spere and shield. He hired also an hundred thousande stronge fighting men out of Israel, for an hundred talents of silver. And there came a man of God to him, and sayd: O king, let not the armye of Israel come with thee, for the Lord is not with Israel, neyther with all the house of Ephraim. But if thou wilt nedes be saythlesse, come on, and take the battell in hand, & god shall make thee fall befoze the enemye, for God hath power to helpe, and to caste downe. And Amaziah sayd to the man of God: What shall we doo then for the hundred talents, which I haue geuen for the hoost of Israel? The man of God answered: the Lord is able to geue thee muche moze then they be. And Amaziah sented them to the armye that was come to him out of Ephraim to goe home agayne. Wherefoze they were exceedinge wrothe with Iuda, and returned home in greate angre. And Amaziah toke heart, and caried out his people, and wente to the salte balley, and smote of the childzen of Seir ten thousande. And other tenn thousande didde the childzen of Iuda take alyue, and caried them vnto the toppes of a rocke, and cast them downe from the toppes of the rocke, that they all to burst: but the souldiours of the armye whiche Amaziah sent awaye, that they should not go with his people to battayle, fell vpon the Cities of Iuda, from Samaria vnto Bethoron and smote thre thousand of them, and toke muche spoye. And it chaunced, after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought the Goddesses of the childzen of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, and bowed him selfe befoze them: and burned incense vnto them. Wherefoze the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sente vnto him a Prophet, whiche sayde vnto him: Why haue thou sought the Gods of the people, which were not able to deliuer their owne people out of thine hand? And it chaunced, that as the Prophet talked with him, the kinge sayde vnto him: Haue men made thee of the kinges counsell. Caste, why wilt thou be beate? And the Prophete ceased, and said: I am sure that God is mynede to destroye thee, because thou hast doone this, and agreest not vnto my counsell. Then Amaziah kinge of Iuda tooke aduise, and sente to Iehu the sonne of Jehoahaz, the sonne of Jehu king of Israel, and said: Come that we may see epyther other. And Iehu king of Israel sent to Amaziah, king of Iuda, saying: a thistle that is in Liban, sent to a Cedar tree of Liban, saying: • geue thy daughter to my sonne to wife. And there camme a wyld beaste of Libanon and troade doſtne the thistle. Thou sayest that thou hast beaten the Edomites, and thine heart maketh thee proud, to glorifie thy selfe. Howe therefore bide at home, whye doest thou promoke vnto euill, that thou maist perishe, both thou and Iuda with thee? But Amaziah would not hearken to him: for it came of God, euen to deliuer them into the hande of their enemies, because they sought counsell at the gods of Edom. And so Joas the king of Israel came by, and they sawe either other, both he and Amaziah king of Iuda at Bethlames whiche is in Iuda. And Iuda was put to the worse before Israel, and they slede every man to his tent. And Joas the king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iuda, the sonne of Joahas, the sonne of Jehohahas at Bethlames, and brought him to Jerusalem, and tare the wall of Jerusalem (from the gate of Ephraim vnto the gate that was ouer agaynst it) foure hundred cubites. And he toke away also all the gold and siluer, and all the Jewelles that were found in the house of God with Obed Edom, and the treasures of the kinges house, and the yong wardes, and returned to Samaria. And Amaziah the sonne of Joas king of Iuda, lyued after the death of Joas sonne of Jehohas, king of Israel fyftene yere. The rest of the actes of Amaziah firste and laste, are they not written in the booke of the kinges of Iuda and Israel. And after the time that Amaziah did turne away from the Lorde • they conspired treason agaynst him in Jerusalem, and when he was fled to Lachis, they sent to Lachis after him and Rue him there, and brought him by with horses, and buried him with his fathers in the cite of Iuda.

Then all the people of Iuda toke Azia (whiche was • fyftene yere olde) and made him kinge in the roume of his father Amaziah. And he built Cloth, and brought it againe to Iuda, after that the king was layd to sleepe with his fathers. Sixtene yere old was Azia when he began to reigne, and he reigned. lvi. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name also was Tacholia of Jerusalem. And he bidde that whiche was right in the sight of the Lorde, according to all, as did his father Amaziah. And it came to passe that he soughte God in the dayes of Zachariah (whiche maynteyned the fear of God) and as long as he sought the Lorde, God made him to prosper. And he wente to battayle agaynst the Philistines, and brake doſtne the wall of Geth, and the wall of Jabne, and the wall of Asdod, and built cities about Asdod, and amonge the Philistines. And God holpe him agaynst the Philistynes, and agaynst the Arabians that dwelte in Gurbail, and Hammebanim. And the Ammonites gaue tribute to Azia, and his name sprade abroade, euen to the entringe in of Egypt: for he playde the manne exceedinge wise. Wherofore Azia buylte towres in Jerusalem by the corner gate, and by the valleye gate, and at the turning of the wall, and made them stronge. And he buylte towres in the wildernesse, and dyged manye welles: for he had muche cattell in the baylles and playnes, ploewemenne and vine dyssers in the mountaynes, and Charmell, for he loued husbandrie. And Azia hadde an hoolle of fightinge menne that went to warre in the armye, accordinge to the number of their office, vnder the hande of Jeciel the Scribe, and Azasiah the ruler, and vnder the hande of Hananiahu, whiche was one of the kinges lordes. And the whole number of the auncient fathers, and of the menne of mighte were tſwoe thousande and fyve hundredeth: and vnder the hande of theym was the armye of the menne of warre, euen three hundredeth and seven thousande, and fyve hundredeth that made warre with the power of an army, helping the kinge against the enemies. And Uzia provided them throughout all the hoste, shields, speares, helmettes, haberge-gones, bowes and slinges for to calle downe. And he made subtiler enginnes in Jerusalem, which he inuented and layed on the towres and corners, to shoote arrowes and great stones with all. And his name spread farre abroade, because he was helped so excellentlie, so that he became very mightie. But in his strength, his heart arose to his destruction: for he transgressed against the Lord his God, and wente into the temple of the Lord, to burne cens upon the altar of incense. And Asariah the priest wente in after him, and with him foure score priestes of the Lord that were valiaunt men. And they stood by Uzia the king, and saide vnto him: it pertaineth not to thee Uzia to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the priestes the children of Aaron, that are consecrate for to offer incense. Come therfore out of the sanctuary, for thou hast trespassed: and it is no worship to thee before the Lord

God. And Uzia was wroth, and had incense in his hande to burne it: and so while he had indignation against the priestes, the leprosy sprang in his forehead before the priestes in the house of the Lord, euen beside the incense altar. And Asariah the chiefe priest with all the other priestes la-ked vpon him: and behold he was become a leper in his forehead, and they hexed him thence. And he was fayne to go out, because the Lord had smitten him. And Uzia the kinge continued a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt seuerall in an house, beyng a leper, and shut out of the house of the Lord. And Jotham his sonne hadde the gouernance of the kinges house and iudged the people of the lande.
 The rest of the actes of Uzia first and last did I saue the prophete the sonne of Amos write. And so Uzia slepte with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the spelde of the buriall, which was besyde the se-pulchres of the kinges, for they sayde he is a leper. And Jotham his sonne reigned in his stede.

The xxvii. Chapter.

Jotham was fine and twenty yere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned sixtene yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name also was Je-rusa, the daughter of Zadoc. And he did that which was righte in the sight of the Lord in all poyntes as did his father Uzia, save that he came not in to the temple of the Lord, and the people did yet wickedlye. He builde the hie gate of the temple of the Lord, and on the wall (where the house of opprobiance was) he built much. Moreover, he built cities in the mountaynes of Iuda, and in the wodde countrey, he buylte castles and towres. Her fought with the kinge of the children of Ammon, and preuailed against him.
 And the childrene of Ammon gaue him the same yere an hundred talentes of siluer, and ten thousande quarters of wheate, and ten thousande of barley. So muche did the children of Ammon geue him the seconde yere, and the thirde also. So Jotham became mightie, because he directed his waye before the Lord his God.
 The rest of the actes of Jotham, and all his warres, and his conuersation, so, they are written in the boke of the kinges of Israel and Iuda. He was
 xxv. yere old when he began to reigne, and reigned. xvi. yere in Jerusalem.
 And Jotham slepte with his fathers, and they buried him in the cite of David: and Ahaz his sonne reigned in his stede.

The xxviii. Chapter.

Ahaz was twentie yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned sixteen yere in Jerusalem, and he didde not that which is righte in the sight of the Lord, as didde his father David. For he walked in the wayes of the kinges of Israel, and made molten ymagin for Baalim. He offered incense in the valley of the sonne of Hinnom, and the Lorde caste oute before the children of Israel. He offered also and burnte incense in hill altares, and on moun-taines, and vnder euery greene tree.

 of the Sirians, which beat him, and caried away a great multitude of his captiue, and brought him to Damas-con. And he was deliuered into the hande of the kinge of Israel, whiche smote him with a greate slaughter.
 For Pekah the sonne of Remaliahu slue in Iuda an hundred and twenty thousande in one daye, which were al fightinge men: and that because they had forsaken the Lorde God of their fathers: And Zichi a mighty man of Ephraim slue Maasiah the kinges sonne, and Africa the gouernoz of the house, and Etana that was next vnto the king. And the children of Israel tooke prisoners of their brethren, two hundred thousande women, sons and daughters, and carped awaye muche spoile of them, and brought the spoile to Samaria. But there was a Prophet of the Lordes (whose name was Obed) and he wente oute before the hoste that came to Samaria, and sayde vnto them: Behold, because the Lorde God of your fathers is wroth with Iuda, hee hath deliuered them into your hande. And ye haue slayne them with cruellnesse, that reacheth vp to heauen. And now ye purpose to kepe vnder the children of Iuda and Jerusalem, and to make them bondmen and bondwomen. And do ye not labe your selves with sinne in the sighte of the Lord your God? Now hear me therfore, and deliuer the captiues agayne whiche ye haue taken of your brethren: for els shall the great wroth of God be vpon you. Wherefoze, certaine of the breddes of the children of Ephraim, as E. Maria the sonne of Jehohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Beilemoth, and Jehoziah the son of Shallum, and Imaia the sonne of Iadai, stode by agaynst them that came from the warre, and sayd vnto them: bring not in the captiues hither. For whate as we haue offended toward God already, ye intende to adde moze to oure sinnes and trespasses. For our trespass is great al ready, and there is a scarce wraethe agaynst Israel. And vppon that, the use of armes lest the captiues and the spoyle before the Lordes and all the congregation. And the menne that were now gathered by name, rose vp, and tooke the prisoners, and with the spoyle, clothed all that were naked among them, and araped them, & shod theym, and gaue theym to eate, and to drinke, and annoynted them, and cari-ed all that were feeble of them vppon Asses, and brought them to Jericho, (the cite of Palmctrees) to their brethren: & then they returned to Samaria againe. At that same time did king Ahaz send vnto the kings of Assur, to haue help of them. And the Edomites came againe, and slewe some of Iuda, and carped awaye captiues. And the Philistines invaded the Cities in the lowe countrey, and towarde the south of Iuda: and tooke Bethsames and Dialon, and Gedereth, and Socho with the townes longing therto, and Chimna with the townes of the same: Gaiso, and the Townes thereof, and dwelt there. For the Lorde broughte Iuda lowe, because of Ahaz kinge of Iuda, whiche made Iuda naked, and transgressed soze against the Lorde.

 And Tilgath Pilneser kinge of the Assirians came vppon him, and troubled him, rather then strengthened him.
 For Ahaz toke away a portion out of the house of the Lorde, and oute of the kinges house, and oute of the Lordes houses, and gaue vnto the kinge of the Assirians, and yet it helped him not. And in the verye time of his tribulation did king Ahaz trespassse yet moze agaynst the Lorde. For he offer-red vnto the Goddess of them of Da-masco, whiche bet him, and hee sayde: because the Goddess of the kinges of Syria helpe them, therfoze wil I offer to the, that they may helpe me also.

But they were his destruction, and the destruction of all Israel. And he hath gathered together the vessels of the house of God, and brake them, and shut vp the doores of the house of the Lord, and made him altars in every corner of Jerusalem. And in all the cities of Juda he made hill altars to burne incense vnto other goddes, and angered the Lord God of his fathers. The rest of his actes and his workes firste of last: beholde, they are written in the booke of the kinges of Juda and Israel. And he slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the citie of Jerusalem: but brought him not vnto the sepulchres of the kinges of Israel. And Ezekia his sonne reigned in his stead.

The. xxix. Chapter.

3. xx. 10 a

2. pa. 28 b

Ezekia began to reyn, whē he was fine and twenty yere old, and reigned. xxix. yere in Jerusalem. And his mothers name was Abia the daughter of Zachariah. And he did that which was righte in the sight of the Lord, in all payntes as did David his father. He opened the doores of the house of the Lord (in the first yere and first month of his reygne) and repaired them. And he brought in the priests and the Levites, and gathered them together into the East strete, and said vnto them: Here mee ye Levites, and nowe bee sanctified, and halo the house of the Lord God of your fathers, bringe filthynesse oute of the holpe place. For our fathers haue trespassed and doone euil in the eyes of the Lord our God: and haue forsaken him, and touned awaye their faces from the habitation of the Lord, and turned their backs on it. And beside that they haue shutte vp the doores of the porche, and quenched the lampes, and haue nether burnt incense, nor offered burnt offerings in the holpe place vnto the God of Israel. Wherefore the wrath of the Lord fell on Juda and Jerusalem: and hee hath brought them to trouble to bee wondered on, and to be hissed at, euen as ye see with your eyes. For loe, our fathers were overthowen with the sword, and our sons, our daughters and our wines were caried awaye captiue for the same cause. And nowe it is in my heart, to make a couenaunt with the Lord God of Israel, that he may turne away his heuie indignation from vs. Nowe therfore my sons, be not negligent, for the Lord hath chosen you to stand before him, and for to minister and serue him, and to burn incense. Then the Levites arose: Shaphan the sonne of Amasai, and Joell the sonne of Bariasah, of the children of the Cahathites. And of the sonnes of Merari, Isaiah the sonne of Abdi, and Bariasah the sonne of Zebalel. And of the sonnes of the Gerfonites: Joah the sonne of Shamma, and Eden the sonne of Joah: and of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Samiri and Jehiel. And of the sonnes of Asaph, Zechariah, Mathanias. And of the sonnes of Herman, Jehiel and Shimei. And of the sonnes of Jeduthun, Shemaris and Uzziel. And they gathered their brethren, and purified theym selues, and came accordinge to the commandement of the king and the words of the Lord, for to cleanse the house of the Lord. And the priests went into the inner partes of the house of the Lord to cleanse it, and broughte oute all the uncleynesse that they found in the temple of the Lord into the courte of the house of the Lord. And the Levites toke it, to carpe it out into the brooke Cedron. They began the firste daye of the first month to purify, and the viij. daye of the moneth, came they to the porche of the Lord: & purged the house of the Lord in. viij. daies, & in the xli. daye of the first moneth they made an ende. And they went into Ezekia the king, and said: We haue cleansed all the house of the Lord, the altar of burnt offeringe with all his vessels, and the shewbread table with all his apperell: & all the vessels which king Achaz did cast a side when he reigned and transgressed, theym we haue prepared sanctified: and beholde, they are before the altar of the Lord. And Hezekia & king rose early, & gathered the Levites of the city, and went up to the house of the Lord. And they brought. vii. Oxen, seven rammes, seven shepe, and seven hee goates, to be a sinne offeringe for the kingdome, for the sanctuary, & for Juda. And he commaunded the priestes the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altare of the Lord. And they slue the Oxen, and the priestes received the bloude, & sprinkled it vpon the altar: likewise, when they hadde slaine the rammes, they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar: they slue also & shepe, and they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar. And then they brought forth & hee goates for the sinne offering before the king and the congregation, and put their handes vpon them. And the priestes slue them, and with the blood of them they censed the altar, to make satisfaction for all Israel: for the king commaunded that the burnt offering, and the sinne offering should be made for all Israel. And set the Le-uites in the house of the Lord with lymbals, psalteries and harpes: accordinge to the commaundement of Da-uid, and of God the kinges fear, and Nathan the prophet. For so was the commaundement of the Lord throught the hande of his prophetes. And the Levites rode, having the instruments of David, and the priestes beate the Trompets. And Hezekia commaunded to offer the burnt offeringe vpon the altar. And when the burnt offering began, the songe of the Lord began also, and the trompettes with the instruments that wer ordeyned by the hand of David king of Israel. And al the congregation worshipped, singing a songe, and blowinge with the trompets, and all this continued, untill the burnt offeringe was finished. And when they had made an ende of offering, the kinge and all that were pre-sente with him, bowed them selves, and worshipped. And Hezekia the kinge, and the Levites spake to the Le-uites to playe the LXXX. with the woordes of David, and of Asaph the sear. And the Levites sang praises with gladnesse, and the other bowed themselves, and worshipped. And Hezekia answered, and said: now ye have consecrate your handes to the Lord: go to therfore, & bring in the sacrifices and thankcofferinges into the house of the Lord. And the congregation brought in the sacrifices and thanksofferinges, and burnt offeringes, as many as were of a free liberal heart. And the number of the burnt offeringes which the congregation brought, was lxx. Oxen, an C. Rammes, and CC. sheepe: whiche were all for the burnt offering of the Lord. And there were dedicated. vii. Oxen, and vii. thousand sheepe. And the priestes were to sear, to slay all the burnt offeringes: but their brethren the Levites did helpe them, till they had ended the worke, and untill the priestes were sanctified. For the Levites were purer hearted to be sanctified then the priestes. And ther-to the burnt offeringes were manye, with the fatte of the peaceoffringes, and the drinke offeringes that belonge to the burnt offering. And so the service pertayninge to the house of the Lord, was finished. And Hezekia reioysed, and all the people, that God had made the folke so readye, and that the thing was so sone done.

The xxx. Chapter.

And Hezekia sent to all Israell and Juda, & wrote letters to Ephraim & Manasse, that they shoulde come to the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, and offer Pasce-over unto the Lord God of Israel.
 And the king held a counsell with his Levites, and all the congregation of Jerusalem, to kepe the feaste of pasce-over in the seconde moneth. For they coulde not kepe it at that time, because the priestes were not sanctified sufficiently, neyther was the people gathered together at Jerusalem. And the thinge pleased the kinge, and all the congregation. And they decreed that the xxx. should be kept in the second moneth.

22.2.6

12.12.11, 12

It shoulde be proclaymed thoroowout all Israel from Berlabeto Dan, that they shoulde come, and holde the feaste of Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they had not done it of a great season, as they shold haue done by the lawe. So the postes went with letters of the hande of the king, and of his Lordes thoroowout all Israel and Iuda: and at the commaundement of the king, they sayde: Ye children of Israel, turne agayne vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, & let euery one returne to the remnant that are escaped you out of the hand of the kings of Assur. And be not ye like your fathers, and your brethren which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers, which gaue them vp to be destroyed, as ye see.

B And now be not ye stiffnecked, lyke as were your fathers, but prync your selues vnto the Lord, and enter into his holy place whiche he hath sanctified for euer, and serue the Lord your God: and the fiercenesse of his wrath shall turne away from you. For if ye turne agayne vnto the Lord, then shall your brethren and your children finde compassion in the presence of them that take them captiue, and they shall turne agayne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turne away his face from you, if ye conuert vnto him. And so the postes wente from cite to cite in the land of Ephraim and Manasse, eue vnto Zabulon, but they laughed them to scoyne and mocked them. Nevertheless yet diuers of Assur, Manasse, and of Zabulon submitted them selues, and came to Jerusalem. And the hande of God was in Iuda, so that he gaue them one heart, to doo the commaundement of the kinge and of the rulers, according to the worde of the Lord. And there assembled then in Jerusalem much people, and there was presente a mightie greates congregation, to holde the feast of Sweete bread in the seconde moneth. And they croole, and raimed the altars that were in Jerusalem. And all the vessels of incense did they away, and caste them into the brooke Cedron. And they kept Passouer the fourtenth daye of the second moneth. And the priestes and Leuites, which were ashamed, sanctified them selues, and broughte in the burnt-offerings into the house of the Lord. And they stode in their office after their manner, and according to the lawe of Moses the man of God. And the priestes sprinkled the blood, which they receyued by the hande of the Leuites. For there were many in the congregation that were not sanctified, and the Leuites did keep Passouer for all that were not cleane, and that mighte not execute the holy worke of the Lord. For many of the people and very many out of Ephraim, Manasse, Issakar and Zabulon were not cleansed, and yet did eate Passouer against the lawe appointed. Wherefore Hezekia prayed for them, and said: the good Lord be mercifull vnto them. For he let his whole heart to secke the Lord God, euen the God of his fathers, but all the other did not so, according to the lawe appointed. And the Lord heard Hezekia, and healed the people. And the children of Israel that were presente at Jerusalem, held the feaste of Sweete bread seven daies with great gladnesse, and the Leuites and the Priestes praied and magnified the power of the Lord day by day, by their instruments. And Hezekia spake harteily vnto all the Leuites that hadde vnderstandinge, and were of a good minde towarde the Lord. And they did eate thoroowout that feaste, seven dayes longe, and offered peace-offerings, and thanked the Lord God of their fathers. And the whole assemble tooke counsell, to do so other seven dayes, and they healde those seven dayes with gladnesse. For Hezekia kinge of Iuda took out (from among his cattell) for the congregation, 30. yonge Oxen, and vii. 100. sheepe. And the Lordes gaue out to the congregation 30. yonge oxen, and ten thousande sheepe. And a great number of the Priestes were sanctified, and all the congregation of Iuda, with the priestess and Levites, and all the congregation that came oute of Iſraell, and the ſtraungers that came oute of the lande of Iſraell, and that dwelt in Iuda, reioyced: and there was grente gladdesse in Ierusalem. For ſince the time of Salomon the ſonne of Dauid kinge of Iſraell there was no ſuche ioye in Ierusalem. And the Priests and the Levites aroſe, and blessed the people, and their voyce was heard of the Lord, and their prayer came by vnto heauen, his holy dwelling place.

possessions, and to their owne cities.
And Hezekia appointed sondry companies of the priestes and Levites after the diversitey of their ministrations every man according to his office, both priests and Levites, for the burnt offeringe and peaceofferings, to mini-them all by heapes. In the thirde mo-neth they began to laye the heapes (in maner of a foundation) and finished them in the seventh month. And whē Hezekia and the lordes came and sawe the heapes, they blessed the Lord and his people Iſraell. And Hezekia questioned with the Priests and the Levites concerning the heapes. And Zacharia the chief priest of the house of Sadock answered him, and saide: Since the people began to bringe the heave offerings into the house of the Lord, we also haue had ynough to eate, there remayned so muche: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and this heape is left. And Hezekia had prepare the chambres in the house of the Lord.

And they did prepare them, and cariniah, were ouersers ordeyned by Ethoniah, and Semei his brother

Zacharia was the ruler of the house of

And to the Priestes and Levites throughout the household of their fathers, from twenty yeres and aboue, to wayte when their courses came. And to the families of all theiſe babes, wines sonnes and daughters throught all the congregation. For vpon the fidelitie of them, were the holpe thinges bestowed. And to the children of Aaron, the priestes, whiche were in the felde and suburbs of their Cities, Citty by citie, the men (whose names were expelſed afore) should geue portions, euen to al the males among the priestes, and to all the Levites, according to their number. And of this maner did Hezekia throughtoute all Iuda, and wrought it that is good, and right, and true befoze the Lorde his God. And in all the woorkes that he beganne for the seruice of the house of God, for the lawe, and for the commaundements, he sought his God, and that did he with all his heart, and prospered.

The xxii. Chapter.

Re. 18 c
Esa. 36 a
Eccl. 48 c

After that these deedes were faithfully done, Sennacherib king of Assur came, and entered into Iuda, and compassed the stronge cities, and thought to winne them for himselfe. And so when Hezekia sawe that Sennacherib was come, and that he was purposed to fight against Ierusalem, he toke counsell with the lordes and men of might, to stop the water of the fountaynes without his Citty: and they did helpe him. For there gathered many of the people together, and stoppt all the welles, and the brooke that ranne throught the middes of the lande, sayinge: Whye shall the kinges of Assur come, and finde muche water? And Hezekia went to wisely, and builde by all the small where it was broken, and made ordinaunce vpon the towres, and to the other wall without, and repaired Millo in the Citty of David, & made many bartes and shieldes. And he set captaynes of warre ouer the people, and gathered them together to him in the large strete of the gate of the citie, and spake gentelpe to theym, sayinge: Plucke vp your hertes, and be strong: Be not asfayde nor discouraged for the king of Assur, and for all the multitude that he hath with him. For there be no with vs then with him, with him is an arme of fleshe: but with vs is the Lorde our God, for to helpe vs, and to fight oure batayles. And the people toke a roage throught the wordes of Hezekia kinge of Iuda. After this did Sennacherib king of Assur send of his seruants to Ierusalem, (but he him selfe remayned besyde Achis, having all his power with him) vnto Hezekia king of Iuda, and vnto all Iuda, that were at Ierusalem, sayinge: Thus sayth Sennacherib king of Assur: wherein do ye trust, that ye dwell in Ierusalem whiche is besieged? Doeth not Hezekia entise you to geue ouer your selues vnto death, hunger and thirst, sayinge: The Lorde oure God shall ridde vs out of the hande of the kinge of Assur: hath not the same Hezekia put downe his hye places and his altars, and commaunded Iuda and Ierusalem, sayinge: Ye shall worshipsse befoze one altare, and burne incense vpon the same. Knowe ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto the people of all landes: were the goddes of the people of other landes able of mightye to save their landes out of my hande? Whiche of all the goddes of those nations (that my fathers destroyed) contide deliuer his people out of mine hande? And shall your God be able to deliuer you out of my hande? wherefoze nowe lette not Hezekia deceyue you, nor perswade you of this falsion, nor blame him. For as no God amonge all nations and kingedomes, was able to rid his people out of my hand, and out of the hande of my fathers: howe much lesse shall your gods be able to keepe you out of my hand: and yet mo thinges did his seruantes speake against the lord God, and against his seruante Ezekia. And Sennacherib also wrote a letter to rayle on the Lord God of Israel, and spake agaynst him, saying: As the gods of the nations of other landes, haue not bene able to deliuer their people out of mine hande: Euen so shall not the god of Ezekia deliuer his people out of mine hande. And they cryed with a loude voyce in the Jewes speache vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wall to feare them, and to make them saynt betwixt, and that they mighte so take the citie. And they spake against the god of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the nations of the earth, whiche were the woorkes of the handes of men. But Ezekia the king and the Prophet Iesai, the sonne of Amoz, prayed against that blasphemie, and cried vnto heauen. And the Lord sent an angell, which destroyed all the men of war and the lords and captaynes of host of the kinges of Assur, that he turned his face againe with shame toward his owne land. And when he was come into the house of his God, they that came of his owne body, slue him there with his sword. And so the Lord saued Hezekia, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, out of the hand of Sennacherib king of Assur, and from the hand of all other, and maynteyned them on every side. And many brought offerings vnto the Lord to Ierusalem; and presented to Hezekia king of Iuda: so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thence forth. In those dayes Hezekia was speke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lord, which answered him; and shewed him a wonderfull myracle. But Hezekia did not againe vnto God accordinge to it that he had shewed him: for his hearte was not, and there came wrath vpon him, and vpon Iuda and Ierusalem.

Notwithstandinge Hezekia submitted him self (after that his heart was risen vpon) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekia. And Hezekia had exceedinge muche riches and honoure. And he gate him treasures of silver and gold, precious stones, and spices, sheldes, and of all maner of pleasant Jewels, and made store houses for the fruites of corne, for wine and oyle: and stalles for all manner of beastes, and foldes for shepe. And he made him citie, and had of shepe and oxen great abundance. For God had geuen him substance exceeding much. This same Hezekia stopped the upper water springes of Gihon, and brought the down to the westside of the citie of David. And Hezekia prospered in all his woorkes. And when the Princes of Babilon sent vnto him ambassadors, to enquire of the wonder that chaunced in the lande: God left him to trye him, and that all that was in his hart mighte be knowen. The reste of the dedes of Hezekia, and his goodnesse: Behold, they are written in the vision of Iesai the Prophete, the sonne of Amoz, in the booke of the kings of Iuda and Israel. And Hezekia slepte with his fathers, and they buried him in the most worthy place of the sepulchres of the sonnes of David: and all Iuda, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did him worshippe at his death. And Manasse his sonne reigned in his stead.

The xxxij. Chapter.

Manasse was. xii. yeare olde: when he began to reygne: 4. re. 2. 2. a. he reigned. lb. yere in Ierusalem, but did euil in the sight of the Lord, like vnto the abominations of the heathen, whome the Lord cast out before the children of Israel. For he wente to and builde the hill altare: which Hezekia his father had broken downe. And he reared vp altars for Baalim, and made groves, and worshipped all the hoste of heauen, and serued them, and he builde altars in the house of the Lord, where as the Lord yet had said: • in Jerusalem shal my name be for euer. And he builded altars for all the hoste of heuen in the two courtes of the house of the Lord. And he burnt his children in fire, in the valley of the sonne of Hin-non. He was a forcerer: he regarded the crying of bydes, used inchant-ments and maintained workers with spirites, and sears of fortunes: and wroughte muche euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him withall. And he put the harned ymage and an y-dol which he had made in the house of God. Of which house, God had sayd to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne: in this house and in Jerusalem, which I haue chosen afoze all the trybes of Israel, • wyl I put my name for e-uer, and will nomore bringe the seate of Israel, from the lande whiche I haue ordeyned for your fathers. Yf so be that they will be diligente, and do all that I haue commaunded them in all the lawe, and statutes, and ordey-nances by the hande of Moyses.

 And so Manasse made Iuda and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to erre, and to do worse then the Heathen, whom the Lord destroyed befoze the chy-dren of Israel. And the Lord spake to Manasse, and to his people, but they would not regard. Wherefoze, the Lord broughte vppon them the captynnes of the hoste of the king of the Assyrians, whiche tooke Manasse in holde, and bounde him with cheynes, and carped him to Babylon. And whē he was in tribulation, he besoughte the Lord his God, and humbled him selfe exceedingly befoze the God of his fathers, and made intercession to him, and God was intreated of hym, and hearde his prayer, and broughte hym agayne to Jerusalem into his kingdome. And then Manasse knew, that the Lord was God. After this he builde a wall without the cite of Dauid on the weste syde of Zion in the valleie, as they came to the sylve gate, and round about Ophel, and broughte it vp of a verye great heighth, and put captains of warre in al the strong cities of Iuda. And he toke a wal stryde goddess, and Images out of the house of God, and • all the altars that hee had builde in the mount of the house of God, & in Jerusalem, and cast them out of the cite. And he prepared the altar of the Lord and sacrificed thereon, peaceofferings and thankesringes, and charged Iuda to serue the Lord God of Israel. Nevertheless the people did offer still in the hill altars, howbeit vnto the Lord their God onely. The rest of the actes of Manasse, and his prayer vnto his God, and the wordes of the sears, and of them that spake to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel: behold, they are written in the sayings of the kinges of Israel. And his prayer, and howe that he was hearde, and all his synnes, and his trespasse and the places where he made hylaltars, and set by groves, and ymages (befoze hee was mekened) behold, they are written amonge the sayings of the sears.

 And Manasse slepte with his fathers, and they buried him in his owne house: and Amon his sonne reigned in his roume. Amon was two and twenty yere olde, when he beganne to reygne, and reigned two yere in Jerusalem. But he did euill in the sight of the Lord, like as did Manasse his father: for Amon sacrificed to all the harned images, whiche Manasseh his father had made, and serued thym, and submitted not him selfe befoze the Lord, as Manasseh his father had mekened him selfe.
 But Amon trespassed greatly. And his owne seruantes conspired against him, and slue him in his owne house.
 But the people of the lande slew all them that had conspired against kinge Amon. And the same people of the lande made Josias his sonne kinge in his roume.

4. re. 22

Joliah was, bish yere old when he beganne to reygne, • and he reigned in Jerusalem. xxxi. yere, & he did that whiche was righte in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the wayes of Dauid hys father, and bowed nerther to the right hande nor to the lefte. In the eghthe yere of his raigne (when he was yet a childe) he beganne to seeke after the God of Dauid his father. And in the xij. yere, hee began to pource Juda and Jerusalem from hylauiters, gro- ues, herued ymages, and ymages of mettall: and they brake down the alters of Baalim euen in his p- sence: and other ymages that were in greater honour than they, he caused to be destroyed. And the groves, herued y- mages, and images of metal, he brake and made dust of them and strowed it vpon the graves of them, that had of- fered vnto them. And he burnt the bo- nes of the pyckes vpon the alters of them, and cleansed Juda and Jerusa- lem. And euen so vpo he in the cities of Manasse, Ephraim, Simeon, vnto Asaphthali. And in the wildernesses of them round about, he plucked ason- ly the alters and the groves, and did beate them and stamp theim to pou- der, and beate downe all the ymages throughe oute all the lande of Israel: and returned to Jerusalem againe. In the xliij. yere of his raigne when he had pource the land and the tem- ple, • Helente Saphan the sonne of Amasiah, and Maasiah the gover- noure of the cite, and Joah the sonne of Joahaz the recorder, to repayre the house of the Lord his God. And whē they came to Helkiah the hie Prieste, they deliuered theim the money that was broughte into the house of God, which the Leuites that kepte the en- tries, had gathered of the hand of Ma- nasse, and Ephraim, and of al that yet remayned in Israel, & of al Juda and Ben Jamin, and of the inhabitants of Jerusalem. And they putte it in the handes of the woorkemen, that hadde the oversight of the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the labourers that wroughte in the house of the Lord, to repayre and amende the house. And to masons and carpenters gaue they it, to get stone and tymber for coupled and for beamers of the houses, whiche the Kinges of Juda hadde destroyed: And the menne did the worke sayth- fullye. And the ouerscers of theim to courage them forwarde, were Jathath and Obadiahu Leuites of the chyl- drenne of Merari and Sercharia, and Meshullam, of the children of the Co- hathites and other of the Leuites: whiche all coulde skpyll of instrumen- tes of musicke. And ouer the bearers of burthen and ouer all that wrought in what soner woorkemanshippe it were, were there Scribes, officers, and porters of the Leuites. And when they broughte oute the money that was broughte into the house of the Lord, Helkiah the Prieste • sounde the Booke of the lawe of the Lord, geuen by Moyses. And Helkiah aunswered and sayde to Saphan the Scribe: I haue founde the Booke of the lawe in the house of the Lord, and Helkiah gaue the booke to Saphan. And Saphan car- ried the Booke to the Kyng, and broughte the Kinge woorde agayne, sayinge: all that was committed to thy seruantes, that do they. And they haue gathered together the money that was founde in the house of the Lord, and haue deliuered it in- to the handes of the ouerscer of the worke, and to the hands of the woork- men. And then Saphan the Scribe shewed the Kyng sayinge: Helkiah the Priest hath geuen me a boke, and Saphan red in it be fore the king. And it fortuneth that when the king hadde heard the wordes of the lawe, he tare hys clothes: and the king commaun- ded Helkiah & Ahikam the son of Sa- phan, and Abidon the sonne of Michah, and Saphan the Scribe, and Asaia: a seruant of the kings, sayinge: go and enquire of the Lord for me, and for them that are lefe in Israel and Ju- da concerning the wordes of the booke.

that is found. For great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen vpon vs, because our fathers haue not kept the word of the Lord, to do after al that is written in this booke. And Helkias and they that the king had appoynted, went to Hulda a prophetesse, the wife of Shallum: the sonne of Tokhath, the sonne of Haisra keeper of the wardrobe (for she dwelte in Jerusalem within the seconde wall) and so they communed with her. Shee answered them: thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, tell ye the manne that sent you to me: Euen thus sayth the Lord: beholde, I wil bring euill vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof (euen all the curses that are written in the boke whiche they haue read before the king of Iuda) because they haue forsaken me, and haue offered burnt offer to other goddes, to anger me with all manner workes of their handes, therefore is my wrath set on fyre against this place: and shall not be quenched. And as for the king of Iuda whiche set you to enquire of the lord, so shal ye say vnto him, thus sayth the Lord god of Israel, concerninge the wordes which thou haste hard: Because thine heart did melt, and thou diddest meke thyselfe before God when thou hearest his wordes against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy selfe before me, & tarest thy clothes, & wepest before me, that haue I hearde also, sayeth the Lord. Beholde, I will take thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be putte in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shal not see all the mischefe that I will bringe vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. And they brought the king worde againe. Then the king sate and gathered together all the elders of Iuda and Jerusalem. And the king wente by into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Iuda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the priestes and Leuites and all the people great and small: and the king did reade in theyr eares all the wordes of the boke of the couenante that was founde in the house of the Lord. And the king rode at his standinge, and made a couenante before the Lord, to folowe the Lord and to kepe his commandementes, and his statutes, and his lawes with all his hearte, and with all his soule, and to fulfyll the wordes of the appoyntment written in the sayde boke. And hee sette in theyr roume all them that were found in Jerusalem: and Ben Amm, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did accordinge to the couenante of the Lord God of theyr fathers. And Josiah putte awaye all manner of abominations oute of all landes that pertayned to the childe of Israel, and broughte in all that were founde in Israel, to worshippe and to serue the Lord their God. And they turned not asyde from after the Lord God of their fathes, as long as hee liued.

The xxxv. Chapter.

AND Josiah helde the feast of Passouer vnto the Lord in Jerusalem, and they kept Passouer in the fourteenth daye of the fyrste moneth. And hee sette the priestes in their Offices: and apoynted them in the seruice of the house of the Lord. And hee sayd vnto the Leuites (that taught all Israel, and were sanctified vnto the Lord:) But the holy Ark in the house, whiche Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel, dyd buyde, there shall no other burnt offe be layde vpon your shoulders. But nowe serue the Lord your God, and his people Israel. And prepare your selues by youruncyente householdes and companyes, accordinge to the writinge of Dauid, Kinge of Israel, and the writinge of Salomon his sonne. And stande in the holpe place, accordinge to the deuision of the annunciate householdes of your brethren, the children of the people: and after the deuision of the annunciate householdes of the Leuites: kill Passouer, and sanctifie, and prepare your brethren, that they maye do accordinge to the writinge of the Lorde by the bande of Moyſes.

 And Jofia gaue to the people ſheepes

 And ſo the ſeruiſe was prepared, and the prieſtes ſtoode in their places, and the Leuites in their diſtinct companies at the kinges commandement.
 And they ſawe paſſeouer, and the Prie-ſtes ſprinkled the bloud with theyr hande, and the Leuites pulled of the ſkinnes of the beaſtes. And they ſet away the burntofferings, to geue them vnto the people that were deuided by ancient houſes, and that they ſhould offer vnto the Lorde, like as it is writtten in the booke of Moyſes. And ſo did they with the oxen alſo. And they dyſſed the paſſeouer with fire, as the maner was. And the other dedicate beaſtes fodde they in the pottes, calderns, and pannes, and deuided the among all the people. And afterwarde they made ready for them ſelues, and for the prieſtes: for the childzen of Aaron were buſied in offering of burnt-offerings, and the ſatte vntill night: therfore the Leuites prepared for the ſelues and for the prieſtes the ſonnes of Aaron. And the ſingers, the children of Aſaph ſtoode in their ſtandinge accordinge to the commandemente of Dauid, and Aſaph, Heman & Je-dutan the kinges ſear: and the porters wayped at euery gate, and might not depart fro their ſeruiſe: for theyr brethren the Leuites prepared for them. And ſo all the ſeruiſe of the Lorde was prepared the ſame daye, to offer paſſeouer, and to offer burntof-ferings vpon the altar of the Lorde accordinge to the commandemente of kinge Jofia. And ſo the childzen of

The xxxvi. Chapter.

4. re. 24. f

AD. the people of the lande tooke Jehoaahaz, the sonne of Josia, and made him kinge in his fathers steade in Jerusalem. And Jehoaahaz was. xxiij. yere olde when he beganne to reygne, and he reygned iij. monethes in Jerusalem. And the king of Egypt put him downe at Jerusalem, and merced the land in an C. talentes of silver, and a talent of gold. And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king upon Juda and Jerusalem, and turned his name Jehoaakin: and Necho tooke Jehoaahaz his brother, and carped him to Egypt. Jehoaakin was. xxb. yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned. xi. yere in Jerusalem: and he did euil in the sight of the Lord his God.

4. re. 24. f

Against him came by Nabuchodonosor king of Babilon, and bounde him with two chaynes, to carpe him to Babilon. The kinge. Nabuchodonosor also caried of the vesselles of the house of the Lord to Babilon, and put them in his temple at Babilon. The rest of the actes of Jehoaakin, and his abominations whiche he did, and carued ymages that were layed to his charge: beholde, they are w^{ri}tten in the boke of the kinges of Israel and Juda: and Jehoachin his son reigned in his steade. Jehoachin was eyght yere olde, when he beganne to reygne, and hee reygned thre monethes and ten dayes in Jerusalem: & he did euil in the sight of the Lord. And when the yere was out, kinge Nabuchodonosor sent, and set him to Babilon with the goodly vesselles of the house of the Lord, and made Zedekia (his fathers brother) kinge over Juda and Jerusalem. Zedekia was one and twenty yere olde when he began to reygne, and reigned. xi. yere in Jerusalem. And he did euil in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not him selfe before Jeremia the prophet at the mouth of the Lord. And he rebelled agaynst Nabuchodonosor, which had receyued an oth of him by God. But he was stricken and to hard herted to turne vnto the Lord God of Israel. Whereouer all the rulers, the priestes, and the people trespassed moze: sinning after all maner of abominations of the Heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord, which he had halowed in Jerusalem. And the Lord God of their fathers sente to them by his messengers, rising by betimes and sendinge, for he had compassion on his people, & on his dwelling place. But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his wordes, and misse bled his prophetes, vntill the wrath of the Lord arose agaynst his people, and till there was no remedye. And so. he broughte vpon them the kinge of Caldey, whiche slewe their yonge men with the swerde in their holpe Temple, and spared neyther younge man, mayden, olde manne, nor him that stouped for age. He gaue them all into his hande. And all the vesselles of the house of God (both great and small) and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kinge, and of his Lordes: all these carped he to Babilon. And they burnt the house of God and brake downe the wall of Jerusalem, and burnt all the places thereof with fire, and destroyed all the goodly Jeweles thereof. And the residue that had escaped the swerde, carped hie to Babilon, where they were bounde to him and his childzen, vntill the time that Persia had the Empire, to fulfill the worde of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremia, vntill the lande had her pleasure of her Sabbothes: for as longe as shee laye desolate, she kept Sabboth, vntill. lxx. yeres were fulfilled. And the firste yere of Cyrus kinge of Persia (when the worde of the Lord: spoken by the mouth of Jeremia was finished) the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and that by writing, saying: Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, all the kingdoms of the earth hath the Lord God of heaven given me, and hath charged me to build him an house in Jerusalem, that is in Juda. Wherefore whosoever is among you of all his people, the Lord his God be with him, and let him go by.

The ende of the second Boke of Chronicles.

The first Boke of Esdras.

The first Chapter.

In the first yere of Cyrus king of Persia (that the word of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Jeremia might be fulfilled) the Lord stirred up by the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he caused to be proclaimed throughout all his empire, and to be written, saying: thus saith Cyrus the king of Persia: The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth, & hath commanded me to build him an house at Jerusalem, which is in Juda, who soever now among you, is of his people, the Lord his God be with him, and let him go by to Jerusalem in Juda, and build the house of the Lord God of Israel. He is the God that is at Jerusalem. And whosoever reproveth yet in any manner of place, where he is a stranger, let the men of that place helpe him, with silver and gold, with good and cattel, beside that which they willingly offer, for the house of God, that is at Jerusalem. Then went by the principal fathers of Juda &

Beniamin, and the Priestes and Levites, and all they whose spirit God had raised to go by, and to build the house of the Lord, which is at Jerusalem. And all they that were about them, strengthened their hands with vessels of silver and gold, with good and cattel, and Jewelles, in so much that every one shewed him selfe liberal. And king Cyrus brought forth the vessels of the house of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor hadde taken out of Jerusalem, and had put in the house of his God. These did Cyrus the king of Persia bringe forth by the hand of Mithridates the treasurer, and numbered them unto Seibazer, the prince of Juda. And this is the number of them. xxx. chargers of gold, a thousand chargers of silver, xxx. knyves, xxx. basins of golde, and of other silver basins. iij. C. and ten, & of other vessels, a thousand. All the vessels of gold and silver were five thousand and foure hundred. All these did Seibazer carry awaye with them that came by out of the captivitie of Babylon, unto Jerusalem.

2. Cl. 1. 8

And when the .seuenth Moneth came, and the children of Israel were now in their cities, the people came together (euen as one man) vnto Jerusalem. And there stode vp Iesua the sonne of Joseder: and his brethren the priestes, and Jozobabell the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, and buylded the auter of the God of Israel, to offer burntofferings thereon, as it is writen in the lawe of Moyses the man of God, and the auter set they vpon his sochets (for there was a scarcenelle amonge them because of the nations and lands) therefore they offered burnt the morninge and at euen. And they helde the feaste of tabernacles: as it is writen: and offered burntofferings dayly, accordinge to the number and custome, daye by daye. Afterward they offered dayly burntofferings also, and in the newe moones, and in all the feaste dayes that were consecrate vnto the Lord, and for all them which did (of their owne freewill) offer vnto the Lord. From the first day of the seuenth moneth beganne they to offer burntofferings vnto the Lord: euen when the foundation of the temple of the Lord, was not yet layde. They gaue money also vnto the masons and carpenters, and meate and drinke, and oyle vnto them of Idon and of Tere, to bringe the Cedre timber from Libanus by sea vnto Toppa, accordinge to the graunte that they had of Cyrus the kinge of Persia. In the seconde yere of their comming vnto the place of the house of God at Jerusalem in the seconde moneth, began Jozobabell the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesua the sonne of Joseder, and the remnant of their brethren the Priestes and Levites, and all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Jerusalem, and appoynted the Levites from .xx. yere old and aboue, to se, γ the worke of the house of γ Lord went forwarde. And Iesua stode with his sonnes and brethren: and Cadmiell with his sonnes, and the children of Juda, to further the workemen of the house of God, euen the children of Menadab with their children, and their brethren the Levites. And when the builders laied the foundation of the temple of the Lord, the Priestes stode in their arraye, with trompettes. And the Levites the children of Asaph with sunbailles, to prayse the Lord. After the maner of Dauid kinge of Israel. And they sang together, when they gaue prayse and thanckes vnto the Lord, because he is gracious and because his mercye endureth for euer vnto Israel. And all the people shouted loud in prayling the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lozde was layde. Many also of the puelkes and Leuites and auncient fathers, whiche had sene the first house (when the foundation of this house was layde befoze they eyes) wepte with a loude voyce. And many shouted with ioye, so that the noyse gaue a great sounde, in so much that the people could not discerne the ioyfull soūd and gladnes, fro the noyse of the weeping amonge the people, for the people shouted with a loude crye, and the noyse was harde farre of.

The .iiij. Chapter.

BUt the aduersaries of Juda and Ben Jamin, hearde that the childerene of the captiuitie buylded the temple vnto the Lozde God of Israel: And they came to Zorobabell, and to the principall fathers, and sayde vnto them: We will buylde with you, for we seeke the Lozde your God lyke as ye do. And we haue done sacrifice vnto him, sence the time of Asor Hadon the kinge of Assur. whiche brought vs vp hither. And Zorobabel, and Iesua, and the other auncient fathers of Israel, sayd vnto them: It can not be that you and we together shoulde buylde the house vnto our God, for we our selues will buylde alone vnto the Lozde our God of Israel, as Cyrus the kinge of Persia hath commaunded vs. And it came to passe that the folke of the land hindred the people of Juda, and troubled them as they were buylding, and byred counsellors against them, to hindre their deuice as long as Cyrus the kinge of Persia lyued, vntill the reygne of Darius kinge of Persia. And in the reygne of Darius (euen in the beginninge of his reygne) wrote they vnto him a complaynte agaynst the inhabitants of Juda and Jerusalem. And in the dayes of Artaxerxes, wrote Mithridath Cabell, and the other of his counsell vnto Artaxerxes the kinge of Persia with saye wordes. And the Scripture of the letter was written in the Syrians speche, and interpreted in the language of the Syrians. Re-hum the recorder, and Samai the scribe, wrote a letter from Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the kinge, as it followeth. Then Rehum the recorder, and Samai the scribe, and other of their compaigne of Dyna, of Arphasath, of Charpla, of Persia, of Arach, of Babilon, of Susan, of Deha, of Elan, and other of the people. whom the great and noble Snaphar brought ouer, and set in the cities of Samaria, and other, that are nowe on this syde the water. This is the coppe of the letter that they sente vnto kinge Artaxerxes: By seruauntes, and the me that are nowe on this side the water. We it knowen vnto the kinge, that the Iewes which came vp from thee to vs, are come vnto Jerusalem (a citie seditious and frowerde) and buylde the same, and set vp the walles therof, and laye the foundations. We it knowen nowe also vnto the kinge, that if this citie be buylded, and the walles therof made vp agayne: then shall not they geue tolle, tribute, and custome, and the kinges profite shall incurre damage. And nowe in the meane season we haue destroyed the temple, and woulde no longer see the kinges dishonour: Therefore sent we oute also, and certified the kinge, that it maye be sought in the booke of the Chronicles of thy progenitours, and so shalt thou finde in the boke of the Chronicles, and perceaue, that this citie is seditious and noyesome vnto kinges, and landes, and that they cause other also amonge them to rebel of olde, and for the same cause was this citie destroyed. Therefore do we certifye the kinge, that if this citie be buylded agayne, and the walles therof made vp: thou shalt hereafter haue no poztion on this side the water. Then sente the king an answer vnto Rehum the recorder, & Samai the scribe & vnto other of their companions that dwelte in Samaria, & vnto the other that were beyond the water, in Elan and Chebeth. The letter which ye sente vnto vs, hath bene openyd before me, and I haue commaunded to make searche: and it is founde that this citie of olde hath made insurrection against kinges, and that rebellion and sedition hath bene committed therein. There haue bene mighty kinges also at Ierusalem, whiche haue reigned ouer al countreys beyond the water, and toll, tribute, and custome was gauen vnto them. Geue ye nowe therfore commaundement, that the same men be forbidden, and that the Citie bee not builded againe, till I haue geue an other commaundement. Take heede nowe that ye be not negligent to do this: for why shoulde the king haue harme therthrough. Nowe when the coppe of kinge Artaxerxes letter was red besoye Achum and Samai the scribe, and their companions, they went vp in all the haste to Ierusalem, vnto the Iewes, and forbad them with violence & power. Then ceased the worke of the house of God at Ierusalem, and continued so vnto the seconde yeare of Darius kinge of Persia.

The .v. Chapter.

The prophets, Aggeus and Zachari the son of Iddo, prophesied vnto the Iewes that were in Iuda & Ierusalem, in the name of the God of Israel. • Then gat vp Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, & Iesua the son of Iosedec, and began to build the house of God at Ierusalem, and with them were the prophets of God which helped them. At the same time came to the Cahnai, which was captaine on this side the water, & Scharbazani and their companions, & sayde thus vnto the: who hath commaunded you to build this house, & to make vp these wals: Then tolde we them the names of the men that made this building. But the eyes of their God was vpon the elders of the Iewes, & they could not cause the to cease, till & matter was brought to Darius, and then they answered by letters therunto. This is & copy of & letter, & Cahnai (which was captaine on this side the water, & Scharbazani, & & counsaillers of Apaphlah (which were on this side the water, set vnto king Darius, and & matter that they sent vnto him, was written thus, within the letter: Vnto Darius the king, at peace: We it knowen vnto the king, that we went into the land of Iewrie, to the house of the great god, which is builded w migh- tie great stones, & beames are layde in the walles, and the worke goeth faste forth, and prospereth in their hands. Then asked we the elders, and sayde vnto them as it foloweth: Who commaunded you to build this house, and to make by the walles therof: We asked their names also, that we mighte certifie thee, and write the names of the men that were their rulers. But they answered vs with these wordes, and sayd: We are the seruantes of him that is God of heauen and earth, and builde the house, that was builded many yeares agoe, • whiche a great kinge of Israel builded, and set vp. But after & our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, • he gaue them ouer into the hand of Nabuchodonozor the kinge of Babilon, and of the Chaldeis, whiche brake downe this house, and caried the people awaye captiue vnto Babilon: • But in the firste yeare of Cyrus the kinge of Babilon, the same kinge Cyrus gaue commaundement concerninge this house of God, that it shoulde be builded agayne. And & vessels of gold and siluer of the house of God, which Nabuchodonozor tooke cote of the temple that was at Ierusalem, and brought them into the temple at Babilon, those did Cyrus the kinge take out of the temple at Babilon, • & they wer deliuered vnto one Shafbazar by name, whō he made captaine, & said vnto him. Take these vessels, and go thy way, & set the in the temple & is at Ierusalem, & let the house of God be builded in his place. The cam & same Shafbazar, & laid & foundation of the house of God, which is at Ierusalem. Since that time also vntil now hath it ben in building, & yet is it not finished. there at Babylon, whether it haue ben kinge Cyrus commaundemente, that this temple of GOD at Ierusalem should be builded, and let him send vs the kinges mind concerning the same matter.

The. vi. Chapter.

3. Ch. 6. a Then commaunded king Darius, and they made search in the library, euen in the place wher they layed by the treasure at Babylon And there was found in a coffer (in the place that is in y^e land of the Medes) a bolame: and therein was it thus witten, and suche a memoriall: In the first yere of king Cyrus, gauze the same king Cyrus commaundement concerninge the house of God at Ierusalem, that the same house shoulde bee builded in the place wher they offer the sacrifices, and to toyne the walles together of thre scoz cubites height, and thre scoz cubites bredth. The rowes of rough stones, and one rowe of timber, and the expenses shal be geuen of the kinges house. And let the golde, and siluer vessel of the house of GOD, (which Nabuchodonosor tooke out of the temple at Ierusalem, and brought vnto Babylon) be restored and brought againe vnto the temple at Ierusalem to their place in the house of God. Get you far from them therfoze, thou Elnathai captaine beyonde the water, and Starbozanai, and your counsaillers a Spherischei, which are beyond the water, get ye away from them. Let the worke of the house of this God alone, that the captaine of the Jewes and they elders maye builde the house of God in his place. I haue commaunded what shal be doone to the elders of Iuda, for the building of the house of GOD, that there shalbe diligent hede taken of the kinges goodes, euen of the rentes beyonde the water, and geuen vnto the men, that they bee not hindred. And if they haue nede of colours, rammes and Lambes for the burnt offeringe of the God of heauen, wheate, sale, wine and

oyle, after the custome of the Priestes at Ierusalem, lette the same be geuen them dayly without any delaye: that they maye offer sweete savoures vnto the God of heauen, and praye for the kinges life, and for his children. And suche a commaundemente haue I geuen: that what man soeuer he be, that altereth this word, there shal a beame be taken from his house, and sette vp, and he shalbe hanged thereon, and his house shalbe made a donge hill, for the same thinge. And the God that let his name there, destroye all kinges and people that put to their hande to alter, and to breake downe the house of God whiche is at Ierusalem. I Darius haue commaunded: that this be doone with speede. Then Elnathai the captain of the country beyond the water, and Starbozanai with theyr counsaillers (to whom kinge Darius hadde sent) did their diligence: And the Elders of the Jewes builded, and they prospered through the prophesyinge of Aggeus the prophet, and Zacharie the sonne of Iddo: and they builded and layed by the foundation, accordinge to the commaundemente of the God of Israel, and after the commaundemente of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kinges of Persia. And the house was finished in the third day of the moneth Adar, euen in the. vi. yere of the reygne of king Darius. And the children of Israel, the priestes, the Levites, and the other children of the captiuitie, helde the dedication of this house of God, with ioye, and offered at the Dedication of this house of GOD, an hundred Oxen, twos hundred Hammes: four hundred goates, and for the reconcilinge of all Israel twelue hee Goates, accordinge to the number of the Tribes of Israel: and let the Priestes in theyr sondre courses, and the Levites in theyr diuers offices to minisler vnto God at Ierusalem: as it is witten in the booke of Moses. And the children of the captiuitie helde Passouer upon the. xiii. day of the first month: in the priestes and Levites were purified.

Esdras

that they were all cleane together, and killed Pasche for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the priests, and for them selues. And the children of Israel which were come againe out of captiuitie, and all suche as had separated them selues vnto them from the filthinesse of the heathen of the lande, to seeke the Lord God of Israel, did eate, and helde the feasts of vnleuened bread, seuen dayes with ioy: for the Lord had made them glad, and turned the heart of the king of Assur vnto them, to strengthen their hands in the worke of the house of God, euen the God of Israel.

The. vii. Chapter.

After these actes, there was in the reigne of Artaxerxes king of Persia, one Esdras the son of Saraiah, the sonne of Alaria, the sonne of Helkiah, the sonne of Salum, the sonne of Zadoc, the sonne of Ahitub, the sonne of Amaria, the sonne of Alaria, the sonne of Merathoth, the son of Ieraia, & son of Alsi, the son of Bucki, the sonne of Abisun, the sonne of Phineches, & son of Eleazar, the son of Aaroh the chiefe priest. This Esdras also went by from Babylon, and was a perfecte scribe in the lawe of Moyses, and whiche the Lord God of Israel had geue. And the king gaue him all that he required, because the hande of the Lord his God was bypon him. And there went by certayne of the children of Israel, of the priests, Levites, syngers, porters, and of the brethren vnto Jerusalem, in the seuenth yere of king Artaxerxes. And he came to Jerusalem in the fyfth moneth, euen in the seuenth yere of the king. For vpon the firste daye of the firste moneth, beganne he to go by from Babylon: and on the fyfth daye of the fyfth moneth came he to Jerusalem, because the good hande of God was bypon him. For Esdras prepared his heart to seeke the lawe of the Lord, and to do it, and to teache the people and iudgement in Israel. And this is the coppe of the letter, that King Artaxerxes gaue vnto Esdras the priest and scribe: whiche was a writer of the wordes and commandements of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Israel. Artaxerxes a king of kinges: vnto Esdras the priest and scribe of the lawe of the God of heauen, peace and saluation. I haue commaunded that all they of the people of Israel, and of the priests, and Levites in my realme (which are minded of their owne good will to go by to Jerusalem) go with thee: and therfore arte thou sente of the king and of his seuen counsaylers, to visit Iuda and Jerusalem, accordinge to the lawe of thy God, whiche is in thy hande: And that thou shouldest take with thee syluer and golde, which the kinge and his counsaylers offer of their owne good will, vnto the God of Israel (whose habitations is at Jerusalem) and al the siluer and gold that thou canst finde in all the country of Babylon, with it that the people offer of their owne good will, and the priests geue for the house of their God whiche is at Jerusalem. Take thou the same, and by diligentie with the same money, oxen, rammes, and lambes, with their meate offerings and drinke offerings, and thou shalt offer them vpon the altare of the house of your God, whiche is at Jerusalem. And looke what it lyketh thee, and thy brethren to do with the remnaunte of the money, that do after the will of your God. And the vessels that are geuen thee for the ministration in the house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God at Jerusalem. And whatsoeuer thing more shalbe needefull for the house of thy God, which is necessarie for to spend, thou shalt receiue the charges oute of the kinges treasure house. I king Artaxerxes haue commaunded all the treasures beyonde the water, that looke whatsoeuer Esdras the priest and scribe, in the lawe of the God of heauen, requirerth of you, that ye fulfil the same speedelye, vntill an hundred talents,

Then commaunded king Darius, and they made search in the libary, euen in the place wher they layed by the treasure at Babylon And there was found in a coffer (in the place that is in y^e land of the Medes) a volume: and therein was it thus w^ritten, and suche a memoriall: In the first yere of kinge Cyrus, gaue the same kinge Cyrus commaundement concerninge the house of God at Ierusalem, that the same house shoulde bee builded in the place wher they offer the sacrifices, and to ioyne the walles together of thre score cubites height, and thre score cubites bredth. Thre rowes of rough stones, and one rowe of timber, and the expenses shal be geuen of the kinges house. And let the golde, and siluer vessel of the house of GOD, (which Nabuchodonosor tooke out of the temple at Ierusalem, and brought vnto Babylon) be restored and brought againe vnto the temple at Ierusalem to their place in the house of God. Get you far from them therfore, thou Elnai captaine beyonde the water, and Starbozanai, and your counsaillers a Sphersechet, which are beyonde the water, get ye away from them. Let the worke of the house of this God alone, that the captaine of the Iewes and they elders maye builde the house of God in his place. I haue commaunded what shal be doone to the elders of Iuda, for the building of the house of GOD, that there shalbe diligent hede taken of the kinges goodes, euen of the rentes beyonde the water, and geuen vnto the men, that they bee not hindred. And if they haue neede of calues, rammes and Lambes for the burnt offeringe of the God of heauen, wheate, salt, wine and oyle, after the custome of the Priests at Ierusalem, lette the same be geuen them dayly without any delaye: that they maye offer sweete savoures vnto the God of heauen, and praye for the kinges life, and for his childzen. And suche a commaundemente haue I geuen: that what man soeuer he be, that altereth this word, there shal a beame be taken from his house, and sette by, and he shalbe hanged thereon, and his house shalbe made a donge hill, for the same thinge. And the God that set his name there, destroye all kinges and people that put to their hande to alter, and to breake downe the house of God whiche is at Ierusalem. I Darius haue commaunded: that this be doone with speede. Then Elnai the captaine of the country beyonde the water, and Starbozanai with theyr counsaillers (to whom kinge Darius hadde sent) did their diligence: And the Elders of the Iewes builded, and they prospered through the prophesyngs of Aggeus the prophet, and Zacharie the sonne of Iddo: and they builded and layed by the foundation, accordinge to the commaundemente of the God of Israel, and after the commaundemente of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kinges of Persia. And the house was finished in the third day of the moneth Adar, euen in the .34. yere of the reygne of king Darius. And the childzen of Israel, the priests, the Levites, and the other childzen of the captiuitie, helde the dedication of this house of God, with ioye, and offered at the Dedication of this house of GOD, an hundred Oxen, two hundred Rammes: four hundred goates, and for the reconcilinge of all Israel twelue hee Goates, accordinge to the number of the Tribes of Israel: and set the Priests in theyr longye courses, and the Levites in theyr diuers offices to minister vnto God at Ierusalem: as it is w^ritten in the booke of Moses. And the childzen of the captiuitie helde Pascoer happen the .xiii. day of the first month: in the yeldest and Levites were purified.

These are the principall fathers of them, and this is their regi- ster that wente vypp with me from Babylon, what time as kinge Artaxerxes reygned. Of the children of Ithinehes, Gerson: of the children of Ithamar, Daniell: of the chil- dzenne of David, Hatus: of the chil- dzen of Zechania, amonge the chyldzenne of Pharos, Zachary: and with him were numbred an hundred and fiftie men. Of the children of the cap- tayne of Moab, Elionai, the sonne of Zerahia, and with him two hundred men. Of the children of Zechania the sonne of Iahaziel, and with him three hundred men. Of the children of Adin, Abed the sonne of Jonathan, and with him fiftie men. Of the chyl- dzen of Elam, I say the sonne of Zech- lia, and with him seuentie men. Of the chyl- dzenne of Saphatia, Zebadia the sonne of Michaell, and with him fourre score men. Of the chyl- dzenne of Joab, Obadia the sonne of Ichtiel, and with him two hundred and eigh- tene men. Of the children of Selo- muth the sonne of Josophia, and with him an hundred and thre score men. Of the children of Webai, Zachari the sonne of Webai, and with him eght and twentie men. Of the children of Isgad, Iohanan the sonne of Iha- than, and with him an hundred and ten men. Of the children of Adoniram that were the laste, whose names are these: Eliphelet, Zebiel and Hamai- ah, and with them thre score menne. Of the children of Bignai, Bithai, and Zabud, and with them seuentie men. And I gathered them together by the water that runneth towards Shaua, & there abode we thre dayes. And I looked amonge the people and the Priestes, and founde there none of the chyl- dzenne of Leui. Then sente I to Eliezer, to Arielt, Semai, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Pa- than, Zacharie: and to Meshullam the rulers, and to Jotari and Elia- E than, whiche were menne of under- standing: and to those gaue I com- mandement, vnto Iddo the chiefe at Casphia, that they should lette vs ministers for the house of our G D : and I tolde them what they should say vnto Iddo, and to his chyl- dzen the Bethinims at Casphia. And (throughe the good hande of our God vppon vs) they broughte vs a iust manne from amonge the chyl- dzen of Iddo, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel: & Sarabia with his sonns and his brethren, even eightene. And Halsab, and with him Isai of the children of Merari, with his brethren, and their sonnes twenty. And of the Aethiopes, whom David and the princes gave to minister vnto the Le-uites, two hundred and twenty of Aethiopes, whiche all were named by name. And euen ther at the water, besyde Thana I proclaymed a faste, that we might humble our selues before our God, and seeke of him a right waye for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance. For I was ashamed to require of the king, soldiers and hoysmen, to helpe vs against the enemy in the way: but we sayde vnto the king: The hande of our god is vpon all them that seeke him, in goodnesse, and (his dominion,) his holence and wrath, is against all them that forsake him. So we fasted, and besought oure God for this, and hee hearde vs. And I toke our twelue of the chiefe priests: Sarabia, and Hasabria, and ten of their brethren with them, and weped them the siluer and golde, and vessels that were appoy-ned for the house of our God, whiche the kinge and his counsaillers, and his knyghtes, and all Israel that wer there at hande, had giuen together. And I weyed vnto their hande sixe hundred and fifty talentes of siluer, and in siluer vessels an hundred talentes, and in golde an hundred talentes, twentye basins of golde, of a thousande peces: and two costelye ornaments of good brasse as cloure as golde: and I sayde vnto them: Ye are consecrate vnto the Lorde, like as the vessels are holy also, and the golde and siluer are giuen of a good will vnto the Lorde God of your fathers. Watche ye, and keepe it, for ye shall weye it downe before the chiefe priests and Leuites, and ancient fathers of Israel at Jerusalem in the Treasuries of the house of the Lorde. Then tooke the Priests and Leuites the weyed siluer and golde, and vessel, to bring it to Jerusalem, vnto the house of oure God. And we broke bp, from the water of Thana on the .xii. day of the firste moneth, to go vnto Jerusalem: and the hande of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hande of the enemies, and of such as layd wait for vs by the way.

And we cam to Jerusalem, and abode there .iiij. dayes. But on the .iiij. daye was the siluer and golde, and vessel weyed in the house of our God, by the hande of Merimoth, the son of Uria the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phineches, & with the was Josabab the son of Iesus, & Hoabia the sonne of Benoi the Leuites. According to the number and wayght of euery one, was the weight al wrytten bp at the same time. And the children of the captiuitie, which wer come out of prison, offred burntofferings vnto the God of Israel, twelue bullockes for al Israel. xcvi. rammes, seuen and scuentie lambs, twelue he goates for a sinneofferinge, all to the burntoffering of the Lorde. And they deliuered the kinges commission vnto the kinges officer, and to the captains: & were on this side the water. And they promoted the people, & the house of God.

The .ix. Chapter.

daughters of the same to them selues, and to their sonnes, and the holy seede

And now is ther a little and a sodaine graciousnesse come from the Lorde oure God, in causinge some of vs to escape, and that he may geue vs a naille in his holpe place, and that oure God maye lighte oure eyes, and geue vs a little life to take breathe in oure bondage.

For we are bondemen, and oure God hath not forsaken vs in oure bondage, and hath enclined mercie vnto vs in the sighte of the kinges of Persia, to geue vs life, to set vp the house of our God, and to redresse the desolatiō ther of, and to geue vs a wall in Iuda and Ierusalem. And now, O oure God, what shall we saye after this: for we haue forsaken thy commaundementes, whiche thou hast commaunded by thy seruantes the Prophetes, sayinge: The land vnto whiche ye goo to possesse, it is an vnclene lande, because of the filthinesse of the people of the landes, which with their abominations haue made it full of vnclennesse on e-

Therefore shall ye not geue your Daughters vnto their sonnes, and their daughters shall ye not take vnto your sonnes, nor seke their peace and wealth for euer, that ye maye be strong and enioy the good in the land, and that ye and your childe maye haue the inheritance of it for euermore. And after that all these things are come vpon vs (because of our cruelties, and great trespasses) thou oure God hast thrust downe our wickednesses, and hast geue vs a deliuerance, (as it is come to passe this daye.) And if we turne backe againe, to let go the commaundements, and make contract with the people of these abominations, wilt thou not then be wroth at vs (and not without cause) till we be bitterly consumed, so that nothing remaine, and til there be no deliuerance? O Lorde G O D of Isræll, thou art righteous, for we remaine yet escaped as it is to see this day. Behold also, in thy presence are we in our trespasses, and because of it maye we not stande before thee.

And Sechania the sonne of Jehiel one of the chyldren of Elam, answered, & said vnto Esd. 10. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100. We haue trespassed against our G O D, and haue taken strange wyues of the people of the lande. Nowe there is hope yet in Isræll concerning this thing: for nowe we will make a cōuenant with our God, and put awaye all the wyues (and such as are borne of them) accordinge to the Counsaile of the Lorde: and we will be in the feare of the commaundementes of oure God, that we maye doo accordinge to the lawe. Gette thee vp, for this matter belongeth vnto thee: we also will be with thee: be of good comfort therfore, and doo it. Then rose Esd. 10. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100. of Eliaib. And when he came thither, he dyd eat no bread, nor drinke water, for he mourned, because of the transgression of the people that hadde bene in captiuitie. And they caused a proclamation to go thowse oute Iuda and Jerusalem, vnto all the chyldren which hadde bene in captiuitie, that they shoulde gather them selues together vnto Jerusalem. And that who soeuer came not within thre days, according to the denise of the rulers and elders, at his substaunce shuld be forsaite, & he shuld be put out from the congregation of the captiue. Then at the me of Iuda and Ben Jamin, gathered themselves together vnto Jerusalem: within thre days, enen the twentieth day of the ninth moneth: and all the people satte in the streete before the house of God, and trembled because of this matter, and for the rayn. And Esdras the prierke stode vppre, and sayde vnto them: Ye haue transgressed, & haue taken strange wines, to make the trespass of Israel yet moze: confesse now therfore vnto the Lord God of poure fathers, and do his pleasure, and separate your selues from the people of the lande, and from the strange wyues. And all the congregation answered, and sayde with a loude voyce: It shal be so: and we will do as thou haste sayd. But the people are many, and it is a rayne wether, and the people are so fayne to tary without in the streete, neyther is this a worke of one day or two: for we haue offended verp soze in this thing. Let our rulers stand therfore in all the congregation, and let all them whiche haue taken strange wyues in our citie, come at the time appointed: and let the Elders of euery cite, and their Judges be with them, till they haue turned the wrath of our God away from vs, concerning this matter. Then were appointed Josaphat the sonne of Abiel, and Jashub the sonne of Bekua ouer this matter. And Mesulam and Sabai, the Leuites helped theyn. And the chyldren of the captiuitie dyd enen so. And Esdras the prierke and the ancient headdes throught the house of their fathers, all men of great fame, separated them selues, and sat theym downe in the first daye of the tenth moneth, to examine the matter. And vntill the first day of the first moneth they were finishinge the businesse, with al þ men that had taken strange wines. And amonge the chyldren of the prierks ther wer men found þ had taken straunge wines, namely among the chyldren of Iesua the sonne of Joseder, and of his byethren Maliah, and Elezer, Jarib and Gebalia, and they gaue their hands therebpon, that they woulde put awaye their wines, and for their trespassse offeringe to geue a ramme for theyr trespass. And among the chyldren of Emur, Honani and Zababia. Among the chyldren of Barim, Saasiah, Elia, Semetiah, Jehiel, and Azia. Amonge the chyldren of Pashur, Elioenai, Malasia, Ismaell, Methanell, Josabad, and Elasa. Among the Leuites, Josabad, Semet, Bealaia (whiche same is Beulahah.) Pathahiah, Iuda and Eleazer. Among the singers also Eliasib. And among the poyers, Shillum, and Etem and Uri. And of Israel amonge the chyldren of Pharohe, Remia, Iesiah, Malchia, Jamin, Eliazar, Malchia, and Baania. Amonge the chyldren of Elam, Mathania, Zacharie, Jehiel, Abdi, Jerimoth, and Galia. Among the chyldren of Jathu Elioenai, Eliasib, Mathania, Jerimoth, Zabab, and Azia. Amonge the chyldren of Weba, Jehohanan, Hanania, Zabab, and Athalia. Among the chyldren of Beni, Mesulam, Maluch, Balaiah, Jashub, Saal, and Jerimoth. Amonge the chyldren of the captayne Moab, Adna, Cholai, Benai, Malasia, Mathania, Bezalel, Benni, & Manasse. Among the chyldre of Harim, Elezer, Iesia, Malchia, Semetia, & Shimeon; Ben Jarim, Maluch, & Samaria. Amonge the chyldren of Barsum, Mathanai, Mathathiah, Zabab, Ediphalec, Jeremie, Moabite, and Sether. Amonge the chyldren of Bani, Madat, Anram, Huell, Banea,

Chelaiht, Badiab, Maniah, Mare-moth, & Elialib, Mathania, Mathanai, Jacti, Bani, Veni, and Semeliah, Selemia, Natham, Joda, Machnabbabai, Safai, and Sarai, Israell, Selemiahu, and Samariahu, Sal-lum, Amaria, and Joseph. Amonge the children of Rebo, Jehiell, Ma-thathia, Zabab, Zabina, Jada, Joell, and Banaia. All these hadde taken strange wives. And amonge the same, there were some that had childzen by their wives.

Esdras: otherwise called the booke of Rehemia.

The firste Chapter.

E The words of Rehe-mia, the son of Bachalia. It fortuned in the moneth Chi-len, in the twentye yeare that I was in the castell at Busan:
and Hanani, one of my bryethen came to certain men of Juda, & I asked the howe the Jewes did, that were de-liuered, and escaped from the captiui-tie, and howe it went at Ierusalem.
And they sayde vnto me: The reminaunte of the captiuiete are there in the lande in greate misfortune and rebuke. • The wall of Ierusalem also is broken downe, and the gates thercof are bzente with fire. It for-tuned, that when I heard these wodes, I latte me downe and wept, and mourned certayne dayes, and fasted, and prayed before the G O D of heauen, and saide: O Lord God of heauen, thou greate and terrible G O D, • thou that keepst couenaunte and mercy for theym that loue thee, and obserue thy Commandementes, let thine eares hearken, I beseeche thee, and let thine eares be open, that thou mayest heare the prayer of thy seruauntes, which I praye now before thee daye and night, for the childzen of Israel thy seruantes, and knowledge the sinnes of the childzen of Israel, whiche wee have sinned a-gaynst thee. I and my fathers house have sinned: we haue bene bitterly dispersed from thy lawe, and haue not kept thy commandementes, statutes and lawes, whiche thou commaun-dest thy seruante Moyses. I beseeche thee, call to remembraunce the woorde that thou commandedst thy seruaunte Moyses, and saydest: Ye will transgresse, and • I will scatter you abroad amonge the nations. But if ye turne vnto me, and kepe my com-mandementes, and do them: though ye were caste oute vnto the uttermost part of heauen, yet will I gather you from thence, and will bringe you vnto the place that I haue choisen, to sette my name there. They are thy seruauntes and thy people, to whome thou hast deliuered through thy great power, and in thy mightye hande. O Lord I beseeche thee let thine eare hearken to the prayer of thy seruante, and to the prayer of thy seruantes, whose desire is to feare thy name, and let thy seruaunt prosper this day, and graunt him mercy in the sighte of this man, for I was the kinges builder.

The .ij. Chapter.

I It fortuned, that in the Moneth Nisan, in the twentieth yeare of king Artaxerxes, the wine stood before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the kinge. And I was heauye in his presence. And the king sayde vnto me: why lokest thou so sadlye, when thou arte not sick? is it nothing else, but that thou art heuie harted? And I was sore afraid, and sayde vnto the king: G O D save thy kings life for ever. Howe shuld I not

Ioke said, when the citie and place of my fathers buriall lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are consumed with fyre? And the king sayde vnto me: what is then thy request? I made my prayer also to the God of heauen, and sayde vnto the king: if it please the kynge, and if thy seruauent haue found fauour in thy sighte, sende me vnto Iuda vnto the citie of my fathers buriall that I may buylde it. And the kynge sayd vnto me (the Queene hym self sitting by him) howe longe shal thy journey continue, and when wilt thou come againe? And it pleased the king to sende me: and I sette him a tyme, and sayde vnto the king: Yf it please the king, let hym geue me letters to the captaynes whiche are beyonde the water, that they maye conuey me ouer till I come into Iuda: and letters vnto Asaph the lord of the kinges wood, that he maye geue me timber to make beames for the gates of the place (whiche is harde by the house) & for the walls of the citie, & for the house: I shall enter into. And the king gaue me accordinge to the hande of my God, which was good vpon me. And when I came to the captaynes beyonde the water, I gaue them the kinges letters. And the kynge dyd send captaynes and horsemen with me. Sanablat also the Hozonite, & Tobia a seruauent (the Ammonite) harde of it, and it grieved them sore, that ther was come a man whiche soughte the wealth of the chyldren of Israel. And I came to Jerusalem, and was there thre dayes, and I gatte me vp in the night season, and a fewe men with me, neyther tolde I any man, what God had geuen me in my heart to do in Jerusalem: and there was not one beaste with me, save it that I rode vpon. And I departed in the nighte by the balley porte, before the dragon well, and to the donge porte, and confounded the wallen of Jerusalem, howe they were broken downe, and the portes thereof consumed with the fyre. And I went ouer vnto the well porte, and to the kinges conduct, & there was no room for the beaste that was vnder me to passe. Then went I on in the night by the broke syde, and confounded the wall, and turned backe and came home againe by the balley porte. And the rulers knew not whither I went or what I did: neyther dyd I as yet tell it vnto the Jewes, to the priestes, to the noble men, to the rulers, and to the other that laboured in the worke. Then sayde I vnto them: ye see the miserie that we are in, howe Jerusalem lieth waste, & howe the gates thereof are burnt with fyre: come therefore, that we may build vpon the wall of Jerusalem, and that we be nomore rebukes. And I told them of the hand of my God, that it was gracious ouer me) and the kinges wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they sayde: Let vs get vp and build: & they strynghed their hande to good. But when Sanablat the Hozonite, and Tobia the seruauent (an Ammonite) and Gesem the Arabian herd it: they laughed vs to scoone, and mocked vs, and sayde: what is this that ye do? Wyl ye fall awaye from the king? Then answered I them, and said: the God of heauen, he it is that hath graunted vs prosperite, and we be his seruauents. Let vs get vp and build: As for you, ye haue no portion, nor righte, nor inheritance in Jerusalem.

Chc. iij. Chapter.

And Estab the hye priest gat hym vp with his brethren the priestes, and they builded the shepegate. They repayed it, and set vpon the doores of it: euen vnto the towre Dec, repayed they it, and vnto the towre Hananeil. Nexte vnto him also builded the men of Jericho. And besyde him builded Sachur the sonne of Amri. But the sheperde dyd the chyldren of Sanaa builde, whiche also laide the beames thereof, and sette on the doores, lockes and barres of it. And nexte vnto him builded Meraoth, the sonne of Uria, the sonne of Hahoz. And nexte vnto them builded Ierusalem the sonne of Herethia, the sonne of Meshabeck. And nexte vnto him builded Zadoc the sonne of Basana. And next vnto him builded they of Chekoa. But the greates men that were a monge them, put not their neckes to the worke of their Lord. The olde gate builded Johoiada the sonne of Paseah, and Melulam the sonne of Besodia, they laped the beames therof, and sette on the dozes, lockes and barres of it. Next vnto them builded Melatiah of Gibeon, and Jadon of Merano, menne of Gibeon, and of Mispa where hee that was captayne on this side the water had a mansion. Next vnto him builded Asiel the son of Barhatah the golde smith. Nexte vnto him also builded Hananiah, the sonne of Barakahum, and they repayed Jerusalem vnto the broad wall. Nexte vnto them builded Raphatah the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe parte of Jerusalem. Nexte vnto him builded Jedai the sonne of Harumaph ouer against his house: and next vnto him builded Hatus, the sonne of Hasabni. But Melchia the sonne of Harim and Hasub the sonne of the captaine of Moab builded the other peece, and the towre beside the fornares. Next vnto him builded Hallam a singers sonne, the ruler of the halfe part of Jerusalem, he and his daughters. The bailey gate builded Hasum, and the citizens of Zonoa. They builded it and set on the dozes, lockes and barres therof, and a thousande cubites on the wall vnto the dounge porte. But the dounge porte builded Melchiah, the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth parte of Bethcharē: he repayed it, and set on the dozes, lockes and bars therof. But the well gate repayed Hallam, the sonne of Chothosah, the ruler of the fourth part of Mispa. He builded it, and laid the beames, and set on the dozes, lockes and barres therof, and the wall vnto the poole Siloah, by the kinges garden, and vnto the steyppes that goe down fro the city of David. And after him builded Shehmiah the sonne of Abok: the ruler of the halfe parte of Bethzur, vntill the other syde ouer against the sepulchres of David, and to the poole that was repayed, and vnto the house of the mightie. After him builded the Levites, Rehum the sonne of Bani, and nexte vnto hym, builded Hasabia the ruler of the halfe parte of Beth in his quarter. After him builded their byethzenne. Banai the sonne of Benadab, the ruler of the halfe parte of Bethlah: and after him builded Ezer the sonne of Iesua: the ruler of Mispa the other peece, harde ouer against the goinge vnto the house of the ordynaunce that was in the corner. Againe, after him byde forth Baruch the sonne of Zachai of indignation, and repayed the other peece from the turninge corner, vnto the dooze of the house of Elialib the hye priest. After him also builded Meriworth, the sonne of Arpa the sonne of Hacos the other peece from the doze of the house of Elialah, euen as longe as the house of Elialah extended. After him builded the priestes, the men of the playne. After him builded Ben Jamin and Halub, ruler against they house, and after him wrought Maria the sonne of Masia, the sonne of Banania, nexte vnto his house. After him also builded Benni the sonne of Benadab, the other peece from the house of Azaria vnto the tournynge of the wall, and vnto the corner. After him builded Sala the sonne of Asia, ouer against the corners and f high towre, which lyeth out ouer from the Spynge house, that was besyde the courts of the prison. After him Shedan the sonne of Pharthos (as for the priestes they dwelt in the stronge holde vnto the wateregate, toward the east, and to the towre that lyeth ouer.) After him builded they of Chekoa the other peece ouer against the gate courts that lyeth outwarde, vnto the wall of the stronge holde. But from aboue the horsegate forth builded the priestes, euerp one ouer against his house. And after theym builded Zeeck the son of Jamin ouer against his house. After him builded also Benania the keeper of the key.

After him builded Hanania the sonne of Selemia, and Hanan the sonne of Zaphan the sixte, the other perce. And after him builded Mesulam the sonne of Barachia ouer agaynste his shoie house. After him builded Malachias, the golde smithes son, vntill the house of the Pethinims, and of the marchantes ouer against the gate Mathan, and to the parlour of the corner. And betweene the parlour in the corner vnto the shepegate builded the golde smithes, and the marchauntes.

The. iij. Chapter.

BUt whē Hanabablat heard that we builded the wall, hee was wroth in him selfe, and tooke grate indignation, and mocked the Jewes, and layde befoze his brethren and the souldiers of Samaria, what do these impotente Jewes? Will the betwen suffer the? Shall they offer? Shall they performe it in one daye? Shall they make the stones whole agayne, that are broughte to daile and bynter? And Eobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said: Though they build yet if a force goo by, hee shall breake downe their stony wall: Heare (O thou our God) for we are despised, turne they shame vpon they owne headde, and geue them ouer into the despisinge in the lande of their captiuitie. Couer not their wickednesse, and let not their sinne be put oute in thy presence: for they haue prouoked the builders. And so builded wee the wall, and it was ioynd whole together, vnto the halfe height therof. And the people were minded to labour. And it fortuned that when Hanabablat, and Eobiah and the Arabians, Ammonites, and Moabites hearde, that the walles of Jerusalem were made by, and that the gappes begonne to be stopped, they were verie wroth, and conspired all together to come and fight against Jerusalem, and to make the people an hinderance therein. Nevertheless, we made our prayer vnto our God, and set watchmen by them which builded day and night ouer agaynst them. And Iuda sayde: the strength of the bearers is to feble: and there is yet muche moze moztur, and wee are not able to builde on the wall. And our aduersaries saide: they shall not knowe, neyther see, till wee come in the mids among them, & slaye them & hinder the worke. But it fortuned y when the Jewes (which dwelt beside theym) came, they tolde vs as good as tenne times: that in all places where ye go vnto, they are appointed to fall vpon vs. Therefore let the people after their kindreds with theyr sweards, speares, and bowes beneath in the lowe places behinde the wall, and I looked, and gat me by: and saide vnto the chiefe menne, to the rulers, and to the other people: be not ye afraid of them: but thinke rather vpon the great loyde, whiche ought to be feared, and fighte for your brethren, your sonnes, your daughters, your wiues, and your houses. Furthermore, it chaunced that when our enemies heard, that we had gotten word of it, God brought their counsell to nought: and we tourned all agayne to the wall, euery one vnto his labour. And from that time forth it came to passe that the halfe parte of the yonge men did the labour: and the other half part of them held the speares, shields, bowes and best plates, and the rulers stood behinde all the house of Iuda, whiche builded on the wall, and bare burthens from those that laded them. With one hand did euerye one worke, and with the other helde he his weapon: And eueryone that builded, had his swearde girde by his thigh, and soo builded they. And the trompette blew beside me. And I saide vnto the principall menne, to the rulers, and to the other people: the worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wal one farre from an other. Loke in what place therefore ye heare the noyse of the trompette: resorte ye thither vnto vs, and oure GOD shall fight for vs, and we wil be laboringe in the worke. And the halfe part of the held the speares from the morninge spring: till the starres came forth. And at the same time saide I vnto the people: euery one abide with his seruauant at Jerusalem, that in the night season we maye watche, and labour on the day time. As for me and my brethren, my seruantes, and the menne of the watch (whiche were behinde me) we put neuer of oure clothes, no moze the xij other did their harnessse, saue only because of the water.

And there arose a greate complaint of the people, and their wotues against their brethren the Jewes. For there were some that sayde: our sonnes and daughters, and we are to many, therfore will we take corne for them, that we maye eate and liue. Some also there were that sayde: let vs set our landes, byneyardes and houses to pledge and take by corne in the dearth. But some there were that said: let vs borrow mony for the kings tribute, and that vpon our landes and byneyardes. Behold our bodie as the bodie of our brethren, and oure children as their children: els shoulde we subdue our sonnes and daughters vnto bondage, and some of our daughters are subdued vnto bondage already, and no strength is there in our hands, and other men haue our landes and vineyards. And when I heard their complaint and suche wordes, it displeased me soze, and I aduised so in my mind, that I rebuked the counsellors, and the rulers, and sayde vnto them: Euerye one of you is to chargeable vnto his brother, and I broughte a greate congregation against them, and sayde vnto them: we (after our habilitie) haue boughte oure brethren the Jewes whiche were solde vnto the heathen. And wil you sel your brethren againe vnto the heathen, after that they haue bene solde vnto vs? Then helde they their peace, and coulde finde nothinge to answer. And Nehemia sayde: It is not good that ye do. Ought ye not to walke in the feare of God, because of the rebuke of the heathen, that are our enemies? I and my brethren, and my seruantes doo lende them money and corne: but as for vsury, let vs lene it. Therefore, this same daye I praye you se that ye restore them their landes againe, their byneyardes, oyle, gardes, and their houses, and remit the hundred parte of the money of the corne, swine and oyle that ye haue swonne of them. Then sayde they, we will restore them againe, and will requyre nothinge of them: and will doo as thou haste spoken. And I called the priests, and tooke an othe of them, that they should doo so. And I shoke my lappe, and sayde: God shake out euerye man after the same manner from his house and labour, that maintayneth not this swoorde: euen thus bee he shaken out, and voyde. And all the congregation saide: Amen, and prayed the Lord. And the people did so. And from the time forth that (the king) committed vnto me to be a capitaine of them that were in the lande of Iuda, euen from the. xx. yeare vnto the. xxxii. yeare of king Artaxerxes (that is. xii. yeare) I with my brethren liued not of such sustenance, as was geuen to a capitaine. For the olde captaynes that were before me, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of the breade and wine, and. xl. sicles of siluer: yea, and they seruantes had oppressed the people. But so did not I, and that because of the feare of God. But I laboured also in the worke vppon the wall, and bought no lande. And all my seruantes came thither together vnto the worke. Moreover, there are at my table an. C. and fiftie of the Jewes and rulers, which came vnto me from amonge the heathen, that are about vs. And there was prepared for me daylye an Ox, and six chosen shepe, and birdes, and euer once in ten dayes a great summe of wine. Yet required not I the livinge of a capitaine, for the bondage was greuous vnto the people. • I thinke vpon me my God vnto the best, accordinge to all that I haue done for this people.

The. vi. Chapter.

And when Sanabalat, Tobiah, and Geselem the Arabian, and the other of our enemies heard that I had buyded the wall: and that there were noo moe gappes therein (howbeit at the same time, hadde I not hanged the doores vpon the gates) Sanabalat and Geselem sente vnto me, saying: Come that we may mete and take counsaile together in the villages that are in the playne of the citie. No. Neuerthelesse they thought to doo me euill. And I sent messengers vnto theym, saying: I haue a great businesse to do, and I canne not comine downe. The worke shoulde stande still, if I were negligent, and came downe to you. Howbeit they sente vnto me as good as, iij. times after the same manner. And I gaue them the same answer. Then sent Sanabalat his seruante agayne vnto me the fifti time with an open letter in his hande, wherin was written: It is tolde the heathen, and Geselem hath saide it, that thou and the Jewes thinke to rebel, for the which cause thou buildest the wall that thou maiest be their king in these matters, and haste ordeyned thee prophetes to preach of thee at Ierusalem, and to saye: He is kinge of Iuda. And now we shall thinke come to the Kinges cares: come now therefore, and let vs take oure counsell together. And I sente vnto him, saying: there is no suche thinge doone as thou sayest, for thou saynest them oute of thine owne hearte. For they were all minded to make vs a frayde, saying: they shall withdraue their handes from their worke, that it shall not be finished. Howbeit, I strengthened my hand the more. And I came vnto the house of Semcia the sonne of Delaia, the sonne of Shebtabael, and he had shut him selfe within, and said: let vs come together into the house of God, euen vnto the midst of the temple: and shut the doores of the temple, for they will come to slaye thee: yea, euen in the night will they come to put thee to death. And I said: Would any suche man as I saye: what is that being as I am, that will go in to the temple, to saue his life? I will not go in. And I perceaued that God had not sent him. Yet spake he prophesie vnto me, neuerthelesse, Tobiah, & Sanabalat, had hired him for money. Therefore tooke he the money that through feare I shoulde so do, and say that they might haue an euill reporte of me, to blaspheme me. By God, thinke thou vpon Tobiah and Sanabalat accordinge vnto these their wordes, & of the prophet Moabias, and of the other prophetes, that would haue put me in feare. And the wall was finished on the .xxv. day of the moneth Elul, in .lii. daies. And when all our enemies heard thereof, all the heathen that were about vs were afraide, and their courage fayled theym. And they perceaued, that this worke came of our God. And at the same time were ther many of the chiefe of Iuda, whose letters went vnto Tobiah: and agayne from Tobiah vnto the (for there were manie in Iuda, that were sworn vnto him, for he was the sonne in lawe of Sechania, the sonne of Arah, and his sonne Ichonathan, had the daughters of Mesallam, the sonne of Barachia, and they spake good of him before me, and told him my wordes, and Tobiah sent letters, to put me in feare.

Nowe when the wall was buyded: I hanged on the doores also, and the porters, syngers, and Leuites were appoynted. And I commaunded my brother Hanania, and Hanania the ruler of the castell at Jerusalem: for he was a saythfull man, and feared God more then did many other. And I said vnto them: Let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened vntill the Sunne be whote. And while they were standing in the watch, they shut the doores, and barred them. And we appoynted certayne citizens of Jerusalem, to be watchmen, euerye one to keepe his watche, & euery one to be ouer agaynst his house. As for the city, it was large of roome, & great, but the people were fewe therein, and the houses were not builded. And God gaue me in my hart that I gathered together the principal men, & the officers, & the people to number them, & I found a register of the number of them, • whiche came vp befoze out of the captiuitie, and found written therein: these are the sonnes of the lande that went vp from the captiuitie of the carping away (whom Nabuchodonosor the kinge of Babylon had brought away) and came agayne to Jerusalem, and Iuda, euery one vn to his citie. They whiche came with Jozobabel are these: Iesua, Nehemia, Sariah, Rasaima, Rahamani, Harbochee, Welsam, Mesperah, Seguai, Nahum, and Baanath. This is the number of the men, of the people of Israel. The children of Shallum, the children of Ater, the children of Elhamon, the children of Acub, the children of Hatita, the children of Sobai, al together an hundred and eyght and thirtie. The Nethinims. The children of Ziba, the children of Halupha, the children of Ehaboth, the children of Ceros, the children of Sia, the children of Phadon, the children of Lebanah, the children of Hagaba, the children of Hamai, the children of Manan, the children of Gidel, the children of Gaber, the children of Besia, the children of Rezin, the children of Jeecoba, the children of Uia, the children of Phaleah, the children of Besai, the children of Mennum, the children of Mephassim, the children of Bachur, the children of Hacupha, the children of Harhur, the children of Bazith, the children of Hehida, the children of Harlo, the children of Barcos, the children of Sela, the children of Chamah, the children dyn of Asaiab, the childzen of Bathi-pha. The childzen of Salomons ser-uantes, the childzen of Sotai, the childzen of Sophereth, the childzen of Pherida, the childzen of Asaia, the childzen of Darcon, the childzen of Siddell, the childzen of Saphatiath, the childzen of Batill, the childzen of Bochered of Zabaini, the childzen of Imon. All these pethinims, and the childzen of Salomons seruantes, wer three hundred, and ninetie, and two.

 And these went vp also of Ehel, Me-la, Ehel, Harfa, Cherub, Adon, and Immer: but they coule not shewe their fathers house, nor their seede, and that they were of Israell. The childzen of Dalaiab, the childzen of Chobia, and the childzen of Mecoda, six hundred and two and fortye. And of the Priestes the childzen of Haba-iah, the childzen of Haros, the childzen of Bersilai, whiche toke one of the daughters of Bersilai the Gileadite to wife, and was named after their name. These soughte their writing in the register of their generation, but they were not founde, therefore they were putte from the priesthode. And Bathirsata saide vnto them: that they shoulde not eate of the moske holy, till ther cam vp a priest which shold wear Urin & Chumim. And so the whole congregation together was two and forty thousand, three hundred and thye scope: beside the seruantes and may-dens, of whom there wer seuen thousand, thye hundred and seuen and thirty. And they had two hundred and seuen and fortye singing men and women. Their boyes seuen hundred and sixe and thirtie, and their moles: two hundred and nine and fortye. The Camelis, foure hundred and nine and thirtie: sixe thousand, seuen hundred and twentie asses. And certayne of the ancient fathers gaue vnto the woork.
 Bathirsata gaue to the tre: sure a thousand peces of golde, fifty basins, b. c. and xxx. Priestes garments. And some of the chese fathers gaue vnto the tresure of the woork. xx. M. peces of of siluer. And the other people gaue xx. M. peces of golde, and two. M. pound of siluer, and thye scope and seuen priestes garments. And the priestes and Leuites, the porters, and the syngers, and the other of the people, and the pethinims, and all Israell, dwelt in their cities. And the seuenth moneth came, and the childzen of Israell were in their cities.

The. viii. Chapter.

AND all the people gathered them selues together, as one man in the streete, that was befoze the watergate, and they sayde vnto Esdras the Scribe, that hee shoulde fetch. the booke of the lawe of Moyses, whiche the LORD commaunded to Israell. And Esdras the Priest brought the lawe befoze the congregation, bothe of men and women, and all that coule vnderstande, did hearken vnto it, vpon the fyrr day of the seuenth moneth: and he red therein, in the streete that was befoze the watergate, (from the moning vntill the noone daye) befoze men and women that did harken to it: and the eares of all the people were enclined vnto the booke of the lawe.
 And Esdras the scribe stode vppon an hye pulpit of wood, whiche they hadde made for the preaching, and besyde him stode vyse Matharia, Se-ma, Anania, Uriah, Helkai, and Ma-seia, on his righte hande: and on his lefte hande stode Nedaiia, Malsaiell, Malchias, Basum, Halebadana, Zachari, and Melulam. And Esdras opened the booke befoze all the people, for he stode afoze al the people. And when he opened it all the people stode vp.
 And Esdras prayed the LORD the great God. And all the people aun-swered, Amen, Amen, with their handes vp, and bowed them selues, and worshipped the LORD, fallynge down vpon their faces to the ground.
 And Iesua, Baam, Serabiah, Jamin, Acub, Sebatnai, Madaia, Masia, Celita, Azaria, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaia: and the Levites caused the people to geue hede vnto the lawe, and the people stode in their place. And they red in the booke of the lawe of god distinctly and playnele, so that men vnderstode the thing that was redde. And Nehemiah (which is Nathirsatha) and Esdras the Priest and scribe, and the Levites, that caused the people to take heede, sayde vnto all the people: this day is holy vnto the Lord your God, be ye not sorre, and weepe not. For all the people wepte, when congregation of them that were come agayne oute of the captiuitie, made bouthes, and sate vnder the bouthes: for since the time of Iosua the sonne of Nun, vnto this daye, hadde not the children of Israel doone so, and there was very great gladnesse. And euery day from the firste daye vnto the laste, red Esdras in the booke of the lawe of God. And seuen dayes heide they the feaste, and on the eyght daye they gathered together, accordinge to the maner.

They hearde the wordes of the lawe.

be not ye sorre therefore, for the hope of the Lord is your strengthe. And the Levites stilled all the people, and said: holde your peace, for the daye is holy, be ye not ye your selues. And all the people wente their waye to eate and drinke, and to sende parte vnto other, and to make great mirth, because they had vnderstand the wordes that were declared vnto them. And on the nexte daye were gathered together the chiefe fathers, among all the people, and the Priestes and Levites, vnto Esdras the Scribe, that they might vnderstande the wordes of the lawe. And they found written in the lawe (which the Lord had commanded by Moses)
